LOVELY MILLIDGEVILLE MECCA OF SUBURBANITES

Something About This Pretty River Resort

YACHT BOYS BUSY

New Houses Being Erected and Old Ones Improved and Renovated—Evidently Millidgeville's Popularity is Increasing.

"It is one of the loveliest places I know of for a suburb near the city, and if people would only go out there they would be convinced."

This is what a St. John lady said of Millidgeville, while talking with the Times of the pretty summer resort which is daily growing more popular.

Despite the backwardness of the season work on the pretty villas, lawns, and gardens are being put in shape, and yachtsmen are busy getting their craft in readiness for another summer on the rippling waters of the historic old St. John.

Some new turnouts are to be seen at Millidgeville this year, and autos also hold a prominent place among the numerous conveyances. The buxom line is running this year as usual but substitutes any looking forward to an efficient street car service before very long.

A PROJECTED AIR LINE ACROSS NORTHERN PART OF PROVINCE TO GASPE

An English Syndicate Has Plan to Make Gaspé a Fast Atlantic Port--Will Build From Edmundston to Metapédia Almost in Straight Line.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 15 (Special).—The exchequer has confirmed the agreement of the sale of the Atlantic and Lake Superior railway. This enables a new company, the Atlantic, Quebec and Western Railway to acquire a clear title and will also permit the new company to carry out a plan of completing an extra out-line from Port Daniel to Gaspé.

It is proposed to connect with this line at Edmundston, New Brunswick, build from that point to Port Daniel, and build from Port Daniel to Gaspé. It is claimed that a dead level line can be built in this way to the coast, which will terminate at a port that is open for ten months of the year.

The line from Metapédia to Edmundston and the route map is now before the deputy minister of railways for approval. When this is done, the company will begin construction immediately across the northern portion of New Brunswick.

He returned to the hospital some time ago. Deputy Chief Chappell has resigned from the police force. Friction between Chief Bidout and the deputy is said to be the cause of Mr. Chappell's resignation.

There were thirteen deaths reported at the office of the board of health for the past week, as follows:—Bronchitis and pneumonia, two each; accident, insanity, peritonitis, nephritis, stomach, consumption, senile decay, cancer of stomach, and broncho-pneumonia, one each.

At a meeting of the committee appointed to have charge of the arrangements for the convention of the High Court of New Brunswick 1. O. F., which meets in this city on July 2, it was decided to hold an excursion on the river to "Waters' Land" when tea will be served. Hon. E. G. Stevenson, High Chief Ranger, is expected to be present and about 250 delegates are looked for. Arrangements are being made for about 400 to be present.

A KNOTTY QUESTION. Mr. Jamesy Jones was very busy all morning in his office trying to work out the following problem:—

"If it cost half a million dollars to give St. John a satisfactory water service, and a new fire engine and more firemen have to be provided, and the insurance companies do not reduce the rates of insurance, how long will it take a St. John taxpayer to figure out his profits in the whole transaction, and why is it that the watering cart runs dry?"

Rev. John E. Trotter Dead at Port Hope, Ont., at Age of 85 Years.

THE FIRST PICNIC

Brussels Street Church Sunday School Holding Outing Today at Westfield Beach.

A large number of happy children accompanied by their parents left on the 9:25 train for Westfield Beach this morning to enjoy the annual outing of the Brussels Street Baptist church and Sunday school. The attendance was not confined to members of the church and school, however, as a large number of people out-side the church went along to enjoy a day in the country. It is expected that the train leaving at 1:10 will be taxed to its utmost capacity as all reports from Westfield are to the effect that the weather today is ideal. Sports for the children will be carried out this afternoon.

THE PLAYGROUNDS

As the playgrounds committee of the Women's Council will enlarge the scope of the supervised playgrounds this summer, the expense will necessarily be greater than last year. Indeed the extent of their work and the number of weeks the grounds will be kept open will be determined by the assistance given them by the public. They therefore appeal through the press of the city to any who feel disposed to contribute to this help and valuable work.

The smallpox scare at St. Martin's is about over. The Ontario and Quebec health boards have today disinfecting the Iragram house, which is the only one now in quarantine. The schoolhouse was released from quarantine a few days ago. The two patients are still in the isolation hospital and are progressing rapidly toward recovery.

Rev. Black, barber, Indianown, is going to give up the tonsorial business and intends moving to South Bay where he will engage in agricultural pursuits. Mr. Black will go to South Bay the first of next week.

THERE WILL BE NO DUEL. The unhappy misunderstanding between City Hall and the War Office has happily been adjusted without a resort to arms. There was a rumor yesterday afternoon that Col. McLean had challenged the mayor, that the chief of police and police magistrate had been chosen as seconds by the prospective duellists, and that the affair would be pulled off in a secluded spot among the dead trees on Queen Square. The rumor proved to have no foundation. The whole matter has been amicably settled.

DOES A HOODOO HANG OVER THE POST OFFICE

Nine Postal Employees at St. John Have Gone Insane

IN FOURTEEN YEARS.

Conditions Which Can Hardly Be Paralleled in Any City in America—What is Necessary to Produce an Improvement.

Does a grim and threatening hoodoo hang like the faded sword of Damocles over the employees of the St. John post office? Some persons who have quietly inquired into the history of reports being circulated about the big Prince William street institution aver that it does, while others—of practical bearings, and with no tendencies in the direction of fatalism—laugh at hoodoo ideas and are inclined to the belief that the extraordinary facts are merely a wonderful coincidence.

OBITUARY

William Clark HARLEY ROAD, CHEPMAN, June 10. After a lingering illness, William Clark passed peacefully away at his home on the evening of May 31, in the twenty-sixth year of his age. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family, consisting of a widowed mother, two brothers and three sisters. For five years prior to his sickness he was the chief support of the home, his father having died about seven years ago. He was a very steady, industrious young man and devoted to the interests of his home. He was stricken with partial paralysis a year ago last March and for over a year has been confined to bed. He was taken to the General Public Hospital four months ago for treatment, but after remaining a week under the doctors' care, they decided his case was hopeless and he was brought home to die. While in the hospital he

INTEREST IN ATHLETIC SPORT IS BEING REVIVED IN ST. JOHN

Recent Contests Awakening Interest—Every Day Club Sports on June 22

---Sports Today.

It is apparent that there is an awakening of interest in athletic sports in St. John. Not for several years has there been such a succession of athletic meets and events of various kinds as have been held in the past month or two. It revives memories of the old days when St. John occupied an enviable position, having large numbers in several lines of sport.

Admirers of athletic contests are looking forward to next Saturday, June 22, when the Every Day Club, aided by the St. John Amateur Baseball Association, will put on a series of events that promise to be unusually interesting. Already a large number of entries have been received, including Stubbs and Sterling, who have earned laurels on the running track, and next Saturday's programme promises to be even more interesting than the recent meet of May 24.

The High School sports to be held this afternoon on the Victoria grounds are expected to prove very interesting. There is a large list of entries and the various events are likely to result in some close and exciting finishes.

There will be 100 yards dashes for grades VIII, IX, X, XI and XII for which some seven boys are entered in each. A tug-of-war between teams from grades X, XI and XII should be interesting.

There are fourteen entries for the broad jump, and the same number for the high jump. A relay race will be run between teams from grades X, XI and XII. There are seven entries in the 220 yard dash for grades IX and X. Grades XI and XII have seven entries in the 440 yard dash. In the shot put and throwing the base-fact that since 1893—or in fourteen years—nine employees of the postal department have gone insane. Some of them have died, some of them are in the Provincial Hospital and some are being cared for at their homes. The last one to be so unfortunately afflicted went out quite recently.

There are, in all, 110 employees of the post office department who make St. John the most employed there has been affected. Moreover it is notorious that the post office is undermanned and the duties of the clerks are in all cases very exacting requiring concentration of mental energy which might easily produce first a brain fog and perhaps, later, if the strain should be indefinitely continued, a mental condition irreparably worse.

Consequently in view of all the conditions and of the awful fate which has already overtaken nine of the employees the Times has no hesitation in saying that the post office should be provided with proper sanitation so that the menace to the employees would be removed and, secondly, that the staff should be so increased that clerks will not be obliged to rush themselves and their future by the great mental strain due to overwork.

