

CASCARETS 10¢

For Constipated Bowels—Bilious Liver

The nicest cathartic-laxative to physic your bowels when you have Headache      Biliousness
Colds            Indigestion
Dizziness       Sour Stomach is candy-like Cascarets. One or two to-night will empty your bowels completely by morning and you will feel splendid. They work while you sleep. Cascarets never stir you up or rouse like Salts, Pills, Calomel, or Oil and they cost only ten cents a box. Children love Cascarets too.

Sweet Eva!

CHAPTER XXXI.
He pushed her from him suddenly and began pacing up and down the room.

"I'll wring his neck for him to-morrow," he said in boyish high-pitched excitement. "Just because he's likely to have a little some day—that's the only pull he's got over me. She told me about him before, that's why I hated her coming." His excitement suddenly died down; he flung himself on to the couch and hid his face.

"Nothing will ever be the same again—nothing," he said hoarsely. Eva knelt beside him; she tried to laugh and chase his fears away. She told him that he was too jealous; that, of course, Kitty resented it if he had let her see that he was jealous; that it would be all right in the morning; that to-morrow he would be laughing at himself.

"Everything will be all right—you see if it isn't," she said. She persuaded him to go to bed at last; she promised that she would go with him in the morning to see Kitty. "We'll bring her back to lunch with us," she said cheerily. "Don't be such a goose, Peter."

She kissed him and laughed at him, and sent him off to his room looking a little shame-faced. This new trouble, coming on top of her own, seemed almost more than she could bear; she would have given her soul for someone in whom to confide, but there was nobody to whom she could turn . . . except Calligan! The exception slipped unconsciously into her mind; presently, when Philip had gone to Rhodessa, he would be her only friend.

She lay awake far into the night thinking of him with grateful affection; it never occurred to her that the friendship on which she counted so much was no friendship to Calligan; that she was the one woman in his world, even as Philip was the one man in hers.

She sat up with her hands clasped round her knees, staring before her with mournful eyes. This new dread that Philip might be going to leave her stimulated her blood.

Indoor Life

Spending more time indoors makes women far more subject to constipation than men.

The liver becomes sluggish and torpid, the bowels constipated and the system poisoned by impurities.

If you would get away from the myriads of ills which result from constipation, it is only necessary to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The benefits from their use are as lasting as they are prompt and certain.

Mrs. John Barry, 18 St. Amable Street, Quebec, Que., writes:

"This is to certify that I was troubled for years with constipation and tried all kinds of medicines without relief. At last my husband suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicines I have taken during the last fifteen years. I may also add that I have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles with excellent results."

"He shall not go—he shall not," she said aloud.

She would find some way in which to keep him. She must! She thought of that night at the Apsley House when he had tried to kiss her, and for the hundredth time she blamed herself for having repulsed him; sometimes she believed that he had left her note unanswered as a sort of punishment.

Ought she to have known better, she wondered? Ought she to have grasped at the small overture of affection and accepted it gratefully, asking no questions, even though perhaps it had only meant a passing interest and attraction? It seemed now, in the new, dread light shed by the mere thought of Philip's going to Rhodessa that any sort of love from him would have been better than none at all.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Eva kept her promise and went with Peter next morning to see Kitty Arlington. She was staying in an imposing-looking house, and Eva made a little wry grimace at her brother as they waited for admittance.

"It all seems very grand and blue-blooded," she said, half-laughing. She felt sorry for Peter; he looked more of a boy than ever, as her eyes scanned his nervous face. He had taken great pains with his appearance, and wore a collar which was too high for him, and which compelled him to keep his head rather erect; his clothes looked too new, somehow, even to Eva's fond regard, and she stifled a little sigh.

"I suppose there's something about all of us that doesn't quite fit into the picture," she thought humbly. They were shown into a large drawing-room furnished in the not very beautiful taste of half a century ago; the blinds were drawn, and there was an air of general formality about everything.

They were kept waiting some time before Kitty appeared; Peter had walked round the room at least twenty times before the door opened to admit her.

When she saw Eva she stood quite still. "They did not tell me you were here," she said. She forced a smile. "How do you do? I've been meaning to call, but I've been so very much engaged . . . Well, Peter?" She gave him her hand, which the poor boy grasped convulsively.

"I wondered whether you'd come to lunch with us to-day," Eva said. She tried hard to make her voice friendly, but she was painfully conscious that it was not very successful.

Kitty looked taken aback for a moment; she had long since withdrawn her hand from Peter's.

"There's nothing I should have liked better," she declared then. "I'm longing to see the flat—Philip tells me it is wonderful!" There was a gleam of maliciousness in her eyes. "But I've got a tiresome engagement—-that's the worst of staying with relations, they will insist on dragging you here, there and everywhere, and one must be civil . . ." She smiled at Peter. "Why didn't you let me know you were coming to town?" she asked sweetly. "Poor boy! I know I was cross with you last night, but I didn't mean it . . ."

Peter coloured furiously; he stammered out that he had wanted to surprise her . . . Eva could see that he was completely taken in by Kitty's sweetness, and that at the first kind word and look he had forgotten the hurt of last night. "Then I won't stay," she said. She looked questioningly at Peter.

"I'm going to keep Peter half an hour and then send him home," Kitty said laughingly. "Only half an hour! That's all I can spare him this morning . . ." She swept the boy a look from beneath her long lashes. "I'll just send Eva to the door . . ." Eva followed silently. She was burning with indignation for Peter's sake; what a way to treat a man whom one was supposed to love! "You'll give my love to Phil, won't you?" Kitty said, as they shook hands. "I really am coming to call—I promised him I would . . ."

Eva walked away with crimson cheeks. "If that's being well bred, I'm glad I'm not," she thought indignantly. She could not understand how Peter could be so blind; she was quite sure in her heart that Kitty did not mean to marry him, and she deeply resented the patronising way in which she and Peter had both been treated.

She went back to the flat feeling very sad. She wondered what sort of a man Featherstone was, and if there was really any foundation for Peter's outburst of jealousy last night.

Through the half-closed library door she saw Philip writing at his desk; she hesitated a moment, then went into the room.

"Philip."

"Yes."

There was a little additional colour in his face as he looked up; he had grown so used to hearing her step pass his door.

"I've just been with Peter—to see Kitty Arlington."

"Yes."

"I asked her to lunch, but she wouldn't come."

"No." The indifference of his voice angered her.

"She sent her love to you," she said deliberately.

"Thank you." There was a little pause. "Is that all you came to say to me?" Philip asked.

She fidgeted with a paper weight. "Yes—no—at least—what sort of a man is Mr. Featherstone?"

"Featherstone?" Oh, he's all right—good family and all that, you know. Why do you ask?"

She hesitated. It hurt her pride to have to admit that Peter was jealous of Featherstone.

"I only thought . . . he seemed—well, he goes about a great deal with Kitty, doesn't he?"

She raised her eyes with sudden paths in them; Philip was looking at her steadily, and for the moment she forgot the strained relationship that existed between them, and remembered only her anxiety for her brother; she stretched her hand to him across the table.

New Eyelids Provided. THEY ARE GRAFTED ON WITHOUT DISFIGURING FACES.

Nothing is more disfiguring than to have an eyelid gone, either through a wound, a burn or disease. A man with such a hideous defect finds it difficult to get a job and is constantly embarrassed by the gaze and questions of curious persons. During the war much was learned about plastic surgery of the face, and the present ability of skilled surgeons to replace a missing eyelid is due largely to the experiences in the military hospitals.

The Journal of the American Medical Association prints a large number of photographs of men with upper or lower eyelids gone and the same men after their lids had been restored by grafting. These were shown by Dr. George H. Cross of Chester, Pa., to illustrate a lecture he delivered before the section on Ophthalmology of the American Medical Association at its recent meeting in Boston. They are all of soldiers operated upon at army hospitals. They came out without disfigurement. Grafts may be taken from several places, the temples for example, with the base at the outer corner of the eye; or from the forehead, cheek or jaw wherever may be most convenient.

The tissues upon which the graft is to be made are freshened and prepared to receive it; then the graft is cut as a flap of skin and either swung into place at once or left for a few days of watching, to make sure that circulation is establishing itself through the base. This is called a pediculated flap. It is sutured to the skin and left until it has quite certainly "taken" before its base is severed.

The area from which the graft is cut is treated by undermining the skin on both sides, drawing the edges together and sewing. This is a very simple outline of a typical case; for the details are different in each case; sometimes fat has to be grafted to fill out a depression; sometimes two operations are necessary—one a graft of the burning of the lid.

Dr. Cross dresses such grafts by covering them with modelling compound sterilized, warmed, pressed very evenly all over the grafted area and covered with a bandage.

Household Notes. Smelts are nice, boned, stuffed with fat stuffing, baked and served with mock Hollandaise sauce. If pearl buttons have been spotted in the laundry, give them a bath in olive oil and rub them with flannel. Save pound tin cans which have held baking powder and use them for steaming brown bread and puddings. Tea water is found an excellent cleanser for varnished woodwork. To obtain this, pour water on used tea leaves and strain through a cloth or muslin. The tea water removes the dirt quite easily.

