Transvaal's Answer to Cham- goes or arms and ammunition leave harloin's I and District the Hamburg for Rotterdam on Friday for berlain's Last Dispatches.

The Republic Adheres to the London Convention.

Question of British Suzerainty Not Touched Upon.

A Meeting of the British Cabinet Held Tcday.

Significant Remarks of the Secretary A. J. Balfour-Military Movements on Both Sides.

Cape Town, Sept. 29.—The Transvaal's reply to the last dispatches of the British secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, has been sent from Pretoria. It is to the effect that the republic strictly adheres to the London convention, and asks nothing further. The question of the suzerainty of Great Britain over the Transvaal is not touched upon in BRITISH CABINET MEETING.

London, Sept. 29.—The meeting of the British cabinet, on whose deliberations, practically, hangs war or peace in South Africa, began at 1 o'clock this afternoon. President Kruger's reply to the last note of the Imperial Government has now been received, and will be the pivot of today's discussion. The dispatch from Cape Town, cabled to the Associated Press, is given the leading place in the afternoon papers. While it is too brief to give an adequate idea of the Transvaal's attitude, the impression produced was rather favorable than otherwise. The crowds began to gather in the vicinity of the foreign office as early as 11 o'clock. The home secretary, Sir Matthew White Ridley, was the first to arrive, at 11:15. Mr. A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the treasury, came from Scotland, and Lord Salisbury came from Hatfield. They reached HIGHEST PRICE PAID FOR GENTLE Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, drove to the bury, 90 King street. Mail orders attended to Whitehall he was greeted with rified.

cheers, which were renewed when he alighted. A large force of police was stationed about Downing street, although perfect order was maintained.

they start today. MR. BALFOUR SPEAKS. On receiving the freedom of the city of Dundee yesterday, Mr. A. J. Balfour, the first lord of the treasury, and gov-ernment leader in the House of Commons, said the government had long striven for a peaceful and honorable solution for the perennial South African question, and "if that honorable solution does not prove a peaceful solution, the fault rests on other heads than ours." Mr. Balfour did not say he had given up all hope, but he spoke in very different tones from what he would have done a month, or even a fortnight, ago. They had reached a point, he added, that, if he judged aright, those responsible for the policy of the Dutch republic refused to give way a point on which we could not and would not give way. This statement caused an outburst of cheering. Continuing, Mr. Balfour remarked: "The interests of South Africans, civilization and national honor have all made such a course impossible for us."

This called forth renewed cheers. CENTERS OF INTEREST. The Press Association issued the following statement last evening: We learn that the centers of interest in the Transvaal controversy are really at Lisbon and Berlin, and this con-sideration, it is thought in some quarters, may cause a further adjourn-ment of the cabinet. The future administration and financial control of the Portuguese possessions in South Africa are held to be an integral facwor in the present difficulty. friends of President Kruger urge that it would be manifestly unfair to insist upon a partial reduction of the forts at Pretoria and Johannesburg so long as Lorenzo Marquez remains under the Portuguese Government, and it is probable that the negotiations between London, Berlin and Lisbon may not be concluded until after the cabinet

DROUGHT DELAYS OPERATIONS. A cable dispatch to the London Times from Cape Town says: "The Boers would have taken the initiative by now but for the scarcity of water, there not being yet sufficient. There will be great difficulty in providing tood supplies for the people remaining at Johannesburg after hostilities have commenced. Several responsible persons, who have long clung to the belief in an ultimate peaceful settlement, now regard war as inevitable.

PREPARATIONS FOR WAR. The Pretoria correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph says: The Transvaal executive are absorbed in war preparations. Many Boers oppose aggressive action on religious grounds. There have been local thunderstorms and rains at Johannesburg and various parts of the state."

Commandering is proceeding in the Wakkerstroom district and probably throughout the Transvaal. Two thousand burghers are assembled at Wakkerstroom, which is two miles from the Natal border and eleven from Laing's Neck. Two hundred have been ordered to Sandspait, twelve miles north of the Natal boundary, where they will meet Orange State artillery, which has been lying low in this neighmingham Post says two par-

The Government of New Zealand has decided to equip and send a force of 200 men to the Transvaal. The house sang the National Anthem when this step was decided upon.

The Odessa correspondent of the London Standard telegraphs a rumor that Germany recently suggested to Russia the advisability of mediation between Great Britain and the Trans-vaal, and that Russia declined to have anything to do with the matter.

THE MATTER OF AN "S." The Daily News, which appeals to the Government to await President Kruger's reply before sending a second dispatch, says: "If, as has been asserted on behalf of the Transvaal, all trouble would have been averted had Mr. Chamberlain's dispatch last Saturday said "convention" instead of "conventions," we do not believe a British cabinet would decline to clear the matter up. It is for President Kruger to speak. It is indeed a matter of consonant, for we are convinced that it is in his power to get the con-sonant cut off."

Much interest has been taken in the announcement recently made that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would address a few public meetings in the Province of Ontario. Owing to the various duties that devolve upon the premier, not only of a social and Canadian political character, but on account of the many ex-ceedingly important imperial matters that are submitted to his judgment, he has been unable to undertake these meetings at an earlier date. The first meeting will be held in Bowmanville, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Mon-day, Oct. 16. The west riding of Durham, which is represented by Mr. Robert Beith, M.P., has had some very exciting contests, and the constituency has been visited and represented by some of the ablest men who have ever taken part in Canadian politics. Nearly all carried lunch baskets, and preparations were made to wait as comfortably as possible until the parade should come in sight, some time well into the afternoon. were much admired. All of the yachts at the anchorage grounds were decorated with flags and bunting, and were ready for the parade early in the day. All the parade early in the day. All the merchant shipping in the neighborhood the squadron is decorated with

THE FALL SHOW

Good Display of Exhibits Witnessed by a Fair Crowd.

Some of the Prize-Winners-The Races -Notes on the Ground.

