The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

New Brunswick Museum
Saint John

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

New Brunswick Museum
Saint John

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

ECLIPSES,

Like comets, were formerly objects of popular terror, but every one now knows that these phenomena are consequences of the laws of nature, and that they are predicted with as much accuracy as the return of day and night. Eclipses of the Sun must occur twice every year, and they may occur five times. They are partial, when the moon hides only a part of the sun's disk; total, when she covers the whole of it; and annular, when her apparent diameter being less than that of the sun, a portion of his disk is projected all round her body in the form of a luminous ring. The moon being so much smaller than the sun, projects a conical shadow; and being much smaller than the earth, the conical shadow can never cover more than a portion of the earth's shadow. Eclipses of the moon are a common phenomena. They were noted in very early periods, by the Arabians in the dark ages of the Christian era, by Ptolemy at the commencement of the second century, by the Chaldeans several centuries before Christ. Eclipses of the moon are caused by the earth interposing between the sun and moon, and projecting its shadow upon it.

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parraboro, Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Newport, Windsor, Truro, &c.

The farm to the farmer, is what the ship is to the merchant. To undertake agriculture without means, is like sending a ship to sea without a cargo. The profit is to use them both to their highest capacity. If the merchant cannot fill a ship, he had better sell her and buy a sloop. If a farmer cannot cultivate one hundred acres, let him sell fifty, and put his whole capital on the remainder, and he will find his labour lighter and his profits greater. Farmers are generally anxious to improve their farms, or at least to reap the result of improvements in better crops and greater profits, but very many of them have yet to learn the most direct road to prosperous agriculture. It lies in the careful management of abundant labour and capital, more than in stulting these to the lowest possible amount—the saving is in the prudent use of every means of progress, rather than in the miserly neglect of all which seem to be indirect aids, but which are really the trifles which ensure that increase above the cost of production, which alone counts as profit.

ASTRONOMY.

Astronomy treats of the motions, the distances, the size, the physical constitution, the eclipses, and all other phenomena of the heavenly bodies. Under the general name of stars are vulgarly comprehended all the bodies that fill the celestial space; but astronomy ranges them into several classes. In the language of astronomy, those are called fixed stars which in the revolution of the sphere seem always to occupy the same relative position, and to preserve the same distances the one from the other. For the greater facility in recognising and designating them, they are di-

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

Now is the time for farmers to put all their agricultural implements in order, so that no time shall be lost nor expense incurred in the spring, when time is more emphatically money than at this season of the year. This is also a season to invent and make new agricultural implements, for the time has not yet come when the farmer or the gardener cannot "get up" something to aid him in his labours, that is not to be found on sale at the stores. The most of the new and valuable implements originated in this way, or at least were invented by men who were practical farmers, or had been at some time of their lives—therefore instead of spending his winter days in doing but his chores, and talking politics in the village stores or bar rooms, he should be planning for the spring's work, and when it comes, find him not unprepared for it. It is not the sleepy, unthinking, un-inventive farmer who makes the most money by his vocation; but he who has the best and most perfect implements, and knows how to take care of them when in or out of use.

vided into groups, called constellations. Each of these has its proper name, derived from that of a man or an animal, sometimes suggested by its form, but almost always capriciously chosen. The utility of these names has continued them amongst us. To distinguish the several stars of a constellation from each other, they are classed according to their brilliancy or their apparent magnitude, and each class has a particular denomination. Thus the most considerable are arranged into classes or magnitudes; this consists in designating them in the order of their magnitude by the letters of the Greek alphabet. If these are not sufficient, recourse is had to Roman letters, and even to the ordinal numbers. This nomenclature has been followed by all modern astronomers. Observations having shown that certain stars, besides the daily revolution which they have in common with the other heavenly bodies, have besides a

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at: Parraboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

A workshop, where the farmer and his sons can spend their rainy days, is indispensable on every well regulated farm. There are rainy days enough every year for the farmer to keep his premises in good repair, without employing a carpenter, except for the large and important jobs, provided he has a shop with proper and sufficient tools, by applying them at the right time. A hundred little jobs are constantly waiting to be done, and besides furnishing employment, (which is a great thing) and giving the place a neat and tidy aspect by keeping things in repair, his sons are receiving invaluable lessons, which will be of lasting importance to them. A boy brought up to the use of the bench and tools, becomes at the age of sixteen a carpenter, or at least has acquired sufficient skill to perform all the rough carpenter's work on the farm. It is too often the case that the carpenter's tools are by far too scarce on the farm, and the general appearance about the buildings indicates this, as, for example, gates of their hinges, or broken down, boards off the barn or fences, and a general slipshod appearance all over the farm.