Mrs. Charles Stewart

CHATHAM, N. B., June 15 (Special).—The death of Mrs. Charles Stewart took place at her home last night, after a short illness of congestion of the lungs. She was in her eighty-seventh year. Mrs. Stewart formerly lived in St. John, but for the past ten years had resided in Chatham. She leaves two sons, J. J. Stewart, editor of the Chatham World, and Isaac Woodcock, mine of the daughters, Mrs. Huson, of Calais, and Miss Louise, of Chatham.

Peter McLean

SUSSEX, N. B., June 15 (Special).—Peter McLean, principal of the grammar school here, was operated on on Tuesday last for appendicitis, died at 9:30 o'clock this morning, aged 26 years.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning Thomas Furlong, charged with being a member of his family was remanded. Allen Weir, of Moncton, who became so exhilarated with fire-water that he hid down Fort Howe just in the rear of the north end police station, was fined $4 or ten days in jail.

John Brown arrested on suspicion of stealing goods from Meyer's junk shop on Paradise Row, some six months ago, was remanded.

John Baldwin charged with drunkenness, was fined $4.00 or ten days in jail. Richard Kelly was fined $8 or two months, also for being drunk.

Fresh to sundry northeast and north-west winds, cloudy with light showers. Strong, north winds and cooler.

ball there are sixteen boys entered in each. The mile race has fourteen competitors and should be a close finish.

The judges are Mayor Sears and A. M. Belding; starter, Stanley Bridges; time, H. A. Lynch and B. Malouin; clerk, H. A. Lynch; referee, H. A. Lynch; time, H. A. Lynch; referee, H. A. Lynch; time, H. A. Lynch; referee, H. A. Lynch.

The generous patronage given to these sporting events shows that the love and appreciation of good clean sport is still occupying a place in the hearts of St. John citizens.

At the present time there are about half a dozen good baseball leagues, both junior and senior. There are plenty of good outdoors, if they were not quite so modest and would come out and show what they could do. A series of very interesting races could be arranged between members of the Neptune Rowing Club and the many deft boys of the oar from the west side.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

The Times New Reporter called. The weary calculator expressed the fear that he would ultimately find himself about two hundred dollars in debt.

Mr. Hiram Hornbaker is in town today and will attend the sports of the high school boys on the Victoria grounds. Hiram went into a restaurant at noon to get a "snack," and after he left, the proprietor locked up for the day. The fact is regarded by Hiram as a flattering tribute to the quality of the air in the Scudmore, which tends to develop a good appetite. Hiram is prepared to accommodate a few summer boarders this season.

There were thirteen deaths reported at the office of the board of health for the past week, as follows:—Bronchitis and pneumonia, two each; accident, insanity, peritonitis, nephritis, stomach, consumption, senile decay, cancer of stomach, and broncho-pneumonia, one each.

Vivienne had sat silent, her frightened eyes fixed upon her husband. A sickening dread had crept over her, for in her heart she knew that those lost papers must be those which she had been incited by Spencer Stern to steal.

"You think," she faltered, "that these papers were stolen from you by Spencer Stern at the instigation of the other man whom they are of value?"

"I am sure of it was the reply. But here is one of the strangest parts of the story, Vivienne, cannot you understand?"

Roger hesitated. He had had no intention of betraying Patience to her sister, but he had suddenly occurred to him that if his supposition were correct, and Spencer Stern had an accomplice within the house, this accomplice could have been none other than Patience. The whole thing seemed to him so clear. He knew that the man Stern possessed an admiration for Patience. He had heard Colonel Strangeway just on the subject. Was it not quite possible that there was more in this friendship than appeared on the surface? Roger had little belief or trust in any of his wife's relatives. In her he had unbounded confidence, and the fact of Vivienne's intimacy with Stern had never reached his ears. That was a matter of too many years ago.

He walked to the window and pulled up the blind, then drew it down again. It was as though he wanted to find some key to his finger to do. He could not keep still. At last he returned to Vivienne's side.

"I am sure of it, sure," he said, "and to think that a woman could act so vilely! Mean thefts, at the instigation of some man with whom she is either in love, or who is blackmailing her, and to think that you, Vivienne, you, as pure and honorable woman as ever stepped, should have such a sister."

In her turn Vivienne sprang to her feet, but she had hardly strength enough to stand. She clutched at the table for support.

"Whom do you mean?" she cried. "What is this that you are saying?"

"Your sister Patience stole Lady Erline's diamond earring at Harrington Lodge that night. She hid it in your dressing-bag, Vivienne, thinking—oh, the pettiness of it—that if it were noticed, your baggage would be immune from search. But it was found and she was forced to confess. Yes, Vivienne, Patience confessed to being a thief, and I feel confident that she stole both the diamond and the papers at the instigation of Spencer Stern."

A mist came before Vivienne's eyes. She saw everything, her husband's set, determined face, the background of pretentious hotel furniture, even the large and peculiar pattern of the wall-paper—she saw it all as through a haze, blurred together, an incongruous mass. She sank down upon her knees, throwing out her arms across the nearest chair.

"Patience!" she moaned, "Oh Patience!" She wanted to cry out that Patience was no thief, that she knew it, but her tongue was tied. She had heard nothing, knew nothing of the loss of Lady Erline's diamond, but she was so convinced that Patience was innocent of such a theft as she knew that she herself was guilty of the other.

"Poor Vivienne—poor Vivienne!" muttered the man. "I knew that you would feel it deeply, and I meant to keep it from you always, dear. But circumstances have compelled me to do this. If there is the smallest chance of retrieving the evil I must seize it. I must go to Patience and force her to speak the truth. I—"

"Roger!" Vivienne lifted her pallid face, and stretched out her arms to the man. A confession was trembling upon her lips. "Roger," he entered her with his arms and raised her from the floor, holding her very close to him. He kissed her lips, the lips that were bloodstained in the spot where her teeth had closed upon them.

"My darling—my wife!" he whispered. "You are suffering like this for the sake of another. Oh, Vivienne, how sweet and dear and good you are! And she is your sister, Oh, Heaven! If it had been you that had done this thing!"

"How would she speak?" After he had spoken those words, how could she say that it was she who was the thief? Her confession felt stillborn, and she hid her face against the man's shoulder, sobbing pitifully. At all costs she must defend herself; she must not lose this man's love and esteem. She must not ruin her life, destroy every chance she had of happiness in the future. Patience already had her burden to bear. And Patience would not betray her, she felt sure of that. Patience loved her as few girls love their sister. Patience would stand by her whatever the cost.

"And so, in the smallness of her selfish heart, Vivienne was silent. Roger had taken her tears, her distress, merely as an indication of her sorrow for Patience's sake. He did not suspect her—he would not suspect her."

"My darling—my wife!" he whispered. "You are suffering like this for the sake of another. Oh, Vivienne, how sweet and dear and good you are! And she is your sister, Oh, Heaven! If it had been you that had done this thing!"

YOUNG LADY AND LAD DROWNED

Charlottetown, P. E. I., June 14.—The people of St. George, Kings county, were shocked yesterday to learn of a sad drowning accident which occurred near the place of Michael D. McDonald, of that place. It appears that three daughters of Mr. McDonald, who are respectively a hired boy in a flat bottomed punt for a row on the river, on which the farm is situated.

After the boat had been pushed out a short distance from shore it upset in about nine feet of water. The smallest child, aged twelve, managed to clamber upon the bottom of the overturned punt, and grasped her eldest sister, aged twenty-two, and at the same time had presence of mind enough to signal to the house, which was not far away, for help.

In the meantime the other two were struggling in the water unable to appear, to swim, and beyond the reach of those clinging to the boat. Before help came from the house, however, the girls had been observed, the struggles of Justina, aged twenty, and of the hired boy were ended, and only their dead bodies remained to be recovered.

The other two girls were rescued in a very distressed and exhausted condition.

WHERE DOES THE PAPER GO?

The first question asked by a general advertiser. The Telegraph and Times reach that class of people who subscribe and agree to pay for the reading privilege. These papers go first hand from the publishers by carrier and not through street boys to be left in office or store by purchaser after reading. Common sense teaches that every paper passed into homes direct will be read. The Telegraph and Times are home papers. Do they contain your advertisement?

