SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY WILL TAKE OVER THE HOME LIFE ASSETS BY DEAL CLOSING TODAY

Negotiations Which Will Be Concluded This Morning Cover About Two Million Dollars, Including Adelaide Street Building — Policy-Holders Will Be Protected.

This afternoon a meeting will be held to complete negotiations for the absorption by the Sun Life Assurance Company, Montreal, of the assets of the Home Life Assurance Association. T. A. Macaulay, the Sun Life managing director, meets directors of the smaller company to settle a few undetermined questions. Until the negotiations are terminated and ratified officials of the companies affected refuse to give details of the financial arrangements made. It is quite likely, however, that the amount involved will reach two million dollars. John A. Tory, Ontario supervisor of the Sun Life, said last night that negotiations had been progressing for two or three weeks, but he had not been advised that they were practically completed, as The World heard yesterday. Home Life officials declared the policyholders were being fully protected in the deal.

The transaction for the Home Life is entirely independent of the Union Life Assurance Company and the National Agency Company. The three companies have the same directorate with H. Pellman Evans president of each; the only exception being that J. K. McCutcheon is managing director of the Home Life. The deal, it was declared, was entirely separate from the affairs of the Union Life, altho the two companies appeared to be interlocked.

If today's meeting successfully concludes negotiations, the Sun Life will make the Home Life building, at the northwest corner of Adelaide and Victoria streets, its Toronto headquarters. This property, opposite the postal extension site, is valued at from $450,000 to $500,000. The building will be remodelled.

DUCHESS RALLIES AFTER OPERATION

Condition Is Satisfactory, Said Last Night's Bulletin—King a Caller.

LONDON, April 30.—(C.A.P.)—The bulletin issued at Clarence House last night was as follows: "Considering the gravity of the operation the condition of her royal highness so far is satisfactory. Pulse 88. Temperature normal."

Soon after the operation the duke went to Buckingham Palace to report the condition of her royal highness to the King, and returned almost immediately about 4 o'clock. The King drove to Clarence House and remained there nearly three-quarters of an hour.

Tomorrow is the Duke of Connaught's birthday, and as colonel of the Grenadier Guards, it has long been the custom for the band of that regiment to serenade the duke at breakfast. Owing to the need of quiet for the duchess, however, this custom will be postponed.

The official bulletin at noon said:

"The operation performed on the Duchess of Connaught today was severe in character. It was carrie dout to relieve intestinal obstruction due to widespread adhesions of an inflammatory nature. The duchess is doing as well as can be expected."

Cabinet Shake-up Denied.

OTTAWA, April 29.—(Special.)—"Absolutely nothing in it." This was the comment of Premier Borden tonight on the story in Bourassa's paper, Le Devoir, that Messrs. Nantel, Roche and Cochrane would shortly resign from the cabinet.

TRADE MINISTER FOR ONTARIO SUGGESTED

Retail Merchants Will Ask the Government to Create a New Department—Dominion Labor Bureau Was Criticized as Distributing Misleading Information.

"That the executive be requested to lay before the Ontario Government the fact that there is no proper provision made whereby many important trade subjects that affect the Province of Ontario can be dealt with in a proper manner, and that they should provide a department of trade, with a minister of trade presiding over it, similar to the department of agriculture and the department of labor."

The above resolution was unanimously passed at the 14th annual convention of the Ontario Retail Merchants' Association, held in Massey Hall yesterday. It was the outcome of the declaration on the part of President Wesloh, of Berlin, that such a department in the Ontario Government was now an absolute necessity.

"There is a pronounced lack of facilities possessed by the Ontario Government in giving information on the conditions of the province," said President Wesloh. "They have a department of labor, of agriculture, of mining, and for almost every other interest. But the most important of all—the commercial interests of the province—has been overlooked and has no department at all.

"At the present time some very important rules and regulations concerning retail merchants are placed under the direction of the department of agriculture or the department of labor. The result is that we have inspectors giving us instructions who are not familiar with our work."

A Little Censure.

The Dominion Government also came in for censure in the following resolution:

"That it is the opinion of this convention that the publication issued by the department of labor, at Ottawa, giving the wholesale prices in Canada of various articles, does not in any way assist either the merchants or the general public, and that it is misleading in its intentions, and apt to leave a wrong impression in the public mind. We, therefore, ask this con-

Italy May Be Austria's Ally

LONDON THINKS ALARM NEEDLESS

Optimism Has Not Vanished From Diplomatic Circles, Despite Messages From Vienna and Berlin.

Special Cable to The World.

LONDON, April 29.—(Copyright.)—Despite the alarming messages from Vienna and Berlin optimism has not vanished from London diplomatic circles. A very high authority stated today that it is quite incorrect to say Austria had broken away from the concert of Europe. At the last meeting of the ambassadors' conference her representative was still working with the representatives of the other powers, and late tonight no official information had reached London to confirm the report that Austria had determined to act alone.

The alarming message from the Austrian capital and lack of official confirmation suggest the revival of what is known as "the heir apparent's press bureau," which has been responsible for 90 per cent. of the groundless alarms which have come from the far east during the past six months.

The situation, however, contains elements of great peril. Montenegro gives evidence of being determined, and Austria will not agree to wait much longer. It is suspected that some of the powers are not ready to support warlike measures against King Nicholas, and, besides, it is generally believed nothing serious will happen before the next meeting of the ambassadors on Thursday.

OUTBREAK MAY YET BE AVERTED

(Special Cable to The World).

LONDON, April 29.—(Copyright.)—Dr. Dillon in a Vienna dispatch to the Morning Telegraph, indicates tht unless at their meeting in London on Thursday the ambassadors of the powers reconsider their attitudes, Austria will re-assert her liberty of action, and adopt suitable measures, either in conjunction with such other powers who may be willing to aid her or alone, to evict the Montenegrins from Scutari.

Down to Mondoy Austria was resolved to continue the political line she had been pursuing theretofore, unless the inaction of the powers hould compel her to change her tack and reasume her liberty of action, whereas today she declares that her hand is free and she is accordingly busy, very busy in devising a scheme for occupying Scutari.

Little Ground for Hope.

"Those are the rugged facts of the case; the airy hope is that on Thursday, Europe, which is now in a pathological state of divided ptellect and feeling, may merge the two in some felicitous formula that can be embodied in fruitful action. Few people of critical discerment share this hope, because no reconciliation of the two opposite tendencies among the government's is possible without a compromise to which Austria, with her real and weighty interests in the Balkans, cannot and other powers yearning for prestige, will not consent.

Must Leave Town.

Special Cable to The World.

VIENNA, April 29.—(Copyright.)—It is announced from Cattaro, the Austrian frontier town near Cettinje, that the inhabitants have been informed by the military commander that they must leave the town within 48 hours. Cattaro is dominated by a formidable Montenegrin mountain fort, and is sure to be destroyed by the Montenegrin guns in the event of war.

TROOPS NOT YET OVER FRONTIER

Austrians Are, However, Reported to Have Seized Railways—Albania Is Storm-Tossed.

LONDON, April 30.—(Can. Press.)—A Gratz respatch to The Daily Mail says that the Austrian military authorities have taken possession of the railways running to the south, but that no movement of Austrian troops across the Montenegrin frontier has occurred as yet.

The Vienna correspondent of The Chronicle gives details of a plot according to which the Turco-Albanian committee at Constantinople appealed to Essad Pasha and King Nicholas to save Albania for the Koran by overturning the provisional government at Aviona. This was described as an instrument set up in the interests of the great powers.

The committee also summoned Djavid Pasha to assist Essad Pasha. The latter concluded a compact with Crown Prince Danilo, which afterwards was signed by King Nicholas. This compact provided for the sultan's sovereignty over Albania, the state which was to join the Balkan league, while Scutari and San Giovanni di Medua were to belong to Montenegro. Russia is understood to have sanctioned the scheme.

The committee designated Prince Abdul Meshid for the Albanian throne, with Essad Pasha as viceroy, but the latter proclaimed himself as king. It is rumored that Djavid Pasha has overthrown the provisional government at Aviona.

An Antivari despatch to The Express says: "Fifteen thousand troops are here and soldiers are arriving continually. Every preparation is being made to hold the town against attack. Famine prevails, however, and only the smallest supplies can be given to the starving thousands."

AUSTRIA WANTS ITALY'S SUPPORT

Majority of Powers Are Against Adopting Warlike Measures—No Definite Action Yet.

LONDON, April 29.—(Can. Press.)—Up to a late hour tonight the British foreign office had no news that Austria was actually taking separate action against Montenegro. It is understood that Austria is waiting the result of the ambassadorial conference on Thursday and employing the interval in an endeavor to induce Italy to join her in military action.

The meetings of the ambassadors in London have shown almost conclusively that a majority of the powers are not prepared to adopt warlike measures against Montenegro. It is thus practically certain that within a few days, whether Italy consents or not, Austria will despatch an ultimatum to Cettinje demanding the immediate evacuation of Scutari.

Incline to Essad Pasha.

Not another word of Essad Pasha's doings in Albania has come thru. Ismail Kemal Bey, head of provisional Albanian government, has arrived in London to enlist British support. He and other Albanians do not regard Essad Pasha's coup very seriously, but the opinion seems to be growing among diplomats here that an administration under Essad Pasha in Albania might not be such an impossible solution of a difficult problem.

It is considered that Essad Pasha, as an influential Albanian with a strong following and the prestige of a gallant defence of Scutari, might be more acceptable to Albanians than a foreign prince, and that if allowed to retain his self-chosen post he might be inclined to make territorial concessions which would compensate Montenegro for the loss of Scutari and satisfy European claims.

NO SURRENDER, SAYS KING.

LONDON, April 30.—(Can. Press.) A Vienna despatch to The Daily Telegraph says that the Austrian minister at Cettinje, visited King Nicholas Monday night, and demanded the immediate and unconditional evacuation of Scutari.

The King replied that he would never surrender the town.

The Austrian Governmen, according to the same despatch, is now engaged in drafting a manifesto to the powers, explaining its policy and aims with regard to Balkan affairs.

ESSAD PASHA HAS ARMY OF 22,000

BELGRADE, April 29.—(Can. Press.)—The newspaper Politica asserts that Essad Pasha has arrived at Tirano with 22,000 men.

HONEST AND STRAIGHTFORWARD DEALINGS OF HON. W. J. HANNA RELATED BY FOUR WITNESSES

Official Investigation of the Proudfoot Charges Opened Yesterday—Heated Arguments Between Counsel Lead to Innuendoes Being Expunged From Evidence—Letter From Harry Maisonville Caused a Disturbance.

From the lips of L. E. C. Thorne, the arbitrator in the Taylor-Scott contract under investigation by the special committee of privileges and elections, now in session at the legislature, came a vindication late last evening of the honest and straightforward dealing of Hon. W. J. Hanna in the settlement of all contracts and the conduct of all government matters germane to the charges preferred by William Proudfoot of Centre Huron. In all his acquaintanceship with the provincial secretary, dealing with the issuance of the flat in which corrupt practice had been charged and the settlement of the contractor's claim which gave rise to the whole situation, he had found nothing that was in any way derogatory to the character of the minister, either by deception, self-interest or at all subversive of the interests of the province. In his knowledge further, all proceedings had been of an honest nature and without irregularity. The history of the department as he knew it, from an inside knowledge thru years of experience, was capable and reliable.

Four Witnesses Heard.

Mr. Thorne concluded a series of four witnesses appearing in succession since the initial assembly o fthe committee at 10 a.m. and withstood close examination from both prosecuting and defending counsel.

At the opening of the session Messrs. Hartley Dewart, K.C., and W. J. Elliott appeared for William Proudfoot, who launched the charges, and later in the day these were reinforced by the services of M. K. Cowan. Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., and W. M. Ferguson, K.C., were retained by Hon. Mr. Hanna and Sir James Whitney.

The earlier part of the examination in which S. A. Armstrong, assistant provincial secretary, J. R. Cartwright, deputy attorney-general, and Warden Gilmour of the Central Prison appeared in the witness box was devoid of incident. The atmosphere of the evening, however, became charged with legal controversy, and harsh expressions sped back and forth freely. The ruling of the chairman as to the relevancy of material was again and again submitted amid excitement to the committee and each time sustained. Parts of the evidence also, which due to the persistency on the part of the accusing counsel were entered upon the records, were as rapidly expunged. At 11 o'clock adjournment until 10 o'clock today took place.

Papers Are Lost.

Mr. Dewart began the examination by asking S. A. Armstrong, assistant provincial secretary, for the contract originally made between the Taylor-Scott Company and the government. Mr. Armstrong told that it with certain relative papers was not to be found. A letter of July 9, 1907, and one later were also missing. These were from the inspector of the Central Prison to the contractors and vice-versa.

"Was there an attachment showing the five details under which the claim was made?" asked the counsel.

"No, I do not think so," was the reply.

Mr. Armstrong stated that the pa-

Annuity for Lady Scott.

LONDON, April 29.—(Can. Press.)—The British Government, according to announcement of Premier Asquith tonight, will provide an annuity of $500 for the widow of Capt. Robert F. Scott, as head of the British Antarctic expedition, who perished while returning from the south pole, in addition to her admiralty pension of $1000.

The government will also provide a joint annuity of $1500 for Capt. Scott's mother and his two sisters, and an annuity of $1500 for the widow and sister-in-law of Dr. Edward A. Wilson, chief of the scientific staff of the expedition.

THORO INQUIRY INTO MOTOR ACCIDENT

Inquest Was Opened Yesterday and No Time Will Be Lost in Placing Blame For Collision Between Street Car and Automobile—Mrs. Britnell and Miss Coad Still Very Low.

The inquiry into the street car fatality of Monday evening began yesterday when Coroner George W. Graham opened an inquest at the morgue at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. After the jurymen had been empaneled and had viewed the body of Albert E. Britnell, the coroner postponed further investigation until May 7. From inquiries made by the police it now appears that the auto crossed College street behind a westbound car, and that Harry Southby, the motorman on the eastbound car, could not have seen it in time to avoid the collision.

Coroner Graham states that a thoro investigation into the accident will be made and that the jury will be called upon to determine the blame. Harry Southby, the motorman, has been a motorman in Toronto for more than a year, and previously to coming to Toronto he had six years' experience in England.

Edward Britnell, the driver of the motor car, has made no further explanation of the accident than the statement he made on Monday evening. He is still confined to his bed in Parkdale Hospital, suffering from shock, and his physicians have given orders that under no circumstances must he be disturbed.

Albert Britnell's funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3.30 from the home of his father, 95 Summerhill avenue, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Patients Improve.

At one o'clock this morning the condition of the two women victims had changed very little. Dr. J. W. Russell and Dr. Yeo, however, reported that there was evidence of a change for the better in Mrs. A. E. Britnell's condition, and that even Miss Coad might recover. Mrs. Britnell at times has been conscious, but at no time has Miss Coad shown any signs of regaining her senses.

Joseph Coad, of 20 Hepbourne street, the young woman's father, when at the hospital yesterday was told by the physicians that there was now a faint hope of his daughter's recovery. Mrs. Coad, the mother, has been unable to stand the shock and is now ill at her home. She was anxious to see her daughter yesterday, but her condition made a visit impossible.

BOYS FIRED BARN AND ALL ESCAPED

A daring attempt to burn down a stable at the rear of 785 West Queen street was made by a number of boys at 10.50 last night.

The fire was discovered by a man who noticed the boys running away from the building, but before an alarm could be turned in it had grown into a healthy blaze. Brigades from lower Dundas, College and Portland streets and Cowan avenue responded to the alarm. The building is owned by B. Milne, and was damaged to the extent of $300. The boys all escaped.

BRILLIANT HORSE SHOW OPENING

RIOT OF COLOR AT THE OPENING

Color ran riot last night at the armories when the nineteenth Canadian National Horse Show was opened under most auspicious circumstances. Fine weather, music, brilliancy, gaily-gowned women, well-groomed men and the finest horses in the Dominion. What more could be desired by even the beautiful Queen City of Canada?

The decorations shone spic and span in their first night freshness, the billowing dome being lighted by many electric clusters suspended from its waving breadth. Groups of flags and graceful drapings of red, blue and yellow buntings were profusely in evidence. In the centre stood the neat stand of the judges. This was circled by a pretty white lattice with handsome hydrangea about it. Great potted plants topped the gates and lined the avenues to the inviting entrances.

