

THANKS TO JOHN WORLD LEAGUE WINNING WEAK

STORM FEELS FLYING HIGH IN BUS FIGHT

Ismet Pasha Accepts British Demands and Saves Lau- sanne Parley.

Christian Minorities Under Rule of Ottoman Will Be Protected.

By HENRY WOOD.
Special to The Advertiser.
Lausanne, Dec. 14.—War and massacre in the Near East, feared inevitable if the League of Nations conference broke up, was averted at the eleventh hour today.

Ismet Pasha, Turkish spokesman, accepted a British proposal for protection of Christian minorities in Constantinople and parts of Asia
Minor dominated by the Turks.
Moreover, the Kemal leader announced on behalf of his government Turkey's readiness to join the League of Nations. As a result, the parley will not break up.

The conference had reached a crisis as Ismet Pasha rose to reply for Marquis Curzon yesterday left him with an ultimatum to accept the League and guarantee the safety of Christians or end the parley.

Turks Were Amazed.
The strong stand taken by the British spokesman amazed the Turks, but left the allies fearful of a break. It was believed that extremists among the Ottomans might precipitate trouble in the Near East.
If the Lausanne peace conference ended summarily, Great Britain therefore, was felt at the conciliatory tone of Ismet Pasha's reply.

America had no voice in the ultimum delivered to Turkey yesterday, but Ambassador Child, United States observer, previously had announced for protection of Christians in Turkish territory.

Marquis Curzon, on behalf of England, M. Barere for France, and Marquis Di Gironi for Italy each congratulated Ismet Pasha on Turkey's decision to join the League of Nations and accept the League's supervision over the Christian peoples of Turkey.

The conference then proceeded amicably to other questions.

Ismet Pasha Haughty.
Ismet Pasha, despite his acceptance of Marquis Curzon's demands, spoke in a somewhat haughty tone. He answered the British foreign secretary's launt for taunt, and said the Turks' hands were as clean as those of England and France.

Turkey cannot grant a national home for Armenians, he reiterated.
Finally he declared Turkey has no part in the League of Nations, and is therefore willing to join it at the conclusion of peace.

ACT WHEN PEACE SIGNED.
Canadian Press.
Lausanne, Dec. 14.—Turkey will join the League of Nations as soon as peace is signed at Lausanne, Ismet Pasha announced at the Near East conference today. As the League exercises general supervision over minority populations, Ismet's announcement was interpreted as meaning that Turkey will accept the League's supervision over the Christian peoples of Turkey.

Turkey accepts in principle the application to the national minorities in her territory of the clauses on this subject inserted in the Austrian, Bulgarian and other peace treaties. Ismet Pasha declared at this morning's session of the Near East conference, and also the granting of amnesty to the members of those minorities.

Turkey, said Ismet, likewise agreed in principle to the plan for her seeking admittance to the League of Nations. She refused, however, to accept the demand for the creation of a national home for the Armenians and the expulsion of members of the minorities from military service.

Protect Minorities.
Ismet said Turkey was ready to accord the same treatment to minorities as was provided in the peace treaties exchanged between the other European countries.

In replying to Ismet Pasha, Marquis Curzon said he was happy to notice that the Turkish delegation has changed its tone and reached an understanding of the vast importance of the minorities question.

He thought Ismet's most important announcement was the decision of Turkey to enter the League of Nations, and the granting of amnesty to the members of those minorities.
which Lord Curzon hoped would be an accomplished fact in about a month. He believed Turkey's decision would facilitate solution of many of the problems before the conference.

Pleased With Attitude.
The British spokesman emphasized that the clauses in the European treaties mentioned by Ismet implied supervision of the minority populations by the League of Nations, and said he was happy to see that Turkey was accepting control by the League.
She could count upon the adequate protection and guarantees which the League provided.

He expressed the hope that the conference sub-committee on minorities would be able to study the question of establishing a national home for the Armenians, and urged exemption from military service of the Christian peoples of Turkey.

Lord Curzon assured the Turks that they need entertain no fears of the League of Nations infringing on the rights of their country. Turkey could always speak out freely as a member of the League.

M. Barere and Marquis Di Gironi, heads of the French and Italian delegations, also voiced their pleasure at the conciliatory attitude adopted by the Turks, and said this justified optimism in the outcome of the conference.

CLOSING MARKETS AND LATEST NEWS OF THE DAY

STOCKS HOLD WELL DESPITE REACTION

New York Market Moves Aimlessly—Sterling Goes Up Once More.

By STUART P. WEST.
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Dec. 14.—Today's stock market, during the greater part of the time, pursued a rather aimless course. The fact that prices have been going up almost uninterruptedly for more than a week led the speculative element to feel that some reaction was due.

This sentiment showed in somewhat heavy profit-taking, following the early advance. But where stocks slipped back in some directions fresh buying appeared in others. It was a market which, although very much mixed, did not betoken any essential change from the quiet tone of confidence maintained through the operations of the previous day.

Sterling exchange, after its abrupt six-cent recoil from the high of Wednesday morning, resumed the upward movement, but in a much more moderate way. It is characteristic of the interviews with bankers on the subject of the recent return of the pound sterling to the gold standard, and that none of these opinions is at all satisfactory.

To attribute the rise to "speculation" or to another artificial factor quoted, to "politics," is quite ridiculous. While all the big fluctuations in the exchange market during the last three and a half years—that is, since the British government withdrew its "Peg"—speculation has been a factor, but it has been a factor only in the way of emphasizing, or at times exaggerating, the facts of the economic situation.

RAISE WAGES TO OLD LEVEL AS LAST ACT

FINANCE COMMITTEE, IN FINAL SESSION LAST NIGHT, RESTORE GARBAGE WORKERS' WAGES.

Real Estate Men Threaten to Ask Investigation of School Affairs.

FIGHT OVER SITE WARMS Trustees Rushing Prepara- tions to Build Oliver Street School.

ECHOES OF CONFLICT Rights Grievance Dating Back to Stormy Meetings Early in Year.

As a whirlwind finish, members of the finance committee in regular session last night moved to restore the garbage workers' wages.

This recommendation, at the instigation of Mayor Cameron Wilson, will be submitted to the council as a body at their last meeting this year, Monday night next. Full approval of the move is freely anticipated in municipal circles today.

"None of us will oppose that measure," was the consensus of opinion expressed to The Advertiser today by members of the council who were not in attendance last night.

The elevation of the present scale becomes effective Dec. 15. It is explained, however, that the move will not be made until after the council meeting on Monday night. It will be incumbent upon the 1923
council to reconsider the proposition.
It is more than likely, however, that the move will be made.

Those who keep conversant with the municipal proceedings from time to time, recollect the bitter controversy that raged in the city council during the early portion of this year, when Mayor Wilson first proposed a plan for retrenchment, and introduced his 10 per cent salary reduction project for all civic departments.

While the mayor was supported by his associates in this city council, but with one exception, Ald. H. E.
Asplund, he did not receive the cooperation that he anticipated from the other warding bodies.

Open conflict between the city council and the board of education, resulted from the suggestion that the trustees institute a similar temporary reduction among their employees, including the school teachers.

Feast of the Maccabees Is Celebrated By City Jews

Lighting of White Candles Marks Commencement of Festival Akin to Christian Christmas—Continues for Eight Nights—Story of Judah Maccabee.

With a feeling of solemnity, close akin to that which hovers about the celebration of the Christian festival of Christmas, a white candle will be lighted tonight in 150 Jewish homes in the city, marking the commencement of the feast of the Maccabees, or, as it is known in the Hebrew language, the feast of Chanukah.

For eight nights the feast will continue, and each night an extra candle will be lighted. The proceeding is a reminder of the ancient Jewish legend that when Judah Maccabee and his followers entered the temple, which they wrested from the hands of the invaders, they found a quantity of oil in the sacred vessel, sufficient to burn only one night, but through the agency of their prayers the oil was kept alight for eight days and eight nights.

Time of Thanksgiving. To the Jewish people the feast of the Maccabees, or, as it is sometimes known, the feast of the Dedication, means a time of thanksgiving and rejoicing. It is at this time that they exchange gifts; a practice similar to that carried out by Christians at Christmas time.

Although the offering of additional prayers is inserted in the regular prayers of the synagogue, the feast is more a national festival than a religious observance, and it is considered quite permissible to follow the daily work throughout the celebration.

As with Christmas time, it holds much in store for the children. The lighting of the white candles has for them the same significance as a Christmas tree for Christian children. Presents are given them, and at the commencement of the feast they gather with their parents and are told in simple fashion the historical background of the celebration; the story of the recapture of Jerusalem by Judah Maccabee and his followers from the mad king of Syria.

Story of Tyranny. Sometimes it is the custom to gather together the children of several families, and they are feasted, and the story is told them. The feast recalls in particular the events of 168 to 165 B. C., in Palestine, when the Jews were driven to the worship of false gods by the tyrannies of Antiochus Epiphanes, or the man man, king of Syria, who had resolved to quench the lamp of religious liberty, and to convert the temple of Mount Moriah, in the city of Jerusalem, was desecrated by his orders, and it seemed as though Israel and his sacred heritage were doomed to be swept away by the rising tide of heathenism.