Stafford's COD LIVER OIL Compound

TONIC and TISSUE BUILDER

This combination possesses the curative properties of cod liver oil without any of the latter's disagreeable features, as well as the medicinal virtues of the other standard remedies that enter into its composition. It is palatable, effective, and does not even in the most delicate, produce stomach disturbances and other bad after-effects that are such a drawback to the best action of cod liver oil in its crude state and many other disagreeable medicines.

Fashion Plates.

AN INTERESTING COSTUME.

3840-3823. Effective and youthful is this smartly fashioned model, with its simple artistic lines, and comfortable new sleeve. One could wear the blouse with any "slip" or foundation skirt. As here shown it is combined with a smart two piece skirt. As illustrated, the blouse may be finished with the fullness held by the belt in "straight line" effect, or bloused over a sash or girde of silk or ribbon with loop and ends at the side or a smart bow over the back. Beaded crepe and charmeuse will be attractive for this style. Crepe de chine, taffeta, serge, velours and duvety are also good.

The Blouse 3840, is cut in 7 Sizes; 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. It will require 3 1/2 yards of 40 inch material for a medium size.

The Skirt 3823, is cut in 7 Sizes; 26, 28, 30, 34, 36 and 38 inches waist measure. The width of the skirt at the foot is about 2 1/2 yards. It will require 2 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a medium size. If desired the blouse may be finished in skirt length thus forming a very pleasing chemise dress. Any "slip" or skirt may be used in place of the skirt illustrated.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 15c FOR EACH pattern in silver or stamps.

SOME NEW THINGS FOR THE BABY.

2186. Infant's Set, consisting of a Cap, a Sack, a Night Gown and a Dress.

Muslin, cambric, flannel or flannel-ette will do nicely for the night gown, while lawn or nainsook is suitable for the dress, with embroidery, tucking and lace or edging for decoration. The sack will look well in silk, cashmere, flannel, or flannel-ette, and the cap is suitable for lawn, silk or "all-over" embroidery. For the dress of flouncing, it will require 1 1/2 yard of 36 inch material with 1 1/2 yard of plain material for yoke and sleeves. Of nainsook or lawn 36 inches wide it will require 2 1/2 yards. The gown will require 2 1/2 yards of 24 or 27 inch material. The cap, 1/2 yard of 18 inch material. The sack requires 3/4 yard of 27 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents in silver or stamps.

Blair's NEW SALE SYSTEM "DIFFERENT SELLING"

MEANS BARGAIN PRICES FOR YOU.

Owing to changing and present conditions of business, we are considering this year running our merchandising and selling differently. Part of this change will be the cleaning up of goods of which we have an overstock, or goods the season of which is passing, at prices which will not necessarily mean any consideration of the cost of these goods. Customers will however note that all such prices can hardly be expected to be held indefinitely and they will do well to seek advantage of same early. In our "Different Selling" Campaign we also aim to achieve other results which will be unfolded later.

We open our "Different Selling" Campaign with the following Reductions and Bargains:

- CORTICELLI WOOL in balls. Regular 25c., at . . . . . 19c. ball

Pope Pius XI. Crowned.

Situation on Ulster Border Serious--Flu and Pneumonia in New York--Political Prisoners in Russia Being Released.

ULSTER CONSTABLES.
BELFAST, Feb. 12. Four Ulster special constables were shot at the railway station at Clones, on Saturday afternoon, eight others were wounded and six are missing. Andrew Fitzpatrick, leader of the "Reds", was shot dead. The Ulster special constables were about to board a train when a party of the Irish Republican Army with rifles and machine guns came on the platform and immediately opened fire. Four constables were killed, one was his head blown off by machine gun fire. Some of the others were wounded, some were taken prisoners and the remainder escaped. After the attack the Republican army men fled, but it is in that part of Ulster included in the Irish Free State and they are near the border. The constables were lined up against the wall and moved down the line. The train arrived and the special constables were lined up on the platform. The train moved towards it, firing began and two machine guns posted on a bridge spanning the railway track. At the same time a large body of men descended upon the train and after firing the constables were taken to the station. Some were crouched on the ground, others on the train. The occupants of the train were lined up in two bodies, the civilians on one side and the constables on the other. Everyone was searched. The civilians were then ordered back in the train and after firing the constables were taken to the station. Some were crouched on the ground, others on the train. The occupants of the train were lined up in two bodies, the civilians on one side and the constables on the other. Everyone was searched. The civilians were then ordered back in the train and after firing the constables were taken to the station.

POPE CROWNED YESTERDAY.
ROME, Feb. 12. Pius XI was crowned Pope in the Basilica of St. Peter's to-day amid scenes of pomp and enthusiasm, and in the presence of Princes and dignitaries of the Church, diplomatic representatives of foreign countries, members of the Roman aristocracy, and a vast assemblage filling the structure to the doors. The ancient customs were carried out with unbroken ceremony, and the newly-elected Pontiff now occupies the throne of the first Pope reported crowned, Leo III, who reigned from 795 to 816.

RUSSIAN SOVIET RELEASING POLITICAL PRISONERS.
MOSCOW, Feb. 12. Accusations against all persons under arrest for political offences in Russia must be made within a fortnight, and within two months all persons under arrest must either be freed or turned over to the courts, unless special permission for further detention is received from the central executive reserve committee itself. This is stipulated in a decree announcing the passing out of existence of the All-Russian cheka, the Soviet secret police and judicial organizations.

FLU AND PNEUMONIA CASES.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. Since January first 13,459 cases of influenza and 5,140 cases of pneumonia have been reported in this city. Influenza has caused 397 deaths and pneumonia 192. A slight decrease was shown in the number of new cases reported to-day.

GOT HIS MAN.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12. The old adage that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police always get their men is true in the case of Sergeant Stevens, who arrived here yesterday with Chow Shimookaki, taken into custody in Mexico City, after a chase lasting nearly six months and covering 10,000 miles. Shimookaki, wanted for a double murder in Prince Rupert, B.C., fled across Canada, then through the Atlantic States from Maine to Florida, and thence to New Orleans and into Mexico, according to Sergeant Stevens.

LOOKING FOR BUSINESS.
TORONTO, Feb. 12. As a result of the preferential trade agreement between Canada and the West Indies a large party of prominent Canadian manufacturers and their wives plan a two months tour of the British possessions in the Caribbean Sea. The manufacturers will study trade opportunities there.

THE BIGGEST JOKE OF THE CENTURY.
NEW YORK, Feb. 12. A number of American Senators indicated to-day that they agree with the estimate of Senator King's waterways resolution attributed to Premier Tachereau, of Quebec, who remarked that the move of the Senator from Utah to secure cessation of an art of Quebec Province to Uncle Sam was the biggest joke of the century.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. By a vote of 276 to 8 House yesterday accepted the Senate amendments to the farmers' co-operative marketing bill, and sent it to the President for his approval. The measure which has been long before Congress, would permit the organization of marketing associations among farmers for co-operative dealings.

A NEW WEAPON OF DESTRUCTION.
MARRID, Feb. 12. A new machine gun with fifty barrels capable of firing 3500 shots per minute has been invented by Gregorio Arias, a retired telegraph operator. Its operation requires five men and it is claimed it will cover a front of one kilometre.

POSTAL ORGANIZATIONS FEDERATE.
WINNIPEG, Feb. 12. The three Organizations of the Canadian Postal Telegraph employees have been amalgamated into one body under the name of Canadian Federation of Postal Employees.

IRISH POLITICAL PRISONERS IN ENGLAND TO BE RELEASED.
LONDON, Feb. 12. The Colonial Office announced to-day that pursuant to authority granted by the British Cabinet steps were being taken to release prisoners who were taken into custody for offences committed in England from Irish political motives, prior to the Irish truce.

AGAINST LAVISH DECORATIONS.
LONDON, Feb. 12. An appeal for abstention from lavish decorations and illuminations for the wedding of Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles on February 28th, was issued in London. The appeal says that such display, when there is so much hardship from unemployment, might tend to create discontent.

RHEUMATISM HAD HIM IN ITS GRIP 50 YEARS

Restored To Splendid Health By Tanlac, Well Known Roxbury Citizen Makes Remarkable Statement To Public.

Had Spent Thousands Of Dollars and Tried Every Known Remedy Without Finding Relief.

"Getting rid of the rheumatism at this late day completely mystifies me, for I had had it for fifty years and had spent thousands of dollars," was the statement made, recently by William H. Hayes, a well-known resident of Roxbury, Mass., in relating his remarkable experience with Tanlac. Mr. Hayes has been identified with the people of Roxbury for forty years and is highly respected and esteemed by all who know him.

"This rheumatism got me when just a lad in my teens and, while I resorted to every known remedy, I kept getting worse as the years went by. For the past few years every bone in my body seemed to be aching clean to the marrow and my joints would give so stiff and sore it was agony to bend them. For two years past the pains in my feet and legs were so intense for days at a time that I could not put my feet on the ground. When I did get out I simply had to hobble along at a snail's pace. The pains finally settled in my arms, shoulders and hands. These two hands were so swollen and out of shape I could not hold a pen or pencil to write a letter. I couldn't sleep at night, saw no ease or comfort during the day, and life was truly a burden.

