V. C. For Airman Who Brought Down Zeppelin Rushing Upon London

London, Sept. 4.—That a Zeppelin airship was badly damaged in the raid on the English southeastern coast on Saturday night, in addition to one destroyed, was indicated in an official statement given out this afternoon by the government press bureau. It said: "An important part of an enemy airship was picked up in the eastern counties. The ship undoubtedly suffered severe damage from gunfire."

King George today awarded the Victoria Cross to Lieut. William Leece Robinson of the Royal Flying Corps, for bringing down a Zeppelin while the airship was approaching London on Sunday night. The British official press bureau says that the cross was awarded for the most conspicuous bravery. Robinson attacked the Zeppelin under circumstances of great difficulty and danger and sent it crashing to the ground a flaming wreck. Robinson had been in the air for more than two hours and had previously attacked another airship.

BRITISH MAKE CLEAN-UP OF GERMAN SECOND LINE ON CONSIDERABLE FRONT

Capture Defensive Works Between Moquet Farm and Point Where British and French Join Forces—"New French Drive"—Russian Victories

Paris, Sept. 5.—The capture of Soyecourt and Chilly by the French yesterday, makes a total of twenty-nine villages taken since the start of the offensive on the Somme front. The positions wrested from the Germans yesterday were powerfully organized.

At Barleux, one of the strongest positions on this front, repeated direct attacks were unsuccessful and the French finally reported in a turning movement, attacking to the southwest. The Germans counter-attacked no fewer than six times yesterday in a desperate effort to regain lost ground.

London, Sept. 5.—British troops in battle last night in the region of the river Somme in France increased their gains in the neighborhood of Guillemont, says the British official statement issued this afternoon.

The British forces pushed forward to 1,500 yards east of Guillemont village and secured a hold on Leuze Wood. Farther south a strong German system of defense on a front of 3,000 feet around Falfemont Farm was captured.

The text of the official statement says: "During the night we increased our gains in the neighborhood of Guillemont. In spite of the enemy's stubborn resistance, and an increasing deluge of rain, troops pushed forward to 1,500 yards east of Guillemont village and have obtained a footing in Leuze Wood. Farther south after severe fighting the whole of the enemy's strong system of defense on a front of 1,000 yards in and around Falfemont has fallen into our hands."

The official announcement says that the fighting on the Somme since Sept. 3 has resulted in the British capture of the whole of the remaining German second line of defense of the battlefield from Moquet Farm to the point where the British lines join the French.

Paris, Sept. 5.—(Noon).—Vigorous counter-attacks were made by the Germans east of Belloy. In these operations the French took 100 prisoners.

The German assaults north of the Somme were delivered between Comblès and Forest. South of the river unsuccessful blows were struck by the German east of Belloy. In these operations the French took 100 prisoners.

London, Sept. 5.—British naval forces, in co-operation with troops from Bagmoy and Saadani, are now occupying Dar-Es-Salaam.

Lieut-Colonel Vandevanter, in command of a British force, has reached Kikumi, forty-two miles south of Kileleshwa, in the region of Matome, on the eastern slopes of the Uluiru mountains.

Dar-Es-Salaam is the most important seaport of German East Africa. Before the war it was the residence of a governor and contained a military station. It is on the Indian Ocean, about 275 miles below the frontier of British East Africa. The town is situated on a narrow strip of land, which has been pushed down the coast, one of several expeditions sent out by the British, French, Belgian and Portuguese, which are gradually surrounding the remaining German forces.

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 5.—Franklin E. Parker, a wealthy lumberman who was a resident of this city and who left St. John on his way to the west, was murdered on a Sunday night, died in a hospital here last night. He was a former president of the American Lumber Association and had active interests in Canada. He was born in Bangor, Maine, 49 years ago.

An interesting visitor to the city is Fred Gallagher of Winnipeg, who is traveling through the eastern provinces in an attempt to secure all the best meats possible for his large meat and poultry business in the west. Mr. Gallagher is a son of the late Peter Gallagher, who will be remembered by older residents of this city and who left St. John with his family for the west many years ago. The father reached the west just previous to the Riel rebellion of '85 and started in the meat business. His firm at that time supplied all the meat for the government troops that were sent to quell the uprising.

After the death of the old gentleman, his sons, including the present visitor for the city, followed up the meat business and they have one of the largest concerns of its kind in the west, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

Mr. Gallagher has many relatives and friends in the city and is combining business with pleasure in his visit. He expects to be in the east until Christmas. His wife is with him.

Speaking of business conditions in the west, Mr. Gallagher said that they were excellent, except real estate, which he did not regard as business but as speculation.