This enforced obedience to a heathen king was the cause of hatred germinated in the hearts of the Palestinian Jews against Antiochus, which resulted in the revolt that led instantly to war with Syria. The Jewish forces were led by Mattathias, the head of a princely family, who rallied a small band of loyal followers to defy the king and wrest freedom for his countrymen from the tyrannies and blasphemies of the mad emperor.

Triumph of Mattathias. With the support of his son Judah, to whom tradition has given the name Maccabee, and his four heroic brothers, the Assameonians, he led to triumph the small handful of Palestinian farmers, who, inspired with holy zeal, defeated all the Syrian generals in a campaign which lasted four years.

When victory was complete the temple at Jerusalem was renovated, the idolatrous images removed, and the altar rededicated to the worship of the true God. It is in remembrance of this dedication, and to voice the hope that all men will eventually be banded together in one covenant of righteousness and love, that the festival is celebrated.

GRAYDON DEFENDS ACTIONS IN COURT

Magistrate Replies to Charge of Injustice Made by Aldermen.

When informed that certain members of the city council had been discussing the strict enforcement of the parking bylaws of the city, claiming they had received complaints that drivers were picking up passengers on the wrong side of Queen's avenue, Magistrate Graydon stated: "I never fined a man for picking up passengers on the wrong side of the street. I fined the man in this particular case for parking on the wrong side of the street. He stood in front of the Winter Gardens waiting for passengers to come out. Another man who just picked up a passenger there I allowed to go."

"The parking bylaw is one of the best bylaws we have," he added. "That particular spot on Queen's avenue is one where accidents are very likely to occur."

Queen's avenue is a one-side parking street, a bylaw passed by the council making it an offence to park on the south side of the street. The motorists in question were two taxi men who drove up to the Winter Gardens. In one case, the customer was waiting for the taxi, and in the other the taxi was parked on the south side until the customers came out of the dance hall. The driver in this second instance left his taxi to meet the customers.

THE BANK CLEARINGS for the week amounted to $2,377,897, in contrast to $2,384,144 for the corresponding week last year.

MAY SIFT SCHOOL BOARD'S ACTIONS

That move was the next on the part of the real estate board.

Petition Circulated. Mr. Palmer was of the opinion that a petition with over 500 names had been sent in, protesting against the erection of the school on the site of the alleged school. Mr. Palmer became of the opinion that the petition was not a valid one, but he was firmly convinced that 500 names would not be given to cover the protesting citizens of the city.

"Why in spite of the fact that I was defeated in the ward at the last election," claimed ex-Ald. Palmer, "I headed the petition? Well, I headed the petition because the school board is endeavoring to put that school. The people there know me, and they know of my stand against the school. They know I am a death trap."

"The people in that district know that it is nothing short of a crime to build a school on that site. It is a death-trap. Any motorist knows the traffic that is constantly moving at that point, would be an unending menace to young lives. We are not alone in the district, a number of the most prominent businessmen in the city are urging us to see the matter to a finish, and are promising us their support."

"The school board seems to think it a joke," said Mr. Palmer, "but let them go ahead. Some of the answers they may be asked to give on a public stand would make very interesting reading, particularly in reference to the central college."

Mr. Palmer was of the opinion that the school board was rushing the construction of the school because they were, as he said, aware that the supporters of the Trafalgar site would be in a minority when the new board was inaugurated.

"During the past year Trustees Wright, Rowe and Udy were with us, and opposed the Trafalgar site. From every angle I claimed Mr. Palmer. 'They'll not be in a minority after the new year. I know of other opponents of that frivolous scheme who will be on the board. That's why they are in such a hurry now,' he said."

JAMES GRAY, elected president of the London Chamber of Commerce at yesterday's meeting of the board.

ELECT JAMES GRAY C. OF C. PRESIDENT
Local Chamber Chooses Head for New Year—Port Stanley Harbor Improvements Recommended.

By unanimous vote, James Gray was yesterday afternoon elected to the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the directors in the Tecumseh House.

Vice-presidents elected were A. E. Silverwood and Major Gordon Ingram.

In an endeavor to secure improvements badly needed in the harbor at Port Stanley, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce are to consult with the various public bodies of Elgin and Middlesex, acting on the suggestion of Hugh McKillop, M. P. for West Elgin, made at the opening of the London-St. Thomas highway.

Reference was made by three of the members, E. S. Little, John S. Moore and George H. Belton, to the condition of the harbor, and the sand bar, and wreckage, which present a barrier to larger vessels at the harbor mouth.

Asking the support and co-operation of local merchants in their action, the Chamber of Commerce forwarded to Premier King a telegram of protest against the receipt tax, the enforcement of which goes into effect January 1.

Tentative plans on the new building at the Western Fair were submitted by E. S. Little, the chairman of the building committee, which provided for 50,000 feet of floor space, with two floors, are to be submitted for consideration before the manufacturers of London and Western Ontario.

Reports were received from the Ontario appointed to report on the desirability of holding a made-in-London show, which will be held for educational purposes.

News From City Churches

CENTENNIAL W. M. S.
The Christmas meeting of the Centennial W. M. S. held yesterday afternoon, was most interesting and inspiring.

With the president, Mrs. Pirie, in the chair, an address on "The Church and Childhood of Jesus" was given by Mrs. Childs, and a presentation of the certificate of life membership was given to Mrs. Francis, an esteemed member of the society.

A Christmas solo was beautifully rendered by Mrs. Page, and the meeting closed with a social half hour under the convensership of Mrs. Lancaster.

Six New Cardinals Invested at Great Rome Ceremonial

Insignia of Elevation Bestowed on Princes of Church by Pope Pius.

Rome, Dec. 14.—Public investiture by Pope Pius of six of the eight new cardinals took place in St. Peter's this morning, when at the first public consistory of the pontificate the recently created princes of the church received from the pontiff the red hat and the rochet insignia of their elevation.

Cardinal Locatelli and Cardinal Casanova were absent, the former being in Lisbon and the latter in Toledo. They will be invested by the hands of their respective states.

Today's consistory was the first held for many years in the hall of beatifications, which has been closed during the restoration of the ceiling. This work, however, was completed several months ago.

From almost the break of day carriages, motors and cabs streamed along the road leading from the center of the city to the ancient borgo, where stand the apostolic palaces. In the throng that hastened thus to St. Peter's were men in formal attire, women in black dresses and lace mantillas, papal diplomats, members of the Roman aristocracy and the more plainly-dressed monks and nuns.

TRAIN COLLISION TAKES BIG TOLL

Ten Dead and Thirty Injured as Result of Accident in Houston, Texas.

Special to The Advertiser. Houston, Texas, Dec. 14.—Ten persons are known to be dead and thirty injured as a result of a collision of a Houston East and West Texas passenger train and a switch engine at Humble, near here last night. Four of the known dead are white and others negroes.

The reason—right behind, running stride for stride, and gaining slightly, was a large white bulldog. Sir Tomcat, however, was not to be outspit, and also—growing in spite—arched his back. The bulldog did likewise, only omitting the spitting, and with a look at the menacing picture of feline fury, exhibited for his benefit, turned and beat it for home, while the aforesaid bulldog, with a look at the direction of the hastily-departing bulldog, straightened out and majestically pursued his interrupted journey.—C. Six New Cardinals Invested at Great Rome Ceremonial

Insignia of Elevation Bestowed on Princes of Church by Pope Pius.

When the pontiff entered, borne from his private apartments in the Vatican by the cardinals and prelates (chair of command) he was received by the strains of the beautiful "Tu es Petrus" chant, which was sung by the choir of the Vatican. The pontiff was accompanied by his entire court, two chamberlains, one on either side, and a large number of officials, including the fan-shaped ostrich feather "babele."

Behind the papal chair came all the great functionaries of the Vatican as well as the cardinals and prelates resident or visiting in Rome, attired in their gorgeous robes of office. As the pope took his seat beneath a canopy of violet silk and gold, behind which hung purple and gold tapestries, the cardinals opened the consistory by kissing his hand. The new cardinals, each escorted by two cardinal deacons, were then led into the pope's study, where they knelt on the lowest step of the throne and kissed the pontiff's foot, hand and cheek, retiring to a bench at the left of the altar.

Then as they resumed their kneeling posture before the pope the masters of ceremonies drew out of the pope's hands a magnificent scarlet silk coat of arms, and the pontiff, holding the coat of arms, repeated the words of presentation to their high office.

HANGS FROM DOOR OF WELAND JAIL

Charles Beckett, Awaiting Trial for Murder, Defeats Course of Law.

Wendell, Ont., Dec. 14.—Charles Beckett, awaiting trial for the murder of Dwight Ditts, Pelham Center farmer, committed suicide in the county jail some time early this morning. It was just three weeks after the Thursday when Beckett clubbed Ditts to death in the Ditts' barn, that Beckett took his own life. Guard Abel Miller discovered the dead body of Beckett in his cell early this morning.