"Well, I was just about ready to give up the fight when my attention was called to Tanlac. How this medicine has done it I don't know, but I do know I haven't an ache or pain, and I believe I could get out there and walk a distance of five miles and make it in record time. To put it all in a few words, I am now in better condition than I have been in a half century. I don't think anybody could have better reason for feeling thankful to Tanlac than I have."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS.
(From Saturday's Trade Review)
Codfish.—The total exported this week was the lowest for any week of the year, viz.—8,895 quintals as follows:—
From St. John's.—By S.S. Bornholm to Halifax from various city shippers, 885 quintals and by schooner Harriet to Messrs. Earle & Sons, 3,000 qts. in bulk to Oporto.
From Oporto.—By schooner General Gough from Harris and Piercey, Grand Bank, 5,000 qts. to Oporto. The consumption in Oporto has increased about 100 per cent. this week and the market should be quite low by Lent.
Cod Oil.—The United States demand is promising better, though the purchasers are not inclined to improve their offers in regard to prices. They are buying "from hand to mouth," pending the coming of new Norwegian. By the S.S. Bornholm this week 1,321 gallons went out from A. E. Hickman Co., Ltd., to Boston, and by the S.S. Sable 1,215 gallons from Mr. A. E. Barry to Halifax. There is very little of 1921 oil now left in this market.
Cod Liver Oil.—Two small shipments from Messrs. Munn and Job Bros., amounting to 175 gallons were shipped out this week to Halifax and Windsor by the Sable I. This is the first to go forward for two months, which in itself is sufficient indication of no better market at present, and the few cents per gallon additional, that have been tacked on since New Year is not sufficient inducement for Newfoundland manufacturers to outfit for this business.
Flour.—The importation of flour is keeping along well since New Year. Last week the aggregate was 5,730 barrels, and heavy consignments, we understand, are already ordered for spring delivery, as it is generally believed there will be a more favorable time to buy than the present, as far as the existing crop is concerned. Wheat has advanced steadily and the poor reports of the Winter Wheat crop is the main cause of the recent rise. In the local market it amounts to 50 cents a barrel and the wholesale quotation for No. 1 is now $9.75 to $10.00 according to grade.

STAFFORD'S PHORATONE FOR SALE AT KNOWLING'S STORES, EAST, WEST AND CENTRAL.—Jan. 12

Pork.—The imports for the week amounted to 463 barrels by the "Canadian Sapper" and Sable I. Compared with beef, there has been more activity in importing this product since New Year, indicating the belief that the Pork market is growing stronger as the winter advances, while beef is likely to hold at the levels of 1921. This seems to be the position to-day, but much depends on European demand and the number of Hogs to come forward in the spring. The St. John's prices are about the same as quoted last week, viz.—Mess, $29.00; Fat Back, $28.50; Boston Butt, $30.00; Grocers Family Mess, $45.00 per barrel wholesale.

Beef.—The imports of Beef are remarkably low these days, and the total to this port since last week is only 211 barrels. Trade is at its low point in local circles, and it is easy to supply the demand. This, together with the fact that the producing market is expected to keep steady all the winter and that spring may show more favorable buying, favorable buying conditions makes barreled beef a rather negligible purchase. Prices are same as quoted—$25.00 per barrel, $20.00 per barrel, $21.00 Family and $21.50 Boneless per barrel wholesale.

Sugar.—The market is advancing and, with the restoration of more healthy trade conditions in Cuba, it is believed that present prices will hold for some time. Bankers are coming to the assistance of the producers and putting an end to the demoralized conditions that prevailed the past two months. The high duty in Newfoundland prevented us from participating to the right degree at producing points, and it is hoped that in the proposed revision of the Tariff this is the first item that will be taken up for adjustment. The wholesale quotation here to-day is $10.25, which is lower than the present cost of importation. It would seem then to be a good time for retailers to buy.

Molasses.—Barbados new crop will soon be on the market. Exporters are trying to keep up as near as possible to the standard of the old prices, but dealers are not inclined to give the prices asked, and are not risking to place orders. The opinion in general is, that prices will have to come down before any considerable trade is done. The price at the Island is 60 cents C.I.F. per wine gallon, and in view of all the circumstances, molasses customers regard this as twenty cents too much, and that a decline must come. The price for old in the local market is still around 80 cents, but it is hoped that new crop will be at least ten cents a gallon cheaper.

Potatoes.—The local market is quiet and there are no Canadian potatoes coming in, but some consignments of Nova Scotian stock have been ordered for March. The home-grown are still being supplied from the nearby outport farmers to householders in small quantities whenever the weather is favorable, at $2.00 per half barrel (picked) and $3.50 to $2.80 per barrel according to quality. A big influx of these is expected in April at lower prices, as large quantities are held in Conception Bay. Canadian potatoes are selling at $4.00 to $4.50 per sack of 180 lbs.

Hay.—The prices of hay is firming up in the Canadian market in sympathy with feeds and grains generally, and the local market has been affected this week accordingly. The wholesale price has advanced all round in the local market this week from $52.00 to $53.00 per ton, and this new level is expected to be maintained, if not to take on even a further advance, up till next May, when the St. Lawrence navigation opens. Stocks in the local hands are by no means large. The S.S. Canadian Sapper brought in 873 bales last trip. (Feb. 3rd) which helped to relieve the scarcity.

Oats.—The oats market is getting quite strong. The local quotation is now $3.90 to $4.00 per sack for mixed and white. The total imports this week were quite heavy, amounting to no less than 7,028 sacks, 4,002 by the S.S. Canadian Sapper and 3,026 by the Sable I. These came just in time to relieve a depleted market. "There will be no recession in prices the balance of the season," is the opinion amongst importers and those who refrain from buying now will likely have to pay 20 cents per sack more next month.

Assassination of Mr. Thynne.
On the night of Sunday, Feb. 12, 1922 a gentleman named Thomas Thynne was shot while riding in his coach along Pall Mall. Descended from an ancient family, he resided at Longleaf, Wiltshire, where he frequently entertained the Duke of Devonshire and other nobles in a style of great magnificence. He wooed the youthful and wealthy widow of Lord Ogle, but had a rival rejected. She married Mr. Thynne and the count determined on revenge. He thought, if he could get Mr. Thynne murdered without appearing to have anything to do with it, he would have another try for the hand of the lady. So he procured three men—Borowski, a Pole, and Vratz and Stern, two Germans—and instructed them carefully what to do. As Mr. Thynne was riding in his coach three horsemen came alongside and their leader, Borowski, shot him through the window. He only lived a few hours. The Duke of Monmouth conducted an active search for the murderers and soon arrested the three men. A week later King's-marshal apprehended and the four tried at the Old Bailey. There was not much evidence against King's-marshal, though everyone knew he was guilty. The Chief Justice summed up in his favour and he was acquitted. The others were found guilty and were hanged at the place of the murder in Pall Mall. The Count, as soon as he got out of the Old Bailey, went over to Germany and died four years later. On Mr. Thynne's tomb in Westminster Abbey is a sculptured representation of the crime.

Execution of Lady Jane Grey.
On February 12, 1554, the ill-fated Lady Jane Grey was executed for no other fault than that she had greatness thrust upon her. Queen Mary is said to have been unwilling to order the execution of her kinswoman, whom she believed to be "an unreluctant instrument in the hands of the Earl of Northumberland." Notwithstanding this very natural reluctance of the queen to harm the girl—she was only in her seventeenth year—she was brought to trial, together with her husband and Crammer, and after pleading guilty to the charges made against her, was condemned to death. She received her sentence very calmly, devoting herself to comforting her companions in misfortune, and was followed back to the Tower of London by a crowd of people all lamenting her fate. It is doubtful whether the sentence would have ever been Plebiscite or Referendum?

Will the Humber Project, about which there has developed such an amount of Opposition, be submitted to a plebiscite of the whole people in order that the Government may learn just how popular opinion stands ere they seek to introduce the measure to the Legislature. It would be relieving the representatives of the people of a great deal of responsibility if they could determine just how the voters felt on this big issue, and whether the ballots went for or against, the decision would be in the hands of the electorate, and the Government would, in either case, be directed by the sovereign will of the governed. Rumor is rife that this will be the course adopted.

Taking rumor for once granted, let it be impressed on the Government that the kind of plebiscite taken in the year 1916, will not serve in the present case. Nothing less than a clear voting majority, for or against, should be accepted as the desire of the people. The plebiscite of the year referred to has brought with it such a wealth of confusion, that should be the inspiration to direct any future one that might be authorized. Therefore it behoves the Administration to proceed cautiously. To saddle the Colony with an unsupportable burden of financial obligation is a matter not to be treated in the ordinary manner and method of ordinary party politics. Consequently, a plebiscite, perhaps, would prove conclusively that the people themselves do not feel that they are ready to accept the proposed measure.