Trades Union Congress in England is Opened

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 5.—In opening the Trades Union Congress here yesterday, the president, Harry Goeling, said in order to prove that internationalism was not dead, the congress was welcoming fraternal delegates from Canada, the United States, France and Belgium. Many things were in the melting pot at the present-time of national animosity, and in the emergency thousands of trades unionists had given their lives willingly because they deemed the sacrifices essential for the purpose of national defense.

Referring to the fact that the unions were urging establishment of a ministry of labor and the increase of old age pensions to ten shillings weekly, he said the people had submitted to every form of taxation for war requirements. "To that would they not submit," he said, "for peace requirements."

The work of inspecting the water supply system of the city, along the Loch Lomond extension, has been continued the week-end and holiday by the commissioner of water and sewerage and Engineers Clarence Goldsmith and Frank McInnes with a view to securing an accurate knowledge of the exact condition of the system and its capabilities. Tests are made at frequent intervals and the inspection is a thorough one.

Mr. McInnes is arranging for a device which will be established in the water works office in Lennox street and which will show at a glance, the water pressure as given by the tests at the various hydrants. On a blackboard profile pegs will indicate the various hydrants and the length of the pipe will indicate the height of the pressure. If the pressure is uniform the pegs will be of the same length, any depression being shown by the shortening of the peg.

Workers are now engaged on the job of putting new throats in the Venturi meters where the Loch Lomond extension joins the city water distribution service.

GAVE AUSTRIANS GREAT SURPRISE

Officers Enjoying Special Glass With Roumanians Suddenly Found Themselves Prisoners

Paris, Sept. 5.—The advance of the Roumanian troops in the first five days of their campaign was considerable, and at some points was as much as eighty kilometers (about forty-eight miles), says a despatch from Urgan, under date of Saturday to the Petit Parisien. The forward march, however, now has been somewhat slackened because of the difficulty of sending retreating convoys. Roumanians, the correspondent said, they were successful in their dash across the river and now occupy the valleys. Half an hour before war was declared, Hungarian officers were drinking with Roumanians at a frontier railway station. Soon after a Roumanian outpost entered the station, took the officers prisoners and then captured quantities of materials. The Roumanian offensive was so sudden that the Austrians had not time to blow up bridges nor tunnels.

PARTIZANSHIP IN MILITARY AFFAIRS

Halifax Chronicle. If Sir Robert Borden or the Tory party can glean any comfort out of making military appointments for purely political reasons they are entitled to enjoy it. The people of Nova Scotia can be trusted to judge wisely in voting Germany's "off" when they made these unjustifiable appointments; or the men who exposed the making of them.

While on this subject of military appointments we may add that not a single Liberal has received his appointment as an officer no matter how well qualified, if there was a Tory in sight who could by any stretch of the imagination be considered competent to fill it. The doctrine of "No Liberal need apply" has been rigidly observed in military appointments here have been besieged day in and day out by Tory politicians exercising their "pull" in favor of their political friends.

Goods purchased from merchants have been returned after delivery when it was found that they had been supplied by persons not of the Tory faith.

As the Tory organ has made some reference to the staff of this newspaper as a concrete case it may be said that a Tory, a member of the Herald staff, a lieutenant in the Militia when war was declared, was shortly thereafter permitted to retire from his military duties in order that he might devote his attention to his private business. Here is another concrete case. A member of staff of this newspaper, a Liberal, enlisted as a private, worked his way through the ranks, took the officers' course for the high command to add his commission as a lieutenant, received a platoon, and was made the subject of the following letter:

H. Q. 84-21-10-1. Department of Militia and Defense, Ottawa, 14th October, 1915.

From the Adjutant General, Canadian Militia To G. O. C. 8th Division, Halifax, N. S.

O. C. 8th Overseas Battalion, C. E. F., Halifax, N. S.

For information. (Sgd.) W. E. Thompson, Lt.-Col. Halifax, N. S.

A. A. G. 8th Division. These instances so clearly indicate who the men are who are earnestly striving to assist in Empire defence and who the men are "trying to make votes for a political party" that further comment would be superfluous.

Band concert postponed. Attend the celebration on Barack Square rain or shine.

NEW LIBRARY FOR ST. FR. X. COLLEGE

The contract for the new library building at St. Francis Xavier's College, Antigonish, has been awarded to John J. Grant, of New Glasgow. Mr. Grant built the new college dormitory, Mockler Hall, and gave every satisfaction. The new library will be a fire-proof structure in brick, stone and steel, 88 feet long, 38 feet wide. The plans and specifications were prepared by Neil McNeil, the Boston builder and contractor, and the architecture conforms to that of the other new buildings erected in the past few years.