CALGARY! The World's Most Progressive City, According to the Clearing House Returns

Her Increase Last Week Was 30 Per Cent. Higher Than Any Other City in America.

Expansion of Calgary.

To the Citizens of St. John.

From the City Clerk of Calgary.

The expansion of Calgary surpasses that of any other point in North America. This is plainly shown in the clearing returns of last week. The increase in the clearing returns last week was 118 per cent. over the same week in the previous year. That was the increase in the business that was done.

That is an increase of 30 per cent. higher than any other city in America. That is a record in expansion. The city which comes next to Calgary is Vancouver, which had an increase of 88 per cent. Next comes Helena which had an increase of over 74 per cent. Here it may be interesting to point out that though Helena has a much greater population than Calgary, its clearing returns are about one-third of a million less than Calgary's.

The next greatest increase was in Portland, an increase of 64 per cent. After that came Ottawa, 52, and Victoria 51 per cent.

The increase of the whole of Canada was 38.2 per cent. and the increase of United States was 6 per cent.

These are the solid facts. There can be no misconstruing them. Money talks. It tells of a great increase at this time.

This is to certify that the property offered for sale by J. A. Driscoll is within the Corporation Limits of the City of Calgary, Alberta, and is high and dry, free of stone, level, and has good soil. It is situated in the vicinity of the reservoir (gravity system) and can be freely supplied with water. It lies southwest of the most fashionable residence district in Calgary.

Immediately to the east Elbow Park lots have sold at $235 each (25 feet frontage), to the north lots are held for $150. One-half mile to the northeast lots are selling for from $450 to $700 each, owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

It is not claimed that a large profit can be made in an immediate turn-over, but within one mile of here lots that sold three years ago at $60 each, are now worth $900 investment value. According to present prospects of Calgary the purchasers of this property should realize a profit of 400 per cent. in two years.

According to present Calgary prices the value of this property runs at $75 per lot (25 feet frontage).

H. E. GILLIS, City Clerk.

We, on the 12th Inst, put on the St. John Market, Nine Hundred and Ninety-four Lots, Out of Which we Have Four Hundred and Thirty-one Left. This Sale Will Continue 7 Days More. Office Open in the Evening Till 8.30.

LOOK FOR DULL BUSINESS IN THE STOCK MARKETS

Treasury Action Gives Satisfaction---Rumors of Poor Collections---The Condition of the Money Market---More Investigations.

(New York Herald, Thursday.) It became known in Wall street banking circles yesterday that the secretary of the treasury has decided to withdraw $30,000,000 of public deposits from the banks, the date of the withdrawal being not later than July 10. This operation follows the depletion of the short four per cent bonds, due July 1, so that by this fortunate expedient the money market will not be disturbed by the withdrawals. The news was received with satisfaction by the stock bankers, who had feared the drain upon their resources coincident with the heavy semi-annual payments. It is understood that about $20,000,000 or thereabouts of the short four per cent bonds are to be redeemed on July 1, and such bonds as are presented on that date will be paid off by the treasury without drawing in its money now in the national banks. Having paid off all the bonds presented, the treasury will partially reimburse itself by drawing $20,000,000 of its deposits on July 10.

LOOK FOR DULL BUSINESS. Announcement made overnight that the department of justice proposed attacking the anthracite coal roads, or a great number of them which are supposed to be vulnerable, did not cause any decided impression in financial circles, judging by the effect of the news on the stock market. The incident served to indicate, however, that the policy of investigation and prosecution by the federal authorities will be followed out in the coming summer and fall. During this time it is believed that the investigations will cause a reduced buying power or demand for stocks. The fact seems to be more distinctly imprinted upon Wall street that the unsettled con-in the price of demand exchange on London. The tone of the market was slightly easier, but exchange rates still hovered at a point where slight fluctuations would mean shipments at a profit.

MANUAL TRAINING

The fact that manual training is soon to become a part of the curriculum in St. John schools makes the work done in similar schools elsewhere a subject of interest. In Boston this week the eighth annual exhibition of the manual training classes of the Brookline High School was held in the manual training building of the school, and a crowd of visitors thronged the room. The Boston Transcript says: "The arts and crafts class exhibit showed samples of its work in copper, brass and silver. This class meets only twice a week for periods of forty-five minutes each, and it showed a remarkable ability considering the time spent. The work exhibited by the first year class was settled, the chairs and tables of mission pattern. The second year class had been occupied with pattern making, wood turning and foundry work, and its exhibit was one which attracted much attention. The exhibit of the third year included tools which the members of the class had forged and tempered themselves. The last year class showed machinery which it had made, including lathes, steam and gas engines, and tools. The girls, too, had a part in the exhibition, showing samples of their skill in making household linen, dressmaking, and art needlework."

THE NATURE WRITERS

Appropos of the onslaught made upon President Roosevelt by our own Prof. Roberts, referred to elsewhere in today's Times, the following from the Boston Transcript is interesting and amusing: "If William Cullen Bryant were alive he might be tempted in view of recent occurrences to bring 'Thanatopsis' up to date by revising his famous lines to read: 'To him who in the love of Nature holds Communion with her visible forms, she speaks Objective language. The nature lovers are fighting all along one line, and if John Burroughs can accomplish it the contest will be transferred from the manners and habits of the wolf to the economies of the squirrel world. Mr. Long having referred to the red squirrel as possessing pouches in which it transports food to its store, Mr. Burroughs is pained and amazed. He denies that the red squirrel has pouches. Mr. Long has not responded, but a nature lover taking up the cudgels in his behalf writes to a New York paper to the effect that nobody makes the red squirrel with true mammalian, but that the little animal has cheek pouches which he stuffs with nuts and other provender until he looks as if he had a toothache. So much for Mr. Burroughs; but the end is not yet. Mr. Long having told a story of animal life in Newfoundland in which a red squirrel figure, Mr. George Shiras, an squirrel figure, tried to remark courteously but firmly that there are no red squirrels on that island. Here the line is sharply drawn, and the world waits with its ear to the ground and with bated breath to hear Mr. Long defend his thesis: There are red squirrels in Newfoundland."

PUTTING ON THE BRAKES

The period of too-much prosperity in the United States, according to the New York Journal of Commerce, has produced some unpleasant results, and an era of greater caution has set in. We quote: "Costs in the railroad as well as in the industrial world have swollen unduly. Moreover, capital, taking that word in its restricted sense, has been used up recklessly. Extravagance has run riot in every walk of life. Fortunately, a saner course is now being followed, not only by the ultra-rich, who have lost heavily, but also by others who are beginning to question whether the boom will last indefinitely. Country merchants are blaming the unreasonable weather for a falling off in trade, but if the whole truth were known, the probability is that it is not a few cases of high prices have restricted consumption. Textiles, for instance, have advanced inordinately during the last twelve months. So has the price of land. Rents are higher. In short, the cost of living has more than kept pace with rising incomes. A period of thrift such as is practised by the French peasantry would work a great salvation throughout these states. Happily, there are faint indications that the people are growing wiser in this respect."

MEDICAL INSPECTION

At the meeting of the National Council of Charities and Corrections in Minneapolis this week the medical inspection of pupils in public schools, lately endorsed by the Medical Society of St. John, was discussed. A report says: "Dr. Linsly R. Williams of New York city said that the percentage of school children needing treatment is remarkably high, but need not necessarily alarm the people of a large city. If we eliminate enlarged glands, defective vision and breathing, bad teeth, hypertrophied tonsils and post nasal growths, and if it is supposed that the following conditions each existed in a different child, malnutrition, defective hearing, cardiac disease, pulmonary disease, deformities of the spine, chest and extremities, bad mentality and chorea, this reduces our percentage of defects to nineteen per cent. In the first group it is fair to assume that the defects of physical importance to the physical and mental development of the child, are yet not serious defects, and in the majority of instances can readily be removed. But the importance of the examination, as already pointed out, is that without the examination these defects would not be discovered until they had seriously interfered with the physical welfare of the child.

This subject is one that is attracting universal attention, and should not be permitted to drop out of sight in this city. The expense would be in no sense proportionate to the benefits derived. The statements made by the New York physician, as above quoted, coincide with the views expressed by Dr. William F. Roberts and endorsed by the Medical Society.

