New SRC Take Over

At the SRC Meeting held in the Oak Room of the Student Centre Wednesday evening, the new Council was officially installed in office. Brief speeches were delivered by Dr. Mackay, Mr. Henderson, retiring President, Bill Ray, and newly-elected President, Ron Manzer.

Upon having presented to him the gavel, as the symbol of his new office, Mr. Manzer congratulated the old Council on their work of the past year. Mr. Manzer stated: "I would like, at this moment of transition, to congratulate the old council on the fine job they have done. They have set us a good example and I hope that we shall execute our duties as ably as they have done."

Outlining plans for a busy year ahead, in addition to the recommendations made by the old council, Mr. Manzer revealed that some matters which will engage the Council's immediate attention will be: plans for the Con to be held Mar. 21; plans for the Blood Donor Clinic to be held April 2; calling for and ratification of Applications for Campus Police Chief, Year-book Editor, Chairman of the Social Committee, and others; choosing a tender for the provision of college rings; and Insurance.

Looking ahead still further, the council will be considering the registration and setting-up of SRC cards, tentative plans for freshman week, the choosing of a President and a Vice-President of the Sophomore Class, and the attempt to institute more effective controls of NFCUS and WUSC.

With a brief but comprehensive review of his Council's achievements, retiring President Bill Ray Wednesday evening performed his last official act as President of the SRC, when he introduced the new President, Ron Manzer.

Following the turning over of the gavel to Mr. Manzer, the Council was addressed by Dr. Mackay and Mr. Henderson.

Among the many achievements of the out-going council, Mr. Ray mentioned the revision of the SRC constitution, revamping of the SDC, creation of a new University pennant and new college rings, and the "APEC" letter regarding job opportunities for graduates in the Maritimes.

87th Con to be Held on the 21st

March 21st not only heralds the Spring Season but also UNB's biggest dance of the year — the Conversazione. Under the direction of Social Committee Chairman Joannie Young, arrangements for decorations are nearing completion. For the past few formals, music has been provided by our own Collegians, but on this occasion, the well known orchestra of Bruce Holder Jr. will perform.

The Conversazione originated with the literary and debating society of UNB. Through their efforts the original event was held November 8, 1872. The programme for the evening included selected readings, original essays, recitations, a lecture on Chemistry, choice selections, and a treatise on English Grammar. Following the main events a motion was made to adjourn the meeting whereupon members withdrew to the Hall to sing Auld Lang Syne. The meeting throughout was most satisfactory, and the Conversazione as an experiment was very successful. The number of members present was 28.

In years following 1872, the Con lost its literary flavour and gradually became acknowledged as the year's main social event. The actual dances were held in the Main Hall of the Arts Building but adjoining rooms were also decorated for the occasion.

"The old Chapel had deserted its religion and become King Tut's Tomb. The room was hung around with tapestry, the brown walls painted with Egyptian Hieroglyphics. At the end King Tutakhamen's two black faced guards

SOVIET STUDENTS TO VISIT CANADA

Preliminary plans are being made by WUSC for two Russian students and two professors to visit Canadian Universities next autumn. The visit is to be of an academic nature. The professors will lecture in their subjects and both they and the students will take part in discussions and social activities.

Participating universities will have to be responsible for the visitors' board and lodging during the four to six days they are on the campus. As well, it is necessary that they pay part of their travel expenses while they are in Canada.

The success of this plan depends upon the co-operation of the various university administrations and student governments concerned.

By 1924 attendance had increased to four hundred. Not only did the students enjoy dancing but food was provided as well as a specially decorated lounge for bridge fans.

From the Arts Building the Con was moved to a new location — in the 1920's — Memorial Hall. It found its present location in the 1940's with the erection of the new gymnasium.

Will France Learn When It's Too Late?

It is becoming abundantly clear that some countries are going to be obliged to thoroughly review their present colonial policies. The British, whose imperialism was of a relatively mild character, realized this sooner than most, and avoided a lot of unnecessary trouble. The French don't seem to have learned, although their unfortunate experience in late years should have made them conscious of the fact that their policies were not entirely practical.