Plans for the new gymnasium are being prepared, and will be ready shortly. The contract will be let at an early date, and work on the foundation will be started as soon after as possible. This new structure will be in brick with concrete foundation, 100 feet long by 50 feet wide, with two stories and basements. It is in general outline modelled after the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, Huntington Avenue, Boston, one of the most recent and up-to-date gymnasiums in the country.

John McNeil, of the McNeil Brothers, Boston, will assist in getting the building under way. This makes the fifth new building in five years for St. Francis Xavier's.

Don't forget to visit Barack Green this evening.

PARIS SEES ACTION SOON

Press Expects Gen. Sarraill and Roumanians to Strike

Paris, Sept. 4.—The Figaro, the Matin and other Paris newspapers predict decisive developments in the Balkans which will have a notable effect on the war. The Matin says:

"The diplomatic tact of the Allies has ended with the entrance of Roumanian troops into the war. United action on the whole front is absolute, and the hour has arrived for the high command to act. The Allies have complete liberty of action. In addition to mastery of the sea they possess armies which on all fields of battle have given proof of the most heroic virtues. They have at their disposal war material which permits them to give blow for blow. It is now the turn of the cannon to speak."

"But there is one battle front where the most rapid and decisive result must be obtained. That is the Balkan front. General Sarraill, the allied commander, has French, British, Serbians, Italians and Russians."

The action of the Russians and Roumanians in the north and of the allied armies in Macedonia, newspapers say, may be expected to hasten the decision.

TENDING BRITISH GRAVES

King George Thanks French People for Work Done in This Matter.

London, Sept. 4.—King George took advantage of his recent trip to France to visit some of those sacred spots which are the last resting places of fallen British soldiers. If anything were lacking to cement the sympathies of the French and English it would be supplied by the care with which the French people are tending the graves of the British. Long before the French government decided to constitute the British burial grounds British territory for all time, the people of France took upon themselves to tend these graves, and when the English Graves Registration Commission began its survey on the field of the Marne, it found that the rural population had facilitated the work by naming and numbering all the graves they possibly could, and by keeping them in order.

King George, during his recent visit to France, himself saw how this had been done, and specially thanked some of the Maires and cures who had helped. Many burials took place out of consecrated ground, and although the work of transferring buried bodies from casual graves to recognized cemeteries, wherever possible, is proceeding, there remain many graves yet untouched. The British Red Cross Society has caused all these graves to be marked with a permanent cross, and the French people keep them freshly supplied with flowers.

King George had a quick eye for these warlike burial places, and every time he saw one he never failed to raise his hand to salute. Once, standing bareheaded at a nameless grave, he quoted Rupert Brooke's matchless lines:

"There's some corner of a foreign field That is forever England."

JUST SO—PERHAPS. Chatham World.—Sir Sam Hughes is having a great time in England, dining with dukes, field marshals and ministers of the crown, and starting at social functions. Perhaps he is also attending to some of the duties for the performance of which he draws a good salary as minister of the war.

The Wheat Market. Chicago, Sept. 5.—Opening prices, which ranged from 1 3/8-4 cents higher, with December at 1.91-2 to 1.91 and May at 1.91 to 1.92-2, were followed by a slight reaction, then by a rally to nearly the top initial values.

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH Certainly knows good tobacco when he smokes it--that's why he has adopted Master-Mason the tobacco which smokes easier, lasts longer, tastes better and gives more satisfaction than other tobaccos ready cut and sold in tins or paper packets. SMOKE Master-Mason "It's GOOD TOBACCO" it is made of selected, fully matured tobaccos, pressed into a solid plug so as to seal in, as-it-were, the natural moisture and fragrance of the tobacco and ensures that mellowness and smoothness so much appreciated by smokers. RUSSIAN MORALE IS HIGH Correspondent Tells of Great Improvement in Army Service. London, Sept. 4--A Times correspondent, in a dispatch from Rovo sending with the morale of the Russian troops, says: "The recent fighting has shown that German shells and German numbers could not blast or bayonet the Russians out of their positions this year, when they had something with which to shoot and could at last listen to the music of their own shells bursting over the Teuton lines. "There is another matter in regard to the morale of the army this year to which General Brusilov himself directed my attention. Now, as he said, the morale is a hundred times more vital and deep-rooted than during the early successes in Galicia in 1914. Then the soldiers fought through discipline and duty. What was at the beginning of a war between governments has now become a war between peoples, and there is not a soldier in the army who does not understand now that he is fighting a hated enemy, and willing to die, if need be, to Nationalized by Newspapers! LOOK at your map a moment, Mr. Manufacturer, and its mass of dots and lines. The dots are cities where newspapers are published. The lines are the mail routes over which the newspapers go every day--the same routes over which your goods should be traveling like as not. The newspapers do not merely cover the continent like a blanket, but more like an old-fashioned weather-tight shingle roof where the shingles overlap each other. In this, your own home--the city where your goods are made--you know the newspapers. One of them "you sweat by"--this one most likely. You realize these home newspapers of yours are good big business building propositions. Intense "localness" is each newspaper's great strength. A National or Sectional advertising campaign in the newspapers is merely a hooking together of these all-powerful local units. Better to show this combined side of the newspapers; better to study the problems of national advertising; to increase their own usefulness, several hundred newspapers of the United States and Canada, including this newspaper, have organized and are supporting the BUREAU OF ADVERTISING of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, with offices at 506 World Building, New York City. They do so unselfishly because the BUREAU OF ADVERTISING is the advocate of all newspapers, with favoritism to none.

