Believe Crisis in Russia Has Nearly Been Passed

Kerensky Said to Have Returned to Petrograd With Troops — Various Reports Agree That Bolsheviks Have Already Practically Been Overthrown

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—Telegrams received in Finland this afternoon announce the arrival of Premier Kerensky in Petrograd with his troops. Finnish newspapers declare unreservedly that the Bolsheviks already have been overthrown.

Telegrams from Moscow and Southern Russia indicate that the country is in complete control of the Cossacks, who acknowledge the leadership of Kerensky. The Bolshevik troops were defeated badly at Tsarskoe Selo, and retreated to Petrograd.

Another message says that Premier Kerensky announces that the seat of government will be removed to Moscow. General Korniloff and Kadetines have issued from Novo Tcharassk, headquarters of the Don Cossacks, a proclamation summoning the Russian people to unite against the Bolsheviks.

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—General Korniloff has entered Petrograd, where the garrison, except the sailors, has taken to his side, according to a Petrograd despatch to the Social Democrat under Monday's date. There was no fighting on the Nevsky Prospect, says the despatch, and the Bolsheviks failed to hold even the workmen's quarter of the city.

The foreign ambassadors, the message reports, are now in communication with Gen. Korniloff. Copenhagen, Nov. 13.—Premier Kerensky's troops are in control of part of Petrograd, especially the Nevsky Prospect, according to a telegram received here. The Bolsheviks are said to have taken in the refuge in the Smolny Institute.

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—The Bolsheviks' hopes of triumph in Russia is rapidly fading. In the opinion of M. Goulkevitch, Russian minister to Sweden, who bases his belief on information received from various sources during the last twenty-four hours, Mr. Goulkevitch was beaming with optimism today. "Everything is coming out all right," he said. "There is no longer any reason to worry over the situation. All the information that has reached me since Saturday shows that the crisis has virtually passed and that it will be only a short time until the Bolsheviks will have played out their brief role."

"This thing had to come some time, and I believe it is well it came when it did. It was a state of sickness which could not be avoided and convalescence will be rapid."

After the Russian ambassador to the United States had given formal notice of his refusal to recognize the Lenin government, and asked Goulkevitch whether he had done the same.

"I have made it quite clear from the first day," the minister replied, "that there could be no question of recognizing the Leninites, but I gave no formal notice to that effect. The whole thing is so absurd and even laughable that I considered it unnecessary formally to give notice of anything so obvious as my refusal to recognize the Bolsheviks."

Petrograd Awaits Coming of Kerensky. Petrograd, Nov. 13.—Petrograd was still in the hands of the Bolsheviks today after desperate street battles on Sunday, in which a handful of brave military cadets were killed or captured by Bolshevik forces, upon whom the cadets inflicted considerable losses. Meanwhile the city awaits anxiously the coming of Premier Kerensky, who is reported to be nearing Petrograd, but seems to have his headquarters at Gatchina.

New Government Opposed. The new Bolshevik government, headed by Nikolai Lenin and Leon Trotsky, is having anything but an easy time in controlling the city, as the committee of public safety, which includes all the elements opposing them, is seeking to establish a new social government. They continue to placard the streets with demands that the Bolsheviks "realize their folly and consent to lay down their arms and await the coming of Kerensky."

Most of the ministers of the Kerensky cabinet who were captured after the battle at the Winter Palace on last Wednesday have been released from the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. M. Terestchenko and M. Konoroff are still behind the prison walls, and are the military cadets captured on Sunday.

Agents of the committee of public safety have gone to Gatchina in an effort to effect a compromise with Premier Kerensky on an all-Socialist government. There are conflicting reports from Moscow and other large cities. The Bolshevik report officially that Moscow is still in their hands, although a telegram to the committee of public safety on Sunday said that the Kerensky adherents there had driven the Bolsheviks into the Kremlin, where they were besieged.

Fighting in Moscow. Among the reports heard is one indicating that Lenin and Trotsky are aboard the cruiser Aurora and are directing operations from that place of safety. The scenes in the streets today were similar to those of last Thursday, the people quietly transacting their business. Near the telephone exchange there were intermittent fusillades from machine guns during the morning and

BORDEN GUEST OF ROTARY CLUB

Rumors of Political Possibilities in Halifax UNITE ON FIELDING

Premier May Run For Kings County and McLean for Queens-Snelburne — Denied That Sidney Fisher Will Oppose Ballantyne

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 13.—Sir Robert Borden, an election premier, who will open his election campaign here tomorrow night, was today entertained at luncheon by the Rotary Club. This morning he visited the ocean terminals and received a delegation of munitions manufacturers at his hotel.

Tonight both Liberal and Conservative party organizations will hold conventions to select candidates in Halifax city and county. Rumor today stated Hon. W. S. Fielding, ex-financial minister, may be the choice of the Liberals and Conservatives which would probably obviate the necessity for an election for one of the two local seats.

It is also reported that Hon. A. K. MacLean, who is the Liberal candidate in Queens-shelburne and that Premier Borden will run in Kings county, his home. Resigns as Candidate. Montreal, Nov. 13.—Lieut. Col. J. J. Creelman, Labor M. P., according to the Daily Chronicle, received on Monday through a third party a message from Premier Kerensky of Russia saying that Kerensky had arrived in Petrograd on Saturday and the authority of the provisional government had been re-established. The Chronicle points out a discrepancy between this message and a telegram from St. Petersburg received yesterday in which the chaotic condition of affairs there is summarized as follows:

"The provisional government has insufficient forces to maintain office, while the Bolsheviks have insufficient forces to exert authority."

Frederickton Notes. Fredericton, N. B., Nov. 13.—Tribunal No. 54, under the Military Service Act, acted upon fourteen applications for exemption yesterday and twelve this morning. Yesterday's action was deferred in eighteen. The tribunal is handicapped by the fact that many applicants have not been before the medical boards. Misunderstanding with regard to the regulations evidently exists, for all applicants must produce their medical history sheets before the tribunal.

The reception given the Victory Loan campaign in York and Sunbury has been very gratifying. There is evidence that the public is taking a keen interest in the new loan.

TURKS LOSE HOPE AS BRITISH DRESS THEM

Say Enver Pasha Has Sold Country to Germany—Turk Losses 12,000 Since November Came In—Reports From West Front

HON. MR. HAZEN SWORN IN TODAY. London, Nov. 13.—Reuter's correspondent on Sunday, says: "Although some of the officer prisoners show a fallen or truculent spirit, the majority of them are very much depressed and say that all hope is gone. They are deeply incensed again Enver Pasha, Turkish minister of war, who, they say, 'sold the country to Germany.'"

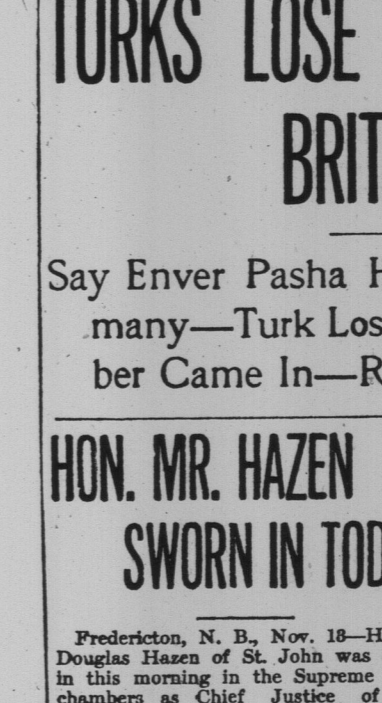

Paris, Nov. 13.—In the region north-west and east of Rheims last night the Germans, after lively bombardments, carried out several raids, says today's official announcement. Their efforts brought them no success. Elsewhere the night was calm.

Italian Front. The Italian and Austro-German armies are in battle array along the Piave River, from the hill region in the north to the Adriatic Sea—the Italians on the western side and the enemy along the eastern bank.

Chief Justice Hazen responded, thanking Mr. Gregory and through him the members of the New Brunswick Bar for the hearty congratulations of the bar upon the honor which had been conferred upon him, and expressed the hope for a long life, cordial relations between bench and bar and good health for the new head of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick.

Referring to the changes which had taken place in both bench and bar since he entered the legal profession, the chief justice mentioned the names of prominent judges and lawyers who had departed this life since 1882, when he was sworn in.

