Miss Hilda Schneider visited friends in Elmwood last week.

Mr. Ovid Couture of Detroit is visiting relatives in town this week.

Miss Ethel Petteplace of Walkerton is the guest of Miss Marie Weiler for a few days this week.

Bert Schill of Oshawa was home last week on a visit to his parents. He has good situation with the Pedlar People.

Miss Agnes Johnston, teacher in the Cobourg Collegiate, is here on a visit to relatives.

Mr. John Reinhart of Culross met with a rather serious accident last week. He was engaged in unloading hay with the hay fork, and while pulling the trip rope he lost his balance and fell off the load to the barn floor, fracturing his shoulder. He is improv ng nicely now.

Father and Two Sons Enlist.
Mr. Joseph Schultheis of Kerr Robert Sask.; a former resident of Mildmay, is certainly giving of his best to the Empire. He has enlisted for overseas, and his two sons are also wearing the khaki. All are in training now, and will be ready in a few months to cross the ocean. The Schultheis family now has six men in uniform.

Patten—Pletsch.
On Wednesday, August the second, at high noon, a quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Pletsch, when their youngest daughter A. Irene E., and Gunner Bertram B. Patten of the 55th Battery, C. F. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Patten, St. George, were married. Rev. J. Burn performed the ceremony. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom, besides a few girl friends, were present for the ceremony which was conducted in the living room. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her travelling suit of navy blue taffeta with rose trimmings and hat to match, and corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweetheart roses. Mrs. Charles B. Patten of Ottawa played the wedding march. After a short honeymoon to Niagara and other points, the groom expects to leave for overseas.

Death of J. D. Kinzie.
The death of Mr. J. D. Kinzie of Berlin, took place rather suddenly on Wednesday morning of this week. Jacob Devitt Kinzie was born in the township of Blenheim, Oxford County, in the year 1844. He spent his boyhood in that section of the country, and came to Carrick in 1879, settling on a farm on the 6th concession. Being interested in public affairs, he was elected as township councillor in 1894 and in 1903 was elected as County Councillor for this division. Mr. Kinzie was an excellent farmer, and had advanced ideas of roadmaking which he made practical use of in some sections of the Township. He retired from the farm about ten years ago, and moved to Berlin. He leaves a widow, five sons, Elam, Isaiah, Agabus, Bruno and Edgar, and three daughters, Mrs. Levi Good, Mrs. David Vogan and Mrs. G. Morgan. The funeral takes place on Friday afternoon to the Berlin cemetery.

Golden Wedding.
Fifty years ago this month Mr. John Schetter and Miss Josephine Kuennen were married at St. Agatha by Rev. Father Eugene. On Tuesday of this week, after the completion of half a century of married life, they celebrated their golden wedding. Service was held in the Sacred Heart Church by Rev. A. C. Montag, after which a splendid dinner was served at which were seated nearly one hundred relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Schetter have a family of five daughters and four sons, fourteen grand children and two great-grandchildren. All the members of the family, except the three eldest sons, were present, as well as Mr. Schetter's three brothers, Michael, Ignatz and Charles. The occasion was a very happy one. The aged couple were recipients of a great many gifts, including considerable gold coin donated by the family. The Sewing Circle of the R. C. Church presented Mrs. Schetter with a gold clock.

The business men of Mildmay decided to observe Monday, August 7th as a Civic Holiday. All places of business will be closed that day. Walkerton over will observe the same day as a Holiday.

Died at Toronto.
Mrs. Grace Moore, widow of the late James H. Moore, formerly station agent at Mildmay, passed away on Wednesday morning of this week, after a prolonged illness with heart trouble. Deceased was the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rome, formerly of Mildmay, and was very highly respected here. She leaves one son and one daughter to mourn her decease. The funeral will take place from the 11 o'clock train on Friday to the Balaklava cemetery.

Pte. Leonard Killed.
George Leonard, a young Englishman, who worked for Fred Gutzke and Peter Hakney of Carrick, was killed in battle in France on June 5th. He enlisted here last summer, and went to England with the 34th Battalion. He and Chester Gowdy were in the same company, the former having been wounded on June 3rd. Pte. Leonard met his death by a rifle bullet. He was about 20 years of age, and was well liked by all who knew him here. His mother resides in England.

The weather man succeeded in breaking all previous records for heat last Saturday and Sunday. The temperature on Saturday went to 98 in the shade, but Sunday the thermometer rose to 100 mark. This is the hottest weather ever recorded here, and it is hoped that the heat wave is over for this year. The temperature has moderated considerably and the evenings have become quite cool.

ORGANIZE for Victory!

THE THIRD YEAR OF THE WAR calls for the organized co-operation of every citizen of the Province of Ontario. ALL must help to hasten the day of final triumph. For the sake of those who have made the Great Sacrifice, and of those now overseas or in training, every citizen must give the best service possible. No one need feel "out of it" when the great day of victory comes, but everyone must qualify now by sharing in the sacrifices which the War demands.

Suggestions for Organization

In many Municipalities there are already active patriotic organizations, such as Recruiting, Red Cross, Soldiers' Aid and Patriotic Fund Committees. In such cases, one of these, or, better still, a joint committee of these and the citizens generally, might undertake to co-operate with the Central Committee at Toronto.

Where there is no active representative organization, it is suggested that one be formed at the earliest moment. It should be non-partisan (in the broadest sense), and represent every interest affected by war conditions.

THRIFT and ECONOMY, and a careful consideration and preparation for our problems are essential if we would meet the present and future needs. For further suggestions and information you are cordially requested to write at once to ALBERT H. ABBOTT, Ph.D., Secretary, Organization of Resources Committee, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

The Farm

Curing Alfalfa

Directions for cutting alfalfa hay are given by the chief of the Irrigation Division of the Canadian Department of Agriculture. Though written for farmers, they are applicable to all alfalfa growers. The best appearance of a product that will command the highest market price is not only the proper stage of growth, but also the manner in which it is cured, not only its leaves, but as much as possible of its bright green color as well. In order to obtain this class of product, but also its attractive appearance.

The leaves of alfalfa hay contain more feeding value pound for pound than the stems of the plant, so that the plan to insure the saving of as large a percentage of the leaves as possible. The proper curing of alfalfa, however, is not a different problem, provided favorite weather conditions can be secured. No hard and fast rule can be laid down that will fit all conditions equally well for the methods of handling in each case will always depend largely upon the weather.

Normally, alfalfa should be cut in the forenoon after the dew is off and raked up into windrows while still quite green, either late the same afternoon or not later than the following afternoon, for the longer it is left in the swath, the more it will become bleached and discolored from the sun. If the weather is dry there is little danger of placing it in the windrows too green. It should be left in the windrows from one to two days, or until half dry, and then placed in small or medium-sized cocks or piles, where it is to be left until it is sufficiently cured to permit of storing.

The main principle to be observed in the curing of alfalfa should be to dry it out sufficiently for storing with as little exposure to the sun and elements as possible. If his principle is borne in mind, and the plan outlined carried out, it is possible to dry it out sufficiently for stacking and still retain its bright green color—always provided the weather is good. Rain during harvest its feeding value, it is being more widely grown each year, but is harvested and cured with difficulty. Some growers in these districts place the piles of hay on small "stools" with slatted bottoms, the stools being constructed of 1 1/2 inch lumber, and elevated on short legs about six inches from the ground, after which each pile or cock is covered with a canvas cover until the hay is thoroughly cured and ready for the stack, but this method is expensive from the standpoint of both equipment and labor. The covers used cost about 60 cents each. Whatever the condition of the weather or the method of curing, it should be borne in mind that water on the hay from either dew or rain is more liable to cause trouble than moisture in the hay. Hay is ready to stack when no moisture can be twisted out of a bunch or wisp by twisting in the hands.

