WAR NEWS.

MAKING, Feb. 49.—Horse meat now comprises a considerable part of our rations. There is little grumbling. The first pinch of the siege is over and the town has settled grimly to stick it out. What may be typhoid malaria has broken out in the women's laager, and dysentery, due to the absence of vegetables, is rife among the garrison. We are thrown upon our own resources. Such luxuries as we had are exhausted or have been commandeered for the hospitals, which are ill-adapted to overloading. The children's graveyard close to the women's laager grows weekly, as the young lives are cut short prematurely by shell and fever. We look with hope deferred for relief. The cheerfulness which was so characteristic of the early days of the siege has almost deserted us, the men preferring to remain at their posts rather than move about and create an appetite, which cannot be satisfied. The natives are in the worst plight. They are unable to obtain work and are allowed only a small handful of meal daily. Many, having the danger wander about the town with gaunt and hungry faces in search of work, which entitles them to an extra ration of meat. If they find work they are generally too weak to perform it. From their advanced position the Boers take the streets and the market square. It is impossible to dodge their bullets. We have taken remarkable precautions, however, and the casualties, though heavy, are not what they might have been had less capable men held at the head of affairs. Even the headquarters mess are scanty. Two hundred and sixty-two persons have been killed, wounded or died of disease. The garrison is so small that it would be criminal to make its weakness public, but there is never so much as a whisper. If no one has suggested the possibility of surrender, it is because we do not mean to get beaten, and we are cheerfully enduring the hardships or taking rather than being driven to any degree possible, tomorrow.

LONDON, Mar. 9.—The Queen's entry into London, the commencement of her visit to the metropolis, was marked by scenes of enthusiasm unparalleled since the Jubilee celebration. Throughout the demonstrations there predominated a note of triumph, and the cheers that made the market streets ring, were almost as much in honor of the British victories in South Africa as they were in honor of a royal people to whom such a womanly sympathy has been strikingly shown since the war began. The royal party's departure from Windsor was marked by more than usual interest. For hours before the Queen's arrival for London crowds gathered in the streets which had been announced as her route through the metropolis, and which were decorated with flags. It was foggy and cold, but no one seemed to care. At Paddington, the railway station had been cleared of the general public, but outside thousands of people waited patiently. When the train from Windsor arrived, a tremendous cheer went up. Her Majesty came down the sloping platform on the arm of an attendant and entered an open landau, in which also sat Princess Esmy of Stolberg and Princess Victoria of Saxe-Coburg. They all wore black and around her neck the Queen had a sable shawl. From the packed windows came a continuous cheer while flags were waved all the way to Buckingham Palace. The side streets were packed ten, twenty and sometimes a hundred deep, but it was around the palace itself that the chief throng gathered. By nine in the morning carriages, cabs and vehicles of every sort, people from the city and the West of England and distant parts of the country congregated in St. James Park, on which the palace fronts. By noon it was estimated that fifty thousand people were gathered about the Queen's residence. LONDON, Mar. 8.—The full extent of Lord Roberts' success yesterday is not yet clear, but the best informed feel satisfied that it brings peace perceptibly nearer. Experts anticipate that the burghers will make no further stand west of the Free State capital, and some of them even deduct from the fact that the Boer forces are divided and retreating in different directions, the demoralization has set in and that the Transvaal forces will next be found entrenched in positions north of the Vaal river, while the bulk of the Free Staters will abandon the contest and sue for peace. Elsewhere the news indicates that the conditions continue hopeful from a British point of view the telegrams from Mafeking not showing any despondancy. LONDON, March 9.—The War office has received the following despatch from Lord Roberts: "Poplar Grove, Friday morning.—President Kruger and Steyn were both present at the fight of March 7 and did all in their power to rally their troops. The root, however, was complete, the men declaring that they could not stand against the British artillery and such a formidable force of cavalry."

LONDON, March 11.—A despatch from Driefontein to the war office from Lord

Roberts, dated March 11, 7.15 a. m., says: "The enemy opposed us throughout yesterday's march and from their intimate knowledge of the country gave us considerable trouble. Owing, however, to the admirable conduct of the troops the enemy were unable to prevent us reaching our destination. The brunt of the fighting fell on General Kelly-Kenny's division, two battalions of which, the Welsh and the Essex, turned the Boers out of two strong positions at the point of the bayonet."

LONDON, March 11, A despatch from Driefontein to the war office from Lord Roberts dated March 11 9.55 a. m., says: "I cannot get the precise number of casualties before the march but will communicate it as soon as possible. The Boers suffered heavily, 102 of their dead being left on the ground. We captured about twenty prisoners."

A PRICK OR ROPE may save life or it may cause death; depends on how it is used. The Boer's life is always in danger, no matter how you use it. It is the perfect cough and throat remedy.

Iron Bound Cove. March 12.—The weather for the past week has been very stormy and the roads are almost blocked which makes it dull for me. I thought I would write once more.

Mr. Robert Clark has returned home from the lumber woods. Mr. Joseph Harrison who has been handling for Mr. Henry Craig has returned home again.

Miss Graves is still dangerously ill. She is being attended by Dr. J. G. Nugent.

Three boys of this place who are working in the woods with Edward McDonald sent a card to their home a short time ago. The card being good they were not long in reaching home, but owing to the big snow storm they each had to purchase snow shoes to return.

William Graves who has been working in the woods with Owen Lafferty is spending a few days at his home.

My friend Sam Brown paid a flying trip to his home a few days ago. The trip is about forty miles long, but Sam is a champion skater and covered the distance in two hours. Who can beat that? I have had to challenge any of the residents of the Gazette and near time there is good skating. I hope he will be around as I am willing to skate with him or any of the boys of that place.

Miss Lavinia Barton has taken charge of the school at Copeland's Corner.

Miss Gertrude Beck paid a visit to the school at Copeland's Corner. Miss Beck is a charming skater and covered the distance in two hours.

We are always glad to hear from the girls in Hyde Park and are anxiously waiting to see their smiling faces back again.

Misses Maggie Thompson and Sarah Harrison were guests of Miss Hattie McLellan last week.

I heard of a party from Newmarket and Iron Bound Cove having a visit to the Coal Mines a short time ago. I was sorry I was not one of the party as I hear the Queen was very pleasant time spent near Browns Wharf, there being no Gale around.

I suppose some of the readers are wondering how I made out at Brown's wharf. I can say my visit was short and pleasant but I believe my company would be more welcome in South Africa.

Miss Maggie Thompson intends going to St. John in a few weeks. She will be greatly missed here.

A GIRL WHO WAS SAVED.

HAD SUFFERED FOR NEARLY 12 YEARS WITH ANAEMIA.

Severe Headaches, Heart Palpitation, Nervousness and Extreme Feebleness Made Her Life Miserable—Her Doctor Told Her She Could Not Recover.

Doctors have given the Greek name anaemia, meaning "bloodlessness," to a disease which is much more prevalent among young women than is generally believed. In its earlier stages the disease is not marked by any decided symptoms, and often makes considerable advance before its presence is noticed. A feeling of fatigue after slight exercise, breathlessness and pallor of the face are the first noticeable signs. Unless there is prompt and effective treatment the disease then makes rapid progress, and the victim presents every appearance of going into a decline or consumption. The only successful method of treating anaemia is to build up the blood, and the best medicine in the world for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Miss Adeline Dumas is one of the thousands of young ladies who can testify to the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of anaemia. Miss Dumas resides with her parents on a farm near Lincroix, Beauport, Quebec. To a reporter who called upon her for the purpose of getting the particulars of her illness and cure, Miss Dumas said:—"Since I was about sixteen years of age I have been ailing more or less, but for a long time, except for periodical headaches, that trouble did not seem serious. About two years ago my case began to assume an alarming nature. The headaches came with greater frequency, I became very pale, and the slightest exertion would leave me breathless. I tried several medicines, but instead of finding benefit I was steadily growing worse, until at last I was unable to do any household work, and had to sit in a chair almost the entire day. I had now become extremely nervous, and the least noise would set my heart wildly palpitating. I had neither desire nor relief for food, and the doctor who attended me finally said the trouble was insurable, and that he could do nothing more for me. I did not despair, however, but tried other medicines, but still without relief, and then I began to feel that death only would relieve me from my suffering. At this time a friend brought me a newspaper in which was the story of the cure of a girl whose symptoms resembled mine, through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and urged me to try them. I sent for a box, but they did not seem to help me, and I was afraid they would prove like other medicines, not suited to my case. My parents insisted that I should continue their use and my father got two boxes more. Before these were all used I had no longer any doubt that they were helping me, and I procured another half dozen boxes. They completely restored my health, and I am able to go about and do work with an ease I have not enjoyed for years before. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a great blessing to the sick, and I always urge my friends who are not well to take them, and I will be glad if this statement is the means of bringing new courage and health to some other sufferer."

Young's Cove.

March 8.—The weather for the past week has been very stormy and cold. Quite a number of people are busy hauling hay and coal.

Mr. J. L. Corcoran is spending a few days at Mr. Michael Kelly's.

Miss Allie Wiggins is home on a visit. Mr. Charles L. Tower is doing quite a business in lumbering.

Much sympathy is felt for Miss Alice Faris for the loss of a near friend. Mr. Ansley Reid is home from W. H. Gale is home from the woods. Miss Mary Baird is visiting friends here.

Miss Effie Wiggins has been visiting friends at Cole's Island. Miss Ella McLean is spending a few weeks with her sister Mrs. W. T. Snodgrass.

Our teacher, Miss Janet McDonald, is liked very much by the people of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Gale are reading at Young's Creek.

Mr. Arthur Wiggins has been very sick but under the skillful treatment of Dr. T. J. O. Earle his many friends are glad to know that he is at his old post again. Mr. James Stack of this place is unwell.

Mr. Rodd Gale is home from the woods. Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gale paid a flying visit to Cox's Point on Sunday last.

Capt. J. A. Dixon is home. Mr. Andrew Lepett is still confined to his bed. Miss Margaret Snodgrass has returned home from Jernseg, where she has been visiting friends.

March 9.—The weather of the past has been very cold and stormy, but the roads at present are in fine condition. Most of the young men of this place, who have been in the woods, have returned home. We are glad to see them back as the place has been very quiet.