motion peculiar to themselves, which alters their relative distances from the other bodies around them, these stars have received the name of planets, from a Greek word which signifies wandering. The planets are distinguished into primary and secondary. The primary planets are those which turn round the Sun as a centre; and the secondary, more frequently called satellites or moons, are those that revolve round a primary planet as a centre, and are carried with it in its revolution round the Sun. To the small planets discovered at the beginning and middle of this century, — sometimes called telescopic planets, because seen only with a powerful telescope, Herschel has proposed to give the name of Asteroids, including under that name those celestial bodies which move in orbits

☐ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

WAGGONS last much longer in those parts of the country which are more free from stones. Nothing batters a vehicle to pieces more rapidly than striking stones when under full headway. The farmer who is carrying a load to market or to mill, and whose waggon wheels strike a stone three inches above the common surface, cannot fail to be satisfied that a severe injury has been done to his waggon, harness, and horses by this single concussion. What is the probable cost of a single stone in the highway for one season? Twenty waggons or more probably strike it in a day; that is, it may cause six thousand heavy blows annually against waggons and waggon tires. The only reason for its remaining there is the "trouble" of casting it out. A crow-bar and ten seconds' labour would have removed it. Now is the season when many loose stones washed out by spring rains, or knocked loose by waggon wheels, should be thrown from the track.

of any eccentricity round the Sun. The Sun, like the planets, seems to have a motion of its own, for we see it rise and set successively in different points of the horizon. At the end of June it rises near the north, remains a long while above the horizon, and approaches nearer the zenith; whereas at the end of December, it rises nearer the south, keeps at a great distance from the zenith, and describes but a small circle above the horizon. To this motion of the Sun we owe the variety of the seasons and the inequality of the days. The Moon's motion, and the aspect she presents at different periods of her course, are still more remarkable. First, she begins to show herself on the western side of the heavens at a little distance from the Sun, under the form of a crescent, which enlarges as the Moon's distance from the Sun increases, until at last

☾ The column of the moon's southing, gives the time of high water at Ferrarboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

No garden is complete without its shrubbery. A large garden of course requires a good deal to keep it from being naked and bare in appearance, while a small one may, by a judicious arrangement of clumps of shrubs, be made to appear much larger than it really is. Equally with the other branches of ornamental gardening, this department has received greatly increased attention of late years. In order to arrange shrubbery properly, it is absolutely necessary to be informed as to the usual height and habits of growth of the shrubs to be planted. Shrubs require very little care and attention beyond a somewhat particular pruning early in the spring, which is necessary to preserve them of a good shape. No one should begrudge the few hours labour which will be necessary for this purpose, particularly as it may be performed at a time when there is generally abundance of leisure. The great majority of shrubs bear flowers; in many, the flowers are succeeded by ornamental fruit; a few are cultivated only for their foliage.

Spring.] MAY 31 days.

It rises in the east when the Sun sets in the west; her face is then exactly circular. She then bends gradually more towards the east, rises further and further so every night, till at last she is as near the Sun in the east as she had been in the west. She then shows herself in the morning a little before him, as in the first part of her course she had appeared a little after him. These different phases are run through in a month; after which they are repeated in the same order. To those who have given but little attention to the science of Astronomy, its truths, its predictions, its revelations, are astonishing; and but for their rigorous verification would be absolutely incredible. SEEDING down with Oats is rarely successful. If the oats are poor, the grass may succeed—but on good soil that will bring heavy oats, and which should grow good grass, it usually fails. There are two modes of seeding down that may be adopted. The first is to sow the grass-seed (double the usual quantity) early in the spring, on the land which has been prepared for the oats, with no other crop, and brush it in. If sown quite early, it will be good pasture before midsummer. The second year the grass will be all that could be wished. The second mode is to sow oats alone, and after harvest to plough in the stubble, and sow and brush in the grass seed. The grass crop next year thus treated will be much better than it could be if the seed was sown with the oats in spring. The "Canadian Agriculturist" says that the Tartarian, white or black, is the best suited to that province—it being hardy—and will more than make up in quantity what it may be deficient in weight by the bushel, and that seed oats ought to be frequently changed.

