ANECDOTE.

A surgeon was called as a witness, for the purpose of proving damages upon an action of assault. He deposed, that he had bled the plaintiff; and being asked upon oath if bleeding had been necessary, he candidly answered, "We always find it necessary to do something when sent for."

Mr. Bunyan wrote the Pilgrim's Progress in Bedford jail, where he was confined for his religion. A quaker came to his prison, and thus addressed him: "Friend Bunyan; the Lord hath sent me to seek for thee, and I am glad I have now found thee." To which Bunyan replied, "Friend, thou dost not speak truth in saying the Lord sent thee for me; for the Lord well knows that I have been in this jail some years; and if he had sent thee, he would have sent thee here directly."

ADVERTISEMENT,

For the sake of introducing the signs, and judgment of the weather, the size of the pages is necessarily enlarged, & which totally defeats its use as a pocket almanac. In the calculation of the weather, the most unwearied pains have been taken, and the calculator prays, for his honor's sake, that he may have not failed in the least point; but as all calculation may sometimes fail in small matters, no wonder is it that in this, the most important, should be at times erroneous. And when this shall unfortunately have been the case with the U. C. almanac, let the careful observer throw over the error the excess of that charity of which their generous souls are composed, and the all importance of the subject requires: let them remember that the task, in all the variety and changes of climates and seasons, is arduous beyond that of reforming a vicious world, and not less than that of making a middle sized new one.

Directions for obtaining a good stock of Sheep.

By John Beale Bordley, esq.

AMONG the attentions to sheep, it is particularly recommended to farmers that they let only a few ewes run at large with a ram for giving a few early lambs; that the rest of the ewes be kept separate from the rams, till the middle of October, and then be allowed a ram to twenty, or at most twenty-five. The lambs will come from the middle to the end of March. It is also advantageous to keep ewe and ram lambs apart 18 or 20 months, from January or March till October, the ensuing year, before they be suffered to go together. It is best that there be not more than one ram with a division of ewes, at a time when they can be parcelled off into different fields, or lots for two or three weeks.

To observe the ages of sheep is important—Some age ought to be fixed on by the farmer, beyond which nothing should induce him to keep them. At the shearing time, the mouth of every sheep and lamb is to be inspected; and the lambs having blackish gums, or that are not straight, well made and promising, are to be marked for sale; as also the aged rams, ewes, and wethers, whatever be the age fixed on by the farmer for clearing his flock from old sheep, be it four or five years; which seem to be the ages for governing us in this particular, in the climate of America. As many lambs, the best, are to be turned out for breeders, and for muttons, proportioned as there are sheep to be disposed of as being aged, and a few more to supply losses, while they are growing up.

The farmer will first determine on the number of grown sheep to be kept by him; then on the age he means to observe for disposing of them; for he is to have none in his flock which are not in full vigor. Dividing the number in the whole flock by the age at which he means to dispose of them, gives the number of lambs which he is to turn out as a supply to the same number of sheep, to be disposed of from the old stock: and a few more lambs are to be turned out with the flock lambs, for making good any losses. If five years be fixed on for the full age, and there be one hundred sheep, the fives in a hundred, being twenty, direct to the disposing of twenty aged sheep, and to the turning out from twenty to twenty-five lambs for a supply to the flock. After six years of age sheep decline in vigor and in wool.

OATH of ALLEGIANCE.

I, A. B. do sincerely promise and swear, that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to his majesty, king
George : So help me God.

OATH of SUPREMACY.

I, A. B. do solemnly promise and swear, that I do from my heart abhor, detest and abjure, as impious and heretical, that damnable doctrine and position, that princes excommunicated or deprived by the pope, or any authority of the see of Rome, may be deposed and murdered by their subjects, or any other whatsoever.
And I do declare, that no foreign prince, person, prelate, state, or potentate, hath, or ought to have, any jurisdiction, power, superiority, pre-eminence, or authority, ecclesiastical or spiritual, within this realm : So help me God.

OATH of ABJURATION.