Eventually, the French will have to accept the North African natives as legitimate rulers. To avoid further bloodshed and political blundering, as well as a financial crisis, they would be advised to arrive at an amicable solution very soon. The day is long past when an uprising of this consequence can be crushed by brute force.

What is the alternative?
 If they continue as they are, the French will have to wipe out the rebels completely sooner or later. Judging by the energy and zeal of these native insurgents, this would be a pretty tough assignment.

The proximity of several countries who are not exactly sympathetically disposed toward colonialism raises an interesting problem. Under the leadership of Nasser, a number of Middle East Countries are determined to unite the so-called Arab world. It might occur to them that Tunisia and Algeria qualify as members in good standing. In this event, the French would be faced with hundreds of thousands of irate Arabs, North Africans and Iraqi whose own recent experiences would make them more than mildly interested in evicting the French.

Someone has pointed out that support of the French 400,000 man army in Tunisia is having serious effects on an already shaky French economy. Hate and indignation for the French government is being engendered by Tunisian nationalists at home and sympathizers all over the world. The communists must be having a good belly laugh about the whole tired mess themselves with an incidental dig at the British and Americans.

For the sake of international accord and legitimate national aspirations, to say nothing of domestic stability, the French government should explore every avenue for an agreeable solution to their colonial problems.

Serious discontent of this nature is like an infectious disease. Perhaps we have no remedy for the disease as yet, but we certainly won't hurry the cure by aggravating the cause.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor, The Brunswickan, U.N.B.

Sir:

I listened with interest to the Founder's Day Panel Discussion until Dean Toole made his bigoted remark about the Forestry Faculty not being a bona-fide part of any university. At that point my disgust overcame my interest in what I was listening to and I switched off the radio and thought that the place I would have told the good Dean to go, had I been there, was really far too good for him.

How any man who is as intelligent as the Dean is supposed to be can get up before a crowd of people and say a thing like that is more than I can fathom. If he would take the trouble to tear himself away from his beloved "Toole Shed" on the hill, he would very soon see that Forestry is just as much on a university level as is engineering, and is, in fact, to all intents and purposes, a branch of engineering.

We, Foresters, are always being looked down upon on this campus and I think possibly a great deal of this discrimination might be traced back to similar remarks made by other narrow minded faculty members.

It would be interesting to hear Dean Toole's comments on just where this university would be if the Foresters were not around to supply a little spirit and generally keep the place alive in the minds of those outside Fredericton.

Sincerely,
 Dave Irvine,
 Forestry '59.

Dear Sir:

I was impressed by the charming way in which you attempted to justify the news coverage of your paper in the Editor's Note that followed Mr. Terence McCluskey's letter that you so kindly printed on Saturday, March 8.

You tried rather crudely to ridicule the Christian Atheist party and platform, and again managed superbly to present a one-sided view of the situation, by pointing a rather crooked finger at both the Christian Atheist and the Liberal platforms.

May I point out to you, Sir, that whereas the Liberal platform indeed contained a plank concerning the deductibility of Mistresses for income tax purposes, the Progressive Conservative party had an equally ridiculous plank in their platform that read as follows:

"6. Conversion of the old 'College Field' into landscaped 'Lovers' Lots.'"

I might also mention that the rather illogical name of the Christian Atheist party was chosen as a satirical reply to the name of the party that I — and I believe you also — support, the Progressive Conservative party.

I will concede that to detect something amusing, one needs a sense of humour. Your treatment of this incident and some others — for instance that of the National Flag hoax, when your feelings of loyalty and patriotism obscured your imagination — indicate to some extent that this, your sense of humour, could do with a thorough review.

This letter might help to create feelings of a more bi-partisan sort as regards the activities of the students of the University of New Brunswick.

RED MEN ON HOME ICE AFTER FIRST GAME TIE UNB-ST. FRANCIS XAVIER CLASH IN N.S.

The University of New Brunswick Red Devils and St Francis Xavier University battled to a 5-5 draw in Antigonish last Monday night, in the first game of the Maritime Intercollegiate hockey playoffs.