directions, apparently without law, and regardless of order; when with telescopic aid, thousands are increased to millions, and Suns, and systems, and universes rise in sublime perspective as the visual ray sweeps outward to distances which defy the power of arithmetic to express; how utterly futile does it seem for the mind to pierce and penetrate, to number, weigh, measure, and circumscribe these innumerable millions! It is a remarkable fact, that astronomy is the oldest of the sciences, having been cultivated, with no small success, long before any attention was paid to the causes of the common terrestrial phenomena. At a period of very remote antiquity, astronomy was cultivated in China, India, Chaldea and Egypt. The Chaldeans were particularly distinguished for the accuracy and extent of their astronomical observations. This

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parraboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

MANURING grass lands late in autumn is no longer a subject of doubt among the best farmers. It is far better to keep manure housed and apply it as a top-dressing, late in autumn to grass-land, than to apply it in the spring of the year, even if well rotted. Coarse barn-yard manure applied as a top-dressing to grass land in the spring will not increase the crop half as much as the same manure would increase it, were it spread evenly over the surface in the fall. In autumn everything tends downward into the earth. Grass, leaves, stubble, and all such substances return back to the soil. The weather grows cooler and cooler every day, and the various gases do not rise to promote vegetation as they should do in the spring of the year. Therefore, when manure is applied in late autumn almost the entire strength of the manure is carried down into the soil, and there retained as food for plants until the next spring, when new life of plants begins, and long and warm days increase the temperature of the soil.

pastoral people inhabited the delightful regions of Asia. The habit of passing the night in the open air, the purity of the sky, the immensity of their horizon—all solicited their attention to the movements of the heavenly bodies. In the seventh century before the Christian era, astronomy began to be cultivated in Greece; and there arose successively three celebrated astronomical schools—the school of Miletus, the school of Crotona, and the school of Alexandria. The first was established by Thales, 640 years before Christ; the second by Pythagoras, 140 years afterwards; and the third by the Ptolemics of Egypt about 800 years before the Christian era. After the age of Ptolemy, the science made little progress. With the decline of Grecian liberty, the arts and sciences declined also; and

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parreboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

As farmers cannot complete all their underdrains in one year, nor in several years, there is a mode of ploughing wet fields in autumn which will improve very much the friability of the soil, and thus be the means of producing a much larger and better crop the next season, than when ploughing is performed in the usual way. The first thing is to lay out the lands for ploughing, up and down the slope, as nearly as may be, so that the middle furrows may carry off the surplus water more readily than they would were they made across the slope. Now that the work is laid out, the next step will be to execute it. If the ground is sod ground, the ploughing should be performed—if it be done with a single plough—with lapped furrow-slices, and not with the narrow-slices laid flat. And more than this, the ploughing should be done in narrow lanes, not more than 10 or 12 feet in width. Then, after every piece of land has been finished, adjust the plough for running, as deep as the team can draw it, and cut the middle furrows six or eight inches deeper than the rest of the ploughing, to form a channel for the water.

the Romans then masters of the world, were more ambitious to gain conquests over man than over matter. During the middle ages, the Arabians were almost the only astronomers, and they cultivated this noble study chiefly as subsidiary to astrology. In the 15th century Copernicus arose, and after forty years of intense study and meditation, divined the true system of the world. The Copernican system maintains, 1. That the apparent diurnal motion of the heavenly bodies, from east to west, is owing to the real revolution of the earth on its own axis from west to east; and 2. That the Sun is the centre around which the earth and planets all revolve from west to east. This theory is based on arguments so incontestable that it is the only one at present taught. Galileo also proved beyond dispute SYSTEMATIC labour, with an end in view and a careful consideration of the best means of reaching it, is sure to tell in the prosperity of those who direct and perform it. Let the farmer carefully consider the best means of attaining advancement, and employ his means and labour systematically and he will surely reach success. He must think as well as act—he must plan as well as perform. He must have distinct ends in view, nor be so much the creature of circumstances, but work steadily toward a mark. Better soil and crops, better stock, better fences and bulldozes, better orchard and garden, should be his constant aim from one year's end to another. To advance in them he needs and seeks also a better knowledge of all their capacities and requirements, and how best to increase and supply them so as to get the highest reward for his thought and labour. No day is so short and stormy but it has its employment—no evening but has its hour of reflective study on some point of his progress as a farmer and a man.

that the earth possessed a diurnal and annual motion; but his doctrine was contrary to the received opinions of the day. Newton received the torch of truth from Galileo, and transmitted it to his successors, with its light enlarged and purified. Since the days of Newton, astronomy has been continually cultivated by men who have become distinguished for their great acquirements and discoveries. Their names are Flamsted, Halley, Bradley Maskeleyne, Pond and Airey. The wonderful characteristics which mark the flight of comets through space; the suddenness with which they blaze forth; their exceeding velocity, and their terrific appearance; their eccentric motions, sweeping towards the Sun from all regions and in all directions; have rendered them objects of terror and dread in

