250,000 GERMANS ARE ON THE RUN

ALLIES HOT IN PURSUIT OF FLEEING TEUTONS

BRITISH CAPTURE TOWNS IN ADVANCE TO EAST OF LENS

GERMANS BY THE THOUSANDS ARE IN RETREAT BEFORE THE ALLIED ARMIES

Hun Hordes Between Cambrai and St. Quentin Take to Their Heels---Movement Is Regarded As First Step in General Retreat of Boches Toward Their Own Country.

HUNS STILL RUNNING.

With the Anglo-American Forces Southeast of Cambrai, Oct. 10.—British and American forces continue to advance rapidly and are driving the demoralized Germans before them, according to all available reports on this front. The whole battle is on a field that was aflame throughout the night. The many fires have destroyed towns and farm houses completely.

Paris, Oct. 10.—A quarter of a million Germans are now in full retreat between Cambrai and St. Quentin with the Allies hot at their heels, according to the battlefront reports that came in through the night. At some points the advance has exceeded fifteen miles in the past two days.

This forward movement of the Allies is regarded as the first step in the great general retreat of the Germans, which seems now inevitable, for it is doubtful whether Gen. Ludendorff has such fortified positions on the Upper Oise as to permit him effectively to resist the exploitation of the victory of the past two days of the Allies.

The success in the Cambrai-St. Quentin section of the front was in a large measure made possible by the splendid achievements of Gen. Gouraud's men and the Americans from Rheims to the Meuse. Because a break in that part of the front would have much worse consequences for the enemy than anywhere else, he concentrated most of his reserves there. Gen. Gouraud not only succeeded in holding them there—in itself a valuable service—but notwithstanding the difficult country and the powerful artificial defences he has made and is continuing to make wonderful progress, thus enhancing the victory farther west. Yesterday Gen. Gouraud's forces advanced still farther toward the important junction of Voucheers, while the Americans pushed forward and joined the French south of Grand Pre, thus completing the conquest of the Argonne Forest.

The result of Marshal Foch's skillful strategy is that the region of Laon and the St. Gobain massif has become so dangerous that the evacuation of this vast and important pocket in the near future seems imperative.

MILITARY REASONS ONLY WILL COMPEL HUNS TO ACCEPT ALLIED CONDITIONS

Cologne Gazette Says That Germany May Demand Counter-Guarantees.

Basel, Oct. 10. — "Only military reasons could compel us to accept President Wilson's conditions," says the Cologne Gazette in commenting on the American reply to the German peace offer. "It is possible Germany may require counter-guarantees, for example, the evacuation of the colonies occupied by the Allies."

ENEMY CLAIMS THAT BRITISH SHELLS FIRED TOWNS THEY OCCUPIED

Fearing Reprisals, the Germans Are Making Profuse Explanations.

London, Oct. 10.—Indications that Germany is becoming anxious on account of the threats of reprisals for the destruction of towns in France are afforded by a telegram from the semi-official Wolff Bureau, received in Stockholm, saying that Douai was burning as the result of the continuous British bombardment.

The reports that the Germans had set fire to a town they were still occupying was characterized by the agency as ridiculous.

The Germans, according to a Reuter dispatch from Stockholm, also deny having fired Roulers, Thourout and Lichtervelde.

A CREED FOR LONDON

We will never bring disgrace on this, our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice.

We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many.

We will revere and obey the city's laws, and we will do our best to incite a like reverence and respect in those above us, who are prone to annul them or set them at naught. We will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of public duty.

Thus in all these ways, we will transmit this city, not only not less, but greater, better and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

350 AMERICAN PLANES BOMB ENEMY LINES

Tons of Explosives Dropped on German Cantonments Near Verdun.

EPIDEMIC CAUSES CONFERENCE TO BE CLOSED TO PUBLIC

Spanish Influenza Forces Prohibition of Hamilton Gatherings.

Hamilton, Oct. 10.—On account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza which has taken hold of this city, the Methodist General Conference will hold no more large gatherings to which the general public will be invited. This is the decision arrived at by the business committee, and it has met with the approval of the conference, which is somewhat apprehensive lest the medical health officer shut down on its sessions altogether. Friday evening was to have been devoted to the public reception of Rev. Hodson Smith, fraternal delegate from the Wesleyan Church of Great Britain, but it is understood that in view of the circumstances this meeting will not take place. There is also a probability that the thanksgiving service on Monday evening, which was to have been addressed by Rev. Chancellor Bowles of Victoria University, and Hon. N. W. Rowell, may have to be cancelled.

A tempest in a teapot occurred in the committee on education this morning, when Rev. B. C. Borden, D. D., of Sackville, N. S., principal of the Mountain Allison College, accused Rev. Jas. Smythe, D.D. principal of the Wesleyan Theological College of Montreal, of poaching in his territory in his quest for students. Rev. Dr. Smythe indignantly repudiated the charge.

WILL RUN ITS COURSE.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Oct. 10. —The situation with regard to the Spanish influenza in both the Canadian and Polish camps today was little changed from that of yesterday. There were a few more cases in each camp. No deaths have occurred in the past two days, however.

Major Greenaway, A.D.M.S., Canadian camp, said today that it was probable the epidemic would run its usual course, about six weeks. In the meantime the quarantine remains as effective as possible.

KAISER DECLARES "HOUR IS GRAVE"

Says That the Germans Are Fighting to Protect Fatherland.

Amsterdam, Oct. 10.—Emperor William in thanking the German industrial association for its vow of confidence is quoted by the Cologne Gazette as saying:

"The hour is grave! We are fighting for the future of the fatherland and for the protection of the soil of home land. To that end we need the united action of the intellectual, moral and economic powers of Germany. On the co-operation of these powers our invincibility rests.

"The will for defence must bind all separate views and separate wishes into one great unity of conception. God grant us something of the spirit of the war of liberation."

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER OF HUNS NOT SUFFICIENT

London, Oct. 10.—The demand for something more than unconditional surrender from Germany is becoming intensified in the newspapers here. Letters recalling the crimes of Germany and urging retribution include one from Professor Spencer Wilkinson, who declares that a condition precedent for the cessation of hostilities should be the occupation by the Allies of Metz, Strassburg, Mainz, Trent, Trieste and Pola.

Viscount Midleton, former secretary of state for India, asks that the Allies make a declaration that peace shall not be made until retribution is exacted from German towns for vandalism in France. The Times describes the enemy's policy of burning and destroying towns as "cruel and mean blackmail," and says that German towns like Hamburg and Frankfort must be marked down for ransom in return for French and Belgian towns wantonly destroyed.

KAISER WILHELM HAS ABDICATED ACCORDING TO STOCKHOLM RUMOR

Stockholm, Oct. 10.—There is a persistent rumor here that Emperor William has abdicated.

BLINDED WITH RAGE FOLLOWING DEFEAT GERMANS CONTINUE TO BURN, PILLAGE AND DEVASTATE

City of Lens Virtually Levelled by Hun Hordes, Forced by Allied Advance to Evacuate City — Enemy Vents His Hate Upon Country From Which He Is Driven.

Paris, Oct. 10.—A startling picture of destruction is drawn by an official "eyewitness" who has visited the neighborhood of Lens since the Germans withdrew from that city. Railways and tramways are torn up and are converted into huge piles of twisted rails. Mayor Basly of Lens says that the city has been virtually levelled. The Germans blew up entire sections of the town to establish their trench systems. The population of 35,000 people is entirely gone and the city is dead. Water fills the galleries of the coal mines which used to turn out 3,000,000 tons of coal annually.

A national committee on war damages thus sums up the devastation:

"Despite the reprobation of the world, the German war practices are constantly being accentuated and intensified. These odious proceedings have transformed hostilities into abominable brigandage, seeking above all the ruin of agriculture, industry and commerce in this country."

Destroyed by Fire.

Reports show that Roulers and Thorout have been destroyed by fire.

Premier Clemenceau has written a stinging commentary on German practices in a letter to Deputy Margain of the Marne department. He says:

"All international conventions which maintained in armed conflicts traditions of loyalty and nobility have been cynically swept aside by Germany, when she thought herself strongest, and with hypocritical tears when she felt the shudder of defeat. German rage attacks not only human beings, but throws its blight on our cities, our firesides, our sacred monuments, our art and history, and even upon the trees of our fair land. The drama of Chalons, where a German airplane bombarded the principal hospitals, killing 54 persons and wounding 40, manifested again the enemy's rage and savagery.

"Taken by the throat and driven backward, he still seeks to vent his hate upon the country from which our soldiers drive him, foot by foot. But the blood, ruin and incendiarism which he is leaving behind, will have retribution of which he will soon feel the weight."

NATIONAL AUTONOMY TO BE ESTABLISHED IN ENEMY COUNTRY

Vienna Report Says That the Austro-Hungarian Council Decides on Action.

London, Oct. 10.—It is reported from Vienna that the Austro-Hungarian Ministerial Council has decided to introduce national autonomy, "in order to make President Wilson's stipulation an accomplished fact," says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen today.

The Czech party did not take part in the deliberations, the advices add. It is holding an important meeting today.

A movement favoring a proclamation separating Hungary and Austria is making extremely rapid progress among the public in the dual monarchy, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Zurich.

HAIG ADVANCES TO EAST OF CAMBRAI; FRENCH TAKE LIRY IN THE CHAMPAGNE

ALLIES FOUND NO TURKS IN CITY OF BEIRUT

Enemy Had Evacuated Syrian Seaport.

London, Oct. 10.—French and British warships which entered Beirut, the chief seaport of Syria, on Sunday, found that the town had been evacuated by the Turks, says an official statement issued today by the British war office.

Beirut was occupied by detachments of British and Indian infantry on Tuesday.

The text of the statement is appended: "French and British warships entered Beirut on Sunday and found the town evacuated by the enemy."

CURRIE'S SLEDGE HAMMER BLOWS BROUGHT ABOUT CAMBRAI'S FALL

Canadian Troops Were First To Enter the Town.

NOW IN POSSESSION

Capture Fittingly Crowns the Brilliant Record of Canucks Since August 8.

With the Canadian Forces, Oct. 9.—(Delayed).—By J. F. B. Livesay, Canadian Press Correspondent).—Early this morning the Canadian troops penetrated Cambrai and are now in complete possession of the city. Thus is fulfilled the legitimate ambition of the Canadian Corps for the achievement of which they have been fighting hard ever since they stormed the Canal du Nord and took Bourlon Wood on September 27. Even if the imperial troops who yesterday so gallantly advanced south of Cambrai, had had the good fortune to capture the city, its fall must still have been attributed to the sledge-hammer strokes of the Canadian Corps, before which the defence of the enemy crumbled.

The capture of Cambrai fittingly crowns the brilliant record of the corps since August 8. Cambrai fell to a night attack. We kicked off at half-past one. The morning was pitchy dark, but careful preparations resulted in all the troops getting to their destinations without hitch. Our third division had the honor of crossing the canal and penetrating into the city.

Element of Surprise.

The element of surprise assisted in overwhelming the enemy defence in the streets. Once Place d'Armes was reached they spread out over the entire area, and by daylight had passed through the city to the southeast, well out on the avenue de Valenciennes, while on the southwest they had established themselves at the corner of Boulevard de la Liberte and Porte de Paris. Some enemy elements apparently were caught between the city and the imperials further south. Our troops began at once to try and save the city from the fires that broke out at various points. The Allies have not fired a single shell into Cambrai, and these fires must have been of incendiary origin. Meantime our third division swept out due east to the line of the Scheldt Canal, securing all bridgeheads as far as Eswars and capturing Morenchies, Ramillies, Blecourt and Cuvillers with many hundreds of prisoners. Their victory was complete and glorious.

DOMINION COUNCIL MEETS HERE

—Delegates from all over Canada are expected to attend the Dominion Council of the Girls' Friendly Society, which meets in London in Cronyn Hall on October 25, 26 and 27.

Pershing Attacks German Forces on the Left Wing of the Argonne Forest---French Troops Operating in Serbia Are Rushing Towards the Montenegrin Frontier.

London, Oct. 10.—Further progress was made by the British last night towards the northern part of the present battlefront, to the east of Cambrai. Fighting is going on southeast of Cambrai, on both sides of Caudry, Field Marshal Haig reported today. The British are now within two miles of Le Cateau.

Saullaumines and Noyelles have been captured.

The capture of Sallaumines and Noyelles represents a British advance in the district east of Lens.

The text of the statement reads:

"We continued to advance yesterday, and yesterday evening in the face of increasing resistance and early in the night advanced detachments established themselves across the Cambrai-Le Cateau road, within two miles of Le Cateau.

"Fighting is taking place south of the main road on both sides of Caudry, and also east of Cambrai, where we have made progress.

"Between Lens and the Scarpe, the British also are advancing and are in touch with the Germans to the west of the line of Vitry-en-Artois, Azel-lez-Equerechin and Rouvroy.

"In the sector between the Scarpe and Lens our patrols are in touch with the enemy west of the general line of Vitry-en-Artois, Azel-lez-Equerechin and Rouvroy. We have gained possession of Saullaumines and Noyelles."

POILUS CAPTURE LIRY IN AN ATTACK IN CHAMPAGNE AREA

Paris, Oct. 10.—French troops last night continued the pursuit of the Germans in the region east of St. Quentin, the war office announced today. They have passed Fontaine-Notre Dame and Beautroux. In fighting north of the Aisne, French pressure resulted in wresting the Plateau de Croix-Sans Tete from the Germans, while further east crossing the Aisne Canal was effected in the region of Villers-en-Prayeres.

Attacking vigorously in the Champagne, the French captured Liry, two miles west of Monthois.

PERSHING PENETRATES FOE LINES WEST OF THE MEUSE

Washington, Oct. 10.—Penetration of the German main line of resistance west of Meuse by the Americans, against fresh enemy divisions, is reported in Gen. Pershing's communique for Wednesday.

East of the Meuse, further gains were made during the day in spite of violent counter-attacks, while in the Argonne Forest the American forces captured important heights south of Marcq and joined hands with the French at Lancon. More than two thousand additional prisoners are reported.

PERSHING ATTACKS ENEMY NEAR THE ARGONNE FOREST

With the American Forces Northwest of Verdun, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gen. Pershing's infantry today again went into action on the left wing of the Argonne Forest front after a violent artillery bombardment lasting all night.

The Germans are throwing in reserves on their left flank, which has now been exposed in the Argonne pocket. The enemy also is endeavoring to withdraw his troops at other points so as to restore the line.

SERBS CONTINUE PROGRESS.

London, Oct. 10.—French troops operating in Serbia are rushing towards the Montenegrin frontier, according to the Central News Agency. The Serbian army has reached a line between fifteen and eighteen miles south of Nish.

SERBS TAKE PRISONERS.

London, Oct. 10.—Serbian troops, pursuing the defeated 9th Austrian Division, on Monday entered Leskovatz, 22 miles south of Nish, and Vlasotintze, according to an official Serbian statement issued today.

The Serbians took several hundred prisoners and captured a large quantity of material.

FRENCH CAPTURE TOWNS.

Paris, Oct. 10.—French troops, advancing east of the St. Quentin-La Cateau Railroad, have captured Etaves Wood and Bocquiaux village, and further south have taken Marcy and reached Fontaine Notre Dame, as well as Fonsommes, it is officially announced.

STUDENTS OF L.C.I. ASKED TO ASSIST EXPANSION DRIVE

Future Citizens Are Told How They Can Help.

TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

"Thought Survey" Introduced in London Institution for First Time.

Students of the Collegiate Institute were yesterday afternoon asked to give their assistance in the expansion and reorganization of the London Board of Trade. The form of help they can give, they were told, was to make suggestions affecting their own future and that of the city.

This is the first time such a "thought survey" has been conducted in any Canadian institution of learning along this line. In consequence the result of the analysis of the answers is awaited with a good deal of interest.

Addresses the Students.

Representing the organizers of the board of trade campaign, J. C. R. Foster and A. F. Peterson addressed the students at an afternoon assembly period. Mr. Foster told the future citizens of London that it was believed their constructive thought would have much value to the eight hundred or more men and women who will compose the new board of trade, and therefore they were asked to make written answers to these four questions:

1. What business, profession or trade do you hope to pursue as a life work?
2. Do you expect to remain in London? If not, why not?
3. What do you think the board of trade should undertake first for the improvement of the city of London?
4. What, in your opinion, is the thing of greatest importance that the board of trade should undertake first which would be of advantage to you in preparing for your life work?

The asking of these questions will serve a double purpose. It will set the boys and girls of today to thinking about the future of their own city, and it will disclose the reasons why such of them as do not intend to remain here after graduation have reached this decision.

SOLDIERS COMPLAIN OF POOR TREATMENT ON HOMEWARD TRIP

Poor Meals and Accommodation Are Alleged.

"We were used far better going over on the boat than we were coming back," stated a returned soldier who got home this morning.

Many other returned men who reached the city today made the same complaint. According to statements made by them the meals and accommodations were very poor on the boats. Other men also stated that the Red Cross scarfs and mits were not issued until the last day of their voyage. These comforts would have been of more use if they had been issued when the men were leaving England.

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

PARTY OF 175 MEN HOME FROM FRONT; SEVERAL LONDONERS

Many Suffered Their Wounds at Passchendaele.