The arrival of Sir John and Lady Gibson with their suite was heralded by a few bars of the national anthem, the spontaneous rising of the audience and the equally spontaneous elevation of a forest of tall silk hats.

The judging began early and as the beautiful horses appeared in the arena, bursts of applause greeted their fine appearance, and the good showings achieved in the different features of the program. Probably the most exciting was the hurdle competition, and as the graceful beasts essayed the white gates and bars and vaulted lightly over or perhaps baulked at the task, interest and anxiety rose to fever point among the audience. The trotting was magnificent and the splendid Clydesdales shook their decorated manes as they galloped round the ring, seemingly anxious as their masters to gain the ribbon, blue, red, yellow, or white.

The Grenadiers' band furnished the musical program and a bevy of pretty girls in white and nearly all wearing Horse Show colors waited ready to serve the guests in the pretty tearooms at the close of the performance.

Everything points to the Horse Show of 1913 being the best in the history of such exhibitions in Toronto.

GOOD JUMPERS ON FIRST NIGHT

Lack of Interest in Other Classes Causes Surprise and Disappointment Among Spectators.

The nineteenth annual Canadian National Horse Show opened at the armories last night with a very large attendance, and, judging by the enthusiasm displayed by the spectators, the success of the show is assured. Still one could not but notice that the interest among exhibitors appears to be lacking in all classes except the hunters and jumpers, as those classes seem to predominate all thru the program for the week.

Of the eight events on the program last night four were for horses under saddle, and while the performances of the hunters and jumpers are pleasing to the spectators and thoroly appreciated, there must be some cause for the lack of interest in the other classes, and the Horse Show will fail in its purpose unless these classes are better represented.

Last night's audience was a brilliant one and included many of Canada's most noted men and women. However, the society editor will take care of them in another page.

A feature of the show last night was the brilliant performances of the Sifton horses from Ottawa, ridden by Jack Hamilton, who formerly rode for Crow & Murray of this city.

The thoroobreds, Elmhurst and Cleveland, a pair of 16-hand chestnut geldings, owned by the Hon. Clifford Sifton, performed faultlessly, and the outside critics could not very well understand how the judges did not see their way clear to place Elmhurst better than third in the class for qualified hunters (middleweight), where Viscount and Marquis were placed first and second, respectively.

The thorobred hunters' class brought out no less than three King's Plate disappointments in the Hendrie castoffs, Powderman and Whaup and Toilendal, that carried the colors of the O. J. C. president. None of the three was up to much at the jumping game.

CLEANING UP

"Go to it, Horatio."

HOUSE BUILDING HAS FALLEN OFF

Alderman McBrien Declares City Must Possess Municipal Control of Cars.

"A 23-mill rate this year would not send up the rents," Ald. McBrien declared. "There is such a house famine in Toronto this year that rents have gone up as high as it is possible to get them. Builders cannot get accommodation in the banks and with the loan companies because of the tightness of the money market. As a consequence the building of dwellings has greatly fallen off this spring, and there are hundreds of families worrying over being housed.

"It is the business of the city council to see that the people are housed. We must have more territory and better transportation facilities, so that we can make it possible for people who come to the city to have homes. If we get a square deal in our negotiations for the purchase of the Toronto Railway Co. system, I'm for putting the deal thru with the least possible delay. It is a disgrace to have the city in a condition of helplessness to provide homes for the thousands of families that are flocking in this year.

"We cannot build up our manufacturing industries if we do not house the workingmen, and we cannot house the workingmen unless we municipalize the rapid transit service. The problem is serious enough this year, and it may become disastrously serious before 1921 unless we get municipal control of the street railway system."

This Is Where the Man Of Brains Steps In

JAY GOULD said he only wanted to see ten minutes ahead of the rest of the world on any plan. Watching the development of a Subdivision of city property means seeing ahead of the rest of the world

Any man of brains ought to investigate every Subdivision that is opened up. For this is where property values climb most rapidly.

That very word Subdivision ought to hold the attention of every man who doesn't have to figure on his next week's board.

Because Subdivision means that property is being cut up, and many people are going to take possession of it where only a few have had its ownership before.

And wherever many people take possession, property values go up. That is what makes the value of city property—people. If you are an investor, if you are seeking a home, if you claim to have any brains more than are necessary to draw your next week's pay, you should never overlook that word.

In the Ads of this paper outlying property is constantly being divided and offered for sale.

You should turn to the Want Ads of this paper every day. You should watch every one of these announcements, you should answer every one of these ads, either by letter or in person.

And when you answed such Ads please mention the fact that you saw them in this paper.

pers had been handed to J. D. Stewart, counsel for the government, in arbitration, and he in turn had handed them to L. E. C. Thorne, the arbitrator. Now each claimed that they had returned them to each other. A great mass of coal and underfeed stoker tenders were submitted.

Deputy Attorney-General J. R. Cartwright when called stated that no papers had been lost from his department. He could not recollect the circumstances of the petition of right passed at that time. His memorandum was read, that while the amount asked was exaggerated, there was some claim to damage. Altho the premier in the house was reported as saying that Mr. Cartwright had gone over the account, witness could not recollect.

Mr. Nesbitt then took up the examination. Mr. Cartwright had held his position from the time of Sir Oliver Mowat. The application for flats had always been uniform in that time and this case had been no exception. The claim undoubtedly had been before him.

"Did anyone, the prime minister, the provincial secretary or others approach you on this?" he was asked.

"No; certainly not," replied the witness.

"No pressure brought to bear?" "No; certainly not."

"Nor any influence?" "No."

"If anyone said so it would be untrue?" "Yes, it would be a lie."

His Own Judgment.

At this point matters began to grow more interesting and the committee awoke to attention.

"You exercised your own unbiased judgment on them without influence of a minister or contractor or envoy of such?" "Yes."

"So that if I find a statement that flat was issued corruptly, what is it?" "It is untrue, so far as I am concerned."

"Would it be an infamous lie?" pursued the counsel. "Yes, absolutely," was the reply.

Mr. Dewart demurred on such a question, but the chairman ruled it in order.

Hon. Mr. Hanna during this time was an interested spectator.

Mr. Dewart asked for the subpoenaing of A. M. Stewart, with all his papers and books in this connection.

Discussion arose at this juncture over the statement of the chairman that day and night sessions would be held until the matter was settled. Mr. Dewart urged against it that too little time had been granted the preparation of their cases.

Warden Gilmour.

Warden Gilmour of Central Prison since 1896, stated that financial disputes would not come to him, but only those regarding supply of men.

Mr. Dewart read a letter from him warning the conclusion of the Taylor-Scott contract. It had been written after conference with some officials. Mr. Taylor and Inspector Rogers had been there, but he recollected it as very indefinite. The letter presented tentative claims. The first had been for $17,000 and one for $19,000 had followed. Dr. Gilmour, however, could not recollect a still greater claim entered. Documents produced showed the final one of $27,000, but witness could not remember how it occurred.

More letters concerning coal and men supply and requests for extension of time were read by the counsel, and it was shown that some matters in dispute had been reported in March, 1908, to the minister.

Mr. Nesbitt interrupted that the witness was only needlessly reiterating the contents of the documents.

A crossing of legal swords then followed and the point was dropped.

Taylor had been willing to settle on a basis of time extension, but this practice was being discountenaned by the cabinet.

No Bias Shown.

"Was there anything at the time to show a bias in favor of or against Taylor, or that part of the cabinet that was under his influence?" "No," was replied.

Mr. Nesbitt referred to the statement of Mr. Taylor as growing and ballooning in his imagination, so that it did not correspond with the real claims.

"It would not be an honest statement in the way Taylor was putting his claims, would it?" "No."

"Then if any man makes this statement it is not honest?" "Not where that is concerned."

"Had the flat been refused in view of the circumstances, would you have said, as between man and man, that the government was dishonest?"

Mr. Dewart sprang to his feet to urge that such a question could only follow the submission of the whole evidence.

The chairman ruled a compromise and then Mr. Nesbitt's question was answered, the witness stating that Taylor had a right to go to court.

"If Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna had refused the flat would it have been dishonest treatment?" asked Mr. Nesbitt.

This was also challenged by Mr. Dewart.

Did Not Suit.

Dr. Gilmour stated that during the last four months of the contract the average withdrawal of the men was one hundred. He knew nothing, however, that would in any way implicate any of the ministers in connection with the work. It developed that Dr. Gilmour had thought the extension of contract from September 1 to December would serve for the removal of the men. It did not suit Taylor, however.

"He was always trying to raise the limit," he said, amid the laughter of poker-wise members of the committee.

Mr. Dewart explained that he would have to have the papers brought down for the first time today and thoroly examined before he could proceed with the cross-examination of witnesses. The matter of the coal tenders and self-feeding stokers they had not had the opportunity of looking into.

The idea of a postponement of action, however, met with chairman Ferguson's disapproval. He felt that the counsel was enlarging the scope of the inquiry and making it broader than the inquiry of the committee warranted. He and Mr. Proudfoot in looking over the papers relative to coal tenders, found that the correspondence in that connection was not there. In consequence he wanted more time to gain these. The reply was that these did not relate to the charge, which dealt only with the improper issue of a flat.

Thoro or Not.

"Is it going to be a thoro housecleaning or not?" demanded Mr. Dewart. "Some person well known to the house has made the charge thru another, that these coal tenders were wrongly used. Do not the members of the house, Sir James Whitney, and Hon. W. J. Hanna want to clear their skirts? I want to give them the opportunity.

"I want it clearly understood that this is not an attempt to break the inquiry, but Mr. Proudfoot is a lawyer as well as a member of the house, and if he had intended to deal with these matters he might have added them to the charges. They are beyond the jurisdiction of the committee."

The first member of the committee to speak was C. M. Bowman, Liberal member of Bruce, who felt Mr. Dewart's request not unreasonable and appealed from the chairman's ruling. J. C. Elliott of West Middlesex followed by urging that the committee should have every facility for looking into the matter and matters would be expedited by assisting the counsel.

Not in Charge.

Regardless of this view, however, the chairman clung to his former position, and maintained that even a layman could see that the matters of coal tenders and stokers were not in the charge.

On a straight party split the ruling of the chair was sustained, and the cross-examination of Assistant Secretary Armstrong proceeded. Here a clash occurred at the outset. Mr. Dewart proposed to file certain of the documents and tabulate them, claiming that he had the right.

"I do not propose to have the rights of this committee abused by any counsel," said the chairman. "You have only the right to do what the committee allows, and we do not propose to sit here and discuss irrelevant matter.'

"I have been denied the poor boon of looking into these contracts——" said Mr. Dewart, but was interrupted.

"No, that is not a fair way of putting it. I do not propose to let you get away with it and let it get out to the press and the public that way. The opportunity was given."

The voice of the premier's counsel, Wallace Nesbitt, was raised at this point. "There has not been the least tittle of a suggestion about any impropriety about a coal contract or underfeed stokers. Is it not monstrous hat an angry gentleman said the whole department is rotten. I can only say that the country did not return my honorable friend as the leader of the opposition to justify a closure," he said.

In view of the attitude of the committee, L. E. C. Thorne was called by Mr. Dewart.

He explained that he was in the woodworking business in Palmerston, his partner, Perry, having previously been connected with the Taylor-Scott Company. He had met Mr. Hanna at Sarnia in 1905, and had come to Toronto at his request to examine some accounting in his department. In a short time he was appointed to look after such work in the Central Prison, and had worked on the details of the Taylor-Scott contract.

He explained the system on which the contract was originally based.

Mr. Dewart subjected him to a strict account of his doings since his arrival in town on Monday night. He had gone to the hotel with Mr. Taylor and called upon Mr. Nesbitt in the morning.

He also told of a conversation with Mr. Hanna, in which the minister had advised him to be very frank.

True, If He Wrote It.

Mr. Dewart produced a letter alleged to have been written by Mr. Thorne, but concerning which his recollection was hazy. "Did you or did you not write that letter?" he was asked. "I am not sure," was the reply. "Was it true?" "If I wrote it, it was the truth," said the witness.

He had held a conversation with Mr. Hanna in which the latter had said that Taylor was "money-mad" and had made other statements. What else the minister had said he could not recollect.

In telling of the conference he said that he had talked over the political contribution and the fact that Taylor might sue if the flat were not granted.

"Did Mr. Hanna mention the coal tenders?" pursued Mr. Dewart. "He may have; I am not sure," was the reply.

"Is it likely that he did?" "Yes, it is likely."

"Did he mention underfeed stokers?" "Yes, in the same connection."

Following up the matter of stokers Mr. Dewart speedily ran into the tangle of the afternoon and a lively clash ensued between counsel for a few minutes.

"Let Mr. Proudfoot make those charges if he dare," said Mr. Nesbitt.

"Don't say dare," retorted M. K. Cowan rising from his chair.

"Are you a counsel here? Don't speak to me that way," said Mr. Nesbitt.

"I will speak as I like, being the junior counsel, and I don't need to be told by you. This is not a lawyers' wrangle or a cat and dog fight under the fence spitting at each other," fired back Mr. Cowan.

The chairman interfered to state that no one cared about such a wrangle.

"I want to know if I have the right to ask this witness a question or not?" asked Mr. Dewart, belligerently. "He has personal knowledge of the affair."

"And I want to say clearly that I think you have not," replied the chairman. "It was all threshed out this afternoon."

Wanted a Ruling.

"Then I want the ruling of the committee and at once," shouted the counsel in determination.

The chairman followed the afternoon's ruling and in spite of appeals from the Liberal members it was again sustained.

"Would it be safe to say that Mr. Hanna said that if Taylor's charges became public, whether proved or not, it would mean his resignation?" asked Mr. Dewart. "I cannot remember it that way," said the witness. "But he said that if Taylor makes public this $500 contribution—I cannot say whether probably or undoubtedly—it would likely mean his resignation."

"He evidently realized it as serious," commented the counsel. "Yes."

"And as something that should not be done?" "Yes."

"He was not as well initiated as some others," said the chairman.

Thorne further told that Mr. Hanna had said that Taylor had made a campaign contribution of $500 and was "making a fuss about it."

"Did you learn that Mr. Hanna had made a proposal to gain from Mr. Taylor a letter contradicting his charges?" asked Mr. Dewart. The witness had not, nor had he learned that he was anxious to have the letter. Taylor had not spoken about it in Mr. Hanna's presence. The witness further told of himself suggesting a board to arbitrate, and Mr. Hanna's expression that he would be willing to have him serve as his nominee. He, himself, had suggested it as an easier way.

Mr. Dewart further wanted to know if he had explained to Mr. Hanna that he could settle the whole matter and stop the personal attacks.

"I told Mr. Hanna that I thought I could settle it and stop the personal attacks," said the witness.

"Did he agree to it?" "Not at the time."

Continuing the witness said that Taylor had agreed that if the matter were settled quickly he would make no attack derrogatory to Mr. Hanna.

In pressing after evidence, Mr. Dewart asked if any suggestion had been made by the solicitor to the government as to the proper amount of settlement.

"Are you suggesting that a solicitor made improper advances regarding the settlement?" called Mr. Nesbitt in indignation. "On your honor as a professional gentleman, I ask if you are making such a suggestion. He is a personal friend of mine."

"I did not say bribery."

"I ask that it be stricken out of the proceedings," retorted Mr. Nesbitt heatedly.

"I will direct the reporter to strike it out," said the chairman.

"Strike That Out."

Reading from a letter the term "red-tape or laziness," Mr Dewart supposed it referred either to Mr. Hanna's or Mr. Foy's department.

"Here, strike that out," called the chairman to the reporter. "These comments are not going on the records." Accordingly it was blotted out.

Mr. Dewart produced a letter written to Harry Maisonville and proposed to read it as containing statements at variance with certain statements of the witness. Mr. Nesbitt strenuously objected and the chair ruled it out of order as not evidence. Nevertheless, Mr. Dewart endeavored to read it and a violent hubbub arose.

T. W. McGarry, of Renfrew, rose to say that the committee was able to rule out the appearance of all counsel if they wished. Mr. Dewart then wanted to show it to the witness to refresh his memory, but this was also refused.