After common motions were made, the following attorneys were admitted on the motion of J. B. M. Baxter, K. C.: John Allen LeBlanc, William John Shea, Thomas K. Sweeney and Joseph Wilfred Tat.

VICTORY LOAN CAMPAIGN GOES WITH SWING HERE, MAY PASS THE OBJECTIVE

Business Houses Arrange to Finance Bonds for Employes—Reports From the Canvassers—A Bond For The Baby

The Victory Loan drive is progressing steadily; each report shows fresh gains and the army of canvassers is pressing forward towards the objective. Owing to delays in receiving reports from the various captains the headquarters was not able to announce today how far they have gone but every report received has been of a most encouraging nature.

The objective is the $4,000,000 mark for the city and the committee in charge of the campaign already is entertaining hopes that this may be passed. An effort is being made to arrange with employers to finance the subscriptions of their employes and the committee which has this plan in hand has not met with a single refusal. The concerns which already have agreed to do this include the New Brunswick Telephone Company, W. H. Thorne & Company, Limited, Manchester Robertson Limited, Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, Imperial Oil Company, Limited, and the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Limited. In most cases the employing concern is giving the employees a year in which to make the payments, collecting a certain amount each week or month.

Among the reports received today was that of a large international corporation with headquarters in the United States. The local manager called at headquarters this morning and announced that he was authorized to subscribe $25,000 on behalf of the local branch and filled in an application for that amount. Other corporations with offices here are following the same policy. An effort is being made to arrange with employers to finance the subscriptions of their employes and the committee which has this plan in hand has not met with a single refusal. Margaret Mayo's Celebrated Play Made Into a Remarkable Photo-Spectacle, Starring Mae Marsh, That Comes to Imperial Theatre

"Polly of the Circus," Margaret Mayo's world-famous classic of the "Big Top" and now converted from the celebrated play into a tremendous photo-spectacle, comes to the Imperial Theatre Wednesday and Thursday as the first of the eagerly awaited Goldwyn pictures. After an absence of almost an entire year from the screen, Mae Marsh, who won worldwide popularity in "The Birth of a Nation" and "Intolerance," comes again to greet her throngs of admirers in one of the most beautiful and elaborate productions ever made for the screen. "Polly of the Circus" was directed by Charles Horsa, virtually a newcomer among directors, and the magnificent settings and artistic details are the creation of Everett Shinn, the noted artist. This production literally abounds in sentiment and thrills for people of all ages. There is a remarkably exciting horse race, the reproduction of an entire circus performance, including all of the animal and riding acts; the arrival of the circus in a village at daybreak and its departure in the night; the burning of the main tent and the stampede of the audience. And there is a love story of greater charm and beauty than you have ever before seen on the screen.

Germany Make An Agreement With British Government To Report All Captures

No Reprisals Without Notice—Those Repatriated Not To Be Employed on Any Front

Details of an agreement between the British and German governments concerning combatant and civilian prisoners of war, which, if kept by the Teuton officials delegated to carry it out, will greatly ameliorate the conditions of the wretched captives held in Germany, are made public in a White Paper just issued by Great Britain. The conference at which the agreement was reached was held at The Hague under the presidency of J. Louyon, the Netherlands minister of foreign affairs, assisted by two other Dutch officials, Minister Jonker and Dr. C. G. W. F. Van Vredenburg.

At this conference also an arrangement was made whereby the Netherlands government undertook to care for 16,000 British and German combatant or civilian prisoners of war, the respective governments of these nationals to refund all costs of internment and to furnish materials necessary for the construction and up-keep of the camps, for medical attention, and for the victualing and clothing of the interned.

A very important arrangement is that reprisals against combatant and civilian prisoners of war may only be carried out after at least four weeks' notice of intention so to do has been given. The time limit begins with the date on which the Swiss Legation in London has been notified of the intended reprisals against the Netherlands in British hands, or German prisoners in British hands, or German prisoners in British hands, or German prisoners in British hands.

Notification of Captures. Another clause of deep interest provides that both military administrations will immediately repeat instructions to all consensated to the following effect. All captures are to be notified by the captor state to the other state with the least possible delay; every prisoner captured is to be allowed to communicate at once with his family and is to be provided with the means of doing so, and the dispatch of his communications is to be facilitated, as soon as practical after capture every prisoner is to be enabled to inform his family of an address at which his family can communicate with him.

Other provisions, in brief, are appended.

Repatriation of combatant and civilian prisoners of war under the existing agreements shall be resumed as soon as practical, and to that end the Netherlands government has been requested by both parties to arrange for and carry through such repatriation in a manner agreeable to the British and German governments.

All tubercular prisoners interned in Switzerland, who are practically cured, shall be repatriated after examination.

New and more lenient schedules of disabilities shall be drawn up for guidance in choosing combatant prisoners of war for repatriation direct or from a neutral country, and for internment in a neutral country.

Prisoners of war who have been at least eighteen months in captivity, and who are suffering from "barbed wire disease," shall for the future be recognized as suitable for internment in Switzerland or other neutral country. If, after being interned there for three months, a considered improvement in health is not observable, the disease will be treated as serious and the prisoner entitled to be considered for repatriation.

With the consent of the Swiss government, there shall be effectuated a complementary internment in Switzerland of prisoners who were in captivity prior to the first of November, 1914. The examination for this purpose shall be conducted by two commissioners, each composed of three Swiss doctors and three doctors of the captor state, the Swiss medical officer to have the casting vote in case the commission is equally divided in opinion.

The classes of prisoners whose cases are to be decided upon by these commissions are: Prisoners of war who have already been selected as fit for internment in a neutral country by the traveling medical commission, but whose cases have been postponed for further consideration; prisoners of whom it has become known that they have been ill for some time, but have for unknown reasons, not been recognized as being fit for internment; and prisoners who, by mistake or inadvertence, have not been brought before the traveling commission, or who have been unable to appear before it.

None of these prisoners shall be finally rejected at the first examination. All those not selected for repatriation or internment shall be transferred to an observation camp and their cases shall be considered again by the commission after an interval of four weeks. When the decision is unfavorable to the prisoner, the reasons shall be explicitly given. All prisoners designated as being fit for internment shall be transferred to Switzerland as soon as practicable.

In order to gain room for the complementary internment, the British prisoners interned by the German government in Switzerland according to the agreement for the reciprocal exchange of the severely wounded and for the Swiss doctors, and shall be binding on both sides.

The examination of invalids for repatriation from this paragraph applies to those only who are now or may hereafter be in Great Britain and France.

One thousand six hundred of the German civilians now interned in Great Britain, and 400 of the British civilians now interned in Germany, shall be chosen by the medical authorities of the captor state. If on either side the civilians who are found to be qualified do not reach the requisite number, the deficit shall be made up by adding to the list of civilians to be repatriated the names of the medical authorities of the captor state, are the duty of medical grounds.

Both military administrations will use every endeavor to secure the speedy delivery of all parcels addressed to prisoners of war, both combatant and civilian, and to avoid all unnecessary censorship.

Controllers in London Hotels

London, Nov. 12.—Considerable agitation has been aroused in London over the government's perpetual commandeering of hotels. The Star in vitriolic criticism says: "There seems to be something about our multitudinous government officials which makes it impossible for them to work except in hotels. They must have their bath, lounges, lifts, palm trees or we can't win the war. No sooner is a new department invented by the controller of controllers than the gentleman who gets the best job looks for a hotel. Sir Alfred Mond mentioned in the house that 398 rooms in a hotel were occupied by the air board. It would be interesting to know how many rooms are used for making tea and toast. What we want is another controller to see that no department exceeds its room needs. But if they don't soon appoint him we won't have a hotel to commandeer."

It is becoming more noticeable daily that London hotels cannot accommodate the throngs of visitors, soldiers and officers on leave and a multitude of others. It has been continually suggested that the government take over the clubs where access to the floor space is used by a few old men, who appear at the clubs infrequently. The annual Lord Mayor's banquet is going to be held under present conditions, where gorging is considered bad form. Lord Rhondda, food controller, who will be present, may possibly utilize the opportunity of impressing upon the city fathers the necessity for extreme economy. Bonar Law announced in the commons that he has been assured the food served would fall within the controller's rations.