I, A. B. do truly and sincerely acknowledge, profess, testify and declare, in my conscience, before God, and the world, that our sovereign lord king George is lawful and rightful heir of this realm, and all other his majesty's dominions thereunto belonging. And I do solemnly and sincerely declare, that I do believe in my conscience, that not one of the descendants of the person who pretended to be prince of Wales, during the life of the late king James the second, and since his decease, pretended to be and took upon himself the style and title of king of England, by the name of James the third, or of Scotland by the name of James the eighth, or that the style and title of king of Great Britain hath any right or title whatsoever to the crown of this realm, or any other the dominions thereto belonging; and I do renounce, refuse and abjure any allegiance or obedience to any of them. And I do swear that I will bear faith and true allegiance to his majesty king George, and him will defend to the utmost of my power, against all traitorous conspiracies and attempts whatsoever which shall be made against his person, crown, or dignity. And I will do my utmost endeavor to disclose and make known to his majesty, and his successors, all treasons and traitorous conspiracies which I shall know to be against him or any of them. And I do faithfully promise to the utmost of my power to support, maintain, and defend the succession of the crown against the descendants of the of the said James, and against all other persons whatsoever; which succession, by an act entitled "an act for the further limitation of the crown, and better securing the rights and liberties of the subject," is and stands limited to the princess Sophia, electress and dutchess dowager of Hanover, and the heirs of her body, being protestants. And all these things I do plainly and sincerely acknowledge and swear, according to these express words by me spoken, and according to the plain and common sense and understanding of the same words without any equivocation, mental evasion, or secret reservation, whatsoever. And I do make this recognition, acknowledgement, abjuration, renunciation and promise, heartily willingly and truly, upon the true faith of a christian: So help me God.

The celebrated Boernaave ordered that all his manuscripts and books should be burnt, one large volume with gilt leaves and silver clasps excepted. The physieal people flocked to Leyden, entreated the executors to disobey his will. The effects were sold. A German count, convinced that the great gilt book contained the whole arcana of physic, bought it for ten thousand guilders. It was all blank but the first page, on which was written, "Keep the head cool, the feet warm, and the body open, and bid defiance to the physician."

A gentleman in one of the New-England states having 5 daughters, he educated them in a manner becoming his independent circumstances; as they arrived at proper age, they married agreeable to the old gentleman's liking, the 1st to a mr. Poor, the 2d to a mr. Little, the 3d to a mr. Short, and the 4th to a mr. Brown; at the marriage of the last to a mr. Hog, the old gentleman, before the company parted, observed, that he had been at great pains to educate his daughters in a manner that should do credit to him, and render them fitting for any station to which Providence might call them; he had now given away his last, and facetiously observed, that all his hopes and expectations were centered in a poor, little, short, brown hog.

A gentleman, whose lady produced a fine boy six months after marriage, applied to a physician to account for this expedition. "Make yourself easy," answered the doctor, "this frequently happens in the case of the first child, but never afterwards."

REDUCTION OF COINS.

To reduce HALIFAX currency to NEW-YORK.

Multiply the Halifax by 8, and divide that sum by 5, the quotient is N. York: or double the Halifax, subtract one fifth of the doubling, the answer is N. York.

To reduce NEW-YORK to HALIFAX.

Multiply the York by 5, and divide that sum by 8, the quotient is Halifax: or, take a half of the York, & to that half add one fourth of it, the answer is Halifax.

To reduce HALIFAX to DOLLARS.

Multiply the pounds by 4, the answer is dollars; and of the shillings, account one dollar for every 5: or, the pounds and shillings, in shillings, divided by 5, gives the answer in dollars; and for the pence, &c. take parts.

To reduce DOLLARS to HALIFAX.

Divide the dollars by 4, the quotient is pounds; and the remainder multiplied by 5, gives the shillings.

To reduce DOLLARS to N. YORK.

Multiply the dollars by 2, and divide by 5, the answer is pounds; and the remainder multiply by 4 for shillings.

To reduce N. YORK to DOLLARS.

Multiply the pounds by  $2\frac{1}{2}$ , the answer is dollars; divide the shillings by 8, and that quotient add to the dollars, the remainders are fo many 8ths of a dollar.

To reduce STERLING to N. YORK.

Multiply the sterling by 2, from which subtract one 9th, the answer is N. York.

To reduce N. YORK to STERLING.

To half the N. York add one 8th of that half, the answer is sterling.

R E C E I P T S.

To keep green peas till Christmas.

Take fine young peas, shell them, throw them into a cullender to drain, then lay a cloth four or five times double on a table, and spread them thereon; dry them well and have your bottles ready, fill them and cover them with mutton fuet fat; when it is a little cool, fill the necks almost to the top, cork them and tie a bladder & a leather over them in a cool, dry place.

To keep white bullace, pear plumbs, or damsons, &c. for tarts, or pies.

Gather them when full grown, and just as they begin to turn. Pick all the largest out; save about two thirds of the fruit; to the other third put as much water as you think will cover them, boil and skim them; when the fruit is boiled very soft, strain it thro' a coarse hair sieve, and to every quart of this liquor put a pound and an half of sugar, boil it and skim it very well; then throw in your fruit, just give them a scald, take them off the fire, and when cold put them into bottles with wide mouths, pour your syrup over, lay on a piece of white paper, and cover them with oil.

To preserve gooseberries, damsons, or plumbs.