The fall show of the Westminster Agricultural Society was held at Lambeth yesterday. Early in the day the officers of the society were on hand making arrangements, and before the hour of noon everything was in order, and the crowd began to arrive. By two o'clock the hotel was crowded, while all evailable space was taken up with buggies and wagons. The day opened very promising, but after dinner the high wind made traveling very disagreeable. Those who attended from the city—and they were a large number had to face the southwest wind, and the continual traffic on the highway swept clouds of dust across the fields. and at times hid everything from view. The fair grounds are just back of the village, and are somewhat sheltered. Opinions differed as to how the attendance compared with former years. The officers said that the receipts were ahead of last year, while several farmwere heard to express themselves that the crowd was not one-half as large. Towards four o'clock the grounds were filled, and no doubt the "Westminster" will have a balance on the right side after all expenses have been se of previous years. The display of fruit was not nearly as large. In former years the fruit department has been one of the best and has equaled any of the township fairs. No reason was given why this department was allowed to fall behind, but it is probably on account of the somewhat bad season throughout that section. The display of paintings was excellent, and was the best ever seen in the history of the fair. The show of roots was commendable, their quality and size being second to none. One of the best displays was made by R. S. Nich-ol, of Hubrey. Several mancels shown by him were of enormous size. Mr. Nichol took several prizes. Mr. Murray also made a meritorious display in this department. He captured several red tickets. In fact, both these gentlemen walked off with most of the root prizes. A peculiar-shaped mangel shown by Mr. Nichol caused much interest.

The display of ladies' work in the hall was excellent. The exhibit of bread and butter was very large. One noticeable and commendable feature was the entire absence of any jealousy on the part of defeated exhibitors. seemed to be a family affair, and the good feeling that prevailed was the subject of general remark.

The sports began about 3 o'clock, and every event was fully filled. In the special entry, open to all roadsters, three heats only were required. In the first heat Dr. Routledge's Duke broke badly and he could not recover. An almost neck-and-neck finish was made by Jennie Rooker and Bonnie Pacer. Dr. Routledge captured the next two heats quite easily. Summary:

A Plain Talk To Women

Almost all the sufferings that women ondure can be traced to irregularities of the delicate and sensitive feminine organism. A healthy woman is never irregular. It is the pale, weak, ner-yous woman who suffers with headaches, backaches, bearing down feel-ings and gloomy forebodings when the monthly action comes on.

Set the nerves right and the pains and aches will disappear. There will be no more irregularities when the whole body is under control of healthy

Other Fairs.

GREAT SOUTHWESTERN. Essex. Ont., Sept. 28.—The Great Southwestern Fair closed here today with a still larger attendance than yesterday. There were fully 4,500 in attendance. Visitors at the fair were heard to say that here the exhibition of fruit and vegetables exceeded what they had seen at either the Toronto or London exhibitions. The mammoth field squash spoken of yesterday, and grown in Essex county, weighs 180 pounds, not 118, as stated. The wire fence competition mentioned in yesterday's report was repeated today. All yesterday's attractions were re-peated today, and the whole show was considered a huge success.

SOUTH WATERLOO. Galt, Ont., Sept. 28.—The 47th annual show of the South Waterloo Agricultural Society opened here today. The various departments are well repre-sented. The number of entries exceed those of any previous year, and the quality of exhibits is fully up to anything heretofore exhibited in this section. The display in the ladies' department, the darry products and poultry departments are worthy of special mention. The usual outside attractions, which seem to be a necessary accompaniment of all shows of this kind, are assisting to draw the crowds. The attendance today was good, but tomorrow is expected to be a record-breaker.

WEST WELLINGTON. Harriston, Ont., Sept. 27.—The West Wellington Agricultural Society held their annual fair here yesterday and today. Entries were in excess of former years. There was a good showing of live stock and farm products. weather was fine and a good crowd in attendance. THE PENINSULAR. Chatham, Ont., Sept. 27.—The Peninsular Fair is over, and it has proved a success. Vast crowds were at the grounds yesterday and today. The weather was all that could be desired.

The evening performances were not as largely attended as anticipated, owing to the chilly breezes. The Banks in Montreal have advanced the rate on call hoars from 5 to 5½ per cent, making a total advance of 1 per cent so far this year.

An Affair That May Have Fatal Ending.

Suicide at Rat Portage and Another at Hamilton.

Simcoe, Sept. 29.-Two lads named Barber, living in the town, desired to fight with another lad named Steward, also of this place. # CROPS IN LAMBTON

An Advertiser Correspondant Reviews the Conditions Around Petrolia.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Having resided in Westminster and Delaware townships for nearly a quarter of a century previous to the spring of 1899, when I removed with my family near Petrolla on a farm of 200 acres that I purchased from Mr. C. McKenzie, and as I am pretty well acquainted with the majority of the people in the two townships I have named, no doubt quite a number would like to know what sort of a place this is, etc. The land is very good and pretty level back from Bear Creek a small distance. Government ditches have been constructed all through the township of Enniskillen, so that crops of all kinds can be raised very successfully. The samples of grain raised in this township are as good as they are anywhere in Western The land is remarkably adapted to

The land is remarkably adapted to the growing of mangolds and carrots, wheat, oats and hay, and when the farmers of this part of the country go more in for winter feeding in place of selling nearly all of their coarse grains, the better it will be for themselves and the land they occupy. As selves and the land they occupy. As to the water supply for stock, most farmers have one rock well or more, that dry weather does not affect. This summer has been very dry, and the grass has been terribly burned up, but the stock has not suffered for the want of water during the long dry spell. Rain fell on Monday last—the first rain we have had since the beginning of July of any account. I had 35 acres of hay; 70 acres of it was very heavy, growing two tons or more to heavy, growing two tons or more to the acre. The wheat here suffered from the same cause that it did in other parts of Ontario, namely, deep other parts of Ontario, namely, deep freezing. In my opinion, with one ex-ception, this part of the country com-pares favorably with any part of Western Ontario. The exception is the mud, which is a little too affectionate after a rain. JOHN H. New Poem Apropos of the Transvaal Crisis.

Entitled "The King"-The Boers "Sloven, Sullen, Savage, Secret"

London, Sept. 28.—These stanzas are part of a new poem, entitled "The King," apropos of the Transvaal orisis, written by Rudyard Kipling for the London Times:

All we have of freedom-all we use or know,
This our fathers bought for us, long and long ago. Ancient Right, unnoticed as the breath we draw, Leave to die by no man's leave, un-derneath the Law.

