Served with a silver spoon

A new Canadian process, preserves the very best elements of the very best Canadian wheat.

The result is Orange Meat—the essence of a perfect, sustaining food.

It requires no cooking—every particle is perfectly digestible. It is supplied in germ-proof packages, and may be served hot or cold.

Each 15c. package contains a coupon. Your grocer will tell you what they mean—heavy silver-plated table service—made by the same manufacturer, of the same material and in the same manner as the silverware on most of your tables now.

Poetry.

The Busy Child.

(Josephine Preston Peabody.)
I have so many things to do,
I don't know when I shall be through.
Today I had to watch the rain
Some sliding down the window pane;
And I was humming all the time,
Around my head, a kind of rhyme;
And blowing softly on the glass,
To see the dimness come and pass.
I made a picture with my brush,
Rubbed out to show the underneath.
I built a city on the floor;
And then I went and was a War.
I built a house from square to square
That's grained on the carpet there.
I had at least a couple of
But it was very dangerous.
Because I had stepped outside,
I made believe I should have died!
And now I have the boat to mend,
And all our eggs to be prepared.
I have no time to play,
I haven't any time to play.

The Trouble That Happened Last Week

When the sun every morning looks down on the earth,
He is smiling, as much as to say:
"If yesterday failed you in comfort
and mirth,
You can start in brand new with to-day.
For the nights, like thick curtains, I've hung to exclude
The past from the weary and weak;
No tribes he feels, nor linger in brood
O'er the trouble that happened last week."
"There are pages of pathos and pages
of cheer
To be read in each story of life.
We'll close the old chapters and still persevere
Through love or good fortune or strife.
Though present events may provoke or
dimmy,
A solace 'tis easy to seek;
Let the hours drift away; you will soon find that they
Are troubles that happened last week."

Select Literature.

LIBBY THE UNLOVED.

Libby Anderson hung the dial-needle on its accustomed nail, and stood there surveying it. It was plain, from the way she looked, that she had determined to speak.
"Ma," she asked of the woman who was sitting before her, "what were those papers Dave put in his pocket as I came in?"
"Some things he was showing me," "Ma," she asked, quizzically, "you didn't sign anything, did you?"
"I didn't sign your name to anything," and the needles clashed again. She knew her mother too well to guess further.
"I couldn't just understand Dave coming here this time of year," she ventured; "and I thought he acted queer."
The old woman was folding her knitting.
"I'm going to bed, and you'd better come along, too," was her reply.
A week went by, and although Libby had twice forgotten to feed the chickens, and had several times let the bottle burn dry, she was beginning to feel more settled in her mind.
She did up the work one morning and went to town.
Her first call was at the solicitor, and there she heard the worst. Ma had assigned their home to Dave. She did not make any fuss, as was too old-fashioned for hysteria.
It was not until the old place came in sight that she broke down.
"It's not fair," she cried out, "when I've stayed here and worked—it's not fair!"
"And, for the first time in many years, she was crying—passionately crying.
"What was a feeling of outraged justice that made her speak, for she was just a woman—the daughter of pa."
"Ma," she said, "do you think pa would like to think of your assigning the place to Dave, when I've stayed here and kept it up the best I could for twenty years?"
The old woman put down the knitting.
"I'm now, Libby," she cried, not unkindly, "don't take on. You'll never want for nothing!"
Libby stood there looking at her.

Canadian Reciprocity.

Urges a Treaty.

(New York Commercial.)
A very effective argument for the negotiation of a new trade treaty with Canada, which is urged by its advocates, is the success that has attended the treaty that we negotiated with Cuba. During the year 1904, amounted to only about 1,500,000, while Canada's population is nearly 6,000,000. Cuba's total imports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, amounted to less than $75,000,000, whereas Canada's for the fiscal year of 1903, aggregated $240,000,000, nearly $145,000,000 in excess of Cuba's. The maintenance of a preferential tariff in favor of Great Britain and her dependencies was furnished by the United States. Cuba has been doing during the year of the State of New York or Pennsylvania, while Canada has an area greater than that of this entire republic—and a large part of that area is still undeveloped and is capable of a high degree of cultivation. Furthermore, the Canadian government is making strenuous efforts to attract immigrants to the Dominion, with the prospect that the population of that country will be heavily increased within the next decade, while it is doubtful if Cuba could maintain so forcibly a population even one-half as large as that of Canada at the present time.
And an important point is that Canada produces certain products that are in great demand in this country, and that Canada can produce to better advantage than ourselves, and on the other hand, we have better facilities and resources for producing certain things that Canada needs than the Dominion has. Nothing stands in the way of supplying these mutual needs, to the great advantage of each country, except the present high tariff that each maintains against the other. "Islands" is a harsh word to use, but it comes pretty near to describing fittingly such a policy.
It is encouraging to note that the movement to open up to this country the natural and irrational state of things natural and irrational state of things is increasing in momentum, and it is still more encouraging to observe that it is receiving the earnest consideration of President Roosevelt. The project for trade reciprocity with Canada is so clearly founded upon common sense that it is inevitably destined to triumph eventually.