Feeding Silage

There are almost as many different ways of feeding cattle successfully as there are men who feed them. Grass is the natural food of all ruminant animals and in the state of nature cattle can get all the nourishment from it they require.

With domesticated animals, where in the case of the beef animal early maturity is sought, or where in the case of the dairy cow a large quantity of milk is desired, extra feed has to be supplied. In the winter the succulent part of the ration—what corresponds to the grass during the summer feeding—is provided in the shape of roots or silage. The other part of the ration consists of hay and meal. When the animals are turned out to pasture in the summer it would seem reasonable that the supply of succulent feed that was supplied during the winter would no longer be required. Many dairymen find that this is so. They find that if they do offer the animals silage they will not eat it readily. Evidently the cattle get all the succulent feed they require from the pasture. Other dairymen, however, find that their cows eat up the silage almost as readily during the summer when the pastures are at their best as during the winter months. The question naturally arises: if some dairymen can do without summer silage and claim their cows give just as much milk without it, would not the dairymen that do feed it get just as much milk from their cows? Examine them frequently and on the face of it, it would seem that cattle should not require any more succulent feed than they would get on a good rich pasture if they are fed grain and meal to increase the richness of the ration. The safest plan, however, is not to try to answer the question at all, but to let the cows answer the question. Silage is about the cheapest food we can feed them and if they seem to relish it during the summer we may be sure that it is doing them good. Animals after all are very much like human beings—"what's one man's meal is another man's poison"—and if the cows eat up the silage readily let them have it even if it does not agree with our ideas of balanced rations.

It Pays to Test.

In virtually any dairy district, probably among the herds supplying one factory, it is possible to find contrasts running something like this: One herd of 14 cows gives on the average 7,732 lbs. milk and 248 lbs. fat, while a neighbor's herd of 14 cows averages only 4,037 lbs. milk and 155 lbs. fat. Indeed, in looking over the records in eleven districts the average difference between the high herd averages and the low ones amounted to 4,639 lbs. milk and 140 lbs. fat per cow. This is certainly an extraordinary difference, and indicates that any farmer who does not test his cows will pay to calculate what cows can do.

Take it another way; In 1914, sixty patrons of two creameries began this cow calculation, cow testing. It was found in 1915 that their herds had made a gain over their 1913 record of 71 pounds of fat per cow, a gain of eight per cent. But on the other hand the 1913 patrons of the same two creameries who did not go in for cold calculations fell off 87 pounds of fat per cow, seventeen per cent. If the men not cow testing had made gains with their cows in the two years as those made who were testing, it would have meant an increase in the output of 58,362 pounds of butter! It pays to test. Record forms are furnished free of charge on application to the Dairy Division, Ottawa.—C. F. W.

THE STRENGTH OF A FLOWER

Sunflower Forced Its Way Through Asphalt Pavement.

A rock split asunder by a growing tree that has found lodgment in what was at first only a small crack is a familiar sight to most people. The force that a tree exerts in accomplishing this feat is tremendous, but relatively it is not equal to that exerted by the flower that Mr. John Burroughs describes in a recent book, "The Breath of Life."

One of the most remarkable exhibitions of plant force I ever saw was in a Western city, where I observed a wild sunflower forcing its way up through the asphalt pavement; the folded and compressed leaves of the plant, like a man's fist, had pushed against the hard but flexible concrete until it bulged up and split, and let the irrepressible plant through. The force exerted must have been many pounds. I think it doubtful if the strongest man could have pushed his fist through such a resisting medium.

Life activities are a kind of explosion, and the slow continued explosions of this growing plant rent the pavements as surely as powder would have done. It is doubtful if any cultivated plant could have overcome such odds. It required the force of the untamed hairy plant of the plains to accomplish the feat.

"Ace low, you said, Mrs. Rolt?" "I thought that Jim Combe was a square player," she said, but there was no censure in her tones. "You know the rule, Jim. Stand back. Your turn, Al."

"Give me a little 'un, ma'am." She hesitated. It is not pleasant to send an old friend to his death, and the cards which had been cut were all high.

"You want me to cut for you, Al?" "If the Boss don't mind, ma'am." Rolt nodded to her to humor the old man, but her hand shook as she turned up a five of spades.

"Oh, Al, I'm so sorry." "Then you ain't got no call to be. It's what I asked for, ain't it, and I mostly asks for what I want," and he swung gaily round on his heels to leave the room.

"Hold on, Al!" said a quiet voice at his elbow, "there is one more to cut yet." "Tain't no use, Mr. Anstruther. You ain't fit to go, and there ain't anything there no lower than a five."

there was no sign of sorrow. "When the door closed, he sat down on the edge of the table and began to roll a cigarette.

"Let's see that card, partner. You ain't putting up a job on us?" "No, Al. There it is," and he showed him the two of hearts.

"Holy smoke! The two-spot! She couldn't have drawn a lower if she'd tried to!" "Or better. Luck is for the young, Al," and this curiously-minded young man from Piccadilly began to hum a light air to himself, the words of which were:—

"He ain't no good about the house He can't cut wood."

CHAPTER XXXVI. "You said, Combe, that I should not be able to find my way to Soda Creek?"

Anstruther was still sitting on the table rolling his cigarette. "In the dark. It would not be right all the time you were on the road. But you don't have to. It is not likely we are going to let you suicide after that."

Anstruther smiled a little superciliously. "That has nothing to do with the question. Would you mind coming here for a moment?" and he went to the window.

"That is the road to Soda Creek; the way we came?" Combe nodded.

"But that is the direct way, as the crow flies?" "Yes, only there's a bit of a canyon in the way."

"What?" "Kinder sortin' out his odds and gettin' good and ready for his pass-sar."

Jim glanced quickly through the window and saw that the Indians were already loping back to their lines. Then he put his rifle up against the wall and left the room quietly.

Al noticed him and seemed about to follow him, but thought better of it, and muttering "Let 'em settle it themselves. It ain't my funeral," kept his place at the window.

Anstruther's door was wide open, but from where he stood Jim could not see into the room, neither could he hear anyone moving in it, but to prevent accidents he sat down and took off his boots, and then with them in his hand stole quietly along the passage and peeped through between the door and the jamb.

Anstruther had gone, but the room could not be said to be empty, for the floor of it was covered with mountains of clothes, as Jim had never dreamed of, piled pell mell in a great heap, whilst, as he said afterwards, there were 'boots enough for a battalion and coats like blankets at a potlatch.'

HE HATES THE GERMANS. They Insulted Sir Pertab Singh and His Cavalry.

Sir Pertab Singh is back on the western front with his famous Jodhpur Lancers, dubbed by Lord Roberts the "finest cavalry in Asia."

Through over 70 years of age, Sir Pertab was among the very first of the Indian princely princes to offer his services to the British Government when the war broke out. For nearly eighteen months he remained fighting the Huns in France and Flanders. Then Oriental etiquette compelled him to pay a flying visit to his native land in order to be present at the wedding of his nephew and ward, the young Maharajah of Jodhpur, with a daughter of the Jam of Nawanganar, better known to cricket enthusiasts as Ranjitsinhji.

And now he has returned once more to the scene of hostilities, his appetite for fighting still unsatisfied. There is a reason for this.

Sixteen years ago Sir Pertab placed his services, and those of his splendid troops, at the disposal of the Indian Government, in order to proceed to China and assist in quelling the Boxer uprising there. This offer was gratefully accepted, and in recognition thereof Sir Pertab, who was already a maharajah, a rajah, a rajput of the rajputs, and head of the famous warrior barons of Oudh, was raised to the rank of major-general in the British army.