The principle of a Referendum would be, if applied, another means of settling the matter. Only in this instance, it would be necessary for the Government to pass the Bill proposed, and go back to the districts for the sanction or otherwise of the voters. But that would essentially make it a distinctive Government measure, which if defeated by the suffrages of the electors, would immediately necessitate the resignation of the Government, which in all political honor could not any longer retain the Administration. The plebiscite proper would not require this, whether it went for or against. For the decision would have been made by the people at the prime request of the Government, which would have to stand by the popular vote; meaning that if accepted they would have to put it through; if rejected they need only to wash their hands of it. With, as it is said, a divided House, the only safety of the Government is in the plebiscite. Let the people themselves decide, but by a straight majority. In such an event let there be no forty or sixty per cent. of voting power specified, but a clear majority of the whole electorate. Some political jurists declare that even in the case of a plebiscite, it would depend only on certain results to warrant the Government in resigning, and that in the event of the voting power of the electors going against their express ideas. Any way one or the other courses are open, and if there is so much depending on popular decision, by plebiscite or referendum, it is up to the Government to take which course they please, or have nothing whatever to do with the proposal.

Twenty Years Ago To-Day.

(Evening Telegram, Feb. 13th, 1902.) A deadlock in the fish markets at Brazil was reported at an end. The merchants here were given an equal chance to ship. The Brazil merchants agreed to pay 25 shillings per drum for fish. Mr. C. Duder was agent at Pernambuco at this time. S.U.F. Lodge, No. 6 attended Evine service at Cochrane Street Church. Rev. F. W. Desbarres was the preacher. Confederation with Canada debated at B.S. Club Rooms. Mr. W. J. Higgins opened the debate in favour of the measure, and was supported by Messrs. Summers, Kent and Kelly. For the negative side were Messrs. P. J. Scott, J. Dee and H. F. Shortis. An aerial flight of thirty-five minutes duration was made by Santo Dumont from Monte Carlo. S.S. Grecian, bound from St. John's to Halifax, went ashore at Sandwich Point, a few miles from her destination.

Eloquent Address.

Rev. R. J. Power at Wesley Church. A large congregation listened with rapt attention to Rev. R. J. Power, M. A., Minister of St. Andrew's Church, who occupied the pulpit at Wesley Church last night. Taking for his text St. Paul's words to Timothy, IV chap. 12 verse, and for his subject, "Real Christianity for Young Men," the reverend gentleman preached a most eloquent and instructive sermon, one which left a lasting impression on all those privileged to hear it. The young men of to-day will be the leaders of the church to-morrow, and it was fitting that they now equip themselves for the battle which will be called upon to fight. Real Christianity is the key word of the hour. In concluding the preacher exhorted all to follow closely the examples given in Holy Writ of the young men who were the real leaders of the church, whether in old or new testament times. Space does not permit a more extensive report of this sermon. All we can say is that it is highly appreciated, and that Dr. Power will always receive a hearty welcome from Wesley congregation.

Mr. Morgan's Resignation.

With reference to our report concerning the resignation of Mr. R. C. Morgan from his position as Chairman of the Railway Management Committee, the Telegram now understands that Mr. Morgan severed his connection with the Reid Newfoundland Company on February 7th. Whether Mr. Morgan will leave the country shortly or not, cannot be learned at present.

Messrs. Wallace, Jardine and Hickey will be heard at their best at "Billed," 14th, 15th, 16th and 17th.—Feb 13, 11

Express Storm Bound.

The express which left Port aux Basques on Saturday has been storm bound since yesterday at the Gaff Topsails and is not expected to arrive here until to-morrow night or late afternoon. Heavy gales have been raging with snow and the express was unable to proceed. The passengers must be having a very unpleasant time, and in the meantime, no mail has reached the city for over a week.

The Mount Cashel Boys will dance between the acts at "Billed," Reserve Seat Tickets at the Royal Stationery.—Feb 13, 11

Nfld. Poultry Association.

The Newfoundland Poultry Association at their meeting to-night will discuss the matter of a model poultry house—plans especially drawn up by the Association's Architect, W. D. McCarter, Esq., of McCarter & Clayton, Royal Bank Building, to suit the requirements of a Newfoundland climate. It is hoped to distribute the blueprints to those requiring the same after the Association approves of the design. They will also arrange for the distribution of hatching eggs this spring and try and finalize a local egg laying contest amongst the various breeds and publish the records for the public benefit. Mr. A. J. Bayly of the Department of Agriculture will also address the meeting.

Police Assaulted.

CIVILIANS ATTEMPT RESCUE—CONSTABLES COAT AND CAP TORN.

Two men were charged before Judge Morris this morning with being drunk and disorderly tearing the great coat and cap of a Constable, and putting him in the face. There was another charge of breaking a window. Mr. W. J. Higgins, for the accused, pleaded not guilty. Constable Trickett said that he and Constable Pike were called to a shop on Bond Street yesterday afternoon where they found the accused and one other man, had broken a window. They arrested them and put them on a slide. One of the accused made his escape so the police handcuffed the other two together and proceeded to drive them to the Station. Near Gover Street a civilian caught the reins and the police knocked him clear. Near Prescott Street one of the accused got his leg through the slide, and a mob tried to rescue him. They got the horse and slide but could not get the prisoners. Attempts to obtain the keys of the handcuffs from witnesses resulted in his coat being torn. A civilian tore Pike's cap from his head. Mr. Higgins subjected witnesses to a severe cross examination. Constable Pike said that outsiders, and not the prisoners, had torn their clothes. Cross examined, he would not swear that he had not told anyone that he gave the defendants a few jabs. Mr. Higgins said the accused had not assaulted the police. They pleaded guilty to breaking the window and being drunk. Fines of $10 or $20 days and $5 or 20 days were imposed.

Rosalind's Passengers.

S.S. Rosalind, Capt. Mitchell, arrived in port at 11 a.m. after a splendid passage from Halifax. The ship brought the following passengers:—Wm. McIntosh, Wm. Costello, Leonard Taylor, Arthur Ebsary, Audrey Butler, Daniel Fitzgerald, A. S. Butler, Walter Guantrell, Hon. S. K. Bell, Mrs. Bell, J. L. Kenny, Stephen Howard, Chas. H. Shaw, Alex. S. Green, John J. Fowler. The Rosalind will get away again on Tuesday night or Wednesday morning.

Digby's Outward Passengers.

S.S. Digby sails at daylight to-morrow for Liverpool taking a large freight and the following passengers:—Hon. F. H. and Mrs. Steer, R. B. Dicks, Miss E. Dicks, R. Medlock, Miss E. Medlock, Miss S. Barr, George Hall, M. S. Sullivan, E. J. Brown, J. M. Brown, J. W. Hiscock.

Not Up-to-Date.

The foreign cream country mail, it is stated, should have arrived here by the S.S. Sable I, but unfortunately the Post Office authorities were not wide awake enough to avail of the opportunity and consequently the mail will be two or three days delayed. It is known that before the Kyle left Leith on Saturday last at the time of the sailing of the Sable I, the offer of his service was made to the P.M.G. but he refused to avail of it.

Big Fish Cargo.

S.S. Older sailed at daylight this morning for the Mediterranean, taking the following fish cargo:—For Alicante—111 packages containing 3777 qts. and 50 barrels caplin; For Malaga—1253 packages, containing 21978 qts.; For Greece—1872 pkgs., containing 18,072 qts. also 347 crates and 58 barrels of salmon. The total codfish cargo amounted to 24,048 1/2 qts.

Personal.

His many friends will be glad to learn that Hon. H. J. Brownrigg has improved in health sufficient to enable him to resume his duties at the Finance Department of the Custom House. Amongst the passengers by the S.S. Rosalind is Mr. A. S. Butler, wealthy English alman. He is accompanied by his Secretary, and arrived from Halifax on business.

Shipping Notes.

S.S. Maple Dawn left Trepassay at 10 a.m., and is due at 4 p.m. this evening. S.S. Sable I passed the Cape at 7.30 and arrived in port early this afternoon. S.S. Sisto chartered by the Union Trading Co., to load fish for the Mediterranean is due here since last Thursday with a part cargo of coal. The ship is expected to make port this evening as the ice barrier has moved off.

St. Bon's Alumni Meets.

A meeting of the St. Bon's Alumni Club was held yesterday at the College Rooms. Sir M. P. Cashel occupied the chair. After the regular business had been disposed of, and votes of thanks passed to the retiring Brother Superior and a welcome extended to the new President, it was decided to ask a popular clergyman to deliver a lecture to the Association at an early date.

Old Offender Discharged.

An old offender who has appeared so many times in the Police Court on charges of drunkenness that he recalls the Punch cartoon of the man arrested for the 100th time, asking at the Police Station if there were any letters, again appeared before Judge Morris to-day. He asked for another chance, although he had been released only three days previously. His request was granted.

Weather and Ice Conditions.

Old-Time Champions.

Much interest is being taken in the championship ice racing meet which takes place on Tuesday next. The draw for men of 40 years and over should draw out some of the old time champions. Twenty-two years ago, Feb. 20th an interesting race took place at the Parade Rink, when Mr. George Marshall won the three mile championship in 12 minutes and 15 seconds. The contestants included such skaters as Fred McCarthy, A. Chislett, F. Woods, A. Farrell. On March 9th a championship race between P. Chislett and Marshall took place at the Prince's Rink. Both contestants finished together, and as there was no special judges Drs. Harwood and Rendell, the timekeepers, decided it as a draw, and the prize of $25.00 was divided. Time for the 3 mile race was 10 minutes and 35 seconds. The 1922 race was held at the Parade Rink on March 20th, Marshall won by about 7 feet. Time 10 minutes, 58 seconds.