"Just this one sentence," said Mr. Dewart, leading off. He was interrupted, however, and the chair was sustained on a vote. The question got out before being expunged was: "Did you personally manipulate the tenders in question?"

Mr. Nesbitt then took up the examination and asked the witness his opinion of the efficiency of the department. "I can say nothing derogatory in any transaction I know about. Nothing he ever did was deceptive or of profit to himself."

"Nor detrimental to the interest of the public." "No."

More Objections.

Mr. Dewart objected, claiming that the counsel was putting words into the charge.

"When you were nominated, is it true that Mr. Hanna turned and said to Mr. Taylor: 'It is only fair that you should know that Mr. Thorne has been in the government's employ for years.' This was before the contract was signed?" "Yes," said the witness. "Mr. Hanna wanted to make that quite clear."

"Did you do your duties fairly and honestly?" asked Mr. Nesbitt. "Yes." to the best of my ability," was the reply.

"Was it an honest award?" "Yes." He had consulted Mr. David Fasken beforehand.

According to the evidence adduced at the conference, concerning arbitration, it was arranged by W. K. McNaught, that Thorne's fee should be for all prior work as well. This amounted to $500.

"Mr. Hanna and Mr. Taylor were not on very friendly terms. One did not seem to be under the influence of the other?" "No, they did not do each other favors."

Mr. Maisonville was the former private secretary of Hon. Dr. Reaume. "He is not friendly to Mr. Hanna?" "No, not very."

"Did you give this letter to Mr. Taylor?" "No I certainly did not," laughed the witness, and the cat was out of the bag. The committe roared at finding the origin of the letter.

A Rank Herring.

Mr. Dewart appealed for it to be struck out of the records, terming it the rankest herring ever drawn across a trail.

"I submit the character of Maisonville is not in question," he said. The chairman wanted to know why the name was mentioned. "Because," said Mr. Nesbitt, "his charges are entirely false."

"Is there a word of truth as far as you are concerned in the award, in the charges laid?" "There is certainly not, the award is an honest one, to the best of my belief."

The question was repeated in reference to the flat. "There was absolutely nothing irregular as far as I know," was the reply.

"Be truthful," admonished Mr. Nesbitt, when Mr. Dewart was asking the tenders which he had known of. "I ask you to take it back," said Mr. Dewart.

Could Not Object.

Mr. Hanna broke in to say that the question was in reference to a tender to which no man in the room could take exception.

Mr. Dewart then sought to have the witness identify the Maisonville letter.

"This will be brought before the house," followed on Mr. Dewart. "Don't take this down," said the chairman, "It has no right to be brought in here at all." Mr. Dewart then offered his own signature.

Following a resolution of Mr. Bowman, W. K. McNaught will be subpoenaed for appearance today.

EDISON'S LATEST INVENTION

No invention of the Wizard Edison has been so complete a success as his Disc Phonograph, whose sound reproductions are the most perfect ever dreamed of. The exclusive features, such as the indestructible disc record, the indestructible diamond reproducer (doing away entirely with the interchangeable needle) the automatic stop and other features, are the product of the brain of the Wizard Edison. The Edison Disc Phonograph is the most perfect sound producer yet invented. A demonstration will immediately convince the most skeptical. When the awards were announced for this class the blue was given to Elmhurst, but the Enniscliare Farm's entry shot was placed ahead of Cleveland.

Class 82, the military event on the program, provided plenty of amusement for the spectators, as there were many refusals among the contestants. However, the winners were good jumpers and caught the fancy of the crowd.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

An inquest was held at the city morgue last night before Coroner Dr. F. Winnett into the circumstances surrounding the death of Albert Nelson, who was killed while riding a motorcycle at the intersections of Richmond and Tecumseh streets on April 21. Nelson struck the wheel of a scavengers wagon which was proceeding south on Tecumseh street, and with such force that he rebounded and the off wheels of a motor truck which was proceeding north went over his legs. From the evidence, no blame could be attached to the driver of either vehicle, and the jury returned a verdict of "Accidental Death."

The Real Spring Tonic is

SANGUINOL

We say REAL spring tonic because Sanguinol fulfils in an ideal way the functions of the spring tonic. You have known the spring tonic since boyhood days.

When the system has fought all winter long to ward off the attacks of the elements and the more serious ailments that are so prevalent during the winter months, your system becomes worn and weary, and nature cries out for assistance to bring the body back to its normal healthy condition.

Sanguinol is nature's assistant in this way. It is a builder and not a mere temporary stimulant. It helps nature to build up the worn tissues and nerve cells by feeding back to your body the very elements of which those tissues and nerve cells are composed. Such elements as these form the sole composition of Sanguinol—nothing else—not an atom of alcohol or injurious drugs.

The Daily Hint From Paris

STRIPES USED EFFECTIVELY.

Black and white striped suiting was employed to make this suit. The coat is fitted by gathers and by a shaped panel, front and back. Fancy steel buttons are used in two sizes, and a white silk cord ties the coat at the collar, which is of plain white voile.

In the back the coat is cut off square and the overskirt extends straight around, giving the flat, plain back, so modish this season.

LACE CURTAINS DRY CLEANED

Many housewives own curtains of Arabian lace. They realize that a great amount of their beauty is lost after washing. The lovely ecrue tint has disappeared, and to recolor them is not always satisfactory.

These curtains can be dry cleaned in the following manner:

Spread a sheet or two upon the floor and lay the curtains carefully on them.

Mix two parts of bolted cornmeal with one of salt.

With a clean brush rub this mixture thoroly thru the curtains. Hang out of doors for a couple of hours and the curtains will be sweet and clean.

In this simple way they may be frequently cleaned. If the dust is not allowed to settle in them for any length of time they will wear much longer.

This bit of information should be well received by the housekeeper, for it saves a wonderful amount of time and labor.

THE COMFORT

There is a little article, commonly known as a "pacifier" or "mother's comfort," that causes harm out of all proportion to its size. To see pacifiers in use one has only to talk a walk in any park or sunny street where babies are taken for an airing. It will be noticed that about two-thirds of these little children are placidly sucking away on a black or white rubber nipple, sometimes having a bone or ivory ring attached. Often the pacifier is tied around baby's neck with a ribbon, or it may be fastened to some part of his carriage with a string; then, when baby occasionally drops it from his mouth, it may strike against the carriage wheel or simply expose its moist surface as a dust collector for street filth. If baby is old enough he will soon put it in his mouth again, or, if too young to help himself, his mother or nurse will do so for him.

Physicians and nurses who treat babies agree that pacifiers are the cause of many ills. The constant suction on the nipple produces enlargement of the tonsils and promotes the growth of adenoids; catarrh soon follows, then a chain of evils, chief among which is deafness. It is very easy for catarrh to extend from the nose and throat into the little tube that connects these organs with the ear, and the catarrhal deafness that may then occur is one of the most frequent forms, and also the most hopeless to treat. If unclean objects are put into the mouth there is also great danger of germs finding their way thru this little tube into the ear, and an abscess, with possible destruction of the drum, is likely to follow.

Numerous other diseases may be caused by the pacifier; sprue or thrush is often directly traced to its use. Constant suction overworks the little glands in the mouth that produce saliva, and all this liquid that is intended to be mixed with the food and help digest it is wasted on the pacifier, so that when it is needed for the food there is little left; indigestion and chronic dyspepsia follow.

In many families, where there are a number of little children of the pacifier age, one nipple will do service for several children; the mother hands it around, or the older members of the flock take it away from the baby. Tonsilitis, diphtheria, tuberculosis and other diseases may easily be started in this way. I have even seen mothers and nurses first put the pacifier into their own mouths "to clean it" and then give it to the baby!

Many mothers use the pacifier from ignorance—they do not in the least realize the risk they are running. Baby cries from some natural cause, and because the mother does not like to hear him she pokes a pacifier in his mouth. This is mere selfishness on her part: a pacifier now may mean an operation for adenoids later. Find out the cause of the cry and remedy that, or, if there is no cause, let baby exercise his little lungs for a while—he needs this form of exercise as well as any other.

I am sure if mothers realized the dangers of allowing their babies to form "the pacifier habit" the manufacturers would soon cease to produce these articles, as there would be absolutely no call for them in the shops. It lies in the hands of mothers to put a stop to this evil.

CREAM PUFF SECRETS

ANY one who pretends to cook and does not know how to make cream puffs surely wants to learn how, for the puffs are not difficult to make, and the filling is only a custard or a little whipped cream stiffened with gelatine.

This morning's mail brought a letter from a reader who says: "Please tell me how to make the crust for cream puffs. I asked my baker about this and he says no baking powder is used. I suppose he did not want to give away the secrets of the trade."

Mrs. T. V. James.

The baker was quite right—cream puffs are made from what is called "choux" paste. If Mrs. James and other ambitious cooks will look in their newest cookery books, they will find a chapter headed "cream cakes, eclairs and gauffres" or "fancy pastries."

If you glance over the recipes, you will see that these mixtuers are all leavened with eggs. Choux paste is used for most of them.

Today I will give directions for cream puff paste and follow it with other forms and fillings.

To make choux paste use 1 cup of water, 1 tablespoon of sugar, 2½ tablespoons of butter, ½ teaspoon of salt.

When this boils up add a cup of sifted flour. Stir it into the boiling water and butter bravely; it will not lump, but will make a fine smooth paste if you stir it well.

Cook it until it leaves the sides of the pan; then remove from heat. When partly cool add the eggs; one at a time, unbeaten, until you have whipped in four. The batter should be smooth, yellow and of a consistency that will not spread.

Too many eggs will make the mixture stringy, but if the flour is very dry or the eggs small, five may be used to a cup of flour. The longer you beat the eggs and the flour mixture together, the lighter will be your puffs.

Have ready tin sheets, or shallow pans, well buttered. Put in the paste into a pastry tube and press out on the tins in balls one and a half inches in diameter. If you have not a tube use a spoon, dipping it in cold water each time. The tube, of course, gives a better shape to the puffs.

This quantity will make eighteen puffs and you must put them on the tins at least two inches apart, as in baking they swell to three or four times their original size. Put in a slack oven and bake slowly until they are well up, then increase the heat very little.

When they have cooked about thirty minutes try one; if not done thru to the centre, continue cooking.

Take from the oven and while still warm, dip the tops in white frosting or chocolate icing and set aside to cool. Do not fill until quite cold.

Use the same paste for eclairs. You will need a pastry tube to shape these or you can use a sheet of heavy paper rolled into a cone. If you have lady-finger cake molds they will answer.

The eclair paste may be somewhat sweeter than the puff paste.

The filling may be jam, whipped cream or lemon cream filling. The frosting should be the same flavor as the filling. I shall be glad to publish further directions for choux paste mixtures if the article following this does not give sufficient help.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN TO MEET

Leaders of Thought and Movement in Canada at Twentieth Conference.

WORK IS IMPORTANT

Many Humanitarian Matters Will Be Discussed Fully at Montreal.

May day will see the opening of the National Council of Women, which is to take place in Montreal, and to which delegates from Vancouver to Halifax, and all the important points between, are already hastening. The gathering will mark the twentieth annual meeting of this now important organization, which from small beginnings, has, like the proverbial mustard seed, spread and developed until the network of its local councils covers every part of the Dominion, speaking to all who give the matter a moment's consideration of the great changes that have taken place in the economy of things during the past two decades.

Representation from almost every charitable, philanthropic and progressive movement, especially those that have to deal in any way with the betterment of conditions for women and children, is found in this great aggregation, and the things accomplished directly thru the council, or in which the council has been instrumental, would fill, as they have done, several good sized volumes.

Those who will represent Toronto are: Mrs. Huestis, president of the Toronto council, Mrs. Leathers, acting president in any unavoidable absence of Mrs. Huestis, and the delegates Mrs. Runcinan, Mrs. Cooke, Miss Hill and Miss Hart. Forty-eight Toronto societies in all will be represented, many of the presidents personally taking parts in the discussions that will occupy part of the time of the sessions.

Wide Range of Subjects.

The convention will last from the first until the ninth of May, and the ground covered by the agenda is of considerable extent, dealing as it does with "the work of the milk stations" "child welfare," "polygamous marriages and marriages between Orientals and whites in Canada" and many subjects in between.

The meetings will be held in the Lecture Hall, St. James' Methodist Church, and the people of Montreal and many of the organizations of the city, including McGill University, are preparing to give the women of the council an enthusiastic welcome.

There is no doubt, but that the reports of the things with which the women will deal, and the capable and business-like manner in which the many items on the program will be handled, will be illuminating to readers, one point in particular which must appear between the lines for those "who have eyes to see," will be the magnificent amount of labor that is being done by the few for the good of the many, the many in the majority of instances being altogether ignorant of their benefactors.

So strongly does the business side of life make itself felt, that the Toronto council will move that at future meetings the social side, in the shape of receptions, drives, and the rest, which have up to the present always been features of the annual meetings, will be confined to the evenings, the entire hours of the day to be left free for the more important, the perhaps less pleasant things, that affect humanity.

Meetings Will Be Open.

The meetings will not be confined to delegates. All members of the council, and this means all members of any society federation in the council, may attend any meeting and take part in the discussions, tho only the delegates, the conveners of national standing committees and officers may vote.

Toronto has the honor of being the home of the lady who will handle the big gathering and preside at its sessions, Mrs. Torrington being president of the national council of Canada.

A peep into what we may expect in the near future, along educational lines, is given by an item on the agenda, which reads, "Be it resolved that a special effort be made by the local councils, to secure women on school boards, and where it is impossible to secure such representation, that a special committee be appointed from the educational committee in the said councils, to be present at all sessions of the school boards, and to bring a report of the same to their respective local councils." This resolution will come from the Toronto body, and will almost undoubtedly be accepted by the other councils.

Can Both Speak and Talk.

Judging by the past, the discussions will be most interesting. The women of the council have achieved wonderful heights in the matter of presenting their subject, and it may now be almost taken as an axiom that no woman offers to speak who has not her subject well in hand and is prepared to answer any enquires which may arise from its presentment. It has always been conceded that women could talk. The women of the council have arrived at the point where they can both speak and talk.

Moving Picture News

LYNCHING TOO REALISTIC FOR ROSSON.

Lynching Too Realistic for Rosson.

It does not often fall to the lot of a newcomer with a moving picture company to have as his initiatory experience two narrow escapes, but this is the fate that befell A. H. Rosson, who has recently joined the "101 Bison" Company. He was cast for the part of a half-breed in a forthcoming picture of western life. In addition to his untoward experience in being roped by a husky cow puncher, he shortly afterward had an experience that nearly proved his last in this mortal sphere. During the play Rosson is strung up. The rope was arranged so that it would not stop his breath entirely. However, he was wearing a knotted handkerchief round his neck, and the rope slipped and caught this knot. With his hands tied behind his back, he could do nothing to relieve himself. He got blue in the face. The director noticed it and speedily cut him down. He was unconscious when laid on the ground and the whole company was badly frightened. They worked hard to resuscitate him, and were considerably relieved when he opened his eyes. However, he says that he does not want to repeat the experience.

MARGARITA FISCHER, as Topsy, in "Uncle Tom's Cabin," a coming universal feature.

DOT FARLEY REJOINS FRONTIER FORCES.

Miss Dot Farley, the beautiful and versatile young photoplay actress, has returned to the frontier brand of the St. Louis Motion Picture Company. She has more recently been appearing before the camera on the Pacific Coast, where she was a co-star in comedies. To join the frontier forces, she refused a very flattering offer from the Kinemacolor Company, who were extremely anxious to secure her services because of her wealth of auburn hair and glorious brown eyes.

Five years ago Miss Farley entered the field of silent drama, scoring her first big hit when she wrote "The Peril of the Plains." She is the builder of dozens of successful scenarios, possessing a natural aptitude for judging the point of a story and its applicability to the screen. She also sustains the reputation of being one of the most tastefully dressed women in the field of cinematography. Vivacious, talented, enjoying splendid health, and with a wonderfully magnetic screen presence, Miss Farley is assured a brilliant future in the motion picture art.

"The Rise of Officer 174" is the latest big success of the Imp Company. King Baggot appears as the officer and is in love with Jane Fearnley, who is the stenographer to the "Man Higher Up." They have some very thrilling adventures in the underworld.