Mr. E. C. Lockett who has been ill with a severe cold is some better. Miss Annie Reid has returned home to spend a few weeks with her parents. Social parties are the order of the day, some very pleasant evenings have been spent and more are to follow in the near future.

The Gazette is anxiously looked for by all. We cannot recommend you to any better house run than Kendrick's Lament.

INTERCESSION HYMN.

For our valiant soldiers,
Lord, to Thee we pray;
Guard and keep them ever,
Be their guide and stay.
When through yeld they're marching
Many a weary hour,
From their foes protect them
By Thy mighty power.

When in darkness resting,
Arms are laid aside,
God of battles shield them—
Still with them abide;
And if they in fighting
Should not think of Thee,
Do not Thou forget them.
Still their succour be.

Lord, when sick and wounded,
Far, perchance, from care,
Let Thy healing Spirit
Save them from despair.
Saviour, be Thou with them,
All their prayers to hear,
Strengthen, watch and comfort,
When none else is near.

Hungry, Lord and thirsty
In the wilderness,
Thou didst hear Thy people
In their sore distress:
Thou canst turn to blessing
Ev'ry human pain,
Grant that these through suffering
Saving faith may gain.

Lord, among our army,
Fighting for our land,
Thou hast also soldiers
Fighting Satan's band;
Lord, be Thou their helper,
Touch their lips with fire,
Let Thy Holy Spirit
All their words inspire.

Safe beneath the shelter
Of Thy mighty shield,
Thou canst keep from danger
Soldiers in the field!
And, although around them
Tens of thousands die,
Thou canst keep in safety
Those for whom we cry.

WHEN THE NEWS REACHED ST. JOHN.

GENERAL HIGGINS.
It was the first day of March,
A snowy, winter's day,
When good news reached St. John
From South Africa far away.

The horns blew, the cannons fired,
The bells all rang, the whistles blew,
And every person for the street,
Wore colors, red, white and blue.

Flags were flying east and west,
The bon-fires brightly did gleam,
And people sang as they walked—
"It's the Soldiers of the Queen."

The bugs shouted, the bands played,
The sleigh-bell rang with glee,
And every soul in St. John
Was glad, Lady with was free.

Hurrah for Buller! Hurrah!
He is the boy to fight,
We'll give three cheers for Buller,
And three for General White.

Millidgeville, St. John, March 2nd.

OLD FRIENDS.

There are no friends like old friends,
And none as good and true,
We greet them when we meet them
As roses greet the dew.

No other friends are dearer,
Though born of kindred mould;
And while we prize the new ones,
We treasure more the old.

There are no friends like old friends,
Where'er we dwell or roam,
Or near the bounds of home,
Or when they smile to greet,
Or sometimes frown to chide,
We fondly wish these old friends
Were always by our side.

There are no friends like old friends
To claim our frequent fears
When shadows fall and deepen
Through life's declining years,
And when our faltering footsteps
Approach the great divide,
We'll long to meet the old friends
Who wait the other side.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The underlined having been restored to health by simple means, after suffering for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption, is anxious to make known to his fellow sufferers the means of cure. To those who desire it, he will cheerfully send (free of charge), a copy of the prescription used, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Catarrh, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung Maladies. He hopes all sufferers will try his remedy, as it is invaluable. Those desiring the prescription, which will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing, will please address,

REV. EDWARD A. WILSON,
33-17th Brooklyn, New York

One of the latest remedies for preventing pitting in small-pox is the application of the pustules of an ointment containing ten parts of lichen and eighty parts of vaseline. The pustules dry rapidly and fall off, and there is not left behind any inflammatory charges of the skin. The application of this ointment greatly relieves the itching of the skin.

DO YOU?

Who knows
The heart aches of the restless crowds we meet
Each day in passing on the busy street,
The woes and cares that round them press,
Forbodings that their inmost soul distress?
Who knows? Do you?

Who thinks
Of tears that oft have traced the smiling cheek—
Of some we meet who would not dare to speak
The pangs they feel, the burdens that they bear
Each hour that passes through the weary year
Who thinks? Do you?

Who cares
To try and understand their pain and grief,
And toil to bring to waiting hearts relief,
To lessen much the burden of their care
By tender word, by loving look and prayer?
Who cares? Do you?

Who strives
To help these slaves in Satan's fetters bound—
The fallen, ruined, lost ones all around,
The human wrecks on deadly breakers
Who strives to help them? Who saves the lost?
Who strives? Do you?

Named by a Pirate.

What long forgotten happening prompted the following strange action, which we quote from the Boston Herald, will forever remain a mystery.

In July, 1720, James Wilson and his young wife sailed from Londonderry, Ire., to join a colony of the same name in New Hampshire. But the vessel in which they sailed was slow and badly manned, so one day it was overtaken and captured by a pirate ship. No attempt was made at resistance, as that would have been useless and would only have saddened the pirates to a bloody vengeance.

The rough pirates crew swarmed aboard, secured all the valuables, and tied up the male passengers and the men of the ship. Finally the pirate captain went into a cabin where Mrs. Wilson lay on a berth.

"Why are you there?" he demanded.

For answer the woman, uncovered the face of a stay babe.

The captain's manner changed. "Is it a boy or girl?" he asked in a hushed voice.

"A girl."

"Have you christened her?"

"No."

"Then," said the man gently, "let me name her, and I will untie your men and let your ship unharmed. It shall be a good name. May I name the girl?"

"Yes."

There were tears in the rough captain's eyes as he took the baby's tiny hand and whispered "Mary," and added some other words which Mrs. Wilson did not hear. Then he and his men returned to their own ship.

"Soon, however, the captain returned alone, carrying a roll of beautiful silk, which he lay on the berth at little Mary's side. "Look her wear this on her wedding day," he said, and was gone before Mrs. Wilson could thank him.

"Ocean Mary," as she was called, was married in 1740 to Thomas Wallace. She lived to be ninety-four years old, and her grave is still shown at Heniker, N. H.

A Cup of Tea.

If anyone can make a good cup of tea, it is the clever demonstrator who gets a large salary from one of the large tea companies for showing just how the fragrant leaf should be brewed to active perfection. "Said your earthen teapot," says this woman, suiting the deed to the word, "just so, and never, never use a tin teapot under any circumstances. Measure out the tea, allowing a half teaspoonful for each cup of boiling water, reducing the proportions when several cups are required or increasing them if the tea used is not up to the standard or if the tea drinker prefers it extra strong. Have fresh water that has come to a boil for the first time. Put the tea in a cloth strainer and pour on the bubbling boiling water. Cover closely with a lid and let the tea brew on the back of the range or at the table from three to five minutes. If the tea is to stand for some time, remove the strainer with tea leaves, else the fragrant aroma is wasted and the tannin extracted."

Poltleness.

"Can you write a good hand?" asked a man of a boy who applied for a situation.

"Yass," was the answer.

"Are you good at figures?"

"Yass," was the answer again.

"That will do, I don't want you," said the merchant.

After the boy had gone a friend said: "I know that lad to be an honest, industrious boy; why don't you try him?"

"Because he has not learned to say 'Yes, sir,' and 'No, sir,'" replied the merchant. "If he answered me as he did how will he answer customers?"—Baptist Signal.

LITTLE MEN AND WOMEN—BABYLAND.

With the 1000 volume, enters upon its twenty-fourth year. The best authors and artists continue their contributions to the delight of the little people for whose instruction, amusement and entertainment their best endeavors are put forth. Some of the good things in the new volumes are:

TWO NEW SERIAL STORIES: "A Little Prince and Princess of Egypt; a Long-Two-Ago Story," by Oliver Harper. "The Adventures of Spotty," by Kate Upson Clark.

NOTABLE ARTICLES: "Playthings That Are Alive" (in six parts), by Judith Sola Cohen. "Some Famous Animals," by Cora Haviland Carver.

SHORT STORIES: More than the usual number of short stories written by men and women who "know how," and there are very many pictures to illustrate these.

THE BABYLANDERS are entertained every month with dainty verse and pretty pictures by Margaret Johnson. CRADLE SONGS OF MANY NATIONS tell, in twelve parts, how the wee babies of other lands are sung to sleep every night.

And there are various simple occupations which suggest to the mother ways and means to keep active little fingers busy.

ANALOGUE CHARMING MAGAZINE—and the subscription price is astonishingly low—50 CENTS a year.

PREMIUMS: The publishers offer many valuable articles as premiums for clubs: articles that are needed by every boy and girl, men and women with red-inked fingers; and as the getting of subscriptions at the low price of 50c is so easy, every one who is ambitious can and should obtain these articles without cost—except a little time. Send for sample copy containing premium list (free).

PREPARATIONS: Write for Little Men and Women—Babyland with Poems (1,000) Magazine for one year for $1.20. Poems is the best of the dollar magazines, and should be in every home. Subscribe at once!

Washington Letter.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27, 1900.
Hon. Lillian Paucotote, third daughter of Lord Paucotote, the British Ambassador, and Lady Paucotote was married to Hon. Robert Brunley at St. John's Episcopal church at noon on Saturday. Every pew in the church was filled by a most distinguished array of guests, including nearly the entire Supreme Court and Cabinet, members of the corps of foreign Ambassadors and ministers, Army and Navy officers and a large number of prominent members of Congress and laymen. The church was beautifully decorated with palms and blossoms with anais and Easter lilies that filled the chancel and orchestra, a most fitting an arch. Upon the white altar were tall gold vases filled with lilies.
As in the custom in England, the bride entered the church preceding her maids and other attendants. She wore a magnificent gown of heavy white satin, with the full regulation court train of several yards in length. It was made in the Princess style, the front width, outlined from either shoulder to the hem with bead passementerie, was continued around the hem in Vandyke effect. The yoke was of shirred chiffon edged with lace, and the stock of the same soft material. About her throat she wore a superb pearl necklace of several strands and diamond pendant—a possession of the Brunley family. Her veil of tulle was worn above the coronet of jewelry, blis-some, and not beneath, as is the custom of brides in this country. The folds were fastened to her hair with live clustered diamond pins, and she carried an immense bouquet of lilies of the valley. As she stood at the altar, her train extended the entire width of the chancel, fell over the steps and reached almost to the front pew, where her parents were seated.
The ceremony was performed by the Rt. Rev. Henry Y. Saterlee, Bishop of Washington, and the Rev. Alexander Mackay-Smith, D. D., rector of the church. As the bride passed down the aisle she turned and embraced her mother, Lady Brunley, her father and her sister Maud, while the bridegroom kissed his relatives in turn. It was an unusual scene, and yet a touch of human nature that made the wedding the more informal. Then they passed hurriedly down the aisle and out to their carriages. A reception and breakfast to invited guests followed at the British Embassy, after which the wedded pair left for Richmond, Va.
"Canadian patriotism is a curious sort of thing," says Mr. Charles Shover, of Toronto, who is in this city. "It is a good deal the same kind of feeling of respect and possibly admiration which one has for his wife's rich relatives. We are very proud of our kids in South Africa and feel certain that they will give a good showing. But at the best they seem to be fighting for a sentiment and not something real. England's greatness is a great thing for England. But it is not particularly great for Canada. We are not growing greater simply because we are English."