So they bought us freedom, not at little cost;
Wherefore must we watch the King,
lest our gain be lost.
Over all things certain, this is sure Suffer not the old King, for we know the King.

There is a cure for dyspepsia. Sufferers who have tried noxious nostrums will probably be skeptical, but skepticism vanishes when Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are tried. Whether the trouble is dyspepsia of long standing, or merely a simple case of indigestion, relief is prompt and pronounced. The less the trouble the fewer tablets need be taken.

Heaviness after eating, sour stom-ach, as indicated by belching, fatigue, with slight exertion, or with no exertion at all, disturbed sleep, nervousness, constipation, depression, "blues," these things can commonly be set down as symptoms of dyspepsia. And dyspepsia is merely indigestion in an aggravated form.

By promoting perfect digestion, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets produce strong nerves, restful, refreshing sleep, pure blood, and good, sound, healthy flesh. They make the skin clear, the eyes bright, the mind cheerful.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet are a medicine, and more than a medicine. They digest the food and make it easy of assimilation, and they relieve the inflamed, diseased condition of the membraneous linings and the glands of the stomach and bowels. They help the digestive organs over the hard places, and put them into a healthy, active condition. They effect a quick and per-manent cure. You don't have to con-Unue taking them forever still it is well the first return of the trouble. Perfectly well people are made sick by eating too much, or unwholesome food, but not if they take a tablet after eating. Treatment with Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets does not necessitate dieting or any change of habits They digest the proper food and act upon the other kind in such a way as to make it pass off quickly and harmlessly. You may eat and drink what you like, and as much as you like if you take a tablet afterwards. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold

Their Twelfth Annual Outing-The Events All Keenly Contested-Large Crowd Present-The Results.

The annual sports of the patients and attendants at the London Asylum were held yesterday afternoon on the beautiful athletic grounds, to the north of the main building. The weather was all that could be desired, in the early part of the afternoon, but about 4 o'clock the sky grew very threatening, and many citizens left for home. The sports were happily concluded, however, before rain interfered. The usual large crowd from the city enjoyed the games and incidentally Asylum hospitality. All the events were keenly contested, zest being added by the handsome array of prizes, for which the Asylum authorities desire to heartily thank the contributors. Dr. Sippi and Messrs. George Angus and George Rennie spared no efforts to make the affair a grand success, and LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice I procured the medicine, and least the best results. and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me good.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills Cure Mrs. P. D. Bourque of Nervousness and Fluttering of the Heart.

Mrs. P. D. Bourque, of Moncton, N. B., is one of those who never fail to sound the praises of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Some time ago she was troubled with a pain in her left side and fluttering of the heart. Her nerves were unstrung and she easily excited and upset.

"I noticed Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills recommended for such troubles," she said, "and decided to try them. I therefore got a box and began taking them, and they have done me a great deal of good.
"Before taking these pills my appetite was poor and I was very much run down in health but since their use I have gained in strength every day. They restored my heart to natural action, removed the pain from my side, and gave new health and vigor to every organ of my body."

Not only do Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure such complaints as those that afflicted Mrs. Bourque, but they are the only effectual remedy known for palpitation, skip beats, smothering and sinking sensation, nervousness, sleeplessness, anaemia Vitus' dance, weakness, female troubles and general debility.

The Domestic Problem. There is a recrudescence of discussion in the press over the domestic help problem, which seems to have bemore than usually acute just Chicago alone several have places for 5,000 do-The Belleville Sun points out that half the ladies in Belleville, accustomed to hired help, are compelled to do their own housework; but that condition of affairs is becoming fashionable in many other places, with no loss of family health or prestige. A great deal of admirable advice has been thrown away on the domestic question. Girls and young women have been persistently told that domestic service is more comfortable and remunerative than most other occupations, but they continue to prefer the factory and the shop. Considering board and lodging are included, it is doubtless true that those assisting in housework are better off in and health than many of those who go into some other calling more willingly. But it is equally true that women regard domestic sera badge of social inferiority. and this unfortunate impression is the root of the whole difficulty. It is due in part to the snobbery or petty tyranny in many households where the servants are constantly reminded of the dividing line, but this censure does not apply to the majority of families where the domestics are in an atmosphere of kindly consideration and

The ultimate solution of the problem will probably be the "professionalizing" of domestic service. We all know how dignified and popular professional nursing has deservedly become, yet it is within living memory that Sarah Gamp typified the calling. Why should not the same process of scientific training be applied to domestic work? It is already proposed to establish a college of domestic science in Toronto where girls are to be trained in every branch of household duty. They are togo through a regularly defined course plomas, which, it is expected, command the best positions for the holders. The idea is excellent, and if the movement succeeds and becomes general, domestic service should, at no distant period, be elevated to a plane which the young women will no longer look down upon.

It has been suggested that the phrase, "servant girl," is invidious-for are we not all servants?-and that some better synonym might be employed. We observe with pleasure that the word "maid" is now considered better form in circles that give the keynote-the change symbolizing recognition of the fact that all labor, if performed in the right spirit, is honorable

A Champion of Canada.

In the October number of the Popclar Science Monthly of New York is an admirable article, on "The Wheat Lands of Canada," by Sydney C. D. Roper. It is a complete refutation of Sir Wm. Crookes' famous address before the British Association, in which he declared that unless some radical change was made in the present system of wheat cultivation there would be a bread famine in 1931, because the world's supply of land capable of producing wheat would have been exhausted. Mr. Atkinson, the well-known economist, took up the cudgels for the United States, and Mr. Roper now enters the lists as Canada's champion, and proceeds to riddle Sir William Crookes' thesis very effectually. Mr. Roper very properly takes Sir William to task for making statements which were a serious libel upon Canada, and were calculated to injure this country as a field for immigration.