But when he and his men arrived before Pekin they found the German von Waldersee in supreme command. The Hun, a boor then as now, made game of the warrior-prince, and the young pups of Prussians in Waldersee's staff, sneered at his splendid cavalry, calling them "coolies" and "niggers."

Try and imagine the effect of insolence such as this on a member of one of the oldest and proudest races on earth, accustomed to be treated on equal terms by English gentlemen. Sir Pertab vowed some day to be avenged. So did his troopers, individually and collectively.

Years ago Sir Pertab swore not to die in his bed. He has been fighting for Britain all his life, as his father, the old Maharajah Takht Singh, did before him.

One of the earliest recollections of the young Sir Pertab, then a boy of thirteen, was seeing his sire set out with Havelock to give battle to the rebel sepoys during the great Mutiny. Later on he rode with the British up through the Khyber Pass, and into Kabul. He also fought under Gen. Ellis in the Mohmand Expedition, and in Tirah under Gen. Lockhart, where he was wounded.

Lord Roberts was for over forty years a close personal friend of his.

Not So Bad as Feared. "Pleased, mum, nurse says would you come at once as baby's been an' swallowed near a 'ole packet of pins an' she says don't be handily alarmed as luckily they're safety pins."

Her Idea. "My dear, I've an idea," said old Mrs. Godart to her caller. "You know we frequently read of the soldiers making sorties. Now, why not make up a lot of those sorties and send them to the poor fellows at the front?"

PHARAOH'S PALACE.

Discovery in Egypt May be Home of the Oppressor.

The Museum of the University of Pennsylvania has made public a report from Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, leader of the Eckley B. Coxe, Jr., expedition to Egypt, in which he tells of what appears to be the discovery that Meremphat had in his palace at Memphis an archeological museum something like those of the present day. Meremphat was the son of Ramesses the Great, and by many is identified as the Pharaoh of the Oppression as described in the Book of Exodus.

The palace was discovered early in the present year, the report said. It was large and elaborately decorated, but at some time was destroyed by fire, traces of which are abundant. The palace was about 180 feet long and 100 feet wide and contained about 20 rooms. The throne room was a magnificent chamber of about 60x40 feet.

In describing this room the museum announcement stated that "it is probable that this throne room, if not the same, is similar to the one in which Moses and Aaron confronted the Pharaoh, demanding that the people of Israel be permitted to go. The authorities in Egypt admitted that a great discovery had been made.

In the rooms were found gold ornaments, scarabs, vessels, and vases. The most interesting find, the report stated, was a collection of relics, partly of the Stone Age and partly of the Sixth Dynasty (about 4500 B.C.), which indicated that Meremphat was a collector much like modern men or nations. The stone implements included knives, razors, sickles and arrow heads.

Can Cats Hear?

The acuteness of the average cat's sense of hearing is proverbial, but it is a proverb that needs qualifying. For example, many white cats are absolutely deaf, and though the idea may appear absurd at first sight, it is believed by some students that the color of a cat is associated with its sense of hearing. Among several imported Persians, or long-haired cats, from abroad, not one white one in the number has been able to hear the slightest sound.

Prison Surrendered, It Having Been Suddenness of the Attack.

Assistance nearly the entire garrison surrendered. Four hundred prisoners, two guns, several machine guns and considerable material were captured. The Italians have since pushed their advantage still further, and have occupied Cima Stradone, thus forming a serious menace to the Austrian position on the Dolomites road. The points of advantage gained by the Italians give them command of the San Pellegrino and Travignolo valleys.

Spirit of Men fect, Says Un

A despatch from Lord Derby, Under Secretary of State for War, who recently visited the front on Wednesday gave the News Service his views on the work being done by the army. "I never saw such confidence, not only among the ranks but all the grades from the private down. The spirit is magnificent. Men who, fifteen months ago, were in counting houses, are now the finest soldiers imaginable. After all, you cannot beat a volunteer army, where such spirit and confidence exists, for remember, I should say at least 93 per cent. of the army are volunteers, while the remainder really only wanted their minds made up for them."

NEW GERMAN WAR HORROR.

Proposed That Prisoners Be Taught Hun Language.

In a leading article in the "Vossische Zeitung" we have further information regarding the remarkable project for increasing the power and influence of Germany throughout the world, by teaching the German language to the hundreds of thousands of war prisoners scattered throughout the German Empire. The promoters of the scheme see in it a unique opportunity of spreading abroad what they understand by "Deutschtum," and think that war prisoners inducted into the mysteries of the language will be one and all apostles in the great cause. It does not occur to them that to treat these prisoners with humanity, to feed them properly, to shelter them from the loathsome mockery and insults to which they are daily exposed might be a surer way of securing their esteem and advocacy for the future.

The "Vossische" writer does not believe that the million or so of prisoners will unanimously take to studying German as a relief to the monotony of their captivity, but there are thousands for whom dominoes and football afford no intellectual stimulus, and these men would only be too glad to master the key which open to them the treasure house of Goethe and Schiller, Lessing and Hauptmann. It is pointed out, moreover, that language is a far more serious dividing line between national and nation than geographical boundaries, or differing customs and laws. Teach these English, French, and Russians the language of their captors, and you remove the main obstacle to the growth of cordiality and sympathy for Germans and their cause.

"Even should only 10,000 to 20,000 prisoners be won over to take part in the proposed course of instruction we obtain thereby this number of apostles who will afterwards be spread over the countries now hostile to us, and will certainly act as the apostles of the German spirit."

KING PLANS VISIT TO CANADA.

Expects to Make Trip With Queen as Soon as War Permits.

The appointment of the Duke of Devonshire as Governor-General of Canada may be regarded as a forerunner of the King's determination to make a tour of Canada with the Queen as soon after the war as possible, according to the London correspondent of the Manchester Guardian.

Reference is made to plans by the King to visit Canada during the Duke of Connaught's tenure of office, the assertion being made that they were cut short by the outbreak of the war. The Duchess of Devonshire is not only Mistress of the Robes of the Queen but is one of her closest friends. She was, before her marriage, Lady Evelyn Mary Fitzmaurice, daughter of Lord Lansdowne. She is a great social favorite and one of London's most popular hostesses. Both she and the Duke have visited more than once.

BRITAIN IS MAKING HER OWN MUNITIONS.

Factories to Make One Class of Explosives in Vast Quantities.

A despatch from London says: During a discursive debate on the questions of the war in the House of Commons on Wednesday night, Dr. Christopher Addison, Parliamentary Secretary of Munitions, in replying to a question said that the Department of Munitions was endeavoring to reduce the contracts for munitions in the United States by increasing the output here. In one particular class of explosives, he said the department had undertaken the construction and equipment of factories to provide these explosives on an unheard of scale.

TURKISH SUEZ STORY A PURE FABRICATION

A despatch from London says: Claims of a Turkish victory east of the Suez Canal over the British Egyptian forces were denied in the following official statement given out by the War Office on Thursday: "It was stated in a German wireless message that our cavalry was driven back from Romani (El Ruman) and Katia (El Katie), on Sinai Peninsula. Our cavalry has completed the occupation of Katia and nowhere has been driven back. Complete superiority over the enemy has been established."

GERMANS EXECUTE BELGIANS ON A BARBAROUS PRETEXT.

A despatch from London says: Six civilians have been executed by the Germans at Ghent charged with "war treason," according to a Reuter's Amsterdam despatch quoting The Telegraph. The despatch also says that the Germans have removed 7,000 men, 2,000 women and 150 pupils of the Turgot Institute from Roubaix, presumably for agricultural work in Germany.

RABBITS IN GERMANY ARE WORTH $6 EACH.

An Exchange Telegram despatch to London from The Hague says: "The price of horses in Germany has doubled. Farmers are making fortunes selling rabbits at 25 marks each. The bad weather is spoiling the crops."

NOTED GERMAN AIRMAN SLAIN BY BRITISH PILOT.