Commercial Travellers Appreciate Telegram.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—The Executive of the Commercial Travellers Association feel that it would be pleasing in a most ungracious manner towards you if we allowed that splendid and totally unsolicited article which appeared in your Editorial of the 10th under the heading "A Friendly Association" to pass without a word of thanks to your good self for the boost which you then gave to the Association known as the C.T.A.N. One of the Executive had the least thought that you were going to hunt such a "blow-out" in our favor, and when it came to us as a "thunderbolt" we by the genuineness of same and reading between the lines, the lucid setting of the possibilities of our Association and the consciousness and length of your article, a whole column, the possible ravages of the "bolt" were entirely eliminated by your facile and logical pen. We hasten to assure you that our Executive, speaking for the whole Association (over 100 members) repeats that it was greatly appreciated by every member of the C.T.A.N., and that you can add another 100 names to your friendship list. Again we thank you and remain, Yours sincerely,
THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS OF NEWFOUNDLAND.
A. E. Chown,
Secy-Treas.

P.S.—The Board of Trade as a recognition of the C.T.A.N., has actually appointed the President to be one of the councillors of that institution.

Square Riggegrs vs. Fore-and-Afters.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—I notice in your issue of yesterday that a radio message has been received saying that the Barquentine "Carina" has been reported dismasted (I presume this means dismasted) in mid-ocean, but the captain did not need assistance. The "Carina" was built at Gosport, England, in 1877 and is a 255 tons register, and the old oak still holds true.
"British oak are our ships."
"Starts of oak are our men."
The captain and crew of the "Carina" are evidently quite contented to rig fore-masts and bring their ship to a safe haven as they know they have a sturdy hull under them.
This ship is 45 years old, but it might interest those who do not know the difference to know that the insurance rate on the "Carina" is little more than half of what it is on most of our "fore and aft" rigged vessels, many of them built a few years ago; fore-masts are unnecessary, and which is the safest class of ship in the world as the whole mercantile world agrees that the Marine Underwriters in London are generally considered to know their business.
I am not a seaman but have known the Newfoundland coast and the North Atlantic in various kinds of vessels and I have heard my forefathers and all came from a long line of Devon and Dorset seamen, many 35 years ago that fore and afters were mostly floating hulks, which has been proven by so many losses, but fortunately the fore-masts have been taken out of them before they went down in a watery grave.
Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours faithfully,
A SAILOR'S SON.
Feb. 11, 1922.

Concert on Diepy.

On her last trip to this port an extraordinary concert was arranged on S.S. Diepy by Mr. Eddie McGinley, who has secured an engagement with the Star Music Company. Mr. McGinley is an amusing vaudeville entertainer and was assisted by Messrs. Prichard and Whiteford of the ship. The concert was very original "turns," and selection was taken up in aid of the Liverpool Sallor's Widows and Orphan Fund and a substantial sum was realized.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

GETTING BUSY.

DELFEST, Feb. 13.
Colonel Spender, Secretary to the Ulster Cabinet, issued, last night, the following statement: "Late to-night Sir James Craig received a telegram from the British Government saying that large additional military forces are available for Ulster. This will ensure that Mansfield and other important centres will be amply provided for. The message was more reassuring on the general situation, and shows that the British Government fully realizes the gravity of the present state of affairs, and are taking strong steps."

FERRIBLY TRAGIC.

COLUMBUS, Miss., Feb. 13.
More than three hundred students of Mississippi College, for women here, are suffering from ptomaine poisoning, as a result of eating chicken salad, which was served at the evening meal at the college last night. All were declared out of danger but a large number were seriously ill.

WOMEN POLICE MUST GO.

LONDON, Feb. 13.
"London's women police are not a necessity, and are too costly to maintain as a luxury," Sir William Howard, Commissioner of the Metropolitan Police has found, and as a result women patrols will be disbanded at the earliest possible moment, according to the Daily Mail. London has one hundred policewomen, and their maintenance costs fifty thousand pounds sterling.

OPERATIVES ON STRIKE.

BOSTON, Feb. 12.
Organized operatives in cotton mills in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, employing about 2,000 hands, will go on strike to-morrow as a protest against 20 per cent. wage reduction. About 5,000 textile workers in Rhode Island have been on strike for three weeks in protest against wage cuts. Reductions, effective to-morrow, will cut the wages of nearly 50,000 operatives in the four New England States.

STEAMERS HELD UP.

HONG KONG, Feb. 12.
One hundred and seventy steamers were tied up over the week-end through a seaman's strike. Ocean traffic is partially paralyzed, while the Vancouver steamer traffic is at a standstill.

PROGRAMME POSTPONED.

BOMBAY, Feb. 12.
Ghandi, leader of the non-co-operationists, has decided to postpone his civil disobedience programme for a fortnight, on account of recent trouble at Chauri, in which 17 native policemen were killed.

ULSTER STEADFAST.

DELFEST, Feb. 12.
In a statement, to-night, Premier Craig said he has called on the British Government to secure the release of captured Loyalists, and to take measures to prevent further Sinn Féin raids across the Ulster boundary. He also asked that the British Government refuse to proceed with legislation, dealing with Ireland and the Treaty, until these Loyalists are released, and until the British Government agrees that Ulster must be consulted as to her boundary, and he added that if this did not work, Ulster had other resources to bring into play.

NO PART OF BRITISH EMPIRE.

DUBLIN, Feb. 12.
Introduced by Count Plunkett, as President of the Irish Republic, Eamonn De Valera to-day opened his campaign against the Provisional Government of the Irish Free State, with a great demonstration in O'Connell Street. Six resolutions were proposed during the meeting, outlining the attitude of the Republicans, and stating that the British Crown is an alien crown, and that Ireland is no part of the British Empire; that the Treaty was obtained under duress, and that Dail Eireann is not competent to give it legal sanction. Valera said articles of the Treaty bound the Irish people to exchange their Republic for a monarchy, and asked if the people wanted as their monarch, King George of England, to which there were cries of "No! No!" Ireland, he said, was to be broken up into two warring states in order that England, which was supposed to evacuate the country might have had the Northern country to use. His own policy, he said, was to allow parts of Ulster, which by plebiscite or District Council votes, asked for it, to have authority for a subordinate parliament. The resolutions were all adopted with apparent opposition.

ACUTELY DANGEROUS.

LONDON, Feb. 12.
The situation in Ireland, which seemed to be improving under the apparent efforts of Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins to obtain the release of kidnapped Ulster men, has become acutely dangerous as a result of the Clones affray on Saturday. The Times Dublin correspondent says dismay followed news of the clash, in which four special Ulster constabulary were killed, eight wounded and six made prisoners, and the leader of Sinn Féiners, Malcom Fitzpatrick, shot dead. The Provisional Government was highly perturbed as this affray dashed the high hopes based upon its amnesty proclamation, and the British decision to release all prisoners held for offences committed in England, from Irish political motives, prior to the truce in Ireland. Developments are awaited with the utmost anxiety.

Regarding the kidnapped Ulster men, the Times Dublin correspondent reiterates that the Provisional Government is doing its utmost to procure their release, but says it seems to have met with flat defiance from the Irish Republican Army in County Monaghan, which will only agree to exchange these Unionists for football players in Derry. The Morning Post's correspondent, while declaring that Griffith and Collins "mean well and if they got the chance would do well," says their difficulties are overcoming them, and that they are steadily losing ground to the Republicans. He adds "Irish public opinion, always unstable, has decided that De Valerites are on top, and already is making up its mind to be on the winning side."

LONDON, Feb. 13.

The London Times this morning says it is expected, on the return of the weekly despatch from the Washington Conference, that steps will be taken to clear the mystery which still surrounds the misleading quotation "from the article of Captain Casted, by Lord Lee at Washington quoted Captain Casted, French writer as having in an article supported the German theory of submarine warfare. It seems to be felt, and not without reason," says the Times. "That Lord Lee's action on this occasion, and his subsequent failure to make adequate apology, when his error was pointed out, form the only blot on the excellent record of the British delegation at the Washington Conference." The newspaper adds that the good faith of Lord Lee is not questioned, but that it is felt that some public explanation of his error, or some public apology should be made to "efface the unfortunate impression produced in France and England."

Consumption Increases.

It will be noticed by figures from the Oporto market that the weekly consumption has gone to 3,100 quintals, an increase of nearly 100 per cent over the previous week. True, there are about 50,000 quintals ashore there, and nearly 20,000 afloat. We look for a speedy reduction of this, as it is the time of the year when consumption starts in to reach its maximum.

Unlike other seasons, there is very little fish here now to go forward suitable for the Portuguese market, and a realization of the fact must influence the buyers at Oporto to secure their requirements for Lent, otherwise they will be unable to do so in a month's time. Under these circumstances, we should not be surprised to see a sharp advance in the price of shore fish before the spring is ended, if scarcely an article is to be taken as an index.

Deducting the West India fish from the stocks now held in St. John's, we do not think it would be possible to get more than ten ordinary schooner cargoes to fill the exporting time between now and the middle of May. Rarely has the prospect looked better for the coming season's fishery, at this time of year.—Trade Review.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, Feb. 13.
St. Valentine's Day—to-morrow—is a suitable day to make your lady friend a little gift in the way of a box of Candy; and a visit to our store will give you the opportunity to choose something in that way that will be doubly acceptable—for the sake of the donor and for the gift itself. We have some very nice boxes of Moir's Chocolates, a universal favorite, and a good line of Page and Shaw's Candy, a candy which is held in great respect by the discriminating. Make her happy by a gift of Candy; we can help you to choose something nice.