Beckett, had twisted together some bed clothes, fastened them to the ceiling of the door, and evidently allowed his body to sag down until strangulation occurred. Although two prisoners slept in the same cell with Beckett, they knew nothing of what had happened. Beckett had apparently gone about in silence, and must have exhibited iron will in refraining from struggling or in some manner making noise enough to arouse his cell mates. When he discovered some time before 5 o'clock he had apparently been dead for some time.

Dr. J. H. Howell was telephoned by the jail authorities and viewed the body, but nothing could be done. A jury was empaneled which viewed the body. The inquest will be resumed tomorrow night. Beckett was merely awaiting trial for medical examination to test his sanity he could only be treated as an ordinary prisoner. Beckett received the attention as the others, and in most respects was a model prisoner. While he had exhibited signs of not being quite normal, he was never at any time been violent since being taken to the jail. As a rule he had slept soundly and had readily submitted to jail discipline.

STILL FIGHT BITTERLY TO WIN OVER RHODESIA
Canadian Press Cable, via Reuter's. Cape Town, S. A., Dec. 14.—J. McDonald, a prominent member of the Rhodesia Union Association, in an interview yesterday stated that the association intended to contest every seat at the next election in Rhodesia. He declared that fully two-fifths of the voters in the recent referendum in favor of Rhodesia entering the South African Union or assuming local responsible government, were in favor of Rhodesia entering the union. Notwithstanding the majority vote in favor of local responsible government, Mr. McDonald said, the unionists were growing in strength.

TRAFFIC SYSTEM TO BE IMPROVED

Ald.-Elect William Wilson Expects Better Regulations at Main Thoroughfares.

"Let's have better traffic regulation at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets," urges Ald.-Elect William Wilson.

The ex-chairman of the board of works reminded The Advertiser to-day that he was the undisputed "father of the silent policeman scheme."

"Other people have been urging improved service at the main intersection," he asserted confidently, "but I am the man who always fought in the city council for the installation of a semaphore."

Mr. Wilson is quite agreed that this proposal would meet with every success. He relates that he has noted a similar arrangement in other cities and that considerable time was saved and the handling of traffic was rendered less difficult.

With members of the new council already interesting themselves in this phase of the city's traffic problems, it is reasonably safe to assume that 1933 will witness a sweeping change for the better at the intersection of the two main thoroughfares.

A recent survey of the street railway service, undertaken by The Advertiser, revealed that unsatisfactory delays are occasioned at these corners, most of which can be attributed to the system now in vogue.

The remainder of the responsibility must be shouldered by those citizens who unconsciously enough, perhaps, take their time in getting on and off cars, unless they happen to be in a desperate hurry.

SOUTHERN TOWN IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

Business Block in Ruins and Flames Demolishing Another Before Water Procured.

Special to The Advertiser. Altoona, Pa., Dec. 14.—With one entire business block in ruins, and flames demolishing another, the little town of Juniata was threatened with destruction today. The borough reservoir is dry and there is practically no water with which to fight the conflagration.

The fire started in a barber shop at 4:30 a.m. and spread unchecked while fire fighters sought desperately for any means to get water to the zone. The Pennsylvania Railway gave thousands of gallons from its reservoir but the flames continued to gain headway.

"An acute water shortage has existed for some time, Juniata shops of the Pennsylvania railway being closed on this account."

After the fire had raged for five hours and more than twenty buildings had been destroyed at a loss of a quarter of a million dollars, dynamite was resorted to today, and the Pennsylvania railway gave thousands of gallons from its reservoir but the flames continued to gain headway.

RADIO FOG SIGNALS SEEN AS LAKES' NEED

Washington, Dec. 14.—Inquiry at headquarters of the lighthouse service Wednesday brought information that the Great Lakes have no radio fog signals, either in operation or in prospect, although the annual report of the service's operations describes their usefulness along the ocean coasts at considerable length.

The navy department has the only equipment of this kind on the lakes, maintaining radio compass stations at Detroit, Whitefish Point and Grand Marais, all in the upper peninsula of Michigan. These stations give directional observations to ships within 200 miles so that their captains may know their exact position within two degrees.

QUEBEC HOUSE FIGHTS OVER UPKEEP OF ROADS

Quebec, Dec. 14.—The government highways bill, which held the attention of the legislative assembly in the resolution stage practically all day Tuesday, was again at the heart of contention in the house yesterday, when the bill was under study in committee of the house.

The bill, which provides for the government taking over the cost of the maintenance of main highways and regional, aggregating in all 728 miles of roads, was passed in committee of the house, and third reading deferred until Thursday.

The house gave third reading to the Quebec bill to amend the municipal code to permit municipal corporations to expropriate sand and gravel pits or stone quarries for the construction of roads.

SAYS BUSINESS WOMEN CAN BE GOOD MOTHERS

New York, Dec. 14.—The Rev. Percy Stickney Grand, D.D., of the Church of the Ascension, talked of married women and careers in his address. His address was based on "This Freedom," A. S. M. Hutchinson's novel, in which the author pictures disaster in the lives of children of his heroine, a talented woman who chose to continue her career after marriage.

Dr. Grand said he had not read the novel, but he scoffed at the idea that the children of business or artistic mothers do not turn out well. A good business woman, he declared, can also be a successful mother, and he added that he knows of many instances where business women have children who are exceptions to the fictional examples chosen by the author.

Dr. Grand said girls who can marry only with the prospect of continuing in business careers should do so rather than remain single. He said he knew of many cases where children have turned out badly even with good home training.

FARMER USES BEES TO HATCH OUT EGGS

"LET GEORGE DO IT," CHORUS COUNCIL

Registry Office Project Will Be Left to Incoming Council to Deal With.

"On to '33" is the city hall slogan for the registry office project. The site has been selected and approved. Plans have been prepared and approved. Tenders have been received and opened. Twice the provincial authorities have been apprised of the true facts of the case. Still no movement is discernible at Toronto.

"Let George do it," chorused the councillors last night, and Mayor Wilson concurred. "We have got the proposition all ready. They can build it next year."

A vote of appreciation passed unanimously will be forwarded to the Middlesex County council, at the suggestion of the mayor, thanking the members of that body for their ready and continued co-operation toward the selection of the site on county land.

Working Together.

"Let the farmers and the people in the city of London get together on this affair."

Such is the plea made in a letter to The Advertiser, written by Ida M. Mitchell, who runs a dairy farm at Wilton Grove. She refers to the statements of Dr. Hill of London about milk in its average state being a dirty food, and believes that it was his intention to make the people think. In this way the residents of London would demand better milk, and those dealing in the commodity would have to respond to the demand for better milk.

The writer of the letter has had experience both as a dairy farmer and conducting a milk business in the city, and she places blame on all shoulders, not by any means excluding the consumers in the city for the way in which they handle milk after it is delivered to their houses. Going farther our correspondent states her belief that the one solution for the whole problem is that the people of the country and the people of the city should get together on the matter, the former producing the milk, and the latter attending to the business of pasteurizing and distribution. By this co-operative action our correspondent believes the people of the city could be served with better milk at a lower figure.

There can be no question that the present system of distributing milk is costly and wasteful. Almost any street in the city can furnish examples that will prove this to be so. Three or four milk wagons can be seen on the same street at various times of the day, and in the aggregate all this overlapping is nothing but a large economic loss.

The suggestion is well worth considering. If, by this way the milk producers could get a price for their product that would enable them to engage in a profitable business, they would be in a better position to go ahead and bring their properties up to the high standard that would undoubtedly be demanded. Then, too, as time went on, there could be a program worked out by which cows supplying the city with milk could be judged according to their production of milk rich in butter fat, rather than by their production of quarts and gallons. The scheme, also, has the possibility of providing a much-needed link between city and country life. There is something wholesome about the suggestion that the people of the country and the people of the city should "work together" in the question of supplying so important a thing as milk to the city of London.

Tracing the People.

The St. Catharines Standard says the Retail Merchants' Association of the Border Cities asks if there is a bylaw in that town compelling a person leaving the place to notify the civic authorities. It is claimed that such a bylaw will be attempted in Windsor.

The St. Catharines paper refers to it as legislation gone mad, claiming that such a thing might fit in with German ideas, but would be out of place here.

It may be that the merchants in Windsor want to have some reliable means of finding out where people go, and think the civic authorities would make a convenient link in the collection system.

Honestly, brother, we can't see why any person should want to tell the civic authorities about his going out or his coming in. They have a most uncanny way of finding these things out themselves. Yes, sir, they have.

Shortly after that a man with a big book and a big list of questions parks on the veranda. You tell the lineup in the house, and whether you own the place or just rent it. Thus does city hall determine whether you pay taxes, or if the young men in the premises had not better drop around and pay poll tax. And, would you believe it, that in only a short space of time the city sends you an entry blank for the year's income tax contest. If you're knocking the ball over the fence on the salary list you must pay for the extra fiddlers. Once more you nestle closer in the arms of the municipality, and once more do they make arrangements to put a branch of their financial derrick in your right-hand pocket.