A party of 175 returned soldiers belonging to this district arrived in this city at 7:45 o'clock this morning. These men were expected to arrive between 2 and 3 o'clock, but the train was delayed at Toronto for a considerable time.

Many of the men who arrived home this morning were former members of the 142nd (London's Own) Battalion, and some of the 91st St. Thomas Battalion men were in the party.

The men were taken from the Grand Trunk depot to Princess Avenue Barracks, where breakfast was awaiting them. Rev. H. B. Ashby, on behalf of the Anglican Church, R. P. Liddle of the Y. M. C. A., Edward H. Lance of the soldiers' aid commission, and J. W. Cunliffe of the Great War Veterans' Association addressed the men at the barracks. Ald. Frank Harley welcomed them to the city.

Some of London's Own.

Among those who arrived was Pte. A. E. Gardiner of St. James Park, city. He enlisted in this city with the 142nd Battalion, and went overseas with that unit. He was later transferred to the 14th Canadian Battalion, with which he served in France. He was wounded at Passchendaele last February. He was sent back to England in March and has been in hospitals in England until recently.

Pte. C. Millward of 66 Weston street, city, who was also a former member of "London's Own" Battalion, arrived this morning. He went to France with the 14th Canadian Battalion, and was sent back to England suffering from trench fever.

Two Gassed.

Pte. G. W. Camp of Detroit, who was gassed at Passchendaele, enlisted with the Royal Canadian Dragoons, and went overseas with that unit.

Pte. M. Dutchfield of Kingsville was gassed at Passchendaele. He enlisted with the Canadian Engineers at St. Thomas in 1916.

Pte. R. W. Patterson of Mount Forest was wounded, shell shocked and blown up at Passchendaele. It was three months before he was able to speak. He was in a number of hospitals in France and England. He enlisted with the 153rd (Wellington) Battalion, and went overseas with the Vancouver Highlanders.

Pte. M. Field of St. Thomas was wounded at Passchendaele. He enlisted in St. Thomas with the 91st Battalion, and was transferred to the 18th Battalion.

Pte. Cottrell of Galt was wounded at Arras. He enlisted with the 111th Battalion, and was transferred to the 18th Battalion.

Citizens with automobiles turned out in good numbers to meet the men at the station, and to take them to Princess Avenue Barracks.

The cars were supplied by the following: George Gibson, P. R. Pearce, A. H. Keene, Ald. Frank Harley, Samp Campbell, A. E. Silverwood, police department, A. A. Langford, J. J. Foot, W. H. Abbott, Gordon Philip, J. B. Finnegan, W. R. Yendall, Rev. H. B. Ashby, Reliance Garage, Christian Science war relief, S. Armstrong, Charles Alford, and the Universal Garage.

ANGLICAN CHURCH SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL WANTS FOOD FOR THE ESKIMOS

The Bishop of Huron, chairman of the Council for Social Service of the Church of England in Canada, and Rev. Dr. Tucker are going to Toronto tomorrow to attend a meeting of the council to deal with business referred from the General Synod of the church, which met in Toronto in September.

The chief questions before the conference, it is stated, will be in regard to "the starving Eskimo," and the returned men. Concerning the former, an urgent appeal was made to the General Synod, by a missionary, Rev. Mr. Walton, on behalf of the Eskimos of the Whale River district, on the east shore of the Hudson Bay, who are in danger of starvation when the hunt or fisheries fail. The inhabitants of this desolate region are dependent upon the caribou hunts or on the haul in fishing for their sustenance. Mr. Walton has already appealed to the Quebec Government and to the Government at Ottawa to take measures to insure the getting of food supplies into that country to prevent the many deaths, and, indeed, crimes, due to starvation. The fact that the Church of England missions are established through that district is responsible for the matter being taken up by the council for social service of the church. One proposal made for the relieving of the situation permanently is to endeavor to interest the Government in raising herds of caribou there. The success of the American Government in raising caribou in the Yukon will be taken into consideration, and also the results of Dr. Grenfell's experiment in this direction in Labrador. It is expected that a considerable amount of data will be placed before the council on this matter as a guide in deliberations.

LOVE OF CHILDREN ONE ESSENTIAL OF TEACHERS' SUCCESS

So Says Rev. James MacKay Addressing Institute.

MAY FORM FEDERATION

Women To Consider Idea of Entering This Newer Association.

The annual meeting of the East Middlesex Teachers' Institute opened today in the county council chambers. In the absence of Miss Vera Rossiter, president of the Teachers' Institute, C. E. Johnson of Denfield acted as president. The meeting was opened by Rev. James MacKay, who spoke on the duty of the teacher towards the children, and said that for absolute success in the teaching profession, the teacher should love children and be able to sympathize with them. "The country teacher may not feel that with only a small class, she is able to accomplish much, but that little class of children in the country school is every bit as important as the large class in the city school. Some of the greatest statesmen were educated in the little country schools," said Mr. MacKay. He also urged the teaching of patriotism in the schools. Mr. MacKay spoke in the absence of Rev. D. C. MacGregor, who was to have addressed the institute.

In reading communications, Miss Fanny Cleveland, secretary of the Institute, brought before the teachers a letter from the Federation of Women Teachers' Association, which was formed last Easter. The interests of the association, it was said, are not antagonistic to those of the men teachers. The successes of the association would benefit them, too. In the letter it stated that there were 10,000 women teachers in Ontario, enough if all stood together, to make their influence a mighty force. The minister of education has extended his good wishes to the association. The object of the association is the promotion of the professional and financial status of the women teachers. It has been arranged by the teachers of East Middlesex Institute to hold a meeting on Friday to discuss this federation, and the hopes of forming a branch here.

The afternoon meeting is being held in the Normal School, a feature of which will be Inspector P. J. Thompson's address.

HAD LOTS OF TICKETS, BUT SELECTION DID NOT PLEASE THE CONDUCTOR

Little Boy Enjoyed Only Short Ride Away From Home.

So small was he that he had to climb up the car steps on his hands and knees, but the little lad who lives on Maitland street north with his mother and sisters while his daddy is overseas helping to lick the Huns, decided that he wanted to travel. He followed a lady into the car this morning, and when the conductor was going to put him off, thinking that he had run away from his mother, the kiddie held up his hand, which contained a number of tickets and a copper. This had the desired effect, and he was permitted to remain on the car, for no conductor would lose a chance of adding to the dividends of his company.

Giving one of the tickets from among the bunch to the conductor, the lad followed the lady into the car and took a seat beside her. So far there had been no hitch in the game, and he was resting quite contented as the Normal proceeded west on Central avenue. On examining the ticket, however, the conductor discovered that it was a relic that the kiddie had saved from one of his trips to Port Stanley, and that it was good for one ride on the incline railway there.

An examination of the rest of the tickets in the lad's hand revealed the fact that he contemplated a visit to several shows downtown, after which he probably intended visiting Winnipeg, for he had a couple of street railway tickets from that city. This convinced the man in uniform that the young traveler had started away without bidding his mother farewell, and he was accordingly transferred to the eastbound car at the switch on Central avenue. The conductor on the latter car, thinking that someone was putting up a joke on him, demurred for a time, but finally decided to carry the boy as far as Maitland street. The youngster took everything in good part and thoroughly enjoyed his little trip.

PHYSICIAN'S PLAN TO CURE INFLUENZA

Strongly Advises Immediate Use of Vaccine.

[BY A PHYSICIAN.]

It possibly might be of interest to practitioners, and indirectly to sufferers, to briefly outline a plan of treatment for Spanish influenza that has been extremely successful. Before doing so, some of the more pronounced symptoms, very much resembling the old la grippe, might be casually referred to. It usually starts with symptoms of a cold, limbs aching, slight discharge from the nostrils, pain in the head, fever and rapid pulse. Headache and fever are two prominent distinctive features. Pain, limited to the frontal portion of the head, is, in many cases, a distressing symptom, requiring prompt attention. The temperature in many of these cases is very high, 105 degrees not being unusual. This can be attributed not only to the influenza bacillus, the supposed real causative factor of the disease, but to a condition of the bowels that has been mistaken for typhoid by some superficial observers. To outline a treatment suitable for all cases is necessarily difficult; but one meeting the prominent symptoms, and to prevent complications, will be sufficient. Vaccine should be the main reliance of every physician who desires to treat the disease in a successful and scientific way. It quickly reduces the fever, prevents complications, which are the great bugbear of the disease.

There are many reliable vaccines, but the one upon which this article is based is known as Sherman's, No. 38. As soon as possible after the appearance of the disease, 5 minims of this vaccine should be given hypodermically. Daily doses, gradually increased, if necessarily, to 16 minims, until the temperature becomes normal, then at intervals of three or four days until convalescence is complete. If lung complications ensue, one mil., at daily intervals; bad cases, twice daily, until temperature subsides, then every three or four day intervals. Headache is quickly relieved by dilute hydrobromic acid in 10 to 20 minims doses, according to age of the patient, every hour for several doses, then at three-hour intervals until the pain subsides. To relieve the bowels of their decomposing contents, small doses of calomel and soda, frequently repeated, followed by Epsom salts or castor oil, should not be neglected. This treatment should be repeated every 24 or 48 hours until the bowels become normal. Accompany this by 5-grain doses or more of sulpho-carbolate of zinc compound and bismuth every three hours. This assists in curing this unpleasant condition.

One note of warning: Do not under any circumstances use quinine. Cough remedies can be left to the good judgment of the physician.

BOARD OF TRADE MEMBERSHIP FIXED AT $25 PURPOSELY

This Believed To Be Minimum For Requirements.

REASONS ARE EXPLAINED

Expenses High If Efficient Work Is To Be Done By Organization.

"Building a board of trade for London of 800 or more members, without at the same time providing an income adequate to the needs of the enlarged organization would be largely a waste of effort," according to one of the supporters of the campaign, who yesterday told an Advertiser representative how the new board will be financed.

He said that the income of the board will depend directly upon the confidence reposed in it by the community, because that income will arise from memberships. "The payment of dues is the acid test by which it can be determined whether the organization is trusted or not," he said.

"The income plan under which the board is being expanded is a uniform membership pledge of $25 dues a year for three years. The reasons for adopting this scale and the period named are entirely sound. They are founded on actual experience, not in one city, but in scores of them.

The Minimum.

"Membership dues of $25 a year will provide the least amount the board should have to insure efficiency, to be really the big, capable civic-commercial organization a city like London should have, and I am convinced will have.

"Some men will ask: 'What are you going to do with all this money?' They will overlook the fact that the executive committee, which includes some of the shrewdest business and professional men in London, have examined the plans of the reorganization with as much care as they would give to their own business affairs, and have agreed that $25 a year is the least sum required from each member.

"A very large percentage of the commercial organizations of Canada (85 per cent of those of the United States) have membership dues of $25 a year. The number of such organizations is steadily growing, thus proving that more and more of them are finding the truth of what the board of trade specialist learned five years ago. The Rotary Clubs started with membership dues of $5. Today most of them have raised their dues, and they are all drifting toward $25.

"The lowest actual cost of maintaining a board of trade that is worthy of the name is from $15 to $19 a year per member. This fact has been well established. The minute a board of trade becomes a real live organization its necessary expenses begin to climb from these figures.

Expenses.

"The modern board of trade must maintain suitable quarters; that means rent to pay. It must have efficient management; this means the employment of a trained and capable secretary. In such a city as London the board of trade should have one or more bureaus to give special service to the members and the citizens; this involves the employment of men of ability. It must have an office system; this means clerical and stenographic assistance. There are other items of expense, every one of them legitimate and necessary, which amount to a considerable sum each year.

"Uniformity of dues needs no argument. The days when the small storekeeper was admitted to the board of trade for $2 or $5 a year, and the big corporation asked to subscribe $200, are past.

"The relations of the small storekeeper and the big corporation have been accurately defined in the modern civic-commercial organization. Each becomes a member with equal obligations and equal rights.

"In place of the disproportionate membership payments of the old days, the modern board of trade says to the big corporation in effect: 'Your larger interests in this community increase your responsibilities for its well-being. You have more at stake than the small storekeeper, and therefore you should support the board of trade in proportion to your investment in this community.'

One Membership, One Vote.

"To make this possible, the plural membership plan has been devised. Under this plan the corporation, firm or individual subscribes to a number of memberships. Should, however, the board cannot permit the plural subscribers to dominate its affairs, it allows each subscriber to have one vote only, the same as the smallest storekeeper in the organization.

"It is the custom for the subscriber to plural memberships to assign them to the younger men in its employ, the assignments being absolute, and carrying with them the power of one vote each. This brings into the board of trade the younger men of business. It interests them in community work early in their careers, and makes certain of the presence of men who will be the leaders in the community in a few years.

"The three-year guarantee is another outgrowth of experience. A board of trade can do much in one year, but a program of work that covers three years is vastly better than a one-year affair. To make it possible, though, the directors must know what the income is going to be. The one-year plan is universally unsatisfactory; the three-year plan has never yet been abandoned where tried."

MRS. W. J. ASHPLANT DIES IN HAMILTON; ILLNESS WAS SHORT

Pneumonia Set In During a Motoring Trip.

The news of the sudden death from pneumonia in Hamilton on Wednesday of Emily G., wife of W. J. Ashplant of this city, has come as a great shock to relatives and a large circle of friends in London.

Three weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Ashplant left with Toronto friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Connor, on a motor trip through the Eastern States to New York. In Buffalo, last Friday, on the return trip, Mrs. Ashplant was not feeling well, but was anxious to go on to Hamilton to the home of her sister, Mrs. Edward Sifton. She drove the car herself as far as Niagara, and it was not until after she reached Hamilton that serious symptoms developed. Pneumonia set in on Saturday, and from that time, little hope was entertained for her recovery. She passed away at noon on Wednesday.

Mr. Ashplant and his brother, Frank S., brought the remains to the city last night.

Mrs. W. J. Ashplant was the second daughter of George Kelly and the late Mrs. Kelly of this city. She is survived by her husband, father, and only sister, Mrs. E. Sifton of Hamilton.

Keenly interested in patriotic work, Mrs. Ashplant was one of the most active workers in the Hugh Niven Chapter, I. O. D. E., in which she will be especially missed. She was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Sifton was unable to come to London last evening with her brother-in-law, owing to the fact that her husband, who is the hydro-electric manager in Hamilton, is seriously ill with Spanish influenza.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, from her late residence, 627 Wellington street, to Woodland Cemetery. Rev. Dr. Peever, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. S. J. Allin of Ilderton, uncle of Mrs. Ashplant, will officiate.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A REAL NEED OF "SAFETY FIRST."

For many months past the slogan of Western Ontario has been a merciless campaign of the 'Safety First" idea—a campaign worthy of the highest commendation.

In London alone one has but to enter a street car to realize the forcibility of it, the thorough earnestness of its creators. Placards bearing poetical metre drive home to one the folly of allowing one's child to choose the street as a day nursery in preference to the sidewalk. One leaves the car feeling that the Ontario Safety League is the acme of sensibility; oneself the essence of the idiotic, for as much as even allowing the many dangers of a city to triumph over one when they can so easily be avoided.

But cannot London practice what she permits to be preached? Today, with the ravages of Spanish influenza, we are coping with a danger infinitely more likely, infinitely more disastrous, than the unheeded honk of a motor klaxon, and up to the moment we shrug our shoulders at it. Our powers of perspective run wild in vision, or, metaphorically speaking, instead of restricting ourselves to the sidewalks, we allow ourselves to be run over, and then trust to the knowledge of others to save us. We're but a second "Kingdom of the Blind."

The hour for prevention is before, not after; the latter is the hour for regret.

As yet we may not be stricken as are other cities, but let us profit by their experiences.

If Montreal finds preventative measures in the closing of her schools, her theatres, her churches, her universities, and, in fact, every spot of public assembly, why not London?

Our surrounding cities are falling into the call of wisdom.

Do we embrace the Mohammedan doctrine, and fancy that only he who incurs the wrath of Allah should suffer?

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S SMOKES HIT FRANCE AT RIGHT MOMENT

Boys Had Not Had Smoke For a Week.

That smokes are appreciated by the boys overseas is evidenced by the host of cards which School Inspector C. B. Edwards has received thanking the school children for the generous supply of cigarettes that was sent by the money they raised last spring for this purpose.

Some of the messages are interesting. Pte. F. W. Stokes says: "Nothing more welcome to the boys than good smokes and plenty of them."

Pte. W. Short: "Thank you very much. They are very acceptable. We had just come out of action and were stuck for a smoke."

Sergt. J. Latimer: "We got them coming out of action, and we needed them very badly."

Gunner T. H. Pedlow: "It would do your heart good if you could realize how the boys enjoy them."

Pte. J. C. Gillen: "We were in a pretty bad way for a smoke. The first smoke I had in a week was your cigarettes. There is a great scarcity."

"THE HUN WITHIN" HAS THE GRIFFITHS MARK

Remarkable Picture Will Be Shown for First Three Days Next Week.

The first of the Paramount-Artcraft productions with which the name of D. W. Griffith is connected is "The Hun Within," to be shown at the Majestic Theatre the first three days of next week. This is said to be an extra ordinary picture, and it has been said that it bears the indelible print of Griffith's craftmanship. It is very highly praised by the New York Times, which says few pictures have thrilled and stirred to spontaneous applause a New York audience as this picture did. Dorothy Gish as the heroine conquers new worlds of motion picture spectators.