Gather them, when dry, full grown, and not ripe; pick them one by one, put them into glass bottles that are very clean and dry, and cork them close with new corks; then put a kettle of water on the fire, and put in the bottles with care; wet not the corks but let the water come up to the necks; make a gentle fire till they are a little coddled, and turn white; do not take them up till cold, then pitch the corks all over, or wax them close, and set them in a cool dry cellar.

To preserve peaches.

Put your peaches in boiling water, just give them a scald, but do not let them boil; take them out, put them in cold water, then dry them in a sieve, and put them in long wide-mouthed bottles: to halt a pound of peaches take a quarter of a pound of sugar, clarify it, pour it over your peaches, and fill the bottles with brandy; stop them close, and keep them in a dry cellar.

To preserve cherries.

Take two pounds of cherries, one pound and an half of sugar, half a pint of fair water, melt your sugar in it; when it is melted, put in your cherries; boil them softly at first, then quicker, and skim them; take them off two or three times and shake them; put them on again and let them boil fast: When they are of a good color, and the syrup will stand, they are done enough.

To pickle cabbage.

Take a large fine red cabbage, and cut it in thin slices, season some vinegar with what spice you think fit, then pour it on scalding hot, two or three times.

To pickle cucumbers.

Let your cucumbers be small, fresh gathered, and free from spots; make a brine of salt and water strong enough to bear an egg; boil this pickle, skim it well, then pour it upon the cucumbers, and stive them down for twenty-four hours; then strain them out into a cullender, dry them with a cloth, and take the best white-wine vinegar, with cloves, sliced mace, nutmeg, white pepper corns, long pepper and races of ginger (as much as you please,) boil them up together and then clap the cucumbers in, with a few vine leaves, and a little salt. Let them simmer in this pickle till they are green, taking care not to let them boil; put them into jars, stive them down close, and when cold, tie on a bladder and leather.

To pickle onions.

Take small onions, peel them, lay them in salt and water a day, and shift them in that time once; then dry them in a cloth, and take some white wine vinegar, cloves, mace, and a little pepper; boil this pickle and pour over them, and when it is cold, cover it close.

To pickle beans.

Gather them before they have strings, and put them in a very strong brine of water and salt till they are yellow; then drain them from the brine, put boiling hot vinegar to them, and stop them close twenty four hours; do so four or five days following, and they will turn green; then put to a peck of beans half an ounce of cloves and mace, and as much pepper.

To make currant wine.

Gather your currants when the weather is dry, and they are full ripe; strip them carefully from the stalk, put them into a pan, and bruise them with a wooden pestle; let it stand about 24 hours, after which strain it thro' a sieve. Add three pounds of fine powder sugar to every four quarts of the liquor; and then shaking or stirring it well, fill your vessel, and put about a quart of brandy to every seven gallons: as soon as it is fine, bottle it off.—to five liquor, for every twenty gallons, take the whites of ten eggs, and a small handful of large salt, beat them together to a froth, mix them with a quart or more of the liquor, and pour this into the vessel: it will be fine in a few days.

DISTRICT COURTS.

The district court has jurisdiction of debts in contract, above 8 to 160 dollars, and in trespass, where titles to lands are not concerned, to 60 dollars. Writs to bear teste 8 days before return.

District courts and General quarter sessions are holden, length arrived at the spot, and without taking notice of some fellows who were sauntering about the place, descended by ropes into the vault; no sooner were they let down than they were presented with a spectacle which struck them with horror: Two gentlemen apparently starved to death, laid before them; one of these unhappy victims had a tablet in his hand, on which was written in very pathetic language, the story of their lamentable fate. It seems they were brothers of rank and family in Venice, and having in the course of their travels entrusted themselves with one of the natives, for the purpose of visiting the catacombs, the perfidious villain had left them there to perish. The danger to which Mr. Hill and his friends were exposed, instantly alarmed them; they had scarcely read the tale, when looking up, they beheld their inhuman guide, assisted by two others whom they had seen near the spot, closing the entrance into the vault, they were now reduced to the utmost distress; however they drew their swords, and were determined to make some desperate effort to rescue themselves from a scene so truly dreadful; with this resolution they were groping about at random in the dark, when they were startled at the groans of some one seemingly in the agonies of death. They attended to the dismal sound, and at length, by the glimmering light from the top of the catacomb, they saw a man just murdered, and a little beyond they discovered his inhuman murderers fleeing with the utmost precipitation; they pursued them immediately, and tho' not able to come up with them they however had the good fortune to reach the opening through which these wretches escaped out of the cavern, before they had time to roll the stone on the top of it. Thus Mr. Hill and his friends were by a miracle saved.

The Colossus in the harbor of Rhodes, was made by Chares, of Asia the Lesser, and was the work of twelve years, and was dedicated to the sun. It cost about 440,000l. sterling. It was placed at the entrance of the harbor, with the right foot standing on one side of the land, and the left on the other: the tallest ships with their masts sailed into the haven between the legs of it; and when it was thrown down on the ground by an earthquake, few men were able to embrace the little finger of this prodigious statue; the brass of which it was made loaded nine hundred camels.