Gorgeous Ceremonials.

NO DOUBT OF INDIA'S LOYALTY.

London, (By Canadian Press)—India is the land of ceremonial observances, says a special correspondent of the London Times with H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. When the Prince has gone through the formal remission of tribute, you must imagine some long, high-ceilinged, stately hall, superbly carpeted in cloth of gold or richly carved, at one end of which, on splendid chairs of state, the Prince and the Maharaja are seated on a dais of cloth of gold. Down the two sides of the room run lines of chairs on which sit, on the left hand the lesser chieftains, and on the right hand the chiefs and high officers of the State, whatever it is, in robes which shimmer with jewels and embroidery, and on the right hand the members of the Prince's suite. Then, one by one, up the centre between the two lines of chairs they come—minor chiefs, sirdars, talquars—bowing low as they reach the golden carpet, each bearing in a folded napkin a single offering as symbol of the tribute. Three times as they advance they bow deeply, each time with the curious triple salute, lifting their two hands palms upward to their bowed foreheads. Approaching the Prince, they hold the napkin out to him and he lays his hand upon it. Bowing deeper they back away, again with the triple salute, three times repeated, each salutation acknowledged by the Prince, till they have bowed themselves back to the edge of the gold carpet to make way for another. In the silence, amid the rich surroundings, it was always curiously impressive, the bearers of the tribute being generally old men, grey, splendidly dressed, and the Prince looking wonderfully young, but doing his part gracefully and with a certain shyness.

DOING HOMAGE.

Then, at many places officers of Indian troops have been presented to him—magnificent-looking fellows, handsome, tall, grandly built, soldiers every inch. As they come forward or as he approaches them, each officer loosens his sword in its scabbard and thrusts it forward that the Prince may touch the hilt. They salute with a sweeping smartness. The Prince is always quick to read the meaning of the medals on their breasts and generally has some few sentences of talk about their wars and shakes hands with each. As an instance of how much the handsake of the Prince means, the Times correspondent says that one veteran with medals of the frontier wars of half a century on his tunic, who had just been presented to His Royal Highness, glowed with pride as he held his right hand and remarked: "He shook my hand, Sahib, this (the Right) hand. If my father could but have lived to know of his son's honor!" The correspondent concludes: "In spite of the sedition and disloyalty which are a part of all the efforts of non-cooperators, it is the homage of India (it is absurd to say that it is all merely formal and does not arise from the hearts of the people) to the son of the King—Emperor that almost more than any other single impression will remain fixed on one's mind. Reverence for Kingship is a fixed and ingrained habit. Long after India has become a self-governing Dominion, whether the road thereto be long or short, rough or smooth, devotion to the Throne and the Royal House will remain deep-seated in the hearts of the people. Only the grossest misgovernment on our part can ever quench it."

Squid Used as Food.

Necessity forced people during the war to eat food substitutes that few normal humans had ever previously tasted. Included in this forced dietary was squid. Up to the war years, only the Chinese and some other orientals had been in the habit of eating squid. Being of the genus devil-fish with its repulsive tentacles, the idea of eating squid was abhorrent to most people of European descent. All this is now changed and to-day properly cured and properly cooked squid are esteemed as a delicacy.

"In Portland, Oregon," says The Listening Post, "squid are in great favor and twenty cents a pound is the usual price. Several tons are disposed of each week. The prejudice that formerly existed against them is everywhere disappearing and the squid is taking its place in the list of food fishes all over America."

Considering the annual abundance of squid in Newfoundland waters from August till October, every year there should be great possibilities in the industry of catching, curing, and exporting squid.—Trade Review.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

ABOUT SISTERS AND BROTHERS.

"Sometime I don't know what to make of my children," the mother of five said to me ruefully the other day. "They do and say such queer things. The thing that bothers me most is the way Richard and Jane fight. They seem to positively hate each other. It seems to me the most awful thing for a brother and sister to feel that way."

"She seemed to think her case was unique. I suspect that many, many mothers who read this column could rise up and tell her that it is not.

Within a few days I have seen two such cases of uncongeniality—both by the way, between older brothers and a younger sister.

He Was Painfully Sheered.

In one case I said jestingly to the mother of three girls and a boy: "Mrs. R. has three boys and a girl, you had better trade with her." Whereupon the elder brother who had overheard me spoke up, "Give her Ann," he said with an obvious sincerity that was rather appalling.

In the other case the mother told me that the brother teased his sister so that she felt sure the child really hated him.

Of course all these cases may have been, and probably were, simply temporary phases. After the worst of the teasing stage is past, the brother and sister may become very fond of each other again. That often happens.

But there are cases in which two children in the same family are uncongenial at the beginning and remain uncongenial to the end. Such cases are unfortunate, of course; but what will you do?

Not Necessarily to Blame.

There is nothing abnormal about them, nothing necessarily to the discredit of either child. These antagonisms of temperament occur every day and it is unfortunate, but not strange, that they should sometimes occur among brothers and sisters.

Think the matter over. Perhaps all the traits you enjoy least in your husband have gone into one child and all the traits he enjoys least in you have gone into another. Is it strange that the two personalities thus made up should not jibe?

But what is one going to do about it when this happens in one's family? Nothing.

Don't Force Them on Each Other.

No, on second thoughts I don't mean that. One cannot do anything to radically change the natural uncongeniality. That is inevitable. But what one can do is to let them keep apart as much as they possibly can; do everything in one's power to teach them the self-control that keeps harmony even where there is not congeniality; and lastly, do what one can to help each child understand the other, and to be insofar as in you lies, a just judge in the disputes that will inevitably come up between them.

It appalls me sometimes when I think of the wisdom a woman needs to be a really wise and impartial mother-judge. What Lincoln once said always comes to my mind in this connection (I quote from memory and under correction):

"Many times I am driven to my knees by the feeling that I have no place else to go."

Harbor Grace Notes.

It is with much regret that we learned the sad news on Thursday that Miss Johanna McCormick, daughter of Mrs. Frank McCormick of Bristol's Hope, had passed away at the General Hospital, St. John's, where she had gone for treatment. Miss McCormick had been ailing but a short time, and on Tuesday went over to the city to undergo an operation at the above institution for appendicitis, which sad to say, did not prove successful. The body will be brought here for interment. Our condolence is offered to the sorrowing family.

Quite a number of our unemployed have received tickets necessary for work on Bell Island, and are now waiting the arrival of a steamer to convey them to the Island. It appears that the dissatisfaction over the matter of half time among the men has been settled to some extent, and we trust they will not be held up here owing to unfavorable weather.

The train which had been tied up since Wednesday, arrived yesterday afternoon, after a short stay at Carbonear, passed through again for St. John's. Near the Look Out quite a time was spent shovelling the snow banks and making a cut during Wednesday and Thursday. We hope that the snow squalls for this winter are over, and as the season is so far advanced we believe there are not many more due us.

A good many of our townspeople had the pleasure of seeing the aeroplane flying over the town yesterday, and many were disappointed at not being so fortunate. This is quite an odd spectacle, and we hope to see the plane call again soon. Such a visitor is a rare thing at this time of the year—and in fact, at any time, although it is not so long since the "Handley Page" was here in our midst.—COR. Hr. Grace, Feb. 11, 1922.

W. C. T. U.

The annual meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held on Thursday afternoon in Gower St. Church Parlour. Letters from Mrs. Howland and Miss Anna Gordon, were read by Mrs. Benedict. After discussion of plans for future work, the following officers were elected for the coming year.

President—Mrs. E. G. Hunter.
1st Vice President—Mrs. D. Johnston.
2nd Vice President—Mrs. J. Clouston.
Rec. Secretary—Mrs. Benedict.
Treasurer—Mrs. Thompson.
Arrangements were made for a treat at the Poor Asylum on the 21st. Members are asked to send donations to the Poor Asylum care W.C.T.U. SECRETARY.

MAJOR COTTON'S OFFER.

Major Cotton offers free of charge 3 flights in his magnificent Martinside Aeroplane, to the 3 gentlemen bidding the highest price at the grand Auction on Wednesday night commencing at 8 o'clock. Major Cotton has the sincere thanks of the Curling Association for his courtesy as one who has played his part in the great war, he has already made a name for himself in Newfoundland and the Curlers appreciate his offer all the more. Who will be the 3 lucky persons to have this most unusual trip? Whoever they are, they will always remember that the trip was undertaken in remembrance of those gallant warriors that lie in Flanders Fields, in the North Sea and other parts. Well played Major Cotton. "Be up and don't be short."

Vaudeville Comedian Goes Over Big.

EDDIE MCGINLEY OPENS ENGAGEMENT AT CRESCENT.