The final game of the total goals, home and home series will be played in the Lady Beaverbrook Rink tomorrow night with game time at 8:00 p.m.

The game's outstanding performance was turned in by UNB goaltender John Bassett. Bassett made 41 stops to keep the Devils in contention, 16 in the second period alone as the Xaverians put on the pressure after trailing 4-1.

Don Keenan, former Saint Michael's College juvenile player and netminder on last years St. F.X. championship squad made 21 saves to back up the big Blue and White team.

UNB goals were fired by McCarthy, Coombes, Parent, Jarrett, and Morrow. Girard paced the St F.X. attack with two markers, singletons going to McCusker, Tom Andrea and Sonny Burke. Burke scored the tying counter late in the third period.

The Axe-men came from behind twice to earn their deadlock. St. F.X. scored first, but the Red Devils forged to a 3-1 lead by the end of the first period. UNB took a 4-1 lead early in the second frame. Facing a decisive defeat, St. F.X. fought back and knotted the count 4-4 to end the second period. The two teams exchanged goals in the third period.

The officiating was extremely lenient as a lot of holding, elbowing and highsticking went uncalled. Only six penalties were handed out, four to St. F.X. and two to UNB. One fight marked the first period as Ed McLellan and McKenzie had a set-to. Both were rewarded with majors for their endeavours.

The Red Devils, in coming up with a draw against the powerful squad from Antigonish on their home ice, pulled off one of the biggest upsets in years. St. F.X. had polished off the Dalhousie Tigers in the Nova Scotia playoffs with scores of 8-3 and 10-1. Earlier this season, Dalhousie had defeated UNB 4-3 in an exhibition game. Saint Francis have won eight consecutive Maritime titles, thus providing the makings for a further upset tomorrow night.

The Red Devils will be at full strength for the final. Tom Jarrett who had been injured in the second last game with Mount Allison and centre Bob Soward suffering from a seven stitch cut received in practice last Saturday both played in Antigonish and will be in action tomorrow night.

As in the Mount Allison series, if the score is tied at the end of regulation time, a ten minute overtime period will be played. If it is needed, the game will proceed on a sudden death basis after the ten minute overtime.

ENGINEERS WIN FINAL

The Intermediate Engineers captured the Intramural basketball crown from the Artsmen, downing the Arts by a score of 31-30. The closely contested game was played in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium last Wednesday night before a very meagre audience.

The first period of play in this low scoring game saw the Artsmen in the lead, if only by a point or two. Shots on hoop by each team were just about even, but the Artsmen seemed to be more accurate in their shooting. Score at half time was 13-10 in favour of the Arts squad.

The second half got off to a roaring start as the Engineers determined not to let their rivals walk off with the Campus honours, stepped up their attack on the Arts' hoop. But the closely-knit Arts defense proved to be quite a stumbling block, and at the three quarter point in the game the Artsmen were still ahead by three points, with a score of 22-19. As the minutes ticked by, checking became much closer, and as a result fumbles and fouls became more frequent. The Engineers finally tied up the game 22-22 at the 8 minute mark; two minutes later the Artsmen pulled ahead again when they sank a penalty shot. In the last two exciting minutes the Engineers managed to bring their Artsmen from a penalty shot. The climax came in the last minute of the game when Goss netted an excellent shot, the last scoring in the game, to give the Engineers a winning 31-30 score.

Outstanding performances were turned in by Goss, Campbell, Staples and Morden for the Engineers, while Tompkins, whose 11 points was the highest tally in the game, Webster, Mockler and Stickles were the stars for the Artsmen.

Scoreboard:

Int Eng: Colwell 2, Morden 4, Jenkinson 0, Kraft 0, Goss 8, Hersey 1, Staples 5, Maclean 3, Campbell 7, Taylor 1.

Arts: Webster 7, Dykes 0, Tompkins 11, Stickles 4, Jamieson 0, Lemmon 2, Miles 0, Vanworth 0, Mockler 6.