The week will be a big Majestic week, with a special show arranged for Thanksgiving Day.

LT.-COL K. C. FOLGER IS QUARTERMASTER-GEN.

Among the Canadian officers gazetted from London, England, appears the name of Lieut.-Col. K. C. Folger, ordinance, who has been gazetted quartermaster-general. Gen. Folger was well known in this city, where for a number of years previous to the war he was connected with the ordnance department. He left London over two years ago as captain, and on reaching England was made major. He has since been promoted through the various ranks until about two months ago he was made deputy quartermaster-general.

Gen. Folger served in France for 15 months, but was later sent to England, where he is now in charge of the Imperial Museum of War Trophies, London.

LODGES PROTEST

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The Dominion Government has lodged a formal protest against the action of the international joint waterways in granting permission to the St. Lawrence Power Company and the Aluminum Company of America to place a dam in the south channel of the river. The Government contends that the action of the commission is in direct violation of the Ashburton treaty, which provided for the unimpeded navigation of the St. Lawrence River. It is held that international commission had no jurisdiction to deal with the matter even temporarily and that any action should have been taken jointly by the two governments if taken at all.

The permission granted at the end of the war or of five years whichever term is the longest. The application was based on war necessities in the matter of the manufacture of aluminum.

AMERICAN STEAMER IS TORPEDOED BY ENEMY SUBMARINE

Ticonderoga, a Former German Vessel, Is Sunk.

An Atlantic Port, Oct. 10.—News of the sinking by a submarine of a large American steamship, with the probable loss of many of her crew, was brought here today by a British freighter. The British ship had aboard 20 survivors of the American vessel.

The American steamship, said to have carried a large crew, was shelled and then torpedoed, according to officers of the rescue ship. The attack was made five days ago.

It was reported in maritime circles that the U-boat's victim was the Ticonderoga, formerly the German steamer Camilla Rickmers of 5,130 gross tons.

The ship was interned at Manila at the beginning of the war.

REGARDS WILSON'S REPLY MERELY AS A PRELIMINARY

Daily Chronicle States That More Conditions Must Be Added.

London, Oct. 10.—While expressing belief that general satisfaction is felt through the Allied countries with President Wilson's note in response to the German peace offer, the Daily Chronicle remarks that the note was not intended to be a full and complete statement, either of the armistice terms or the peace terms.

"It is not a reply, but a preliminary to it," the newspaper says. "If the preliminary attains the object, a full statement doubtless will be made after consultation with the Allies, and will naturally embody much more than the fourteen points, which, in some respects, are out of date."

WILL REVEAL HUN MIND.

Paris, Oct. 10.—Rene Viviani, former premier, writing on President Wilson's reply to Prince Maximilian in the Petit Journal, says:

"The reply was well-timed. Had it come too soon it would have permitted the Germans to say that it was not born of wise meditation. Had it been sent too late it might have given them the impression that the Entente nations were divided."

After analyzing the note he concludes: "If the Germans' designs are honest we shall see it. If they wish to deceive the world—still a prey to that mental blemish which makes them consider other men as inferiors—we shall also see it. It is for Prince Maximilian of Baden to speak."

DINING CAR PRICES MAY BE REGULATED BY THE GOVERNMENT

Question of Standard Charges Is Now Under Consideration.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The question of regulating prices charged on railway dining cars and buffets is said to be under consideration here. A recent order-in-council empowers municipalities to inquire into restaurants and hotel costs by the appointment of a commission of two with powers equal to those granted under inquiries act. Such inquiries may be instituted into the cost, in fact, of any commodity. But it would not appear that the municipality has any power to inquire into prices charged on railway trains, which at present are very high. In the United States, Railway Controller McAdoo has fixed one dollar as the maximum to be charged for meals on trains. In Canada the food board has restricted the menu, but not the price. It is believed here that the Dominion railway commission has the power to fix, or regulate the price charged on dining cars.

SCHOOL ROOF LEAKS.—The roof of the new Alexandra School leaks in a number of places. It will have to be recoated at a cost of $100. The P. Carey Company will do the work.

NO ENTHUSIASM FOR PROHIBITION LET-UP SHOWN BY DOCTORS

Local Men Do Not Think It Necessary.

OTHERS OPPOSE MEASURE

Temperance Workers Call It Just Liquor Men's Propaganda.

Pressure is being brought to bear upon the Ottawa Government, according to a special dispatch to The Advertiser, to have prohibition regulations suspended in view of the present Spanish influenza epidemic, in order to cope more effectively with the situation.

Asked their opinion on this matter today, local medical men, temperance workers and others expressed themselves as follows:

A. J. Slack, acting director of the Institute of Public Health, gives his personal opinion as follows:

"I can see no reason why existing regulations concerning the sale of alcohol require to be changed in this present situation arising from the Spanish influenza epidemic. If liquor is required as a treatment of any of these cases, it should be used under instructions of a reliable physician. I also think that if alcohol were taken as it would be were the restrictions lifted, it would probably do more harm than good. With alcohol it requires a certain concentration to obtain the best effects as an antiseptic or germicide. There are many other cheaper and more efficacious antiseptics which are without harmful effects, and alcohol has the disadvantage that it is intoxicating."

Hard to Distinguish.

"I may say, that during this epidemic, the institute of public health has examined swabs from fifty or sixty influenza cases in which we were unable to demonstrate the influenza bacillus by smears or cultures in any case. No doubt the Spanish influenza is here, but it is probably so nearly like the ordinary grippe in its symptoms, it is difficult to distinguish it. In any case, it is not the influenza itself, but the complications that cause alarm.

"So far as that reference in your dispatch to the letting down of regulations in United States military camps is concerned, I think it must be just rumor. I have a copy of the most recent instructions sent out by Rupert Blue, surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service, and no mention is made in them of the use of alcohol. The statement is made that the treatment must be symptomatic, in other words, each physician must treat each new symptom as it develops."

Other Germicides as Good.

Dr. Downham, acting medical officer of health, says: "The one sure way to prevent an attack of Spanish influenza is to stay away from it, avoid coming in contact with people who are suffering from it. Any of the germicides quoted as recommended by doctors in The Advertiser already are just as effective preventatives of an attack of Spanish influenza as alcohol. Listerine, lemon, peroxide or the prepared gargles are all effective germicides. Another precaution emphasized is to keep the hands clean and always to wash the hands before eating or touching food."

Has Place in Pneumonia.

"The use of alcohol as a preventative in this present epidemic won't help a man if he puts his dirty hands up to his mouth," declared one of the prominent physicians, who by no means holds the view that alcoholic liquor is an unmixed evil. "It's place," he says, "so far as my view is concerned, comes in in the treatment of the secondary infection, pneumonia."

Not Required.

Another of London's outstanding medical men who has had a large number of cases of Spanish influenza commented: "A booze artist's suggestion! As a matter of fact, alcohol rather favors infection than prevents it. So far as the treatment of pneumonia is concerned, the complication developing from this epidemic of influenza, there are several other things known to science which are much more effective, and which leave no ill effects. Measures to let down prohibition regulations for treatment for pneumonia developing from Spanish influenza are no more required than for pneumonia at any other time.

Agrees If Necessary.

Rev. Dr. Tucker, president of the Social Service Council of London, says: "I cannot speak for the council, as I haven't consulted the members either of the executive or the council. Personally I would agree to a temporary relaxing of regulations in order to fight this epidemic, on two conditions, first, if it is impossible to cope with the situation without putting down the barriers to a certain extent, and, second, if responsible members of the medical profession advise the Government that this is absolutely essential. But I wouldn't for a moment countenance relaxing in order to let any old toper get liquor if he wanted it, whether the doctors prescribed it or not. Any step in this direction should be safeguarded in every possible way, and it should be distinctly understood that it was only to meet a situation on reliable medical advice, impossible to cope with otherwise."

Just Propaganda.

Mrs. H. Ashplant, president of the local Women's Christian Temperance Union declares as her opinion that the Ottawa dispatch which appeared in this morning's Advertiser, re pressure being brought to bear upon the Government to permit a relaxation of the prohibition regulations as a result of the Spanish influenza epidemic, is nothing more or less than liquor interests propaganda. "I have no hesitation in saying it," said Mrs. Ashplant, "and that it looks like efforts to use the Spanish influenza epidemic as an excuse to insert the thin edge of the wedge to make a wider opening for the liquor interests."

Will Take Action.

"Surely the temperance organizations and the Social Service Council will take action in this matter of pressure being brought to bear upon the Government to let down the prohibition regulations," said Mrs. May R. Thornley. "It is patent liquor propaganda, in view of the statements of the most eminent medical scientists of the day in the subject of the remedial value of alcohol. Dr. Mayo, who was formerly president of the American Medical Association, one of the famous Mayo brothers of Rochester, came out emphatically against the use of alcohol in medical practice in his presidential address before the association. He declared that as a remedial agent its day was over. It is a widely known fact that the man who is addicted to the use of liquor hasn't half the chance of the man who does not use it in case of an attack of pneumonia, the complication which is so much feared in this epidemic. The thing that reduces a man's chances of recover from pneumonia isn't going to strengthen his chances for escaping it."

ASKS CO-OPERATION OF CITY TO GET FIVE CENT STREET CAR FARES

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Following a meeting of the Toronto street railway directors, Manager Fleming forwarded to the mayor today a request that the city co-operate with the company in an application to the Ontario railway board for power to charge a straight 5-cent fare as a means of securing better service.

He was once wounded, but returned to action.

Corp. Johnston, whose other two brothers and father have returned from overseas service, leaves a wife and child at Port Arthur.

DAYLIGHT-SAVING PASSING TO BRING ACUTE SITUATION

Present Power Shortage Will Be Seriously Aggravated.

NEW SUPPLY DELAYED

Hydro Commission Unable To Deliver Additional Energy As Yet.

London's households and industries have suffered more or less during the past year from a power shortage, but the outlook is that in a short time they will suffer a much greater inconvenience.

Daylight saving passes on October 27. The clocks go back an hour. Darkness will approach one hour earlier by the clock. This will mean that from shortly after 5 o'clock to 6:30, industries, commercial users and households will be using power at the same time. It will bring the peak load an hour earlier. At the present time there is not nearly enough power to go around, and with the addition of some thousands of domestic users tapping the available supply it will mean that the shortage will be much greater than at present.

Cannot Keep Promise.

The hydro commission will be unable to make good its promise to have ready 30,000 additional horsepower by October 15. This might have helped the situation if the power controller allowed it to be used for the benefit of the already curtailed municipalities. It is not known when this new supply will be ready.

Manager E. V. Buchanan says that London will have to make the best of the present available supply. He has no doubt but what the situation will be acute. He wants householders to cut down the number of lights burning after 6:30 o'clock to the minimum. In doing this they will assist materially. As a warning to the householder to do this a series of signals by flashes is being devised.

Criticism is heard that the utilities office was brilliantly lighted Saturday and Sunday night. Manager Buchanan says that at these times there is plenty of power for all, as the large factories are for the most part shut down.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 10.—Wall Street, 1:30 p.m.—Industrials encountered fresh pressure in the early afternoon, but United States Steel made another sharp rebound. Oils and shippings meanwhile added to their gains of the morning at extreme advances of 2 to 5½ points. Mexican Petroleum led the movement.

WOUNDED BY GUNSHOT

Advertiser Illustrations

Pte. William David Robinson is reported suffering from gunshot wounds. He is a popular young Londoner and son of Joseph Robinson of 44 Victor street. Prior to enlisting with the A. S. C. he worked for the Moore Fruit Company. When he reached England he gave up the service corps for the more hazardous machine gun section, and had been serving with that branch of the army for some time before he was wounded. His parents have just been notified that he fell a victim to a German bullet and is now at Orpington Hospital in England.

SUMMARY CONVICTIONS IN POLICE COURT FOR YEAR NUMBER 1,351

For Indictable Offences There Were 198 Trials During Period.

There were 1,351 summary convictions in the local police court during the year, which ended September 30, according to the annual report which Clerk John Moule has recently forwarded to the Dominion Government. These convictions were for breaches of the Ontario temperance act, of the military service act, of the city bylaws, and for vagrancy and the keeping of disorderly houses. For indictable offences embracing theft, burglary, bigamy, etc., there were 198 trials. These figures show a slight increase over those of the report of one year ago. In the summary convictions there is an increase of 75, while the excess of indictable offences is 97.

This report involves a great deal of clerical work on the part of Clerk John Moule, and his assistant, Miss G. Gower. Officials of the court say that the records in the police court are kept in a creditable manner, and that the clerk and his assistant are careful and painstaking.

ABOUT 75 LOCAL MEN ARE READY TO GO ON STRIKE

MONDAY IS DATE FIXED

Dominion Express Company Will Not Be Affected by the Order.

It is expected that about 75 local men will be affected by the strike of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, which has been called for next Monday afternoon. All the express companies of the city, with the exception of those of the Dominion Express, will go on strike it is said. The employees of the latter company have a separate organization, and it is not affiliated with any of the other trades unions.

It was reported the drivers of the Canadian Express Company at Toronto would not join the strike, but the employees here say that the Toronto men will certainly go out with the rest. Besides the clerks, drivers, porters, messengers and other employees of the express companies, all railroad employees not connected with any other railroad union are included in the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees.

About 24,000 men will be affected in Canada at the outset, but it is not known definitely how many will eventually be included. The men are after better working conditions they say. A meeting between the representatives of the companies and the union was to have been held recently, and it is said that the companies, while they at first agreed to this conference, refused to have anything to do with the union representatives. The strike order is the result, the men say. An organizer of the union is at present in the city in the interests of the men and, according to indications, the men will all quit work next Monday.

The Strength of the Dominion Is in Well-Organized Communities

ORGANIZE LONDON!

LONDON A CITY OF OPPORTUNITY

London is a city of Opportunity.

With the ending of the war there is coming to this city an Opportunity such as is offered to few cities.

How will London treat it? The question demands an answer today. Tomorrow—next year—will be too late.

Prospective members of the board of trade have already been told that "London must take thought today of the homecoming of the men from overseas service."

The thought behind this urgent message was the patriotic duty of having a prominent part in the Dominion's program for industrial reconstruction after the war.

This is important. It was emphasized by Lord Shaughnessy when he said: "Peace, although not yet in sight, is a boon entailing responsibilities for which it is imperative that we make preparation. The opportunity is at hand in the possibilities of reconstruction."

But there is another phase of this matter, one which must make a direct appeal to every citizen of London.

It is a straight business proposition.

About one-eighth of the Canadians in overseas service were mobilized at London. These men will be returned to London at the close of the war for demobilization. It has been stated by some authorities that demobilization can be completed in ten months.

In other words, within a year after the end of the war, about fifty thousand men will come to London to take up the important task of re-establishing themselves in the agricultural, commercial and industrial life of the Dominion.

Now, think for a minute of what an Opportunity this offers to London.

Fifty thousand men just entering upon the most productive periods of their lives, are going to give London the first Opportunity to offer them permanent homes.

Not all of these men today claim London as home. But they were mobilized here; those who do not actually live here made the acquaintance of the city while waiting to be sent to France; they have a kindly regard for the city because of its hospitalities, and they are coming back here with that cordial feeling still in their memories.

A great percentage of these men will be asking every day while here awaiting formal discharge from the service: "What of my future? What shall I do, where shall I locate, what place offers me the best opportunities?"

Remember this: Many of these men will have been away from London and Western Ontario for years. All of them will have an enlarged vision of life. Every man among them will be of that age which seeks a permanent home and a settled occupation. Former trades and callings will be largely forgotten or brushed aside because of the wider outlook these men will have gained.

In five years after the close of the war practically all of these men will be the heads of families.

Is not the obvious thing for London to say to these men:

"Here is your city of Opportunity. Right here in London we have been thinking of you while you were in the trenches and on the battlefronts of Europe.

"We could not all go to the front, and so those of us who remained at home have built here a city of such wide opportunity, industrially and commercially, that you need not seek other places.

"In addition to foreseeing your needs industrially and commercially, we have built up a spirit of co-operation and enterprise among all our citizens which makes the city better and nobler in every respect.

This is not a dream. It is the vision of a practical result of taking thought today.

The means of translating this vision into a reality is the London Board of Trade.

BELIEVING STRONGLY that the time is at hand when London should have such a civic-commercial organization as will enable her to serve the needs of the Dominion in this time of crisis, as well as a city-wide body of maximum numerical and financial strength to advance the civic, commercial, industrial and agricultural welfare of this community and this section:

The London Board of Trade has undertaken an expansion and reorganization movement to give the city a civic-industrial organization second to none in cities of its class. In short, the London Board of Trade is to be revitalized and built up in both membership and income, to enable it to take leadership in a broader field of activities, heretofore impossible because of its limited numbers and resources.

Under this plan membership dues will be $25 per year, pledged for three years. Payments may be made quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

At the close of the membership campaign, October 15 to 18, an election will be held to select the directors of the enlarged organization. The choice of officers will follow immediately. In this election the directors will be nominated and chosen by popular vote of the entire membership, every member having an equal voice in both nomination and election under a primary system. New bylaws will also be adopted at once.