☽ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

THERE is no way that land can be so profitably improved as by grass kept in a vigorous state of growth. To grow large crops of grass we must have rich, drained land—naturally fertile or enriched by manure and thorough culture before seeding down; and by frequent top-dressings afterwards. It must be drained land—artificially drained. If subject to stagnant water—or the best grasses cannot be grown, nor can it be brought into profitable rotation with grain crops. It must be thoroughly seeded—economy in grass seed “saves at the spigot to lose at the bung,” in the less quantity and poorer quality of the product. And it must not be overstocked. The best pasture land, especially while young, can be ruined by feeding too closely and unseasonably—late in autumn and early in the spring. Let no mild weather tempt you to allow a hoof upon them during the winter. Meadows should be top-dressed with fine manure after mowing. And it should not be forgotten that the richer and better stock are fed, the more rapid and profitable their growth, and the far greater value their manure.

all ages of the world. While the planets pursue an undeviating course round the Sun, in its orbits nearly circular, and almost coincident with the plane of the earth's orbit, all revolving harmoniously in the same direction, the comets perform their revolutions in orbits of every possible eccentricity, confined to no particular plane, and moving indifferently in accordance with, or opposed to, the general motion of the planets. They come up from below the plane of the ecliptic, or plunge downwards towards the Sun from above, sweep swiftly round this their great centre, and with incredible velocity wing their flight far into the fathomless regions of space, in some cases never again to reappear to human vision. In the early Ages of the world, superstition regarded these wandering fiery worlds

☐ The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parrsboro', Cornwallis, Horton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

If not already attended to, the dark drizzly days of November afford the farmer a favourable time to repair and put in order his sleds, chains, and axes. The dwelling house should be well banked up, so as to prevent the frost from entering the cellar and freezing the potatoes and other vegetables stored therein. From neglecting to make the cellars frost proof in time, many farmers have lost large quantities of potatoes in their cellars, from freezing. The burrowing of families in ill-lighted rooms, in the cold, dark, north side of the house, where the sun scarcely peers in upon the inmates from November to April, is poor economy indeed, and still poorer, to stint the children, who wish to read or study, to the feeble light of a small sized, greasy, tallow candle. Good oils of various kinds, for illuminating purposes, with lamps to match, are now everywhere obtainable, and at prices within the reach of all. Keep the boys and girls well supplied with suitable books and papers, and then we should hear less of their fleeing from the paternal roof.

with awe, and looked upon them as omens of pestilence and war; and indeed, even in modern times, no eye can look upon the fiery train spread out for millions of miles athwart the sky, and watch the eccentric motions of these anomalous objects, without a feeling of dread. The movements of the planets inspire confidence. They are ever visible, and true to their appointed times, while the comet, erratic in its course, bursts suddenly and unannounced upon the sight, and no science can predict in the outset its uncertain track; whether it may plunge into the Sun, or dash against one of the planetary systems, or even come into collision with our own earth, is equally uncertain, until after a sufficient number of observations shall have been made to render the computation of the elements of its orbit possible. Comets, as before stated, move in all directions,

The column of the moon's southing gives the time of high water at Parraboro', Cornwallis, Morton, Hantsport, Windsor, Newport, Truro, &c.

If asked which should be the finest apartment in the house, the answer should be—"not the parlor, not the drawing-room; but the cellar." There are two reasons for this answer. First, a bad, dirty cellar appears to combine the idea of all that is repulsive—damp, offensive, musty, putrid air—rotten apples, rotten cabbages, rotten potatoes, rotten boards—the effluvia creeping through every open window and door, and through cracks of every closed window and closed door, into all parts of the house,—into the kitchen, into the parlor, into the sleeping apartments,—and laying the foundation of sickness and fevers. Secondly, a neat, well lighted, paved floored, white-washed cellar, combines a good deal that is pleasant. One room may have in it a supply of sweet butter and milk, and in another excellent and delicious apples; the food that is placed on every table is known to come from this model cellar, where every thing is pure and clean.

it is therefore not out of the range of possibility that they may come in contact with some of the stars, and the shock of the earth by a comet is rigorously possible; at the same time it is extremely improbable. The doctrine of chances affords the means of estimating numerically the probability of such a collision, and shows that there is but one such chance in 281 millions: that is to say, on the appearance of a new comet, the odds are 281 millions to one that it will not strike against our globe. In the structure, arrangement, and laws, which prevail among the heavenly bodies, in their magnitudes, distances and velocities, so much beyond every thing of this kind which belongs to the world around us, is seen the power and wisdom of the Creator.