An Inspiring Scene In The Metropolitan

Caruso Leads Singing of Star Spangled Banner

Four Others of World's Greatest Vocalists With Him And Chorus Takes Up Refrain—Wildly Patriotic Scene Attends Upon Surprise

New York, Nov. 12.—The Metropolitan opera season opened last night with a thrill not on the bills. The curtain had fallen on the second act of Verdi's "Aida" and the audience which packed the historic opera house from pit to top-most gallery was thundering its applause when the carthagenians and the throng was hushed.

Out from the wings in single file, led by Enrico Caruso, marched five of the world's greatest singers—Pasquale Amato, Claudio Muzio, Margareta Malanzena and Basil Raymond. Back of them all the members of the great chorus took their places.

No more dramatic and unexpected spectacle ever had been enacted in the Metropolitan and never before in New York had opera stars been greeted with such a tempest of applause. Rising with the first strains of the anthem, the great audience waited until the final notes and then burst into a veritable frenzy of patriotic cheers. Men and women in the glittering horseshoe of the Metropolitan galloped over their heads in their applause. General Director Gatti-Casazza had provided a surprise and proved that the Star Spangled Banner is not unworthy of great artists.

A SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF ST. PETER'S ANNUAL HIGH TEA

Event in North End Hall Proves Enjoyable—Nice Decorations; Good Attractions

A large number of people were present last evening at the opening of St. Peter's annual high tea and sale in St. Peter's Hall, Elm street. About 800 suppers were served, which was a record for the opening night. The numerous attractions were well patronized and proved a source of enjoyment to all. A feature last evening was the observance of "society night" by the members of St. Peter's Y. M. C. A. The young men assembled in their rooms, and procuring bunches of green and white, which are the colors of the society, marched to the hall in a body. They sang catchy song hits. After partaking of a bounteous supper a short address was given by the president, H. Raymond Hansen, after which he proposed three rousing cheers for Rev. P. Coghlan, S.S. H., who is the popular spiritual director of the society.

The hall is artistically decorated and presents an attractive appearance. There are two tables, the green and the pink. The latter is decorated with shaded chrysanthemums with Nile green leaves. In the centre is a floral basket with a cascade of shaded poppies, a beautiful piece of hand-work. The green table is decorated with roses and in the centre is also suspended a floral basket containing poppies of harmonizing shades. There are more than 700 flowers used in these decorations and more than 4,000 shaded petals. These are the work of the Misses Annie and Yvonne Carlyn, who are being complimented on the results achieved.

The committees on these tables are as follows:

Pink table—Mrs. J. Mullin, Mrs. W. J. Savage, Mrs. J. Brown, Mrs. J. Kane, Mrs. J. D. Maher, Mrs. T. Callahan, Mrs. S. McCormick, Mrs. J. G. Burke, Mrs. C. Murphy, Mrs. Thos. Mrs. Robt. M. Stevens.

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 12.—(Special)—Many friends in Moncton and St. John will regret to learn of the death in Moncton, of Mrs. Robert M. Stevens, Sunday evening. She was in usual good health until she contracted pneumonia about a week ago. The deceased who is eighty-one years of age, was predeceased by her husband about nineteen years. She was a faithful member of St. George church.

She leaves one son, Alfred E. Stevens, divisional superintendent of the C. P. R., Moose Jaw; also three daughters—Miss Ella Stevens, who resided with her mother, Mrs. Robert Sample, Portland, Maine, and Mrs. Samuel Taylor, Sackville; also two brothers and three sisters. Mrs. Stevens at one time resided in Truro and later in St. John, previous to making her home in Moncton.

Mrs. William E. Myles.

Mrs. William E. Myles, of Gondola Point, passed away yesterday at the St. John Infirmary. She was a daughter of the late William H. and Sarah Wain, of this city, and leaves besides her husband, one sister, Miss Bertha Wain. Mrs. Myles was well known in this city and her many friends will learn with deep regret of her death.

HAIR COMING OUT MEANS DANDRUFF

"Danderine" Will Save Your Hair and Double Its Beauty at Once

Try This! Your Hair Gets Soft, Wavy, Abundant and Glossy at Once

Save your hair! Beautiful! It is only a matter of using a little Danderine! Occasionally to have a head of heavy, beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, wavy and free from dandruff. It is easy and inexpensive to have pretty, charming hair and lots of it. Just spend a few cents for a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, lustiness and an incomparable gloss, fluff and softness as you will, you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—thick and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp, and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

PROHIBITION IN SEATTLE.

To the Editor of the Times-Star:—
Sir—Prohibition does prohibit when the authorities in the state make a serious business of enforcing the law. Seattle's experience in connection with the adoption of prohibition has been so favorable that one of its daily papers, the Chronicle which opposed the proposal to make the state dry, is very emphatically proclaiming the happy results of the adoption of a policy which it opposed. It is quoted as saying: "This paper is ready at ten second's notice to fight its best against any serious effort to repeal or cripple the prohibition law. For four months now in California."

WE SHOULD WAKE UP.

"Year in and year out the educators of the country, with the assent of the parents, force the children to go to school and acquire arithmetic and algebra; history and bookworm; algebra and astigmatism; cube root and consumption; Caesar and spinal curvature." The American educator who thus summarizes his remarks, is pleading for more of practical or vocational training in the schools; but what he says strengthens the case for medical inspection in the schools. In this issue of the Times some facts are presented to show how far St. John is behind other Canadian cities; and how far New Brunswick is behind British Columbia in regard to the health of the children; but most of all, to show how far St. John is behind Halifax and what the experience of that city should teach us concerning the need and the value of medical inspection in the schools.

The members of the Board of School Trustees would gladly introduce medical inspection if the funds were available. The thing to do is to create such a favorable public sentiment that when they ask for the small additional amount that is necessary it will not be thrown out of their estimates, but accepted as a necessary item of expenditure.

"Let us have a city-wide demand for medical inspection. In the schools of Halifax last year more than a thousand children were found to be suffering from some physical defect that needed medical or surgical treatment. There are, doubtless, quite as many in St. John. The city should no longer be guilty of the crime of neglect of its little ones in Toronto a doctor and a nurse visit every school every day.

There is here a theme for sermons and addresses, and a field for a vigorous, organized effort to bring about a reform that is long overdue.

THE VICTORY LOAN.

Canadian Finance, of Winnipeg, presents the case for the Victory Loan in a very striking way. It says—

"Not always do loyalty and business interest make 'one clear call.' But such, certainly, is the case with Canada's Victory Loan. Even if its flotation countered the interests of agriculture, manufacturing and trade, there would still be a clear call to all loyal Canadians from the men overseas: 'Let not a sum of gold be now so dear to you that for its sake you will bring shame upon yourself and destruction upon us in the field.' This call from William the Silent to the Netherlands, centuries ago, is the call from the Flanders of today—to secure its freedom, and the world's, from a more heinous tyranny than that of Spain at its worst.

"Let us not take vain comfort to ourselves that the end of the struggle is in sight, nor that its outcome is a foregone conclusion. The military issue is still far from certain. And there will be no next time, if the struggle now goes against Britain and her Allies—not in our day nor in that of our children's children. As Hon. James Tack, in addressing the New York Liberty Loan Committee, said the other day: 'Germany would sit as overlords, as Satan sits in hell, because civilization will be a hell if this war is lost.' It is not a matter of slight importance that Canada's forthcoming loan should have a prompt and generous response. One last ounce of force—perhaps Canada's ounce at that—may decide the balance between victory and defeat. To the Kaiser's failure would mean more than miles of captured trenches. Be sure that Germany is watching us, far from the battle front though we are.

"The gift of freedom is bought with blood; to quote the words of an announcement from the Victory Loan Committee, 'but money will help preserve it.' For the sake of those lying somewhere in France who have sacrificed their lives, for the sake of those at home who have given up flesh of their flesh, Canada asks her citizens (men, women and children) to support with money the effort of the free peoples of the earth to secure liberty, to make the world safe for democracy.

"Surely there are considerations strong enough! When others give their lives shall we hesitate to lend our money? But let our dull ears should not hear clearly the call of duty, the minister of finance is stressing the business advantages, indeed the business necessity, of widespread subscription. Canada must at once raise more money, not only that we may play our part in the war, but in order that our overseas trade may not be seriously checked."