GREEK CHURCH CROSS IN FRANCE

Impressive funeral of the first Russian officers killed in defending French soil in the present war.

Victories For The Allies Continue

London, Sept. 4, 3 p.m.—As the result of the fighting yesterday north of the River Somme in France, says the British official statement issued today, British troops captured German defenses on a 3,000 yard front for an average depth of 800 yards and including the village of Guillemont.

The whole of Ginchy at first was captured, but the British were compelled to give ground, retaining hold of part of the village, despite heavy counterattacks in the course of the night. More than 800 Germans were taken prisoners.

London, Sept. 4.—The Greek government has accepted the new demands of the Allies, and French and British agents have taken control of the post office and telegraph systems.

Allied Demands

Athens, Sept. 2, via London, Sept. 8.—Representatives at Athens of Great Britain and France this evening presented to the Greek government a note demanding control over the Greek posts and telegraphs and insisting on the deportation from Greece of agents of the central powers. The note said:

"The two allied governments having from a sure source learned that their enemies receive information in divers ways, and notably through the agency of the Greek telegraphs, demand the control of the posts and telegraphs, including the wireless system."

"Enemy agents employed in corruption and espionage must immediately leave Greece, not to return until the conclusion of hostilities."

"Necessary measures have been taken against such Greek subjects as rendered themselves guilty of complicity in the above-mentioned corruption and espionage."

Insanity From War LESS THAN EXPECTED

First Reports From Field of Battle Exaggerated

Had Many Mad Under Fire of Artillery—Mania of the Demented—Queer Illusions Are Described by a French Physician

The war has not mad so many persons as was expected in the early stages. Statistics thus far show that the first reports of men going crazy under the infernal fire of modern artillery were exaggerated. Dr. G. Dumas, who has treated a large number of the insane in one of the French armies, says that his data, covering the first ten months of 1916, with the reports of German doctors concerning madness among combatants. He finds the cases of insanity caused by the war are few in proportion to those in Germany, and offers the figures as a refutation of the theory of German specialists that the Teutonic race is showing greater nervous resistance than the Latin.

PRODUCE PRICES SOARING

The Hartland Advertiser says: Rain which came the first of the week was a belated blessing to the farmers, but will prove of great benefit to late grain and root crops. In spite of the long drought the crops of the country are proving excellent, although grain ripened too fast. Potatoes have been looking splendid but the average yield is not likely to prove all the farmers could hope for. Nevertheless the price is likely to be quite as good as it was last year. Some early shipments were made last week and the price was $8.00 per barrel. New oats are coming to market in small quantities and readily bring 46c, while old oats had been bringing 30c. The quality of the oats is variable, being light where the drought was most pronounced and of course heavier where showers were frequent. Even get some farmers are not through sowing and some fear they may have to haul their hay in on horseback. The quality in some places is excellent but heavy was the yield that some of it.

Alcoholism Declines

Alcoholics were numerous in the first month of the war among the derailed soldiers, but have since been remarkably low. In August, 1914, cases were brought to Val de Grace, of which 81 were suffering from alcoholism; in another hospital there were 86 out of 88. Of these 86 cases 18 had delirium tremens, and 11 of them died. They were all former drinkers who had exaggerated their propensities during the exciting days of the mobilization. The number diminished rapidly after the first month, not a single case of alcoholism being reported during September. From one of the most fortified places and only 102 developed in an entire army during the first ten months of last year. All of the 102 were reservists, and in so far as their history could be learned, were old drinkers. Nearly all of them resumed their service after taking the milk cure. The tendency of the alcoholics was to dream of battle and to see German soldiers everywhere. One of them took a detachment of his comrades for the enemy and charged them with fixed bayonets. The proportion of cases of mental depression among the 1,188 was large. There were 224 in ten months—mostly officers with besetting notions of professional shortcomings and difficulties. The majority of these men realized fully about it, though unable to overcome it.

"I am no longer able to give an order without immediately canceling it," said one officer. "I cannot help weighing to an exaggerated extent every eventuality and many imaginary consequences. I always foresee the worst possible issue to every movement—an paralyzed by the anxiety to do the right thing, and have become nothing but indecision and contradiction."