A GREAT FILM COLONY.

Not so very long ago most of the motion picture studios were located either in New York or across the river in the Highlands of Jersey. Within the past couple of years, however, Los Angeles, California, has awakaned to the fact that she is th motion picture producing capital of the United States. When one recollects the whimsical weather of the east it can very easily be realized why they have packed up one by one and moved to the coast.

At present, within a radius of ten miles, we have the Powers, Nestor, Broncho, "101 Bison," Essanay, Rex, Frontier, Imp, Champion, Universal, which is the largest in the world, and several others.

Each of these companies employ from fifteen to twenty-five "regulars," besides innumerable "extras," hundreds of cowboys, Indians, etc., as you see in "101 Bison" pictures. Very few people who walk in and out of the theatres realize what a gigantic piece of machinery it is. It is said that over three thousand persons in Los Angeles alone depend upon the studios for a livelihood.

ATLANTIC FLEET MANOEUVRES FILMED FOR THE FIRST TIME.

Probably the biggest achievement in the history of motion picture making is the taking of the recent manoeuvres of the United States Atlantic fleet by a cameraman of The Animated Weekly.

The diplomacy that this involves, the influence that had to be exerted, and the requirements that had to be observed before the coveted permission of the government was obtained, constitute a story in themselves, scarcely secondary in interest to the results. Their early exhibition on the screen will be awaited with anticipation.

BARTLETT, THE NERVE TESTER.

Charles Bartlett has again given practical proof of his nerve. In "The Fighting Chaplin," produced recently by the "101 Bison" Company, the intrepid Charlie sprang from his horse on the side of a rapidly moving prairie schooner. Simultaneously he slashed the canvas, thereby landing in the wagon. It was far more of a daring deed than it reads, and very few men could or would possess the requisite amount of nerve to do it. Soon afterwards he set a match to a train of gunpowder which led to a charge of six sticks of dynamite beneath the wagon, which was blown up. Charlie did some tall hustling, and even then was hit by a flying piece of wood, which knocked him down, where he lay with his head covered with his arms to ward off the debris which filled the air and littered the ground around him.

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Anglican Diocese of Toronto, under the auspices of the Canadian Missionary Society, held their 27th annual meeting at the St. Anne's parish-house yesterday. In the morning they held a communion service, conducted by the Lord Bishop of Toronto. In the course of his sermon he dwelt upon the importance of individual life and the necessity for the realization and development of the spiritual life.

At the business session, Miss Cartwright presiding, expressions of welcome were expressed by Mrs. Sweeny, wife of the bishop of the diocese.

The reports of the officers were presented.

The recording secretary's report showed a total membership of 6791. There are 194 senior branches and 35 new members have been added to the list. The corresponding secretary gave encouraging news of the work of the missionaries.

The treasurer's report showed cash receipts for the past year amounting to $16,665, and adding to this the credit balances at the end of last year, brings the total to $22,313.64.

The Dorcas Department has done wonderful work, having distributed 350 bales of clothing during the past year, involving an expenditure of $9639.38, an increase of $1148.28 over last year.

The secretary-treasurer of literature reported a marked increase in the demand for missionary literature, as manifested by a larger number of books having been taken from the libraries of the institution.

Other reports relative to other branches of the work showed equally satisfactory results.

The prize winners of the mission competition were: Women's branch—1st, Orillia, and 2nd, St. Thomas, young women.

Girls' branch—1st, St. Barnabas, Chester; 2nd, Church of the Epiphany.

Meetings will be continued each day until Saturday next. Tonight there is to be a missionary meeting at the parish hall, Church of the Redeemer, at 8 o'clock, chair to be taken by the Bishop of Toronto.

Uncle Wiggily Is Caught

(Copyright, 1913, by Howard R. Garis)

"Well, I think I will go out in my auto today," said Uncle Wiggily, the old gentleman rabbit, as he awakened the morning after he had had the adventure with the bad rooster, who was made to sneeze by means of the paw looking glass. "It will be safer than walking," went on Uncle Wiggily, "for in case any bad robber cats or dogs stop me I can speed up my machine, and get away. Yes, I will go out in my auto."

You know, he had to take a ride, or a walk every day, whether he wanted to or not, for Dr. Possum had said so, and we must always do what the doctor says, even when it comes to bitter medicine, or even pink-colored pills, for the matter of that.

Uncle Wiggily had to go off, riding or walking, having adventures now and then, sometimes helping persons, as Uncle Booster, the groundhog gentleman, used to do. Uncle Wiggily had to do this, so he wouldn't be too stout and fat. For too fat is not good for your indigestion, you know.

Uncle Wiggily went out to the chicken coop where he kept his automobile, with the turnip for a steering wheel, and the big round German bologna sausages for tires. That is the place used to be a chicken coop, but Mrs. Caw-Caw, the wife of the good rooster—not the bad one—don't forget that—she had given the old coop to Uncle Wiggily for his auto, when she and her family moved into a new hen house apartment of Eggshell alley. And the old coop came in very useful for the rabbit gentleman's car.

He found that his auto was all right, except that the doodle-oodleum had got twisted up with the winkum-wankum. However, Uncle Wiggily soon straightened this out, and then, after Nurse Jane Fuzzy-Wuzzy had given him his breakfast of carrots and milk with oatmeal orange sauce on, he started off.

"My! this is a fine day!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, as he made his auto go faster and faster. "I think very likely an adventure will happen to me this morning."

Ah, if he had only known what was going to happen he would have stayed at home, even if he had to get so fat, from not taking exercise, that he could not stoop over to lace his own shoes! Even that! But he did not know. On and on he went in his auto.

At one place he nearly ran over a big red ant, who was hurrying to the butcher shop to get a slice of bacon. And the red ant was so frightened from having jumped out from under Uncle Wiggily's auto just in time, that she dropped her market basket and trembled so, that she could not go to the store.

"Never mind," said Uncle Wiggily kindly. "I am very sorry, for it was my fault. I will let you bite a piece out of one of my German bologna sausage tires so you will have some meat for dinner. So the ant did this and she felt much better.

And a little later Uncle Wiggily met Jennie Chipmunk on her way to the store to get some cocoanut frosting for a cake, as company was coming to breakfast that night. So he gave Jennie a ride, for which she was very glad.

And shortly after that, while going along in his auto almost as fast as a trolley car, Uncle Wiggily bumped into an old lady cat who was crossing the street to get on the other side, and her fur was all mussed up.

"Oh, I am so sorry!" cried the old gentleman rabbit, as he jumped out and dusted off the lady cat with his handkerchief. "I hope you are not hurt."

"Not much," said the cat, after she had caught her breath, which had run nearly down to the corner lamppost and back again before she could properly get hold of it.

Then Uncle Wiggily went on some more and pretty soon, all of a sudden, as he was riding thru a woods, his auto stopped short.

"My!" the rabbit gentleman exclaimed. "I hope I haven't hit anything this time or run into a grasshopper or anything like that."

But he could see nothing when he got out to look, and then he knew something must be the matter inside his automobile. It did not take him long to find out what it was.

And, would you ever believe it, if I didn't tell you? No, I am sure you would not. Anyhow that automobile had stopped because it wanted a drink.

"What's that? You didn't know autos needed a drink? Well, they do. You have to pour water down them every so often or they won't go. You see they get so hot, from running so fast and going up and down hill, that they have to have water to cool them off. It was that way with Uncle Wiggily's auto.

"Well," he said, "I must look for a spring or a well of water and get some for my car."

So he walked on a little way, trying to see if there was any water to give his thirsty auto. He could find no spring, but pretty soon he saw a water-well in the yard near a house where real people—not animal people—lived.

"I wonder if it will be safe for me to go there?" thought Uncle Wiggily. "I don't see any one about, and perhaps I can run up, get some water from the well, carry it in my tail hat to my thirsty auto, and get away again without being caught. I will try it."

So the old gentleman rabbit went closer and closer to the well. It was not a very big one, and he hoped he could draw up a bucket of water. He knew his tail hat would hold it very nicely.

Out of his red eyes Uncle Wiggily looked thru his spectacles to see if there was any danger, for sometimes you know, people are not always nice to rabbits. But Uncle Wiggily saw nothing to harm him. But wait and see what happens, if you please; that is, if you have time, and don't have to go out jumping rope on the sidewalk, or roller-skating on the fence.

Just as Uncle Wiggily was pouring the water in his tail hat, taking a little drink himself, for he was thirsty, just as was his auto—all of a sudden, a boy jumped out from behind a sour apple tree—no, hold on, if you please—it was a sweet apple tree. I remember it was because the apples used to be just lovely baked in the oven. All of a sudden, I say, the boy jumped out from behind that sweet apple tree crying:

"Oh, ho! Ah ha! I have it—a rabbit. Oh, I've caught it!" and with that he grabbed Uncle Wiggily by his long ears and held on.

"Let me go! Please let me go!" cried the old gentleman rabbit. "Please put me down."

But that boy could not understand rabbit talk. Maybe he did not want to, for all I know. Anyhow, he held Uncle Wiggily high up by the ears and said: "I'm going to put him in a pen and tame him."

The idea! Just as if our Uncle Wiggily was wild and needed taming.

The harder the old gentleman rabbit wiggled, the tighter the boy held him, and off toward the house the boy ran, crying:

"Oh, look! A rabbit. I've caught a rabbit!"

I mean the boy cried that, tho Uncle Wiggily was crying to be let go, but the boy could not understand him. And that is how Uncle Wiggily was caught. But please don't feel badly about it, for I am going to think up a way to get him loose, and I'll put it in one of these stories in a night or two. So don't feel at all badly, Uncle Wiggily will be all right. Honest!

But tomorrow night, in case the little girl who comes to our house with a cake of chocolate to sell, doesn't let it fall on the door mat and make it look like an angel cake, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily in a pen.

Amelopsis Quinquefolia (Virginian Creeper.)

I suppose there are some people who do not know the Virginia Creeper, altho I cannot imagine where they can be. However, there are some people who utterly despise this beautiful and useful vine. That is simply because they do not know its capabilities, and, so, neglect it, shamefully.

In the first place, it is certainly one of the easiest vines on earth to cultivate. Extremely hardy, it will survive severe winters with little or no protection.

It is absolutely free from pests or mildew, or blight of any description, a thing in itself to render it worthy of deep respect.

A clean and rapid grower, it rambles over dead trees, old stumps, burying them beneath a pall of rich and living beauty; climbs along fences, over brambles and thickets; covers up bare, ugly, hateful board fences, so common in Toronto, festoons summer houses, drapes verandas, making its way here and there and everywhere, by means of eager grabbing little tendrils, each one ready to catch hold and hang on forever.

The flowers, appearing in July, are very tiny, borne in clusters of pale green. Later these become small, round blueberries (the size of a pea) dusted over with purplish grey powder, attached to the vine by means of blood-red stems.

The leaves, made up of five oblong leaflets, coarsely toothed and delicately veined, are of a cool bronze-green, shiny on top, dull underneath. At the first touch of frost these leaves turn a vivid living crimson, the most brilliant color ever produced by any known plant. While they remain on the vines, the whole appearance is delightfully startling but, unfortunately, after becoming so entrancingly beautiful, their life is very short. A touch, and they fall to the ground, leaving the vines bare and lonely.

Nothing can surpass the Virginian Creeper as a shade producer, if it is properly trained and pruned. But like any other vine, it will grow into a ragged and disgracefully unkempt mass, neither beautiful or useful, if attention is not given to it. It must be carefully and sensibly pruned and trained, to allow it to show what it can do.

How are the young seedlings in window-boxes, flats and hotbeds coming along? Next week, weather permitting, all transplanting should take place.

AN INTERESTING FACT.

It seems that the development of musical genius today rests with the piano-player or the gramophone.

Investigation of this fact, in a large Yonge street firm, Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, next to Eaton's, reveals five of the best grade pianos—a Gourlay, Heintzman, Knabe, New York Weber and Haines Bros., practically new, taken from the finest homes in exchange for a Gourlay "Angelus" Player.

These exceptional pianos are now on sale at the price of a mere ordinary instrument, and shrewd buyers watch for these rare chances to possess a valuable piano.

A MAN IN THE OPEN

By ROGER POCOCK

virtue never been starved and froze, or fooled and betrayed. Your colors ain't run, 'cause they've never been to the wash. You don't know good from evil, and you set thar judgin' me.

"Tears running down your face, eh? You think you struck it rough when you came up agin me. Poor Carrots playin' Christian martyr. I done you good if you know'd it. I'm all the schoolin' you got in real life. I waked ye from dreams to livin'. And you an' me is women, sisters in pain. I wish'd I'd auburn hair like your'n, Kate, and a baby David to favor me with hair an' eyes. And it I'd had a home! But I didn't get a fair show ever, and every time I done good, I got it in the neck. Well, what's the odds?

"It wasn't you brung me down, Kate. Don't cry like that, dear. It don't matter. Nothing matters. It was this Brooke which done for me, not you or Jesse. Brooke's only a thing I took in like a lost dog 'cause he was hungry. He said he'd manage my business, and he shorely did—invested all I'd got in a governess, and a bonfire at Mathson's, and a stampede of mules. Then he fooled a widow down to Ashcroft to start him running a tourist joint, and I was to be turned out. And he fell in love with you.

"I guess that's all, excep' I got to tell you one thing. It was nursing the sick men kep' me straight all them years, kep' me from drink. You see I was meant for a nurse, trained for a nurse until—until—well, never you mind. Brooke stopped the nursing, and I drank. I'm only a nurse gone wrong.

"Yes, your eyes is wonderin' why they don't come back with them bandages, and the bath. Don't worry about that, 'cause I'll be dead by daybreak. Jesse loved yer. Brooke loved yer, and somehow, well, I'm kinder ranging that way myself. And if I go, you'll get back Jesse, eh?"

Rallying what courage I had left, I knelt down and kissed my sister, my poor sister. For a moment I let her stroke my carroty hair, which she liked. Then I ran to hurry my people to bring the beef tea, the hot water, the bandages. I found that wretched nurse detaining Billy and the Chinaman, with some pretence that I must not be disturbed. I was telling her to get out of my sight, to go to her bed, when a revolver shot rang thru the echoing house.

Polly had crawled to the doorstep, found her revolver. She who gave everything in life, had given me back to Jesse, and lay dead, her forehead shattered in with the revolver shot. For some seconds Billy and I hung back, watching from the doorway while a slow coil of smoke unfolded in the wan light of the dawn. The rain had ceased, and the east was all aglow with golden radiance.

Billy knelt and touched the poor broken forehead, then looking up at me, "This time," he said, "it's real."

EPILOG.

Once more with Jesse in Cathedral Grove! The breath of evening stirred its tangled coral, the long needles clustered in globes were swaying as censors away, with heavy incense. Beyond the purple night swept up over the glowing cliffs to where the upper forest, like an edge of flame, burned against deeps of sky.

"Come to the hilltop; blackbird choristers

Jesse lay dreaming while I sang to him. Crisp silvered hair, and the deeply graven lines of his dear face, gave him at rest a sweet sad dignity; but presently he would look up, his big mouth humorous, his eyes alight with fun, a man of commanding power matured in wisdom, in sympathy, and valor to lead his fellows.

Thru the east window of the grove, I could see a little procession of my closest friends pass on their Sunday stroll. First came Pete, ill at ease in his Sabbath suit of blacks, and with him, arm in arm, was Mrs. Pete in silk, full-skirted, prickly, and so very grim. Then Billy passed slowly by, his mother stumping beside him, bound to keep the pace. They had the new rabbit with them, collared and chained like a bulldog, and were followed by David's nurse, dear Patsy, Billy's wife—plucking my young anemones—the wretch!

Out on the perilous edge of Apex Rock I could see young Mr. Nisted, Father Jared's nephew, a pupil in Jesse's school of colonial training. With rod and line he was seriously fishing—for birds!

"Don't you reckon," said Jesse, relighting a stale cigar, "that it's time we stopped our book?"

"Oh, but——"

"It's tempting Providence, young woman; it's encouraging the police. From the moment you started the thing, we've had more'n our share of adventures. Put up a notice, 'Book Closed. No more adventurers need apply. Try Surly Brown for a change.'"