Now, here's an odd thing, too, but it shows how municipalities seek to extend a welcome to every member of the household. Get a dog at your house? It used to be a great plan to have the dog out under the barn the day the assessor came. In town we haven't any barns. Dogs grow friendly, and when the assessor comes around said dog is likely to be waving his tail like a windmill, thinking it's the butcher with the day's soup bone. Thus the dog gets listed for an assortment of civic jewelry.

So there you are, sonny, they've got the whole family sewed up tight to the city hall. And in spite of all this civic embracing merchants in Windsor want to have it so people who are going to leave town will have to stand up and yell. We'd rather be inclined to favor the bonusing of a secret but where folks could go and hide now and then.

A Tribute to Britain.

The British pound is making new records on the New York market, going over 4.67 at the last quotation. That is about the same as our dollar when it was quoted around 96 cents in New York, and even at that discount we were sure our dollar was "quite a coin, and well worth 100 cents."

The recovery of the British pound sterling is a reflection of the ability and willingness of Britain to pay taxes and discharge debt, and at the same time seek trade openings and extensions wherever possible.

The recovery of the British pound in New York has been a matter of gradual advance. There is nothing artificial or forced. Figures show the following quotations for the year:

January 1	4.19%
February	4.28%
March	4.44
April	4.39 11-16
May	4.42%
June	4.44%
July	4.42%
August	4.44%
September	4.46
October	4.38%
November	4.45%
December 1	4.51%
December 13	4.67%

There are enough world forces and unfriendly interests at work to keep the pound back as much as possible. When there has been a chance to batter down the sterling rate in New York said forces have arrived early and stayed late.

What does it mean? That Britain is surely asserting her strength as a financial and commercial center—that she has been working along solid and substantial lines in her battle to overcome after-war conditions—and that the world acknowledges the fact by placing the seal of financial approval in increasing measure upon the currency that carries the backing and name of Britain.

Luck to you, Mr. Pound Sterling. May your habits be such that you may soon reach your full height of 4.86 and fractions.

Much Was Promised.

A rather significant remark was made by Dr. Gordon Henderson, counsel for the board of pension commissioners, at a recent inquiry at Ottawa. Dr. Henderson said in part:

"When the war was on and the people were in danger—self-preservation is the first law of nature—those at home were prepared to make promises to those who enlisted, and were prepared to go a long way—some of the representatives said much further than they thought they were going—on behalf of the soldier. But human nature is human nature, and when the war was over and we were safe, we commenced to regret many of our extravagant promises."

That probably states the case exactly, in the light of things that have happened since Armistice Day.

When men were enlisting for war we were busy clapping them on the back and telling them they would certainly be looked after when the war was over.

Certainly we were not going and telling them that on their return we would allow them to sell door-knocker and odds and ends from door to door.

Nor did we inform them that their service button would be a hindrance rather than a help in securing employment.

We promised in mountains and made good in foothills.

TO THE EDITOR

THE FARMER'S FINANCES.

Criman, Ont., Dec. 13.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir—One of the most important questions before the people of this country to-day, and one in which the agriculturists are most concerned, is the immigration policy about to be launched by the federal government. If, as the late Goldwin Smith once said, the chief function of a colony was to furnish homes for the surplus population of the mother country, then it cannot be said that in this respect Canada has been negligent in her duty. For years this country has been a dumping-ground for all classes of immigrants, many of whom have been gathered from the slums of large cities and are the product of vicious and diseased parents. These unfortunate have been brought into this country without any capital, have been allowed to marry, and have cast their callow offspring on decent society to support.

Apart from the undesirable immigrant, there is another side to the question which deserves some serious consideration. Are conditions on the farm at the present time such as warrant the bringing out of 250,000 men, and is the remuneration received sufficient to guarantee the placing of these men on the land? Let us examine Statistics show that in this, the banner province of the Dominion of Canada, the average made by the Ontario farmer in 1914 was $454; in 1915, $486; in 1916, $486, and the peak was reached in 1919 at $836. In 1920 it dropped to $219. The losses on the average 100-acre farm are from $1 to $125 per acre. Many tax collectors, in fact, are carrying with them not only this but last year's tax-rolls. Farmers who were fortunate enough to have any wheat left after the scourge of the Hessian fly were able to dispose of it at the magnificent price of 95 cents per bushel. If he had corn left after the ravages of the corn-borer he could sell it at 35 cents; barley sells at 60 cents, oats at 35 to 40 cents, and cattle and horses are a drug on the market.

Out of the meagre proceeds he receives for his produce the farmer has to buy in a protected market. A binder sells at $250, manure-spreader $190, hay tedder $85, hay loader $112, rake $50, and other implements in proportion. In face of these astounding facts, our wise legislators propose to deluge this country with 250,000 immigrants to produce more grain, cattle and horses, and to drive prices still lower. Would Tom Moore, Sir John Villison or Sir Jos. Flavelle go on the land? I believe one day in a July sun would convince Sir Joseph that there is more money in curing ham than in raising hay.

Under present conditions and until there is a readjustment of prices, our legislators would be well advised to go slow.

When only farmers are to be brought out, men of sense are beginning to look with suspicion on this wildcat movement. I believe, however, the general public might acquiesce in the bringing out of a few thousand of the professional class. Anyone who has visited a doctor's office will soon discover that his pocketbook is felt almost as soon as his pulse. A twenty-minute repose in a dental chair will convince the most skeptical there is more money in filling teeth than there is in filling silos.

But the nervous chill comes when you go to the office of an oculist. A right will cost you from $8 to $5. Then you are sent to an optician, where you are relieved of another $10 or $12 for glasses. It must be apparent to our legislators that the prices charged by the professional class are out of all reason as compared with the prices received by the farmer. There should be an immediate investigation and a substantial reduction in prices asked.

Canada is an agricultural country, and upon its success depends the success of all other industries. Any policy that injures the farmer must bring evil results and will eventually destroy the foundations of our national prosperity.

Your Health

HOW TO BRING REAL RELIEF TO SOME VERY PAINFUL BURNS.

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Commissioner of Health, New York City.

AMONG the most common of human ailments is the pain from burns and scalds. Matches, hot stoves, sputtering kettles, curling irons, hair cracker—there are innumerable ways of meeting with this uncomfortable experience. The seriousness of a burn depends on its depth and the extent of the surface involved. The age of the patient and the part of the body damaged play a part. Very old persons and very young children are more likely to suffer badly even from moderate burns.

Not only is the immediate outcome disagreeable, but also the secondary effects of a burn are sometimes exceedingly grave. Infection, due to carelessness in the treatment of the burn, or later from accidents, may result in pus formation and blood-poisoning.

If there is extensive involvement of the skin surface the patient may suffer from shock and may die. If the head, chest or abdomen are badly burned the brain or internal organs may be involved.

If the burn is not extensive, the chief consideration is the relief of pain. To this end the skin should be protected. Almost any local measure recommended for burns is intended to serve this purpose.

Various powders are used. Saleratus or baking soda, flour, alum, bismuth, talcum powder, boracic acid—some of these substances may be sprinkled thickly over the burned surface.

If the hand is the injured part it may be immersed in a vessel containing cold water, or held under running water.

Subacetic acid of aluminum is a good remedy to relieve the pain. Compresses are dipped in a 5 per cent solution, and these are laid on the burned surface. They should be kept wet with the solution. Evaporation of the solution will dry the surface.

If the skin is unbroken, sweet oil, vaseline, lard or zinc oxide ointment may be applied. Such applications should not be used if there are ruptured blisters, deep burns or broken surfaces from any cause. Their use may result in infection and pus formation.

When the surface is broken, a 5 per cent solution of Gause is used. The cloth is placed over the burn. Cotton is placed over the cloth and dressing is covered with a bandage.

There are various "secret" remedies alleged to have special virtues in the treatment of burns. Such remedies should not be used if there are ruptured blisters, deep burns or broken surfaces from any cause. Their use may result in infection and pus formation.

All these paraffine remedies are applied by spraying with an atomizer. First the skin is sprayed. It will be seen that this covers and protects the injured parts from the air. If the patient suffers from shock—that is, if he is pale, cold, faint, sick at his stomach, and very weak—he needs careful treatment. Send for your family doctor at once, put the patient to bed, keep his head low, cover him with blankets, surround him with hot water bottles, and wait for your doctor to give the skillful treatment he alone can bestow.

Answers to Health Questions.
F. G. Q.—Kindly state the cause and cure of what physicians term "steam ears."
A.—Technically speaking, there is no such term. You may refer to head noise caused by a catarrhal condition extending to the ears.

C. F. B. Q.—I have very large, soft teeth on my ankles. Will you kindly tell me of a remedy to cure this condition?
A.—Consult an orthopedic surgeon for an examination to determine the cause of your condition, then proper treatment will be prescribed.

A. P. Q.—Would an abscessed tooth be sufficient cause for a despondent and melancholy condition if a person was otherwise healthy?
A.—Yes, the abscessed tooth might cause the condition you mention from the absorption of the poison it produces.