A man who rose from the ranks to the grade of captain was haunted by the thought that he was unequal to his responsibilities and pleaded to be retrograded. Among the cases of this kind was a man who reproached himself for having revealed important military secrets who was haunted by the prospect of being court-martialed for treason. There were 846 cases between March, 1916, and January, 1916, of mental troubles considered directly due to horror of battle scenes and commotion produced by bombardments. A considerable number of the mentally debilitated have the mania of invention. Dr. Dumas is of the opinion that the number of these cases outside the army would be found greater in proportion if the minister of munitions could make public the correspondence he receives from civilians. Among the debilitated were several men and officers who didn't know where and for whom they had been fighting. One declared that he was unaware that France was at war.

SATISFYING HOLIDAY BILL AT IMPERIAL

Broadway Play, War Scenes, Trip to New Orleans, Good Singer

A good satisfying holiday bill sent great crowds away from the Imperial yesterday in true holiday state of mind. As usual Labor day seemed to mark the resumption of entertainment going as far as the theatres were concerned, for managers have been frank to say that with a specially large exodus of suburbanites, the Daylight Bill and opposition patriotic attractions, the past summer was decidedly "off" for them. However, things seem to have settled back to cool weather conditions. And so the Imperial was packed at all shows yesterday and a well mixed programme obtained. Vall Vall, noted English star, supported by Edward Brennan, Marie Knappe and other Broadway favorites, was the special attraction in a high society play entitled The Woman Pays. Like all of the Metro productions the piece was splendidly acted, richly staged and costumed. A thrilling touch of realism was a lightning storm during a fashionable ball and the topping of a giant tree through the ball room conservatory. The programme contained an especially good supply of the ever-appreciated travel and patriotic pictures. Seeing America First (No. 48) took the watchers roundabout the beautiful city of New Orleans (L.A.), and for a short sail on the mighty Mississippi. This is the first of these pictures to be used on the Imperial curtain but they are to be regular Monday-Tuesday feature hereafter. The British and allied pictures showed the Casar of Russia reviewing his great army, the rejuvenated Serbian army, General French and the Boys Brigade, Queen Alexander and her own Rose Day, and many other similar subjects. Winthrop Webb made his bow in two very lovely lyric tenor numbers. The young gentleman possesses a sweet, sympathetic voice and evidences culture. He will be heard in other numbers throughout the week. Wednesday and Thurs-

RICH OFFERING OPENS THE WEEK AT THE GEM

H. B. Warner and Clara Williams in The Market of Vain Desire; A Dandy Comedy Also

With H. B. Warner and Clara Williams playing the leading roles, the Gem presented to holiday crowds yesterday a five reel master picture "The Market of Vain Desire," a story of loveless marriage and its evils. Helen Badgley's mother wants her to marry Count Bernard of Montaigne, a worthless specimen of humanity, while nothing save his title. He wants a slice of the Badgley millions. Helen's father is dominated by his wife. The girl herself has seen so little of genuine affection in the set in which she moves that she doubts whether there is any such thing, and warmly accepts her mother's plan. But John Armstrong, a young pastor of the church attended by the Badgleys, does not like the prospect. He sees the sordidness and wickedness of the marriage, and he is in love with the girl himself. Assisted by Badgley to announce the engagement of Helen, he instead preaches a vitriolic sermon denouncing the very sort of marriage which the girl contemplates. A terrific sensation in the church follows. The girl, shocked into a realization of her folly, breaks the engagement. The trustees, calling later on the young preacher to ask his resignation, find him laid low by a stroke on the head from the infuriated "moblensman's" loaded cane. And the rest of the story is perhaps not so hard to imagine. In Warner's supporting cast are Clara Williams as Helen and Charles Miller as the count. It is a play of great strength and admirable photography. One of the largest church sittings ever used in a picture is one of the features. Miss Williams, for this picture, purchased several creations

Labor Day Fair Well Patronized

The big Labor Day fair held yesterday afternoon on the Barjacks Green was one of the most successful events of its kind held in the city in a long time. The attendance was large, many thousands swarming the grounds and liberally patronizing the various attractions. Seventy-five per cent of the proceeds will be devoted to the Patriotic Fund and the balance to the funds of the European War Veterans' Association. The leading patriotic associations, the Rotary Club and the Labor unions, in addition to the Veterans' Association were in charge of the various features. The attractions of the fair included: Hot dog booth, in charge of Miss Grace Kubring; lunch counter, Red Cross, Valerian and DeMotts chapters, I. O. D. ## EDNA GOODERICH IS FEATURED AT UNIQUE