Mr. Eddie McGinley, famous vaudeville comedian direct from Loews Circuit, Boston, arrived by the Digby on Friday night, and opened an engagement at the Crescent Theatre on Saturday. "Eddie" was given a tremendous ovation and caused convulsions of laughter from the audience. He appeared in original laughing blackface satire. His sketch being a complete vaudeville entertainment in itself, consisting of well selected songs, followed by a bright monologue and catchy steps. His parody on "I Got A Girl in Mobile" adapted to St. John's was an instantaneous hit calling for a rousing applause, to which he was compelled to respond to repeated enclosures. As advertised elsewhere in this issue Eddie will appear to-night in a complete change of programme, singing popular and novelty songs, telling funny stories which build up his laughs as he goes along. Eddie McGinley is also a well known and popular baseball player, and manager and catcher of the Providence, R.I. Independents, and last season developed Jack Cooney the Providence Southpaw, who summured with the Boston Braves to the pitching peak. Eddie has some wonderful baseball recitations and monologues in store for patrons of the popular Crescent.

Obituary.

Level the Gulches.

Shelter sheds are now being erected at Signal Hill and on the Southside for the accommodation of those who will be employed at stone breaking. A large number of men are still engaged snow shovelling in the city, principally in the back streets. It is stated that this work so far has cost over $20,000. Some very useful work would be accomplished if some of the gangs of men were sent to work levelling the gulches on New Dover and Duckworth Street. The accident to cabman Baker was caused by his being thrown from his sleigh whilst crossing a gulch.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

On Saturday the eve of the Golden Anniversary of his wedding, Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., was presented with a handsome silver service and salver by the officials of the Custom House, the presentation taking place in the Long-room in the presence of the whole staff. Mr. LeMessurier being called from his office, the following address was read by Mr. John Fox:—

To H. W. LeMessurier, Esq., C.M.G., Deputy Minister of Customs.

Dear Mr. LeMessurier.—On this 50th anniversary of your wedding, we, the staff of the Customs Department at St. John's, take occasion to extend to you and Mrs. LeMessurier our hearty congratulations and to offer you our best wishes, that you may be spared for many years to enjoy each other's society in the evening of life. We feel sure that both of you must find special cause for rejoicing to-day in the fact that your two sons and two daughters are able to join in the chorus of good wishes being extended to you from every quarter, and that, though great distances separate you from some of them, they are with you in spirit. We feel that it is a source of additional pleasure to you to know that for the past quarter of a century during which you have filled your present position, your services therein have won you merited recognition from the authorities at home and abroad, and that you have contributed in no small degree to the efficiency of the Department in the administration of which you share so largely, while it is equally a pleasure to us to testify to the uniform cordiality and good fellowship in the relations that have existed between you and us during the period we have been connected with the Public Service. As a token of our esteem and good-will for you we ask your acceptance of the accompanying silver service, and we renew the expression of our hope that you and your estimable wife may be blessed with many years of companionship.

On behalf of the staff:—John F. Fox, W. R. Sterling, T. P. Jackman, R. T. McGrath, A. B. LeMessurier, T. R. McGrath, H. J. Watts, J. H. Dee, M. J. Kelly.

Mr. LeMessurier in a brief speech thanked the staff for their good wishes and the beautiful gift, which he prized not so much for its intrinsic worth as for the spirit and kind thought that prompted the gifters. In eulogizing the work of the staff on the harmonious running of the Department Mr. LeMessurier said it was due to the spirit of good will and co-operation that pervaded the place. In conclusion he again thanked all most heartily for their very kind remembrance and thoughts contained therein. Cheers were then given for Mr. and Mrs. LeMessurier, and the proceedings ended with "For he's a jolly good fellow."

To-Morrow Night's Play

On to-morrow night playgoers will have the privilege of seeing a first-class comedy-drama, interpreted by a class of stars, comprising if not all, then nearly all, the local talent. The play is interesting, entertaining and highly amusing, and the performers do full justice to it and themselves. Mrs. H. Outerbridge and Mrs. C. O'Brien, both such favorites excel themselves in their respective parts in "Billeted." Miss Mary Ryan, who is ready wares her laurels as one of our leading singers, now bids fair to add fresh ones by her rendition of "Betty Taradine." Miss K. Fraser makes a charming "Penelope," while Miss Maddie Kavanagh, who charmed and delighted all by her "Phoebe" in the "Quaker Girl," makes a most coquettish "Rose."

The male characters are sustained by Messrs. King, Trappell, Grace and Dewling, all first-class favorites. The popular trio, Messrs. Wallace, Jardine and Hickey, assisted by a squad of Mt. Cashel dancers between the acts, that will greatly enhance their reputations. Mrs. King's beautiful voice will be heard in some of our favorites, we heretofore, and the artistic ability is so well known to all as to need no further assurance that to-morrow night's performance will be amongst the very best ever staged by local performers.

PROGRAMME FOR WEEK.

To-Day—Athletes and sport enthusiasts are reminded of the meeting to be held at Padre Nangle's office in the G.W.V.A. Rooms at 5 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of inaugurating a committee to organize a Winter Sports for March 2nd. Everybody welcome!

To-Morrow—The Society of United Fishermen have the honour of being the first to go "over the top" in the 3 days drive for funds for the National War Memorial. To-night at their rooms Lt.-Col. Nangle will lecture to the members and their lady friends, and the entire proceeds are devoted to the Memorial Funds.

Wednesday—Of course "all the town and his wife" are going to the Curling Rink on the holiday to see that the Curlers are up and not short in their effort to subscribe a handsome donation toward the Fund. Everything possible for the comfort and amusement of their guests is being done by President Duder and Secretary Salter.

Thursday—The boys of the Hockey League have a great surprise up their sleeve for the general public on Thursday night. The Prince's Rink has been generously placed at their disposal by Mr. Angus Reid, and the biggest sporting event of the year is promised. The program is now being finalized by the Executive of the League, and particulars will be published to-morrow.

Friday—Nothing has been suggested. It seems a pity that there should be a full of even one day in the Campaign. Who'll volunteer to fill the gap!

Saturday—Meeting of the executives of all Societies, Clubs, and various organizations of the City will be held at Lt.-Col. Nangle's office in the G. W. V. A. Building at 9.30 at night. Invitations are now being prepared.

Double Vocal Treat at the Nickel.

Miss Ruth Chase and Mr. George Dale, the popular Nickel soloists have prepared an unusual vocal treat for patrons of this theatre commencing to-night. These artists will appear as usual in operatic and popular selections and as an extra attraction for their numerous admirers will render that celebrated Soprano-Tenor duet "Passage Bird's Farewell" by Hildach. This duet is well known on the American continent as well as on the other side of the Atlantic, and the St. John's public will have the first opportunity of hearing it at their favorite theatre to-night.

To-night's photoplay bill contains a great Goldwyn picture entitled "The Concert," a splendid pictorialization of the famous play in which Leo Ditrichstein starred for several seasons with wonderful success. "The Concert" is a keen study of human nature and contains a fund of sparkling humor—its situations are genuinely laughable. It is the story of a middle-aged, temperamental musical genius and an impressionable young wife. An excellent cast interprets the play.

The "President Coaker" Enquiry.

The Commission of Enquiry into the "President Coaker" and Government salt charges made against Hon. W. F. Coaker in the House last year, will sit again this afternoon. Messrs. E. A. Bowring, J. C. Feiburn and H. R. Brooks will be examined. To-morrow the evidence of Mr. J. Sellers and Mr. W. H. Cave will be taken. The evidence will be published in due course.

Personal.

The many friends of Rev. Job Moore, sometime of Carbonara, will no doubt be pleased to hear that he is at present pastor of a Church at Byron, Illinois, having been called to there from Hanover in October last.

By their courtesy it has therefore been arranged that on Wednesday noon (flying conditions-permitting) both birdmen will circle the city, outlying suburbs, and points in Conception Bay as far as Carbonara dropping War Memorial souvenirs in the nature of 15,000 tickets, each numbered consecutively. If those finding cards will return them with their names and addresses to the Memorial Committee, G.W.V.A. Building, accompanied by a remittance of one dollar, as a subscription to the Fund, they will be given a chance to a flight. It is proposed that when the cards are returned a public draw will take place, and the three lucky ones will go aloft (if they so desire) with the gallant aviators; or they have the right of transferring the privilege to anyone they may name. Cards returned accompanied by a donation of five dollars or more will entitle the senders to five or more chances in the draw, and in addition the cards will be returned autographed by the two aviators. By this novel means, Mayor Cotton hopes to be instrumental in swelling the funds of the War Memorial Fund to a considerable extent. Doubtless the flight will attract great enthusiasm. It is understood that Father Nangle will make the flight with Major Cotton and Captain Bennett on Wednesday.

ernments there will be no hesitation on the part of the latter in giving parliamentary sanction to such an accord."

(The "Adly" mission referred to in the above despatch was headed by Adly Yeghen Pasha, former premier of Egypt. After visiting England and discussing the Egyptian situation with the British government last December, Adly returned to Egypt and resigned the premiership.)

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The government's statement outlining the basis on which it would be willing to terminate the Egyptian protectorate and recognize Egypt as a sovereign state seemingly has done nothing to remove the opposition in quarters where its proposals have been condemned. In these circles the statement is made that the new offer differs nowise in substance from the previous ones.