Coincident with this reorganization, there will be built up from the written suggestions of all the members a definite program of work. A thoroughly modern system of committee operation and control will be installed and in all other ways the new Board of Trade will be conducted along the most approved lines of action and progress.

London is your home as it is ours. Jointly we can make the Board of Trade an incalculable power in the city's upbuilding as well as in the local war work that must be faced.

London's prosperity can be advanced and made permanent, her loyalty further proved, and she can be placed in the forefront of Canadian cities---modern in attainments and community thought---an ideal city.

We want you to join hands with us in this movement for a better and nobler London.

INFLUENZA NOW LOSING ITS GRIP, STATES M. O. H.

Epidemic Slackening Off as Far as Dr. Downham Can Tell.

UNIVERSITY STAFF HIT

Biology Classes Cancelled, as Professors Are Reported Ill.

Spanish influenza cases reported in London during the past three days total as follows:

Tuesday 65
Wednesday 35
Thursday 34

"My opinion is that the epidemic is slackening off," was the statement made by Dr. W. S. Downham, London's medical officer of health, today, in speaking of the Spanish influenza cases in the city. "That is as near as I can tell," he said.

The work of the Medical School and Western University is being hampered by the disease.

Professor Robertson and his family, also his assistant in teaching biology, are reported victims, with the result that the medical and art classes had their freedom today instead of biology lectures. Registrar Dr. K. P. E. Neville is also ill. Six first-year medical students are victims.

"Have you met anyone who would honestly declare they had not discovered at some time or another that they were suffering from one of the symptoms of the 'Flu'?" a reporter was asked today.

This seems to be the case. In fact, it might almost be said that everyone is worrying more over the "flu" than over beating the kaiser.

The Toronto Telegram is responsible for presenting to the public a list of a quartet of gifts which the world owes to Spain. These are outlined as follows:

1. Spanish Inquisition.
2. Spanish Armada.
3. Spanish Onions.
4. Spanish Influenza.

POLICE STATION WILL NOT SUPPLY ANY COAL

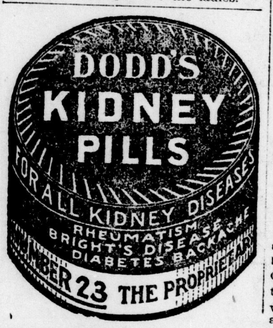

But Ready to Make It Hot For Anyone.

"Hello, when are you going to be able to send up that coal you promised to have in my cellar by September 30," came over the phone at the police station this morning, as one of the men answered a call. "This is not a coal yard, it is the police station," replied the man of law and order. The receiver at the other end was hastily replaced and quietness reigned again.

One minute later the little bell tinkled again, and in answer to its summons the detective took off the receiver and waited patiently for news of a great robbery or something else of a similarly startling nature, but he was surprised to hear an inquiry as to the price of coal. "I am afraid that you have called the wrong place, for we have no coal to spare. This is the police station."

An investigation disclosed the fact that the number of the telephone at the coal yard is 384, while that at the police station is 84, and it was simply a matter of leaving off one number on the part of someone.

MEETING FOR WOMEN.—A meeting of representative women of London in the parlor of the Tecumseh House has been called for 4 o'clock this afternoon by Mrs. John Stevely for the purpose of getting the women to cooperate with the men in the board of trade expansion campaign. Mr. Foster, who is conducting the campaign, will be present and speak to the ladies.

HAS LONDON RIGHT TO CHARGE BELL CO. FOR USE OF STREETS?

Dominion Railway Board Will Be Asked To Decide.

Word from Ottawa is to the effect that the city of London may have started something that will be taken up eagerly by dozens of municipalities in the Dominion. It deals with the Bell Telephone Company.

There is a deep agitation and a growing feeling just at the present in regard to the Bell Company paying the different municipalities for the use of the streets. In some places the company pays; in others it does not. It is said that the company contends that it does not have to pay the cities, on the ground that its charter, a Dominion one, absolves it from such a tax.

London questions the correctness of this statement. Ald. H. B. Ashplant has fathered the city's fight in the matter, and it would seem that the latest move he has made may bring the matter to a head.

The Bell Company wishes to make quite an extension of its lines. It applied for permission from the city. The permission was granted on conditions suggested by Ald. Ashplant, that the company pay for the right.

It is understood from Ottawa that the Bell Telephone Company is taking this up, and will ask the Dominion railway board to set a date to deal with the matter.

ACADEMY OF MEDICINE HERE REORGANIZED NOW, DR. HOLMES PRESIDENT

Next Clinic To Be Held Early in December.

Following the resignation of the president, Dr. Norman H. Beal, owing to the fact that he was leaving the city for a time, the Academy of Medicine of Western Ontario, organized here at the beginning of the summer, has reorganized, and arrangements are being made for a fine program of clinics, to extent at intervals over the year. Dr. L. Seale Holmes is the new president, and Capt. D. A. Craig the secretary. Dr. Chipman of Montreal, a distinguished specialist, will conduct the next clinic the first week in November. All local practicing physicians are eligible for active membership in the Academy, and outside physicians for associate membership, the aim of the organization being to raise the standard of the medical profession in Western Ontario and keep the members in touch with the very latest developments and methods in the realm of medical science. For this reason, the men brought in to conduct the clinics will be men of prominence, the finest specialists obtainable in the different lines of medical and surgical specialization. The first clinic, which attracted numbers of medical men from all parts of Western Ontario, was conducted by Professor McCrae of Philadelphia, brother of the late Col. John McCrae, author of "In Flanders Field."

HAS LIQUOR DEALER RIGHT TO REFUSE TO FILL PRESCRIPTIONS?

E. B. Smith Says He Has the Power.

Some feeling has been caused in the city because certain men, some of them soldiers, who have presented prescriptions for liquor to the local dealer, E. B. Smith, signed by army medical officers, have been refused the drinkable specified.

Asked as to his reasons for this Mr. Smith declared that he had no orders from Brig-Gen. L. W. Shannon to refuse the prescriptions of army medical men, nor had he heard anything about such discrimination. He added, however, that he held the right, and did exercise it sometimes, to refuse to fill any prescription if he did not think the man for whom it was ordered needed the liquor or if he believed it would hurt the man or his family to sell him the bottle requested. As he understands it, he has legal authority for taking this stand.

I. O. O. F. MEMBERS TO HELP DEPENDENTS OF THEIR FALLEN FRIENDS

Will Subscribe to Fund for Soldiers' Widows and Orphans.

In the interests of the centennial endowment fund which the I. O. O. F. is planning to raise to provide for the orphans and dependents of members of the order who have "gone west" on the fields of honor, Rev. Bro. Walter Cox of Gananoque, grand master, visited Eureka Lodge, No. 30, recently. A large number of members from the city and surrounding district attended the meetinf. Bro. Cox gave an interesting address, outlining the plan of action and emphasizing the need of the fund. Five thousand members of the order in Canada have enlisted, and of this number 350 have been killed. All the members present assured the speaker that they were heartily in accord with the project and promised their assistance.

LOCAL NEWS

DR. BEAL IMPROVING.—Principal H. B. Beal this afternoon received a wire from the Mayo Hospital at Rochester, Minn., stating that his brother, Dr. Norman A. Beal, is "much improved." Dr. Beal is suffering from pneumonia, which developed from an attack of Spanish influenza.

STOLE AUTO TIRES.—Pleading guilty to the theft of two automobile tires from A. B. Greer & Son, where he was employed, William H. Dowdell of 907 Dame street was this morning remanded for sentence by Magistrate A. H.H M. Graydon. Dowdell has been employed in the paint shop at this place for some time.

MAY JOIN ARMY.—Having pleaded guilty to the theft of a bicycle and having been remanded until today for sentence, a juvenile was handed over to an official of the Children's Aid Society. The lad expressed a wish to join the soldiers, and if he can pass the examination it is likely that he will be allowed to enlist, otherwise, he will be taken under the protection of one of the homes for boys.

DERAILMENT DELAYED SOLDIERS.—On account of the derailment of an engine at Port Credit last evening, about midnight, the returned soldiers who were to have arrived in the city at 2 o'clock this morning, did not reach the city until several hours later. Toronto papers did not reach the city until noon, as they were sent around by Stratford and St. Marys. It is understood that no one was injured, and there was practically no damage done.

GERMANS BLAME DEFEAT TO ALLIED USE OF TANKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The extent to which the work of tanks in the Allied armies has affected the morale of the German troops is indicated by the writings of military critics in German papers received here. While declaring that after the first surprise over the appearance of these mechanical monsters, the Teutons destroyed great numbers of them with artillery fire, the writers almost invariably attribute Allied gains or recent months to the employment of tanks.

GOVT. MAY RELAX PROHIBITION AS EMERGENCY STEP TO FIGHT "FLU"

Cabinet Is Seriously Considering Temporary Lifting of Ban.

LIQUOR A PREVENTATIVE

U. S. Military Camps Are Permitting Liquor, Result of Epidemic.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Pressure is being brought to bear on the Government as a result of the Spanish influenza epidemic to permit a relaxation in the prohibition regulations in order that small quantities of liquor may be dispensed without the necessity of securing a doctor's prescription. At the Ottawa dispensary the rush during the past week or so has been unprecedented, the waiting crowds with their prescriptions in their hands overflowing at times onto the sidewalk.

The proposal for a relaxation of the regulation is being seriously considered by the Government. It is urged that the seriousness of the epidemic demands of relaxation.

A Good Preventative.

It is contended that hot liquor in small quantities is highly beneficial as a preventative or as a stimulant to prevent heart collapse, which may result from the sudden onslaught of the epidemic. In fact it is stated that in the U. S. military camps liquor is permitted at present in spite of its prohibition in ordinary times.

At the present time not only are the circumscribed sources of supply inadequate to cope with the demand through bona fide prescriptions, but the cost of such prescription to the poor man is a very considerable addition to the doctor's bill.

Doctors Are Reluctant.

Moreover, few doctors will undertake the responsibility of prescribing liquor as a preventative and in many cases a man must wait until the symptoms are pronounced before he can secure a prescription. Small quantities, it is contended, might be dispensed without prescription provided that a record be kept to prevent repeaters.

It is urged that under the war measures act the Government could temporarily override the provincial regulations in a case where the national safety is at stake.

INSPIRING CLOSE OF THE ANGLICAN YOUNG PEOPLE'S CONFERENCE

Bishop of Huron Delivers Stirring Address on Future.

WOODSTOCK, Oct. 9.—The Dominion Anglican Young People's conference in New St. Paul's Church today was largely attended from all parts of Ontario. The Right Rev. David Williams, D.D., lord bishop of Huron, the first speaker, gave an excellent address. He told his hearers that the new era after the war would be filled with many changes, and he urged the young people of today to so fit themselves that they would be able to take an honorable place in the new order of things. They must not forget that the present war depends on the past, and that they must honor what had been done by those who had gone before. At the same time he adjured them not to stick too steadfastly to old traditions, but to accept whole-heartedly changes that tended to ultimate success.

Major Tanton, who is 44 years of age, went overseas some three years ago, and has been discharged from the C. E. F., after two years' service in the trenches. His initial salary will be $1,600 per annum.

It Is the Duty of Every Canadian Home To Save Coal

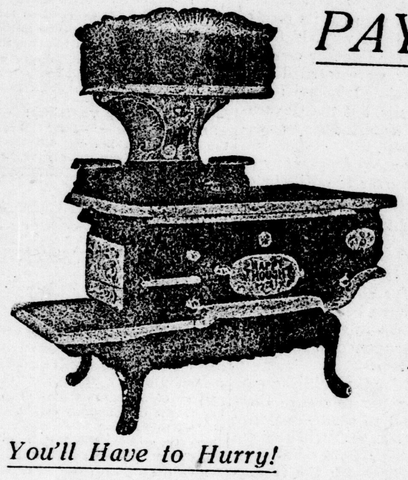

WITH the war industries of this country moving at high speed, we require more fuel than ever before in our history. It is necessary that every Canadian home do its bit in saving coal that the necessary industries may go on at their greatest efficiency. To this end, we are displaying an unusually large number of stoves that will help you conserve fuel.

NOT a single one of these stoves is an experiment. Every one has been tried out in actual practice and found to be both economical and efficient, burning practically any fuel with equal efficiency. Because of the increasing difficulties in securing our entire allotment of stoves, we would advise immediate selection at these prices.

AN EDITORIAL BY FRANK H. SIMONDS.

ONCE MORE it is essential for the Allied people to recognize that they are in the presence of a peace offensive launched for military purposes. This offensive is designed to benefit the military situation of the German army from the immediately grave results of recent defeats and from the later disastrous consequences to the militaristic hierarchy, if the army suffers wholly decisive defeat.

A few months ago German leaders were working in the full expectation of a military victory. Then the press and the public statements of the leaders alike solemnly recapitulated Germany's peace terms, which included the annexation of Belgium, Northern France, Eastern Italy, Serbia and the perpetuation of German control in Rumania and Russia. Now, since there have been changes in the military situation, Germany resigns this program of profit and seeks peace which shall not involve the loss of any of her own property, however acquired. If she can't profit, Germany is resolved not to pay for this world tragedy.

In addressing her peace appeal to the president of the United States, and in putting into that appeal a lip-service of acceptance of Mr. Wilson's peace program, Germany has sought obviously and patiently to open a breach between America and her European allies, to start a discussion over peace terms which shall destroy Allied solidarity. She hopes the president will say that the United States does not support French claims to Alsace-Lorraine or Italian claims to Trieste and the Trentino, and that on the strength of some such utterances, the alliance of Western nations will fall apart.

Germany wants peace, yes, but she wants anodyne peace on her own terms, having failed to impose victorious peace on her own terms. She is a very great distance from accepting peace on our terms, she is not in the least convinced that she will have to accept our terms. Her statesmen are now manoeuvring to disrupt our alliance and at the same time to get the sentiment of the German people behind them again, by establishing the fact that the enemy demands that Germany shall pay the price of her crimes and meet the demands for restoration, restitution, reparation. These demands are just as unwelcome to the peasant as the junker, and neither is yet ready to accept them.

There is only one standard of measurement for German words, and that is supplied by German deeds. We have had Germany talking in the language of civilization for four years, but we have had Germany acting in the manner of barbarism for the same period, and never were German deeds more expressive of the spirit of the Hun than in this present hour. What do we care, what can we care about German words, when German deeds are precisely of the same character as in the time of Louvain or of the Lusitania?

We have won a great and decisive campaign, we have deprived the German of all chance of victory, and we are daily depriving him of more of French and Belgian soil, which he shamelessly described as "pawns" for peace negotiations. But we have not deprived him of his determination to pillage, plunder, murder, to destroy the future of the countries occupied, by systematic and orderly annihilation of the machinery of industry. He is still cutting down the fruit trees and burning the factories, that Germany may prosper without competition, when peace comes.

We shall deprive ourselves of all the hard-won fruits of four years of sacrifice if we negotiate with a Germany still occupying Belgian or French soil, still in Champagne or even in Alsace-Lorraine. We have not yet civilized or tamed the German. Each day's news demonstrates that in retreat in 1918 he is doing precisely the same things he did when advancing in 1914. If we do not break this barbarian spirit we shall have to fight this war over again at no distant date, but we can break this spirit now, if we are permitted, if we permit our army and the Allied armies to continue in the logical exploitation of victories already won.

Germany does not now want peace, she wants immunity. Her army is not conquered. It only needs a respite. Then it can begin again and with brighter hopes the work which it has never laid aside, the work which has been fully illustrated over the most beautiful regions in Western Europe. We shall never have done with the German military menace until we have won a decisive victory over the German army, until we have achieved a Waterloo or a Sedan. German military tradition and authority will survive all else.

In Homer the gods and goddesses were accustomed to wrap their favorites in accommodating thick clouds, whenever they were in danger of getting beaten in a fight. The kaiser and his associates are now endeavoring to wrap their soldiers in the same sort of cloud, for the sole purpose of enabling them to fight again.

Victory does not mean primarily territory or indemnity. It does not mean provinces or ransom. It means breaking the Prussian army, which is not yet broken; it means demonstrating by a defeat as complete as the Napoleonic defeat, that the whole German political and moral scheme of things in the last half century, in the last century and a half, is not merely immoral, but utterly illogical. We have got to smash that army to prove that it never can smash us, and destroy that western civilization, which we hold to and live by. The kaiser is conducting a peace offensive to save the army, to preserve the weapon of aggression, our whole home front as well as our fighting front is in danger until the offensive is repulsed.

We can still lose the war, but we can only lose it as a result of a successful peace offensive of the enemy. Paris is no longer in danger, but Prussianism is not yet routed. Until the German army surrenders on the Bulgarian terms we shall not have won the war. Not having won it, we shall have lost it, if we permit the army to escape. To compromise now is to betray our dead, desert our principles, abandon our faith, and to negotiate is to compromise.

THAT GERMAN NEWSPAPER.