The Daily Story

THE LAST CHRISTMAS TREE.

By JANE OSBORN.

As Tom Wade took his place outside the gate for truck three, where his suburban local was made up, he noticed a very pretty girl in the crowd ahead of him. That is, he imagined that she was pretty, though he had not had a glimpse of her face. She was heavily laden with a number of bundles, little and big, which were entirely appropriate, as it was Christmas eve. Then, as the gate opened and the crowd pushed its way nearer the entrance, one of the smaller of her packages slipped from her arm.

Bowing and doffing his hat, he presented her with the lost package, and had an opportunity to observe that her face was as pretty as he had anticipated. Meantime he had permitted crowding commuters to take possession of all the window seats. As he lingered for a moment after the pretty young woman had thanked him, she noticed the dearth of seats, gathered her numerous little bundles toward her and said:

"If you wish, here is a seat. The trains are so crowded on Christmas eve."

Tom did not take advantage of his position, but when the young woman beside him rose to get out at Millbrook, the station just cityward of his own, she bowed in a friendly manner and he rose to make way for her. She had just reached the door of the car and was on the verge of alighting when Tom noticed that a small package, not the one she had dropped before, remained in the seat she had just vacated. Seizing it he rose and followed her. As he was about to thrust the little package at her, she eluded from the train, turned her back, and was hurrying off. Tom called, but she did not hear, the train was making way to resume its trip. Tom stood off and hurried toward her, but by the time he had caught up with her and bestowed the package on her the train was well under way. His ran toward it, and would have boarded it in motion had it not been for the sharp cry from the pretty young woman standing nearby.

"Please don't," she begged. "You might get hurt or something. It's very dangerous."

"I'm sorry," she said contritely. "It was my fault that you missed it, but if you had fallen or hurt yourself I'd always have blamed myself. And now you'll have to wait a half hour for another train."

Tom Wade assured her that it made no difference. And that was an untruth, for his sister at home had left many last-minute Christmas preparations for him to attend to. He was vaguely reminiscent of this, but he was more alert to the fact that Fate had played him a rather kind turn. He was standing here at the station in Millbrook with the package of the young woman he had ever seen.

"I feel as if I ought to do something to help you home," said the girl. "But both of our cars are celebrating the holidays by being in the shop for repairs. I'd insist on sending you on to Glenville if I could. But the station taxi is out of order. The train was delayed and Tom Wade was three-quarters of an hour late in reaching Glenville. He had just time to reach home before the dinner hour.

"Did you get a good tree?" demanded his married sister Susan, with whom he was making his temporary home. Tom's face registered surprise and contrition.

"I forgot all about it. I remember I was going to stop in the village on the way home. But I'll go as soon as we get through dinner."

Tom made short shift of dinner and then started to the village in the family car. There were no trees left at Smith's. They had been sold on 5 for Mrs. Jones, but had had to sell it. Other shops in Glenville reported the same dearth of Christmas trees.

Then Tom went to a tree warehouse; all the stores in Glenville were open till 11 on Christmas eve. There he bought a sizeable tree and an electric flashlight. With these he got into his car and started out countryward. It didn't matter much whether he went, he thought, but once on the highway he took the direction which the trees and shadows seemed the thickest.

He went for about seven miles, driving slowly and peering out on both sides of the road lest he went. He reached a stretch of road lonely. On one side was a high bluff, on the other a stretch of land apparently deeply set with small trees. Finally he singled out a vigorous young pine, about 200 feet in from the road. It was about 10 feet high, with a straight, stout trunk. Tom had never chopped down a tree before, but the task did not prove beyond his strength. The trying part of the proceedings was that each blow of the axe seemed to set the woods ringing with echoes. Tom had weighed the matter thoroughly in his mind and had decided that it was better to be a petty thief on Christmas eve than to commit three eager young children to be disappointed.

He suddenly stopped short in his chopping. There were footprints beside him and then a vigorous voice crying, "Stop thief! Let that tree alone or I'll shoot."

Tom dropped his axe and obediently raised his arms in attitude of surrender. Then he felt the bright light of an electric flash on him, blinked and said something about not knowing that the tree belonged to any one in particular.

"Fine excuse," replied a heavy-voiced young man, collaring his thief and marching him back through the grove of trees. Tom protested that his car was parked in the highway, that he was getting the tree to spare little children from disappointment.

"We've had enough of you," said the young man importantly. "We're going to make an example of you." Tom felt a sort of martyr-like resignation and walked along.

Tom was given quarters in a woodshed of what seemed to be a large and recently remodeled house. The young man punched Tom's pockets for weapons and then left him with doors locked. "My sister saw one fellow cutting trees in our grove earlier this afternoon. I'm going to let her look you over to see whether you are the same fellow. We have mutual friends. My name's Wade—Tom Wade."

The important young man, who appeared to be very young on closer view, assumed a rather unimportant manner now. Tom made explanations that nearly brought tears to the eyes of the young woman. She sent her brother back with Tom to cut down a much finer, larger tree, and sent Tom off feeling that the hd

Proportional Representation To Be Thoroughly Discussed—Opponents Show Problems of By-Election To Solve—System Wanted That Will Allow Proper Comparison.

SHIFTS IN PUBLIC OPINION GAUGED

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—In view of the controversy which seems certain to arise over proportional representation and electoral reform next session, careful study should be given to all the facts of the problem.

The opponents of proportional representation have always played the by-election problem as their trump card, and its supporters, if their cause is to succeed, must solve it.

Not only should parliament endeavor to represent all shades of political belief in the electoral, but it seems desirable that means should exist of recording changes of electoral opinion between two general elections.

By-elections in single members' constituencies provide today a reflection of such shifts of opinion, the critics of proportional representation complain that its sponsors have so far put forward no reasonable substitute for this invaluable feature of the old system.

Basis for Comparison.
The suggestion that the runner-up at the general election should be allocated any vacancy which occurs obviously prevents any expression of electoral opinion between dissolutions. The election of a single member for a multiple member constituency will not afford any real basis for comparison, nor will the latter be available to any degree of accuracy if for the purposes of by-elections the multiple member constituency is divided into smaller electoral districts, to each of which one of the elected members is assigned.

What must be discovered is a system which will make possible an accurate comparison between the results of the general election in the multiple member constituency and the results of a by-election held to fill one vacancy in its representation.

Now the real basis for the comparison of the results of two successive elections is, as many members know, the polling division. Even if in a single member constituency a vacancy occurs, the member as his predecessor, the elector's experts scrutinize closely the details of the vote in the polling division for evidence of shift of public opinion.

There can therefore be no serious difficulty in using the polling division as the unit of representation in a multiple member constituency to which proper representation applies and grouping the constituencies, so that there will be obtained a fair reflection of the opinion of the electors in the case of an election held to replace one of the original members, and at the same time to insure that the electors have a decided shift of public opinion since the general election the political views of the new member shall correspond roughly with those of his predecessor.

One in 36,000.
After the redistribution the electoral unit for Canada will range from one member for every 36,000 of population, and a five-member constituency will contain about 600 polling divisions.

The approximate political complexion of each of these divisions at a general election can be ascertained by reference to the distribution of the first preference vote.

FILM STARS MAY REVEAL DOPE RING

Los Angeles Authorities Will Question Actors Known To Be Addicts.

Special to The Advertiser.

Los Angeles, Dec. 14.—Eight of the world's foremost film stars, branded as drug addicts when their names were found in books seized in a New York narcotic raid, will be called by District Attorney Thomas Woodfine to disclose the source of their supply.

With the possibility in mind that the names believed to have been Fred Phillips, "hammer mudders," may be unearthed through disclosures of prominent actors and actresses who were dope gongs' best patrons, the district attorney promised rigid investigation.

"I shall be guided by facts and records of the New York nation-wide dope ring, with its supposed ramifications in Hollywood, in determining whether or not to reopen the Taylor investigation as well," Woodfine said today.

"We have no direct evidence that a dope ring was responsible for Taylor's death. That's what we want to find out," he added.

William D. Taylor was mysteriously shot to death here nearly a year ago, and after prominent actresses, whose night clothing had been found in his home, had been questioned, suspicion finally fastened upon a narcotic peddler from the Los Angeles underworld. It is hoped, the district attorney's office admitted, that through questioning of certain film stars now definitely declared to be addicts the machinations of this band can be traced.

Woodfine suggested the possibility that the film folk he will question may get their supplies of narcotics direct from New York, and may be unable to furnish evidence of a ring here. In which case, he said, there probably would not be enough tangible evidence to go on with the investigation.

Effort will be made to protect from publicity the actors named in books captured in New York, the district attorney's office indicated, but the public here is on edge for the thrill that came with the Taylor case, when private scandals of beautiful actresses were laid open to the public.

Within a short specified time after the declaration of the poll each successful candidate might be required to select about 100 polling divisions out of the total, containing together not less than 18 per cent. and not more than 22 per cent. of the total number of voters who polled as being those in which, if he had been standing alone, he would have been strongest.