An Agitation for Reciprocity.

An agitation is under way in several states seeking to have President Roosevelt call an extra session of congress next spring with a view of considering some form of reciprocity with Canada. Some of the middle States desire closer relations with Canada. In Indiana a consors manufacturing thrashing machines has arranged to build a $1,000,000 plant across the line, because the rates in circulation that a joint commission will be called into service by the Canadian and United States governments, during the coming winter, but as yet no official action has been taken so far as known.

Captain Slocum of Sloop Spray.

The Yarmouth Herald is in receipt of a very friendly letter from Capt. Joshua Slocum, of the renowned sloop Spray, who made the voyage around the world alone a few years ago. Capt. Slocum is very proud that he was born in Nova Scotia, and takes advantage of every occasion to let the public know the fact.
He and the Spray were in Salem, Mass., on the 12th inst., and a large number visited the craft and were cordially received on board.
Aboard the ship is a strap book, which is filled with letters from distinguished men, and one written in response to the receipt of the captain's book, entitled "Around the World in the Sloop Spray," will delight thousands of readers. The letter is as follows:
White House, Washington, D. C., Dec. 7, 1904.
Dear Capt. Slocum—I thank you for your interesting volume, which you know I prize.
By the way, I entirely sympathize with your feelings of delight in the sheer loneliness and vastness of the ocean. It was just my feeling in the wilderness of the west.
Sincerely yours,
Theodore Roosevelt.

Election Rumor Responsible for Three Deaths at Chatham N. S.

At the last monthly meeting of the Town Council of Chatham, Ald. Morris, of police committee, reported six cases during the last two months of the curdiness of a true American, quite different from the greeting given him by Mr. Belmont.
Capt. Slocum writes the Herald that he has been farming for the last two years on Martha's Vineyard, where he owns some acres of land and a house. He has been farming for the last two years on Martha's Vineyard, where he owns some acres of land and a house. He has been farming for the last two years on Martha's Vineyard, where he owns some acres of land and a house.
Ald. Morris said if the Scott Act had been enforced during the rest of the year it could have been done during the election. One death in particular could be directly attributed to the death of three men, and he thought it a time to enter a protest against the death of three men, and he thought it a time to enter a protest against the death of three men, and he thought it a time to enter a protest against the death of three men.

The above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.
If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of it, and without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

Facts and Theories About the Precious Metal.

Gold Productions of Nova Scotia, Canada and the World—Said to Grow on Mine Timbers.
The following from an English paper is interesting:
"It is constantly being formed in rocks and veins and places. Just what it is that the baby gold formation feeds on to effect its growth is not known; if it were, a new and wonderfully lucrative industry might be born, and all other kinds of farming save the growing of gold might be temporarily abandoned."

Rheumatism Cured.

San Francisco, Nov. 25.—The Examiner today tells the story of having practiced by students of the Hopkins institute of art in this city, which in one case, it is claimed, has resulted in a permanent cure of the youthful victim. A student named A. T. Derome was, it is said, stricken to a chair with a metal net, an imitation of the instrument used in electrocution, and an electric current was then turned on the chair. Derome's body has become paralyzed from the hips downward.

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather, both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says J. S. Sigrist, of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Rises and joints aching, muscles sore, head aching, eyes and nose running, with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and after a few days the grippe was completely knocked out of the grip." These tablets promote a healthy action of the bowels, the middle age will be, which is always beneficial when the system is congested by a cold or attack of the grippe. For sale by S. N. Wear.

The Key that Unlocks the Door to Long Living.

The men of eighty-five and ninety years of age are not the rotund, portly men of the past. They are slender, and as careful as he will, however, a man past middle age will occasionally find too much, or of some article of food not suited to his constitution, and will need a drastic Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to clean and regulate his liver and bowels. When this is done there is no reason why the average man should not live to old age. For sale by S. N. Wear.

of expectancy I had reached anxiety with many of the congregation, before they were finally relieved by the appearance of the rector, who conducted the usual services.