Sir William declared that the most trustworthy estimates gave Canada a wheat area of not more than six millions of acres in the next twelve years. increasing to a maximum of twelve millions of acres in twenty-five years. Who prepared these estimates, and upon what are they based? Mr. Roper Sir William Crookes, for instance, says that the area of Manitoba is 13,051,375 acres, including watercourses, lakes, forests, towns, etc. Mr. Roper shows by the official reports that Manitoba has an area of 41,002,240 acres, exclusive of water surface.

ser William Crookes further declared that in the Northwest Territories there was practically no amount of land of any consequence available for wheat. What are the facts? The areas of the three provisional districts are: As-einibola, 57,177,600 acres; Saskatchewan, 69,120,000 acres; Alberta, 63,523, 200 acres, making a total of 189,320,000 acres. Mr. Roper affirms that careful examination of all available data justifies one in saying that fully one half is suitable for successful wheat cultivation, while in eastern and southern Assinibola there are some 20,000,000 acres, in the valley of the Saskatchewan 14,900,000 acres, and in northern Alberta 15,000,000 acres, that are specially adapted for the production of wheat as a starte crop.

"But we have not yet reckoned with the rich and fertile Province of Ontario," adds Mr. Roper. This province has a land area of 140,576,000 acres, of which 11.888.853 acres were under cultivation in 1898 and of this latter quantity 1,437,387 acres or 12 per cent were in wheat, being an increase of 163,860 acres over the wheat area of 1897 and of 62,573 acres over the average of 1882 -'98. The wheat acreage of Ontario declined after 1880 owing to an unremunerative market, and in 1895 there were only 967,156 acres so employed. Since then, however, stimulated by more profitable price, the area has increased by 470.471 acres and an increase of 20 per cent upward is reported in the area for 1899. Mr. Roper declares that the whole of the twelve million acres of wheat cultivation to which Sir Wm. Crookes has limited Canada, could be supplied by Ontario alone. The writer goes on to say, and his words echo the sentiments of every Canadian:

adopts these estimates and gives out world a statement, on the strength of them, that, in addition to the 3,500,000 acres at present in use, there are not more than 8,500,000 acres in Canada available for wheat cultivation-a statement calculated, if believed, to seriously damage Canada's prospects for settlement, and a statement that is as much at variance with the actual facts as it is possible for such things to be. Is it fair to the country for a man of such high standing and reputation to make such unfounded assertions? Five minutes' real consideration of the question would have convinced him that there are more than that number of acres in the Province of Ontario alone. The figures already given, which have been prepared from the most reliable available information, go to show that there are upwards of seventy-five million acres of land in Canada specially adapted for the production of wheat, and this estimate is confined to those portions of the country which may be considered as essentially wheat-producing areas; and no account has been hitherto been so clean. Gratitude is taken of the vast extent of land, not only in the Provinces of Ontario and its persistent efforts to defend the public interest in the courts; all the more ritories, but also in the otherwise un- since, as unseemly Prince Edis not only suitable for the production tity of wheat will undoubtedly be grown, which, entering into home con- lant control, are fair salaries. sumption, will increase the exportable

"The point is that Sir W.Crookes

Mr. Roper accuses Sir Wm. Crookes of almost criminal carelessness in the preparation of his case, and charges Mr. C. Wood Davis, who wrote an article in the Arena, supporting Sir William's theory, of intentionally garbling extracts from an official handbook, issued by the Canadian Minister of Interior, in order to decry Canada's wheat-bearing capabilities. In this article Mr. Davis stated, on the authority of this handbook, that no part of the Northwest except Southern Manitoba and the eastern half of Assinibeia was adapted to wheat culture, and that over the greater part of these wast regions, neither summer heats nor rainfall were sufficient. This statement is false in every particular. Mr. Roper shows that Mr. Davis had purposely suppressed every extract favorable to Canada. The book referred to says that "So far as the Canadian Northwest is concerned, of about two hundred million acres of land between the Red River of the North to the Rocky Mountains, available for agricultural and pastoral purposes, not more than about onefourth, or fifty million acres in all require the artificial application of

Mr. Roper also ridicules Mr. Davis remarks on the severity of the Canadian climate and says the experience of the inhabitants and the annual production of the country speak for themselves. Mr. Roper's conclusion is that Sir Wm. Crookes' prediction of an impending wheat famine is fantastic and

"When, if ever, the day of scarcity will come is unknown. That it is yet far off appears to be tolerably certain; but it is sufficient iter the purposes of this article that it should be understood that Sir W. Crookes statements concerning the wheat area of Canada are absolutely unreliable and incorrect, and that there are millions of acres of good wheat land walting for occupation by the surplus pop-ulation of the world, which, when under cultivation, will assist in deferring for many years the threatened day of

The More Need of Compulsory Arbitration.

By the round-about route of, first the New York World, and, second, the Stratford Beacon, the London Press reprints, without contradiction. the statement that a check for $50,600 recently came to the London Street Railway from other street railway companies, to help make up the loss incurred here in fighting public sentiment. If our contemporaries are porrect, and a concerted course of action by United States and other street railway capitalists can be taken against a Canadian city, irrespective of the right or wrong of the matters in dispute, but solely through considerations as to the effect on other places, it is only one conclusive reason why the next few months should see such amendment to the present arbitration act by the Ontario Legislature as will provide for compulsory arbitration in street railway strikes. A half-dozen lines, in the sense indicated, added to the present Ontario arbitration act, would make it a complete success.

The American sealskin regulations have been slightly modified, but are still unworthy of a civilized country. Striking at the Canadian seal industry over a lady's shoulder is a poor business for our big neighbor.

MOODY'S PREDICTION

A Great Religious Revival Expected by the Noted Evangelist.