Lists Might Coincide.
The divisions selected by the successful candidates need not be mutually exclusive. Two elected members owing allegiance to the same political party could and probably would pick almost the same list of polling divisions as those in which their party's greatest strength lay. Their judgment on this point might vary, and each would include special divisions where he enjoyed personal popularity through location. A variety of factors would come into play in the selection. It is true that the selected lists of all the successful members might so far coincide that even if, in the course of a parliament, all the five members of the constituency had to be replaced, the electors of certain polling divisions might not have a chance of recording their vote at a by-election. But the exclusion of some electors under such an improbable contingency does not seem to be a vital consideration.

The result of such a plan would be that if electors in opinion had remained tolerably constant the vacancy would be filled by a member of the same political complexion, and the electors of certain polling divisions might not have a chance of recording their vote at a by-election. But the exclusion of some electors under such an improbable contingency does not seem to be a vital consideration.

Moreover, since the inevitable tendency of each member would be to choose those polling divisions in which he secured the largest number of preference votes, the result of a by-election would give a fair medium for comparison with the result of the first count at the general election.

From administrative point of view there would be no serious difficulty. In an event of a returning officer must deal with and administer each polling division as a separate entity. The continuity of the divisions in the polling divisions as striking circumstances might demand.

Otherwise inequalities in the comparative number of voters in different polling divisions and inconvenience in the original demarcation of them might become intolerable. It should not be forgotten that the provision whereby some authority independent of political influence could make inconsequential alterations in the constituency of each member.

Alteration Provisions.
There might, however, be required a statutory provision which would permit during a term of parliament such alterations of the boundaries of polling divisions as striking circumstances might demand.

Two vacancies in the representation of a multiple member constituency might present some difficulties, but the chances against the simultaneous death of more than one of five members for a proportionate representation electoral district are so great that the possibility of the contingency could be regarded as a substantial objection to the general plan.

Advise Western Canada To Use British Market.
Brandon, Man., Dec. 14.—Urging the retention of the British market, which, he declared, was the only market in the world for the bulk of those things which Canada had to export, Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, addressing the annual meeting of the Western Canada Live Stock Union, last night, declared that even if the tariff wall in the United States were lowered, that country only wanted two or three of the things Canada needed to export.

"We should cultivate the British market," Dr. Grisdale said. Dealing with the impending legislation in Great Britain regarding the lifting of the embargo on Canadian cattle, the deputy minister urged Canada to proceed as speedily as possible to increase her production of cattle for export trade.

Keeping Up With the Jones.
The court, in passing judgment, ordered Mr. Jones to pay the plaintiff the acknowledged amount of his shortage.

Arthur James Asked by Court to Refund Alleged Shortage.

In the county court this morning the action brought by Silverwood Limited, against Arthur James, a former employee of this firm, for alleged shortage of accounts, collected by the defendant while in the employ, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, and Mr. James ordered to pay Silverwood's the sum of $482 in restitution.

A. E. Silverwood, on the stand for defendants, declared that James had confessed to misappropriating the funds in question.

He said that the plaintiff before this had fallen into the habit of falling behind two and three days in turning in his sales. James was then allowed to resign, and agreed to pay back the moneys in question, which, however, he failed to do.

Mr. James, in his defense, said that he had not misappropriated the funds, but had suffered himself from giving credit to bad customers. He swore that he had never used any of the money for his own use.

The court, in passing judgment, ordered Mr. Jones to pay the plaintiff the acknowledged amount of his shortage.

William D. Taylor was mysteriously shot to death here nearly a year ago, and after prominent actresses, whose night clothing had been found in his home, had been questioned, suspicion finally fastened upon a narcotic peddler from the Los Angeles underworld. It is hoped, the district attorney's office admitted, that through questioning of certain film stars now definitely declared to be addicts the machinations of this band can be traced.

Woodfine suggested the possibility that the film folk he will question may get their supplies of narcotics direct from New York, and may be unable to furnish evidence of a ring here. In which case, he said, there probably would not be enough tangible evidence to go on with the investigation.

Effort will be made to protect from publicity the actors named in books captured in New York, the district attorney's office indicated, but the public here is on edge for the thrill that came with the Taylor case, when private scandals of beautiful actresses were laid open to the public.

Welland County Officials Reply to Charges That Orgy Prevailed.

RUMORS STIR COUNTRY

Claim That Delegates to 'Dry' Convention Were Made Uncomfortable.

Special to The Advertiser.
Bridgeburg, Ont., Dec. 13.—Canadian and American papers have given readers sensational reports of an alleged drunken orgy at the warden's annual banquet at Welland.

Some stories insinuate that delegates from the great prohibition convention at Toronto, staying over-night at the Hotel Reata last Thursday, had some unwelcome experiences that were antagonistic to their principles.

At the Methodist Church on Friday night Mayor Hughes, who presided, apologized to the visitors for having been subjected to the disagreeable experience through location. A number of delegates complained of, which were alluded to by J. C. Bell of Toronto, district superintendent of the Dominion Alliance, who deplored the happenings and hoped similar ones might be unknown in the future.

On the other hand, the warden writes thus to the county paper, which replies to him: "The Warden writes of the banquet: 'Editor Tribune and Telegraph: 'Dear Sir,—I have been surprised to be told of various statements in the public prints reflecting on the character of the warden's banquet and the man responsible for it. Those who were present need no word from any source as to what took place. For those who were not present, I wish to state that there was no feature of the banquet not in accordance with good taste and decorum. The best men of Welland County in public and private life were there, and my regard for them, as well as my regard for myself, would prevent my departing in one iota from the honorable tradition of the warden's banquet. Yours sincerely, A. G. WILSON, Warden.'"

If Julius Caesar Came Back To Life

—he would make no greater sensation than that created by Lloyd George's decision to tell what he knows.

Lloyd George is doing this in thirty articles written for a few leading newspapers throughout the world.

The first appeared in The London Advertiser last Saturday afternoon and Monday morning. It was an answer to Clemenceau and a warning to the world against France's policy in Europe. It had the effect of an explosion. The cables of the world have been hot all week. Poincare, premier of France, has made heated reply.

Lloyd George is challenged; his blood is up. He strikes back.

The second article from his pen was to have dealt with Ireland, and is already in The Advertiser office. A cable from England, however, has stopped its release, and in its place next Saturday afternoon will be the Welshman's answer to Poincare's defi.

Lloyd George has written it in the last few days; it will arrive here today, and on Saturday afternoon you may read it in The Advertiser.

There will be such an article from Lloyd George in The Advertiser for the next five Saturdays, and on each second Saturday thereafter for one year.

Lloyd George's articles will appear only in The Advertiser. He is your London correspondent!

NEEDLE JABS HOLD
TERROR FOR PARIS

Women on Street Suffer as Strange New Crime Wave Sweeps City.

Paris, Dec. 14.—"Needle demons" is the title given to the originators of the latest crime wave in Paris which police reports show has been growing in intensity for the past two weeks until now dozens of women daily are being picked with poisoned needles by unidentified monomaniacs.

Among the women shoppers in the big department stores the needle jabbers are now operating as well as in the auto buses, subways and other places where crowds congregate, and it is possible to inflict the injury and escape without identification.

The police are as much mystified as they were by last winter's epidemic of dress and fur coat slashing, and so far no arrests have been made. While the needle points are believed to be poisoned, the effect on the victims is not serious, the women usually escaping with slight swellings and muscular pains.

The five others killed were two negro men and three negro women.

OPEN BITTER FIGHT AGAINST SHIP BILL

Progressive Attack in Senate, Led by La Follette—Charge Breach of Trust.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14.—Opening the attack of the Progressive bloc against the United States administration's shipping bill, Senator La Follette (Rep.), Wisconsin, declared in the Senate today, that the measure and the action of the president and its sponsors in attempting to force its passage at this time is an open challenge to the United States people and a violation of the trust reposed by the people in them.

The Wisconsin senator denounced the bill in bitter terms. He charged Chairman Lasker of the shipping board with having made a highly improper proposal in order to obtain the support of organized labor. It simply means turning over the people's property to favored interests for a few cents on the dollar, and a tax of millions of dollars levied annually in order to pay a subsidy to those who take the ships practically as a gift, he said.

It means millions of dollars of tax refunds to the shipping interests. It does not even promise much less guarantee, cheaper rates for ocean commerce.

It proposes to destroy our army and navy transports and turn them over to private ownership. It does not guarantee the building of a single new ship or the maintenance of equipment we have. It is wholly bad and the attempt to force it upon an unwilling country cannot be too strongly condemned.

EMSLIE BECOMES HEYDLER'S AID

Veteran Umpire of St. Thomas Gets 31 Years' Reward.

YELLOWHORSE TRADED

With Others Goes To Coast in Exchange For Pitcher.