ABOUT CAR WORKS

Noting the fact that car works are now under construction in Halifax, and that there is talk of similar works in Dartmouth, Bridgewater, New Glasgow and Moncton, in addition to the existing works in Amherst, the Maritime Merchant, while recognizing that there is room for a great expansion of this industry, makes the following observations: "New car works offer one of the most promising fields that exist at the present time, and the promise of success to the proposed ventures seems to be very great. Nevertheless, while our disposition is to welcome all comers, we would advise caution in this as in any industry in which there would seem to be a rush. When too many people try to get into one industry there is danger of overdoing."

In connection with the appeal of the Playgrounds Committee of the Women's Council for funds it may be noted that in Allegheny, Pennsylvania, there are twelve supervised playgrounds and the city council grants $2500 per year toward their maintenance. The work in St. John should be extended and the appeal for subscriptions should not be in vain.

Sad to relate, on the very day when Prof. Roberts asserted that the Canadian lynx was a fierce beast, weighing fifty to sixty pounds, and the record shows that it kills the killing of a "large lynx," weighing thirty-six pounds. Fifteen to twenty pounds of wild-cat is a good deal to lop off at this time.

The St. John post office has long been suspected of designs upon the health of its inmates, and the record shows that it also affects their mental powers. A better building and a larger staff would solve the difficulty.

With athletic sports, yacht races, base ball and other attractions the Saturday half-holiday this afternoon should possess attractions for all who are able to be abroad.

The government motion picture of the house of lords, to be moved by Premier Campbell-Bannerman, if adopted would practically put the upper house out of business.

A Washington despatch predicts war in Central America this summer. Naturally, the people in that latitude will expect their customary diversion.

Each power at the Hague conference, so far as can be gathered, is in favor of what the majority are likely to oppose.

PRICES FOR FURS

Some Pelts Sold in Tacoma Last Week Brought Good Prices. (Victoria Colonist) Northern trappers realized a little over $14,000 on their sale of raw furs, held in Tacoma Monday last. The market was good and thirty lots of pelts were sold to dealers in Tacoma, Portland, Seattle, Victoria, New York, Minneapolis, Chicago and St. Paul. The pelt of a sea otter brought the highest price of any fur sold, $230 being paid for it. Another fur of the same kind but a little poorer quality brought $212.66. Two hundred dollars was paid by one dealer for a black fox fur. For first class black fox furs, the West Coast Grocery Company has received, at past sales, as high as $750 each, but none of the pelts sent down from Southeastern Alaska were of high grade and they did not bring nearly so much. Silver fox, black bear, mink, otter, weasel and many other northern furs were sold Monday.

IRON TRADE REVIEW

Blast Furnaces Fell Below Expectations in May--Pig Iron Quiet But Steady. The Iron Age, in discussing trade conditions, says: "Blast furnaces during May did not do quite as well as expected. Production for that month of the coke and anthracite furnaces footed up to 2,294,005 tons, as compared with 2,219,242 tons in April. "The steel companies made in April 1,446,788 tons, or at the rate of 48,228 tons per day, and in May produced 1,470,080 tons, or only 47,422 tons per day. The merchant furnaces therefore turned out 830 tons per day more in May than in April. "Pig iron markets throughout the country are quiet but steady and it looks as though we are about to settle down to a protracted period of dullness, since sellers have contracted their output far ahead and buyers are generally well taken care of."

GOIN' BAREFOOT
It's more fun goin' barefoot than anythin' I know.
There ain't a single nother thing that helps yer feelin's so.
Some days I stay in muvver's room, a-gettin' in her way;
An' when I've bothered her so much, she sez I say, "Kin I go barefoot?" 'En she sez "if y' choose."
Nen I 'bout waitin'--holer when I'm pullin' off my shoes!
It's fun a-goin' barefoot when yer playin' any game--
'Cause rubbers would be noyer, an' Indians awul tame.
Unless they had their soles off when they crep' up in the night.
An' 'im surely goin' barefoot every day when I get old.
An' 'ave'n't got a nurse to say I'll catch my death 'o cold.
An' if yer goin' barefoot, yer wants t' go out-dors;
'Cause a-stupid hardwood floorin' is in the dirt! An' where the long grass grows
So, when I'm pullin' off my shoes, I'm mighty 'traid I'll cough--
'Cause I know I'll stop me' fore I get my stockin's off!
If y' often go 'round barefoot there's lots o' things to know.
Or how to curl yer feet on stones, so they won't hurt y' so--
An' 'olers the grass is tickly an' prick's y' at a touch.
Jes' when I get down sold, an' it don't hurt half so much.
I lose der feet every day, I wish I did my shoes--
Or else I wish I was so poor I hadn't no shoes to lose!--Health Culture.

SEELEY WAS A QUIET MAN
His Relatives in Carleton Much Pained Over Balmoral Tragedy.

In reference to George Seeley the Dalhousie police officer who shot Peter Fontaine of St. Maurice, N. B., on Thursday morning, the Telegraph this morning says: "George Seeley is a native of Carleton, a son of Captain and Mrs. George Seeley, of 342 Charlotte street, West End. Captain Seeley is absent from home at present on a coasting trip, but may be home next week. "The news of her son's trouble reached Mrs. Seeley through D. C. Clark, who received a message from him after the shooting took place. Mr. Seeley, in this message, desired Mr. Clark to assure his mother that he would write her a full account of all that had taken place, and to ask her in the meantime not to believe anything she might see in the papers about it. "Mr. Seeley is well remembered in Carleton and everyone has a good word to say about him. Police Sergeant Rose expressed himself as greatly pained at the news of his predicament. "He was the last man," said he, "whom I thought would have used a revolver. He was quiet, industrious and as far as I know strictly temperate."

"When a reporter of the Telegraph called at the comfortable home, 342 Charlotte street, yesterday afternoon, he was welcomed by the gray-haired mother. She said she did not know anything of the affair, except what Mr. Clark had told her. As she talked she grew agitated and one could see by what a strong effort she retained her self-control. "I don't know how it happened, but I cannot believe George shot the man. He was such a good, tender-hearted man. When he was in the Sand Point sheds it always seemed to me the case that when anyone got hurt he would have to go for the doctor and help to bind up their wounds. "I have been anxious for the boy ever since he went up there last summer. That is a rough district, and I was afraid some of them might come up behind him and lay his out. And now at this season of the year the men are coming off steam driving and I suppose are acting as badly as they can act. I suppose they sent him to arrest these two men either alone or with insufficient help, and the shooting was an accident." "Mr. Seeley was for a time night watchman at the Sand Point sheds a year ago last winter. He was also engaged occasionally as deck hand on the ferry boat. Last summer the town of Dalhousie advertised for a policeman. He applied and secured the situation. In the following fall he secured a house in Dalhousie, and his wife and three children moved there. Yesterday afternoon, while the Telegraph man was speaking to Mrs. Seeley, Mrs. Thompson, one of her married daughters, came in and it was plain to see what a load of anxiety the tragedy on the North Shore had laid on the hearts of these two women.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE CURED.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Realize It Until It Has Developed Into Bladder Trouble, Rheumatism, Diabetes, or Bright's Disease, Which Will Prove Fatal if Not Attended to at Once.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE.

WIVES TO STAY CURED. A TRIAL BOTTLE OF THIS GREAT KIDNEY CURE WILL BE SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE TO EVERY READER OF THE ST. JOHN EVENING TIMES WHO SUFFERS FROM KIDNEY, LIVER, BLADDER OR BLOOD DISEASE.

Mr. H. B. Sparks, of Hydesville, California, has prolonged his life 16 years. In 1891 he had Bright's Disease and the Doctor's said he could not live. He then commenced to use Warner's Safe Cure, was completely cured of his Kidney Trouble in four months and has been a well man ever since. He writes February 24th, 1907:—

"I was taken ill with Bright's Disease of the kidneys in February, 1891. I went to a doctor here and he analyzed my urine and said that I could not live. I suffered greatly and would have to urinate once or twice every hour and nearly every time there was blood. After the doctor had given up hope I began taking Warner's Safe Cure and in four months I was completely cured and have not been troubled by my kidneys since.—H. B. Sparks, Hydesville, Cal.