New York, Sept. 27 .- D. L. Moody, being asked, "Is not the world growing replied: "If I were to answer this, I should say, yes and no. There have never been so many churches in the history of the world, and every year there are more missionaries. Slavery answered the other, "excepting that has been done away with, and many advances have been made along the right lines. But there are just as certain signs of evil. Never in this country has the Sabbath been so lightly es-Every Sunday finds our roads full of young people on bicycles who should be in church, and the Sunday paper has taken the place of the sermon in too many homes. It is even estimated that of the seventy millions in this country, forty millions do not go

"In my mind, the country has never been so much in need of a great religious movement as today. The time has come for our ministers to stop discussing dead questions and meet a living one. We must cease picking the Bible to pieces and must preach to the hundreds who are ready to listen. "Almost every great religious move-ment since the time of Christ has come when the times were darkest. Look at Scotland in the time of Knox, or England in the time of the Wesleys, I do not want to be pessimistic, but it seems to me the times are not very dark nor are they very much brighter ahead unless something is done. While young people are left to look after themselves, their leaders are engaged in heresy or in determining how many Isadahs there were. "People are constantly saying to me that the trouble is that we want a new Gospel and a new Bible; that the old Bible has gone out of fashion, and while it was good enough for our fathers, we have become more civilized and want something up to date; that if we are going to reach thinking men we must have something new. Now, within the last twelve months I have seen the old Gospel preached from Maine to California, and the people everywhere have seemed ready to listen to it. It is as powerful today as when Paul preached it from Mars Hill; and any man who preaches it has the same results. We might just as well talk of dispensing with the light of the sun because it has been shining for four thousand years, or stopping the flow of the Amazon because it has always traveled in the same channel.

"If you go into the little hill-towns of New England you find the churches empty or closed. Why is it? The people have taken up with every new 'ism' that has come along, until they have drifted over to infidelity. The Gospel is the only remedy for this. Put a consecrated man there who believes in his Bible from cover to cover and he will begin to have results. The papers keep up informed on the topics of the day; what we want from the pulpit is the plain Gospel. "There need be no difficulty about the men. When God wanted to lead the children of Israel to the Promised Land he raised up Moses; and ever since. when he wanted something done, he has always raised up his workmen. I must say, I have not patience when I hear a person wondering what will become of us when so-and-so is dead. As God takes one man, he sends another in his place, and if he wills to raise 'As I have said, God always sends Otsego, Mich., Sept. 28 .- An accident in which A. W. Hartman, a prominent business man, nearly lost his life, ocourred yesterday afternoon. Before he could be extricated from the burning mass his clothing was badly burned, and the victim fainted.

A DINNER PILL-Many persons suffer excruciating agony after partaking of a hearty dinner. # GOOD VOLUME Bradstreet's Report of Trade in Canada -The Situation in the United States.

New York, Sept. 29.—Bradstreets' review says: Fall trade moves forward in Canada in good volume. Montreal reports that while wet weather has curtailed retail trade somewhat, a good business has on the whole been done, while jobbers report their fall trade as the largest for years. Collections are reported very satisfactory.

Toronto reports similar trade conditions, with prices, particularly of dry-goods, very firm. Labor is scarce. Canadian banks have loaned considerably in the United States, In the Maritime Provinces weather conditions have not been altogether favorable, but Halifax reports local trade stimulated by the presence of country visitors at the exposition. Collections are fair, and apple shipments to Great Britain are very large. Healthy trade conditions are reported in British Columbia, Victoria reporting active demand for hardware and lumber, with collections fair.

Business failures for the week (five days) number 11, as compared with 12 last week, 23 in this week a year ago, and 32 in 1897.

OVER THE BORDER.

The notable feature of the uneasiness of the situation in the United States is the strength of agricultural products, notably cereals, cotton and pork products. Fall trade continues good, though it is conceded at several markets that the biggest part of the fall business has been done, and re-orders from now on will cut the larg-est figures. Wheat has remained remarkably strong, on enlarged foreign buying and uncertainty as to the out-come of the South African affair. Sympathetic strength is displayed by corn and cereals. Increased foreign demand is reported responsible, too, for the strength of tone and advances shown in these products. Wool has continued strong and in active demand both at home and abroad.

There is a quieter tone at most markets for iron and steel. Lumber remains active at most markets, though complaints of slow delivery, due to the lack of cars, are also heard. In other lack of cars, are also heard. In other lines of industry prices are notably strong, petroleum and hides being among those advanced. An equally strong tendency as to price is noted in hardware. Railroad earnings continue to make very favorable comparisons with a year ago, the gross receipts of 52 systems for the third week of September aggregating $7.959,688, an increase of 10.3 per cent over last year, when, it will be remembered, gains were very large. Coal improves as the season advances, and here as in many other lines of trade it is a question rather of securing supplies than of paying current prices. Almost alone among the staples sugar is weak in tone.

Business failures for the weak (five

Business failures for the week (five days) number 131, as compared with 147 last week, 166 in this week a year ago, and 189 in 1897.

Discusses the Atlantic Mail Service and Preferential Trade With Great Britain.

Halifax.Sept. 29 .- Four thousand people listened to Sir Charles Tupper's speech in front of the grand stand at the Provincial Fair Wednesday afternoon. He devoted most of his remarks to congratulating the people of Nova Scotia on the rich and varied resources of their province. Referring to the Atlantic mail service, he said: "I want to avail myself on this occasion of the opportunity of enlisting the public mind, not of one party or another, but the public sentiment of the country, in what I consider fraught with the most vital importance to the progress and prosperity of Canada, and I may say especially of this Province of Scotia. If you want a letter to reach your correspondent in Great Britain or on the continent of Europe in the shortest possible time, you have to send it to the city of New York, which is 600 miles more distant from England than Halifax, and 800 from Cape Breton. That the Dominion of Canada should be dependent upon a foreign country for the transmission of all its mail matter that it wishes to reach its correspondents in England in the shortest time is a humiliating position, which I trust at no distant day will be remedied and chang-It removed ten corns from one pair of tages of cold storage, and closed as feet without any pain. When Hon. Joseph Chamberlain pointed out to a body of electors whom he was addressing in Great Britain the fact that Canada, Australasia, and South Africa, 11,000,000 of people, consumed more of the products of British industry than France, Germany and Russia, with 220,000,000 of people, there is a fact that shows that the best means of producing the unity of the empire, the best means of achieving, capturing But one store is left in the ashes of and occupying to a great extent that New Madrid, Ill., which was destroyed great market, is to be found in that policy of preferential trade which will give to the colonies of the mother coununderwent an operation in Toronto, is try a position higher and better than that which is given to foreign countries.'