THE GOVERNMENT at Ottawa has granted a license for the publication of a German language newspaper at Kitchener. This action has called for protests from many quarters, notably from the London Great War Veterans and the 33rd Comrades' Club of this city. The protests are timely and will receive the support of all citizens who believe that there is no good reason, though perhaps plenty of bad reasons, for the perpetuation of the enemy language in this country. Now is the time to root it out and to issue an order to those people who sue for its continuance, that English is the language of this province, and that it is a menace to the Canadians of German descent as well as to the whole of Canada, that they should be isolated and placed in the position of clinging to the language of a country whose name has become a thing of reproach, in preference to the language of the country in which they make their living, enjoy freedom and with which they should cast their destinies.

The Ottawa decision looks like a straight case of playing for the German vote, along similar lines to those observed prior to the last election, when Mr. Weichel, ex-M.P., soothed his constituents of German birth by assuring them that the terms of the war times election act, disenfranchising aliens, did not apply to his constituency. So long as the Union Government ring believed that the Germans would vote for its candidates, it was prepared to let them vote. If there was any doubt about the matter in other constituencies, it was seen that they were weeded out, and denied the ballot. Weichel fell between two stools when he came to the polls, but the Government has not forgotten that Waterloo may someday be lured back into the fold.

There would be a great outcry from many of those who will remain silent over the Kitchener decision had the Government granted a license to a French paper, say in the city of London. To the blind partisan all such things are easy to digest. What will the poor Germans who cannot read any other language do if they cannot have their German newspaper? For shame that they cannot read English! They have been in Canada long enough and if they persist in speaking German in view of all that has happened in Germany they are a strange people.

It would not be difficult for the publishers of the Kitchener German newspaper to secure English type for its columns, and to send the paper to its subscribers in a new dress that will remove both the publishers and reader from suspicion. But the chief responsibility lies with the facing-both-ways Government at Ottawa. It decided to make the German language the official language of a considerable section of Canadian people when it issued the license for the publication of the Kitchener paper. And if such a super-loyal aggregation as that which sits at Ottawa permits the paper to be published in the tongue of the kaiser, the people who read the paper can scarcely be blamed if they regard themselves wholly guiltless.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

First thing we know that K-k-k-katy song will make of us a nation of stutterers.

Speaking of food scarcity, has anyone seen a real, honest-to-goodness currant recently?

Whatever cleaning up was missed yesterday can be done today and tomorrow. There is no need to leave it until next year.

Having taken Cambrai, do we wish to take Douai? We do. (This would be a good paragraph, except that it is pronounced Doo-ay).

Toronto girl stenographers are to organize a union. Wonder why they call on a mere man to work out the problem instead of choosing an energetic woman.

The more one considers the possibilities of an armistice the more one is convinced that the Allies should grant one only after Germany has been deprived of all military power.

Keep clean is the advice of doctors to those who would avoid Spanish influenza. Beauty of this is one may continue this treatment after the danger has passed; it has no bad effect.

If France were, as Berlin said, bled white many months ago, the physicians who performed the eminently successful transfusion of blood should be made known. The operation certainly was a triumph.

Veterans are unanimously opposed to any publishers in Canada being permitted to issue newspapers in the German language. That is one side. Are there any in favor of the permit? If not, there should be no doubt as to the right action.

BEARDED WOMEN.

[Argonaut.]

A woman with a real beard is not without her place in history. The daughter of the Emperor Maximilian I. of Germany, Margaret of Savoy, governess of The Netherlands, from 1507 to 1530, had a long, stiff beard. In 1709 a bearded woman was captured by the Russians at the battle of Pultowa and presented as a curiosity to the czar, Peter the Great; her beard was one yard and a half long. A Genevan girl, Mlle. Bois de Chene, it is recorded, had a strong, black beard and large whiskers when she was eighteen years of age in 1852.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

AUNT JANE'S BEQUEST.

By Jane Osborne.

Madge had talked it over with the station agent in fragmentary conversation during the hour that elapsed after the arrival of her train and the departure of the stage that was to carry her to the old Dunham estate. Madge wanted to find out what people around there thought of the will, so she did some tactful pumping without, of course, letting the station agent know she was Madge Dunham.

To be sure, old Miss Dunham had been an odd character, all the Dunhams were a little queer, she was assured by the station agent, but no one expected she was pa'sley mean as all that. She looked good-natured enough in spite of her old age—and she was nearly a hundred when she died, and seemed to have her wits with her, too, in most things, though she surely had shown weak-mindedness in that will. She had left the entire fortune—and it was a lot more than folks even thought—to her niece, Elizabeth, and Elizabeth Dunham already possessed property that brought her an income about ten times larger than she could ever want.

"Was there anyone else who might have had it?" asked Madge with an air of only half-hearted interest.

To be sure there was—there was a grandniece and a grandnephew—lived a good ways off. Stanley Taylor was a professor and the old maid was a school-ma'am, and they were both as poor as church mice. They ought to have come in for some of it, but the old lady had cut them off. People knew that, but they hoped she had relented. Might at least have given a little to the old ladies' home.

"Didn't she give those poor relations anything?" asked Madge.

The station agent chuckled. Well, yes, there was a sort of a provision for them. They had been left the old lady's library, a whole lot of old books that wouldn't sell for enough to pay the trip they'd have to take to get them. The books were to be divided equally between the two, and they had been sent for by Elizabeth Dunham now, who was executrix as well as practically sole beneficiary, to come and select them.

"I wonder," mused Madge, "whether there was any reason why the old lady left them out of her will?"

The station agent lowered his voice. "That there was. Most folks don't know it," he confided, "but the old lady had set her heart on having her niece and nephew married, and she couldn't get them to do it, and that rolled her up so she never had any use for them. She had them out at the old place some fifteen years back and tried to make a match, but somehow the feller he wasn't of the marrying kind, and the girl—well, I guess she was cut out to be an old maid."

Madge colored slightly. It had taken an hour to get this much information from the local informant, and she took her seat in the stage to continue her trip to the home of her late great-aunt with an even increased feeling of resentment toward her. What if she was cut out to be an old maid—hadn't Aunt Jane herself been an old maid and wasn't Aunt Elizabeth an old maid? Even a very little fraction of the fortune would have seemed like wealth to her, and instead all she got was a half of a lot of dusty old books that would have to be haggled over with Stanley Taylor Madge felt somehow that if Stanley were at all considerate he would waive his claim to the books. But no such good fortune was in store for her, as he had arrived the day before and was already established in the gloomy old book room in the Dunham homestead making up his mind as to which of the books he would claim.

The only hospitality offered to Madge when she came was that of an old housekeeper. Aunt Elizabeth might have come over from her nearby country place to have more matters a little more cheerful for Madge and Stanley, but she had merely left word with the housekeeper to provide for their temporal wants and to ask them to proceed with the division of the books and to say that the lawyer would be over the next day to settle any legal phases of the arrangement.

And they got right to work at the books. They at least agreed, apparently, on a lack of disposition to sociability.

"I have been doing what I could without you," remarked Stanley as soon as they had got together in the back room. "I made a pile of books here that could not possibly interest you. I will take them, and over there are some that could not possibly interest me——"

Madge looked at the first pile. There was an old edition of Fielding, Smollett and Richardson, a stack of French poets and philosophers and some heavy tomes of history that had apparently never been opened to the light of day. In the other pile could be seen bound volumes of the "Ladies' World" for the past twenty-five years, a rather complete set of cookery books, the works of George Eliot and Maria Edgeworth.

"But I detest George Eliot—and the rest isn't worth the freight to take them home," insisted Madge, and Stanley was really embarrassed, for he had frankly thought that his cousin would find this second pile of books entirely to her liking.

Three days later, after hours and hours spent together in the book room, Madge called on Aunt Elizabeth Dunham, excusing herself from her cousin on the ground of needing a little diversion before going on with the selection.

"One thing we agree on," she assured Aunt Elizabeth, "and that is on books, for every book that appeals to me appeals to him, and while he is perfectly gentlemanly about it we both set our hearts on the same books. It really seems a shame to separate the collection. They are quite remarkable. I didn't realize that Aunt Mary Jane was so booky."

"I suppose Aunt Jane might have left them to a library," commented Aunt Elizabeth with a smile that puzzled Madge, "but she thought that you two school teachers might like them."

"We do like them—it's dividing them that makes it hard."

"Oh, well, perhaps you'll find a way," was all Aunt Elizabeth suggested.

Two days later, Stanley Taylor, on the pretext of wishing a little diversion, made his call on Aunt Elizabeth. He had met her scarcely three times before in his life, but as one of the few surviving Dunhams he felt that she would be able to give him some advice. Still, he was amazingly embarrassed when he got right down to the matter about which he wanted advice. However, he got to the point in short order.

"You know it all started this way," Stanley began. "When Madge came back the other day she told me where she had been and she said that all the help you would give was to say perhaps we'd find a way. She told me that and then she laughed and turned her head away and blushed. Madge is very pretty when she blushes—she has improved immensely the last few years, since that time Aunt Jane had us here to try and get us to fall in love. I think the Dunhams do improve with age." And Aunt Elizabeth said undoubtedly they did.

"What I want to know is what you meant, and what Madge meant," continued Stanley. "The more I have thought of that remark—well, the truth is it put an idea into my head that had been shaping itself ever since Madge got here. We have tastes very much in common—the very fact that we can't divide the books shows that, and, of course, the books wouldn't have to be divided if we—well, hang it all, Aunt Elizabeth, you're a woman. Do you think Madge would have me?"

Aunt Elizabeth wasn't at all sure, but when Stanley took his question to Madge, that evening, back in the dimly-lighted library, Madge needed no urging. Her only regret, she said, was that it might seem that she was accepting him on account of the books, whereas she wanted him for his own dear self. Stanley had never dealised what an ecstasy of contentment there was in being called a "dear self" by a woman before. In fact, it was an entirely novel experience.

They hurried to Aunt Elizabeth with their good news and Aunt Elizabeth was ready then to play her surprise on them. Yes, Aunt Jane's fortune—really, my dears, quite staggering in size—had been left to her, but only until the match could be made. Really, old Aunt Jane was pretty shrewd, even if she was near the century mark. She had made up her mind a little while before she died that if the cousins could be brought together over a library of books that way they would do—exactly what they had done. So she sent to a book collector in Boston and told him just what she wanted. Of course, Aunt Jane had never had any books to speak of herself.

"And if we hadn't decided as we did then you would have had the money, or was there some other provision?" asked Madge, the full enjoyment of her good fortune marred a little by the thought that someone else might be robbed by it.

"I asked Aunt Jane what to do with the money if you didn't earn it, and she said there could be no if. She said she'd been an old maid nearly a hundred years and I had for fifty, and it was time some of the Dunhams got married."

IT REALLY DOES

end pain, prevent festering and heal. This is why those who have once used Zam-Buk will never use any other ointment.

Miss Viola Hubley, of Upper Goshen, N.B., writes: "My sister had sores on her foot that commenced like boils and then discharged. She suffered such intense pain that she could not wear her shoes and had to remain in the house. We commenced using Zam-Buk and the pain soon disappeared. Then the sores stopped discharging and before long the places were entirely healed over. We shall never be without Zam-Buk again."

For eczema, blood-poisoning and piles, cuts and burns Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers, 50c box.

CANADIAN GIRLS IN TRAINING DISCUSSED BY MISS GEMMILL

Presentation of Fountain Pen Made to Mrs. MacGregor by Marion Keith Club.

A joint meeting of the Marion Keith Club and the Senior Girls' Club of St. Andrew's Church took place yesterday afternoon for the purpose of hearing Miss Gemmill of Toronto, Sunday school secretary of the Presbyterian Church, who is at present in the city visiting the various churches of that denomination. Miss Gemmill is here to explain the program followed by the "Canadian Girls in Training" standard.

"I am here to tell just what it is to live the four-fold life," declared Miss Gemmill. Quoting the verse, "And Jesus increased in wisdom, stature, and in favor with God and man," she went on to explain how that was the way in which the Canadian girls, who are to be Canada's future women, should grow—that is physically, mentally, spiritually and for service. "To formulate a program, which would produce such a result, representatives from the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist and Anglican churches, from the Y. W. C. A., and the Ontario Sunday School Association, met, with the result that the "Canadian Girls in Training" standard, very similar to the "Canadian Standard Efficiency Test" for the boys, was formulated.

Canadian Girls in Training.

"This standard, which is put in program form on topic cards, issued each year, aims to supplement a girl's religious training which she receives on the Sabbath, and should be made use of at some hour during the week, when the Sunday school class will meet, and carry out a program which aims to make the girl grow physically, mentally, and for service. At these weekly meetings a talk by some competent person should be given, and as a supplement to the talk some activity bearing on the talk undertaken, lectures on first aid to be supplemented by bandaging, a talk on dressmaking to be followed by a practical lesson in cutting patterns, etc.

Presentation of Challenge.

Miss Gemmill presented a challenge to the clubs. First came the challenge of the present war, which will make leaders scarce, so that the girls must be prepared to take their places and uphold the ideals for which the men have fought. Secondly, came the challenge of the times. "Girls of today are called upon to face problems which their mothers did not have to face, and so must fit themselves to be the best women possible. The third, was the challenge of the boys' work. "Already 10,000 boys are meeting at 47 boys' work conferences, learning how to live the best lives possible. And our girls must keep pace with them and be able to help them," concluded the speaker.

Presentation to Marion Keith.

An interesting feature of this meeting was the presentation of a fountain pen to Mrs. D. C. MacGregor on behalf of the Marion Keith Club, made by Miss Alice Darch.

Gray Hair use Hay's Hair Health

preparation for restoring natural color to gray or faded hair, for removing dandruff and as a hairdressing. Is not a dye. Generous sized bottles at all dealers, ready to use. Philo Hay Co., Newark, N. J.

Dandruff Surely Destroys the Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails. —Advt.

JIMMY COON STORIES

SNAPPER HUNTS FOR THE PANTRY.

Snapper knew all about Turtle pantries, for often he had been with his Aunts, when they visited their pantries. You know, Turtles have two kinds of pantries—one kind under water, where they keep their food, and the other kind hidden in the sand, where they keep their fresh eggs. The eggs hatch out in the warm sand, in time, and there are lovely, little cunning turtles.

You know, it would be very disappointing, to a nice family, when they were counting on 24 or 36 nice little turtles to come along and help them do the work, to have them all destroyed.

You would have thought that all turtles would have kept watch over those turtle eggs, so that no bold robber would steal the eggs out of the pantries in the warm sand.

But Grandpa Turtle, who is very old and very wise, told his family that, to watch too closely, was a foolish plan, for then bold robbers would know that they would find the eggs too easily. And Grandpa Turtle had trained his family so well that when they arranged their eggs in the different pantries, they felt perfectly satisfied to leave those eggs to hatch in the warm sand, and they never bothered their heads about the eggs again.

But even if those Turtle mothers seemed so careless, yet if any of them happened to be walking on the Beach and caught bold robbers eating their eggs, there would be a stiff fight.

Perhaps you think Snapper was not loyal to his family. This was not the case, for Snapper loved his own family as much as any good Turtle could. And so he was very particular to find the pantry of Aunt Patience, and not to touch a bite in any other Turtle's pantry.

So Snapper was very anxious, and looked carefully to find the right pantry.

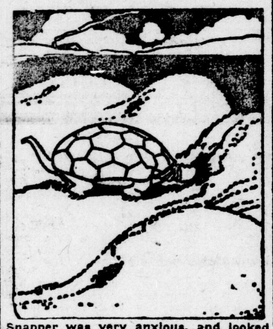

He said that his Aunt Patience always marked her pantry door with a little mark he knew—she always gave two whirls with her tail in a circle, and he always knew it when he saw it.

"What's the matter with Aunt Patience's eggs, that you are willing we should get them?" said Teddy Possum.

"Nothing, nothing at all, only the last time I was spending the day at her house, she wouldn't let me have hardly anything to eat, for she said she was afraid I would get sick. So I am going to pay her up, and take everything out of her pantry."

"Well," said little Peter Rabbit, in a very soft voice in his own long ear, "I think that is awful for Snapper to lead a bunch of thieves to his Aunt's own pantry."

"What's that you say, Peter?" said Jimmy Coon in a harsh voice. "You'd better be careful!"

Snapper was very anxious, and looked carefully to find the right pantry.

OWEN SOUND W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held, when the feature of the program was a paper prepared by Mrs. Ada M. Courtice of Toronto on "Citizenship." Mrs. Courtice spoke of the fact that the franchise has been granted to women on the same basis as to the men, and of the necessity for the women to be true to themselves in exercising the Franchise, considering principle before party, and measure before man. Mrs. Mercer, who is superintendent of the food conservation department, had received reports from about twenty members regarding the yields of their gardens during the summer, and also of their hens, showing a total value of $538.75. Miss E. Stephens was given a hearty vote of thanks for her efficient work as recording secretary, a position she has filled for a number of years. The East Hill Circle, of which Mrs. Mercer is president, is prepared to quilt or tie comforters at a charge of $1.25 each, the money to go to Red Cross.

Women's Auxiliary of Y. M. C. A. Doing an Excellent Work

Arrange For Suppers Held at "Y" Three Days Every Week.

An excellent work is being done by the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. in arranging suppers for the boys who are taking the Canadian standard efficiency test. These suppers take place on the night when the boys meet for classes.