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off and this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere. In kidney disease the bowels are often constipated, and any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE Co., Atlantic and Pacific Avenues, Toronto, Ont., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the St. John Evening Times, the genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed by the publisher. If you will write us a full statement of your case, our doctor will send you free advice and a valuable medical book describing causes, symptoms and treatment of all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, and many convincing testimonials. All communications strictly confidential.

The marriage of Miss Mary Kingsbury Inches, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Inches, to Harold Cowan Schofield, was the premier event in this week's social round, goes without saying. The event, which St. John society people have for several months anticipated with interest, took place last Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, where the ceremony was performed in the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage, by the pastor, Rev. David Lang who was assisted by the Rev. A. Gordon Dickie of St. Stephen's Presbyterian church.

The musical part of the service was very acceptably rendered and as the wedding party left the church the organ pealed forth in the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The bride looked charming in a dainty gown of white silk, artistically adorned with trimmings of ribbon and lace with long bridal veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bride's sister, Miss Constance Inches, wore a pretty gown of blue with hat to correspond, and carried pale pink roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Inches, where the bride received many expressions of good will. Luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Schofield left by train for New York and a tour of American cities.

Among the guests noticed were L. Col. and Mrs. Rolf White, Mrs. Hammond, Mrs. H. C. Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Schofield, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harrison, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Barker and Miss Madeline Barker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Caverhill Jones, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McLean, Mrs. J. G. Gillis Keator, Mr. and Mrs. J. DeWolfe Spurr, Mrs. Chas. Coster, Miss Elsie McLean and Miss Janie Stone.

The church was prettily adorned with stately palms and potted plants and many gorgeous and fashionable vases added greatly to the general effect.

On Monday evening last Mrs. E. A. Smith was hostess at a delightful little gathering which took the form of a shower in honor of Miss Mary Inches. Among those present were Mrs. Percy Thomson, Dr. and Mrs. Baverly, Mrs. Lee Harrison, J. G. Harrison, Mrs. J. G. Gillis Keator, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. J. DeWolfe Spurr, Mrs. Chas. Coster, Miss Elsie McLean and Miss Janie Stone.

The summer season opens on Monday night, when Daniel Ryan and his excellent company will begin a two weeks' engagement presenting a number of standard plays. The Vaudeville King, Virginia and The Bells are set down for the first week and it is understood that they will be treated to some Shakespeareans during the second week. Following Ryan come several other good companies, defining the nomenclature of which the Opera House people are not yet prepared to make.

There is a very encouraging evidence of a revival of interest in amateur theatricals in St. John, and it would not be surprising if this city should be represented in the competition for Earl Grey's trophy in February next. Last season Halifax amateurs were among the competitors, and while they were not successful they gave an excellent performance and stimulated interest in amateur work in the sister city.

Among the visitors to St. John this week who are well known in musical and amateur dramatic circles are A. H. Lind, formerly of St. John, but now of Moncton, and Frank Stanton, who was a member of the Yarmouth, N. S., amateur dramatic company earlier in the season.

The Kirk Brown Company will close their season in Halifax tonight and on Monday, and is considering the matter of putting on an amateur show for the benefit of a local charity. Further developments will be awaited with interest.

Miss Grace Goodall, one of the members of the Lyceum Stock Company, who was taken seriously ill here, is still in the hospital. Her many friends will be glad to learn that she has greatly improved in health and will soon be able to leave the institution.

Manager H. J. Anderson, of the Opera House, is wearing the smile that won't come off. The reason may be found in the fact that he is the proud father of a bouncing boy.

There is a very strong probability that a course of high class concerts may be arranged in St. John for the coming fall and winter. Several local men are confiding the matter and if sufficient encouragement is offered this city may be troubled by some of the finest vocalists and instrumentalists on the American concert stage.

Hansen & Jones, of New York, have made their announcement for a series of eight or ten highly interesting and high class musical attractions. Among them are the following:
Francis MacMillan, violin virtuoso, assisted by Mene Rosina Van Dyk, prima donna soprano, Royal Opera, Berlin and Amsterdam and Richard Hageman, pianist; George Hanlin, America's noted tenor; Hugo Horner, violinist; The Olive Mead Quartette; Leopold Winkler, pianist.

DISEASE MOST DREADED BY SCIENCE.

Medical Experts Declare That Most Cases of Serious Sickness Originate in the Kidneys.

The Subtle and Fatal Ravages of Kidney Trouble Can Only Be Prevented and Permanently Cured by Warner's Safe Cure.

The worst plague medical science has to contend with, and the most terrible of all diseases that afflict mankind, arise from the kidneys which are called upon to perform the highest organic functions of the body.

The most deplorable feature of kidney disease consists in its subtle and deceptive character, and so insidious are its ravages that many victims do not even suspect its existence until the advanced stages have been reached.

Warner's Safe Cure is the only cure for diseases of kidneys, bladder, liver and blood, and it has restored thousands of afflicted men and women who thought their days were numbered, to health and happiness and the activities and pleasures of life.

It reduces the inflammation, builds new tissues and strengthens and invigorates the delicate organs, and enables them to do their work properly and fully.

Warner's Safe Cure is made of pure herbs, and contains no dangerous drugs. This is the reason doctors at hospitals and in all drug stores or direct, 50 cents and $1. A bottle. Medical booklet sent.

Leather Food

It is the natural oil in the leather of a shoe that makes it soft and pliable—keeps it from cracking. The heat of the feet and damp weather, followed by the dry air of the house, takes this oil out of the leather, leaving it stiff, hard and easily cracked.

Packard's Special Combination Shoe Dressing is a leather food. It feeds the leather—keeps it soft, pliable, uncrackable—doubles the life of the shoe.

It gives a waterproof shine that will last for days in spite of rain and mud. You don't need to use it more than twice a week to keep the leather of your shoes in splendid condition and always bright and shiny.

HE WON $50,000 MERELY TO IMPRESS HIS BRIDE

Just to Show Her That His Horses Can Run R. L. Thomas Makes New York Bookmakers Sad.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Bookmakers at Gravesend received one of the drubblings of their lives just because a bridegroom wanted to show his bride how well his horses could run. Robert L. Thomas, a wealthy Kentucky horseman, who was married at Washington on Saturday, had two winners out of the seven contests on the card, and with one of them won $25,000 and with the other enough to make it an even $50,000. Adding to that the sums his friends at the track and other bettors in cities where there are poolrooms added to their bank accounts, it was one of the largest "killings" of recent years.

Trade Talks—No. 3.
Hydraulic Engineering.
Hydraulic engineering was probably one of the first professions taken up after the expulsion from the Garden of Eden. As any man, Joseph, who was sold into Egypt, was a hydraulic engineer, for it is humorously said that the biblical seven years of plenty and seven years of famine were due to the way he manipulated the water supply of the Nile. The olden tribes always settled at the source of water power, just as we do in America to day. Hence is the field of the hydraulic engineer—a profession that opens a wide field to the American youth casting about for an up-to-date profession—one that is turning thousands of square miles of arid country into farm land. These are the five broad divisions of his activity:

- (1) Good railroad stock.
- (2) Public-service corporation (gas, street car, etc.).
- (3) Industrial (mills, manufactures, etc.).

There is, of course, no hard and fast rule, but the above is the order of their appeal to financial men. It is not safe to buy an industrial stock unless it is in a state of development. By a low return than 6 per cent, or railroad stock at less than 4 per cent. In less like this it would be safer to buy bonds where both principal and interest is secure. Bonds are best, but there are lots of corporations who have issued stock, but no bonds; accordingly, this stock takes on both characteristics. As a bond, it is a mortgage on the property; as a stock, it draws dividends. This is ideal. To repeat, preferred stock is the conservative investment, because the principal is more safe. Dependability, common is best, as the trend of the financial world seems to be toward making common stock rank as high as preferred. In many concerns like the United States Steel Corporation the idea is to retire preferred stock into bonds, so that common stock will be in absolute control of the situation. Each share of stock gives the holder one vote in the election of the company. In as much as this vote must be delivered personally or by proxy, these meetings are usually "out-and-dried" affairs. As an electrician, a concern with over 200,000 shares only 37 men were present.