A despatch from The Hague says: Lieut. Parshall, the famous German aviator, was killed fighting a British biplane.

GENERAL ALLENBY CAVALRY LEADER

HE SAW SERVICE IN THE SOUTH AFRICAN WAR.

He May Shortly Have Chance on Big Scale to Again Show His Capacity.

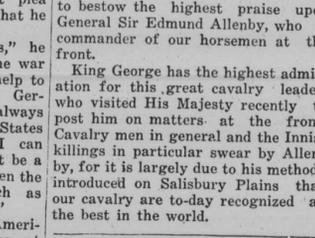

Does the use of cavalry by the British in the big offensive in Picardy this week foreshadow the near approach of the day when our horse soldiers will be extensively used in driving the Germans back out of Belgium? We are all hoping so at any rate.

So far this war has been a titanic struggle between infantry and artillery, the cavalry playing but a small part; but what work there has been to do has been done with that splendid efficiency which led Lord French, in his early despatches from the front, to bestow the highest praise upon General Sir Edmund Allenby, who is commander of our horsemen at the front.

King George has the highest admiration for this great cavalry leader, who visited His Majesty recently to post him on matters at the front. Cavalry men in general and the Inniskillings in particular swear by Allenby, for it is largely due to his methods introduced on Salisbury Plains that our cavalry are to-day recognized as the best in the world.

Lord Derby looked towards America joining England and her allies at all events after the war in order to prevent a repetition of wars like the present.

King George has the highest admiration for this great cavalry leader, who visited His Majesty recently to post him on matters at the front. Cavalry men in general and the Inniskillings in particular swear by Allenby, for it is largely due to his methods introduced on Salisbury Plains that our cavalry are to-day recognized as the best in the world.

Gen. Sir Edmund Allenby.

BRITISH STEAMERS SAIL FROM THE BALTIC.

Leave Russian Ports and Are Navigated Around Sweden.

A despatch from Stockholm says: Almost every day British steamers lying at Russian ports manage to get out of the Baltic and escape the German cruisers. The ships generally cross the Gulf of Bothnia and are piloted around Sweden inside the territorial limit. This traffic during the last few weeks has been considerably developed. The ships as a rule take on board an entire Swedish crew and Swedish officers. The pro-German papers here are urging that this traffic be stopped, contending that it is not in accord with absolute neutrality. But the Government has taken no action so far against it.

GERMAN WORKMEN URGED NOT TO STRIKE

A Despatch from Berlin Says:—The Socialist Executive Committee and the General Commission of Labor Unions in Germany have united in a joint appeal to the working classes not to participate in strikes and demonstrations which the Radical leaders of the Liebknecht group of Socialists are endeavoring to organize.

The people are warned against giving ear to what is termed the shady propaganda of "the apostles of protest and the general strike," it being declared that such efforts are doomed in advance to failure and can only injure the participants and discourage their brothers fighting at the front.

GOVERNMENT TO SINK ARTESIAN WELLS

A Despatch from Ottawa Says:—The Government is going into the artesian-well business in Southern Alberta. The ordinary water supply there in many localities is poor, but the geological survey, in boring for oil deposits, discovered abundance of splendid water at low depths. An order-in-Council has been passed making an appropriation for an extensive artesian-well system in these districts. It will supply the ordinary deficiency.

TWO EGGS A WEEK

Ration is Cut Pretty Smartly in German Capital.

After bread, meat, butter and potatoes, eggs can now be had only on the ration basis of two per person per week in Greater Berlin. The latest papers, commenting on this newest precautionary measure to regulate the food supply, make a somewhat amusing attempt to belittle the importance of eggs "after all." The Vossische Zeitung's lightning food calculator says eggs comprise only 1 per cent. of Germany's nourishment necessities, compared with 13 per cent. represented by meat, 12.2 per cent. by potatoes, and 42.2 per cent. by bread. "Everybody knows," he adds, "that it takes 12 or 14 eggs to equal the nutritive strength of 1 lb. of beef."

ROUMANIA'S ENTRY ADMITTED BOTH IN BERLIN AND VIENNA

Deepest Anxiety Prevails in German Capital, According to Despatches From That City.

A despatch from Rotterdam says: Both Berlin and Vienna seem to have made up their minds that a new enemy—Roumania—is about to enter the field. According to information from Berlin, the deepest anxiety prevails there. While the Roumanian journals are speaking of Bulgaria and Austria as probable enemies, German newspapers threaten Roumania. Germany will support her allies by probable military measures against Roumania, which already are in hand. Dr. Lederer, of the Berliner Tageblatt, writing from Bucharest, says: "You cannot trust the Roumanian policy. The only thing we can trust is our arms."

BRITISH ADVANCES CONTINUE IN GERMAN EAST AFRICA

Enemy Driven From Strongly-Organized Positions Astride Railroad—German Governor Killed.

A despatch from London says: The following official statement on the progress of the British campaign in German East Africa was given out on Thursday night: "Brig-Gen. Northey reports that on July 24 he drove the main German southern detachment of the enemy from strongly organized positions astride the Neu Langenburg-Itangi road at Malangali. After counter-attacks the enemy retired hurriedly in the direction of Itangi, abandoning a 4.1-inch howitzer and two machine guns.

"Among a number of German Europeans captured previously was Dr. Styr, late governor of the Neu Langenburg district. Dr. Styr has died of wounds. A majority of the surviving members of the crew of the German cruiser Koenigsburg form part of the German forces in this district."

Ate Paris Green.

The little three-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cottrill Morris, of 12th Bruce, had a close call from being poisoned with Paris green on Wednesday last. The child had gone out to the potato field where his elders were applying the bug poison, and unnoticed got into a parcel of the dry green powder. By the time his mother noticed what he was doing, he had regaled himself on quite a lot of the cool-looking green stuff, and his mouth was full of it. After removing what she could from the mouth, Dr. Gage was telephoned for. The later gave first-aid instructions over the phone and then made a fast run out in his car. The child was still carrying the stomachful of sure death when the doctor arrived there, but the latter administered emetics with such prompt and effective results that the patient was soon relieved of the dangerous cargo and no ill effects followed.—Paisley Advocate.

Mr. Albert Chapman, for many years an esteemed resident of Teeswater, died very suddenly on Saturday of last week, from heart failure or the effects of heat. He was helping Mr. Latchford Thacker at haying, and was on a load of hay when death came suddenly.

Mr. Perry Eli, an old resident of Walkerton, was declared a lunatic at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, before Mr. Justice Riddell, on Thursday last, and a committee will be appointed by the Local Master, Judge Klein, to look after his estate, which is said to be extensive, Mr. Eli being financially well fixed.

William Thompson, a retired farmer of Chesley, 78 years of age, went out one day last week with his brother-in-law, Calib Steinhoff, to help haying. He was building a load when the team started suddenly, causing the old man to fall to the ground. He alighted on his head and, dislocating his neck, died instantly.

Liquor shop keepers throughout the province have asked for an extension of time for the disposal of their stocks after September 16th. They claim that owing to wholesalers flooding the market and the importations from Quebec they have been unable to dispose of what they have on hand.

The attempt of the U. S. Post Office Department to establish an aerial service over thirteen postal routes most of which are in Alaska, has failed. The department advertised for bids but could not complete with military demands for flying machines and aviators. It can hardly be doubted, however, that coming generations will see such mail service.

The refining of nickel in Ontario is foreshadowed in a statement made by Hon. Howard Ferguson. "We think we have the process as our staff of experts, consisting of metallurgists and metallurgical chemists are convinced about it. The discovery is largely due to Prof. Guest of the University of Toronto.