At a recent meeting of the W. A. of the Y. M. C. A. held in the association building, with Mrs. W. G. Young presiding, the members discussed plans with regard to the fall and winter work, and also reviewed the work of the past year, when they were able to assist the Y. M. C. A. from the middle of October, 1917, to May, 1918, in the Canadian standard efficiency work among boys from 12 to 18 years, which guides and develops the intellectual, physical, religious and social side of a boy's life.

To do this work best it is necessary that the boys have supper together in the "Y" dining-room on the evenings when their classes meet, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays, from 6 to 8, and it is here that the ladies may help. During the months mentioned above there was an aggregate attendance of 2,500, with an average attendance of 114 boys. Surely it has been worth while for the mothers and friends of these boys to help the work along. Many of the boys who have gone overseas refer in their letters to the benefits this training has been to them, for it has helped them greatly in their present experience.

At this meeting much regret was expressed by all in the loss of Mrs. E. R. Wilson, who, with her husband and family, has gone to Lansing, Mich.

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, OCT. 13, 1918.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

(By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.)

Abraham Helping Lot.—Gen. xiii: 5-18.

QUESTIONS FOR TODAY.

10. Verses 10-11—When we have the opportunity of living in a Godless community, with great money-making possibilities, or in a community of godly people, with meagre financial prospects, which should we choose, and why?

11. What would have been your choice had you been in Lot's position, and why?

12. Chapter xiv., 14-16—What calamity happened to Lot, and to what extent was he to blame for it?

Golden Text: A friend loveth at all times, and a brother is born for adversity.—Prov., xvii., 17.

A FRIEND IN NEED.

I think true friendship is the master passion. It resembles the love of God more nearly than any other relationship. It is a sentiment which gives unalloyed satisfaction always, but it is more keenly felt when we are really in need of a friend. The touchstone of friendship, so to speak, is when we are in a position to need substantial help, or when we are in trouble of a kind out of which our friend can help us. A friendship that breaks down when something is needed is a counterfeit friendship only. He who has found a friend to help him in his time of need has found a pearl of great price. Thank God, there are many such friends, and if you have found such a one you are in a very happy position.

DAILY FISH BULLETIN

EAT FROZEN FISH.

Issued by Canada Food Board.

Fresh frozen fish is just as palatable as fresh fish. Only—a good many women do not know how to handle it properly.

The thing to remember is that frozen fish must be defrosted in COLD water. When this has been done, clean and prepare as you would any other fish, and cook in whatever form you desire.

Fish which has been frozen is just as nutritious as any other, and its cheapness should make it more widely known.

She's From Missouri.

Dear Miss Grey,—It has been with much interest that I have read the Mail-Box in The Advertiser. Am only a short time in Canada, coming from the State of Missouri, and new at housekeeping. Have tried many of the cooking and canning recipes on the page, and all turned out well. But I was always told that it was more blessed to give than to receive, and I hope the following will be a help to someone:

Some time ago someone asked how to keep syrup from turning to sugar, and how to get the sugar out of the sealers. Keep the syrup in a dark place and it will not sugar; put vinegar in the sealers, place in warm water, and it will all come out.

For "The Girl in the Apron": Wash, peel and slice eggplant, place in salt water for fifteen or twenty minutes, make a batter like you would for griddle cakes, except much thinner, dip eggplant in and fry; they're very good cooked that way.

Inclosed you will find song, "Oh, Where is My Boy Tonight," for "S. O. L." MISSOURI.

Ans.—I believe you are our first visitor from that famous state, so we must be nice to you. "S. O. L." will be particularly pleased with your inclosure for her. I'll send it on at once.

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER WILL ABIDE BY THE DECISION OF NATIONAL

Local I. O. D. E. Acknowledges Itself No Longer a Part of National Council of Women.

At a meeting of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., held yesterday afternoon in Cronyn Hall, the question of the chapter's attitude in connection with the withdrawal of the National I. O. D. E. Chapter from the National Council of Women, came up, with the result that it was decided that the Municipal Chapter should abide by the decision of the national executive. It was the Vancouver chapter which originally advised the schism because the National Council of Women refused to sever itself from the International Council, which association numbered among its members women from enemy countries, such as Austria and Germany. The National Council of Women retained their association with the International because of the advantage such association might be in the period of reconstruction after the war. The National I. O. D. E. decided to sever their connection because they considered it unpatriotic to belong to an association which included in its membership women from enemy countries.

Mrs. Crerar Elected.

Mrs. Crerar of Hamilton was elected by the nineteen London chapters, through the Municipal Chapter, to be the representative for Ontario in an amendments committee, which is now being formed by the National I. O. D. E. executive. Her name will be forwarded to Toronto.

The reading of the treasurer's report by Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell, showed the chapter to have an available balance of $758.89. It was announced that over $3,300 had been granted them by the city.

Several Appeals Considered.

Several appeals came before yesterday's meeting. One from the Navy League asked for 4,000 Christmas bags for sailors at Halifax, to be provided by the I. O. D. E. chapters of Ontario, and to contain socks, mufflers, writing pads, smokes, etc., as well as a personal note. The chapter here decided to provide as its share, at least one hundred bags, to be made by the Campbell Becher Chapter and filled by the other chapters. Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell and Mrs. White were appointed to act as a purchasing committee.

An appeal from the Children's Aid, made necessary because it has cared for so many soldiers' children since the beginning of the war, was met with the suggestion that each chapter make some contribution to this institution when making their appropriations this year. Already the Sir John Carling, Hamilton Gault and Campbell Becher Chapters have contributed.

Another appeal, coming from Mrs. Plumptre on behalf of the Universal Christmas Gift Fund, which places a Christmas box in the hand of every soldier at the front and two in the hands of those who are apt to get no other Christmas gift, was considered. Already about $200 for this fund has been donated by various chapters, and of this amount $50 came from the Lord Roberts, $50 from the 7th Regiment, $25 from the Trafalgar, and $10 from the Hugh Niven Chapters. Other chapters who wish to contribute are urged to send the money to Mrs. Campbell as soon as possible.

It was announced that a Thanksgiving dance would be given by the Campbell Becher Chapter at the Asylum in aid of Serbian relief.

CYNTHIA GREY'S MAIL-BOX

Should Help Each Other.

Dear Miss Grey,—I see where "Pernickety" wants to know how to mend graniteware. Get a box of mendets at the five and 10-cent store; the directions are inside; will mend any kind of graniteware, and last as long as before. I think your page very helpful to the women, and I think we should try and help each other all we can these hard times.

A few helpful hints:

Put half a teaspoonful of granulated sugar, the same of lard or shortening, into your boiled starch, and your iron will not stick, and clothes will have a nice gloss.

To keep apples in sealers, just cook the same as for apple sauce, but do not sweeten, seal hot, and they will keep for a year, if air tight.

(1) Miss Grey, can you tell me of anything that will remove liver spots?

(2) Do you remember a lady sending her name and address some time ago to you for those wishing a grey hair restorative, saying anyone may have information regarding the remedy by calling at her home, and as she said she goes out very often anyone calling had better phone first? I would like very much to get her address if you can find it. Am sending addressed envelope.

Hope I have not taken someone else's pen name. ROSLYN.

Ans.—You certainly practice what you preach, Roslyn, re sending helpful hints. Ointment of zinc oxide is good to apply outwardly to liver spots, but I suppose it is best to remedy the source of the trouble. Why not get your physician to prescribe for the liver?

(2) The lady to whom you prefer will, I hope, see your request and let me have her address once again.

Oldtime Pancakes.

Dear Miss Grey,—Could you or some of the Pageites send me some recitations, suitable for a boy 15 years old? I would like comic recitations if you have them.

2. Could some of the grandmothers tell me how they make buckwheat pancakes? I think the batter was set over night, but am not sure. Will someone kindly give me full instructions? MRS. HAYSEED.

Ans.—Can someone help "Mrs. Hayseed" conserve on wheat flour by helping her to make buckwheat cakes? If so, please tell us all about it. And are there any recitations for her?

Dear Miss Grey.—I have a cap and scarf of white brushed wool for my little girl. Could you tell me if brushed wool would shrink and soil when wet from snow and rain, and could I wash it without losing its soft appearance? Thanking you in advance. F. O.

Ans.—Can any reader who possesses a brushed wool cap, scarf or sweater tell us if it submits nicely to laundering, and, if so, what method she follows? So many have outdoor garments of this delightfully soft wool that any information as to its launder-ability will no doubt be appreciated by others than "F. O."

She's From C-4th.

Dear Miss Grey.—I ventured to write to you once before, but it failed to put in its appearance on your page. I can scarcely believe October is here so soon; it seems such a short time ago that we were grumbling about the heat. Huron Girl, is not Huron County a grand old county? I like C-4th best of all the towns, but it's nice to get near the lake once in a while. I attended Toronto Exhibition for a week, and I certainly enjoyed myself immensely. Will you please tell me the meanings of the following names: Claire, Luella, Ross, Lois, Kenneth and and Cullen.

I wish skating time were here, as it is my favorite winter sport, and the summer sports have grown old by this time.

I was out to see my father's youngest brother off today for Petawawa. He was on his last leave.

Hoping some persorf will "have a heart" and write to me every once in a while, K-K-K-KATY.

Ans.—Do you st-t-tutter, K-Katy? Well, cheer up. Think how much worse it would be (being a girl), if you could not talk at all! Anyway, you write a cheery letter.

Claire, I suppose, means the same as Clarence or Clara, clear or bright; Lois means good, desirable; Kenneth, a leader. I do not know the meanings of the other names.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR HAIR

To relieve itching of the scalp, falling hair and dandruff, use Velnor. You will find it far more beneficial to your hair and scalp than prepared liquid shampooing preparations which chemical analysis proves to contain too much alkali—a harmful irritant that rots the roots of the hair and causes it to fall out. Velnor is sold by all druggists in a convenient carton and by simply dissolving one of the small packets in a half-glass of fresh water you have an abundance of pure non-injurious liquid that aside from cleaning the hair properly will leave it soft, lustrous and wavy—revivified with all the natural gloss it should have.

ARNIA-LONDON RUGBY AME POSTPONED TILL 6TH OF THIS MONTH

Tunnel City Cannot Secure Grounds for Thanksgiving Game.

Failure to secure grounds has caused postponment of the Sarnia-London ugby game which was scheduled to ake place in the Tunnel City on hanksgiving Day. The announcement of the postponement was received om Secretary Hewitson of the O. R. U. The locals were asked to play arnia here on October 14, but refused wing to the small interval between the t. Thomas game and the probability of small crowd turning out to a game n Monday following the exhibition atch with St. Thomas. Sarnia and ondon will not meet until October 26 nless unforeseen developments crop up. The collegiate boys got in a good ractice at Tecumseh Park yesterday. lthough without the services of Ernest ennis and Arthur Gillies, who are ill, he tackling and signal practices howed the boys to be in first rate orm. In Dennis' absence, McLean is t the helm. Should Dennis be unable o play, McWilliams will probably be iven a try on the half line. McCormick and McWilliams showed up ell yesterday and practically clinched laces on the fourteen.

Hope has all but been given up that t. Thomas will become a member of he district group of the O. R. F. U. his year. If the Railway City boys make a good showing against the locals tomorrow, however, they may be prevailed upon to enter the union.

"MATT" BALDWIN, BOXER, DIES AT CHARLESTOWN

Former Champion Only Once Knocked Out.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Matthew (Matty) Baldwin, former New England lightweight boxing champion, died at his home in the Charlestown district today. In his fighting career, which began in 1902, and lasted until he was knocked out by Charlie White three years ago, he took part in scores of bouts in various sections of the country, and met many of the best men of his weight. Except in his final battle he was never knocked out.

LIFE MEMBERSHIPS GOLF PRIZES FOR TOURNEY ON OCT. 14

Large Array of Silverware Secured for Thanksgiving Tournament.

TORONTO, Oct. 9.—One of the largest displays of Red Cross gifts is now shown in Ellis Bros.' window, 98 Yonge street. These prizes are being given by the Royal Canadian Golf Association to its various members throughout the Dominion. They consist of a large silk banner to be given to the club making the largest returns at the tournament on Thanksgiving Day.

A beautiful sterling silver cup is also being given by Frank A. Rolph, of Rolph, Clark, Stone, Limited, president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, to the club making the largest returns. The returns, of course, to be considered in proportion to the membership of the club, so that this beautiful cup is liable to go to one of the smallest clubs. There are about 75 clubs members of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, each holding a competition on Thanksgiving Day in aid of the Red Cross.

The Royal Canadian Golf Association is giving a sterling silver cup to the winner of the eighteen-hole handicap match at each club, and these cups are now on exhibition along with the silk banner and the president's cup. This is probably the largest aggregate value of prizes ever given in connection with a Red Cross tournament. B. L. Anderson, secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, has just received a letter from the Victoria, B. C., Golf Club, inclosing their program for the 14th, which consists of a day full of events.

The prize for each event consists of a life membership in the Canadian Red Cross Society. Members of the club have already donated six life memberships to be used as prizes. The directors of the club have also voted $1,000 out of the club funds to be added to the amount raised from the entry fists. It looks as if the president's cup and a silk banner is very likely to go to Victoria. Never before has there been such a combination of clubs in a Dominion-wide scheme for raising funds in aid of the Red Cross. Good weather on Thanksgiving Day will make this tournament a great success, and it is expected that more than $100,000 will be raised for the Red Cross.

BALFOUR WINNER OF HIGH SCHOOL TENNIS

Marion Tanton and Alice McLean Ladies' Doubles Champions.

"Jimmy" Balfour grabbed the men's singles in the collegiate tennis tournament which will be finished this afternoon. Balfour, who has shown extraordinary racquet wielding ability of late, had for his opponent in the finals "Ted" Beltz. The sets were played on the Reid courts, the high school courts being used by other entrants in the tourney.

The ladies' doubles went to Marion Tanton and Alice McLean. The remaining events will be played off today. Over 35 students entered.

W. O. R. SERGEANTS ARE BEATEN BY NO. 1 TEAM

Crooker Effective As Slab Artist at Heights.

Crooker's pitching and good work by Terry at shortstop, and Eddy on first base accounted largely for the defeat put over on the sergeants of the W. O. R. by No. 1 team of the same unit, in a scheduled indoor-baseball game at the heights yesterday. The score was 16 to 4. Sergt. Hetherington was the star for the losing nine, but his good playing was made ineffective by his team-mates' misplays.

The battalion orderly room and No. 2 team are tied for first honors in the league.

The orderly room and No. 1 group will play tonight.

M'DOUGALL'S FOUR WINS ALL SAINTS' BOWLING TOURNEY

Eight local rinks battled on the greens of All Saints' Church yesterday in the first and last bowling contest held by that club this season, the honors of the day falling to J. S. McDougall's London Rowing Club quartet. McDougall's squad won three of its four games, and had a majority of 27, which was 16 shots better than Whitlow's St. Matthew's aggregation.

Four large hams were given the winners, and a pail of honey each to the members of the second rink. Two rinks represented All Saints. Lambeth bowlers having failed to show up which necessitated the formation of an extra four. The scores:

All Saints.	St. Mark's.
Risler, skip.	M. Morrison, skip.
Won 0, plus 23.	Won 1, minus 10
St. Matthews.	All Saints.

KAUFMANS TIE UP SEMI-FINALS WITH BRANT MALLEABLES

Kitchener, Oct. 9. — The Kaufman Rubber Company baseball team tied up the semi-final round of the O. B. A. A. series with the Pratt & Letchworth team of Brantford here this afternoon, when they won by a score of 8 to 7 in an eleven-inning game.

A decision by Umpire Johnston, when he called Cory out of the local team when the latter was caught leading off third base in the eleventh inning, caused the ire of the fans to rise. A number of the fans swarmed into the field of play, and before Umpire Saunders called time Capt. Toletski scored from second base in the furore with the winning run.

The game was a loosely-played affair, errors by Shortstops Scott and Hannsworth cutting rather a big swath in the run column of both teams.

Zuber Pulled.

With the game well in hand, Pitcher Zuber of the Kaufman team, who had the score 6 to 3 in his favor, was found for two clean hits in the eighth inning. He was removed and Shirk, the W. O. R. corporal, was substituted, but before the Malleables were retired they had scored four runs. The Kaufman's tied up the score in their half of the same frame and nothing further occurred in the game till the unfortunate mixup.

Shirk completely baffled the Brantford batsmen, after the eighth inning, not allowing another hit, and striking out no less than eight. Johnston pitched a weird variety of baseball, being very wild. He hit Coty and Toletski, the two locals who figured in the tell-tale eleventh inning.

The Fatal Eleventh.

In the eleventh Johnston hit Coty with a pitched ball, and repeated the dose, when Toletski came to bat, putting a man on the first two sacks, with none out. Shirk grounded out, advancing the runners, and with Dunbrook at bat Lennington threw to Scott to catch Coty leading off third base. Umpire Johnston called Coty out. The decision caused much distavor and many fans rushed on to the diamond, threatening him, and quick as a flash Toletski stole home from second base before Umpire Saunders had called time. The game ended here, leaving the result hazy in the minds of many of the spectators.

The toss of the coin to decide the site of the third game did not take place, the Brantford management being in no mood for such an arrangement as a result of the unsatisfactory ending.

Score by innings: R. H. E.

Brantford	010	100	140	00	—	7	13	4
Kitchener	000	222	010	01	—	8	7	2

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, both look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.