Toronto, Sept. 29.-At Osgoode Hall vesterday. Mr. Justice Rose the case of Pott vs. Canadian Order of Foresters. Held, also, that defendants, having had before them before action all the evidence adduced at the trial, and having had tendered to them a good and sufficient bond of indemnity, and keeping in view the facts that if plaintiff had ceased to pay assessments all liability of defendants would have ceased, and that if Pott had reappeared it would have been practically impossible for him to obtain an order of court declaring that the contract had been kent alive, it was not reasonable that they should have required this action to be brought, and therefore they should pay costs. Mr. Bultitude fell back into his seat Mr. Bultitude fell back into his seat with a gasp. It was hard to be accused of caricaturing one's own self, particularly when conscious of entire innocence in that respect, but even this was slight in comparison with the discovery that he had been so blindly deceiving himself. deceiving himself.

The doctor evidently had failed to penetrate his disguise, and the dreaded scene of elaborate explanation must be gone through after all.

The boys (with the exception of Kiffin) still found exquisite enjoyment in this extraordinary and original exhibithis extraordinary and original exhibi-tion, and waited eagerly for further experiments on the doctor's patience. They were soon gratified. If there was one thing Paul detested more than another, it was the smell of pepper-mint—no less than three office boys had been discharged by him because, as he alleged, they made the clerks' room reek with It-and now the subtle; searching odor of the hated confection was gradually stealing into the compartment and influencing the atmos-

He looked at Coggs, who sat on the seat opposite to him, and saw his cheeks and lips moving in slow and appreciative absorption of something. Coggs was clearly the culprit.

"Do you encourage your boys to make common nuisances of themselves in a public place, may I ask, Dr. Grimetone?" he inquired, fuming.
"Some scarcely seem to require encouragement, Bultitude," said the doctor, pointedly. "What is the matter now?" "If he takes it medicinally," said

Paul, "he should choose some other time and place to treat his complaint. If he has a depraved liking for the abominable stuff, for heaven's sake make him refrain from it on occasions when it is a serious annoyance to others!

"Will you explain? Who and what are you talking about?"
"That boy opposite," said Paul, pointing the finger of denunciation at the astonished Coggs; "he's sucking an infernal peppermint lozenge strong enough to throw the train off the rails."

"Is what Bultitude tells me true, Coggs?" demanded the doctor, in an Coggs, after making several attempts to bolt the offending lozenge, and turning scarlet meanwhile with confusion coughing, stammered huskily something to the effect that he had bought the lozenges at a chemist's, which he seemed to consider, for some reason, a mitigating circumstance. Then he turned to Paul with a look of more favor than he had yet shown him. "Bultitude," he said, "I am obliged to you. Your moral courage and promptness in denouncing the evil

It's that fellow over there, with the blue necktie. I have given him no provocation, and he attacks me in this brutal manner, sir; I appeal to you for protection!

"So, Coker" (Coker wore a blue necktie); said the doctor, "you emulate the wild ass in more qualities than those of stupidity and stubbornness, do you? Six pairs of sulky, glowering eyes were fixed upon the unconscious Paul tehe rest of the journey; indignant protests and dark vows of vengeance were multered under cover of the friendly roar and fattle of tunnels. But the object of them heard nothing; his composure was returning once more in the sunshine of Dr. Gricstone's approbation, and he almost decided on declaring himself in the station fly. And now at last the train was grind-ing along discordantly with the brakes on, and, after a little preliminary joit-ing and banging over the points, drew up at a long, lighted platform, where melancholy porters paced up and down, croaking "Rodwell Regis!" like so many solomon Eagles predicting woe. Paul got out with the others, and walked forward to the guard's van, where he stood shivering in the raw night air by a small heap of port-manteaux and white, clamped boxes. "I should like to tell him all about it now," he thought, "if he wasn't so busy. I'll get him to go in a cab alone with me, and get it over before we reach the house.

Dr. Grimstone certainly did not seem in a very receptive mood for confi-dences just then. No flys were to be seen, which he took as a personal outrage, and visited upon the station-master in hot indignation.

"It's scandalous, I tell you," he was saying; "scandalous! No cabs to meet the train. My school reassembles today, and here I find no arrangements made for their accommodation. Not even an omnibus! I shall write to the manager and report this. Let someone go for a fly immediately. Boys, go into the waiting-room till I come to you. Stay—there are too many for one fly. Coker, Coggs and, let me see—yes, Bultitude, you all know your way. Walk on, and tell Mrs. Grimstone we are coming."

Mr. Bultitude was perhaps more relieved than disappointed by this postponement of a disagreeable interview, though if he had seen Coker dig Coggs in the side with a chuckle of exultant triumph, he might have had misgivings as to the prudence of trusting himself alone with them.

As it was, he almost determined to trust the pair with his secret. "They will be valuable witnesses," he said to himself. "that, whoever else I may be, I am not Dick,"

So he went on briskly ahead over a covered bridge and down some break-neck wooden steps, and passed through the wicket out upon the railed-in space, where the cabs and omnibuses should have been, but which was now a blank, spectral waste with a white ground-fog lurking round its borders. Here he was joined by his companions, who, after a little whispering, came up one on each side and put an arm through each of his.

"Well," said Paul, thinking to banter them agreeably; "here you are, young men, eh? Holidays all over now! Work while you're young, and then—Gad, you're walking me off my legs. Stop! I'm not as young as I used to be—"

"Grim can't see us here, can he, Coker?" said Coggs. when they had cleared the gates and palings.
"Not he!" said Coker.

"Very well, then. Now then, young Bultitude, you used to be a decent fellow enough last term, though you were coxy. So, before we go any further —what do you mean by this sort of thing?"

"Because," put in Coker, "if you aren't quite right in your head, through your old governor acting like a brute all the holidays, as you said he does, just say so, and we won't be hard on

"You don't suppose I was bound to sit calmly down and allow you to suck your villainous peppermints under my very nose, do you?" said Mr. Bultitude.
"Why shouldn't I complain if a boy annoys me by sniffling, or kicks me on the ankle? Just tell me that! Suppose my neighbor has a noisy dog or a smoky chimney, am I not to venture to tell him of it? Is he to—".
But his arguments, convincing as they promised to be, were brought to a sudden and premature close by Coker, who slipped behind him and administered a sharp jog below his back, which jarred his spine and caused him infinite agony.