Artistic Presentation of The Making of Maddalena, One of Season's Best Offerings

The management of the Unique Theatre is presenting Miss Edna Goodrich in a finalization of Mary and Sam Lewis' celebrated novel and play, The Making of Maddalena. This is the first of a special series of art productions, and if those scheduled to follow in the near future can clean half the credits of The Making of Maddalena, then something truly worth while may be anticipated by the patrons of the Unique. Endowed with an appealing story, this is a strong feature. The sincere effort of Maddalena, the Italian girl, to assume her place in the world is moving. In respect to the drawing of the different characters one can say they are good, the make-ups of the artists being very good. The story deals with the unhappy marriage of Maddalena and Hale, a pseudo art student. Hale is unable to earn money and when he is stricken with fever, his father arrives and takes him and his child home, leaving Maddalena to shift for herself. She is cared for by friends of Hale. In America she becomes a nurse when an epidemic rages among the infants of the city. Her own child is laid down by the disease, and this, after a series of strong dramatic climaxes and situations, forms a means of reuniting husband and wife. Miss Goodrich as Maddalena, gives a most appealing interpretation of the story. Forrest Stanley, who acts the character of Hale in characteristic fashion, Howard Davies does some good work as Maddalena's father, while Colin Chase, John Burton, Juan de la Cruz and Mary Burdon, all the remaining important roles. The making of Maddalena is one of the best pictures that has been seen at the Unique this season at least. The attraction for the latter part of the week will be Chas. Chaplin, in his latest Mutual success, One A. M.

The Seven Keys to Baldpate Aibly Presented by Klark-Urban Company

At the city Opera House, Monday evening, Klark-Urban Company, in "The Seven Keys to Baldpate" Following is the cast: Elijah Quimby, caretaker of Baldpate Inn; Frank Urban; Clara Snow; William Hollowell Magee, the novelist; Lillian Dean, the hermit of Baldpate; Myra Thornhill, the blackmailer; Pearl Young; Lou Mas, the mayor's man "Friday"; Lennox Kennedy; Jim Cargan, the crooked mayor of Benton; Thomas Hayden; Billy Webb; Thomas Hayden; Chas. E. Mills; Felix Ferguson, an officer under Kennedy; Curtis Short; The owner of Baldpate Inn; Dick Brothers; M. Cohen's surprise package comes this far ast, straying so far away from Broadway, but if Mr. Cohen's more clever creations of equal merit with "The Seven Keys to Baldpate," which was presented by the Klark-Urban Company at the Opera House, last evening, they will be welcomed. It is one of the few modern plays that conform to the three unities that the latter day writers seem to have ignored. Mr. Cohen has resurrected the old, and combined with it all the fancies of the new.

Of the three elements of a good play, character, plot and setting, "The Seven Keys to Baldpate" features more its plot than either of the other two.

It might well be called a mystery play. A prologue, two acts of a little more than the ordinary length, and an epilogue tell one of the most unusual, stirring stories that present day play on a small mountain in the central part of New York state. William H. Magee, a novelist of New York, has made a wager of $500 with a friend, the owner of the house that he (Magee) can write a com-

Russian Author Writes of The Canadian Soldiers in Belgium

(London Times Petrograd correspondent) The following is a translation of an article contributed by the talented young Russian author, Chukovski: Hanging out an incredibly long tongue which dangles like a wet rag, a shaggy dog is drawing along the road a small cart wherein sits a microscopic girl with an umbrella of a lilac-colored, faded prayer-book; she must be going to the cemetery; there are now not a few of them on the way.

"Pleasant News Merry Meeting of Friends and a German shell, taking away a good third of it, has left only the signboard; the small house seems like a laughing corpse.

"New look out," says our colonel. "The Germans have spotted it. We thought that he was jesting, but speedily the pavement began to shake. Thunder roared, and my comrade Egroy at two paces distant from himself picked up a still warm fragment of shell.

"Thank you for the good word! As a matter of fact there are several Russians among us. Only yesterday one of them of his own free will, nobody forced him, crept up to the German positions and destroyed the wire entanglements. 'It's all sitting in the trenches,' he told his comrades, 'and of course didn't return; he was killed.'

"I remember him (said the lieutenant). He chattered up only with the retdkins. And are there retdkins among you? Rather! Of course there are. We have frontiersmen as well. We had declined to take them because there were no places in the cavalry, and they wished to join the cavalry. But they engaged a train at their own expense and came to Ottawa with their horses. 'If you don't take us to the war,' they declared, 'we shall immediately equip a cargo steamer and go to fight for you!'

"And who is this Princess Patricia? Here does a princess come from in Canada? A rich merchant, Mr. Hamilton Gault, of Montreal—a millionaire—fitted out an entire regiment at his own expense and sent it to fight for Europe.