We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity, and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation.

GIVE ACID STOMACH A MAGNESIA BATH, SAYS DOCTOR

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

A Spoonful of Bisurated Magnesia in a Glass of Hot Water Fine For Sour, Upset Stomach and Indigestion.

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bismuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Creates Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artifician digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Find Second Tod Sloan

"Pee Wee" Schwartz, weighing 57 pounds after a heavy meal, sold newspapers and shined shoes in New Orleans until a year ago. Then he applied for a job at the racing stables, and, because of his enthusiasm and small size, received it. Today he is regarded as another Tod Sloan.

"Pee Wee" is a natural rider. He had his first mount on Bogart, and rode him to victory by acting like a veteran. Bogart was assigned 111 pounds, and "Pee Wee" rode on 55 of lead. Instead of taking Bogart to the front at the start and trying to keep him there, as novice jockeys do, "Pee Wee" kept Bogart back and waited until rounding into the stretch; then he brought him to the outside, and shoved his nose under the wire first.

This midget is utterly lacking in nerves. He is phlegmatic and totally fearless. Before he got a jockey's uniform they had "Pee Wee" schooling jumpers. He looked like a monkey on the back of the timber toppers, he schooled them well.

Like Sloan, "Pee Wee" likes to gamble and bet, smokes big black cigars, the bigger and blacker the better, and drinks strong, black coffee, huge cups full. He is 16 years old.

INSTANTANEOUS THINKING BY COBB RECALLED BY MITCHELL

Manager Describes How Georgian by Rapid-Fire Thinking Steals Home on Pitcher LaPorte.

Manager Fred Mitchell of the Chicago Cubs recently told of a play that Ty Cobb pulled and which, in Mitchell's opinion, is the brainiest piece of work Cobb ever performed. Said Mitchell:

"I happened to be catching that day against Detroit. Cobb reached third base after two were gone, and I was afraid that he might try to spring something on me. He did make a sudden move, and I whipped the ball down. Ty stuck to the base.

"LaPorte, who got the throw, sauntered toward our pitcher. The latter had his back to the plate, and was chatting with LaPorte. Laporte, as players unthinkingly do at times, tossed the ball up in his glove, about a foot or so. He did it again. Cobb was standing carefully on third in the meantime.

"The moment LaPorte tossed the ball for the third time Cobb broke for the plate at top speed. I never saw anything sprung more suddenly.

"Instantly there was shouting and confusion. I yelled for the ball, and LaPorte, startled, failed to see Cobb, and didn't know where the play should be made. By the time the ball finally reached me Cobb had slid in and was brushing the dust off his uniform. I call it the best play I ever saw him make."

This recalled another bit of instantaneous thinking Cobb worked in an exhibition game against the Cubs a year or so ago. He had singled to centre and halted at first base. He watched Williams pick up the ball and saw him casually cock his arm to throw it back. In a flash he realized Cox was about to toss it rather than throw it hard, and immediately darted for second. He got there about the time the ball reached Pete Kilduff, and slid safely.

Any Athlete Can Play Golf, Alexander Proves His Boast

Frederick B. Alexander, one of the greatest tennis players the country has produced, and who, in spite of his 39 years, is still able to finish high in national tournaments, is also a first-class trapshooter, has played polo, is an adept at handling a canoe or shell, and played football and baseball in his day.

Several years ago Alexander remarked on one occasion that golf was not much of a game, and that anyone efficient in athletics could play it. Several took him up on the boast, and it was up to Freddy to make good.

To prove that he was correct Alexander joined the Rumsen Country Club, and not alone showed the accuracy of his statement as far as he was personally concerned, but broke the course record and won the championship of the club, beating a field of good golfers. He repeated this performance the next two years; then, satisfied that he had made his point stick, retired from the links and returned to the courts.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Genevieve Kemble

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11.

This day should bring forth some changes, possibly of a radical nature. Certain long-standing delays and crystallized conditions will be broken up, probably resulting in advantageous journeys, removals or changes. Benefits will come through elderly persons, and also from unconventional or hidden sources. Sudden and unplanned occurrences will figure in the day's advantages; however, a fair degree of caution must be observed, and all papers and documents should be signed with the utmost discretion, lest money losses entail. New enterprises may be launched with security, especially those of a Saturn nature—i.e., agriculture, mining, machinery, printing, etc.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of success, removal and change, but should sign all writings with caution. A child born on this day will be steady, reliable, generous and successful, but should be very discreet.

GETTING TOO FAT?
TRY THIS—REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is indorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist (or if you prefer write to the Marmola Company, 864 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.) for a large case of Marmola Prescription Tablets; 75c is the price the world over. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce two, three or four pounds a week without dieting or exercise.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

What Every Mother Should Know About Baby's Teeth

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., (Johns Hopkins University.)

Baby's new teeth are too often blamed as the cause of dysentery, crying spells, fever and many other abnormal conditions.

Teething is the final stage of a long process of tooth formation. Before birth there already exists in the jaw a set of teeth in their rudimentary or root stage, and at birth they are well developed and are near completion.

The appearance of teeth upon the surface of the gums when baby is over six months old completes the process.

When the baby's teeth appear, the bulk of the tooth is made up of ivory or dentine. In this there is a cavity which is full of blood vessels and little nerves, which may become very sensitive. The hard part of the tooth at the roots or fangs is covered with a bony layer called the cement. The part of the tooth that protruded above the gum is the crown and is covered with a layer of very hard substance known as the enamel. The enamel is thick on the tops of the teeth, and becomes thinner toward the end as it slopes down to an edge.

The temporary set or "milk" teeth are 20 in number, five in each jaw, the central incisors, the lateral incisors, the canine teeth and the first and second molars or back teeth.

Time of Teething.

Just as the canines are known as the eye teeth, because they are situated beneath the eyes, the teeth of the lower jaw are called the stomach teeth, because they seem to cause the child stomach disorders when they make their way as visible specimens.

The teeth do not appear at the same time or in the same way in the two jaws. The central incisors of the lower jaw usually come first, ordinarily in the seventh month of the child's life. After a month or so the four upper incisors come out. Another month or more passes, then appear the lower inner incisors and the first of the molars or back teeth. Baby then waits until he is a year and a-half or two years old, and then he gets his canines or eye teeth. The molars or the jaw teeth comes ordinarily in the first half of the third year.

There need be no alarm on the part of the parents if baby's teeth come apparently too early or too late. In either of these instances much depends upon the family tradition. In some families children teeth as early as four months or as late as a year or more. Later teething, however, should cause enough concern to the mother to justify an investigation into the health of the child. If the baby is normal and the teeth are naturally late in coming it is only a question of time.

It is not to be denied that during the process of teething there are slight bodily disturbances. These, however, are to be expected, for the child actually undergoes an amount of suffering. The gums, to begin with, are irritated and swollen above and around the appearing tooth, and are sometimes hot as well as tender. The child may crave for water to quench its thirst, and in the meanwhile becomes fretful, disturbed in sleep, and possibly a bit feverish.

Such symptoms as stomach disorders and irritability may also be present. If these symptoms depend upon the irritation produced by the coming teeth they disappear as soon as they are out. If, however, they persist after the local irritation about the gums near the cutting teeth has disappeared they are due to causes distinctly other than teething.

Give Special Care.

Disorders of the digestive apparatus may or may not be a coincidence with teething. The tendency is to blame this abnormal condition upon the coming of the teeth, but in reality it is sometimes due to improper feeding.

When baby teeths it is evident that he is in a condition somewhat weakened, and if added troubles, as improper feeding, occur at the same time, his suffering increases and one condition re-enforces the other, and both become worse than if they had happened alone, and the child is made the victim of a generally weakened and predisposed mechanism.

It is at such times that baby is apt to contract the germs of whooping cough, measles, pneumonia or any prevalent epidemic, for at such times his little anatomy is too feeble to resist the invasion of disease germs. The white blood corpuscles of his whole fluid, the defenders of his mechanism, are rendered much feebler than under conditions of ordinary teething, and they are unable to defend the blood stream against whatever dangers may lurk in the air.

When baby suffers in this way his teething is certainly not normal, and attention should be at once paid to the attending circumstances. Stomach disorders should be at once abated. The child, moreover, should be fed upon carefully examined and pasteurized milk or if he nurses, the mother's milk should be tested.

Local irritation about the mouth and gums during teething can be removed by the physician with a gum lancet. It is necessary during the entire teething process to keep the gums clean with a soft cloth and water. This is the beginning of the care of the teeth later in life, and much depends upon this for their later strength and beauty. It is necessary, moreover, to keep the entire first set of teeth in excellent condition with regard to cleanliness, for upon this depends the safety and soundness of the teeth that follow.

Today's Fashion

By MME. FRANCES

Military Suit for Street Wear.

Cadet blue bids fair to be a close second to the perennial navy in popular favor this year. In fact, this lighter color is more becoming to many than the sombre navy blue, which so often seems to be black. The suit here shown is of cadet blue duvetyne, trimmed with black. The coat has a vest of black wool, trimmed with dull silver military buttons. At the bottom of the coat and at the neck line is a small panel of black satin through which are inserted black cord loops. The sleeves are long and fairly tight, and are finished at the side with dull silver military buttons matching those on the vest.

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Happened As They Waited To Spring the Trap.

My mother-in-law wasted few words in "settling Cousin Agatha's hash," when Lillian had apprised her of the necessity of doing so.

"Agatha," she said when that ancient damsel stood visibly trembling before her, "I've stood a good deal from you first and last. But now that your snooping around has ended in your finding out something which might do harm, I'm going to take a hand. You march right back with me to Katie's room, and you leave it again only over my dead body until Mrs. Underwood gives the word. Now march!"

And Agatha, with a martyr-like sniff, meekly marched.

"I hate to miss the shindig," my mother-in-law said to Lillian as she prepared to follow her recreant kinswoman, "but I guess I'll be of more use this way."

"I take off my best chapeaux to that old lady," Lillian remarked, when she was out of hearing. "And I'm so relieved that she isn't to be in at the final round-up. We'll have enough to do without taking care of non-combatants."

"I wonder what Kato will do," I remarked, to hide my sensitive consciousness that a non-combatant was what I would be reckoned.

"Go straight to Harry as soon as he gets a chance," Lillian replied, and there was bitterness in her voice. "But Drake has something up his sleeve for Kato, and that reminds me, he wants you to come over there, partly, I imagine, to see him spring it. Drake isn't without a little masculine vanity, I suspect, and not particularly averse to showing off a bit before you. So as I can't leave here and someone must be there, you'll have to go. I'll keep Allis busy in the kitchen while you slip out the side door. And don't come back until I send William for you."

I obeyed her without question, and found my father, Dr. Pettit and Allen Drake smoking comfortably in the library.

I barely had a chance to tell them of Kato's discovery of the hidden paper, when the Asiatic's deferential knock was heard at the door. Allen Drake quickly rose and placed himself in such a position that the servant wouldn't see him until he was well within the room.

"I like go out little while," Kato began, and then——

Allen Drake reached out a slender but sinewy hand, grasped him by the jacket collar and turned Kato around until he faced him.

Then was that stolid face contorted with a most terrible fear, fear that I realized had its roots in something beyond ordinary understanding. Mr. Drake held him taut for two or three long minutes, silently gazing at him. Then he spoke rapidly in a jargon unintelligible to us, but which Kato evidently well understood. At the end Mr. Drake asked two or three short, sharp questions, which the Asiatic answered submissively. Then Mr. Drake led him to the door, took his hand from the other's collar, and deftly, forcibly kicked him into the corridor and closed the door.

A Flashlight's Rays.

"He's our man now, body and soul," he said, a little mocking light of triumph in his eyes, and dusting his hands with his handkerchief as if he had touched something unclean. "Because of something that happened years ago when he was with me, he believes in his superstitious soul that I am in league with the devil, and can bring down all sorts of torments upon his devoted head. So he will obey me implicitly. He has gone to his employers now with instructions to bring them here tomorrow night at a half hour past midnight, and when he comes back here I will instruct him just how to get them in the house. In every detail they will dance like puppets at our bidding."

The prophecy came back to me the next night after midnight, when I stood tense in the little alcove off my mother-in-law's room, the heavy curtains shrouding it in darkness. Lillian had placed me there with injunction to watch the stairway from the library, although we had recovered the keys and both doors were locked. I knew that it was a subterfuge to get me out of the way of the real danger, but I was thankful to be even an onlooker at the drama which was about to be staged.

We had managed that Kato should see the Chinese vase brought back to my mother-in-law's room, for it afforded those of us in the house better hiding places. And in those hiding places my father, enfeebled physically but a deadly marksman; Allen Drake, with the switch of the electric lights removed and in his hand; Dr. Pettit, two stocky guards, the most trusted Lillian could get, and Lillian herself waited to spring the trap.

"I'll take personal charge of Grace Draper," she had promised grimly. "I'm afraid the rest of you might be a little too chivalrous."

It was exactly half-past twelve when we heard the slight shuffling upon the stairs which told us that according to our own plan Mrs. Allis had admitted the conspirators through a side window concealed by shubbery, and that Kato was bringing them up the front stairs to the room. In another minute Kato himself, evidently sent ahead, was casting the rays of a flashlight over the room, his face as imperturbable as if he didn't know of the watchers concealed there.

"Just what I say," he assured someone in the doorway. "Two old women with sick girl, way back in house, other misses go home, young missee sleep. I fix houseboy. Nobody here. All sleep."

"By houseboy I suppose you mean that old ape with the wen on his forehead," Grace Draper's low but clear tones sounded amusedly. "All right. The better for you. And here, I suppose, is dear little Madge's treasure house. It's a wonder she didn't take it to bed with her."

"If I might suggest," a low voice with a hint of authority and more than a hint of Teutonic ancestry, said ironically, "a little less voice and more work."

Another voice, one that I recognized with a thrill of terror as that of the man with the scarred hand, growled a guttural assent.

"Who planned this whole thing anyway?" Grace Draper retorted defiantly, but I noticed that her voice was more guarded than before, and that she at once turned her attention to the Chinese case. I deduced that the owner of the ironical voice held the real reins of the expedition.

With quick, deft fingers, showing that she had remembered perfectly Kato's description, she emptied the vase, and taking a magnet similar to mine from her dress, the metal pencil case soon lay within her hand. But when he had opened it, and had handed the rice paper it contained to the owner of the ironical voice, whose mustached square face I could see in the light of the flashlight he held to the paper, there broke a startled exclamation from him:

"Schweinhund! Fool! Vat is this? You have been fooled, and we— This is a trap!"

Good Night Stories

WHY BOBBY CHANGED HIS MIND.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Bobby as he looked down at the pile of wood his mamma asked him to carry into the house.

"I just hate to gather the wood!"

"Well, now!" laughed a merry voice, and Bobby's little friend, Gocomeback, the travel elfin, hopped up beside him. "If you had to gather fuel like some folks do, you might have cause to complain."

"Who?" asked Bobby, who was wishing Gocomeback would take him on a trip.

"The little fellows who live in the highlands of Scotland," replied Gocomeback, and before Bobby knew what was happening he was whisked off his feet and set down in front of a queer little thatched hut on the side of a lonely hill.

"This is where a Crofter lives," whispered Gocomeback, pointing to the funny little hut of stones and wood, the cracks stuffed full of heather and fastened to the ground with strong ropes.

Just as he spoke out came the Crofter himself with two spades over his shoulder. Soon his wife, carrying a big basket of lunch, followed by two little boys with their arms full, came running out and joined their father.

"It must be a picnic," whispered Bobby.

"So it is," laughed Gocomeback, "only this picnic is combined with work. The boys are carrying dried peat blocks on which they'll cook their dinner."

"Peat blocks!" exclaimed Bobby. "Where do they get them?"

"From that queer-looking ground out there," replied Gocomeback, pointing to a place where the ground looked black and stringy. "That's a peat-bog. The Crofter's family are too poor to buy coal and if they could there's no way of getting it to his place. He's too far from any railroad, so they have to burn peat blocks."

When they reached the peat-bog the father began at once to cut the turf into blocks about a foot long, while the mother and boys kindled a fire with the dried peat. When the fire was blazing they ran after the father, turning over each block of turf and putting them in long rows.

"Now, why are they doing that?" asked Bobby.

"So the moisture will run out of them," replied Gocomeback. "After a few days in the sun they'll be ready to carry home, where they are piled into huge stacks at the end of the hut, so when the days are cold the family will have plenty of fuel."

"Well!" laughed Bobby, "I'm surely glad I don't live here," and before he could blink his eyes he was standing beside his own woodpile and Gocomeback had disappeared.

"I ought never to complain about gathering wood again," he laughed, and, filling his arms with wood, he went whistling into the house.

The basis and groundwork of friendship is the forgetting of self through that sympathy which must always exist between real friends.

Greatness lies not in being strong, but in the right using of strength, and strength is not rightly used when it only serves to carry a man above his fellows for his own solitary glory.

IN MEMORIAM.

McAULIFFE—In loving memory of Annie McAuliffe, beloved wife of John F. McAuliffe, who entered into rest, Oct. 10, 1917.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love had given;
And though the body moulders here,
The soul is safe in heaven.