"You little brute," cried Paul, "I could have you, up for assault for that. An old man like me, too!" [To be Continued.]

CATCH FISH

A Wolf-Like Breed Used by the People of Labrador.

Trained to Jump From the Boat and Secure the Codfish Hauled Up by Their Masters.

[New York Sun.] Dogs trained to catch fish are among the features of everyday life on the barren shores of that distant part of Labrador which belongs to Newfoundland. The valuable cod fisheries along the 1,100 miles of Labrador's coast yield about one-fifth of Newfoundland's total catch of cod, and furnish employment annually to thousands of hardy fisher folk. They fish with lines from

150 to 200 fathoms long, two men to a boat, and each man using two hand lines. The usual balt is capelin. When fish are plentiful it takes a very short time to fill a boat with cod. A number of the fishermen have trained their dogs to assist them in catching fish. The rapidity with which the fishermen haul up their long lines when they feel a bite, robs the fish almost entirely of life and breath by the time it reaches the surface of the sea. It comes to the top as completely ex-hausted as a salmon that has been played by an angier until he can tail it with his hand and so avoid the necessity of gaffing it. It is one thing, however, to bring a heavy cod to the surface of the water and another to get it into the boat. Gaffs and landing nets are unknown to these tollers of sea. If they can lift the fish into the boat by the line, all is well; but this is often where they fail. If the fish is large and but lightly hooked, as is often the case, the hook breaks away from its mouth when the attempt is made to haud it from the water. The fish, still quite inanimate in manner and appearance, floats away from the boat on the surface of the waves. This is only for a moment, however. The fisher's trained dog, often without a signal from his master, leaps over the gunwale of the boat, plunges into the sea, swims after the floating fish, and seizes it in his mouth. Returning consciousness, hastened by the new sensation of being taken entirely from the water and firmly gripped between the laws of its center of the reddings live.

jaws of its captor, often produces lively struggles on the part of the fish, which add considerably to the difficulty the dog has in swimming back with his burden to the boat. The dog rarely releases his hold upon his wriggling captive until safe within the boat.
Sometimes these dogs have larger game than codfish to struggle with in the water. They are trained to plunge into the ice-cold water in the spring of the year and to act as petrievers for their masters when seal are shot from the shore on the surface of the sea.

The dogs employed by the fishermen of Newfoundland and Labrader are by no means the specimens of canine mag-nificence usually known as Newfound land dogs. They more nearly resemble Eskimo dogs than anything else, and are often quite wolfish in both manner and appearance. It is even be-lieved by many people that the blood of the wild brutes of the forest flows in their veins. At a post near Hamilton Inlet not long ago the door of a house in which an infant was sleeping in a cradle had been left open for a short time during the temporary absence of the other members of the fam-ily. When the mother re-entered the house she found only the bones of her child. The little one had been com-pletely devoured by dogs. The Labrador dogs are excessively quarrelsome, and, wolf-like, always attack the weaker. All seem anxious to take part in the fray, and scarcely a season passes without the settlers losing two or three dogs during the sum-mer from wounds received in quarrels among themselves. Peace is instantly restored, even if twenty or more are engaged in the affray, by the sound, or even sight, of the dreaded Eskimo whip, used by the Labradorians. These people have seldom succeeded in raising any other domesticated animal on the coasts. Cats, cows and pigs have all been destroyed by the dogs. If ever a dog is brought up in the house his doom is sealed. At the first opportunity the others will pounce upon him in the absence of his master and worry him to death. This is the invariable fate of any privileged dog on the coast that is permitted to enter his master's house and to receive the caresses of the different members of the family. preference excites the deepest jealousy in the breasts of the Labrador dogs, and they patiently wait for an occasion to avenge themselves.

In the winter these animals will drag a commetique, or sleigh, 50 or 60 miles a day over the snow. They haul wood from the interior, carry supplies to the hunters in the forests far back from the rocky and desolate coasts, merrily draw their masters from house to house, and with their wonderful noses pick out the right path even in the most pittless storm. If the traveler will only trust to the sagacity of an experienced leader he may wrap him-self up in his bear and sealskin robes, and, regardless of piercing winds and and faithful animals will draw him securely to his own door or to the nearest post. The commetique is about 10 inches broad and 10 or 12 feet long. The runners are shod with whalebone, which, by friction over the snow, soon becomes beautifully polished and looks like ivory. The commetique is well floored with sealskins, over which bear or sealskins are nailed all around, with an opening for the traveler to introduce his body. The harness is made of seal-skin. The foremost dog, called the guide, is placed about 30 feet in advance; the others are ranged in pairs behind the guide. Sometimes three, sometimes four pairs of dogs are thus attached to one commettique, besides the guide.

The Eskimo dog, of pure breed, with his strongly-built frame, long, white fur, pointed ears and bushy fail, is capable of enduring hunger to a far greater extent than the mixed breed.

But the latter beats him in long journ But the latter beats him in long journeys, even when fed but once a day. An Eskimo dog will travel for two days without food; one of the mixed breed must be fed at the close of the first day, or he is good for little the next. In winter their food often consists chiefly of dried capcin the small, smelt-like fish used by the cod fisherman for bait. An expert driver can hit any part of the leading dog he chooses with the extremity of his formidable whip.

ROMANCE AND HEALTH. The hero was very restive.

Why don't you try to devour me?" he demanded, reproachfully.

"Because," replied the Dragon looking much pained, "I am a vegetarian." This fable teaches how very unromantic the world is likely to become, with good health the chief aim in life.

The Government Trying to Safeguard Them in the Lead Industry.