New York, Dec. 13.—Robert D. Emslie, of St. Thomas, Ont., who has served as umpire in the National League for the last 31 years, was today appointed in an advisory capacity to the president of the league, at the second day's session of the National league club-owners. Only in extreme urgency will the veteran umpire be called again to take his post on the field. In his new position Emslie will aid not only in the development and instruction of young umpires, but his experience as a playing rule expert will continue to be of service to the league and to baseball generally. Emslie umpired his first game in the senior leagues at Cincinnati, Aug. 29, 1891, and for 31 consecutive seasons he has been rated as the past master of patience and diplomacy among baseball officials.

Prior to taking up umpiring Emslie was a pitcher, his first work of note being with the Guelph Maple Leafs. His professional playing career was from 1882 to 1887, his clubs being Camden, Baltimore, Toronto and Memphis. He was considered the greatest curveball pitcher of his time, and in 1884 he pitched 21 games for Baltimore, of which but 18 were lost. In 1886 his arm weakened, and in 1887 Charles D. White, then president of the old International League, appointed him as umpire.

Emslie is a Canadian, born in Guelph, Ont., and has always resided in the Dominion. For nearly half a century he has been a respected citizen of St. Thomas, Ont.

Discussion of proposed changes in major league rules occupied attention during most of today's session. No action was taken on any of these propositions, the matter being laid over for conference with the American League at tomorrow's joint session.

The most important proposed changes considered included alterations in the barnstorming rule; vesting in the home club and the baseball commissioner the power to decide when weather and ground conditions are suitable for world series play, instead of leaving the decision to series umpires as in the past, and fixed sums for umpires officiating in the world series, instead of allowing them a percentage of the gate receipts as at present.

A new board of directors was appointed in Charles Ebbets, of the Brooklyn club; Garry Herrmann, Cincinnati; H. F. Baker, Philadelphia; and Samuel Brown, St. Louis.

The promise by Pittsburgh of Pitcher E. D. Kunz, of the Sacramento Club, Pacific Coast League, for $7,500 cash and four players was announced. It was understood that Kunz was being held at a cash value of $35,000, but that the Sacramento club agreed to accept the following players in part payment: Pitchers "Chief" Yellowhorse and William Hughes, and fielders Claude Rohwer and Harry Brown.

The majority of these players were held under option by the Pittsburgh Club.

N. H. L. Entries To Close On Dec. 16

Palmerston, Dec. 13.—With entries to the Northern Hockey League closing on Dec. 16, some of the clubs who are regular entrants to the league will have had to make up their minds as to whether they will enter or not, as their entries or be left out of the group.

There will be more teams in this year than ever before, even in the Northern Hockey League, as the league is well known to be always closed on eleven-hour entries.

EMMA GEES LOSE 11-9

Westminster Hospital Crew Show Good Fielding—C. O. T. C. Defeat.

Last night's Garrison Indoor League bill was rather a failure. Machine Gunners lost a farcical game to Westminster Hospital by 11 to 9, with Jerry Goodman's support. The team lost to defeat after the Emma Gees had a 6 to 2 lead in the fifth inning. Goodman's young brother was the batter's mate last night, and it looks as if the game will be switched around. Westminster is a new team, but showed some splendid fielding.

The batteries were: Warren and Hodge; Goodman and Goodman. Westminster's C. O. T. C. team defaulted their game to Headquarters.

McGILL OFFERED DATE BY OLD ELI IN 1923

Montreal, Dec. 13.—The Yale football authorities have wired the officials of the McGill football team offering them a game to be played on the New Haven gridiron on Oct. 20, 1923, a date which is open for McGill in the inter-collegiate rugby schedule.

The date has been accepted and a request made that the game be played on the Canadian side and half under American football rules. A date for a game has also been practically closed with Syracuse University for some day in November, 1923. Army have also offered McGill a game on Sept. 20, 1923. This date is, however, too early, the students not at that time being back at the university. It is likely that another date will be fixed.

THISTLE CURLERS OPEN TONIGHT

North-Enders Invite Homeless L. C. O. Stamenen To Curl a Few.

The "roarin' game" opens at the Thistle rink tonight, the glad news being passed out to the club members last night after the ice-maker had completed a day's freezing, and on the strength of a fine sheet of the glass.

The Thistles, however, didn't forget their unfortunate brethren of the London Club, who are waiting the erection of their new curling palace on Lyte street to replace the structure destroyed by fire some months ago, and the curling committee of the north-enders immediately tendered an invitation for the homeless L. C. O. curlers to visit the north end and curl a few practice stones.

This is one of the earliest starts made for years, and the curlers are superstitious enough to take it as a sign that they are going to be favored

SAYS STEVENSON DELAYING COURT

Mayor Wilson Claims Local Member Seeking Appointment For Mrs. Thompson.

BUSMEN FIGHT BYLAW

Aldermen Engage in Bout At Finance Committee Session On Fee Proposal.

If there is any one to be adjudged responsible for the fact that there has not been a juvenile court established in London it must be Dr. Hugh A. Stevenson, M.L.A., declared Mayor Cameron Wilson who, at a regular session of the finance committee last night, disputed such statements in this connection credited to the provincial member for London.

"I just wish to make a few remarks in this matter involving our local member," Mayor Cameron Wilson declared. "The statement has been made today, apparently, that prominent businessmen of the city made strong representation to Attorney-General Raney against the appointment of Police Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon as juvenile court judge."

"The people are commencing to see now that we are right in this matter. There is no juvenile court judge."

URGE SHOPPING BE DONE IN MORNING

City Merchants Point Out Advantages To Be Derived by Early Buying.

The great advantage and comfort that can be obtained by shopping in the morning is evidenced in an investigation carried out yesterday by Smallman & Ingram, as to the times when people entered the store and when sales were made.

The firm found that only 17 per cent of all shoppers came in between 9 and 12 o'clock. The remainder came in the afternoon, and it can easily be imagined how very much easier it would be to view and buy goods in the forenoon than in the latter part of the day.

There is another disadvantage that afternoon buying implies, and that is the difficulty of choosing and selecting purchases. The counters are lined with eager and rather vigorous crowds, who by sheer numbers alone make it very hard to really find what one wants. Then the staff is under considerable pressure, both as to time and from a steady barrage of questions.

There is no doubt in the minds of most of the merchants in the city that purchasers would find they could shop in very much greater comfort, and with greater satisfaction, if they were to visit the stores in the morning.

Although they recognize the difficulties that lie in the way of many a woman, who, but for her own household work, would be able to get down to the city in the morning, still so great are the undoubted advantages to be obtained by the early shopper, that they advise all those who have Christmas buying to do, to make what efforts they can to allow them to break away from old tradition sufficiently far to do their shopping between 9 and 12 o'clock.

PUBLIC LIBRARY EXHIBITS PICTURES OF MADONNA

There is on view in the public library an interesting and unusual collection of pictures of the Madonna. Partly purchased by the library, and partly the gift of Miss Mary Webb, they constitute a seasonable appeal that is well worth experiencing. The collection is wide in its range of painters. There are some very fine prints of such old favorites as Raphael's "Madonna, el Granduca," Botticelli's "Nativity," Durer's "Adoration of the Magi," and Bellini's "Madonna and the Saints."

Among the more unconventional pictures are "The Descent of the Virgin," by Ed. Paupion, a painting by Schurenburg, of the Madonna and child in a field attended by two little cherubs, and a striking picture by Guy Rosi, "The First Christmas Eve," a graphic and thoughtful expression of the flight into Egypt.

EXTINGUISH FIRES IN CITY WITHOUT SERIOUS LOSS

Two small fires which resulted in a general alarm, and within a half hour of each other, were extinguished with little difficulty early last evening. The first, a dump fire at the rear of 653 Talbot street, was reported at 6:08 p. m., and the second, in Simpson's machine shop, at the rear of the Grand Opera House, at 6:28 p. m.

The third twilight organ recital of the season will be given in the First Methodist Church Saturday afternoon at 4:30. Mr. Jordan will play Christmas music, and a double quartet will sing old English, French and other traditional carols. This should prove an interesting feature, as these carols have never been heard here.

OFFICER'S EVIDENCE REMAINS UNSHAKEN

Crown Produces Twenty Witnesses in Windham Horse Shooting Trial.

Special to The Advertiser.
Simcoe, Dec. 14.—Incriminating testimony of Provincial Constable Lawrence and County Constable Alway with respect to conversation overheard between Richard Broughton and Samuel Arthur, indicted in the Windham horse-shooting case, while lodged at the local jail, featured the seven-hour session before Judge Boles in the county court yesterday.

Mr. Brewster, K.C. of Brantford, counsel for Broughton, endeavored to shake the written evidence of the alleged conversation, but the officers stood steadfast by their story. Beyond this testimony no connecting link between the accused and the dead horse has yet been established, although the crown produced about 20 witnesses.

Counsel Brewster submitted no case had been made out, but Judge Boles ruled otherwise, and accused and their respective wives, as well as several neighbors, were placed on the stand by defence. Mrs. Arthur vehemently protested there had been no gunshot in their place of residence for more than two months, while Mr. Arthur, who is 50 years of age, made a sweeping denial of all knowledge of the shooting, although he admitted firing at Dean's pigs some years ago and in the direction of watermelon thieves not so long ago. Dr. Crooks gave opinion evidence to the effect that the horse had been killed by accident. The plaintiff, Salem Dean, valued the horse at $125, while costs of trial, which continue tomorrow, will probably amount to many times that sum.