The Surgeon General of the Marine Hospital service has promulgated a series of regulations regarding the quarantine of cattle imported to the United States, but with the following exception: "Rags gathered and baled in Canada, accompanied by affidavits that the ports or places where collected or handled were free from quarantinable disease for thirty days prior to shipment, may be admitted to entry; but rags from foreign ports shipped through Canada shall not be admitted to entry, unless they are accompanied by a certificate of a United States consular or medical officer of the United States that they have been disinfected in accordance with the United States quarantine regulations. Foreign rags, not originating in Canada, but shipped through Canada to ports in the United States, will not be permitted entry by collectors of customs unless accompanied by the above-named certificate, or until after they have been unbled and disinfected as required by the United States quarantine regulations."

The Treasury Department has also made no regulations for the inspection of cattle imported from Canada according to which, all animals imported from the Dominion must be accompanied by an affidavit made by the owner or importer, declaring whether the animals are imported for breeding purposes, milk production, grazing, feeding, or slaughter, or as settler's effects, or are horses entered for temporary stay. The affidavit must be presented to the collector of customs who will decide whether the animals are entitled to entry and who will notify the inspector where an inspection must be made. Details are appended in reference to the various sorts of cattle.

The Treasury Department has extended the privileges of the free entry of bicycles of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association and the Cyclist's Touring Club, to the National Cyclist's Union of Great Britain and has established a new form of certificate for the importation and exportation of bicycles owned by members of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, the League of American Wheelmen, the Cyclist's Touring Club, and the National Cyclist's Union.

The Inventive Age and Patent Index, now in its twelfth year, is the only journal published at the National Capital devoted to patents. It contains an index of every patent granted each week, and has information about the Patent Office which no other journal possesses. Price one dollar a year.—Address E. G. Siggers, 915 F Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

There never was a time, in fact, in the history of American social economy when the old domestic-service problem was so close to its natural solution, and when the whole wage-earning question of woman was so near to its own logical adjustment as at the present. The twentieth century will in no other respect be so marked as by the natural and divine division of the world's labor which America is destined to present to the world: men for business, and women for the home, with an equal standard in each case for both employer and employee.—Edward Bok, in the March Ladies' Home Journal.

A little social life is good for one. As time goes on, and the old friends have gone to their promotion, it is well to keep up one's interest in the world of to-day by cultivating friendly relations with those about us.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

George Meredith's novels and poems are written in a small study, built by itself in the garden on the slope of a hill, at the foot of which stands his house, just off the main road beyond Busford Bridge in the beautiful district of Boxhill in England. His unmarried daughter lives with him. His son is associated with a prominent publishing house in London.—March Ladies' Home Journal.

Glazed Paper Ruins Eyes.

Women who are nervous about microbes and go in for washable draperies, easy wall papers, and upholstered furniture should be interested in hygienic note paper recommended by the solemn German doctors, who know everything. According to these gentlemen—ophthalmologists they are!—the use of glazed paper is accountable for the continuous increase of myopia during the last 50 years.

Most modern books are printed on smooth, brilliant paper with luminous reflections that were absent from the rough surface of the paper used years ago, when a soft, light easily brought out in relief the characters which were printed in heavy, black type. Now, with the glazed surface the light is all more reflected, because the characters themselves are finer and less pronounced, thus giving rise to a play of light and shade most fatiguing to the eyes.

To prove this it suffices to take an old edition of the last century and one of the modern magazines printed artistically and compare the effect produced on the eyes after half an hour's reading, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. For this reason the hygienists recommend dull surfaced paper for school use and gray or blue in preference to white.

All rough surfaced gray and blue papers are very smart and pretty, the hygienic woman will not find her duty very hard to perform when she recognizes her stationery in accordance with latest ophthalmological notions.

A Natural Cross.

One of the most beautiful natural rock carvings in the world carvings in the world carvings in the world is the Southern Cross, on the Island of Grand Manan, in the Bay of Fundy. It stands at the head of a ledge of rock jutting into the bay from the foot of one of the immense cliffs at the southern end of the Grand Manan. Its shape is that of an almost perfect cross.

"Yes, I lost my watch in the river once and it kept on running for seven years."

"The watch?"

"Nah, the river."

An antigonist society has been organized in Springfield, Mo. At an afternoon card club the other day the idea was suggested by Mrs. Mather. The members pledged themselves to speak no evil word of any one woman. The membership is unlimited, and every woman in Springfield, regardless of condition or denomination, is most cordially invited to join, and all members are urged and expected to do all in their power to bring others into this new society. There are to be no dues, no officers, no regular meetings; nothing but the simple pledge. The idea was received by all those present in the most responsive manner, all signifying their most hearty approval and promising their warmest co-operation. It will be known as the "Woman's Self Elevating Society," and its existence is to continue forever.

During stormy weather bits should be warmed either by dipping in warm water for a few minutes or by rubbing between the mitten-covered hands before being put in horses' mouths. The shoes should be roughed to avoid slipping. When horses are to remain standing out of doors, blankets should be laid under the harness. Ashes or sand should be scattered on steep, slippery roads to prevent the animals from falling.

If your head aches, take Petty's.

If you are nervous, take Petty's.

If you are weak, take Petty's.

Petty's Pills make the sick well.

Drowned in Dyspeptic Despair.

Are Thousands of Suffering Canadians, like the star of a knife it catches you in the side, or sends agonizing pangs through the pit of your stomach after eating. It worries and wears you till your nerves give out, and, like a drowning man, you feel you are sinking day by day and help can not reach you. In this you are mistaken. No matter how deep you have sunk, PETTY'S will reach you, as the fabled Marmalade said to seek and rescue the drowned, so will the real PETTY'S seek your trouble and soothe your pain. Indigestion, biliousness, constipation and that dependent feeling that makes so many lives miserable, depart when PETTY'S are taken. No other medicine is compounded with such care, no other is so pure, so effective as DR. PETTY'S PILLS.

Dr. J. J. Scott, M. D., of St. John, N. B., writes: "I have used DR. PETTY'S PILLS and find that they cure the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, and all the various ailments of the stomach. I can recommend them to all who are afflicted with any of these ailments."

FAITHFUL TO THE END.
A recluse of 85 years was found a few days ago dying from cold and starvation in a squalid hovel in the city of Brooklyn. He was found by a good Samaritan who observing the old man's absence from the streets set out to ascertain the cause and offer assistance if needed. Happened the door of the wretched hovel, saw the old man, apparently dead, stretched on a bed of straw in a corner, but that was all he saw, for almost in the twinkling of an eye a most respectable looking "billy" had leaped from a dark corner and landed him on all fours in the middle of the street. A detachment of police was at once sent to the place, but the good Samaritan, and it was only by a good deal of strategy that he was captured and secured with the bracelets. The old man, was still alive but he died soon after, muttering, "Alone and dying. My only friend Billy." We claim that in this civilized age no man with millions of neighbors around him, or even with one neighbor, should be permitted to perish in this way. The question arises: Are the authorities of Brooklyn guilty of this man's death? Is any man guiltless who knew of the straits in which he was placed and had the ability to succor him? Another question arises and that is: What has the future in store for his goatship? When forsaken and forgotten, the old man lay perishing of cold and starvation, the poor dumb animal stood guard over him and would have provided for his necessities, without hope of reward, had it been in his power. Will he perish in the end while men who turn away from the unfortunate and live solely for themselves have eternal life?
One cannot help hoping that the patient ox, the faithful horse and dog, even this poor billy goat who in his poor way stood up in defence of his friend when he was unable to defend himself, and starved and suffered with him, will in the unknown future have their reward. That they will in the belief of many biblical students of nearly every protestant denomination.

ST. JOHN LETTER.
President Jordan of the Leland Stanford University in a recent lecture predicted the downfall of Great Britain during the present century, asserting that its inhabitants were a mere shadow of their forefathers physically and intellectually. History tells what their forefathers were and history will tell what their descendants are of today. It is circumstances that make men. If circumstances permit, Lord Roberts, Kitchener, Buller and White will prove themselves no less capable than were Wellington and the famous generals of his day. If circumstances call for a Lord Nelson a Lord Nelson will appear. We remember when they said in the United States that the days of such men as Washington and General Putnam were past. But when the time was ripe obscure Abraham Lincoln stepped into the shoes of Washington, and Hobson of Santiago fame into those of General Putnam. President Jordan need not worry, when men are wanted they always put in an appearance—even such men as Washington and Wellington. George Golding of this city is under arrest for criminal assault. For assaulting and cutting a woman with a razor Frank Nairn and Minnie Burns were sentenced last Tuesday to 12 months in jail.

The Telegraph discloses its pro-Boer sympathies but the public will not soon forget its utterances on Leyds' death. Pneumonia, often fatal, is very prevalent in the city. The weather since the first of March has been very trying to the old and the infirm.

A. O. Skimney, carpet dealer, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury by the collapse of a scaffold loaded with merchandise in his ware room last Wednesday.

Col. Thomas Sullivan, a veteran of the Fenian Invasion of 1866 died last Thursday aged 81 years.

There has been a slight weakening in flour since last week and some millers quote a decline of five cents per barrel. Oatsmeal and cornmeal are firm and unchanged. Markets are nearly bare of molasses; the few casks of choice P. H. Cheese is out of the market; the last sales made were at 15 cents. Butter is scarce and quoted at 18 and 19 cents according to quality. Eggs are firm at 17 cents. Large consignments of new crop India and Ceylon teas are arriving; prices are one cent lower than two months ago. Sugars are firm but prices are unchanged. Business is particularly good in New Brunswick and lumbermen are laying in large supplies for steam driving; dull in Nova Scotia because of absence of snow.