[Toronto Weekly Sun.] An important step has been taken by the government with the object of encouraging the smelting of lead and the manufacture of lead in various forms in Canada. The American tar-iff admits lead ore at a duty of 1½ cents per pound, while the duty on-pig lead and lead bullion is 2% cents. addition to this discrimination against our smelted and refined lead, the American Government allows these processes to be performed in bond. The duty on our pig lead and bullion shuts us out of the American market. The result is that our ore is taken into the United States, smelted, and refined there, and sent back to Canada, or it and its products compete with the manufactures of Canada in the foreign markets. The question has three aspects—(1) the smealting of the lead ore, (2) the refining process, (3) the manufacture of white lead, red lead and other products from the refined lead. It is believed that the smelting could be profitably done in Canada but for the American description. but for the American discrimination; and that the third process would stand a better chance if it were not for our own duty, the duty which we place on our own lead when it comes back to us smelted and refined in the United

The remedy that has been applied is to remove the duty on ores smelted in Canada and refined in the United States when they return to this country. This action proceeds upon the be-ber that by allowing the Americans to her that by allowing the Americans to do the refining, the intermediate pro-cess, we are helping our own smelting and also those industries which use refined leads as their basis. We dis-criminate in favor of the product of Canadian smelters. We allow the manufacturers of red and white lead. etc., to obtain that product free of duty after having been refined in the United States. We use the American refineries as a convenience to ourselves, as a means of helping our smelting and other lead industries. Refining is the one process which it would be most difficult to perform in Canada; it is, therefore, for the present, thought best to allow that work to be done on the other side. It is a simple remedy, based upon the idea that it is better to encourage industry by removing duties than by laying them on.

A HORSELESS LOCHINVAR. Strange to say, it is Berlin that reports the first automobile elopement. It is strange for two reasons. The horseless carriage craze has dealt mildly with Prussia's capital, the honest Berliners looking at it with somewhat doubtful approval. In the second place, filial obedience ranks very high with these Prussian young men and maidens Nevertheless, Herr Gutzaloff, a young engineer, and Fraulein Elsa, a daughter of Herr Heinrich, after one futile at tempt by rail, succeeded in slipping away from the parental espionage in a borrowed automobile and gaily whizzed to Stettin, where they took a steamer for St. Petersburg and were duly married.

From all accounts the ride to Stettin appears to have been a safe and pleasant journey. There was no mounting in hot haste, no fierce pursuit. Pursuit would have been futile. No horse could catch Cupid's heavy-tired express on this memorable wedding journey. And so they went bounding down the level road that leads to Stettin town. One stout arm was stretched to the proper lever, and with the other the young engineer undoubtedly braced up the brave but slightly teary fraulein. And so in a pleasing and highly successful manner, for Papa Heinrich has invited the runaways to come back and be forgiven, does the automobile gracefully rumble into a new role.

A QUESTION OF RESPONSIBILITY

Has Long Delayed the Work of "Filling In" at the Cove.

Harding & Leathorne Object to Other Contractors Doing the Work-Sewer Committee Disposed to Give the Lowest Tenderer the Contract.

The sewer committee last evening instructed Chairman McPhillips and Engineer Graydon to consult the city solicitor regarding tenders for covering the sewer pipe at the cove. Messrs. Harding & Leathorne are the contractors for section "B," and in the spring were asked their price for the "filling in" at the cove—work not in the original specifications. A figure of $946 was eiven and the committee thought it too high. Recently tenders were called, and the following received: McMurray, Pratt & Walsh, $723; M. Cox, $777; Harding & Leathorne, $900; C. Barfitt, $1,059. Some of the work was done by Harding & Leathorne since spring, and they were paid for it, so that their present figure was practically the same as the former one. They have intimated that if any other contractor does the work they will not consider themselves responsible for the maintenance and repairs of section "B," and there's the rub. Contractor Wade urged the committee to pay him the $400 due for 200 feet of sewer east of Maitland on South street, constructed shortly after the death of his partner, the late Crawford Beckett. He was prepared, he said, to prove that the sewer was not de-

A Decided Stand Taken by City Engineer Graydon.

Boad of Works Considers Sev. 8 eral Important Matters.

Council Will Again Be Asked to Pay Contractor Howie $500 - Breakwater Fund Exhausted-Accounts Go to the Council.

City Engineer Graydon is opposed to mosaic tile walks. He told the board of works last night that he would not advise the laying of any more such walks. The board asked Mr. Graydon to report on the matter to the council, and he will do so Monday night. The situation is an interesting one for the rival contractors. A number of important matters came before the board. Ex-Ald. Geo. Shaw asked the committee to give instructions that a cement walk now in front of his property, on Craig street, be not replaced by a new walk advertised, but be laid between Ridout street south and the Wortley road. His present walk would be good for ten or fifteen years, he

It was decided to lay the new walk to meet Mr. Shaw's walk only.
Mr. R. K. Cowan, on behalf of the Canadian Packing Company, urged the committee to allow the company to build a sewer to connect their premises with the Dundas street sewer. Mr. Cowan said the company would give a permanent guarantee that in case the connection caused any damage to the system they would make it

The question of vital importance for the committee to decide was whether or not the sewage would be injurious, several of the aldermen said, and on motion of Ald. Parnell it was decided to lay the matter over until a report can be obtained by a sub-committee. The sub-committee named was Ald. Douglass, McPhillips and Garratt.

Mr. Cowan stated the company was willing to pay the cost, of a six-inch drain, and to put down whatever sized pipe the committee decided upon.
The council will again be asked to refund John Labatt and others half the cost of a private drain, and lay a new sewer on Adelaide street, between Dundas and Lorne avenue.

A petition for a mosaic tile walk on Simcoe street, between Maitland and William streets, was discussed. The petition was originally for a cement walk, but on the representation of some of the petitioners it was chang-ed. Ald. Reed moved that a cement walk be laid, if satisfactory to the city engineer. Carried. When questioned by Ald. Parnell, the engineer said he would not advise the laying of any more mosaic tile walks. The engineer's recommenda-tion to this effect will be submitted to the council. Wm. Howie, jun., lumber dealer, again appeared before the committee in connection with his claim for damages through the council's deciston not to day any plank walks A motion reaffirming the former action of the committee in recommending that Mr. Howie be paid $500 passed. Ald. Parnell and Ald. Wilkey Mr. Howie was asked to submit to the council a statement of his loss to