In an article entitled "The sons of Bruce" taken from the London Advertiser says 24 Macs were in line in the Bruce Battalion one day when a small guard was turned out. There are about 25 MacDonalds in the 160th and nineteen of them were photographed recently. There are 17 Smiths in the 160th Battalion.

Last October the Michigan State Board of Health began a "tuberculosis survey" of the state. In six months the agents of the board visited thirteen of the eighty-three counties and examined more than five thousand persons. Whenever they found signs of tuberculosis, nurses followed them to give help and instruction. The work is proving so acceptable that the board finds itself unable to keep up with the demands made upon it by those who wish to be examined.

The assessment of the hotel properties in Warton have been cut down to the tune of $19,850, as a result of the prohibitory legislation. Judge Klein, who heard the appeals, set the assessment as follows:—The Arlington, which has been $9,000, be cut down to $7,000; the Queens, from $5,000 to $2,500; and the Pacific from $11,650 to $7,150. The hotels had a business assessment as follows: the Arlington $2,400, the Queens $1,250, and the Pacific $1,920. By Ontario legislation the business assessment loss plus the reduction on the land assessment, makes a total reduction of $19,850.

A terrible accident took place in the gravel pit at the C. P. R. station, Erin village, at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon of last week and terminated in the death of Garfield Berry half an hour later. Berry had been employed at the pit for some time and was quite familiar with the machinery. He was putting on a belt on the machine that feeds the crusher and was drawn over the pulley. The left arm and leg were torn off at the body and the unfortunate man's bowels protruded. The machinery was stopped as quickly as possible and Berry was pulled out, but his injuries were so terrible that nothing could be done for him. He lived for about 30 minutes after the accident. Berry was 30 years of age and unmarried.—Flesherton Advance.

The Dominion's revenue is substantial gains over last year, but the public debt keeps bounding up at the rate of from fifteen to twenty millions per month. Larger imports higher Customs revenue, and war taxation have increased the revenue for the first quarter of the fiscal year $1,480,000 as compared with the corresponding three months of 1915-16. But war and other expenditures have boosted the national debt by $158,923,000 from the figure at which it stood on June 30th of last year.
 Last month the increase in the national

 If a man is out looking for trouble that's the very thing to do, but as we can sit still and find all the trouble we need, we don't propose running around after it.
 We already know that the Presbyterians pray longer than other congregations, that the Methodists sing louder, that the Anglicans have splendid rituals, and that the Baptists plunge deeper at baptism than the rest. As for their dogmas they could be all under Church Union and save as many souls. It has been said that Walkerton has too many tailor shops, and as the people don't look any the better dressed for it, we believe that with seven churches here the people are not growing wings any faster than if there were a less number to attend. We have always espoused Church Union for the sole reason that there would be less sorrowful looking preachers and bigger congregations on Sunday. This is a sad fact, but there's nothing that the clergy like better than a sad fact.—Times

Honor Knight, Aged 18
 The youngest Knight of the Legion of Honor is Fernand Fille, of Marseilles.
 Only eighteen years of age, he has just been awarded the coveted decoration.
 When the Germans were overrunning Belgium at the beginning of the war young Fille left home and enlisted in the army of King Albert. He was wounded soon afterwards, and upon his recovery, although still under 17, became a volunteer in a French regiment.

He was wounded at Lingekopf while gallantly leading his comrades to the attack, his body receiving 78 shell splinters.
 His life was saved, but he lost an arm and an eye.

He had already received the Military Medal and the War Cross when the French Government decided to make him a Knight of the Legion.

Nearly Drowned
 The Saugeen river came nearly claiming two young lives of the town and adding to its already sombre record as a booster of floral wreaths and coroner's inquests. While in bathing near the head-gates on Monday afternoon Mr.
 Morgan of the Merchant's Bank staff got his mouth full of rain-water and went down. He came up once or twice, and was preparing to set out for the pearly gates of golden, when Charles Pette-place of the Bank of Commerce, here, who was nearby, seized him, and drew him back to earthly cares again by hauling him safely out of the deep blue. A few days previous while bathing at the dam, Miss Jean Reichenbach stepped into a deep hole and sank. When she re-appeared at the surface again, Walter Paterson earned a Carnegie medal by swimming up and shoving her over into shallow water, where she succeeded in regaining her feet again and getting a new lease on the breath of life. Few of our town folks have come so near the Valley of the Shadow and stole a safe return trip back as these two.—Herald

 LEE, 127 Hess St., Hamilton, Ont.

Brantford, Ont.—"Some few years ago I got in a very much run-down condition. Was very weak; could not do anything; had no strength at all. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; I only took five bottles and it put me in splendid condition. I felt better than I had for years. Other members of my family have used this medicine and found it equally as beneficial. I can highly recommend it to weak women."—
 Mrs. A. GILMOUR, 71 Brighton Row, Brantford, Ont.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well.
 Like an open book, our faces tell the tale of health or disease. Hollow cheeks and sunken eyes, listless steps, sleepless nights—tell of wasting debilitating disease some place in the body. It may be one place or another, the cause is generally traceable to a common source.
 Get the "Prescription" to-day—either in liquid or tablet form—if you want to better your physical condition speedily.
 Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate and invivorate stomach, liver and bowels.
 Keep the body clean inside as well as outside.

The Advance in Rates.
 Each week we notice additional weekly newspapers announcing an increase in their subscription price to $1.50 per year. The Brussels Post, Mildmay Gazette and Owen Sound Times made announcement of the increase last week.
 They all have the same story: On looking into their business they found that at the one-dollar rate the remuneration is not such as to make it worth while to continue the business. Besides, as everybody knows, as compared with other things, a weekly paper is new cheaper at $1.50 per year than it was 10 years ago at $1.00 per year. We are pleased to find that the public recognize these facts and are readily paying the $1.50 rate. We have added a number of new subscribers at the new rate since it came into effect.—Lucknow Sentinel.

Sons of Bruce.
 If there is a Battalion in the Canadian forces, which deserve to go overseas, and to the front line trenches with its identity preserved and its ranks unbroken, that battalion is the 160th (Bruce) in command of Lieut. Col. A. Weir, says the London Advertiser.

In the first place, it is without doubt the most representative purely Canadian unit which has been recruited in the province of Ontario. In the second place it is one of the few, if not the only rural battalion which is over strength. In the third place, as is fitting for the county of its organization it is about 75% Scotch-Canadian. The other day when a small guard was turned out, there were 24
 "Mac's" in line. What do ye ken about that?

The boys of Bruce—farmers, sons of farmers, professional men, lumber-jacks men in 90 different occupations—first had the call for a county battalion late in December, and early in March the u. t. was up to strength. One fine day the church and school bells of the county rang out to tell the people that the battalion was recruited, and that 250 men were required for a base company.
 There was something of the cross of fire tradition in the spirit of Col. Weir when he set out to stir the manhood of his native country. There was something of the wild ardor of the Highlands in the response that came to the chieftain's call.

London is proud to have had this magnificent body of men in its midst for a few weeks. They have never marched along in this city without setting the blood of other men tingling. How fine they would look in the kilts! They might claim the right, but perhaps they prefer to be thought of as the hardy, transplanted outgrowth of a great, free, race, ever blood-pledged to "lay the proud oppressor low." Well, might these sons of Bruce appropriate for their marching song the battle hymn of Scotland:
 Welcome to your gory bed
 Or to victory!

Kitchener's army has grown some since the Kaiser described it as contemptible. He probably has revised his opinion by this time.

Some weeks ago County Magistrate Huot imposed a fine of $50 on Lt. Col.
 Graham of London, commanding officers of the 142nd Battalion for being out with his automobile with a last year's license. He was given two weeks in which to pay a fine and Chief of Police MacIntosh of Port Stanley, threatens to have a warrant issued for the colonel's arrest at Camp Borden. Lieut. Col.
 Graham claims that the car was in His Majesty's service and could not be interfered with by the civil authorities to show that this militaristic rot has no place in this country. Men in His Majesty's Service have no more privileges than any other people.—Milverton Sun.