Collector of Customs J. R. Ruel, died last Thursday night after a brief illness, aged 80 years. He was always deeply interested in educational and Christian work, a gentleman for whom everybody by whom he was known entertained the highest respect. He was deeply interested in the various improvements that have been made in the Fernhill Cemetery during the last five or six years, and was liberal in his contributions in time and money to that end.

The condition of Senator Lewin's health is the occasion of anxiety to his friends. EDWARD EDWARDS.

Brave Sunbury Boy.
All the Canadians in the British fighting ranks in South Africa are not in the Canadian contingents, says the Chatham World. We know of one, at least, in the South African Light Horse, a Cape Colony corps, and there are probably several others. Their names ought to be on the Canadian roll at Cape Town, so that casualties among them might be reported officially to the Canadian government.

William Cox, a native of Manguerville, Sunbury Co., and brother of Dr. Philip Cox, principal of the Chatham Grammar school, is one of the heroes of the war in South Africa.
Mr. Cox went to England in May last, and proceeded direct to Capetown from there. He visited the Transvaal, went as far north as Bulawayo, and returned to Capetown. Then he got a contract on railway construction at Middleburg in the Transvaal, and was engaged on it when the Boers declared war on Great Britain. As he was a loyal Briton the Boers robbed him and ordered him out. In a letter dated Escourt, Natal Jan. 6, he says:
"I am getting along first rate and would have made some money had not this war driven us all out of the country. My little outfit was commandeered—horses, mules, carts, wheelbarrows and everything in fact. I hold a receipt from the Transvaal government for the things taken, but it is questionable if that will be worth anything after the war is over.

"A number of us who were associated on the Middleburg work came down through Natal around Cape Town after war was started. Six of us joined the South African Light Horse and have been in the field for two months. We were with Methuen's column near Kimberley, then back to Cape Town and around to Natal. Two squadrons of our lads were badly cut up near Colenso, a few days ago and we are on our way to reinforce them. They lost 45 out of 100. We will probably be in action tomorrow. There is fighting going on now seven miles from here, and the guns can be distinctly heard. I am going with Gen. Sir Chas. Warren to Ficks Camp today, as an escort. It is the first at Ficks that is now engaged. Our squadron are a fine lot of fellows, mostly Americans. Quite likely some of us will be missing after tomorrow.

"The Dutch here had the best of the racket up till the present, and are holding their own gallantly. They are brave fellows and are fighting for their existence as an independent people. I saw the Canadian contingent and met several of them. Frederickson follows I know—Peckins, McFarland, and others. The bugle has sounded and I must go. This may be the last you will hear from me. Remember me to everyone."

The transfer of the South African Light Horse from Middleburg to Natal was not mentioned in the newspaper reports, such transfer being kept as secret as possible. After the check at Magerfontein, Methuen in his entrenchments did not need cavalry as badly as Buller did, and this corps was sent to Cape Town by rail, from Cape Town to Durban by Steamer, and from Durban to Buller's camp.

Mr. Cox went through the disastrous battle at Colenso unharmed, and was under the command of the newspaper reporter, getting around the right flank of the Boers. According to a press report he distinguished himself at Pottgieter's Drift, where the first crossing of the Tugela was effected, by a daring feat. He and six others under the leadership of Lieut Corrie of his squadron, swam across the river after the ponton, or rope ferryboat, that was moored on the other side. They reached it safely though one of them was seized with cramps and had to be hoisted heavily out the mooring rope and hoisted out into the stream. Then the bullets began to fly around their heads, a party of Boers having galloped down from the hills just too late to catch them at close range. Just then the guiding rope jammed in the pulleys, the river being in flood and the current strong, and the ponton came to a standstill. But the Boer bullets kept flying without a hitch, the marksmen being only 450 yards distant. The men jumped overboard. Part of them swam ashore and began to pull on the guiding rope, but Cox and others clung to the gunwale, partly exposed to the Boer fire.

Cox then did a particularly plucky action. Seeing all efforts to free the ponton by hauling on the guiding rope proving futile, he deliberately got on deck again, and succeeded in removing and obstruction in the hawser, then dived again amid a hail of bullets, and swimming to the drift lent his aid to pull in.

They got the ponton across without a fatality and everyone of them miraculously escaped without a wound.
If Corporal Cox continued to escape Boer bullets he was, no doubt, one of the bold troopers who rode into Lady-smith with the Earl of Dundonald last Wednesday night.—Herald.

Nature's Spring Medicine Makes People Well and Strong.

True, vigorous health is the portion of men and women who have pure, rich blood and well nourished nerves. Poor health and disease means diseased nerves and impoverished blood.
Paine's Celery Compound fully supplies the needs of the ailing and rundown in spring time. It drives all clogging matters and impurities from the life stream, making it course with freedom and vitality to every part of the body.
Paine's Celery Compound braces the weakening and weak nerves and furnishes a nutriment that builds up the entire nervous organization. The tired, thin and without body takes on flesh, pain in the back is banished, the skin becomes clear, the kidneys and liver are free from disease, the digestive organs do their work with unfailing regularity, and a feeling of new energy and well-being takes the place of nervousness, despondency, irritation and melancholia.
Nourish the nerve and cleanse the blood, with Paine's Celery Compound, and a new, happy and healthful life will be yours.

Washington Letter. (From our regular correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., March 6, 1900. The Committee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate has favorably reported a bill authorizing the President to invite the British Government to join an international commission to examine and report upon the diversion of the waters of the Great Lakes by the various canals, existing and proposed, which take water out of them.

Twenty thousand dollars is appropriated for the expenses of the commission. It appears from the papers before the committee, that by reason of the diversion of the waters of the lakes through the Welland Canal, and the proposed diversion of the waters in great volume, to be taken by the Chicago, Drainage Canal, the proposed canal from Georgian Lake to the Ottawa River, and other projected waterways, together with the diversion of waters in considerable quantities from the Niagara River above Niagara Falls for the generation of mechanical power, under grants from the State of New York and the Province of Ontario, the water levels of the several lakes forming a portion of the boundary between the United States and Canada, are being reduced and will be in future probably, a greatly diminished as to constitute a serious menace to navigation. Further, by reason of the diminution in the volume of the water of the Niagara River, the natural grandeur of the Falls of Niagara may be partially destroyed.

Washington is looking forward with regret to the departure on April 1st next of Lord Pauncefoot, the British Ambassador to the United States, who reached the city two years ago, but who was continued at his post on account of his great ability and familiarity with American affairs, and on account of the grave foreign complications in which the United States are now involved.

Lord Pauncefoot is included in the list, as is another prominent diplomatic officer, Mr. Henry Howard, C. B., the British Minister at The Hague. Mr. Howard served in Washington as First Secretary of the British Legation when Sir Edward Thornton was British Minister.

Lady Pauncefoot is to be presented with a diamond remembrance, worth about $1,500, from her society friends in Washington. The wife of the British Ambassador has made as many friends here as her distinguished husband, and the result has been a private little subscription list and the departure for New York of a well known society woman, who is the custodian of the fund for the farewell greeting.

The Mexican and Mme de Aspizoz entertained at one of the handsomest dinners of the year on Thursday evening, given in honor of Lord and Lady Pauncefoot. Illness prevented Lady Pauncefoot attending and Hon. Sybil Pauncefoot was present in her name. The splendid dining room of the legation was exquisitely decorated with yellow tulips, the table being covered with them, and the vases filled with tulips and carnations were placed on the mantels, tables and buffet, while the drawing room was fragrant with pink geraniums.

The Committee on Foreign Affairs has reported a bill authorizing C. E. Marr and E. H. Pierce to accept silver watches awarded to them by the government of the Dominion of Canada in recognition of their services in rescuing the British captain and crew of the schooner Aurora, of Harboursville, Nova Scotia, on January 4th, 1896.

There will be plenty of deer in the north woods next season, said Mr. Charles Lambert, Ontario, who has not missed a season in twenty years when he did not go after deer. "Last season there was no snow. The weather along the north shores of Lake Superior was as mild as that of Washington. There was not enough snow to track a canary bird. As a result there was no good shooting, and there will be plenty of deer for those who go next season."

Another resident of Montreal, Mr. J. F. Lewis, is in this city. "It may take the Boers two years to be defeated," said he. "The English may be able to pacify the belligerent republics in less time, but I do not look for any such happy result. In some respects the contest reminds me of the American civil war. It seemed easy. The north was always physically stronger, but the job grew harder as the early days and months of the struggle went by. It is a slow job to manage such a stubborn foe. The other steps to be taken are expected to be about as hard as the ones already successful. Canada is prospering. It is largely due to American money that there is an unusual business impetus, but it is prospering just the same. I think that we now have only the beginning of the Canadian boom."

The following pensions have been issued to residents of Canada: Restoration and increase—John Keane, St. Catherine, Ontario, $6 to $17 a month; original widow—Ann Waldron, Mother, Toronto, $12 a month.

E. G. Siggers, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C., U. S. A., reports the following patents granted by the U. S. Patent Office, February 27, 1900, to inventors residing in the Dominion of Canada. He will mail copy of specification and drawings of any patent for 10 cents. Postage stamps can not be accepted.

A. L. Graggan, Montserrat, New York, and Eugene Ostrander, R. Paoli, Merrick, Composition of material for lining vessels used for storing or holding corrosive liquids; G. E. Tunt, Vancouver, Office-door message-box.

KENDRICK'S LINIMENT. Upper Gagetown.

March 12.—The funeral of Mr. Coates was held here last Friday. Mr. Ganong preached the sermon. Mr. Parker, Methodist minister of Gagetown was present. The deceased was 88 years of age. She was a sister of Mr. John Babbit of Burton.

Mr. Basil Boyd of Victoria settlement is sick with pneumonia. There have been ten cases of measles in Mr. Duggan's school last week.

Mr. Warren Guy who is laid up with a broken leg is doing as well as can be expected.

Mr. James Currier is quite ill with la grippe and heart trouble.

Mr. Bradford Currier, Weston Coy, Thos. Boyd, Chas. Boyd, Miss Allie Gantner and Miss E. C. Weston are sick with heavy colds.

There are a good many fancy mats and quilts being made around here this spring and remnants of all kinds are in good demand.