"But what shall we do?"

"Publish the blamed thing, and serves it right. Throw it to the critics."

"But it's all secrets!"

"Change the names and places. We'll be 'Mr. and Mrs. Smith,' well-meaning private persons located somewhere west. I'm going to have blue eyes."

"But mine are blue."

"I made first grab. You can have green, and a large mouth, and your Christian name is Carrots. Hello, here's Baby David."

My son was coming thru the scented dusk, and in his arms he carried a large dog, a china dog with gilt muzzle, split from nose to tail, but carefully mended.

"Sonny," said Jesse, "don't you drop Maria, or she'll have puppies."

"I did, and she didn't; so there! Something dropped out, tho. See, mummie."

David had thrown Maria into my lap, and danced about in the gloaming with some strange trophy, the tail of a large animal.

"Sort of reminds me," said Jesse, "of being a little boy. That's the Inspector's tale. This is a long way, too, from the Labrador."

The wind made quite a disturbance, telling the pines to hush, while both my son and Jesse wanted to play with the wolf tail, and would not be quiet, tho already the stars and the fireflies had lighted Cathedral Grove, and the great river like an organ crooned the first deep notes of nature's evensong. An awed expectant silence came to us.

"Lighten our darkness," said the grave old trees, "we beseech Thee."

"By Thy great mercy," pleaded the little flowers.

"Defend us from all perils," the small birds twittered.

"And dangers of the night," the aspens quavered.

"For the love of Thy only Son," cried the south wind.

"Our Saviour Jesus Christ," a woman's voice responded.

"Amen," the cliffs were breathing.

"Amen," the high clouds echoed.

"Amen," said the organ river.

And from the reverent woodlands came:

"Amen, Amen."

END.

No Other Way

By GORDON HOLMES

CHAPTER I.

The Open Door.

"Apply for an adjournment? Draw back now? After all the horror and ignominy of the last year? Why should I?"

The woman's pale features flushed with indignation and the brown tint in her eyes kindled into flame. Mr. Mowlem, of Mowlem & Wrench, bent his gray head again over a newspaper lying open on his office table.

"In the circumstances it seems rather hard," he murmured, half in plea, half in apology. Indeed, at that moment he was thinking, "Why couldn't the idiot have been content—at any rate, discreet? No man in New York today has a prettier wife."

"Hard!" Mrs. Waverton fastened on the word almost fiercely. Young as she was, and dainty in figure and costume as a bit of rare Chelsea, she had suffered so much at the hands of her scapegrace husband that endurance was at an end. "You say it is hard that I should secure my freedom because this cruel man has met with an accident. If you and I were living in an earlier age, we should admit rather that he had been punished by Providence for some of the wrong and injustice he has inflicted on others. What of my long-drawn-out torture, the sneers, the shrugs, the malicious whisperings of society? Do you know what people are saying? 'Oh, Curly Waverton isn't half bad—shouldn't wonder if that little New England Puritan of a wife of his doesn't make his life miserable.' I amagine you keep aloof from the shallow people in our set, Mr. Mowlem; but they form some part of my world, and that is how they talk. 'Poor Curly! a real good fellow if you take him the right way.' Never a word for the weeping, outraged wife! Never a thought for the sweet little girl who, some day in years to come, will wring my heart by asking why she has never seen her father! Oh, the bitterness and wickedness of it all! And now, because his mischievous life is checked by a mishap, probably the direct outcome of his evil ways, the pity goes only to the man and is withheld from the woman!"

Tears glistened in the brown eyes and the incensed voice broke.

Mowlem adjusted his spectacles, sat back in his chair and lifted both hands in mild protest against the storm he had raised so unwittingly. "My dear Mrs. Waverton—" he began.

"I am not your dear Mrs. Waverton or you would never even hint at a withdrawal of my suit! It is only common fairness that I should demand justification in the eyes of the world!"

"Believe me, I meant nothing of the sort. I—er—suggested a postponement. The courts are always open to a reasonable laxity in procedure when one of the parties to a suit can be shown to be prevented by illness or serious injury from putting in an appearance."

"But I have been given to understand that this case would be undefended."

"True—quite true, my dear lady. There is, there can be, no defence. Unhappily, and I use the word solely in its application to you, Mr. Waverton seems to have welcomed rather than evaded the petition. His lawyers have accepted service, and there the matter rests. I assure you I am thinking wholly of your interests and of your position in that very world of gossip and slander which cares so little for the rights and wrongs of these domestic upheavals. Come, now—take a calm view of the facts! Mr. Waverton is lying at Palm Beach with a sprained wrist and a severe scalp wound, the outcome of an automobile smash. His condition will certainly be mentioned in court, and in any event it will be referred to by the newspapers. It is an unfortunate occurrence at this crisis in your affairs; but I should fail in my duty if I did not point out that you risk the loss of public sympathy, whatever its value may be, by appearing against him this week."

Doris Waverton sighed. Such outbursts of emotion as that with which she had momentarily overwhelmed the lawyer were not habitual. Usually she was self-contained and reserved—there was an element of truth in the description, "a pretty New England Puritan," given her by some of her acquaintances—but today, when the ordeal for which she had nerved herself threatened to be deferred, the hidden springs of her being had risen in revolt.

"What is the alternative?" she asked, after a pause.

"An application to a judge to hold over the proceedings until some later date—say, October. And—there is one other argument. To a man of Claude Waverton's habits, an accident of this kind is likely to be more serious than if he lived a regular and temperate life. In addition to his other injuries, he is suffering from a shock to the system. He may die."

"Such men do not die. They live to plague others."

"We lawyers train ourselves to disregard sentiment in these matters. On general principles, your husband is not a good subject to be pitched headlong into a dry watercourse."

Mrs. Waverton rose and went to the window. She looked out over Trinity churchyard, where trees and shrubs were expanding their spring buds in the beams of a bright sun.

"I have not heard the exact details," said the woman at last, and her voice was weary and broken. "What does it say in the newspaper?"

Mr. Mowlem coughed and readjusted his spectacles. "Generally speaking—" he began.

"Forgive me, but I wish to hear the exact text."

She spoke over her shoulder, and did not notice that the man's deeply lined, legal face showed some hint of perplexity. Evidently he did not wish to peruse the item just as it stood; but he seemed to obey his client's demand instantly.

"A Palm Beach correspondent telegraphs under date of yesterday," he read:

"Mr. Claude G. Waverton, well known in sporting circles in the United States and Europe, met with a serious accident last night when motoring from Boynton to Palm Beach.

"It seems that Mr. Waverton had been spending the evening at a house near Boynton, an establishment where roulette and stud poker are not unknown. His chauffeur happened to be ill; so Waverton was alone in the car when he began the return journey at midnight, and, as he has the repute of being a daring driver, he was urged to take the old coast road, which is safer, tho somewhat longer, than the new road skirting the lakes. He appears, however, to have disregarded this advice, because his overturned car was found at daybreak this morning, close to the railroad track, where the lakes road crosses it some five miles from Palm Beach. Near the car was lying the dead body of a man, apparently some wayfarer who had been run over, while Waverton himself was stretched unconscious in a small canon, some thirty feet below a retaining wall. Were it not for a guava tree breaking his fall, and becoming entangled with his clothing, he would have slipped into a sink-hole, as the descent at this point is almost precipitous.

"Waverton, it is rumored, had won a large sum of money at roulette during the evening, and it was assumed at first that he had been attacked and robbed. The police, however, discovered notes to the value of twenty-five thousand dollars in his pocketbook, and this, it is estimated, would be approximately the amount of his winnings.

"By a singular coincidence yesterday was Waverton's birthday. He then became thirty-three years old, and he backed that number heavily when a Florida millionaire took the bank. Curiously enough, 33 turned up nine times in thirty-three coups—in one freak run it came three times in succession. There was a good deal of excitement in the house during this singular run of luck, which took place between 10 p.m. and 10.45 p.m., and Mr. Edgar O. Schwartz, the host, was much annoyed because of the high betting between Waverton and the banker, both of whom must have arranged to play roulette that evening, and came well fixed with cash."

Tired and Weak Nerves Exhausted

The feelings of fatigue and languor which overcome so many people at this season of the year tell of the exhausted condition of the nerves.

It is impossible to keep up the action of the heart and the vitality of the nerves when the blood is thin and watery, and this is why nearly everybody needs tonic treatment in the spring.

Some of the symptoms are restlessness, purposeless activity, insomnia, absent-mindedness, tired gait, lack of ambition and enthusiasm, headache and neuralgic pains, dyspepsia and feelings of languor and depression.

Monotony of work and mental overstrain or worry sap the nervous system, as does also the strenuousness of modern life, whether in the business or social world.

More and more men and women are obliged to seek the assistance of such concentrated foods as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore vitality to the tired and wornout nerves.

Such treatment is necessary, because diseases of the nerves do not right themselves. As nerve force runs low the digestive system fails to extract the necessary nutrition from the food. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies in condensed form the ingredients required and restores health.

A little patience is necessary in treating diseases of the nerves, and rest helps to restore strength. You can be sure of lasting beneficial results when you use

THE KIND OF ADVICE.

The Telegram recommends Mr. Geary not to accept a position on the Hydro-Electric Commission, if it be offered him, lest he lose his reputation by becoming responsible for what has been done by Mr. Ellis and Mayor Hocken. This is excellent advice, whether the reason be a good one or not, but all the same no attempt should be made to strain Mr. Geary's loyalty to The Telegram, by any offer that might render its advice distasteful. If The Telegram be really solicitous for Mr. Geary's welfare, it might administer some advice that would be really useful to him. Mr. Geary holds an office in the city hall, which requires a big man to fill. If Mr. Geary is unable to fill the shoes of the corporation counsel, he will find that the vacant spaces and gaps and general looseness cannot be padded out by political activity in the local organizations. The Telegram could give wise and possibly well-informed advice to Mr. Geary, anent his relations with local party workers, and the danger to city interests which exists in all such relations. A city official should be absolutely free and untrammeled to act in the city's behalf and without regard to any other interest, and that is doubly true of such an office as that of the corporation counsel. When political or partisan friendships and alliances interfere with the unhampered discharge of civic duties, where neither fear nor favor should operate, it is impossible for a civic official to acquire the reputation or perform the functions of a first-class man. The Telegram, which is an adept in administering advice of this kind, should administer some to Mr. Geary. He needs this, whereas the other advice may be unnecessary.

POINTS OF VIEW

Has Mr. Sweany not had enough, or is it a gratuitous airing The Telegram gave him last night? The ridiculous view taken by our amusing contemporary, that Mr. Couzens may have his faith shaken in the men who appointed him, because they appointed him, is not likely to solace Mr. Sweany, who also lost faith in the commissioners because they appointed Mr. Couzens. The Telegram will find it difficult to reconcile the points of view of Mr. Sweany and Mr. Couzens. It has made better attempts at creating a situation than this, and will doubtless try again.

An interesting sidelight is thrown on The Telegram's mental reactions by the capital letters which indicate, in this connection, its chief cause of wrath. "By unanimous resolution," the commissioners acted as they did. The Telegram hates things to be unanimous. It likes a split, and nothing doing. Business is transacted and the city goes ahead by unanimous resolution. When anybody agrees with The Telegram, it suspects it is wrong. When The World agrees with it, it wants to change its mind.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT.

In May, 1911, the City of Chattanooga, Tennessee, passed under commission government. After about two years' experience the citizens are well satisfied that the change was beneficial and the advantage has been seen in many directions. As in other American cities that have adopted the plan administrative control was vested in a board of five commissioners, presided over by the mayor, who is individually responsible for the department of public works and finance.

As reported in The City of Denver, the semi-monthly journal issued by that enterprising municipality, which is now also passing under commission government, the mayor of Chattanooga entirely approves of the commission principle. Its essence, he thinks, is direct responsibility, and he advocates it because it eliminates partisan politics and direct control; fixes definitely administrative responsibility; makes officials answerable directly to the people; facilitates the transaction of public business and ensures economy based on business methods. Government by an elected commission, accompanied with the power of initiation and the referendum, is not a limitation but an extension of democratic principles.

SPEED RISK.

No one need be surprised at the fatal termination of the accident at College and Dufferin streets. When vehicles of any description proceed thru the streets at the rate of thirty miles an hour, whether they be street cars, motor cars, cycles or mad horses, collisions are bound to occur sometimes. Why is it regarded as dangerous to have a horse traveling along the street at fifteen miles an hour, and safe for a motor car or a street car to go 25? Public opinion is divided on these points and the ownership of a horse or a motor car affects it considerably.

One point has been brought out by the accident which should not be overlooked. Certain street car motormen, with the object of varying a somewhat monotonous existence, are tempted to endeavor to block the passage of motor cars, with the assistance of the act that forbids a motor car to pass a standing street car. If the street car gets to the corner first the motor must wait till the street car starts before it can proceed. Whoever can get up speed first may win to the next corner. Sporting passengers on the street cars lay wagers how far they can beat the motor cars. The motor cars should keep off the car line streets as far as they can, and Mr. Fleming might frown judiciously at the proper members of his staff.

Pedestrians are betaking themselves more and more to the back streets, so as to avoid the carnage and terror which threaten the main thorofares.

HON. ADAM BECK'S ILLNESS.

Much sympathy will be felt for Hon. Adam Beck, who has been threatened with a breakdown for some time, and has had at last to accept medical advice and take a short rest. Mr. Beck's herculean efforts for the people of Ontario in establishing and extending the hydro-electric system have not been sufficient in themselves to exhaust an unfailing vigor of body and mind, and his friends trust that no private sorrow may be added to the public burden he has so nobly borne.

NORTH TORONTO'S SOLVENCY.

North Toronto has vindicated herself in the eyes of the city auditors. A surplus of over $130,000 is a sufficient reply to all the innuendoes and cheap sneers indulged in by some who should have known better. The most lamentable state of the case is that some of these critics were actually pleased to think that North Toronto had a deficit. This unholy glee is not a healthy sign, and only a morbid or diseased mentality would cultivate it. We ought to be at least as keen on the chase for good as for evil, but those who chase evil by preference and rejoice at its discovery are not to be congratulated on their taste. The tendency is degenerative, and frequently ends in a determination to discover evil whether it exists or no. Several notable examples of this are ready to hand in Toronto at present.

NOT FOR CITIES.

The minister of education had better limit the action of that library clause to towns and villages. This can be done when the legislature reassembles on May 6. The cities have no need for such a provision.

The Globe used the same methods in reporting Rev. Mr. Jackson as it did on Mr. Borden's speech.

THE CASE OF W. J. WATSON.

Hamilton Herald: Some years ago W. J. Watson was pretty well known in Hamilton. He published the weekly Conservative paper in Dundas, and made things lively in the neighboring town. He has a way of making things lively, for he is an active and aggressive citizen. Latterly he has been living in Oshawa, publishing the weekly Conservative paper there, and as usual, making things lively. He somehow incurred the enmity of a certain section of the Conservative party in Oshawa, and so when he was appointed to the position of police magistrate recently his enemies got busy, entered a protest against the appointment and nominated another candidate for the position. A dozen years ago Mr. Watson was separated from his wife, who went to live in California, her husband contributing to her support there. Some years later Mr. Watson went to North Dakota and got a divorce. Recently he and an Oshawa lady were married in Michigan. Yesterday Police Magistrate Watson was arrested on a charge of bigamy and lodged in jail. His first wife has been brought from California to give evidence in the case.

This case will cause widespread interest, for there are many men and women now living in Canada whose conjugal status is the same as that of Mr. and Mrs. Watson. If Mr. Watson is guilty of bigamy, then a good many other persons of reputable character in this country are living in bigamous relations and are liable to criminal prosecution.

The criminal code says: "No person shall be liable to conviction of bigamy in respect of having gone thru a form of marriage in a place not in Canada, unless such person, being a British subject resident in Canada, leaves Canada with intent to go thru such a form of marriage." It would appear from this that if Mr. Watson and his second wife went to Michigan for the purpose of getting married in that state, the marriage was bigamous. But there are judicial decisions which support the contention that Canada, being not a sovereign state, but on a colonial basis, has power to legislate only for offences committed within Canada.

When this case comes to trial it may be found that very important principles are involved in it which do not appear on the surface—even including the national status of this country.