The Meaning of "Stocks."

Briefly, stocks are certificates that represent a division of ownership. The bond was defined in a former article as merely a mortgage. Inasmuch as the bond—the surest investment—cannot pay more than the percentage specified, it is the whirling of stocks, which dance for profits or loss, that proves a magnet to the investor who wishes to risk and to gain. Ordinarily stocks are divided into two classes—preferred and common—but in some companies there are as many as six classes of stock. Some stock is called "preferred" because its holders usually have first claim to the dividends and in many cases first claim to the assets over common stock holders. The modern tendency of great corporations is toward common stocks, and in many cases the rights of both classes of stockholders are almost identical. For investment purposes the recognized rating as to their value is in this order:

- (1) Good railroad stock.
- (2) Public-service corporation (gas, street car, etc.).
- (3) Industrial (mills, manufactures, etc.).

There is, of course, no hard and fast rule, but the above is the order of their appeal to financial men. It is not safe to buy an industrial stock unless it is in a state of development. By a low return than 6 per cent, or railroad stock at less than 4 per cent. In less like this it would be safer to buy bonds where both principal and interest is secure. A COMFORTABLE EIGHT ROOM HOUSE

A COMFORTABLE HOME

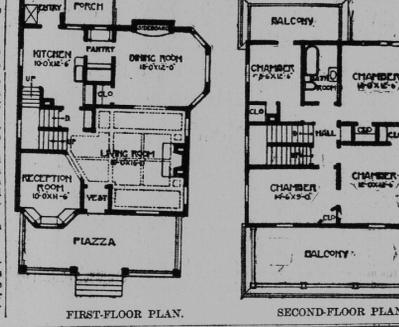

By Chas. S. Sedgwick, Arch., Minneapolis

Costing $3,200.00, Exclusive of Heating and Plumbing

Our illustration is for a plain, comfortable house of eight rooms, the size being 28 feet front and 32 feet depth. Houses of this size, built nearly or quite square, can be estimated to cost, exclusive of heating and plumbing, from $2,000 to $3,500, depending upon the locality and the kind of inside finish. The entire treatment of this house, although plain, is good, the detail is refined and not "dumpy and woolly"; it is colonial in feeling and appearance. The generous piazzas and the broad roof standing towards the front gives a liberal and homelike appearance and the dormer windows in the roof add much to the look. The general outline is square, being broken only by the front and side one-story bay windows. Upon entering the central vestibule the first impression is of liberality, which is given over to the home building. The living-room is ample, being 16 feet by 18 feet, with a small reception-room or music room on the left. The treatment of the beamed ceiling and fireplace, with book shelves on either side, are very attractive features. The dining-room with its projected sideboard and ample window-space is very pleasant.

The stairs to third or attic story lead up over the main stairs, broad and convenient, landing in a large room, well lighted and airy, a very ideal place for billiard tables and amusements, and in addition there is a good linen closet and roomy bathroom. The finish of the interior is of hardwood in first story and painted or enameled pine in the second story, with hardwood floors throughout. The walls of the exterior will look well in cream white, with white trimmings and dark green rock. The color, however, will depend upon the surroundings, with the following general principle, i. e., in the shade of mounds shade pastels, in the open country, paint dark.

Perpetual Motion

That town or city or village in the vicinity of a rapid-moving stream is more fortunate than if gold or diamonds were discovered in its soil. This fortune will be reaped by the business man or far-seeing individual who will develop these long-neglected waterfalls and rapids for manufacture. Practically every town has a stream that can be made equal to a million dollars' worth of coal. The wealth of the world hinges on the set of power. A laborer turning a crank at 70 cents a day produces one horse-power hour for 85 cents. An ox turning a horizontal bar cuts the cost to 25 cents, a horse to 19 cents. A steam engine produces one horse-power hour for about 4 cents; a gas engine, slightly less. A windmill—when it works—produces this power at 2 cents. Water power will produce this unit of work at 1 cent. Of course, there is profitable moral here for every man.

Peter Pry's Philosophy

Applause has been responsible for many a failure. Greatness does not depend on things we do, but the way we do them. When the man who is always complaining of his superior gets to be boss he acts about the way the boss did—but usually worse. Don't waste time worrying about your feelings. A man is never happy until he has ceased to care whether he is or not. BUSINESS BIFFS. Sometimes it's better to stay in the old rut than to fall into the new ditch. If all your plans fail don't be disheartened. If your purposes were right, you have not failed, though your plans have. Hard luck is sometimes the beginning of success. After all, when it rains it settles the dust and when the sun shines it dries up the mud.

The Loafing Business

My son, follow not the footsteps of the loafer and make no example of him who is born tired, for, verily, I say unto you, his business is overstocked, the seats on the corner are all taken and the whittling places are all occupied. It is better to saw wood at two bits a cord than to whittle at the corner congress and abuse the trusts. My son, whilst thou hast in thy skull the sense of a jaybird, break away from the cigarette habit, for, lo, thy breath stinketh like a blue factory and they mind less intelligent than a cigar store Indian. Yes, thou art a cipher with the rim knocked off! In 1896 14 banks in New York city increased their dividends, and five others declared initial dividends. In the same year 13 trust companies increased their dividends and five declared initial dividends.

SMART GOWNS ON SIMPLE LINES

If one has the least cleverness in gowning, it should not be a difficult thing to be smartly arranged this season, as many of the most desirable models can be copied very inexpensively, if materials are well chosen. Daintiness and simplicity mark the most desirable frocks, rather than lavish trimmings, and although many of the more elaborate frocks show quantities of handwork, the expense of the model depends more on the fine materials used and the time required for the hand embroidery of details, than on the applied trimmings. Gowns designed for street wear or day time wear at the resorts are often of extreme simplicity, but there is always some note of distinction given in the design and trimming used. One clever idea is the binding on use of folds of plain color liberty satin on foulard or tafetta, this being especially effective when the gown material is of striped, dotted or other fancy design. One model of this description recently shown was in brown foulard patterned with a large dot, the size of a five-cent piece. The edges of the open kimono sleeves and the V shaped gimp were bound with an inch-wide fold of brown liberty satin and six bands of the satin were used about the lower part of the skirt. Little buttons, covered with

The Newest Footwear

The footwear pictured shows the best models for the coming season, the first figure illustrating a dress model in patent leather, ornamented with brilliant cut-steel discs. This same design is also very smart in bronze or in gray suede. Figure two shows a pedestrian oxford in mat kid—this style being especially recommended for general street wear. Pumps are especially well liked this season, and although many people do not find them quite so comfortable as an oxford where very much walking is necessary, they are more popular than any other style of low shoes. Figure three shows a good model, which may be had in tan or russet leather, in black kid or patent leather or in white or colored canvas. Figure four shows another model in a pump, and No. 5 a more unusual cut for a low shoe. This last model is especially good in colored kid or tan or black leather. The high shoe shown in the sketch is considered particularly smart, the black patent leather lower part having an upper of white kid, with black buttons. Shoes to match the gowns with which they are worn will be more in vogue than ever this season, and with white and light-colored gowns the canvas shoes to match are very attractive. For general street wear tan shoes and hosiery are in order, and have the advantage of requiring less care than a black shoe, on which dust so readily shows. Hosiery is also most important in considering fashionable footgear. The lace and openwork styles are shown in the shops, but are not as smart as the thin plain weaves or those showing silk cloaks or small embroidered designs. The hosiery should always match the shoe in color, except where a white shoe is worn, when light pink, blue or other light colors are permissible. DOROTHY DALE.