The Daily News terms the offer a "tepid rechauffe" and calls the declaration "a monument to the impotent timidity of a divided cabinet." The newspaper expresses strong dissatisfaction with the whole situation. The Westminster Gazette thinks the statement does not in any way support the suggestion that the government is about to abandon its so-called policy of coercion, and declares it impossible that any Egyptian nationalist will accept a proposal which gives Great Britain the right to garrison the principal towns of Egypt.

And whether the task be mighty that unto man's lot shall fall, Or one of the humbler duties, or the prize be great or small, In the court where all men are tested, shall matter not at all.

The great and the low must answer, at last when life's sands are run. Not by the gold they gathered and not by the laurels won. For the work to eternal glory is only by work well done.

And those whom the world will honor, must face it with heads erect. Must spurn all the crooked byways and keep to the path direct. For cheerful and manly service is the way to the world's respect.

Give Them the Flowers Now.

Closed eyes can't see the white roses. Cold hands can't hold them. What to hushed hearts is deep joy? Breath that is stilled cannot gather. The odors that sweet from them blow.

Death, with a peace beyond dreaming. Its children of earth doth endow; Life is the time we can help them. So give them the flowers now.

Here are the struggles and striving. Here are the cares and the tears; Now is the time to be soothing. The frowns and the furrows and fears.

What to closed eyes are kind sayings? What to hushed hearts is deep joy? Naught can avail after parting. So give them the flowers now.

Just a kind word or a greeting. Just a warm grasp or a smile—These are the flowers that will lighten. The burdens of many a mile. After the journey is over. What is the use of them, how can they carry, who must be carried? So give them the flowers now.

Blooms from happy heart's garden. Plucked in the spirit of love. Blooms that are earthly reflections. Of flowers that bloom above. Words cannot tell what a measure. Of blessing and gifts will allow. To dwell in the lives of many. Oh, give them the flowers now.

Household Notes.

Into a baking dish pour half a gingerbread mixture; cover with sliced apples partially cooked in syrup, and bake.

Milk meat toast is good. Prepare as you would ordinary milk toast, adding 1/2 cup chopped meat to the thickened milk.

When it is necessary to put up a clothesline indoors, use staples to lace it through instead of nails. It will not become dislodged.

When mixing mustard for a mustard plaster, use tepid water, as hot water destroys the medicinal properties of mustard.

Never wash black stockings in the water in which white flannels have been washed, or they will come out covered with white stuff.

If a hook and eye are sewn at the bottom of a placket and then hammered flat, the skirt opening cannot be ripped further down.

A nutritious soup, such as oatmeal tomato soup, vegetable soup or potato soup, served with crackers makes an excellent luncheon.

For a delicious fruit cocktail arrange sections of grapefruit and oranges in a circle and place a mound of powdered sugar in the center.

To make a simple bread pudding, line the bottom of a pie dish with some pieces of bread, spread first with a little butter, then with either lemon or orange marmalade. Beat up 2 eggs and add 1 pint of milk. Pour this over bread, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate oven until a rich brown.

The Flour Proposition.

Newfoundland is importing an average of 450,000 barrels of flour per annum. In other words approximately the flour from 2,250,000 bushels of wheat. It is the intention of those behind the proposed flour mill to start operations with an initial capacity of 300,000 barrels per year and increase as conditions warrant. To do this will require 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, and to guarantee success the closest working arrangements possible must be had with the source of supply. The grain for the Newfoundland mill will be supplied by one of the largest grain handling firms in Canada, and this will obviate the necessity of going on the Grain Exchange for a small purchase which would find a small firm at the mercy of the large buyers.

Within the past few weeks flour has been selling F.O.B. Montreal at $8.00 per barrel, which for some time had been quoted at $1.00 a bushel, Fort William. Taking these figures as a basis the following will give a rough estimate of what can be done by a mill in Newfoundland:—
1,500,000 bushels wheat, Fort William . . . . . $1,500,000
Freight and Insurance . . . 500,000
Milling . . . . . 150,000
Barrels, bags, etc. . . . . 250,000
Office expense . . . . . 15,000
Interest on plant investment $500,000 @ 7% . . . . . 35,000
Annual sinking fund . . . . . 50,000
Insurance on plant . . . . . 10,000

Cost of operation, including raw material . . . . . 2,460,000
Estimated by-products, bran, shorts, etc. . . . . 600,000

1,860,000
Output 300,000 barrels at an approximate cost per barrel, $6.25. Difference between $8.00 F.O.B. Montreal and $6.25 F.O.B. Shoal Harbour means saving to people of Newfoundland.

These figures are not at all conservative, as for instance the item of $5,000,000 for freight and insurance is based on last year's rates, and with the many idle bottoms will be greatly reduced next season. Estimates of milling and cost of containers are made upon Canadian costs, and while it may not be good business to go below Canadian rate of wages, labour costs will not be any higher.

So far we have only dealt with the wheat end of the milling industry. Newfoundland also offers a wide field of activity in oat products. In 1919-21 there was brought into the country roughly speaking 600,000 bushels of oats in the forms of oatmeal, rolled oats, and feed oats.

Within the past few weeks four bushel sacks of oats have been selling for more than $1.00 a bushel, and in some sacks examined the contents have been an insult to a self-respecting horse. At the present price the producers are getting for milling oats the people of Newfoundland are paying 40% more than a reasonable profit to all concerned would warrant. In addition to this the food value of crushed oats is said to be 30% more than whole oats. The many benefits that would accrue to the consumers of Newfoundland as a result of the introduction of a flour mill, are not hard to see. It will be a boon to the merchant as well as the ultimate purchaser for what is for the benefit of one is for the good of all. What is required is simply an independent patriotic spirit on the part of all.—P.

Poultry Store. It jars me if a clerk turns loose a loud impassioned roar. He may be right—this much I feel—in putting up his howl; but I'm not there to hear his spout; I'm there to buy a fowl. I hire a man to build a fence, and he declaims all day; his arguments are full of sense, and range from grave to gay. He's posted on affairs of state, he knows his ins and outs, he seems to have his logic straight, and hour by hour he spouts. But he is hired to build a fence, and though he sheds new light upon the whiteness of the whence, I fire that windy night. The gifted orators abound, they're keen to show their curves, they all the air with strident sound that gets upon our nerves. Wherever human beings meet, in alleys or in parks, there's sure to be some tiresome beat who'd make a few remarks. I'm fond of eloquence, I say, as much as any bo; I'm glad to list to William J., or J. H. Cicero. But there's a time for sounding brass and tinkling tambourines, and there's a time for mowing grass and threshing stringless beans.

Men With Tails.

Do men with tails exist in unexplored parts of the world? A celebrated scientist, Dr. Lumholtz, returned recently from Borneo, where he found several members of savage tribes with stumps of tails. "These people," he said, "are, evidently the outcome of marriage with a completely tailed race."

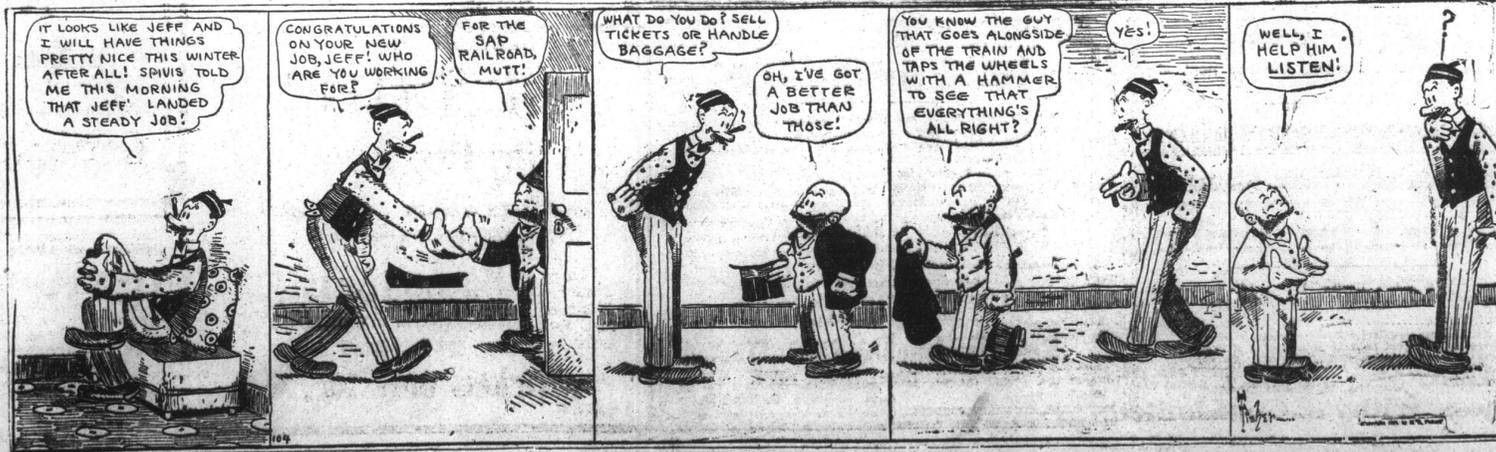

The professor believes that tailed men do not belong to any of the known human races. They are described as having tails from twelve to eighteen inches long, while their bodies are covered with fur. They like in the thickest parts of the jungle and are good potters and weavers; they are also masters of the art of making deadly poisons for use in war.