The situation in Russia is such that all sorts of conflicting reports are sent out. A state of civil war exists. It is, however, that the Bolsheviks are with determined opposition in its to establish a government in peasants. Kerensky is a factor to be reckoned with.

BOURASSA SPEAKS.

Mr. Henri Bourassa says he is "not in favor of putting Nationalist candidates in the field, because of the risk it would entail in weakening the efforts of the opposition."

In other words, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attitude toward the war is good enough for Bourassa. That is the milk in the cocoanut. It is for the members of the Liberal party throughout Canada to decide whether a war policy that is satisfactory to Mr. Bourassa and his Nationalists is good enough for them. They know his record. They know he is opposed to Canada's participation in the war, and that if he had his way not another Canadian soldier would take part in a struggle which involves the fate of Canada.

The choice today is not between Borden and Laurier, but between the union government for the war period and Mr. Henri Bourassa. The issue is infinitely greater than any quarrel between political parties. It strikes at the root of loyalty, and the challenge comes to every man to declare himself.

The Toronto Globe says: "The British advance in Flanders has none of the spectacular features of the Austro-German invasion of northern Italy, and seems a tame and unimaginative thing in contrast to it. But in the winning of the war it may well be decisive, for if German troops lose their grip upon the people of the Fatherland will be under no illusions as to what is involved. That Canada's splendid sons are taking part in the drive toward the Belgian coast is further evidence of the position they have won in the estimation of the leaders of the British army. What they are set to do they do, even when opposed by the very best of Germany's 'picked troops.' The list of casualties fills us with sadness that so many of our best should pass out in the flower of their youth, but with our grief is mingled a feeling of pride that Canadian youth is equal to every demand made upon it. Lift up the weak, drive back the Hun, in God's crusade, march on, march on."

March on, march on in Freedom's cause, For righteous peace and righteous laws, For hearts and homes and altar fires, For freedom God gave to our sires. Go bear on high beyond the sea The starry emblem of the free, Lift up the weak, drive back the Hun, In God's crusade, march on, march on.

The Bangor Commercial says: "The great corn crop of 8,191,088,000 bushels, which is more than 66,000,000 bushels in excess of all past achievements in this line in the United States, is not to be attributed to the advantages of the season, which is characterized by the Department of Agriculture as unfavorable, but to the response that the farmers made to the call of the nation and of the Allies. The acreage devoted to corn was larger than ever before. Mr. Hoover now has the corn and before him is the task of converting the American public to a more extensive use of corn bread."

So long as an annual school census is not taken in St. John, this is what happens: Families move in from the country with children of school age. The parents are poor. Perhaps they do not value schooling for their children. Perhaps they feel they cannot buy proper clothing and books. Perhaps they want all the children who are old enough to do not go to school. There is no record of them anywhere. They grow up without any education. Is that giving them a fair start in life?

The Board of School Trustees should be heartily supported in its plan to have an enumeration of all children of school age. Under the law that should be done every year. In no other way can we be assured that all children of school age are sent to school.

The daily casualty list ought to make petty politics appear very small in the eyes of St. John people. Are we to stay in the war or get out of it? Bourassa would have us get out by the Laurier road.

Halifax—a medical inspector, two school nurses, dental clinic for schools, and free glasses, clothing and books for children whose parents cannot buy them. St. John has none of these. Poor old St. John—what?

The evening school in the Centennial building has grown so that two classes are necessary. That is a good sign. When will St. John have a trade school open every day and every evening?

The Public Safety Commission put six cent bread on sale in ten stores in Minneapolis today. As a result, several dealers reduced the price of bread.

The Italian situation is still very grave. If the army fails to hold the line of the Piava, Venice is in danger.

"We must lay plans for a long war. I see no signs of its being a short one." —Sir Eric Geddes.

WITH APOLOGIES TO KIPLING

A nation spoke to a nation Concerning a Victory Loan. "Men have I sent and dollars spent That the land may be our own. The gates are mine to open And the gates are mine to close; But 'I'm in the fight to the finish," Said Our Lady of the Shaws.

LIGHTER VEIN.

The Language of the Patches. A lady advertised for a man to work in her garden, and two men applied for the job. While she was interviewing them on the lawn she noticed that her mother on the piazza was making signs to her to choose the shorter of the two men, which she finally did. When the ladies were alone the daughter said: "Why did you signal me to choose the shorter man, mother? The other had a much better face."

"Face!" returned the old lady. "When you pick out a man to work in your garden you want to go by his eyes. If they're patched on the knees you want him; if they're patched on the eyes, you don't." —Boston Transcript.

"The New Crusade."

(T. D. Rhodes, in New York Herald.) March on, march on in honor's name, Columbia's torch is still aflame, Her flag aloft on land and sea, Her sword unsheathed mankind to free, Her sons aroused go forth in might To war for liberty and right. March on, march on till victory won, Shall free all lands beneath the sun.

March on, march on in Freedom's cause, For righteous peace and righteous laws, For hearts and homes and altar fires, For freedom God gave to our sires. Go bear on high beyond the sea The starry emblem of the free, Lift up the weak, drive back the Hun, In God's crusade, march on, march on.

March on, march on the world to save, No freeman born shall die a slave. Resilient press the trumpet call To battle for the depot's fall. The blood of martyrs has slain Shall not for justice cry in vain. March on, march on till victory won, Mankind is free—your mission done.

Grand Bent, Ont., Nov. 11.—There is no disease of the skin more obstinate than ringworm, and the mother who writes this to tell you of my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment, what it will mean to other anxious mothers to know about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

The remarkable cure was brought about two years ago, and as there has been no return of the distressing disease there can be no doubt that the cure is permanent.

Mrs. D. Stebbins, Grand Bend (Ont.), writes: "I am completely cured. My little girl had sores come out on her head which looked like ringworm. They were spreading fast, and I tried home treatment, but nothing helped her. I took her to the doctor, and he opened some of the sores, which were as big as the yoke of an egg. The sores gave me to put on was very severe, and I continued to spread all over her head, and came down to her neck and ears. She suffered terribly. At last some kind friend told me about Dr. Chase's Ointment. I got a box, and the first time I put it on she was relieved of pain, and the second time the swelling was all gone. Before we had finished the first box the sores were nearly all gone. I have told all the people around here about your Ointment, and I cannot praise it too much. It is now two years since my little girl was troubled in this way, and it never came back, so you can see she is completely cured. We are at liberty to use this statement for the benefit of others who may be suffering in a similar manner."

Write as follows: "This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mrs. D. Stebbins of Grand Bend (Ont.), and believe her statement to be true and correct."

General Robertson Also is Similarly Referred To LLOYD GEORGE'S SPEECH

London Comment Partly Favorable, Partly Critical—His Explanation As To Why Serbia Was Not Adequately Assisted

New York, Nov. 12.—An Associated Press cable from London this morning says:

"The speech made yesterday by Premier Lloyd George in Paris has made a slight but not a great impression on the press, and his references to the allies' 'incredible blunder' and other matters are printed under sensational headlines. Comment on the speech is mixed with criticism of the new allied war council, announced here yesterday by Chancellor Bonar Law. Some of the newspapers endorse the speech in the main or are non-committal. Others criticize adversely the new military plan and accuse the premier of wishing to take over the strategic direction of the allied campaign.

Editors of the Sunday newspapers of the impending retirement of Field Marshal Haig and General Robertson, chief of the general staff, caused some commentators to insinuate that the reports were sent about intentionally by semi-official hints. The Morning Post comments that both the nation and the army are alarmed over it.

The Times says that the premier let himself go and thereby opened the flood-gates to a torrent of expert criticism. The Premier's Speech

In his speech in Paris, Mr. Lloyd-George, referring to the centralized direction of the allied efforts, said: "Unfortunately we did not have time to consider the United States or Russia before creating this council. The Italian disaster necessitated action without delay to repair it. This made it indispensable to commence right now with the powers whose forces may be employed on the Italian front. It is essential to assure the complete success of this great experiment, which I believe is essential to the victory of our cause, it will be necessary that all our great allies be represented in the deliberations. I am persuaded that we shall obtain the cooperation of the United States and their co-operation in the work of the inter-allied council."

Mr. Lloyd-George developed, at considerable length, the reasons for not taking the step earlier. He referred to "difficulties and susceptibilities" which came to troubling questions on any front not commanded by generals taking part in the inter-allied consultations. "The Allies had developed a great feeling, and I am not adequately assisting Serbia in holding her line, with the result that she broke the Balkan blockade and produced men and supplies from the east, without which Germany doubtless would have been unable to maintain the forces of her armies."