WHITEWASH THE TOWN.

Editor World: If the city is to be properly cleaned up it would not be at all a bad idea for our health officer to follow the example of the H. O. of New York City, who is compelling the whitewashing of all cellars in that large city. When one stops to think what a coat of whitewash might mean applied to the cellars of the many unsanitary houses one sees passing along the streets of the central part of this city, the idea of the health officer of New York City seems indeed a step in the right direction towards beginning at a source of contagious diseases. Let our M. O. H. issue a like mandate and see that it is carried out, and we shall doubtless notice a distinct difference in the monthly death report for Toronto.

I had rooms in one of the nicest localities of the city here last springtime, and I did my best to get the landlady to clean up her cellar and to have the dampness stopped in some way or another, as all waterpipes had been frozen several times during the winter and burst again and again, making the house a regular death-trap for the inmates. The children all had bronchitis, while I was taking treatment for post-nasal catarrh, which defied all remedies until I left that unhealthy house. No officer had been to inspect that house, or if he had it must have been by one glance indifferently hasty, taking for granted, most likely, that the house (being in a nice neighborhood, and the property of an influential landlord—one who has since then attained to high honor in the courts), must, therefore, be "perfectly all right."

The Philosopher of Folly

POETS.

Poets are many and divers and various—some wear the mantle of magical song, others make life for themselves most precarious spouting fool rhymes as they amble along. Now and again comes an all-wool variety, breathing the music of song for his breath—giving his name to some highbrow society many years after the date of his death. Then there's a class who write stuff that is serious, full of false measures and little but sound; oh, how these minstrels with messages weary us, when in punk verse they exhort and expound! Others go in for the lightsome and lyrical singing the flowers, the birds and the trees; one in a hundred, by some sort of miracle, tickles our fancy with verselets on these. Some poets sing us the love-songs of Italy, others translate us the epics of Greece; some write memorlams quaintly and wittily—let us all hope that their tribe may increase! Some of them starve on archaic pentameter; others kept raking in bushels of scads, till they fill barrels nine feet in diamatre, writing the verses we read in the ads. Others there are, and for these blame the editor, weary and seeking to fill a blank space—not knowing whether he'd best double-lead it or use a near poem to put in its place. Often he shocks the entire community printing the verse which keeps floating around; tho he prints stuff like this here with impunity, rightly he ought to be put in the pound. If he keeps on, with appalling ferocity mobs will demolish his presses some night. Rather than rouse up such fierce animosity spaces like this he might better leave white.

If Breathing Is Difficult If Nostrils Are Plugged You Have Catarrh

At Last a Remedy That Already Has Permanently Cured Thousands.

Perhaps you haven't heard of the new remedy—it's so pleasant to use—fills the nose, throat and lungs with a healing balsamic vapor like the air of the pine woods. It's really a wonderful remedy—utilizes that marvelous antiseptic only found in the Blue Gum tree of Australia.

The name of this grand specific Catarrhozone, and you can't find its equal on earth for coughs, colds, catarrh or throat trouble. You see it's no longer necessary to drug the stomach—that spoils digestion—just simply inhale the balsamic essences of Catarrhozone, which are so rich in healing that they drive out every trace of catarrh in no time.

"I look upon Catarrhozone as the most valuable medical discovery of recent years," writes R. V. Potter of Prince Albert. "As a long sufferer from nasal and throat catarrh I was obliged to take considerable medicine, and, although it helped me, my digestion was always disturbed and the catarrh didn't go away. With Catarrhozone it was different. It cleaned my nose and throat of all phlegm and discharges, enabled me to breathe freely, relieved a stuffy feeling in my nose and frontal headaches. Today I am entirely free from catarrh, and I use my Catarrhozone Inhaler a little every day in order to prevent the disease from returning."

With Catarrhozone experimenting ends. A permanent curative action begins. Lasting relief from Catarrh results. The large size costs $1, lasts two months and is guaranteed. Small size, 50c; sample size, 25c. All storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Master's Chambers.
Before J. S. Cartwright, K.C., Master.

Jordan v. Jordan.—Plaintiff in person moved for order amending statement of claim by adding claim for assault and false imprisonment. H. E. Stone (Parry Sound) for defendant. Judgment: It was admitted on the argument of this motion that the alleged assault and false imprisonment, now asked to be added to the statement of claim, are the same as were the subject of the action discontinued nearly thirteen years ago. That being so, the claim was long since barred by the statute of limitations. To allow the amendment would therefore be useless and of no possible benefit to plaintiff, apart from the question whether such an action by a wife against her husband will lie. For this reason the motion must be dismissed with costs to defendant in the cause.

Gibson v. Verral.—Murphy (Robinette & Co.) for defendant, obtained on consent, order dismissing action without costs.

Lavesky v. Samuels.—Odell (Watson & Co.) for defendant, obtained on consent, order dismissing action and vacating lien and lis pendens.

Phillips v. Monteith.—F. Aylesworth, for plaintiff, moved for judgment, under C.R., 603. T. H. Perine for defendant. Motion enlarged until 30th inst., peremptorily.

McCord v. Scilly. — McCormack (Ogden & B.) for plaintiff, obtained order for substitutional service of notice of trial on defendant Wheeler, be serving same on his wife.

Campbell v. Verral. — Murphy (Robinette & Co.) for defendant, obtained on consent, order dismissing action without costs.

McCord v. Wheeler.—McCormack (Ogden & B.) for plaintiff, obtained order for substitutional service of notice of trial on defendant by service on his wife.

Michen v. Sinclair.— J. King, K.C., for defendant moved for order setting aside service of writ for irregularity in the copy served. G. R. Roach for plaintiff. Order made allowing amendment of copy served and validating service as of today. Costs to defendant in the cause.

Davis and Mehr (judgment creditors,) Theresa Kour (judgment debtor) and Metropolitan Bank (garnishees.)—L. Davis, for judgment creditors, obtained attaching order, returnable on May 2. Costs reserved.

Ellenor v. Linton.—Jackson (C. Elliott) for defendant, obtained on consent, order dismissing action without costs and vacating lien and lis pendens.

Garbe v. Garbe.—W. J. McLarty, for plaintiff, moved for order for interim alimony and disbursements. Murphy (Robinette & Co.) for defendant. Order made for payment of $3 a week from this date and $15 for interim disbursements.

Switzer v. Shackleton.—Jackson (C. Elliott) for defendant, obtained on consent, order dismissing action without costs and vacating lien and lis pendens.

Gibson v. Monck.—(2 actions)—W. H. Wallbridge, for defendant Monck in each case, obtained on consent, order dismissing action without costs and vacating lien and lis pendens.

Judges' Chambers.
Before Riddell, J.

Re Hugh McKague.—M. Grant, for executors of estate of Hugh McKague, moved for order authorizing executors to apply income from trust fund to be invested for the benefit of infant Clara McKague. F. W. Harcourt, K.C., for infant. Order made.

Re Hay.—F. W. Harcourt, K.C., for mother obtained an order for payment of $100 for maintenance.

Jordan v. Jordan.—Plaintiff in person appealed from order of Master in Chambers of 29th inst, refusing leave to amend statement of claim. Enlarged to enable notice of motion to be served.

Carr v. Town of North Bay. — J. Haverson, K.C., for B. M. Mulligan, moved for order adding Mulligan as a party defendant to this action which is brought for a declaration that the voting on the local option bylaw in North Bay, at the municipal election in January last, was irregular and invalid, and that such a bylaw may be voted on again in January 1914. H. E. Irwin, K.C., for plaintiff. J. M. Ferguson for the town. Order made adding B. M. Mulligan as a party defendant on his undertaking to be bound by any order this court may make as to costs.

Judges' Chambers.
Before Middleton, J.

Tucker v. Bank of Ottawa.—J. G. Smith, for defendant. F. Aylesworth for plaintiff. Appeal by defendant from order of master in chambers dismissing motion for order staying action or for security for costs. Judgment: If the statement of claim discloses no cause of action it cannot be attacked in this way, and defendant does not base his appeal upon this ground, but contends that an assignment having been made, the action ought to be stayed. The action is the plaintiff's action, and be it well or ill founded, there is no ground for saying he is a nominal plaintiff, put forward by others. The claims are—the first two and probably the third—for purely personal damage such as would not pass to the assignee. The present motion fails and must be dismissed with costs to the plaintiff in the cause. This will not prejudice any properly conceived motion.

Appellate Division.
Before Mulock, C. J.; Clute, J.; Riddell, J.; Sutherland, J.; Leitch, J.

Wallberg v. Jenckes Machine Co.—G. H. Kilmer, K.C., and J. A. Rowland, for plaintiff. J. Bicknell, K.C., and M. L. Gordon, for defendant. Appeal by plaintiff from judgment of Middleton, J., of 27th December, 1912. Argument of appeal resumed from yesterday and concluded. Judgment: Agreement to be rectified by including a clause to the effect that defendant was entitled to have material carried from one tramway to another, and have it distributed where pipe was to be laid, plaintiff claiming on this appeal only for cost of transporting material from one line to another. Appeal allowed and declared that plaintiff is entitled to recover for that, if parties agree to fix this at $400. If parties do not agree on this amount reference to the master in ordinary, who is to dispose of the matter without further directions. Judgment for amount already allowed not to be disturbed. Appellant to have costs of appeal. Crown appeal dismissed with costs.

Scully v. Ryckman.—I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and C. C. Robinson, for defendant. J. P. MacGregor, for plaintiff. Appeal by defendant from judgment of Lennox, J., of 20th February, 1913. Arguments of appeal resumed from 17th inst. On the application of defendant, the court allowed further evidence, and John P. Stelle, Fred W. Hutchinson, and John Scully, were examined. Appeal not concluded.

INQUIRING INTO BANK'S FAILURE

Bankers' Association to Explain Why Bank of St. Hyacinthe Was Closed.

OTTAWA, April 29.—Joseph Rainville, M.P., of Chambly-Vercheres, told the banking and commerce committee today that he wanted an enquiry into the failure of the Bank of St. Hyacinthe and into the connection therewith of the Canadian Bankers' Association. He declared that there had been a conspiracy on the part of the bankers to have the bank's affairs wound up.

Hon. W. T. White informed Mr. Rainville that he had sent the written charge to President Wilkie of the bankers' association. Mr. Wilkie had replied stating that he had submitted the accusation to Secretary Knight, who would report.

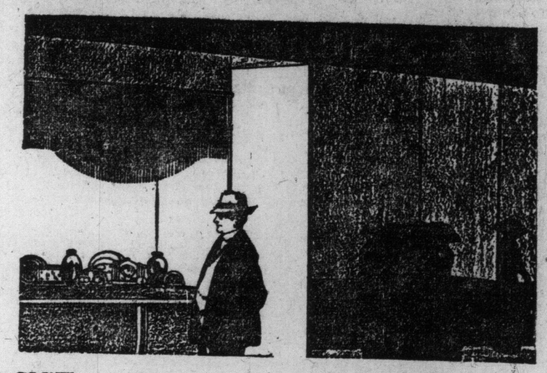

"We will not take any action on the matter," said Mr. White, "until we have received the report."

Major Sharpe argued in favor of taxing bank circulation to the extent of one-half of one per cent. on every hundred dollars. Returns secured from the sale of rights were entirely ignored, he said, and generally speaking, the statements submitted by the banks minimized their profits.

Mr. White stated that considering for instance the record of the Bank of Montreal, it could not be said that the profits were abnormal. Evidence had shown that money does not flow into bank stocks, tho if there is anything that is needed it is such capital. He was not favorable to anything calculated to decrease or hamper such investments.

Monroe & Co., who acted for the Crown Realty, Limited, the purchasers of the Taylor property at Scarboro Junction Station, said last night that the realty company still held the land and would subdivide it themselves next year.

vention to consider the same and have it referred to the Dominion board to be dealt with."

Three other important resolutions were passed by the convention yesterday and are as follows:

"We hereby request the executive officers to call the attention of the Ontario Government to the fact that there is not sufficient time given between the time that a bill is introduced and the time that it receives its third reading, and this does not give the merchants sufficient time to consider the same."

Store Thefts.

"That whereas petty thefts are constantly taking place in departmental stores, and the number of them are greatly out of proportion to the thefts that take place in other stores, and whereas the cost of administration of the law thru our criminal courts is gradually increasing by reason of these thefts, we therefore request the executive to call the attention of the board of police commissioners to this fact and ask them if they would suggest a remedy."

"That it be an instruction from this convention, to the incoming executive, that whenever they deem it desirable, that they make such arrangements as will keep them posted as to the class of articles that appear in newspapers, magazines and journals which reflect on the character and ability of retail merchants, and that they take such steps as will prevent the same."

This is to take the form of a withdrawal of the advertisements of retail merchants from the offending periodicals.

The convention concludes with today's session.

DEMOCRATS STAND IN SOLID PHALANX

Republican Minority Struggle Futilely to Check Tariff Bill's Progress.

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(Can. Press.)—Excited debate and heated wrangle today marked the beginning of the reading of the Democratic tariff bill in the house for amendment. Progress on the perfection of the measure was slow, but the talk was loud and vociferous, and on one occasion brought Speaker Clark to the floor with a vigorous speech.

All day the Republicans offered amendments to various paragraphs in the chemical schedule ,and every amendment was calmly voted down by the big Democratic majority.

Much of the talk of the day turned on the records of the Democratic and Republican sides of the house on the question of creating a tariff commission. The Republicans, led by Representative Mann of Illinois, began their attacks on the provisions of the first schedule of the bill, the chemical schedule, by declaring that the "weaknesses" in the rate showed the need of the investigation of a tariff board. Representative Underwood, in reply, declared that the Democrats had provided the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce in the department of commerce, and that the failure of the Taft administration to vitalize the bureau with sufficient appropriations had prevented its doing the work of tariff investigation.

Reading of the chemical schedule was completed shortly after 6 o'clock and the house recessed.

METHODIST PLANS ON MORAL REFORM

Appointment of New Associate Secretary—Dominion Divided Into Districts.

Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, Methodist moral reform secretary, will take a trip in June to study social conditions in Norway, so that he will be in a position to speak authoritatively on the merits of government ownership of the liquor traffic.

Owing to the decision of Rev. John Garbutt to decline the position of additional associate secretary in the department of moral reform, Rev. T. Jackson Wray has been appointed. He will have charge of the western work, and be located in Winnipeg.

Rev. Dr. Hazlewood has decided to make Toronto his headquarters for the central Canada moral reform district.

Rev. J. Smith will have headquarters at Montreal for the eastern provinces.

For the present year, the efforts of the department will be concentrated on rescue and educational work, and the establishment of homes for victims of the white slave traffic.

Hear Judge Smith on Christian Science, Massey Hall, Friday night. 34

TO BENEFIT OTHER SUFFERERS

You May Publish My Letter About "Fruit-a-tives"

Mr. Jones is proud to acknowledge the great debt of gratitude he owes "Fruit-a-tives." He is glad to have his letter published in order that other sufferers may be induced to try these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices.

"SARNIA, Ont., Feb. 5, 1911.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with constipation, indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors, but derived no benefit whatever. Finally, I read an advertisement for 'Fruit-a-tives.' I decided to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial, and they did exactly what was claimed for them. I have now taken them for some time and find they are the only remedy that does me good. I have recommended 'Fruit-a-tives' to a great many of my friends, and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly.

"PAUL J. JONES."

MEN, BE STRONG

It's the spirit in a man that says "I WILL!" It's the energy and grit that prompt us to do and dare!

It's men of FORCE—men of ACTION—who are winning all the successes to-day!

No Need for you to be weak

Don't allow all the fresh, young strength to go out of your life.

If you are losing the strength of youth and can see evidence, from day to day, that your physical system is going to decay, you should, in common justice to your future happiness, take steps to check this.

Don't make the mistake of thinking that this can't be done. It can, and has been done in thousands of cases.

Don't deceive yourself into believing that it is natural for any person to thus exhaust his power.

Nature is appealing to you every moment to save yourself. The slight pains that you feel, the momentary spells of weakness, the periodical loss of memory, dullness of brain, drowsiness—all point to the necessity of curing yourself now. I have a positive cure for you in my

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt

This is the treatment that has restored thousands of people to the highest standard of manhood and womanhood. It is adapted especially to this trouble, and never fails in in its grand work.