Pomelled Father
 A Walkerton youth is reported to have severely pomelled his father here last Saturday for some alleged misconduct of the latter. Talk about Abraham proceeding to offer up his son, Isaac, as a sacrifice, but if Isaac had lived in these days Abe would have had to do a marathon over the adjoining fields as soon as the son found what he was up to.
 Most fathers nowadays have about as much control over their offspring as a pigeon would have presiding over a pack of timber wolves. Saturday's ordinance is a sample of the modern idea—whenever the "old man" goes wrong the children take him in hand. The man who raises a family these days don't know what kind of trouble he is storing up for himself, and it's well probably that he don't for he will find out soon enough, alright, alright.—Times.

New Standard Hotels.
 Regulations governing the "standard hotels" as they will be administered by the Ontario License Board following September 16th are to be issued next week, according to the announcement of Vice-Chairman Dingman, of the Board, Monday. Stress will be laid upon cleanliness, comfort and convenience, according to Mr. Dingman, but the new regulations will not impose any hardship on the proprietors. They will be similar, in fact, to those of the present Liquor License Act, excepting that the "bars" will not have any time restrictions. It will be possible to buy a drink—of soda water—any time the proprietor likes to sell it. The license fee of $1, it is understood, will relieve a proprietor from payment of whatever municipal fees for tobacco or restaurant business may be levied in his locality.

Fruit Crop Prospects.
 East of Toronto the crop is very disappointing and will not exceed that of 1915. There has been very development of scab, and a heavy dropping of fruit in all sections. Unsprayed orchards are practically worth less on account of poor quality. There has also been some damage by hail in the Cobourg district.
 In western and northern parts of the province there is a medium crop, but the

Rejoice evermore.—Thessalonians
v. 16.
The Church at Thessalonica
founded by Paul on his second missionary journey. But hardly had gathered a few responsive people
gather before his opponents succeeded in stirring up a furious commotion against him. A mob stormed house in which he was staying and Apostle barely escaped with his life. He fled to Berea and thence to Athens.
There he learned that his friends
at Thessalonica were suffering persecution. In this emergency first sent Timothy to encourage
and, when he had returned the Apostle wrote the letter from which
text is taken to express his approval
of their steadfastness and to comfort
them in their sorrow.

Exercise the Will.
In the midst of this letter occurs
the exhortation, "Always be joyful."
Strange words to be written by a man who had been mobbed to other people who were in the midst of persecution!
How can we "always be joyful"?
Cheerfulness is easy while prosperity
and success prevail, but how shall one rejoice evermore when persecution prevails and disaster threatens?
Paul's letter throws some light upon
the question.

First of all, cheerfulness is to
a great extent the result of determination to rejoice evermore. The very
act of smiling at grief tends to banish
the grief. William James, in his
"Psychology," declares that it is a mistake to suppose that one gets angry and strikes, feels sorrowful and weeps, feels glad and smiles. He says the opposite is true—one strikes
and gets angry, weeps and feels sad, smiles and experiences joy. If you come in charming colorings, in

stripes, dots, conventionalized designs
and plain tones. They are most practical for street dresses and suits
of the sports type. Plain natural pongee is being trimmed with vivid,
contrasting touches of rose, emerald
green, which is one of the most popular of shades this season, orange, and the other popular shades. Shantung and pongee are also modish and
practical materials for the separate coats
for general wear over light frocks and
for motoring.

Speaking of separate coats, they have been more in demand these last few seasons than for some time, owing to the popularity of one-piece dresses. Some of the most attractive of these coats are being made of dark blue Bedford cord with collar and cuffs of white broad-cloth or flannel.
Gay linings are used for lining them, or no linings at all. Some of the new lining foulards and voiles are particularly effective.

The Passing of the Hoop Skirt.
The hoop-skirt scare has entirely passed. There is no denying the charm of the hoop, but in this day and age it has no place except in the most frivolous of dance and evening gowns, and even from these, it is being ripped out. This does not mean, however, that we are going back to the narrow skirt; no indeed, merely limp skirts.
The dainty mid-summer voiles and organdies are as full and bouffant as ever, but their fullness falls softly about the figure, and their bouffancy is induced by their width and the nature of the material.

Collars and Sleeves.
Having finished with skirts as far as width, shortness and trimming are concerned, Fashion has now turned her attention to the bodice, laying especial stress on collars and sleeves.
A special becoming idea which strikes one may be used in both of these, af-

Faileth—Literally, "falleth." Compare 1 Sam. 3. 19. "The young men shall utterly fall." (Isa. 40. 30), but love will never stumble. Done away —Literally, "made idle," a favorite word with Paul. The best commentary is Jer. 31. 34, which tells of the day when the prophet will have nothing more to do, since "all the Lord's people will be prophets." Knowledge —Time and discovery often make superior "insight" look supremely foolish.
I came across a "gnostic" in Jamica who fixed the "Millennia Dawn"

9. We know—More exactly, we learn or come to know. Phophesy—Set forth God's message, which in nature of things we can only partially realize. Hence the progressive, character of Old Testament prophecy.
11. Put away—The same word as done away.
12. In a mirror—Ancient mirrors were of metal, and to identify objects must often have been like a riddle (margin). Paul's figure reminds us of Plato's famous allegory of the cave-men confined in a cave with their backs to the entrance, and knowing the external world only through the shadows cast on the inner wall. Even so men try to read the "Riddle of the Universe," and fall the more egregiously as they show more confidence in their powers. Shall I know fully—The Greek verb is a compound, and the rendering "know fully" is now disproved; the compound verb deals with

Clearly languages in the usual sense.
This passage is enough to disprove the conception of mere abracadabra which some scholars have found in the "tongues" of this epistle. The meaning is identical with that of the Pentecost story. The after-thought and of angels merely heightens the note of scorn, and need not be pro-prietarily interpreted. Else we might say that the "angels" or "princes" of of the nations in Daniel might be supposed to speak the languages of their peoples, as well as the one language of the heavenly world. Cymbal—Specially used in the orgiastic wor-

2. Mysteries—There is more than a half reference to the sham mysteries the people of "Knowledge" were always professing to have fathomed, to the scorn of plain folks who could not see below the surface of a stone wall. Knowledge, or rather insight (gnosis, whence came the later name gnostic), was the special boast of these clever people, to whom Paul attributed "the falsely named knowledge" (1 Tim. 6. 20). In its full development it answers exactly to the always foolish and often foul stuff now called theosophy. But Paul's words would still be true if the "mysteries" and "insight" were true and divine; even the deepest theology is futile without love. "The heart makes the theologian." Remove mountains—The phrase, of course, suggests Matt. 17. 20, but it may have been proverbial. The question might be asked how such faith is possible in a loveless man—a question often recurring in these verses. Paul does not say it is; he is only isolating these graces for comparison.

3. All my goods.—The rich young ruler was told that for doing this he would have treasure in heaven. A good illustration of the danger of prosaic literalness in interpretation!
To be burned—The marginal reading, that I may glory, differing only in a single letter, is rather better attested.

The Church at Thessalonica
founded by Paul on his second missionary journey. But hardly had
gathered a few responsive people
gather before his opponents succeeded in stirring up a furious commotion against him. A mob stormed
house in which he was staying and Apostle barely escaped with his
life. He fled to Berea and thence to Athens.
There he learned that his friends
at Thessalonica were suffering
persecution. In this emergency
first sent Timothy to encourage
and, when he had returned the Apostle wrote the letter from which
text is taken to express his approval
them in their sorrow.