"Why was this unbelievable fault committed?" asked the premier. "The reply is simple. It was because no one in particular was charged with guarding the Balkan gate. The unique front had not become a reality. France and England were absorbed by other problems in other regions. Had they thought only of the Carso, Russia was mounting guard over a frontier of 1,000 miles and, even without that, she could not have supported to have helped Serbia, because Roumania was neutral."

"It is true that we sent troops to Saloniki to succor Serbia, but as always, they were sent too late. Half the men who fell in the vain effort to pierce the Balkan gate in September that same year would have saved Serbia, saved the Balkans and completed the blockade of Germany."

Mentace to Germany "The war has been prolonged by particularly. It will be shortened by solidarity."

Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Anglin, of the Provincial Hospital, received a cable last evening from their son, Captain Gerald G. Anglin, M. C., as follows: "Leg broken by a splinter; resting very comfortably." His father has received a letter only a few days ago from him in which he stated that he had been in London on a short leave and had just got back to the trenches. Christie, had been admitted to No. 2 Field Ambulance on October 30, suffering from gunshot wounds in the right arm. He went over as a member of the 104th Battalion. Signaller Lawrence T. Wilkinson, son of Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, of Springhill, York county, whose death of wounds was officially reported yesterday, was known in Moncton. Sergeant Hamilton Wounded. Mrs. Hamilton, 69 Durham street, received a telegram from Ottawa yesterday informing her that her son, Sergeant Wilbur Allan Hamilton, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, had been officially reported admitted to the Canadian Hospital, Le Treport, France, suffering from gunshot wounds in his right hand. Another son, Winfield S., is in St. Thomas Hospital, London, England, suffering from gunshot wounds in chest and both knees. Both are St. John boys and many friends will hope soon to hear of their recovery.

Fred. Wm. Curry Dead. Word was received on Saturday, 10th inst., by Andrew J. Curry, Quaco road, St. John county, of the death of his son, Frederick William Curry, which occurred in No. 3 Casualty Clearing Station Hospital, Oct. 31, from a gunshot wound in the thigh.

Private Curry was born in the parish of Simonds, St. John county, May 11, 1882, and was a young man of sterling quality. Some years ago he went west and in March last enlisted with the 209th Battalion in British Columbia, and was later transferred to the 49th Canadian Infantry. Private Curry is survived by his father, two brothers, Thomas, at home, and Robert, of this city; also one sister, Miss Jennie, also of this city. Much sympathy is felt for the family in the loss of this fine young man.

Harold Young Wounded. F. A. Young, of 44 Seely street, received a cable yesterday from his son, Harold, in which he stated that he had been wounded in the shoulder and was in a London hospital. He enlisted here four days after war was declared and has been at the front since early in the war.

Drastic Orders. Orders are more drastic than at first thought, dealing with men who have not registered under the Military Service Act. According to a new order in council, overriding those that were received yesterday morning, men of class one who have failed to register are now absent without leave and can be immediately delivered into military custody for transportation to the training depot battalion of the district. It is stated that, if necessary, a temporary depot can be established to deal with those who have defied the law in not registering.

600 More Registered. Yesterday's figures received from the provincial registrar's office in Prince William street brings the total registration in the province up to 12,654 an increase of over 600 names made known on Sunday. It will be the middle of the present week before the total number who have registered in New Brunswick is known. Yesterday six reports for service were received through the mail, and 569 claims for exemptions, making an additional registration for the province of 518. To date there have been 1,059 service cards signed and 11,665 claims for exemption from service.

A Great Play. With apathy died the village resident listen to the city visitor's account of the joys and excitement of life in town. "We get everything here that is worth seeing," said the villager. "Why, last week we had the champion brass band here, the week before the greatest trombone player in the country, and this week we are going to have a great production of the drama, Lewis the Cross-Eye. I tell you that is going to be a real show!" "What did you say was the name of the play?" asked the visitor.

"Here, have a look for yourself," said the other, as he produced a much-folded programme, announcing "a grand production of Louis XI.—Everybody's Magazine."

ARTILLERY INSPECTION. No. 9 Siege Battery and the 3rd C. G. A. were inspected yesterday afternoon by General A. H. Macdonell, G. O. C. of military district No. 7, who was assisted by Lieut.-Colonel A. H. Powell, A. G. local staff. Firing was done by members of the 3rd C. G. R. under instruction of Lieut. Roycroft of Halifax.

The Food Controller. (Chatham World). Food Controller Hanna, who talks much and does little, declares that dealers have no excuse for charging more for sugar now than in September. The dealers smile and calmly continue to collect the increased price. Why doesn't Mr. Hanna, instead of discussing the prices of the matter, fix the maximum price and prosecute dealers who ask a higher price? Why talk, talk, talk?

MUST GIVE UP TRY FOR OLIGARCHY IN FINLAND.

Helsingfors, Monday, Nov. 12.—The Finnish diet by a vote of 169 to 81 decided today to annul the selection of three state directors for Finland, made a few days ago. This means that the bourgeois majority will have to abandon its effort to establish an oligarchy in Finland. The repeal of the measure was demanded by telegrams and resolutions from industrial centres throughout the province, which declared the country was on the verge of civil war.

THE GROCERY MARKET

The following comment on the market situation as regards foodstuffs appeared in Canadian Grocer last week: The Markets at a Glance.

Wholesalers have been evincing more than usual interest in package cereals during the week on account of the heavy demand that has developed. As a result of the order of the food controller prohibiting their sale after specified dates consumers have evidently thought it wise to put by a stock. A bying movement has thereby been started. With one exception, perhaps, price movements have again been in an upward direction and include such commodities as canned peaches and apricots, canned beets, tobacco, ketchup, lard, package peas and candied peas. A decline has been recorded in one brand of cigars.

STEEL AND PIG IRON

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week ended Nov. 6, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing observations from the following observations: That contracts for shells will be placed in Canada by the United States government in the 75-millimeter type as used by the French army. These contracts, together with those for the British government will keep a number of plants in Canada busy for at least six months.

Don't Say—"Call Again."

Yesterday an army of men started out to sell Victory Bonds.

For the next three weeks theirs will be a colossal task.

From Cape Breton to the Yukon, they will try to call at every city home, every farm home, and every office, factory, and business institution to ask people to buy Victory Bonds.

Conceive, if you can, the magnitude of their work; the hard labour it involves, and the high necessity for it.

Then, realizing all these things, do your utmost to make their task easier.

Decide now to buy. Decide the amount you will buy. Be ready to sign your application when the salesman calls.

You should and will buy Victory Bonds, but, don't—please don't—ask the salesman to call again.

The worker's time is limited. He has hundreds of calls to make; and although there is an army of workers, each one has a large field to cover.

Don't say you're going to hold your application for someone else, because each worker is limited to his own district.

The salesman will not accept money. The application blank includes a form of cheque, payable to the Minister of Finance, which you can draw upon your bank; or, if you have not a bank account, there is a form of undertaking which you can use.

Be Ready—Don't Say, "Call Again."

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

The Victory Loan

The following telegram was received yesterday by Senator W. H. Thorne: Ottawa, Nov. 11. Hon. W. H. Thorne, Chairman for N. B. Canada's Victory Loan, St. John, (N. B.):

On the eve of the Victory Loan campaign I desire to express to you and to the members of your executive and other committees and to all organizers and canvassers my most earnest appreciation of the splendid spirit by which you are all animated and to assure you of my realization of the great value of the services you are rendering to the country.

W. T. WHITE. A despatch from Ottawa last night says: "The first subscription to the Victory War Loan received by the finance department was from the Duke of Devonshire. His subscription was sent direct to the department this morning. The amount was not given out. The reports received at the department show that the loan was given a splendid start today in every part of the dominion."

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The Canadian Pacific Railway Company has subscribed $5,000,000 to the Victory Loan and Lord Shaughnessy announced at a meeting of the Victory Loan committee in the Windsor hotel tonight, that if the rest of Canada contributed $800,000,000, as he believed would be the case, the C. P. R. Company would make its contribution $10,000,000. Sir Lomer Gouin, premier of Quebec, intimated that the provincial government would do its share in subscribing toward the Victory Loan.