Dr. McLaughlin: Credit Forks, Ont., Jan. 11, 1912.

Dear Sir,—I feel it is my duty to write you as to the benefits received by the use of your Belt. I had been a sufferer from Rheumatism for the past fifteen years, and in that time I have lost an average of two months every year, and not only time lost, but what I had to suffer! I had tried many doctors, but their medicine had no effect on me at all. After two weeks' use of your Belt, I have felt no more signs of Rheumatism, and that is about three months ago. I am still using the Belt, as I think it is a good thing for other ailments, as well as Rheumatism, and I don't think it can be beaten. I will gladly recommend your Belt to any sufferer as I was. You can use this letter if you wish, as I am sure your Belt will do all you claim for it and more. With very best wishes for your success, I remain, respectfully yours, H. DOWNIE.

Electricity is life to the nerves and organs of the body. They cannot live without it. Get back the power and make yourself a man among men.

CHINESE CONVERTS READY TO REVOLT

Startling conditions have just been officially reported to the Methodist mission board. A revolution in the churches in west China to oust the missionaries, and take control by the native ministers, threatens. Rev. J. Elson says: "A movement towards the establishment of an independent Chinese Church has been the outcome of the revolution." He reports that at the meeting of the West China Methodist Council there were 46 Chinese evangelists and 46 laymen, and that a class of 13 probationers for the ministry were in attendance."

Speaking of the movement of the Chinese to nationalize the churches there Mr. Elson says: "This development on the part of our Chinese leaders has made it incumbent that greater responsibility should be placed upon them."

COAST LEAGUE WILL JOIN COMMISSION

Presidents Quinn and Cowan to Confer at Winnipeg—Donihee For Blue Shirts.

The pipe of peace is all ready lighted to be smoked by the lacrosse magnates and New Westminster has decided that this is not the time to be the goat for the others to wreak their hostilities upon. From all reports the session at Vancouver was a lively proceeding, something after the way they used to go to it in the old C. L. A. days. It took nearly twelve hours for Con. Jones to hammer his ideas into their heads, but after a whole lot of successful pounding they gradually came round to his way of thinking. Harry Cowan, the president of the British Columbia League, has been appointed to meet President Quinn of the D.L.A. at Winnipeg early in May and Mr. Isaac Pitblado, K.C., of Winnipeg, will most likely be appointed chairman at that meeting. New Westminster have seemingly forgotten all about the N.L.U., and all they made a kick about was the Marshall and Donihee deals. Jones soon smoothed these matters over when he produced a contract giving him the power to trade Buck Marshall for Harry Hyland, and so it was decided to release Donihee back to the Torontos again. Victorias will wait another year before they enter the Coast League, feeling that at present they could not do themselves justice and perhaps kill the game in the bud. Already New Westminster are at practice and they must be seriously considering if grabbing another championship as they will have about two weeks' start of the Salmon Bellies.

Now the Toronto teams will go ahead and sign up their players and will begin to get their gutted sticks loosened up in a week or so. The Nationals have already got L'Hereaux signed up and he will guard the nets again this season, while George Dussault will be back at inside home. Kennedy and the ball team are having their squabbles over practice hours. He might get Charlie Querrie to give him some pointers.

Now that the O.A.L.A. groupings are out and something like 150 teams are getting ready for the fray Joe Lally should have a great harvest and so the great man of the cast will be able to smile at his rivals the pros, for the time being.

Albert E. Britnell, the man who was killed in the auto wreck, was going to try out with the Tecumsehs this year.

The Lansdowne Juniors desire a game out of town for May 24. Write E. Walterhouse, 340 St. Clarens avenue.

In one of the roughest games of lacrosse ever played at Baltimore, the Johns Hopkins eleven defeated Lehigh by the score of 6 goals to 2. The victory was due largely to the clever work of LaMotte, ably seconded by Knipp and Hulburt, tho the teamwork of the black and blue was a factor in the result. A severe blow with a stick given to Knipp, the smallest man on the Hopkins, started a near-riot. Hopkinsian rooters swarmed to the field, but were soon persuaded to let the game proceed.

Models of SS. "Alsatian" and Brig "Jean."

The Allan Line is exhibiting in the rotunda of the King Edward Hotel models of the SS. "Alsatian" and Brig "Jean." The SS. "Alsatian" and "Calgarian" (sister ships) have recently been launched and will be ready for service during the present St. Lawrence season. These steamers will be the largest, fastest and finest in the Canadian trade. The dimensions are: Length, 600 feet; beam, 72 feet; depth (to "C" deck), 45 feet; tonnage, 18,000 gross; speed, 19 knots. An interesting feature of the exhibit is the model of the Brig "Jean." It was in this vessel that Capt. Allan sailed to Canada in the year 1819, the length of this small craft being only 75 feet, while the width of the new steamers is 72 feet, only four feet less than the length of the Brig "Jean." This shows that from a very small beginning the old reliable "Pioneer Line" has developed into the premier Canadian steamship company. The Allan Line carried 136,680 passengers last year.

LUCK M'CARTY FIGHTS TONIGHT

Ten Rounds With F. Moran in New York—Sporting News and Gossip.

Luther McCarty will make his first appearance since winning the white heavyweight championship when he fights Fran Moran ten rounds in New York tonight. He has worked into good shape under the direction of Tom McCarney. New York fight fans are going to look him over as probable participant in a match with Gunboat Smith, who so decisively defeated Bombardier Wells, the British champion.

The Cincinnati swat has made its appearance as an official part of baseball. President Ban Johnson of the American League has ordered that when a fielder handling a bunt tries to get a base-runner at third base or home plate, and fails while the bunter is safe at first, the bunter shall be given a hit. Cincinnati scorers have used this system for a long time.

A world's record is claimed for Christy Mathewson by Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants. In a recent game against Philadelphia, Mathewson pitched only 67 balls, 4 7-0 to each of the three batsmen who would face him in an innings. Had he fanned every one he would have had to deliver at least 81 balls. Matty put 'em where the batter had to hit and on all but five of the connections fielders were in the way.

At New York last night, Jim Coffey knocked out Whitey Allen in the first round of a scheduled ten-round bout. In the semi-finals, before the same club, Tom Gibbons of St. Paul outpointed Joe Borrell of Philadelphia in a ten-round bout. After an unintentional foul by Fred Fritts, heavyweight champion of the U. S. Navy, in the third round, the referee gave George Rodel, the Boer champion, the decision, in their scheduled ten-round bout in Brooklyn.

Jean Bouin of France this year, for the third time in succession, won the annual international cross-country race, decided over a course of about ten miles, near Paris, France. England, Scotland and Wales were represented in the race.

The roster of the Covington Baseball Club of the new Federal League looks like an index from an ancient history. On it are such lights of former days as Jack Sudhoff, former Cincinnati pitcher; Ambrose Puttman, formerly with the New York Yankees; Jack Pfiester, once a Chicago Cub; Bill Bartley, at one time with Jersey City; Sam Leeves, who hurled the Pittsburg Pirates to several pennants, and Al Kaiser, former Cub and Boston Brave.

Stanford University of California is going to Japan to play a series of twelve baseball games at the request of Keio University of Tokio. They sail on May 10. Subsequently, the Tokio nine will visit the American college and play a return series.

The annual field day at Upper Canada College takes place on Friday next.

Walter Johnson, pitcher for the Washington Senators, is after a world's shutout record. In 26 successive innings so far this season he has held the opposition scoreless. In his most recent game against the Boston Red Sox he threw 89 balls, of which 66 were strikes. He allowed but two hits.

JUSTIFIES NAME IN ASHLAND OAKS

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 29.—Gowell justified her name in the Ashland Oaks the feature today, and her admirers cashed in after Borel had led her to the wire ahead of The Widow Moon, which had been selected by the wise ones as the best thing in the race. Cash on Delivery was there with the goods too, in the second event, barely beating out James Deckery, which paid those rash enough to place money on his chances for place a sum of $36.50 for every dollar invested, while Bonanza and Morristown, the good things, trailed in the ruck. Susan B. proved the best on the heavy track of the fillies in the third fixture, leading Bracktown Belle, while First Cherry, touted to lead the field, led the second division. See Nature at Her Best.

Spring sings in the blood. It riots in the air. The country lures us with its woods and fields, and the trees beckon with their leafy fingers. Take the advice of those who know and get a wheel, so you can ride out into the sunshine and the open. Hyslop bicycles are selling regularly at twenty-five dollars, and aside from the spring and summer outing, they fit in with your every day work. There will be no more waiting on street corners, no missing of cars, no crowding, no breathing of foul air. You get home quicker, and fares saved pay for the bicycle in a short time.

TRACK AT WOODBINE FAST DRYING OUT

Many Thorobreds Worked Yesterday and Some Fast Time Recorded.

HEARTS OF OAK BEATEN

Ondramida Stepped Half-Mile Dash in Fifty and Two-Fifths.

A fast drying track favored the trainers at the Woodbine yesterday and altho the early morning was somewhat chilly quite a number of railbirds and "clockers" were in evidence.

The fastest work of the season to date was done by the Bassetlaw-Jai Allai 3-year-old filly Sarolta, that ran a half-mile in 50 seconds unattended. This filly is not in the King's Plate entries, but is in the Maple Leaf Stakes, which will be run on Thursday, May 29, the fifth day of the Ontario Jockey Club's spring meeting.

Widow Wise and Ondramon from the same stable stepped a half mile in 50 2-5 seconds, with the filly having the better of the argument.

The surprise of the morning came when Ondramida beat Hearts of Oak in a half mile dash in 50 2-5 seconds. This pair began very fast and ran the first eighth in 11 3-5 seconds, and the quarter in 24. They were head and head at the ⅜ in 36 2-5, when the filly began to draw away. Ondramida galloped on to the ⅝ pole in 1.05 4-5, a very smart work for her.

The 2-year-olds Half-Law and Sun Loop were stepped ⅝ of a mile in 39 seconds, and the Jai Allai colt Aalii Bass led Bee Hive in a ⅝ dash which was run in 38 4-5 seconds.

William Walker came over from his farm with the 2-year-olds Boozer, by Earl Rogers, and Laura, by Woolsthorpe and breezed them ⅝ in 38 3-5 secs., with the filly showing the better of the pair.

Laura is a classy looking filly and one that bids fair of developing into a good performer.

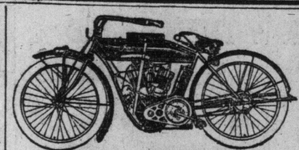

Rockspring, the 4-year-old Martimas—Springwells gelding, and the only candidate from the Hendrie stables in the King's Plate, was headed in a half-mile dash by White Caps. Trainer Eddie Whyte also breezed the good 3-year-old Tankard and Miccosukee.

John Nixon worked the Davies horses in three sets. Knights Differ showed the way for the King's Plate candidates, Gold Bud and Meter, the latter a 3-year-old filly by Orme Shore and out of the well-known Mrs. Frank Foster.

The Platers ran well and are sure to give a good account of themselves.

Knights Differ was full of run, and this 4-year-old again looks like a high-class horse.

A force of men are at work improving the surroundings of the course, and it will not be many days before the Woodbine has a race day appearance.

Matty and Rucker in a Duel Giants Landed on Southpaw

RUCKER WENT TO PIECES AT END GIANTS CAME THRU WITH RALLY

Mathewson Outlasted Brooklyn Southpaw in Greatest Pitchers' Battle of the Year —Twelve Innings Without a Score.

BROOKLYN, April 29.—New York defeated Brooklyn, 6 to 0 today after Mathewson, the great right hander, and Rucker, the star among left hand pitchers, had fought the battle of their lives for 12 innings. The Giants made a whirlwind finish in the thirteenth and won handily by scoring six times in a batting rally.

For seven innings Rucker pitched no hit ball, but one New York player reaching first base. He was Shafer, who got a base on balls in the opening inning. Murray, first up in the eighth, made the initial hit, and was caught stealing. Mathewson also opened the ninth with a single, only to be forced out. Shafer got the third hit for New York in the 12th inning and was caught stealing. Mathewson was hit more freely, but every time the Brooklyns got a start a double play stopped them.

The break came when Doyle opened the 13th with a double and Murray followed with an infield tap that Rucker could not handle. A double and two singles, and a Cincinnati base hit followed quickly, and with four runs and six hits counted, Rucker was relieved. Two outs and a hit off Stack brought the total up to six runs.

Sharp fielding featured the game as well as Mathewson's wonderful control, the Giants star pitching the entire 13 innings without giving a base on balls. Doyle was hit in the face by a bad bounding ball thrown by Myers in the tenth, but finished the game with a great fielding record. Score:

GANZEL WORRIED ABOUT HUSTLERS

Things Are Going Wrong and Changes May Be Made—Confers With Chapin.

ROCHESTER, April 29.—The Rochester team is not traveling to suit Manager Ganzel. Leader Jawn arrived here today from New York to have a conference with President Chapin.

Ganzel will not say much, but the writer was given to believe that several of the pitchers are in poor shape and that something must be done at once.

It is hard to tell what will be the result of the conference, but a friend who ought to know tipped it off that he would not be the least bit surprised to see a big deal pulled off in the near future. This friend, who is very close to the inner circle, says that Ganzel is not satisfied with the way things are going and is anxious to strengthen the team in one or two places. The big chief has given the matter a lot of thought during the last few days, it is said, and will have some mighty important things to discuss with Chapin when they meet. If the men Ganzel is looking for can be secured, new faces will in all probability be seen in the Hustler line-up during Frank Rutz's parade on May 6.

Georgia Peach Makes a Hit and Shows Some Speed—Twelve Innings Game.

DETROIT, April 29.—Chicago defeated Detroit 6 to 5 today in a hard fought 12-inning game that was full of thrills from start to finish. Ty Cobb, playing his first game of the year, received an ovation when he stepped to the plate in the first inning, but failed to produce the hit that would have scored Crawford, who singled before him. In the third the Georgian hit safely, driving in a run, but in the eighth, with two on bases, he rolled weakly to the pitcher for an easy out. Cobb seemed to have his old time speed. In the eleventh he went from first to third while Weaver threw out Gainer at the initial sack. His two fielding chances were not difficult. Score:

THIS PROMISES TO BE SOME PUMPKINS

Battle Royal at Ottawa Tomorrow —Members to Play the Press.

OTTAWA, April 29.—Christy Mathewson's baseball classic, "Won in the Ninth," chronicles no greater thrill than may be anticipated on Parliament Hill Thursday when the press and parliament clash in a full nine innings baseball match. The parliamentarians are not yet over the scrappy mood of the winter months and can be expected to put up a fighting game, while the newspapermen are out to get revenge for being kept up nights during the session while the legislators were getting ready for "Armageddon." The game will be played on the lawn in front of the house of commons. The teams will line up about as follows:

M.P.'s—Wm. Weichel, M.P., pitcher; W. A. Boyd, M.P., catcher; Hon. Dr. Beland, first base; Col. S. Sharpe, second base; H. B. Morphy, shortstop; Wm. Martin, M.P., third base; F. B. McCurdy, M.P., right field; O. Wilcox, M.P., left field; Dr. J. W. Edwards, centrefield; spares, Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Rt. Hon. R. L. Borden, Hon. Dr. Sproule; official scorers, Hon. R. Rogers, Hon. W. T. White, Hon. R. Lemieux.

KEW BEACH AQUATIC ASSOCIATION OFFICERS

The annual spring meeting of the Kew Beach Aquatic Association was held in the club house on Monday evening. A large and very enthusiastic attendance of members greeted the new commodore, Mr. H. F. Lloyd. The club expects to have one of the most successful seasons yet, and every one is working hard to make it so.

James Williams was elected captain, and the following will compose the aquatic committee: Vice Commodore L. E. Charles, chairman; Mr. Jas. Williams, Mr. H. Cassidy, Mr. S. Raine, Mr. W. Williams.

ENGLISH POLO CAPTAIN HURT.

LONDON, April 29.—Walter S. Buckmaster has resigned the captaincy of the English polo team, which is to compete with the American team for the International Polo Cup on Long Island in June. Buckmaster was severely injured in a practice game on April 13, which has resulted in partial disablement of his right arm, and it is not likely that he will even accompany the team to the United States. Captain Lockett of the Eaton Hall team has been invited to replace him.