Mr. Mitchell and Miss Junie Bulyea of Gagetown, were in town last Saturday evening.

Mr. Ganong intends holding special meetings this week in the Baptist church.

Some buildings are progressing quite rapidly considering the changeable weather that we have had.

Miss Louise Weston who is at the Victoria Hospital, Fredericton, undergoing treatment for an inwards tumor is doing as well as can be expected up to the present time.

Miss Pearl Currier who has been sick with the measles is able to be around again.

To EDITOR QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE.

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to announce to the many friends of Messrs. A. L. Gunter and Geo. Orchard that they have arrived safely home again after a week's absence.

It has been reported that the former gentleman's intention for visiting the capital was to transact some very important business in which a witness would be required. Therefore he chooses his friend Mr. Orchard to accompany him.

Mr. Orchard had his leg broken last winter, but, under the skilful treatment of Dr. McCrea, is able to be among his many friends both of this place and Shannon.

We strongly sympathize with the two young men on hearing of their sad disappointment as other parties who had purposed visiting the capital at the same time had been suddenly called to their home in Caribou.

Yours truly, A. B. C.

THE LYNCHING AT ROCKBRIDGE

(BY MARY E. BRYAN, IN "THE HALF HOUR.")

A south-bound train on a Georgia railroad slackened its speed before stopping at a small town in the "piney woods."

"Shipley!" shouted the leather-lunged man.

A young woman in one of the day coaches got up, took her leather hand-bag from the seat and moved toward the door.

Notwithstanding her evident youthfulness, her bearing was dignified, and the expression of her face earnest and noble.

She was the only passenger for Shipley, it appeared; and after a mail-bag had been thrown from the car to the platform and another mail-bag on board after the mail agent had unhooked it from the projecting beam to which it was suspended, the train moved off and disappeared around a curve.

The young woman looked frowningly about her. There was no one here to meet her; there was no one at the station.

The groups usually to be seen lounging about the platform when a train was due were conspicuously absent.

But the little town was not asleep; on the contrary, signs of something unusual and exciting were apparent.

In front of a low, thatched brick store about fifty yards from the station, there was a little group of men, boys and dogs gathered about a half dozen horsemen armed with guns.

These big, burly fellows just ridden up to the store, and were being questioned and listened to with eager interest.

After a while a young man, in a blue railway uniform, evidently the station agent, left the group about the horsemen and came toward the railway, followed by the burly negro porter.

He approached the young woman, and, lifting his hat politely, asked if she would like to have a seat in the waiting-room, and he took her to the baggage-office.

"I hardly know what to do," she answered, hesitatingly. "I expected to be met here by Mr. Woodbridge, or one of his household. I am to board in his home; but no one has come, it seems."

You are Miss Harte, the new teacher for the Woodbridge school?" he said.

"Yes, I am, Miss Harte."

"Mr. Woodbridge told me you were to come today, and that he or his father would meet you. I suppose the excitement has put it entirely out of their minds."

"The excitement?"

"Over the murder. Our little town is mightily stirred up over a murder that was committed last night. Cap'n Brown who's been store-keeper here for the last twenty years, was killed and robbed in his store—that brick building there. His throat was cut as he sat at his desk posting his books, and his watch and his money taken. The boys have been out in squads hunting the murderer. One squad has just come; they haven't found him. When they do, I guess they'll make short work of him."

"Do you mean they will hang him?"

"That's what they'll do."

"Is it right, do you think, to hang a man without giving him a trial by the laws of his country?"

"The law now-a-days is too slow for justice. There's too many tricks, and twists in it. What with mistrials, and new trials, and the many dodges, murderers cost the state thousands of dollars and then get off free nine times out of ten. When a man's known to be guilty, I say string him up at once. It saves the state money. There's a lot of doubt about the man who killed the old Cap'n. The fellow dropped his bloody knife, with his name carved on the handle, on the floor close to the body. I s'pose he couldn't find it in his hurry. Then he'd been heard to threaten that he'd kill Captain Brown for pressing his father for some money he owed him, and he was seen coming from the store late last night. The evidence is strong as to his guilt—and stronger, too. He comes from bad stock, the young fellow does. His grandfather was hanged for killing a man, and his brother got shot in a fight. He himself is an idle, rovin' chap, good for nothin' except to fish and hunt rabbits."

"Still, I hope they will let the man have his chance in a court of justice," remarked the girl.

She was beginning to look anxious. She was warm and fatigued; she wanted to get to her temporary home.

"How far is Rockbridge from here?" she inquired.

"About three miles. It's over in that direction—across the pine hills."

"I am afraid they did not get my letter or they have forgotten about my coming today. I think I will leave my trunk here and walk to Mr. Woodbridge's house if you will kindly give me directions as to the way."

"You couldn't get across the creek. The big rain last night washed away the footbridge."

"Then tell me where I can get a conveyance. Have you any public stable here?"

"No; and I am afraid you will not be able to get a horse. Every horse in the village has been pressed into service by the men who are after Dick Boyle. He's hid'n in the woods somewhere. The rain washed away the scent of his tracks, or the dogs would have found him long before this."

"Are you sure I can't get a horse?"

"I don't know of one. Yes, there's Mrs. Wilby's old mare. The widow wouldn't let the boys have her; she'd dead against hangin'." But, then, her buggy's lost a wheel.

"I could ride the horse if I had a bridle and saddle."

"I can get a bridle and saddle, right enough. I can get 'em from the store, I think. I'll see about it, and about the horse too."

"Thank you; it will oblige me very much."

"You'll have to have some one to go with you," he said, turning around to speak to her after he had started off.

"No; I will not need anyone."

He looked at her with surprise and curiosity. The sun was getting low, the country and its people were wholly strange to the girl, and in the woods somewhere near a desperate criminal, and bands of men pursuing him; yet she proposed to ride three miles along a strange road alone.

"You'd best stay in Shipley, Miss Harte," said the station agent. "We haven't a hotel, but—"

"Thank you; I think I will go on to my destination. The school opens day after tomorrow."

She still hoped Mr. Woodbridge who was one of the school directors, would come or send some one for her; but no conveyance came in sight along the road that had been pointed out to her, winding down from the pine hill on the other side of the railway. "But had any come in sight, where the widow's mare, bridled and saddled, came of the scene, led by a little negro boy, and accompanied by other boys, white as well as black."

The horse was led up to the platform, and Anna Harte sprang into the saddle with an ease that showed her to be no unpractical horsewoman.

The ticket agent gave her instructions as to the way.

"In a plain road—no forks," he said. "Cross the creek on the right hand; it won't be far deep to the mare. The first two-story white house you come to is Squire Woodbridge's place."

After she had reached the top of the hill he suddenly exclaimed to those around him: "I declare! I forgot to tell her about the short road from the old Wilby house, that comes into this road on the other side of the creek. The Widow Wilby's been having hauling done from there. It's the mare's old home, and she's sure to take the road to it. But I reckon the girl will find out she's wrong as soon as she sees the road stops at the house, and she'll turn back. She's a smart one, she is."

It took place as he foresaw. Miss Harte rode on without mishap, forded the creek, and went on half a mile beyond. Then she stopped, perplexed. There were two roads coming together at an obtuse angle. Which should she take? She hesitated a moment, then decided to take the one the mare seemed to prefer. It had marks of hoofs and wheels indicating that it had been lately travelled. After ascending a hill she saw at a little distance the roof of a house nearly hidden by large trees. A horse neighed. The mare quickened her pace to a brisk trot. As she approached the house, Miss Harte heard the sound of horses galloping off. When she came nearer she saw that the house was deserted, and partly dismantled. She rode around to the side of the building where some great oaks grew; but she saw no one.

Perceiving that she had taken the wrong road, she was turning back, when her horse started and snorted as with fright. She looked about to find the cause. All at once she saw the figure of a man standing, as it seemed, in the gloom of a tree, with his hands behind him. In another breath she saw that the man was not standing; he was swinging from the end of a rope that was fastened to a limb above him.

The ghastly sight made her reel in the saddle for a second. Then she realized that this was the fugitive murderer; that he had just been hanged by the men who galloped off when they heard her approaching—fearing, no doubt, that it was the officers of the law.

She gazed with shuddering fascination at the purple face. Suddenly the features writhed in a spasm of agony; the legs drew up, a gurgling groan escaped the livid lips. The man was alive.

Instantly fright and horror were overcome by pity and the strong impulse to save a life. She urged her horse up to the swaying figure. The mare trembled and held back, but her rider's soothing words and firm hand reassured her.

The instant the animal touched the hanging man he instinctively struggled to gain a foothold upon her. Drawing up his legs, he succeeded in getting his knees upon the neck of the mare. Miss Harte dropped the bridle, grasped the man, and drew him to her. Holding him against her with one arm, she began to unfasten the rope around his neck with the other hand. Fortunately it was tied in a slip knot. She quickly loosened it, and drew the rope over his head. Then, still holding him, so as to break his fall, she let him drop to the ground. Immediately she jumped from the saddle and threw the bridle over a broken limb. She got on her knees beside the prostrate figure. He was breathing at intervals in convulsive gasps. She lifted his head to a better position, and rubbed his throat gently. She took a stout clasp-knife from her pocket and cut the cord that bound his hands. By this time his breathing was less labored. In another moment he opened his eyes and stared about him bewilderedly.

"Did the rope break?" he gasped. It was as though he asked himself the question.

"No," quietly answered Miss Harte. "The rope has been unloosed. You are free."

He turned his eyes in the direction of her voice and saw her for the first time. "Did you do it?" he asked.

She told him "Yes."

"Where are the others?"

"They rode away just before I came up. I was going to Woodbridge and last night."

He raised himself to a sitting posture and saw the dangling rope. A look of terror came into his eyes.

"They will come back and hang me again," he said.

She looked at him steadily.

"Was it you that killed the store-keeper last night?" she asked.

"No, it wasn't," he said simply. "I didn't know the cap'n was dead until this morning. I was on my way to the store to get some fish-hooks. I met a boy that my mother nursed with the fever last summer, and he told me Cap'n Brown had been killed in his store last night, and they'd found my knife, all bloody, lying on the floor, and they were getting their horses to lynch me, and I had better take to the woods. I came here and hid in a whole in the side of the old cellar that's half full of water. They found me awhile ago."

"What made you hit?"