Wheat Is Saved By Co-Operation

Minneapolis, Nov. 12.—Co-operation of millers, farmers, grain dealers and consumers has made it possible for the Food Administration Grain Corporation to effect a big saving of the country's wheat supply, Julius Barnes, president of the corporation, declared here today.

Mr. Barnes said that the decrease in flour consumption amounts to 20 per cent., while flour mills have increased their production fifteen per cent. above last year. This is in line, he added, with the corporation's policy of encouraging flour milling and exportation of flour rather than wheat. Flour exports will total approximately $5,000,000 barrels, as compared with a normal export of 15,000,000 barrels, he said. "Despite many perplexing problems including some dissension among farmers with the wheat price fixed by the government, I feel justified in saying that the Food Corporation has brought the country out of a situation approaching a flour famine," Mr. Barnes said. "Besides, in sixty days, we have succeeded in discharging this country's obligations to the Allies as far as humanly possible."

WAR VETERANS' MEETING

It having been generally reported that the G. W. V. A. as an association were placing candidates in the field in the coming election a meeting of the association was held last evening to clear up the situation. Major H. H. Smith, O.C. of the local discharge depot, prior to the meeting, addressed the men on the principles of the association strongly urging them as a body to take no stand in politics. To endorse candidates as an association would do more harm than good, causing disruption among the members. It was far better to keep politics out of the association and to take a stand individually on the prospective candidates, according to their attitude on public questions generally and the treatment of the returned soldier in particular. At the meeting of the G. W. V. A. plans were outlined for the holding of a Christmas tree and tea on December 20 for the children of returned men and widows who have lost their husbands in the war. It is expected that fully 400 children will be present and about forty-five widows. It was decided to present each widow a pair of blankets. A tea will be held along with the celebration in connection with the tree and it is expected that the 115th band will render its services. The question of putting a candidate in the field was then discussed but it was clearly shown that the association has no such power but that the matter of voting be left individually to each member's discretion. The association was asked to fill ten positions at Ottawa on the pension board, jobs at Westfield on the railroad there, the position of an electrical inspector and the C. P. R. asked for ten men as policemen during the coming winter. Joseph Dryden occupied the chair.

Urges Medical Inspection In Saint John Public Schools

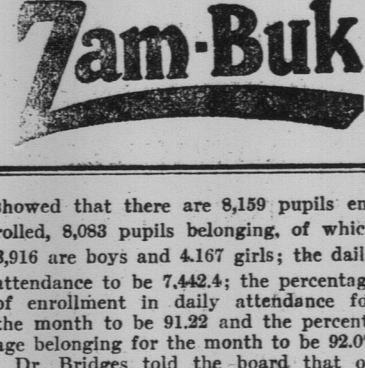

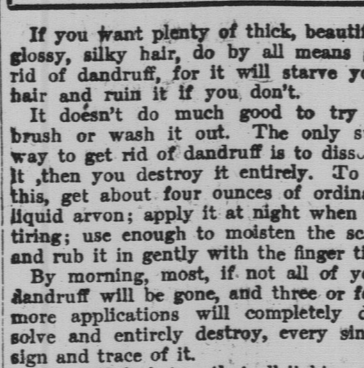

At the regular meeting of the school board held last night in the trustees' office the annual report of A. P. McIntyre, auditor, was read and received on a motion. Those present at the meeting were Mr. Emerson, chairman, Mrs. Taylor, Dr. Bridges, Hon. J. H. Smith, Mr. Day, Thomas Nagle, M. Coll, Dr. Manning, J. V. Russell and G. H. Green. Mr. Belding was present at the meeting and asked the board for a definition of a truant, as at the last meeting of the Children's Aid Society it was requested that a true definition be given. In answer to this question the board offered sections 23 and 24 of the School Act, which are:

IT GROWS NEW SKIN!

When Zam-Buk is applied to a skin disease it soothes pain, ends irritation and draws out the inflammation. At the same time it destroys all germs and thoroughly cleanses the diseased part. Why You Should Support It

Consider now the following paragraph from the report of Dr. Edward Blackader, medical inspector in Halifax, for less than eight months of the year 1916: "The total number of children examined (in a little over seven months) was 7,016. Out of this number there were found 1,038 suffering from various defects which greatly hampered them in their school work, and in some cases the Grape Arbor connected with the made their presence at school objectionable to the other children. The various cases numbered as follows: Defective vision, 555; enlarged tonsils, 197; nasal growths, 118; defective hearing, 26; discharging ears, 8; anaemia, 81; enlarged eyes, 9; bad cases of skin disease, 2; enlarged glands, probably tubercular, 4; pulmonary tuberculosis, 8; torticollis or wry neck, 1."

WHAT FORMER HEALTH COMMISSIONER KERR SAYS "As Health Commissioner of the City of Chicago, I was appointed many times to recommend different medicines, mineral waters, etc. Never yet have I gone on record as favoring any particular remedy, but I feel that in Nuxated Iron an exception should be made to the rule. I have taken Nuxated Iron myself and experienced its health-giving, strength-building effect, and in the interests of the public welfare, I feel it my duty to make known the results of its use. I am well past my three-score years and want to say that I believe that my own great physical activity is due largely to my personal use of Nuxated Iron, and if my endorsement shall induce anxious, nervous, run-down men and women to take Nuxated Iron, and receive the wonderful tonic benefits which I have received, I shall feel greatly gratified that I made an exception to my life-long rule in recommending it. From my own experience with Nuxated Iron, I feel that it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country."

Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

THE VALUE OF ZEEBRUGGE IN GERMAN SCHEME

Engineering Skill Made It Home for Sub-Fleet

Menace To England

Possession of Port Was Realization of Long-Cherished Teuton Dream—Hope to Hold It

Since the Germans occupied the Belgian coast British warships have at shorter or longer intervals, whenever possible, bombarded Zeebrugge. From the brief news items, almost hidden in the columns of more exciting but not always more important affairs, it has seemed as if the British fleet bombarded Zeebrugge when it had nothing better to do.

the Allies in Flanders, which began with the successful blowing up of the Messines-Wytschaete Ridge, has the same object as the repeated bombardments of Zeebrugge and other parts of the Belgian coast—the object of destroying the most important submarine bases, which enable Germany to continue her sea warfare.

It was shortly after the Belgian army had retired to the Yser front and Germans had made their triumphal entry into Ostend that I heard from first-hand sources what great expectations Germany nourished in regard to her possession of the Belgian coast. A group of Dutch journalists whom I had joined, interviewed some German officers on the Dutch-Belgian border. The Germans were always willing to grant interviews to neutrals in those days, for they believed in advertising their aims, or, rather, explaining and justifying them, and especially liked to advertise their gains. One of the officers was the spokesman.

Few Miles to England
"The presence of German soldiers on the Belgian coast," said he, "is the realization of a long-cherished German ideal for between them and England is only a strip of water a few miles wide. The German empire, extending to the North Sea, will put a stop to England's supremacy of the seas, for is not Germany also the strongest on land?" "Napoleon," continued the speaker, "called Antwerp 'a loaded pistol aimed at the heart of England,' and Napoleon did not see as far nor know as much as we do today."

Germany was already busy with preparations to exploit her newly acquired naval position. Why was Zeebrugge so great an acquisition? Ostend was known all over the world and so was Antwerp, but who had ever heard of Zeebrugge? The fact is that this harbor had only just been finished by the Belgian people, as a climax in their dream of greater expansion, of more exports and imports for Belgium. It was the ideal location for a submarine base, especially for submarines whose operation field was to be the Irish Sea and the English coast. A small steamer with moderate speed could, from Zeebrugge, reach England in only a few hours. Submarines could return in no time to their base for supplies, or, which is just as important, report for instructions and with news. An almost constant communication with the base is one of the great factors in submarine warfare. For that reason Zeebrugge was an ideal port.

Material Via Bruges
But Germany saw even more advantages. From Zeebrugge a canal, wide and deep enough to allow sea vessels, had been dug for exportation purposes to Bruges. This town was in German hands, at a relatively safe distance from the enemies' lines. Germany's scheme was simple but with great possibilities for success. In the vicinity of Bruges, along the canal, submarine building yards were rushed to completion. In fact, the foundations were already there, laid for commercial purposes by the Belgian people. Bruges was connected with Germany by direct railway lines, and the material could be shipped from Germany without delay or difficulties, as all along the line the territory was held by Germany. The parts came to Bruges, and the submarine was built, launched on the canal and in less than two hours had reached Zeebrugge, its base, ready for action.