CANADIANS WERE FIRST TO ENTER CAMBRAI; MORE THAN 10,000 HUNS WERE CAPTURED

Field Marshal Haig Reports That the Entire City Is Now in the Hands of His Troops— Germans in Retreat Over a Wide Area Following Their Latest Defeat.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The whole of Cambrai is in British possession, Field Marshal Haig reports tonight from headquarters. The Canadians were the first to enter the town.

In the great defeat inflicted on the Germans yesterday between Cambrai and St. Quentin ten thousand prisoners and from one hundred to two hundred guns were captured.

The British have reached the general line of Bohain, Busigny, Caudry and Caurier.

The German retreat from the Scarpe River southward to below St. Quentin, which was begun Tuesday night, enabled the British easily to advance from two to three miles this morning. The advance was continuing, latest advices state.

The British have met with little resistance in the day as they have not been in contact with the German main line.

The weather is bad, otherwise it is believed that the British would have advanced farther.

The Germans are burning villages.

This retreat lengthens the line which the Teutons so long have been trying to shorten and the situation opens many possibilities of retreats elsewhere.

Haig Tells Great Story.

The text of Sir Douglas Haig's statement tonight reads:

"We inflicted a heavy defeat on the enemy yesterday between St. Quentin and Cambrai, taking over ten thousand prisoners and between one hundred and two hundred guns.

"No less than twenty-three German divisions were engaged on this front; they were severely handled.

"The result of this action is that the troops have been enabled to advance today on the whole front between the Somme and the Sensee, and are making rapid progress eastward, capturing rear guard detachments of the enemy, isolated batteries and machine gun posts. Numbers of the inhabitants, who were left in the captured villages, have met the advancing troops with enthusiasm.

Canadians Capture Prize.

"The whole of Cambrai is in our possession. The Canadians entered the town from the north at an early hour this morning, while at a later hour English troops of the Third Army passed through the southern portions of the town.

"Since August 21 the British First, Third and Fourth armies have broken through the whole elaborate series of deep defensive zones built up with successive belts of heavily fortified trench lines, including the entire Hindenburg system on a front of over thirty-five miles from St. Quentin to Arras. Having penetrated this battle area to a depth of between thirty and forty miles, our troops are now operating far beyond and east of the Hindenburg defences.

110,000 Prisoners, 1,200 Guns.

"In the process of these operations and since the date mentioned we have inflicted very heavy losses on the enemy in killed and wounded, and have taken over 110,000 prisoners and 1,200 guns.

"This feat of arms has been performed by British troops who had already withstood the first heaviest onslaughts of the enemy's main forces in the spring. Only the endurance and determined spirits of these troops permitted them to pass to the offensive with such conspicuous success. By their heroic action in defence and attack, the men from all parts of the British Empire have proved themselves soldiers of the highest order.

OTHER CLASSES MAY BE CALLED UP ON ACCOUNT OF THE CASUALTIES

Canadian Government Will Take Up Question at the Next Session.

MAY AMEND THE ACT

Speculation Rife As To Next Move Under the Military Service Act.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—Rumors continue to circulate in the capital and elsewhere as revealed in newspaper dispatches, as to the calling out of additional classes under the military service act. Some of the stories are that the 19-year-olds, already registered, will be called; others predict cancellation of exemptions and appeals in further years of the first class (it only applies now to 20 and 22 inclusive); still other forecasts say that the second class (married men between 20 and 34) will be summoned; a fourth prediction is that the third class (unmarried men between 35 and 41) will be the ones called out, and still a fifth says that all remaining classes may be called.

Until Parliament meets, which is not likely until January, the prediction dealing with the third class can probably be eliminated. Section three of the military service act describes the six classes liable, in the following order:

First, unmarried, between 20 and 34.
Second, married, between 20 and 34.
Third, unmarried, between 35 and 41.
Fourth, married, between 35 and 41.
Fifth, unmarried, between 42 and 45.
Sixth, married, between 42 and 45.

And then the act goes on to say: "The order in which the classes are described in this section shall be the order in which they may be called out on active service."

This seems quite explicitly to dispose of the rumor that the third class may be called before the second, at least until Parliament meets. Any of the other estimates, however, are immediate possibilities.

The Underlying Factors.

There are always definite reasons for renewed speculation and interest in the calling out of men for military service, and also reasons for the Government's action in actually summoning them.

In April, for example, when exemptions and appeals were cancelled for certain years in the first class, the obvious reason was the German offensive, constituting almost the most dangerous moment in the war.

And what is the basis of the talk today? It is, quite evidently, the casualties sustained by the Canadian Army Corps in the recent stupendous victories which have brought at once such national thanksgiving and so much personal bereavement.

It might be said that, whereas in the spring man-power was the Allies' greatest need, the American movement since then has entirely changed the situation. This is true, looking at the Entente forces as a whole, but the American reinforcements will not fill up the ranks of the Canadian divisions; at any rate, they will not fill them up with Canadians. Thus, sooner or later, if our army corps is to be maintained at full strength and efficiency, new calls are inevitable. The only questions are when and who?

What Is 100,000.

As one factor in the problem is the clause in the M. S. A. relating to the one hundred thousand, as follows: "Unless further authorized by Parliament, the reinforcements provided under this act shall not exceed one hundred thousand men." The practical question, therefore, is whether or not the 100,000 mark has been reached.

Most "off-hand" answers would be "yes, or nearly so," but as a matter of fact, on August 28, less than six weeks ago, Lieut.-Col. Machin, director of military service, stated in the practice court at Quebec, that 42,593 was the number of draftees under the act sent overseas as reinforcements. And it is this figure that shows the proportion of the 100,000 raised, because the Government, by order-in-council, has interpreted the word "reinforcements" in the act, to mean "reinforcements for the Canadian Expeditionary Force now engaged in active service overseas."

In other words, the Government can call out as many troops as they like, far above the 100,000, as long as they keep them in Canada. And while they are here, they can be trained for overseas, so that they may be more nearly ready when they go overseas; also, misfits can be combed out on this side, and advantage taken of the selective principle.

When Parliament Needed.

When, finally, the number of reinforcements actually engaged in active service overseas, reaches 100,000, Parliament will have to amend the act, or reinforcements would cease. Meanwhile, however, there is nothing to prevent the Government calling up as many men and as many classes as they see fit.

According to an official statement, on September 23, the total number of men enlisted in the various branches of the C. E. F. since the war broke out, is 581,559.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

THE LOCAL MARKET

The local market was small this morning. Not much produce was offered, the cause being mainly the fact that the farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather to clear up their fall work. Hay was very scarce, and only six loads were offered Wednesday. There is considerably less than required to meet the demand, but nevertheless the price remains firm. Oats are also being offered in lesser quantities at steady prices. Fruit and vegetables are the same in price, and the quality is fine. Tomatoes are becoming scarce, and very few were offered this morning. Cantaloupes are also dwindling in quantity, and today is expected to be about the last day for their sale. Eggs increased in price, selling for 58 and 60 cents per dozen, retail, and from 53c to 54c for crate lots, wholesale, and 55 cents for basket lots.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Opening: Corn—October, $1 13¾; December, $1 10½. Oats — October, 66⅜c; December, 64⅝c.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—New breaks took place today in the corn market, influenced exclusively by developments in the military and diplomatic situation. Rallies ensued, but for the most part quickly failed. The rapid fluctuations indicated plainly the general nervous feeling of traders. Opening prices, which ranged from 1⅞c to 4c net lower, with November at $1 12@1 13, and December at $1 10@1 11, were followed by declines in some cases to under the initial bottom figures.

Oats dropped sharply with corn. General liquidation by holders was in evidence. After opening 1¼c off to ¼c up, with November at 64½@64⅞c, the market recovered slightly and then headed down grade.

WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 10—Wall Street, 10:10 a.m.—Trading in the first half hour of today's stock market was characterized by extreme irregularity, the war division again reacting, while shippings, utilities and oils resumed their activity at material gains. Marine, preferred, rose 3 points, Atlantic-Gulf gaining about half as much, while Western Union, People's Gas, Mexican Petroleum and Texas Company gained 2 to 3 points. Equipments of the class represented by Baldwin Locomotive and the independent steels broke 1 to 2 points. United States Steel yielded a small fraction, but soon rallied a full point. Canadian Pacific also showed some heaviness in the initial dealings, but rallied briskly.

LAMBETH.

LAMBETH, Oct. 9.—"Are we downhearted No!" Traffic on the Traction Line has ceased, but the progressive spirit of our villagers is very much alive. Auto owners are freely offering their services to those whose duties take them to and from the city, but as there are not sufficient Fords to go around, the horse and buggy and "Shanks' mare" have been in use.

The school kiddies will fare the worst, if some regular arrangement is not soon made. The change has affected about 50 regular passengers who go to the city every morning, besides many who go throughout the day. However, "where there is life there is hope," and there is still life in Lambeth. Who will solve the problem? Others have their coal worries. We have natural gas a-plenty, but transportation, nix! All is quiet on the Traction Line today. There is talk of motorbuses, jitneys and hayracks, but the very bad condition of the Wharncliffe road, with a thousand holes to the mile, and the Spanish "flu" so much in evidence, these means of traffic do not look promising.

PATRIOTIC BAZAAR FOR PRISONER FUND A GREAT SUCCESS

Ladies of St. John's Church in Fine Work for Captives.

A patriotic bazaar, held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Church of St. John the Evangelist in aid of the prisoners of war fund, was an undoubted success. This bazaar was given under the auspices of the church choir, with Miss T. Falls as convener. The sale opened at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and continued throughout the evening. Hot supper was served from 5 until 7, and during the evening several musical numbers were given. Solos by Mrs. Victor Blackwell and Mrs. Munroe were much appreciated as well as a violin number and selections from the Sunday school orchestra.

The hall itself was beautifully decorated with flags, wheat and cat-tails. Sheaves of yellow wheat and brown cat-tails framing the windows, and banking the platform.

Some Beautiful Booths.

At the opposite end of the hall an archway, both above and below, was rich in autumn colorings supplied by quantities of vegetables, fruit and flowers grown in the gardens of the choir members. All of these were for sale, and the booth thus formed was known as the vegetable booth in charge of Mrs. Matthews. Mrs. McMillian and Miss Thorne. Perhaps the booth attracting the most attention was the Antique booth. Here silver, china and jewelry in antique design were displayed. One Sheffield silver cake basket was sold for $20. There were an old-fashioned pewter coffee pot, Dutch china tea pot, large Wedgwood plates with stork design, sixty years old, queer old sterling silver spoons with the points bitten off, and a host of other articles as well as brooches, cameo pin, necklaces, etc. An interesting addition to this booth was a box of unset stones, opals, agates, etc. Any articles, which were not sold, will be on sale at the home of Miss T. Falls, 261 Grosvenor street, who was in charge of this booth.

Lots of Goodies.

A semi-antique booth showed a quantity of books and china, over which Mr. Linley presided. A pretty booth, gay with autumn leaves, from which pickles, cakes, etc., were dispensed, was in charge of Mrs. Minhinnick and Mrs. Linley. Another, draped with bunting and flags, featured buttered popcorn, baskets of fruit and ragdols, Miss Lillian Woolley and Miss Rowlands being in charge.

Miss Florence Woolley and the Misses Burg presided over the fish pond and novelty booth. Here every variety of doll as well as a host of other interesting articles were displayed. Useful articles such as sprons, mats, dust caps, etc., were sold at another red and white booth, in charge of Miss Francis, while fancy work of every description was shown by Mrs. Maitin and Miss Gower.

The supper room, gay with Chinese lanterns and flags, was exceedingly popular.

DOROTHY DALTON IN THRILLING PLAY AT THE MAJESTIC FOR TODAY ONLY

John Fiddes, the Silver-Voiced Tenor, Receiving Great Reception.

LONESOME LUKE COMEDY

Program at Popular Theatre Designed to Please All.

Dorothy Dalton, one of the screen's greatest favorites, is appearing at the Majestic Theatre again today in her latest success, "Vive La France." Those who witnessed this production on Wednesday pronounce it to be one of the best war dramas yet presented by the aid of motion picture photography.

It is a Red Cross war story. Dorothy Dalton, as Jenevieve Bouchette, a motion picture actress, returns to her home in France when informed that her parents have been murdered by German soldiers. Her sweetheart and leading man, John Walton, enlists. She is captured by Germans and taken to an old chateau, where she meets Walton, who has been wounded, and saves his life. She escapes and carries his message to the French commander. As a result of his wounds he loses memory. Jenevieve has been branded with the German "cross of shame." She and John are reunited and both are decorated for their service. She nurses him back to health, and his memory is restored.

Harold Lloyd, in a comedy, "Bees in His Bonnet," injects "barrels of fun" in two reels.

A News Weekly shows many interesting scenes.

Lila Lee in Her First Photoplay at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday.

Lila Lee, the "Cuddles" of the famous Gus Edwards Revue, will appear at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday in her first photoplay, "The Cruise of the Make-Believes." In this photoplay Lila Lee injects more "pep" to every foot of film than has been "shot" into a similar picture in months. It's her maiden effort in the realm of motion pictures, and she makes good to the limit.

VOTE MAY BE TAKEN ON CHANGING NAME OF BOARD OF TRADE

Some Members Would Have Body Known as Chamber of Commerce.

"Shall the name of the London Board of Trade be changed?" This question has been asked a number of times since the expansion and reorganization movement was undertaken. It will have to be answered one way or the other, for there are enough men in the city who are going to be members of the new body to insist on it. The matter has been brought to the attention of the members of the advisory and campaign committees several times. In fact, at almost every meeting they have held someone has raised the question, and there has been considerable debate on it.

"Chamber of Commerce."

Those who argue for a change make various suggestions, most of them, however, being a change to Chamber of Commerce. This is a name most common in the United States. Its adoption in Canada has thus far been confined to Montreal and the border cities (Windsor, etc.). The Winnipeg Board of Trade was reorganized about two months ago and its name was changed by the addition of "Industrial Bureau."

In all the discussions of the proposal to change the name of the London organization there are those who call attention to the fact that "Board of Trade" is a distinctively British and Canadian title, established by long usage and sanctioned by the fact that it conveys to the mind a meaning that is very definite.

May Take a Vote.

The net result thus far of the several discussions of the subject is that it has assumed such proportions that among the first things for the new organization to take up will probably be a referendum. The present executive committee, the campaign committee, and others who are promoting the reorganization, say that obviously they cannot undertake to answer the question; that it is something which concerns the members as a whole, and they alone can give the right answer.

NO. FOUR DIVISION SHORT OF BEDDING

No. 4 Division of St. John Ambulance Association which is doing such splendid work in fighting the influenza epidemic issues an appeal for the gift or loan of bedding for ten beds. Any help that can be given along this line will be greatly appreciated.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

RE MEN EXEMPTED AS FARMERS

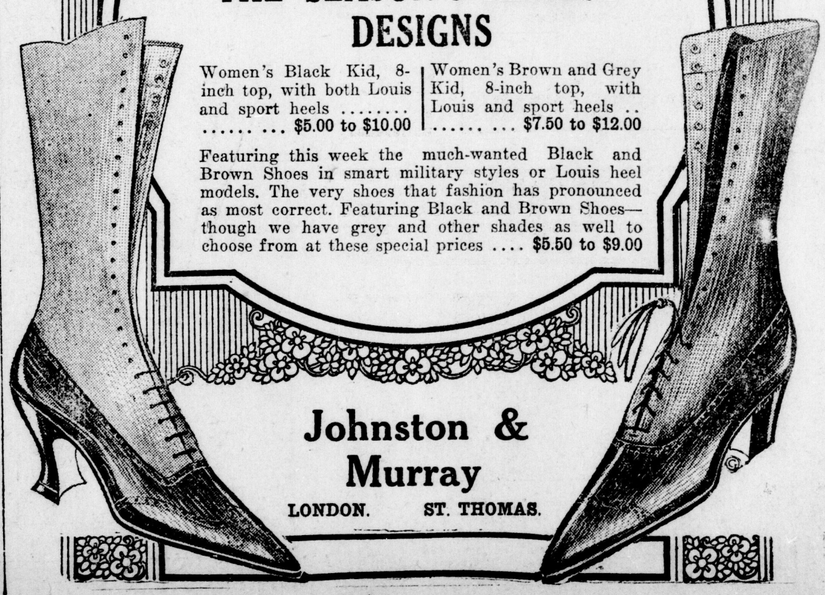

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Each and every mail at this office brings numerous requests for extensions of time granted to men who have upon reporting for service been allowed leave of absence by the military authorities for the purpose of working on the farms. These inquiries are the outcome of not clearly reading the notice issued by the military service branch and published in the daily papers.

The extension of time to which the notice refers is to that period granted to all members of Class 1, possessing exemption as farmers, which is about to expire. Such men have never been called for service, and are still under the registrar's jurisdiction. Farmers who were called for service reported, and subsequently granted leave by the military authorities, are not affected by this notice, as they are under the control of the military authorities, and any communication they may wish to make concerning leave must be addressed to the officer commanding the unit to which they belong.

I would appreciate very much if you would give the above information prominence in your paper in order to clear up the confusion which seems to exist in the minds of farmers. Yours truly,

H. F. BERESFORD.
Deputy Registrar, Under Military Service Act.