Exercise the Will.
In the midst of this letter occurs
the exhortation, "Always be joyful."
Strange words to be written by a man
who had been mobbed to other people
who were in the midst of persecution!
How can we "always be joyful"?
Cheerfulness is easy while prosperity
and success prevail, but how shall one
rejoice evermore when persecution
prevails and disaster threatens?
Paul's letter throws some light upon
the question.

First of all, cheerfulness is to
a great extent the result of determination to rejoice evermore. The very
act of smiling at grief tends to banish
the grief. William James, in his
"Psychology," declares that it is a mistake to suppose that one gets
angry and strikes, feels sorrowful and
weeps, feels glad and smiles. He
says the opposite is true—one strikes
and gets angry, weeps and feels sad,
smiles and experiences joy. If you

come in charming colorings, in
stripes, dots, conventionalized designs
and plain tones. They are most
practical for street dresses and suits
of the sports type. Plain natural
pongee is being trimmed with vivid,
contrasting touches of rose, emerald
green, which is one of the most popular of shades this season, orange, and
the other popular shades. Shantung
and pongee are also modish and
practical materials for the separate coats
for general wear over light frocks and
for motoring.

Speaking of separate coats, they
have been more in demand these last
few seasons than for some time, owing
to the popularity of one-piece
dresses. Some of the most attractive
of these coats are being made of
dark blue Bedford cord with collar and
cuffs of white broad-cloth or flannel.
Gay linings are used for lining them, or
no linings at all. Some of the new
lining foulards and voiles are particularly effective.

These patterns may be obtained from your local McCall dealer or from The McCall Company, 70 Bond St., Toronto, Ont.

NO MORE FOREIGN NAMES.
Even Christian Names of Allied Origin Must Go in Saxony.
Saxony is one of the most patriotic States in Germany. Having removed foreign words from their hotels and eating houses, their barbers' shops, theatres, and milliners' establishments the Dresden authorities have turned their attention to Christian names, and have begun an agitation which is sure to spread to other cities.
It has been noted with pain that a very large number of people have Christian names borrowed from other countries. In peace no reasonable objection could be urged to this practice, but at the present time for German women, men, and children to be obliged to go through life saddled with a name which is not German, and which is closely identified with a belligerent country, is intolerable.
Accordingly, good Saxons have been notified that those persons with foreign Christian names who desire to get rid of them, and adopt instead sound German names, may do so, the civil authorities giving them every legal facility, and removing all obstacles from their path. Among the names considered undesirable are:
Harry, James, John, Ivan, Rene, Jules, Gaston, Margot, Claire, Daisy, Olga, Vera, Renee, Gabrielle, Sylvia.
The officials at registry offices are instructed to draw the attention of parents registering their children with foreign Christian names to the desirability of choosing a German name, and only to enter foreign names when the parents absolutely insist.

Not the Gordian Knot
"What is your name, sir?"
"My name is Knott Martin, your honor."
"Well, what is it?"
"It is Knott Martin."
"Not Martin again! We don't ask what your name is not, but what it is. No contempt of court, sir."
"If your honor will give me leave I'll spell my name."
"Well, spell it."
"K-no-double-t, Knot, M-a-r-t-i-n, Martin."
"Oh, very well, Mr. Martin; we are through it now, but it was one of the most knotty cases we have had before us for some time."

OCEAN WAVES CAN DO

FORCE OF THE EAT ROLLERS.

Wonderful Examples of the Strength of the Mighty Deep.

were not filling every page of newspaper, we should have been by descriptions of the awful which recently swept across the Indies and the Gulf of

Unless you have been in a storm at sea—or, rather, out in the ocean—it is impossible to imagine the strength of the enormous rollers.

These huge ocean waves, crested with snowy foam, are sometimes forty feet high, and the distance between one crest and the next as much as a quarter of a mile. Such waves travel at a speed of between thirty and forty miles an hour.

350 Feet Above Sea-Level.

These huge ocean waves, disporting themselves on top of water two or three miles deep, are not dangerous unless a ship be driven into them. It is when they come crashing into shoal water that they pile themselves up into real mountains and achieve such extraordinary feats of power.

Near the Eddystone Lighthouse the sea is 200 fathoms, or 1,200 feet, deep. Within a little distance this decreases to thirty fathoms. Here storm-waves heap up into real mountains of solid water fully one hundred feet in height.

In a westerly gale the Atlantic breaks with incredible force on the huge, bare cliffs of the Irish coast. Here Lord Dunraven has actually measured wave-crests which struck the rocks one hundred and fifty feet above sea-level.

Yet even this is child's play with what happens in the Mariana Islands. Here is a giant pillar of rock known as Lot's Wife. It stands three hundred and fifty feet clear above the surface of the ocean, yet in storms spray drenches it to its topmost pinnacle.

Drowned by the Thousand.

The Bishop's Rock lies between the Scillies and Land's End, and is exposed to the full force of the winter gales. At the top of the massive tower there used to be a great bell, used for warning in fogs. In one storm a wave washed this bell clean away and covered the upper gallery with sand. This gallery is just one hundred feet above ordinary high-tide.

The greatest waves—apart from the true earthquake wave—are those caused by cyclones or circular storms. In such a storm the barometer may be lower by three inches in the centre of the storm than at its edge. The consequence of this tremendous reduction of pressure is that the sea in the vortex rises high above the usual level, and in this way are produced waves of appalling size and height.

It was a wave of this type which, in the dreadful cyclone of 1876, swept upon the mouth of the Ganges, and drove in over an area the size of Devonshire. By marks upon the trees it was ascertained that this great wall of salt water rolled in forty-five feet high. The damage done was appalling and more than one hundred thousand unfortunate natives were drowned.

Carried Over the Tree-Tops.

One of the worst hurricanes of which we have any record was that which swept Karatonga, in the Pacific Ocean, in the year 1846. Believe it or not, a vessel from Tahiti was lifted by the great wave, carried over the tops of the palm-trees, and dropped far inland. The captain, who survived, deposed on oath that he felt the tree-tops grating against the schooner's timbers as she was swept along on the crest of this monstrous roller!

The greatest of ordinary wind-waves are seen in the so-called "Roaring Forties," south of Cape Horn. They rise to forty-six feet. The Bay of Biscay deserves its bad name, for there waves thirty-six feet high have been measured. In the North Sea waves do not exceed fourteen feet, but they are steep and very dangerous, while in the Mediterranean fifteen feet seems to be the limit.

such bombardment would be called for; the rising would be nipped in the bud. No are the streets destroyed, but the money-making and em- bring businesses that were there. And some of the Dublin's claim to be a nation- polls, the marks of her c are gone likewise. Her Roy- lan Academy, which had holding its annual exhibit- tures, looks with its skele and its battered friezes like in Pompeii—or perhaps Library of Louvain.

HOW TO CREATE AN E

The Way a Man May Have So

When Old Age Creeps Upon

As a means of preventing pov and as a method by which fami deprived by death of the providi member may not become objects of charity, there has never in the world been anything devised which equals the power for good as a well-manag- ed life insurance company.

Life insurance as developed to-day is of the greatest economic value. It is the bonding together of many men, and the paying in of certain sums by each, to minimize the financial loss experienced by other members of the company.

Life insurance in the beginning was solely for protection, but variations in the different forms which exist to-day have been brought forth to meet the demands of the public, as they arose from time to time, but we believe the farther a company varies from the primal idea—namely protection—the less is its power for good.

As an investment we have nothing to say against it, and the vast accumulations of surplus which the different companies have made and which they hold for policyholders speaks for itself, but the principle of making provision is often lost sight of in the attempt to create an asset, at a future date, for a person's own benefit.

It is a curious thing that no matter how badly a man may need life insurance, he has a tendency to side-step it until he is finally caught, and, as has been aptly said, some men get life insurance to-day much in the same manner as they get religion.