FURNITURE FOR A GIRLS ROOM

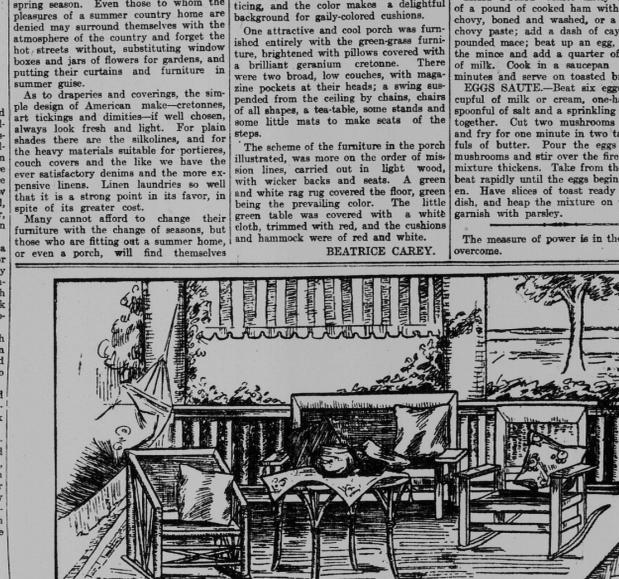

Unless the room is very large, five small rugs will cover the floor, and these should be in greens, cream or old rose of inconspicuous design. Plain green cretonne or madras with wide valance at the top are suitable for the curtains, and the bedspread should either match them or be of the material of the bureau cover. One of the new cedar lined utility boxes may serve as a window seat, and may be covered with grass cloth. These boxes are particularly useful to hold clothes, and are, moreover, absolutely mothproof. The lid may be padded and covered with cretonne, leaving a valance to cover the top. Nothing so mar the appearance of a girl's room as boots and shoes lying round. If a bag of cretonne is fastened to the floor and the floor is ready to have the rugs put down. BEATRICE CAREY.

SLIMMER FURNITURE

The fresh green leaves and soft, warm air of spring bring with them a desire to change our surroundings, to take down the heavy draperies, to change the entire atmosphere of the home, and to stamp it with the brightness and freshness of the spring season. Even those to whom the pleasures of a summer country home are denied may surround themselves with the atmosphere of the country and forget the hot streets without, substituting window boxes and jars of flowers for garden, and putting their curtains and furniture in summer guise. As to draperies and coverings, the simple design of American make—cretonnes, art tickings and dimities—if well chosen, always look fresh and light. For plain shades there are the silkolines, and for the heavy materials suitable for portieres, couch covers and the like we have the ever satisfactory denims and the more expensive linens. Linen laundries so well with the brightness of its favor, in spite of its greater cost. Many cannot afford to change their furniture with the change of seasons, but those who are fitting out a summer home, or even a porch, will find themselves much attracted by the array of wicker, rush and grass furniture. The kind of furniture known as water-proof wicker is very serviceable. It may be dyed any color, though it is usually seen in its natural green. Green-grass furniture is fascinating in its variety and artistic beauty; the shapes are comfortable and very enduring, and the color makes a delightful background for gaily-colored cushions. One attractive and cool porch was furnished entirely with the green-grass furniture, brightened with pillows covered with a brilliant geranium cretonne. There were two broad, low couches, with magazine pockets at their heads; a swing suspended from the ceiling by chains, chairs of all shapes, a tea-table, some stands and some little mats to make seats of the steps. The scheme of the furniture in the porch illustrated, was more on the order of mission lines, carried out in light wood, with wicker backs and seats. A green and white rag rug covered the floor, green being the prevailing color. The little green table was covered with a white cloth, trimmed with red, and the cushions and hammock were of red and white. BEATRICE CAREY.

BREAKFAST DISHES

OATMEAL DISH—Bring one quart of sweet milk to a boil and stir one-half a cupful of fine oatmeal, thinned with half a cupful of water; add half a teaspoonful of salt; cook for 20 minutes, stirring well; four minutes before removing from the fire stir in two well-beaten eggs. Serve each dish with cream and sugar. LIAM TOAST—Mince finely a quarter of a pound of cooked ham with an anchovy, boned and washed, or a little anchovy paste; add a dash of cayenne and pounded mace; beat up an egg, mix with the mince and add a quarter of a cupful of milk or cream, one-half a teaspoonful of salt and a sprinkling of pepper together. Put two mushrooms into dice and fry for one minute in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Pour the eggs over the mushrooms and stir over the fire until the mixture thickens. Take from the fire and beat rapidly until the eggs begin to thicken. Have slices of toast ready on a hot dish, and heap the mixture on them and garnish with parsley. BEATRICE CAREY.

COURAGE IN DAILY LIFE.

Brevity helps to make a nation safe. A nation of cowards, however prosperous cannot be a great nation. Men and women who dare fling themselves against great odds for the sake of their convictions; who do not shrink from crying out against any evil that may menace the purity of the government; who will, if need, sever all political, social and financial ties for love of country—these are the heroes to which a nation resorts in her hour of need.

THE FINDING OF ANDY MacGREGOR

A Real Life Detective Story by Isaac D. White.

(N. Y. American)

"Now, my boy," said the Sheriff, as he made me good-by on the jail steps, "I've got a feelin' you're goin' to get your man. Don't take no chances with him, but plug him, plug him the minute you get within range. He's all-fired clever with a gun and he'll shoot to kill if he's cornered. If you bring him back to me with a bullet into one of those long legs of his I'll have it cut off short at the hip and buy one of the finest cigars in St. Lawrence county. There ain't no prison built that'll hold the varmint while he has two legs, but I've got a doctor here that asks no questions and obeys orders, and a man can't run very far on crutches."

long to start with, MacGregor, I learned, had spent his spare moments, when no one was around, pounding at one of the links with the iron ball. In due time he had broken it so that he could unhook the ball and part the chain from the shackles. One of his fellow-prisoners learned his secret and informed the Sheriff. Threatened the heavy ball was attached to the shackles by a single link. Now it so happened that there was in the jail, awaiting trial for forgery, a man who had a wooden leg. He and MacGregor became fast friends. The forger was convicted and before he was taken away to serve a long prison sentence he made MacGregor a present. It was the pointed iron peg which had projected for about one-quarter of an inch from the end of his wooden leg. That part of the peg which had been embedded in the wood proved to be a file. With it MacGregor in the seclusion of his cell did away at the link which fastened the shackles about his ankle until he was able to take it off and put it on as well as a lady might at just her bracket. He continued to work the shackle and ball whenever he left his cell and he took no one into his confidence.

The news circulated through the jail one morning that the sheriff had gone to Montreal on business and that the Sheriff's office was in the hands of a young man with little experience in handling criminals, had been left in charge. This was the hour of MacGregor's opportunity. When the Sheriff put in an appearance after breakfast to look over his jailbirds, MacGregor cricked his way laboriously to the grated door which shut off the jail proper from the narrow corridor leading to the Sheriff's office. "If you please, Mr. Warden," he said, in his most dulcet tones, "I'd be thankful for a pair of water to wash out my cell."

The Under Sheriff got a pair of water, turned the great iron key in the lock, and pushed it open just far enough down to the passage of the water bucket. MacGregor pretended to reach for the bucket, but instead seized the wrist of the Under Sheriff. He had him by the throat before he could cry out and dragged him to the nearest cell. There the frightened young keeper was bound and gagged forthwith and left to meditate alone. MacGregor had left him a few dollars, a loaded revolver, and a few shakles with its heavy pendant when the man was taken to the cell. Before leaving Canton he had invited me to take a hand in the game. The Sheriff having read of previous adventures in which I had figured invited me to take a hand in the game. The Sheriff having read of previous adventures in which I had figured invited me to take a hand in the game.

think he is forgotten. It's a pretty safe bet he's ponding a pillow under his sweatheart's roof this minute, and that he will not be moving much before daylight. Put yourself in his place and think what you would do with a little log partridge and a lonely shack in a middle of the woods. By midnight we ought to be planted within easy range of the front door and then if he is inside, he can't show his rusty old stone chimney. We want to get him without a scratch, but if he draws a weapon shoot quick, and if he tries to run away let him have it in the legs. "I'm serious that to me," said the butcher ominously, patting his rifle with a sadistic grin, "he's in the little house he'll never get away from us alive."

AN ALL-NIGHT WATCH AT THE CABIN

Time never seems to drag more heavily than when you are wide awake and waiting for the morning. It seemed hours that LaRoque and I had been lying there on the edge of the bush with the rumble shod of MacGregor's sweatheart on top of our heads. The first signs of dawn were beginning to show at the eastern sky when a flicker of light within the cabin told us that some one was up and moving. The crack of the butcher's rifle clicked almost in unison with the latch. A tall, angular, loose-limbed young man came forth and, after a few minutes' look at the point of the cross, he slipped into the open. "We'll bury the wee laddie under the willows close to dear old pop," he said, as we shook hands and set our faces to the rising sun.