"Why, things was black against me, and I know they wouldn't wait till they were cleared up. They're down on us in this neighborhood somehow. I had threatened the cap'n because I was mad. He'd charged pay twice for the same goods, and talked hard to the old man. But he'd found out he was wrong, and he sent for me to see him. I went last night, and he talked it over and parted friendly."

"And the knife—was it yours?"

"I s'pose it was. I loaned my knife to a fellow yesterday, and he never gave it back to me. I was fishin' in the creek, and he came up—a sort of tramp he was—and he asked me for my knife to cut a cane for a fishin' pole. He took it and went in the same brack, and I never saw him again. He was fishin' 'bout 'dawn, and I reckon 'twas him that cut the rope, and 'twas my knife he hid it with."

"Did you tell this to the men that found you?"

"I tried to, but they wouldn't listen. They said it was a lie. But it's the God's truth, though I reckon you won't believe it neither."

"Do believe it, and will help you to save yourself all I can. Have you got a horse?"

"I've got a pony at home—about a mile from here."

"Have you got any money?"

"Nothin' but a quarter the cap'n gave me for my fish last night."

"I have twenty dollars. I will give you half of it. When it gets dark, go home and mount your pony and travel as far out of this neighborhood as you can before morning. Take the back road, and go until you think it may be safe to stop. Get work in the country; keep your secret; tell nobody; work faithfully, and make a new start, a new life for yourself. It may be your innocence of this crime will come out. I must go now, and so must you. They may come back. This is the money; it is in two dollar bills; the more convenient for you."

He had got on his feet with a little effort, and he stood leaning against a tree—the tree on which he had been hanged. He took the bill, and stood still, looking at her, the tears coming into his wistful, dog-like eyes.

"You must a-been sent to me by the Lord," he said. "You are an angel on the earth. Won't you tell me your name?"

"My name is Anna Harte," she answered.

"Will you shake hands with me, Miss Anna Harte?"

He put out his hand timidly. She extended her own without hesitation and grasped his hand cordially.

"I promise I will do as you ask me to, or I'll die a-tryin'," he said. "You've saved my life, and I'll do with it as you say. I'll start a new row, and I'll live it straight."

"I believe you will. May God help and strengthen you," she answered, earnestly.

The pathos in his eyes, and his pitiful swollen face touched her heart. She got upon her horse and rode away. He watched her until she disappeared among the trees. Then he wiped his eyes on his patched sleeve, and slunk away into the tangled depths of a plum thicket to wait for the fast coming twilight.

The sun had set, but the golden after-glow bathed the green hills and russet fields when Miss Harte drew rein before the two-story white house of her destination. With a few other dwellings, scattered like cottages about a church, a school house, and a post-office, it formed the little settlement of Woodbridge—named for the most important man of the neighborhood.

A negro boy, who had seen her approach from a distance, got down from the stablelot fence and came to take her horse.

Mrs. Woodbridge, who was in the garden cutting late roses, came to the gate to meet her.

"Goodness me! You have come by yourself and on horseback!" she exclaimed, in surprise. "Where is Harley—my son? He went to Shipley in a buggy to bring you. How did you happen to miss him?"

"I took a wrong road and went a little out of my way," answered Anna.

She felt weary and exhausted after the strain of the last hour.

"Come right in," said her hostess warmly. "You look tired and worried. Supper will be ready soon. A cup of hot tea will do you good. I am sorry you had to wait at the station. Mr. Woodbridge had a chill to-day and Harley was to meet you. He went to Shipley to hear the news of the men who were hunted for the murder, and he didn't come back to get the buggy until about an hour or two ago. They talked about lynching Boyle; but I hope and pray they won't."

We are law-abiding folks ourselves; Hasley will do his best to prevent any violence, I know."

Miss Harte said little. She was glad to be left alone for a while in the pleasant room that had been assigned her. She was looking pale when she came down to supper, and she had little appetite for the meal when she sat down at the table with Mrs. Woodbridge and the younger children—three girls, the eldest a bright faced girl of fifteen. Mr. Woodbridge was "sweating off his fever," his wife said, and Harley had returned, but was at the stable superintending the feeding of his horses.

He came in after supper when they were in the parlor, and Miss Harte had seated herself at the piano, in response to the children's entreaty that she would play.

The mother introduced her son to the young teacher with pride. He seemed a son to be proud of—an athlete in build, with a candid, manly face and eyes full of mingled fire and sweetness.

Miss Harte was extremely anxious to hear what was believed concerning Dick Boyle; whether it was known that he had been hanged, and whether it was suspected that his life had been saved; but she did not dare to enquire.

Presently Mr. Woodbridge came in, and immediately questioned his son.

"All I can hear, sir, is that he was captured by one of the parties who were out hunting for him—and he got away."

"Ah! then he was lynched. 'Got away' is slang for hanging. I am sorry. I believe the man was guilty, but he ought to have had a trial. If I had not been seized with that confounded chill I would have used every effort to prevent this outrage."

(To Be Continued.)

Mrs. McGorry—Of niver was so frightened in all me life! Sure, the car-r-r missed me by less than six inches.

McGorry—Av ye had gone a step farther, the children wud lo, had a step-mother.

End-of-the-Century Offer.

AN EXTRAORDINARILY LIBERAL PROPOSITION.

FOR LESS THAN THE PRICE OF ONE PAPER

2 PAPERS

AND A 300 PAGE BOOK

First, and properly, in making a choice of reading for the home you select your own home paper. However good may be the reading of other papers, there is none that comes home so closely to you as your local weekly. It is to further increase this interest by adding to our lists that the following liberal proposition is made to subscribers. We have been careful to form combinations only where we knew we were touching safe ground and could thoroughly recommend the publications offered. Read carefully every word of this offer for it means a saving of money to you.

Montreal Daily Herald

A GREAT METROPOLITAN DAILY

We are pleased to announce that we have been able to make most extraordinarily liberal arrangements with the publishers of one of the greatest of Canadian dailies—the Montreal Daily Herald.

The Herald has achieved a well-deserved reputation for the remarkable value it gives its readers. It is one of the most enterprising newspapers in the Dominion, and in thousands of home circles is welcomed on account of the great interest it manifests in subjects of special interest to the family. It is admirably the favorite daily of the women of Canada. To the farmer and business man, it appeals through its accurate market reports and business columns. To the young men, through the attention it bestows on clean, manly sport. To the lover of fiction, through the excellent stories appearing regularly in its columns. To the politician, through the calm and moderate tone of its editorial expressions.

The only reason which prompted the publishers of The Herald to make us the offer, which enables us to club the two papers at the extraordinarily low price given below, is their desire to immediately introduce the Daily Herald in large numbers in this neighborhood. The offer they now make will hold good for a limited time only.

It should be mentioned that subscribers to The Herald during the next few months will enjoy to the full the opportunity which this paper is offering to all readers to secure valuable books at merely nominal figures.

The Dominion Cook Book

IN the best sense of the term this is an ideal Cook Book—ideal in being a practical book—a book which the housewife will want to keep constantly by her side and can depend on, because of the simplicity and reliability of every recipe. Starting with a chapter on soups, naturally the first course, throughout its three hundred pages and over there are to be found more than 1,000 recipes, winding up with an excellent chapter on sick room cookery. Following the cookery section there is a department entitled "The Doctor," in which are recipes selected from eminent authorities, and which will be found invaluable where the doctor is not readily available. The recipes are numbered throughout the book, and each is prefaced with a list of the ingredients called for by the recipe, rendering it unnecessary for the housewife to hunt through the entire recipe and make calculation of what is wanted. Size of page is 5 inches by 8 inches, bound in handsome cloth cover. It would be a mistake to confuse this book with any paper-bound cook book that would go to pieces in no time.

BERMUDA.

The recent organization of the W. C. T. U. in Bermuda lends additional interest to the following sketch of the islands by Mrs. Addie North Fields, our National organizer, who's out a part of last year there.

"Bermuda's (not the one who sailed with Columbus) reported them at the farthest islands found in 1492. About 1540 made a map in which these islands are designated as 'Isles of the Devil' whether because of the dangerous reefs or the cries of wild fowl so common there is not known. In 1608 ships visited the islands and reported many hogs, probably escaped from some wreck. The first coin of the realm had on it the picture of a hog" and was called "big money."

In 1609 Sir George Somers sailed from England with a fleet bound for Virginia; two hundred leagues from Bermuda a severe storm dispersed the fleet and St. George's ship was, after five days battling with the waves, one hundred men pumping constantly night and day, driven on the reefs a quarter of a mile from the shore of Bermuda. All lives were saved and much of the cargo. Nine months were spent here during which time two "barkies" were built and the people embarked for Virginia. They found the colony in dire straits and returned to Bermuda for supplies, as "the most plentiful place for fish, hog and towls."

"A settlement was formed by the Virginians, but in 1615 the charter was rescinded to the crown, and a Bermuda company formed, which continued to govern until 1685 when the first governor under the crown was sent out."

"The heart of Sir George Somers, it is supposed, was buried at St. George's in 1610; his body was sent home to England. Some well-informed Bermudians believe that St. George is an ancestor of our Lady Henry."

Until recently their merchant fleet did most of the carrying trade between Newfoundland and the West Indies. Once in 1795 they were the proud possessors of a navy—one sloop and one gunboat.

In 1812 a fleet left New York to strike a blow at the British. Two schemes were presented, seizing the homeward-bound West Indian fleet or the capture of Bermuda. The first project was chosen by a voting vote only—so near did these islands come to being a part of the United States. The islands suggest the idea of a succession of mountain peaks, the relic of some prehistoric continent, possibly the 'lost Atlantis.' They are of coral formation. "Measuring the thickness of the coral, which is the land today, seems is the only term adequate to express the time required for its formation." The group is surrounded by coral reefs—near the shore of the south, and from seven to ten miles away on the north—forming a barrier impassable except under the skillful guidance of a Bermuda pilot. In 1824 these islands became a convict station. The wonderful roads cut through the solid rock—if such soft rock may be called solid—has no doubt the result of convict labor.

"In 1834 slavery was abolished without the six years' apprenticeship provided by law. To-day the colored people of Bermuda are considered the finest of their race. The healthful, equable climate, the beautiful, semi-tropical vegetation, the variety of scenery and above all the hospitable people, make the land of the 'lily and the rose' an ideal winter resort; three thousand people annually resort thither.