His emotions must be appealed to, and he often takes the step in a moment of enthusiasm; generally he is pleased with his self afterwards, and if he is a ri At-thinking and a proper business man he seldom or never lapses his policy.

In going over the daily press week by week and year by year, we see the probates of wills of many people, and we are often astounded by the smallness of the estate, if any, to take care of those left behind, and in many cases we find that the principal asset, when any, is usually a life insurance policy taken out by the breadwinner.

The building of an estate at the present time, or even at any time, is a tedious and long-drawn-out matter. It is not generally known that fully 95 per cent. of the people who enter business fall during some time or other. Neither is it generally known that fully 97 per cent. of the public, when they attain advanced age, have little or nothing to live upon. If even a small fortune is to be accumulated it must be wisely and intelligently managed, and when people are so busy, as they are to-day, endeavoring to make ends meet, they have not much time at their disposal to look into investments.

By putting aside a small sum yearly, as one's means permit, the moment the first payment is made on a life insurance policy an estate is created of the face value of the policy, and if a man would only continue to add to this, in the best years of his earning capacity, he would have something when old age creeps upon him which would be security against many of the troubles he might have to meet, and if he has this sum at his disposal when he comes to advanced age he will have many people anxious to give him the comforts to which he is entitled.

Bessie's Smile.

One evening the mother of a 3-year-old miss said: "Bessie, I see you yawning. It is time you were in bed."

"I wasn't yawning, mother," replied Bessie; "that was a new kind of a smile."

House Conscripts.

A national convention of Austrian women, according to reports published in the latest German papers, unanimously adopted a resolution calling upon the Government to introduce "compulsory service" for women in the form of one year's instruction in housekeeping. The "service" should be performed, the convention further resolved, after girls and young women have concluded their ordinary schooling and before marriage.

PUT BAN ON ALL DOCUMENTS.

No Printed Matter Can Be Taken Over German Frontier.

Unprecedentedly harsh regulations are now in force regarding the carrying of any written or printed matter over the German frontiers. The following notice has just been promulgated by the military authorities:

1. Travellers on principle may take nothing written or printed across the imperial frontiers.

2. Letters, post-cards, or other communications must be sent through the post.

3. Exceptions to the above are letters or documents, written or printed, especially business papers, if (a) the taking of them is absolutely necessary to fulfill the object of the trip; (b) they are confined to the smallest possible dimensions; and (c) they have been officially examined and sealed up before arrival at the frontier.

4. Travellers can only reckon with safety on being permitted to take documents across the frontier if the envelope or packet containing them bears an undamaged seal.

How to Keep Yourself Looking Young.

It has been proven that the woman who protects her skin will keep herself free from wrinkles and marks of age, far longer than the woman who says "Oh no, I never do anything for my complexion."

If your skin is not naturally clear and fresh, or if it has suffered from irritation—worry—sickness—age or the ravages of wind, sun and weather, the regular and persistent use of USIT will soon restore to your complexion its natural color and freshness.

USIT is a valuable formula of an old and famous beauty secret. It feeds and nourishes the skin, wards off wrinkles and makes the complexion clear, smooth and faultless. It is not necessary to use any other treatment during the day. Apply USIT at night before retiring, and it will tone the skin and give that silky softness and glowing freshness that alone indicates perfect skin health.

USIT is put up in handsome opal bottles. It may be secured through T. Eaton Co. Limited, Robt. Simpson Co. Limited, Toronto, and other high-class Drug Stores, or direct from us.

Send 50c. (2c. war tax) to-day for trial bottle sufficient for six weeks' use. See our exhibit at National Exhibition, Toronto.

THE LIFE OF THE GUNS.

Depends on Their Size Before They Require Relining.

The life of a gun depends upon the progress of erosion, which sooner or later is certain to impair the accuracy of fire. Erosion is caused by the action of the explosive gases at high temperature and pressure. According to the Iron Age, the hot gases cause a thin film of steel to absorb heat. The film expands and becomes set. Upon the release of the pressure, it contracts, which causes minute cracks that grow larger with every discharge. As they increase in size they form passageways for more hot gas, and that tends to enlarge them still further. The inner surface thus becomes roughened, and the hands begin to corrode. Finally, the bore becomes so enlarged that it allows the gases to escape. The shell does not then acquire its proper rotation, and its flight becomes erratic. All guns except small ones are now constructed with linings in the tube which, when the bore is worn out, are removed and replaced by new ones. The cost of relining a gun is approximately 30 per cent. of the cost of the gun. There appears to be no limit to the number of times that a gun can be relined. The small arms are considered to be worn out after 5,000 to 7,500 rounds have been fired. Small naval guns can be fired about 1,000 times before they are regarded as worn out. Large twelve-inch and fourteen-inch naval guns are considered to have a life, on one lining, of from 150 to 200 rounds. Low-velocity guns, such as howitzers and mortars, have correspondingly longer lives than high-velocity guns of the same caliber, because the pressures they develop, and hence the temperatures, are lower.

Mrs. Glen—"There are times when I wish I was a man." Glen—"Well, when, for instance?" Mrs. Glen—"When I pass a milliner's shop window and think how happy I could make my wife by buying her a summer hat."

Jones—"Can you tell what ails my wife?" Doctor—"She does not take enough outdoor exercise." "She says she does not feel equal to it." "True. She needs toning up." "What have you prescribed?" "A new bonnet."

"My brooders," said a waggish colored man to a crowd, "in all afflictions ob your troubles dar is one place you can always find money and sympathy." "Whar? Whar?" shouted several. "In de dictionary," he replies, rolling his eyes skyward.

Additional Locals.

Mr. John D. Miller of Wiste, Alta., in renewing his subscription, says that crops in his district are looking even better than last year on breaking or summer follow. The wheat is all headed out, and the weather is very favorable. On July 11th, a terrific hail storm swept the country three miles north of Mr. Miller's farm, and not one stack of grain was left standing. This is the third bad storm in four years in that locality, but his crop always escaped damage. Mr. Miller has 200 acres of wheat in crop this year, 40 acres of oats and is looking for a bumper yield. He advises the people of Alberta and surrounding to come to Alberta "the land where milk and honey flows."

Renner-Kraemer
A pretty wedding took place in St. Mary's Church, Formosa, Tuesday July 28th, when Louise Marie, daughter of Mrs. Rose Kraemer, was married to Mr. John A. Renner, Preston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. W. Brohman. Mr. William Thompson Galt, acted as groomsmen and Miss Edna Kraemer, sister of the bride, performed the services of bridesmaid. After the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where they entered to the strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March rendered by Miss Zee Pepin of Chicago. The gift of the groom to the bride was a pearl crescent with diamond setting, to the bridesmaid a gold La Valliere with pearl setting; and to the best man a diamond stick pin. The bride's dress was of Marquisette over white satin. The tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of lilies of the valley, and she carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The bridesmaid's dress was of pink messaline and crepe de chine. The bride was the recipient of many valuable gifts. During the course of the afternoon the guests were highly entertained by the Fife and Drum Corps from Preston, the membership of which consists of Messrs. Corden Dennis, Albert and Leo Winterhalt, Harry Nofe and William Thompson, under the leadership of Mr. Patrick McGrath and better known as Patty's Band. Relatives and friends from a distance were—Miss Gertrude Renner, Preston, Misses Minnie and Lydia Kraemer, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. George Geier, Teeswater, Miss Josephine Dosmann, South Bend, Mrs. M. O. Hara and daughter Kathleen, and Mr. Langford, Warton, Mr. and Mrs. John Lobainger, Carlsruhe, Mr. John Kroetsch, Daysland Alta., and Mr. John Korman, Walkerton. The happy couple left on a short touring trip along Lake Huron and Georgian Bay.