GASSED OVERSEAS SHELL SHOCKED AND RHEUMATISM

Mr. F. M. Blaquiere, Morinville, Alta., writes:—"After three years service overseas I returned to Canada almost a complete wreck. I had been gassed, and was suffering from shell shock and rheumatism, and was so nervous I could not sleep at night. I tried many medicines and doctors, but none of them did me any good for any length of time. I got so bad, in the fall of 1919, my hands were so shaky I could scarcely hold anything, and it seemed as if I had a steel band pressing on my head. The least excitement would almost drive me into fits, and my whole system seemed to be in disorder. I had cramps in my legs nearly every night, and hot and cold chills running up and down my back nearly all the time. One day I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after I had taken six boxes I began to feel better. I kept on using them and after a while I was completely relieved."

"St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism liniment, which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness, and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache and neuralgia. Limber up! ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well. Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bismarck Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

PLAN IMPROVED TRAFFIC SYSTEM

Ald. Douglass Urges Installation of Semaphore at Dundas and Richmond Streets.

Better supervision of traffic at the corner of Dundas on Richmond streets is planned for the immediate future.

City Engineer Brazier has a scheme of improvement under advisement, while members of the board of works at their next session will consider a suggestion by Ald. Leonard Douglass.

Suspend Semaphore.
It is the latter's belief that the present system of directing street cars and other vehicles at the main corner of the city can be materially bettered by the use of levers and a semaphore, the latter to be suspended in the center of the intersection in such a manner not to interfere with the overhead wires.

Would Save Time.
In this way, he asserts, considerable time could be saved at this important corner of the city, and much confusion avoided, as the traffic could be enabled to allow north and southbound vehicles to move simultaneously. The same would apply to the east and west.

This is not now possible, he says, as the officer is compelled to halt traffic in three directions to allow progress one way.

The alderman also stresses the point that it is time the city moved to provide shelter of some description for the traffic officer. This problem would be eliminated, he points out, by the advent of the corner station house.

REV. FATHER T. B. DONNELLY CONDUCTS MEN'S TRIDUUM

Gifted Clergyman Will Preach at Evening Services of Three-Day Retreat.

The three days' retreat for men, conducted by the Rev. Father T. B. Donnelly of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, began last evening at St. Peter's Cathedral. The retreat, which is part of the observance of Advent in preparation for the fitting spiritual celebration of the Feast of the Birth of Our Lord, will follow the same order as the Triduum held for women last week.

At the 7:30 evening services on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Father Donnelly will preach the sermons of the day. Congregational singing will be directed by W. T. Mullins. At the 7 o'clock masses on Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings, the short sermon will be given on "Every Day Faults."

On Friday evening a reception of the new members into the Holy Name Society will be held. This society which was organized in St. Peter's Parish three years ago by the Rev. J. Young, now of St. Marys, Ont., has a membership of over 700 men in the city.

At the close of the retreat, at the 8:30 mass, next Sunday, the Holy Name men will join with other men who are making the Triduum in general Holy Communion.

Father Donnelly is a speaker of superior ability, and his attractive style of delivery and able exposition of the Catholic doctrine has caused his sermons to be exceptionally well received.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

The Grand Trunk Railway system offers to those who are taking advantage of the long week-end, and who are going home for Christmas and New Year's, the most convenient local and through service. Trains consist of the most modern equipment, and the optional ticketing arrangements applying between many Canadian National-Grand Trunk points, give passengers a desirable choice of routes. Arrangements can be made to deliver tickets to persons out of town by depositing the value of same with railway agent here. For all information as to fares, train service, news, etc., see nearest Grand Trunk ticket agent, or apply to C. E. Horning, district passenger agent, Toronto, Ont.—Advt. D145,12,21,22,23

CONSERVATIVES MAY NOT INDORSE BECK

Political Parties Prepare For Forthcoming Provincial Election.

Organization of the two local political parties for next year's provincial election is quietly going on, according to persons in touch with both Liberal and Conservative Clubs. Ward meetings are continually being held at Hyman Hall, and the city is being organized by blocks and wards. Division chairmen are starting from the bottom up and no complaint will be voiced in connection with being "unprepared" when the battle for provincial honors takes place in 1923.

Sir Adam Beck's chances of contesting this riding in the interests of the Conservative party are said to have received a hard blow as a result of H. J. Child's defeat in the recent municipal elections. "It was a hard crack for Sir Adam," one Conservative stated, "and it's very doubtful if he will receive the endorsement of the party for the provincial election."

It is more than possible that London will be awarded two members in accordance with the provisions of a "redistribution bill," which is practically certain to demand the attention of the local parliament next session. No doubt some information regarding it will be obtained at the U.F.O. convention now being staged at Toronto.

If the redistribution bill goes through as confidently expected, the Liberal party will most likely support two candidates, a man and a woman. While this is not official, it is considered a strong possibility, and if it materializes will be the first time London ever ran a woman candidate for political representation. No definite decision has been made as to the probable candidate, but it is said that a certain young businessman with an enviable record for administrative ability will likely be primed for the contest.

The Drury government will be called upon to decide whether the new distribution arrangements in urban centers will be in the nature of proportional representation or the method of alternative choice. Claims are made from many sources that proportional representation would be more equitable than the straight ballot, as heretofore practiced.

According to advance estimates, the redistribution bill will extend the boundaries of the city to include most of the suburbs. Claims of Middlesex will also be affected, but the voting territory will be narrowed down rather than broadened.

SEE WARNING ON SITE EMPTY THREAT

Board of Education Consider Real Estate Board's Action Joke.

Boisterous laughter greeted the London Real Estate Board's warning that the school board would be held personally responsible for any and all costs incurred through the building of a public school on the site at Trafalgar and Oliver streets, when Secretary Tanner read the communication to the building committee of the board of education yesterday afternoon.

When the laughter subsided a little, Trustee Bryden Campbell was heard to say: "What's that?" Chairman Rev. A. A. Bice thought that the trustees were wealthy enough to take a chance, and he had already turned the first sod an hour or so before, so why not go on with the business? So many questions were directed at Secretary Tanner that the official thought it better to pass the legal epistle around the table for more careful inspection.

"Where did you say you got this?" asked Trustee A. E. Silverwood. He was informed that ex-Ald. Adam Palmer had brought it over earlier in the day.

"I thought different of Adam Palmer than that," opined Trustee Campbell. "I thought Adam Palmer had more sense than that."

E. Smith, chairman of the board of education was endeavoring to get his hands warm. He had been working with the pick, helping Chairman Bice turn the frozen sod at the Trafalgar site.

"I move that we pass the letter on to the board of education, with the recommendation that it be filed," he said, and the motion carried.

According to the unanimous sentiment of the members present, the notice which was served on them yesterday was an empty threat, and indifference was openly shown to the meeting. As one stated, "We are going to build in accordance with our plans, notwithstanding these 'cards' at Adam Palmer and the Real Estate Board are holding back. That's our move. It's their move now."

"Let us get at the question of elevation," urged Chairman Bice. "The distance from Trafalgar street is about 75 feet at the end, and about 79 feet at the centre, is it not?" He was told that his information was correct.

Question of Bricks.
"Now what is the distance from Oliver street?" The distance was 79 feet. Then the question of bricks was brought to the front. It was decided to use red tapestry bricks with black mortar. As to buying the bricks at the price quoted, namely, $3 a thousand, Trustee Bryden Campbell thought that in purchasing a quantity of 70,000 or 80,000 bricks a much better price might be obtained by asking for tenders, and specifying the kind of brick desired.

On Trustee Silverwood's motion, it was decided to have the secretary get into communication with the various brick manufacturers, specifying the kind and quality of brick desired, and to report back.

Still $360 Coming.
"There's still $360 coming to us from saving in bricks used in the college," reminded Trustee Silverwood.

"While we are talking about bricks, we don't want to forget that particular coal dealer, but he thought that much of the reported trouble, namely, 'non-arrival of coal in the city,' was purposely caused by some one who had one cause in mind—'keeping the price of coal up.'"

Standing On Siding.
"Why, I came through St. Marys not long ago, and there were 36 carloads of coal standing on a siding there," he claimed. "That coal was there some time, too, for the wheels on the cars were rusty."

Other members agreed with him, and mention was made of the familiar sight of strings of cars of coal waiting to go somewhere in the St. Thomas yards.

The recommendation will also be sent to next year's board that a thorough investigation into the coal situation be made, and to report back to No. 2 committee as soon as that investigation can conveniently be completed.

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC SWEEPS COUNTY MAYO DISTRICT
London, Dec. 12.—An epidemic of typhus of a virulent type is sweeping through the district of Erris, in the northwest part of the county of Mayo, and whole families have been wiped out, according to a Ballina dispatch to the Daily Express.