Extraordinary instance of Generosity in an Egyptian.

A conflagration having reduced to ashes one of the principal mosques of Cairo, the muselmans imputed this calamity to the hatred of the christians; and without examining if such an accusation was well founded or not, several young people ran to the quarter inhabited by christians, and set fire to it, by way of reprisal.

Such an outrage deserved the severest punishment: the governor caused the perpetrators to be apprehended; but as the number was very great, he could not resolve to doom to death so many young persons, who were hurried into this excess more by passion than malice.

As many lots were thrown into an urn, as amounted to the number of culprits: some few of these were marked, DEATH; and all the others condemned the drawers only to the correction of rods.

When they had all drawn their lots out of the fatal urn, one of those destined to death, cried out in a transport of grief, "I do not regret the loss of life; but how will my parents, overwhelmed with sorrow, and reduced to the greatest misery, be able to live without my assistance."

One of those that had escaped death, replied to him that was lamenting his fate: "Friend, I have neither father nor mother; my life is of no use to any one; give me your lot, and take mine." The surprising sacrifice excited the admiration of every one present, and the governor who was informed of it, relieved both the criminals.

THE DEFORMED AND HANDSOME LEG.

BY DR. FRANKLIN.

THERE are two sorts of people in the world, who, with equal degrees of health and wealth, and the other comforts of life, become, the one happy, and the other miserable. This arises very much from the different views in which they consider things, persons, & events—and the effects of those different views upon their own minds.

In whatever situation men can be placed, they may find conveniencies and inconveniencies: in whatever company, they may find persons and conversations more or less pleasing: at whatsoever table, they may meet with meats and drinks of better and worse taste, dishes better and worse dressed. In whatever climate, they will find good and bad weather: under whatever government, they will find good and bad laws, and good and bad administration of those laws. In every poem, (or work of genius) they may see faults and beauties. In almost every face and every person, they may discover fine features and defects, good and bad qualities.

Under these circumstances, the two sorts of people abovementioned fix their attention, those who are disposed to be happy on the convenience of things, the pleasant parts of conversation, the well dressed dishes, and goodness of the wines, the fine weather, &c. and enjoy all with cheerfulness. Those who are to be unhappy think and speak only of the contraries: hence they are continually discontented themselves, and by these remarks, sour the pleasures of society, offend personally many people, and make themselves every where disagreeable. If this turn of mind was formed in nature, such unhappy persons would be the more to be pitied. But as the disposition to criticise and be disgusted, is perhaps, taken up originally by imitation, and is unawares grown into a habit, which, tho' at present strong, may nevertheless be cured, when those who have it are convinced of its bad effects on their felicity. I hope this little admonition may be of service to them—and put them on changing a habit, which, tho' in the exercise it is chiefly an act of imagination, yet has serious consequences in life, as it brings on real griefs and misfortunes. For as many are offended by, and nobody loves, this sort of people, no one shows them more than the most common civility and respect, and scarcely that; and this frequently puts them out of humor, and draws them into disputes and contentions. If they aim at obtaining some advantage in rank or fortune, nobody wishes them success, or will stir a step or speak a word to favour their pretensions. If they incur public censure or disgrace, no one will defend or excuse, and may join to aggravate their misconduct, and render them completely odious. If these people will not change this bad habit, and condescend to be pleased with what is pleasing, without fretting themselves and others about the contraries, it is good for others to avoid an acquaintance with them, which is always disagreeable, and sometimes very inconvenient, especially when one finds himself entangled in their quarrels.

An old philosophical friend of mine, was grown, from experience, very cautious in this particular, and carefully avoided any intimacy with such people. He had, like other philosophers, a thermometer to shew him the heat of the weather, and a barometer to mark when it was likely to prove good or bad; but there being no instrument invented to discover, at first sight, this unpleasing disposition in a person, he, for that purpose, made use of his legs, one of which was remarkably handsome, the other, by some accident, crooked and deformed. If a stranger, at the first interview, regarded his ugly leg more than his handsome one, he doubted him: If he spoke of it and took no notice of the handsome leg, that was sufficient to determine my philosopher to have no further acquaintance with him. Every body has not this two legged instrument—but every one, with a little attention, may observe signs of that carping, fault-finding disposition, and take the same resolution of avoiding the acquaintance of those infected with it. I therefore advise those critical, querulous, discontented, unhappy people, that if they wish to be respected and beloved by others, and happy in themselves, they would leave off looking at the ugly leg.

It was hoped that for this year, the printer would have been furnished with a complete list of militia officers; but as only that for the Western district has been received, that article has been wholly omitted.