"What was his name? She is the Honorary Colonel of the regiment. She's the daughter of our Governor-General. And what about the merchant? Did he send soldiers to the war and himself trade in Montreal as before? Oh no! He also went to the war.

"He was wounded at Ypres, here and there. Apparently by shrapnel fragments. And all his regiment perished. And how about the families of the slain? We entered the spacious building of the Law Courts which is almost preserved only a few walls are destroyed, and here and there a ceiling is lacking. In the hall burnt a small candle, and a clergyman gazing through a large hole pierced by a German shell seemed as though conversing with Him, persuading Him and reasoning with Him. Behind the stood soldiers with very naive faces, eagerly looking through the hole, as though expecting some miracle. It was strange that this should be really and not one of the pictures in one of the Christmas numbers.

DRAVED DEATH TO TAKE GERMAN FLAG DOWN SPORT NEWS OF THE DAY HOME AND ABROAD

Wish Gets Decision Freddie Welsh retained his title of champion lightweight pugilist of the world yesterday at Colorado Springs, when referee Billy Kibb of New York gave the decision to Welsh in his twenty round bout with Charlie White, of Chicago. Welsh was awarded the decision on points. The bout lasted the twenty rounds. The decision appeared unfavorable to the spectators, the referee having to be taken to his auto by the police and frantically. The bout was a very poor exhibition of boxing.

Kilbane Defends Title In less than eight minutes of fighting Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, spoiled the hopes of George Chaney, of Baltimore, for the world's featherweight championship at Cedar Point, Ohio, yesterday. At the last of the third round Kilbane, caught Chaney with a right smash in the jaw and acted the battle.

Shanrocks and Thistles Split Even. A series of five games was opened yesterday morning on St. Peter's baseball grounds, between the Thistles and the Shanrocks. Two five inning games were staged in the morning and two in the afternoon. Each team has two games to its credit, necessitating a fifth game to decide the winner.

Good Races at Moosepath Some interesting races were held at Moosepath yesterday and seven hundred people attended. The match race between Billy the Kid and Bingon Light was exceptionally good and was the best race of the day. Billy the Kid won in three out of four heats. Little Jimmy won the free-for-all in straight heats. An auto race also proved of interest. Three cars started, owned by George Lawson, Eldon Wilson and Thomas Jones. Jones won the race and Wilson was given second place.

They were greatly surprised to see me, and more so when I gave them a good cursing. They said I looked like a German in khaki, but my language partly convinced them. When I reported to my captain he said I had done a good piece of work. The colonel must have thought so, too, for he recommended me for the Military Medal. This has been granted me, and I am now wearing the D. C. M. and M. M. ribbons.

When the war broke out Worthington's friends did their best to dissuade him from rejoining the colors. He was just 40 and they raised, the old cry, "too old at 40," to scare him. He is now 42 and he ends up his letter to his wife with the triumphant note: "You see, those who said I was too old for this sort of game were mistaken."

News of Maritime Men In The War

A letter received from Lieut. Frank Meahan, who is to be the lieutenant of the Gloucester County Platoon of the 28th Battalion, says that he is now out of hospital and is attached to the 8th Reserve Battalion, St. Martins Plains, Shorncliffe. He expects to be in Canada soon to report to Lt. Col. Guthrie. Lieut. Meahan enlisted as a private, was recommended for the D. C. M. and lieutenant at the one time for his conspicuous gallantry, the recommendation coming from his commanding officer, Lt. Col. Bell. He is a nephew of O. Turgeon, M.P.

Returned Soldier Re-Enlists

Private James King of Fredericton who went overseas with the First Canadian Contingent and was wounded while fighting in the trenches with the 18th Battalion, has re-enlisted with the special company attached to the 28th Battalion. Pte. King enlisted with the 12th Battalion and was a bugler with that unit. He went to the front with a draft for the 18th Battalion and was in several heavy engagements, being wounded in the hip by shell fire and receiving a bayonet wound in the forehead, just over the nose, and between both eyes. Presentation to Major Good.

Letters received from members of C Company, 14th Battalion, now at Valcartier, tell of the presentation of a purse of gold to Major F. A. Good who has been found medically unfit to accompany the battalion overseas. The incident was most pathetic, there being many tear-filled eyes and Major Good breaking down completely as he was making his farewell speech to "his boys." There was no more popular commanding officer in all the camp.

Through Heavy Fighting

A letter received by Colonel Guthrie from Sergt. E. Drury Allen, who is with a machine gun section of the 49th Battalion, 2nd Canadian Division, Flanders, states that he came through the fighting during the first part of June without a scratch. He was in all the hard fighting that the boys went through and sections the great need of men out on the western front at the present time.