From Zeebrugge probably started on its tragic mission the submarine that fired the torpedo into the Lusitania, and when Germany decided upon her ruthless submarine warfare, only Germany herself knew how important a role Zeebrugge would play in the present war game. Yet even today many a follower of the war hardly knows where to find Zeebrugge on the map. It is the British fleet, however, that knows what Zeebrugge means, and the only reason that the almost continuous bombardment of the port has never done sufficient damage is that Germany has given to Zeebrugge a wonderful system of defence.

Many times a landing of British troops on the Belgian coast has been considered, but England has experienced at tremendous costs what a landing means, be it in Gallipoli or in Belgium. So it has been decided that the evacuation of the Belgian coast by German troops, however important it is, can be the result only of a well-organized co-operation of land and sea forces, proceeding from opposite directions. It is to be hoped that the recent gains in Flanders justify the prospect of success for such a combined operation.

Creation as a Port
The history of Zeebrugge is interesting from other standpoints than the present strategic one. Less than twenty years ago it was composed only of a few miserable fishing huts, its creation as a maritime port was due to the ambitions of King Leopold of Belgium, and Antwerp was the only Belgian port for export and import. It is not even a seaport, for it is situated on the River Scheldt, and its boats can reach the sea only at Flushing, distant a trip of more than five hours, a period sometimes much increased by the delay due to the tide. Besides, Flushing is a Dutch town, and thus the road from Antwerp to the sea is an international one. To the west is a strip of sea where Ostend was the biggest Belgian port, but her maritime activities were limited to a single line to Dover, a line of small importance.

Not far from Ostend is Bruges, now a dead city, but once a great harbor called the "Venice of the North." That was hundreds of years ago, and where the harbor was once are now fertile polders surrounded by dikes. King Leopold, in his dreams, saw the resurrection of Bruges, if once more it could be linked with the sea. It was a tremendous scheme. Besides, it had political advantages, which got for him the assistance of the party then in power, the Catholic party, or Conservatives. Antwerp was a centre of liberalism as well as of commerce. Flanders was Catholic and Conservative, but was agricultural without international commerce. An international harbor in Catholic Flanders would reduce the supremacy of the Liberal centre, Antwerp.

King Leopold's Dream
Work started at Zeebrugge. An immense wall was built, stretching into the sea nearly two miles and forming a tremendous shelter. All along it were installed powerful cranes. Big warehouses were constructed in anticipation of big business. The pilot building was greater than that at Antwerp, and it seemed as if King Leopold's dream would come true. But it was proved that a harbor movement could not be transferred by the stroke of a pen. Antwerp was flourishing more than ever. Her import and export figures grew every year, while no ships came to Zeebrugge.

continuous dredging was necessary. Only one steamship line established itself at Zeebrugge, running a boat to Hull (England) twice a week, and that only in summer, the vacation season. Now and again a small boat would run in, looking as if it was by mistake. Finally the Belgians became accustomed to the idea that Zeebrugge was a failure, and a very expensive failure. And when Germany took possession of Zeebrugge the Belgians said, "After all, it is a good thing, as Zeebrugge is no good."

Of course, Germany experienced the same difficulties about the sand, which constantly filled the harbor, and she tried to engage the services of the engineer-in-chief who had been in charge of the works. He was a refugee in Holland. The invaders offered him a royal salary, but he proudly replied that his services were not for sale to the enemies of his country, and that he would rather see his life-work destroyed than think it was of the least assistance to "a nation of thieves." The answer was one of the many bitter pills administered to Germans in the form of blunt but heroic responses from Belgians tempted with money.

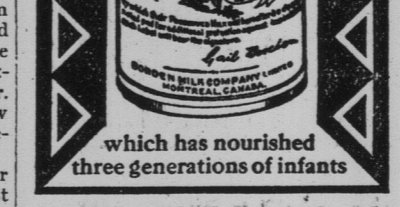

In due time, however, through the clever engineers of her own, the Germans found means to make the harbor of use for submarine traffic. More and more submarines, built at the Bruges yard, found their way along the canal to their new base.

Nowadays, when the news has been spread that Germany is willing to "exchange" Belgium in an eventual peace discussion, it is interesting to reflect upon the point of view expressed by the German officer mentioned above. It may have been only an individual opinion, but there is no doubt that Germany, the nation of militarism, attaches tremendous importance to the strip of Belgian coast opposite England. Certain it is that Germany will evacuate that coast only at the point of the sword. But the sword is drawing nearer and nearer.

JOAN, THE WOMAN, A TRIUMPH AT LYRIC
Truly Remarkable Production, Huge, Spectacular, of Absorbing Interest
'It's better than Intolerance.' Positively the best picture I have ever seen,' such were the comments one heard at the Lyric Theatre last evening regarding Cecil B. DeMille's wonderful masterpiece, 'Joan the Woman.' It could not be otherwise, however, for it is a combination of the human interest and spectacular so intelligently wedged as to give complete satisfaction as to be fully worthy its classification as a high grade piece of theatrical entertainment, offered at decidedly reasonable prices. As you sit in your chair you are alternately awayed by the grim struggle of battle, the thrill of conquest, the crowning of the man who led the flag of Joan of Arc. But through it all because of the magnificent inspirational performance of Geraldine Farrar, you inspired yourself.
The first half of the picture runs to the spectacular, the second gives the trials and tribulations of Joan. The Battle of Orleans is one of the big scenes of the picture. It is waged with all the ferocity of reality. Here the producer, Mr. DeMille, has spread his work to every nook and corner of the immense field covered by the camera. The battle begins with a sweeping charge of the French led by Joan across the picket lines of the enemy up to the very walls of the castle. A horse turns a complete somersault and catapults its rider into the very ranks of the opposing army. At that moment the invading British are met with rocks and arrows and spears and hatchets. Whole bridges of men give way to the bloody melee below. The French soldier climbs to the top of the Burgundians and falls with it to the ground. In another instant the flag of Joan is run up, it is the triumph of Joan, the beginning of the end.
And then comes Joan's capture by the enemy, her trial conducted by Pierre Cauchon, her conviction and her death at the burning stake. And so the saviour of France comes to her end. In the crowd of the man who loved her, Miss Jeanie McPheerson who prepared the scenario, introduced the love story, basing its incidents on the plays of the French and German. Its presence adds much to the tragedy of Joan's life. Incidentally the author worked wonderfully well for Joan the Woman. It tells the life of the Maid of Orleans clearly and distinctly.
It seems peculiar perhaps to see the French and English in such bitter conflict when the present time is called to mind, but then remember that the chief opponent of the French was the Duke of Burgundy, and if one cares to delve back far enough into history he will discover that a bit of Teutonic blood ran in the Burgundian veins. And if this does not suffice, witness the manner in which Miss McPheerson has attempted, and to our minds, succeeded in doing away with the revival of old-time prejudice of race. The picture opens with a scene in an English trench at the present time. An officer has just been commissioned to go on a mission from which he will never return and as he ponders over it a vision of Joan of Arc appears before him and bids him do and die, his sin against her centuries ago might forever be effaced.
To come down to the more minute details they made a grave mistake in calling off championship meads and important contests.
An incentive is needed to encourage athletes among our youth. Competition furnishes just the necessary incentive, and it is the title and goal which college authorities seemed so anxious to prohibit that furnished such competition.