HORTON BLUFF LIGHT—In the Basin of Minas; 95 feet above sea level, high-water; rise and fall forty to forty-five feet. Building square, painted white; stands sixty feet from the Bluff, and shows a white light, which may be seen, in clear weather, over the greater part of the Basin of Minas, (after passing Cape Blomedon,) and above the Five Islands, and up Windsor River, until intercepted by the continuation of the Bluff to the southward of it.

BURNT COAT HEAD LIGHT—Basin of Minas. The lantern is erected on a square tower attached to the main building, and shows a plain white light, about 75 feet above high-water level, and visible from all points of approach. SEAL ISLAND LIGHT, off Cape Sable.—The first light on approaching the Bay of Fundy is on the South point of Seal Island. A white light, elevated about 80 feet above high water mark, and may be seen, on approaching the Island, from any point of the compass. A very dangerous rock, under water, but upon which the sea always breaks, called Blonde Rock, lies about three and one-third miles S. by W., by compass, from the Light House. Between this rock and the Island there are some dangers—the ground is rocky throughout, and large vessels, therefore ought not to attempt passing between them.

GANNET ROCK LIGHT.—This light is intended to warn vessels of their approach to a very dangerous range of shoals and ledges, which extend from the Old Proprietor to the Seal Islands, off Machias, a distance of about twenty miles. A white flash light, twenty seconds dark and forty seconds light in each minute. Building painted in stripes, vertical, black and white. Between the northernmost and southernmost of the Murr Ledges there is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals, many of them always above water, and extend westward from the Light House about four miles. From this range further westerly, about six miles from the Gannet Light, lies a dangerous breaker called the Bull. This may be avoided by keeping three remarkable headlands near the S. W. end of Grand Manan, open.

MACHIAS SEAL ISLAND LIGHTS—Two fixed white lights, upon the Machias Seal Islands, 45 feet above high water, and bear from each other E. S. E. and W. N. W., distant about 200 feet. Both buildings painted white. Vessels standing to the northward between these lights and the Gannet Rock should tack or haul off the moment they bring these lights into one, as they will be, then, not more than $\frac{1}{2}$ of a mile from the Murr Ledges, if more than 5 miles to the E. of the lights.

"STAR" LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY.

The Agent of this Society continues to effect Insurance on Lives in this Province, on the most advantageous terms to the Assured.

As an illustration of the advance of the Company, the following comparative result is given of the four completed cycles of five years which have elapsed:—

	No. of Policies.	Sums Assured.	Premiums.
First Period, to 1848.....	2,204	£690,277	£22,506 15 11
Second Period, to 1853....	2,882	928,156	30,280 9 7
Third Period, to 1858.....	3,191	1,086,040	37,766 14 4
Fourth Period, to 1863....	4,792	1,721,252	60,081 8 0

of this number there remained in existence at the close of the year 9,370 Policies for the assurance of £8,229,841 10s.

The Star Life Assurance Society was founded in 1848.

The Annual Revenue, &c., exceeds £120,000, and the accumulated fund on 31st Decr. 1863, was £557,861 9 11d.

CLAIMS PAID.—The total claims arising from death which have been discharged by the Society amount to £800,000, and all claims are paid within 60 days of their being passed the Board.

NINE-TENTHS, OR NINETY PER CENT, of the Profits, ascertained every five years, are divided amongst Policy-holders entitled to participate therein; and Policy-Holders to the amount of £500 and upwards are entitled to attend and vote at the Annual General Meetings. The Assured, by this arrangement, are made acquainted with the Management, State, and Prospects of the Society every year.

ASSETS.—The Assured have the security not only of the Capital Stock but of a large invested sum, amounting to more than Half a Million, which, with the well-known character of the Directors of the Society, is a substantial guarantee that all claims will be met with readiness and punctuality.

The following is a comparison of the amount of Income, Assets, and Surplus, at each period of division of Profits:—

	Income	Assets	Surplus
1st Period, ended } Dec., 31, 1848.. }	£18,454 7 0	£44,128 11 11	£15,000 0 0

1863.....	109,265 4 4	558,826 2 8	122,456 11 4

The Surplus of £122,456 11s. 4d., now available for division, will, after appropriating one-tenth thereof to the Shareholders in accordance with the Deed of Settlement, be divided among the Policy-holders.