LETTER FROM OTTY LINGLEY

Mr. Lingley, of 87 High street, has received word from his son, Driver OTTY D. Lingley, who is serving in France with the 1st Divisional Ammunition Column - he was never so busy in my life as when I was getting this outfit in shape, but time things were running quite smoothly. The corps commander inspected me recently and expressed himself as well pleased with the brigade. "I returned from leave to England the day I was appointed lieutenant-colonel. The big attack had just taken place and counter attacks were in order and, believe me, I was busy. Instead of working by brigades it went by groups and there were often as many as nine battalions in a group (more than half an artillery division). Three days after I returned from leave I relieved the officer commanding the left group, then relieved the O. C. right group and after a few days rest back again to the left group as believe me it was some strain. "It is fight all the time here and we have lost a lot of officers and men. In the 8th I lost Lieut. Cotton killed and Lieut. Steady wounded; and Corp. Starratt and Gunner Rouke killed. During one of the last scraps one afternoon killed. T. A. Brown, G. A. Todd, Wounded, Sgt. J. A. Ingram, Sgt. B. Randall, Corp. T. J. Bourne, S. H. Roberts and G. H. Walden. So you see that the old 8th has done his bit up here. You see Sheriff Willett tell him I expect to have Sydney with me in a day or two. I'll write Al Humphrey soon. I would have had him for a orderly officer only he was booked for Canada. "All leave is stopped and there is no sign of it beginning again. I do not know who are in Montreal and the old lot, but give my kind regards to all the old fellows. "I wish you would tell Col. Guthrie that his name is A. No. 1 out here and I never hear anything but praise from the old fellows. I saw a trench the other day called Guthrie street. That's a good indication of his popularity as all favorites are remembered in names of trenches. I am going to write him soon so I believe him one of the best ever.

SUGGESTS NEW PAVING POLICY

Commissioner Fisher Upholds Local Improvements Act But With Some Modifications - Would Levy According to Increase in Property Values

Suggestions for a new policy regarding the contribution of property owners to the cost of new pavements under the principles of the local improvements act, are made by Commissioner Fisher in his report to the common council at the weekly meeting this afternoon. The matter has been brought up by the request of certain property owners in Union street for the return of amounts collected from them for this purpose in the past. The commissioner recommends that the request be not acted on at present, but suggest a change in the principle under which such contributions are levied upon property owners. The commissioner, in his report, recommends that the street referred to in the communication of August 28, from Mrs. Frank Hasen (a short street running northward from Main street), be incorporated and that the city is therefore not able to comply with the request that the street be given a name.

"That the petition from property owners in Union street, between Charlotte and Sydney streets, for the refund of assessment for street paving done under the local improvements act has been submitted to the city solicitor, whose report is attached hereto.

"Your commissioner recommends that the council discuss at an early date, the subject of local improvement taxation with a view to deciding upon a future policy, and that in the meantime no action be taken with regard to the petition. To assist in the proposed discussion your commissioner begs to submit for consideration his opinion that local improvement taxation should be made use of by this city, providing that as regards business and through traffic streets the amounts to be contributed by the property owners would be based upon, and as nearly as possible conform with, the increase in value of their properties caused by the street improvement. If this plan were adopted the provision in the present act for perpetual proportional maintenance of the pavements by the property owners would not be inserted in the new act, i.e., the new act would provide for collections from the property owners for future renewals of the pavement. Also, as the basis for the collections would be the increases in property values, no allowance would be made to the property owners for the amounts collected from the Street Railway Company with respect to streets occupied by car tracks. The plan might be made to correct errors of the past by providing that every property situated on a paved street would pay at some time, and once only, for the increase in the value caused by the improvements, and at a predetermined rate per foot frontage, regardless of the kind of pavement or its cost. All properties on business streets would in the end pay the same total amount per foot frontage, although the collections would probably be made in instalments.

BOY MISSING

Lealie Dempster Has Not Been Heard From Since Last Thursday

John Dempster, who is employed in the Canadian brush factory, and whose family resides in Garnettstown, reports that his fifteen-year-old boy, who has been missing from his home at Garnettstown since last Thursday night, and nothing has been seen or heard of him since. Lealie is the boy's name. He is fifteen years of age, five feet tall, has light hair with blue eyes, and has a very light complexion.

On Thursday afternoon the boy, accompanied by his mother, came to the city with some produce. They saw the father while in town and returned to the country that evening. That night after supper the boy indicated that he was going to see a boy friend of his who he had met at a great deal. He left the house and late that night County Police Constable Saunders met him on Ty-Lock Lomond road and asked him where he was going. The boy replied that he was going into his grandmother's, and would return home the next day.

The boy is a very smart lad for his years, and a great help to his father, while the latter is employed in the city. He is greatly concerned about the disappearance of the boy and has asked the police to assist in the search for the missing lad.