"The population of Bermuda is about fifteen thousand, of which two-thirds are colored. The extremes of wealth and poverty, so common elsewhere are unknown here, although class distinctions are quite clearly marked. The homes of the people, in fact, with few exceptions, all buildings are of stone, roof and all, and are frequently whitewashed outside and in. What looks like a cross-cut saw is used to saw the stones in the quarries into blocks for the walls and slabs for the roofs.

"The white roofs, peeping out of the perennial green of the cedar, which the hills are clothed to the very crown, the stone fences covered with vines and

Killed by Kindness.

In a recent death of a young lady not far from Union Course, that came under the Observer's notice, the old rule that a patient must not be awakened to administer a dose of medicine was allowed to prevail with the result that the patient died while a stimulant was at hand that might have rided her over the critical period. When the attending physician left, he told the patient's mother that he had given the young woman a certain tablet and the additional tablets were to be administered, one each hour for four hours. When the hour came around the patient was in a condition of semi-coma, but the mother refrained from arousing her, saying: "She is sleeping, and sleep is nature's own restorer and better than medicine." Deeper and deeper into oblivion sank the patient, while the mother patiently sat by her bedside waiting for a sign of awaking, when she would give the medicine." When the doctor had returned at the mother's neglect of this instruction, the poor woman will never know that while she sat at her dear one's bedside she was dying. "The while, for want of the stimulant that she failed to administer. The doctor who attended the case says that just as an critical case some distance away was the only reason that kept him from the young woman's bedside. Death might have followed, even after the administration of the medicine ordered, but he says it was a case that should warn everyone against the absolute of a doctor's orders, even on the strength of a father's wish.

"Bofkin has got into a nice fix."

"How?"

"He wrote an article on 'The Ideal Wife for a woman's paper' last month."

"Well, what's that got to do with his present fix?"

"Somebody told his wife about it, and she's been reading the thing over and over during the past two days, trying to discover a single trait wherein his ideal resembles her." She hasn't found it, and Bofkin is taking his meals in town.

"Say, mister, do you want your bag carried?" asked a boy running after a man who was carrying it for him, overtly bound for the railway station.

"No, I don't," answered the man, a little abruptly.

"I'll carry it all the way for a nickel," persisted the boy.

"I tell you I don't want it carried," said the man, quickening his pace.

"Don't you see the boy, breaking into a trot to keep ahead of his victor?"

"No, I don't," said the man, glancing furtively at his small tempter.

Well, then, mister," said the urchin with an expression of anxious and innocent inquiry on his round dirty face, "what are you carrying it for? Why don't you set it down?"

He got the bag and a dime.

Special Announcement!

We have been appointed GENERAL AGENTS

FOR THE

GOLDEN GROVE WOOLEN MILLS.

The above named Mills are fitted up with the latest improved Machinery for the manufacture of

Tweeds, Homespun, Blankets, Flannels, Yarns, Etc

WE ARE ALSO PREPARED TO DO

Custom Carding by the Latest Improved Method

of Wills' Patent Continuous Roll Card, which is a great improvement over the old way of Custom Carding being instead of a short roll a continuous roll of two or three hundred yards. The staple of the wool by the new process is taken lengthwise which makes the yarn spin easier and stronger than the old way, which makes a saving in time and labor. It has been tried and tested by some of the best spinners in St. John and Kings Co. and has been pronounced by them

THE MOST PERFECT ROLL MADE.

We are now in a position to handle any amount of WOOL that may be sent to us. We will give in exchange for wool, not only the products of the Mills, but anything in our store in General Dry Goods, Gentlemen's Furnishings and House Furnishings at the Regular Cash Prices.

We Have But One Price On Our Goods.

CUSTOM CARDING AND WEAVING A SPECIALTY.

We can assure our Customers and the Farmers in general that they will achieve the best results by sending their wool to us.

McDonald's Corner.

March 2.—Mr. and Mrs. H. Humphrey went to St. John where they will spend a few days.

Misses Emma Day and Mary J. Hetherington were the guests of Mrs. J. W. Carpenter on Saturday.

The Sewing Circle which was organized in connection with the W. C. T. U. of this place promises to be a good success. The officers are: Miss Jennie Flower, president; Mrs. H. O. Hill, treasurer; Miss Mary J. Hetherington, secretary.

Miss Maggie Briggs spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Briggs. She left on Monday for Sussex, where she is teaching school.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the residence of Mrs. A. B. Macdonald on Saturday, March 10th, at 2 p. m. All the members are expected to be present as it is the quarterly meeting and there is important business to be attended to.

Mrs. H. O. Hill and children, Jay and Lucy, spent Sunday with her uncle, A. M. Carpenter Esq.

Dr. C. M. McLean, of Sussex, passed through here on his way to his old home at the Narrows.

Miss Mary J. Hetherington returned on Monday from a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hetherington at Coda's, much to the delight of her many friends here.

Salmondale.

Mr. Samuel Holmes, of Millstream, is doing a rushing business through this place procuring subscriptions for the book on the South African, Boer-British War.

The Rev. Mr. Shaw is holding special meetings here. At present the weather is not very favorable for the lumbering concerns that are operating in this place, some parties, however, are about done. J. W. Thorne who has been engaged in the cordwood trade has finished.

Mr. Thomas Thorne has in his possession one of the largest rabbits that has ever been seen in this country. Unfortunately the rabbit met with an accident which lamed him but still it does not interfere with his hop.

Messrs. C. W. H. and J. F. Perry are hauling lumber for firms in St. John.

Messrs. D. A. Perry and F. H. Patterson are getting lumber into Mill Brook.

Mr. Irwin Thompson, one of our foremost business men of this place, is very much interested in the South African war trade. Mr. Thompson thinks that hay will be up to the old standard price before spring, for it is feared that the freshets that have been this winter have very much injured the grass roots, and the next crop of hay will not be so abundant.

Itching, Bleeding Piles.

Mr. W. G. Phyll, proprietor Bodega Hotel, 36 Wellington Street, East Toronto, says: "While living in Chicago I was in a terrible shape with itching and bleeding piles. I tried several of the best physicians and was burned and tortured in various ways by their treatments to no avail, besides spending a mint of money to no purpose. Since coming to Toronto I read of Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used but one box, and have not been troubled with piles in any shape or form since."

Upper Salmon Creek.

March 7.—Owing to a recent snow storm here travelling is very bad.

While working in the lumber woods Mr. Geo. Bishop had the misfortune to break his leg. He was taken to his home where Dr. H. B. Hay is in attendance.

Mrs. John Miller, of Hardwood Ridge, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. John Burns, last week.

Mr. Henry Fowler lost a valuable horse while working in the woods at Gasparaux.

Mr. Robert Thompson is slowly recovering, under the treatment of Dr. Nugent, after an illness of many weeks.

Miss Georgie Watson was the guest of Mrs. Arthur Fiddler on Tuesday afternoon.

The many friends of Mr. Edward Lawrence, our former mail carrier, who with his wife and three children were burned to death in their home at Lakeview, extend their deepest sympathy to the remaining son in his sad bereavement.

British Victory Every Time.

As we intimated before, the British forces are bound to be victorious over every foe. And so it is with the greatest of our cures. The great English remedy, Cook's Sure Cough Cure is bound to break up the worst cold or cough. One bottle will do the business, an improvement after the first dose. 25 cents. Sold by all dealers.

Joseph McFee, who has been in Maine for nearly a year, is home now a visit. S. B. Orchard is getting out the frame for a new barn, he is hauling lumber from the Narrows.

Harry Orchard is doing quite a business in making berry boxes.

Thos. Kelly is getting out cordwood.

Jernoeq.

March 5.—The roads of this section in many places are blocked the result of last Thursday's storm. This is the first time the roads have been impassable this winter.

During the storm of last Sunday the Jernoeq floating bridge broke from its moorings and swung from position and is yet out of place. As soon as the ice runs out and it is liable to go any day, the bridge will be replaced.

Evangelist J. Bennett Anderson occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church Sunday morning.

W. F. and Herbert Currie have the timber landed to rebuild the woodboat Flying Yankee. They will begin operations at once.

W. F. Currie and J. L. Colwell are hauling timber to build a schooner during the coming summer. They will build on the same site of the Abbey Coast. Mr. Barnes of the Narrows will be master workman.

A joint stock company has been formed to erect and operate a cheese factory to be known as the Cambridge Cheese and Butter Co. The location at present is unknown. The certificate for incorporation with the Rules and Regulations will be filed with the recorder at an early date.

An Old Theory Exploded.

The old-fashioned theory of tearing down disease was entirely changed by the advent of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, which cures by creating new rich blood and nerve tissue. Through the medium of the circulation and the nervous system they strengthen and invigorate every organ in the human body.

Lake Stream, Kent Co.

Feb. 27.—After some six weeks of intense suffering, Mr. Robert Smith departed this life on Tuesday, 13th inst. Mr. Smith was in his 80th year. He came to this place from Springfield, Kings Co., when quite a young man. Having purchased some land, "by prudent thrift and hardy toil" made a farm on which he resided until his death. He leaves a widow, three sons and three daughters to mourn his demise.

Mr. H. P. Baird, a well known lumber operator, met with a somewhat complicated mishap, last week. While endeavoring to cross the Lake Stream the ice gave away, suddenly precipitating his team in the icy water, and narrowly escaped drowning. Mr. Baird, in the excitement of extricating the horses from their perilous position, somehow cut his foot on an axe in such a serious manner that he had to be taken at once to his home some thirty miles distant.

On Sunday the 25th inst., this locality experienced one of the many rain storms so prevalent here. The rain, together with the heavy south wind which accompanied it, has almost directed the fields, and exposed places of their white robes, when suddenly in the evening a cold wave swept over, converting all into a mass of ice.

Clones.

March 10.—I have watched the columns of your valuable paper for some time to see news from Clones but your correspondent must have left for other parts and I will now send you a few lines myself.

Miss John Petty, sr. who has been confined to her bed for the past week, we are glad to learn, is able to be around again.

Miss Charlton of Wallaston, Mass., is visiting here the guest of her brother, Mr. Allison Charlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leck of St. John are visiting Mrs. Leck's father, Mr. David Emery.

Mr. Alex. Moore of St. John spent a few days here last week with his mother, Mrs. A. Moore.