Athletics A National Need
Go Hand in Hand With Soldiering—Everything Should Be Done To Encourage Strenuous Sports and Pastimes Among Youths
Right from the front line trenches The New York Sun presents an article demonstrating the value of athletics and the national use of a country to encourage all open, manly sports. France—war France—has learned its lesson, that athletics and soldiering go hand in hand and that one of the primary requisites for a good soldier is that he first be a good athlete.
No better brief for the cause of athletics in this country, no stronger plea for the wholehearted encouragement of sport in America could be offered than the one included in Georges Prade's masterly summing up of France's athletic education, as he did recently in an article in Vie au Grand Air, the famous Paris publication.
Mr. Prade's opening paragraph should offer food for reflection to the directors of the American colleges, who, despite President Wilson's personal plea that the colleges continue athletics and the recommendation of army officers that everything be done to encourage strenuous sports and pastimes among youths, have gone ahead and curtailed sports in their institutions.
'The war,' writes Prade, 'just again has emphasized the importance of compulsory and post military athletics and physical education. It pitilessly has shown up all the defects of the preparation of our man power just as it has that of our artillery. At the very time when athletic education on the front lines was receiving the most brilliant praise from all our chiefs without exception, at the very time its adepts were receiving congratulations on all sides, it was being neglected that the official curricula had calmly forgotten to prepare Frenchmen physically to be soldiers.
'Fortunately the quality of the race is extraordinary; it possesses above all marvelous suppleness! It soon catches up the time lost. But a good repast is never so advantageous as a good and proper preparation—that that official curricula had calmly forgotten to prepare Frenchmen physically to be soldiers. Have not the American college directors and the American sports directors in clubs and associations as well who are of the opinion that athletics should be curtailed during the war lost sight of the fact that Americans must be prepared physically to be soldiers? Have details of the production there are so many that space forbids their complete listing. The color effects introduced are perhaps the most startling in their realism and beauty that have ever been presented. The settings and costumes are elaborate and lend a fine atmosphere of dramatic support, one hardly knows where to begin. Wallace Reid is splendid as Eric Trent. Raymond Hatton as the degenerate Charles Severeth, gives a wonderful characterization of the part. Theodore Roberts is horribly wicked as Cauchon. Hobart Bosworth makes General viary, Jas. Neill and Larry Peyton head a large cast of competent supporting players.

In closing let it be said that Joan the Woman deserves to rank as a true classic of the screen. It deals with one of the most thrilling episodes of history. It presents real facts enhanced by imagined incidents. It has the spirit of the personal side. To alter an old phrase it makes the audience run the gamut of human emotions.
It would be fair to close this criticism without making mention of the excellence of the music. Miss Cole excelled herself, and that is saying something. Her interpretation, by music, of the story enhanced the value of it to no small extent, while the singing of Joan of Arc added greatly to the interest of it. His rendition of Joan of Arc appealed strongly to the audience; his fine tenor voice, his expression, his interpretation of the story, his expression was excellent. Taking everything into consideration it can be safely said that never yet has the Lyric presented a picture so fine. Joan the Woman is well worth seeing.

Badlam of Orient Presents a Weird Spectacle Today
Salonki is in Ruins Through Great Fire Which Started in Poor District—Seven Armies There Salonki, Oct. 15.—(Correspondence)—This stricken city presents a weird and terrible spectacle after the great conflagration that has destroyed two-thirds of it, leaving 70,000 homeless refugees, with a property loss of 500,000,000 francs. (The strange part of it is that in the midst of this desert of ashes, the sentinels of the war compel incessant activity, and alongside the ruin is the roar of the vast preparation of the army of the Orient, one of the vital links in the chain encircling the Central Powers.
The report circulated that Salonki was set on fire by the enemy, as a military manoeuvre against General Sarraile's army, is groundless. The fire started in a small way, from using coal in a stove in the poor quarters. A fierce gale did the rest, scattering embers over the town until it was ablaze from end to end.
The indications are that Salonki will stay burned until after the war. The Greek government expects to do the rebuilding, but lacks the money for such a task. Meanwhile a great army headquarters must be carried on amid the ashes, and the Serbian government will soon arrive to set up a capital in the ashes.
Salonki today is a picture of blackened walls, which stretch for miles along the sea front. The city spreads out like a long ribbon on a single street, facing the sea there used to be a strange jumble of palaces, warehouses, hotels, theatres, cinemas, concert halls, gambling dens, stores and churches. But all these had been swept away. There is not a hotel left. The famous St. Demetrius Greek Church went with the rest. In the world it was known as the best example of Byzantine church architecture in existence. Singularly, however, while all the business and residence section was burned, all the military establishments escaped.

Badlam of the Orient.
Ordinarily Salonki is a city of 120,000 people. But when the war made it the Entente headquarters for the Orient the 120,000 was suddenly swelled to 600,000. The population of Salonki probably is the greatest mixture of nationalities that exists anywhere today. There are seven different armies represented here—French, English, Italian, Russian, Serbian, Greek and Albanian. With the English are Highlanders in kilts and Indian sheiks in turbans, besides the great mass of khaki. With the French are Chinese Annamites from Indo-China, Senegalese negroes from Africa, as well as the rank and file of French "pollus" in their blue and grey uniforms.
Then there are sailors as well as soldiers, for this is a naval as well as a military base. And besides the seven regular armies there are the contingents which do not quite reach the magnitude of an army, such as the American Ambulance Corps, the American Red Cross, and the Canadian troops, which are classed here as American. All this multitude of variegated uniforms, representing the armies of more than half the world, fill the streets with unending streams of solid and dirty color, mostly khaki, with flashes of all the colors of the rainbow as the Albanian mountaineers, the Cretan Islanders, the Serbians, Greeks, Russians and all the rest push along in this bewildering throng.
And after the motley throng of mixed races from the Balkans and the Levant—that meeting place between the East and the West—a jargon of all languages, all races and all conditions, with beggars, priests, fakirs, painted women from Paris boulevards, ragmuffins, Jewish merchants, generals, admirals, and the vast lines of soldiers and sailors of all nations, mixed in inextricable confusion in the fire-swept army headquarters, which is justly entitled to its name—the Badlam of the Orient.

POINTS RAISED IN LIQUOR CASES

Matter of Prohibition Act Being Ultra Vires Among Them

In summing up two cases against John Porter and Edward Burke, charged with selling liquor to Mrs. Henderson, herself in custody on another charge, at the police court this morning before Magistrate Ritchie, Edmund S. Ritchie, B. C. L., appearing for the defendants, objected: (1) That the present prohibition act was beyond the powers of the legislature of Fredericton to pass the act. (2) If the act should be found intra vires, then attention must be given to the clause in the act stating that there shall be no appeal from the decision of the magistrate in liquor investigations. (3) That the course pursued in the present case by Magistrate Ritchie was wrong in that questions were allowed to be placed on the "subject of objection," when there was no reasonable grounds for the same.

(4) That under the temperance act the magistrates had always confined themselves strictly to relevant matters and that this course should be all the more closely adhered to when the present drastic law was in force. (5) That the testimony of Mrs. Henderson should not be given too much credence as by her own testimony she was under the influence of liquor for much of the time when the alleged sales are said to have been made to her by Porter and Burke; and also because the defence had grounds for believing that it was Mrs. Henderson's own advantage to convict the defendants, she being present at the stand and swore for the most part in direct contradiction to Mrs. Henderson's previous evidence as to her selling her liquor on certain specified dates. At the last session of the court John Porter also swore in direct contradiction to Mrs. Henderson's evidence and it was contended by the defence that this was a prima facie defence. The court stated that the question at this point was which one of the three was committing perjury. The defence objected that the question as to whether or not there was perjury did not affect the case. The whole matter rests on credibility of evidence and his honor said that in regard to the grounds of defence set out by Mr. Ritchie he would give careful consideration and the whole case would be taken up on Saturday morning.

William Ward was arrested last night by Detectives Briggs and Duncan charged with stealing an overcoat worth $18 from Benjamin Dunlap. He pleaded guilty. Detective Duncan gave evidence of receiving a complaint from Dunlap and finding the overcoat locked up in the defendant's trunk. Dunlap was not present at the trial this morning but had said previously that he did not wish to prosecute. The prisoner was remanded until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Representatives of the mine workers will be at the mines department today getting the information required. They say that if the Nova Scotia Coal and Steel works could be carried on directly through the intervening areas held and not worked by the Dominion Coal Company, production would be increased at least 1,000 tons a day.

Halifax, N. DEMAND FOR LETTER WITH PEACE OFFER

Further inquiry in Matter of Dawnfall of M. Ribot

Paris, Nov. 13—The foreign affairs committee of the senate yesterday asked Foreign Minister Barthou to communicate a letter from former Premier Briand to M. Barthou declined to submit the letter, on the ground that he could not do so without accompanying it with other papers which he had no right to divulge. The committee then decided to hear M. Briand and M. Barthou on the subject before Thursday, when the interpellation of Senator Paron on the reason why Ribot resigned will come up for debate.