ON THE ROBBER'S TRAIL

It was two nights after my interview with Dexter that I dropped off the rear platform of the last car of the Genesary local as it was pulling out of the Lagash station a few minutes after nine o'clock. I had with me Monsieur Gaspard LaRoque, a butcher from Prescott, who for years had hunted around Genesary in the open season and knew the locality well. He had been recommended to me by the chief of the Dominion Police as a quick-witted, level-headed citizen who was a stranger to fear and a dead shot with a rifle. By waiting, before dropping out of the train until it was well beyond the small wooden station with its smoky lamps, we had succeeded in making our entry into the sherry hamlet unobserved. As we passed on down the track in the direction of the vanishing lights of the train we discussed our plan of campaign.

A MOTHER'S GRATITUDE

Mrs. V. Cheoret, of St. Benoit, Que., writes as follows: "It is with feelings of the deepest gratitude that I write to tell you what Baby's Own Tablets have done for my baby. When I began giving him the Tablets he was so thin and wasted that he looked like a skeleton. His digestion was poor; he was constipated and cried, day and night. I got a box of Baby's Own Tablets and from the first did him a great deal of good. His stomach there is better; he began beginning to dig digested better; his bowels were regular; his sleep was natural; he stopped crying and began to grow fat. I got another box and am happy to say below they were all used; he was in perfect health and is now a plump rugged child. I always keep a box of Tablets in the house and would advise other mothers to do the same. The above is a fair sample of hundreds of letters that come from all parts of Canada praising Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets cure all the minor ills of babies and young children, and are absolutely safe, as they do not contain one particle of opium or narcotic. FIGHTS BURGLAR ON A HIGH ROOF

New York Woman Forces Prowler to Face for Mercy Before Man Came to Her Assistance. NEW YORK, June 13—In a brief struggle on the roof of an apartment house yesterday afternoon a Brooklyn woman proved her athletic prowess by mastering an alleged burglar who put up a hard fight in his endeavor to get away. The heroine of the fracas was Mrs. Emma Arntzer, of No. 708 Jefferson avenue. The man whose capture she effected was Mrs. Arntzer was visiting in the home of Mrs. Margaret Ayling, at No. 153 Pritchard avenue. Mrs. Ayling called her guest's attention to the sound of footsteps on the roof. Mrs. Ayling started out on the roof to investigate, when she was startled to see the form of a man through the skylight. Greatly frightened, she told Mrs. Arntzer of what she had seen. "Send up some help and call the police on the telephone in the lower hall," directed that woman. "And then come back yourself. We'll try and catch the fellow."

THEIR SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Rev. R. P. and Mrs. McKim Celebrate the 25th Anniversary of Their Wedding.

In the basement of St. Luke's church last evening, the rector, Rev. R. P. McKim and Mrs. McKim gave an at home to the congregation and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the large number present. The following programme was carried out: Selections by orchestra, solo by Miss Dunn, quartette by Messrs. Smith, Farmer, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. McKim; recitations by A. Farmer, duet by W. Smith and Mrs. Harrison. Last evening was the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. McKim, and during the latter part of the evening Warden W. H. Smith, on behalf of the congregation, called Mr. and Mrs. McKim to the platform and read a congratulatory address and presented to them, as a slight token of the high esteem in which they are held by the congregation, a bag of silver coins. Mr. and Mrs. McKim were taken completely by surprise and the rector of St. Luke's thanked those present on behalf of himself and wife for the kindness which has always been shown to himself and family. After the programme was carried out light refreshments were served and a pleasant evening brought to a close by all present wishing Mr. and Mrs. McKim complete and extended happiness in their married life.

HOW THE CHIEF OF POLICE EXPLAINED

Chief Clark's Answer to the Times Reporter Who Asked About Clara McKeown.

In reference to the mix-up in police circles over Clara McKeown's arrest, which the Times published exclusively yesterday, the Sun today says: "Chief Clark, when asked about the matter, said that it had always been his practice to treat accusations of this nature with silence, but said that he would have been willing to explain the circumstances under which the McKeown woman was liberated to the reporter who had written up the incident." The Times reporter in question called up the chief by telephone yesterday and asked if he had been a woman named McKeown arrested on Saturday night last. The chief said he would look at the arrest book, and subsequently replied that there had been a woman of that name arrested. The reporter next asked what became of the woman and the chief replied that he supposed she was in jail. "Was she brought before the magistrate?" asked the reporter. "Certainly," replied the chief, but immediately said he would look at the book again. The chief then said that she had been let go by the chief. The reporter then started in to ask if he could do that and the reply from the chief was, "Don't you understand—let go by the chief." The chief then terminated the conversation by ringing off. That was the explanation the reporter got.

Large Staff of Men Now Engaged, and Supt. Clayton Wants More—Mr. Spencer's Beautiful Pome.

Supt. Clayton has a larger staff of men than usual at work in Fernhill, and is advertising for more, in order to accomplish the work of improvement now in progress. The whole of the cemetery is being cleaned up, all the avenues put in better condition, and all dead or unsightly trees removed. The water pipes are being re-laid to increase the pressure. The fountains are being repaired. The old shelter house is being repaired. A large plot at the junction of Water and Central avenues is being made into an ornamental section. Much of the work here referred to has been done, but considerable is yet to do, and the result when all is completed will be that Fernhill will be more beautiful in outward appearance than ever before.

THE CITY OF SLEEP.

(By H. L. Spencer.) In the City of Sleep on the hill, Fall the sunbeams, the shadows and show- Comes never a vision of ill, And the years glide away like the hours; For the sleeper rock not of strife, The sorrows and heart-aches that fill To crowding the goblet of life, In the City of Sleep on the hill. There the day-time and night-time are one, The seasons of blossom for all, The light of the moon and the sun, We may garland their pillows with flowers, And they will wear them if we will, But they heed not such sorrows, ours, In the City of Sleep on the hill. Over the City of Sleep on the hill, Who weary with struggle and ill, For rest is the cry of the world— For rest is the cry of the world— And rest has her banner unfurled, Over the City of Sleep on the hill.

TIMES ARE IMPROVING

Well Known St. John Man Speaks of Better Financial Position of Maritime Province People.

(Maritime Merchant.) G. E. Barbour, of the G. E. Barbour Co., St. John, remarked to the Merchant this week that there is a very noticeable improvement in the financial position of the people of the Maritime Provinces. The fact is made known to the business man by the increased demand not only for high-grade staples, but for what a few years ago would have perhaps been called luxuries. He has observed a great change in this respect, gradually taking place, in recent years. A leading fish merchant had lately said to him that the trade in the common and cheaper grades of pickled fish had reached its limit, the demand turning toward the more expensive cured, or canned "fish," and to fresh fish. "Whole grocers" found a much more general demand for fancy groceries. The working man insists on having as good a grade of flour and other staples as the moneyed man. Another matter to which Mr. Barbour referred was the amazingly large quantity of agricultural products brought into New Brunswick from Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. If people could get hold of the actual statistics they would be very much surprised. A broker told him that he could sell a hundred cars of beans in the Maritime Provinces in a year. Several hundred cars are so disposed of by Western shippers in the market. And yet the St. John valley in this province and some sections of Nova Scotia produce beans of excellent quality. Mr. Barbour noted the fact that hay is now worth $20 per ton, and the Merchant man remembered to have learned the day before that a Kings county farmer had bought a half of ton of hay in this city a few days before, which cost him, including freight $10, 00 at the time. The inference from these facts is that provincial farmers are not taking advantage of their opportunities.

MARINE NOTES

While the C. P. R. steamship Empress of Ireland was steaming up the St. Lawrence the commander, Lieut. R. B. Foster, R. N. R., was called to Prince Rupert's cabin, where he was invited with the Order of the Rising Sun (fifth class) and presented case, on both of which were emblazoned the names of the Empress and Captain Foster. The Emperor complimented the Empress and complimented the Empress and complimented the Empress on the admirably safe voyage. He had handed the ship during the voyage. The prince's entire suite was present during the ceremony.