Mr. Johnson A. Cooper of St. John and his parents, a visit last week, also made a flying trip to the shiretown before returning to the city.

Mr. Frank McKimney, jr., spent Sunday at Mr. Wm. McOutcheon's.

Messrs. James Cooper and John Petty, jr. who have been busy engaged getting knees for Mr. R. A. Anderson have about completed their contract.

Mr. David Johnson of Welsford spent Sunday at Rose Avenue.

Miss Annie Corbett who has been visiting friends in Gagetown has returned home.

Our schools are progressing favorably. Miss Ida Cooper of Gagetown has charge of the South Clones and Mr. David Murphy of Headline has charge of North Clones school.

Mr. Alfred Scott spent Sunday with Miss Joe Mitchell.

Messrs. George Barnett and Alfred Kennedy are carrying on an extensive lumbering business.

Mr. John Malloy, sr., is also busily engaged hauling knees for Mr. R. A. Anderson.

A number of our young people intend attending the patriotic meeting in St. John Hill Wednesday the 14th inst. Rev. J. B. Gough of Jerusalem and Rev. Mr. McNamara are expected to be present.

Rev. John B. Gough preaches here next Sunday at 10.30 a. m.

The GAZETTE is getting more popular all the time and is anxiously looked for every week. I will now close by wishing it the success it so well deserves.

LAKE STREAM, KENT CO.

March 1st, 1900.

To EDITOR QUEENS COUNTY GAZETTE.

The only apology for the following missive is human sympathy for the oppressed.

To begin at the beginning it will be necessary to give a brief description of the condition of affairs as newly and as accurately as possible under the circumstances.

For the past twenty years or more, the residents of Little Forks together with the more sparsely settled section of country lying between that village and Harcourt Station, I. C. R. enjoy the privilege and derived the benefit of having a weekly mail service. The mail route during that period being from Harcourt, I. C. R., to Chipman, Queens Co., some 40 or 50 miles and vice versa, with offices very conveniently located along that route, Lake Stream P. O. being about centrally located. Little Forks is some 7 or 8 miles distant and 14 or 15 miles from Harcourt.

Little did these people think that when the change in the administration of affairs at Ottawa (which they almost to a man had so loyally supported and so joyously welcomed) came about, it would sanction the grievance that now exists.

In the year 1898 or about two years ago, for reason best known to themselves the P. O. Department made a change in the mail route; cutting it, as it were, in two at Lake Stream P. O., leaving that part of the route, from the latter office to Harcourt I. C. R. without a mail service of any description.

We will now leave the position of those people (so long with the aforementioned privileges, and so unceremoniously deprived of them) to the patient reader to form his or her conclusion, and I think they will agree with me, that they have a genuine grievance and that fast becoming "chronic." The disadvantage of the change is more grievously felt by the residents of Little Forks than any others on the line, on account of the amount of mail matter due there, and the great distance from an office, some having to go nine miles to the nearest P. O.

Though repeated applications and even petitions have been sent to the Department to have this grievance redressed, if only in the small way of extending the route to Little Forks, and there establish a Post Office, (which certain very prominent men in the Department and out of it have said would be done), yet up to this time the facts as stated remain the same.

The question is repeatedly asked, "Why has this injustice been inflicted upon a devoted people as they have been to the present administration?"

Let us hope they will not be obliged to await a reply until the time comes when another vote will be called for when it will, in all probability (and justly) be answered by the electors with emphasis.

Hoping that this may come before the close of this sad state of affairs, and lead them to reflect on the wrong that has been done, with the effect that (if their past ability still remains) they will make amends as desired.

Hoping that I have not invaded your valuable space hopelessly, I remain,

Truly yours,

VOX POPULI.

Cody's.

March 8.—Julia Perry, daughter of E. L. Perry, fell and broke her leg last Friday.

Lee Parker, of Cole's Island, is dangerously ill with bronchitis. Dr. A. F. Armstrong is attending him.

Douglas Cody is rapidly recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. T. J. O. Earle.

Miss Maggie Campbell, of Norton, is the guest of Mrs. John Keys.

M. B. Dunham, our local blacksmith, is sick with grippe.

Mrs. George Fisher has been quite ill. Mr. Stratton, of Hampton, has a number of men working at the railway bridge over the Washademoak. If a new bridge is not put in the people around here fear that an accident similar to that which happened on it last summer may occur again.

Geo. Worden who has been working in the woods arrived home last week.

Mrs. Walker Perry and Miss Bertie Perry went to Cole's Island on Monday.

Thomas Perry, of Cole's Island, was the guest of Capt. Isaac Worden on Saturday.

March 9.—There has been a good deal of sickness in this vicinity during the present winter and our physicians have been kept busy.

On March 4th Dr. Hay of Chipman was consulting with Dr. Armstrong concerning the condition of Lee Parker, who was brought from the woods very ill with congestion of the lungs.

Douglas Cody has been suffering with a severe attack of acute rheumatism, but under the skillful treatment of Dr. Earle is rapidly recovering.

Michael B. Perry is ill with the grippe. On Tuesday evening March 6th, while returning from visiting L. D. Farris, a severe attack of vertigo. After considerable trouble he managed to reach home. Dr. Earle was summoned and hopes to have Mr. Roberts out again in a few days though it will not be safe for him to drive in stormy weather for some time.

T. P. Hetherington has decided to spend the summer in British Columbia. He starts for there about the middle of the month. M. J. Boney will probably accompany him.

H. B. Hetherington is confined to the house.

Hibernia.

March 3.—When the mail arrived at this place today and confirmed the report that Lady Smith had been relieved and Gen. Cowly and his forces had been forced to surrender in South Africa a feeling of joy which can be better imagined than described seemed to enter into the very souls of the inhabitants of this place, and at 7.30 o'clock between fifty and sixty persons availed themselves of the privilege of meeting in Hibernia Hall and by speeches and singing patriotic songs a very pleasant evening was spent.

The meeting was called to order by Coun. D. O. Nickerson. D. Gardiner was elected chairman, and George J. Rankin secretary, after which the following program was successfully carried out. Speeches by Coun. Nickerson and O. H. Paddington; song by Wm. J. Nickerson; speeches by Jeremiah Davis, J. Sylvester VanVest; song by Gilbert Paddington and Wm. G. McOmber; speeches by Wm. J. Nickerson, Wm. J. Paddiner, and others. After singing God Save the Queen by the congregation and cheers for our Canadian Heroes and the leading British Generals in South Africa, and the Queen the meeting closed, all feeling well satisfied with the evening's outing. Special mention might be made of the ladies for their keen sentiment of loyalty on the above mentioned occasion as they had very tastefully made and furnished free badges of red, white and blue ribbon to everyone who attended the meeting.

Rev. W. H. Perry will preach here to-morrow.

After the services there will be a baptism at or near the Bridge.

The late snow storm has been a great help to the lumbermen of this place. They all expect to get their logs in this spring.

WAS CURED TO STAY

Mr. Samuel Locke Cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The Only Known Remedy for Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Discharge of Women, and all Other Kidney Diseases—Their Cures are all Permanent.

JORDAN BAY, N. S. March 12.—Mr. Samuel Locke, of this place, writes that he has never known a moment's pain from his old complaint—Kidney Disease—since he began to use Dodd's Kidney Pills some years ago. This fact he claims—and his claim is certainly just and reasonable—proves that the cures effected by Dodd's Kidney Pills are permanent.

Mr. Locke's case attracted wide-spread attention, and was reported, and commented upon by newspapers, throughout Canada. Several doctors prescribed for him but they all failed to do him any good. His kidneys were badly diseased, and were daily growing worse.

At length, when all other means had been tried, and had failed, Mr. Locke decided to make a final effort, and to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. He began to mend as soon as he began to use them. Today, there is not a stronger, and healthier man in the district.

It is fully to suffer with Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Lumbago Rheumatism, Lane Back, Heart Failure, Gravel, Gout, Stone in Bladder, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Urinary Troubles, Discharge of Women, Blood Impurity, or any other form of Kidney Disease, for they, one and all, are easily, speedily, and lastingly cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Young's Cove Road.

February 27.—The weather for the past week has been very stormy.

Mrs. Fanjoy who, got thrown from a sleigh a few days ago is recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. T. J. O. Earle.

Mr. M. Hughes has returned from St. John and is looking quite improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Tower, were the guests of Mrs. Abram Wiggins on Sunday last.

A number of our friends around this place spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McBeatty of Coda's.

Mr. John Jeffrey who has been away for the past three years has returned home and his many friends are glad to see his smiling face again.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gale have moved into the residence owned by John Tower.

Miss Alice Ferris was the guest of Mrs. Stanley Dismore, of Paradise Valley, and also Mrs. Abram Wiggins on Thursday last.

Miss Alice Wiggins spent last Thursday the guest of Mrs. Andrew Elliott.

Miss Mabel Wiggins got severely injured by a horse running over her on Thursday last.

Mr. C. B. Parker's men are returning from the lumber woods.

Summer Hill.

March 10.—The death occurred this morning of Mr. Richard Graham after a short illness. Deceased was about 86 years of age was a native of Ireland but has resided in this place for over 50 years where he was highly respected. He leaves a wife, two sons Arthur of Cote Hill and Richard of St. John, and seven daughters Mrs. Philip Graham of St. John, Mrs. Alex. Queen of Boston, Miss Ruth, of St. John, Misses Mary and Julia, of Boston, and Misses Eliza and Rebecca who are at home.

A patriotic meeting will be held in the Methodist church here on Wednesday evening 14th inst., a number of speakers are expected to be present.

The Improved Blower

Given Free with every box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure, is the most effective appliance ever devised to reach the roots of disease.

Every person who has ever doctor'd for catarrh knows that the great trouble is to get the remedy to the desired spot where it can heal the ulcers and eradicate the disease from the system. This difficulty is entirely overcome by means of a simple but most effective blower, which is to be found in every box of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. By this blower the preparation is sent direct to the diseased parts, and through its marvellous roasting, healing influence allays the inflammation, treats the ulcers and positively cures catarrh. Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure is prompt and effective in action. It clears the eye passages, makes breathing free and easy, relieves the pressure which causes headache and deafness, stops the running in the ears and droppings in the throat, and counteracts foul breath. It thoroughly and permanently eradicates catarrh from the system. 25c. a box, blower free, at all dealers, or BARNES, DAZZ & Co., Toronto.