Alexander ball players are requested to be out to practice Wednesday and Friday nights.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON, Giants' mainstay in the box for years and years, who beat Brooklyn yesterday in the greatest pitchers' duel of the year.

TORONTO OPENS A FIVE-GAME SERIES IN KELLEY'S TOWN TODAY

Luckless Champions Stack Up Against Baltimore For the First Time—Jordan May Play — Brant or Goulait to Pitch—Notes.

After two days of idleness the Leafs will get down to business this afternoon, weather permitting, at Baltimore. The Kelley band is slated to play five games in the Maryland city, and then it is home for the opening.

Goulait or Brant is due to do the twirling for the local outfit, while Dave Roth will likely be Dunn's choice.

There is a chance that Tim Jordan will get back into the fray today. Schultz will likely replace Shaw in centrefield.

Hal Chase is a real star. Three big league clubs want him and are willing to let Frank Chance have almost anything he asks for the great Yankee first sacker. The Red Sox will likely land him.

Let us hope that two days of rest will have chased the jinx.

The Paragon scoreboard will resume operations today. The Leafs tackle Baltimore for the first time, and each play as it takes place will be shown. The board will be shown at the Star Theatre.

Rain stopped Buffalo at Baltimore yesterday.

Newark again have a clear lead. They defeated Schlafly's Pests in telling fashion, and with the Birds idle went out in front all alone.

One game in the National and two in the American League were postponed, owing to rain.

Matty and Rucker sure made things move in Brooklyn yesterday. After pitching twelve innings of airtight ball Rucker blew and the Giants scored six runs. Once again Old Fox Mathewson is the king.

That gentleman Chas. Murphy is a nice sort of a fellow. Cincinnati Reds lost their uniforms on the way to Chicago and when the Cub owner was notified he refused to loan them the Cubs' road uniforms. Owner Comiskey of the White Sox lent Tinker's crew his team's suits and the Reds were a funny looking lot without their red hose.

Ty Cobb made his first appearance of the season in a Detroit uniform yesterday against the White Sox. The Tigers lost a twelve innings battle that was full of thrills. Ty showed his old time speed.

KNOTTY LEE'S COLTS SHAPE UP BETTER

Pitcher Garlow Reports—Play Park Nine This Afternoon—Notes.

HAMILTON, Wednesday, April 29.—(Staff Correspondence.)—The Hamilton Kolts looked much better in practice today than on any other day this season. They displayed all kinds of ginger and hitting ability. All of the pitchers seemed to have found themselves, and they showed that they had lots of stuff on the ball. Manager "Knotty" Lee had not returned last night from his trip to the east in an effort to secure a couple of good infielders. Harry Corns, who is acting manager in Lee's absence, put the local squad thru a good stiff practice yesterday afternoon.

Pitcher Garlow, the Indian, reported this afternoon, but was not in uniform. He says that he is feeling in A1 condition and looks forward to a good year. Marty Killilea, the fast second baseman, was on the job today and pulled off some nice stunts around the middle sack and with the stick. It was stated by one of the men that Jack Rose has decided to report very shortly rather than be suspended.

The fans will be able to get an idea of how the team will look this season from the game against Park Nine of Toronto tomorrow afternoon. The local squad will certainly give a better account of themselves in this game than they did last Saturday against Niagara University. A good crowd should turn out to see this game, as the Park Nine have a good reputation in Toronto.

COCKNEYS CONTINUE TO BEAT AMATEURS

Hyman Team Falls Before Canadian Leaguers Again—The Score.

LONDON, April 29.—(Special.)—The second exhibition game between the greatly strengthened local city champion Hyman team and the Canadian Leaguers resulted in the complete routing of the amateurs by the score of 16 to 3. Deneau's pitchers, Chaput and Talbot, both worked under wraps, and at no time were in any difficulty. Hyman's only secured seven widely distributed hits off the league heavers, who were merely tossing straight balls to the batters.

The pros got to Gillis and Dingwall, the Woodstock pitcher, for fifteen hits and uncorked some good fielding stunts. Catcher Foyes' ten put outs and his batting were the feature of the game. The score:

HIGHLANDERS' STAR IS IN BIG DEMAND

Boston Red Sox Offer Four Players For Hal Chase—A Deal Pending?

OTHERS ARE AFTER HIM

Two Other Clubs Make Offers —Janvrin May Go to New York Americans.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Manager Stahl of the Boston American League team said today he was trying to arrange a trade that would bring Hal Chase, the famous first baseman of the New York Americans, to Boston. Robert McRoy, treasurer of the Boston Club, left town for Boston simultaneously with Stahl's admission that he was after Chase. Stahl was in conference with President McAleer of the Boston Club Sunday, and it is assumed that McRoy will see McAleer today regarding a possible deal for Chase. It is reported that President Farrell of the New Yorks would be given a choice of any one of the Boston catchers; also that he might receive Outfielder Henriksen and Infielders Janvrin and Ball. Officers of the New York Club refused to discuss the matter.

It developed today that Boston is not the only club that has broached the matter of enrolling Hal Chase to Manager Chance. At least two other clubs, it was asserted, have been anxious to get him.

It is understood that Chance wants four players in exchange for his star and that the Boston Club is prepared to offer them. Stahl has been unable to play first base since the season opened, and wants to get Chase as quickly as possible.

INDIANS ON TUESDAY.

The opening day crowd promises to be a big one at the Island next Tuesday. Newark Indians, league leaders, will be the Leafs opponents. The reserved seats and combination tickets went on sale at Moodey's cigar store yesterday, and a big sale was the result. They can be secured every day until the opening at 33 West King street.

REDS LOST UNIES THEN LOST BATTLE

Cincinnati Playing in White Sox Suits Defeated by the Cubs—Players Handicapped.

CHICAGO, April 29.—The Cincinnati National League Club, appearing on the grounds for the first time in history without red stockings, was defeated by Chicago today, 7 to 2. Instead of the famous hose which gave the club its sobriquet of "Reds" Manager Tinker's men wore the pale stockings of the Chicago White Sox, lent by Owner Comiskey with complete outfit of uniforms, gloves, bats and shoes, the Cincinnati team's uniforms having been accidentally left at St. Louis. Misfit shoes and in some cases tight clothes handicapped the visitors. Some were unable to stoop low enough to stop grounders, and others could not run fast enough to catch flies. The locals bunched hits with this poor fielding and won easy.

When the lack of uniforms was reported to Manager Tinker upon the arrival of the club from St. Louis he requested a loan from President Murphy of the local club, but there was some difficulty about compliance, and Tinker called on Mr. Comiskey. Score:

CATTLE MARKET TRADE SLOW

Sheep, Lambs and Calves Steady—Hogs a Little Firmer.

Receipts of live stock at the Union yards were 101 carloads, 1754 cattle, 965 hogs, 59 sheep, 370 calves, and 14 horses.

The cattle trade, considering the moderate delivery, was slow. Drovers having paid high prices for their cattle were slow to accept prices, which in many instances were less than what they had paid the farmers in the country. Cattle values were much the same as were paid last Thursday.

Sheep, lambs and calves were also steady, but hogs were a little firmer.

Exporters

William Howard bought for Swift & Company of Chicago 72 export steers, 1290 lbs. each, at an average price of $6.95 per cwt.

Butchers.

Choice steers, many of them export weights and quality, but bought for butchers' purposes, sold at $6.75 to $7; good, $6.50 to $6.75; medium to good, $6 to $6.40; common, $5.25 to $5.60; cows, choice, $5.50 to $6; good, $5 to $5.40; medium, $4.25 to $4.75; common, $2.50 to $3.50; bulls, good to choice, $5.50 to $6.00; medium bulls, $5 to $5.40; common bulls, $4.50 to $4.75.

Stockers and Feeders.

There were a few transactions in stockers and feeders as follows: One carload of steers, 925 lbs. each, sold at $6 to $6.30; one load, 800 lbs., at $5.75; and 40 stockers, 600 lbs., at $5.15.

Milkers and Springers.

Receipts of milkers and springers were not large. Prices were steady at last week's quotations. Medium to good cows sold from $55 to $65 each; choice at $70 to $75; common, $45 to $50 each.

Veal Calves

Good to choice calves sold at $8 to $8.50; medium to good at $6.50 to $8; common, $4 to $5.50; bobs at $1.50 to $2.50 each.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold from $6 to $7; rams, $5.50 to $5.75; yearlings, $8 to $9; spring lambs, $4 to $8 each.

Hogs.

Selects, fed and watered, sold at $9.65 to $9.70, and $9.25 to $9.30 f.o.b. cars at country points, to drovers.

Special Advice for Men

Vitality Restored by New Method

MANLY MEN ARE THE WORLD'S POWER TODAY.

The little book described below (which I gladly send free, sealed by mail, to any young or elderly man anywhere) contains in its 85 beautifully illustrated pages everything a man need know with regard to certain strictly personal subjects, and as a guide through his entire life, from the delicate period of youth, when wholesome advice is most needed, on through early manhood to a ripe, vigorous, healthy old age. Over a million of these books have been thus distributed by me all over the world. Therefore, please use coupon below and get YOUR free copy by return mail. SANDEN CO., DISTRIBUTORS.

Do you know, my friend, that there is a wonderful new way to apply a certain, great, natural FORCE to your body, and by which you may, without effort, trouble or inconvenience, treat your own self in the privacy of your home for debility and lost vitality, without using a single drug or medicine? This great FORCE, as a restorer of vitality and as a means to overcome those weaknesses which result from indiscretion and unnatural practices, is today being used all over the civilized world, and I give it as my honest opinion, based upon a vast observation and study, that any man anywhere, who leads a decent, manly life, and who applies this marvelous FORCE in a scientific and rational way, can, without employing a single drug, be restored again to a state of perfect, rugged health and vigor, without a remaining ache, pain or weakness.

As we all know, these various debilitating weaknesses handicap a man in every condition of life, while on the other hand, a perfect specimen of vigorous, robust, lusty manhood is ever admired by both women and men alike, while, of course, it is certainly only such a man who can attain the really great successes of life. Therefore, I say to you, no matter what your size, whether you are small or large, no matter what your occupation, no matter whether you are a college graduate or working on the farm or in the factory, no matter whether you are young or elderly, it is all a question of your vigor and your vitality, and if I can give you a good, abundant supply of this same great power, or VITAL FORCE, then it is easy to believe that I can completely restore your vigorous health, can overcome the evil effect of past indiscretions so you will be exactly the same in your influence over people, exactly the same in your manly bearing as other manly, strong-nerved, warm-blooded fellows of your acquaintance.

With an idea of attaining all this for you, I recommend you to investigate a simple little VITALIZING APPLIANCE of my invention, which I am now sending out in great numbers for use by men everywhere who need new manly strength. This little VITALIZER is very light, weighing only several ounces, and can be worn without anyone suspecting that you are wearing it. You buckle it on your body upon going to bed and take it off mornings. Thus, while you sleep, it sends its wonderful power, which I call VITALITY or VITAL FORCE, into your blood, nerves and organs. Users say it takes pain and weakness out of the back from one application, and further say 60 to 90 days' time is sufficient to restore a state of health, strength and vigor. I am not offering this VITALIZER here for sale, but want you to first send for my book that you may learn all about the whole wonderful subject, and why I get such quantities of testimonials from users everywhere telling of results after drugs completely and utterly fail.

NOTE.—With special attachments, my VITALIZER is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, nervousness and general ill-health. Please write for book today, or, if nearby, I should like you to call. Hours: 9 to 6; Sundays excepted.

USE COUPON; GET FREE BOOK

Remember, the little illustrated book, which I send free, sealed by mail, as per coupon below, not only fully describes my VITALIZER, telling of a special offer by which you may get one on special terms for use in your own case, but contains a great fund of private advice for men, some good wholesome cautions, and a lot of general information that might be of value to you to the end of your days. Therefore, please [illegible] Temperance Street.

ALARMING DROP IN CANADIAN PACIFIC

Canadian Stock Markets Depressed by Big Slump in Favorite Issue.

NEW LOW ON BRAZILIAN

Shares at New Record For the Month—Sharp Dip in Toronto Exchange.

With the London exchange in an most panicky condition and Wall street stocks on the toboggan practically all day, it was only natural to look for further weakness in the Toronto market yetserday. European news was alarming, the possibility of a war between Austria and Montenegro and the practical certainty that Russia would be drawn into any conflict that developed occasioning a good deal of real apprehension in financial circles. Meanwhile bearish factors piled up across the border, and of course Canadian securities paid the penalty for the uncertainty.

The acute weakness of C.P.R. in London and New York was the direct reason for much of the liquidation here. Speculators have accustomed themselves to regard these shares as the barometer of market conditions, and on any such drastic declines as occurred yesterday they usually huddle together in a frightened group.

Berlin was said again to be a seller of C.P.R. and the price was quoted down 4 1-2 points in London. The setback was carried further in Wall street, where the stock sold at 233 1-2, a full seven point loss from the previous close, and 12 1-4 below last week's high record.

New Low Records Made.

Brazilian naturally responded the most to the pessimism existent in outside markets. The shares were off a point in London and opened here at 96 3-4 only to drop three-quarters of a point to 96 between sales almost immediately. The decline was continued thruout the day, and the low level of 95 was a new bottom record for the month, and just a shade under two points below Monday's close.

Weakness was shown by all the prominent issues, and a number of new low records for the movement were established. Toronto Rails sold at 140, a full 8 3-4 under the recent high price. General Electric, Mackay, Twin City, Macdonald and Richelieu were all liquidated at declines, and numerous of the preferred stocks also reached lower prices. Maple Leaf preferred was at a new low for the year at 95 and Spanish River also made a record for the same period at 61 3-4. In the investments Bank of Commerce was at a new low for this month at 213 1-2. It opened the year at 222.

BERLIN SOLD C. P. R. IN LONDON MARKET

Traders Were Confronted With Another War Scare—Whole List on Down Grade.

LONDON, April 29.—The stock market opened fairly steady today. Prices were inclined to harden until a report that Austria intends to take immediate action against Montenegro caused pronounced weakness. Stocks in which the continent is interested were the most affected. Berlin offered Canadian Pacific down 4 1-2 points. Rio Tintos fell 1 1-2 and Kaffirs and home and foreign securities declined in sympathy. The closing was flat.

American securities opened quiet and steady and then slowly advanced until the slump occurred in Canadian Pacific, when the market became almost panicky. Continental and New York offerings found few buyers and the market reacted sharply. C.P.R. closed three-quarters over the lower point and the final tone was weak.

The supply of money was restricted and discount rates were firmer.

JOHN BULL DEMANDS HIGH INTEREST RATE

LONDON, April 29.—The upward movement in interest rates is shown by the new Brazilian Government loan, £11,000,000 five per cent. to be issued at 97 with a substantial coupon bonus.

It is explained that some of the recent Canada loan failures were partially due to the preference of investors to await a chance of taking stock after allotment at a discount.

NEW FINANCING ACROSS THE BORDER

NEW YORK, April 29.—New York City new 4 1-2s, due March 1, 1963, will be offered by the controller on May 20. The issue is corporate stock amounting to $45,000,000.

New York Central has placed 10,000,000 francs one year five per cent. notes in Paris. This makes $22,000,000 of one year New York Central notes that have been sold during the past few weeks.

BANK CLEARINGS ON THE CONTINENT

No Change in Standing of Canadian Cities—Toronto in Tenth Rank.

There were no changes of any interest in the standing of the cities of the continent in point of bank clearings last week. Montreal maintained its customary rank of eighth, Toronto came tenth, and Winnipeg twelfth, with a wide margin between each of the Canadian centres and the city immediately above it. Thus, unless a big improvement is made in the figures, the record is likely to remain unchanged.

The big percentage gains over the figures of last year, which were so prominent a month or so ago, are not being maintained. Last week no less than five of the first fourteen cities showed decreases, including such large centres as New York, Chicago, Boston and Montreal. A significant fact was that four out of nine clearing houses in the Canadian West reported losses.

The following table gives the record of the first fourteen cities :

	Last wk.	Last yr.	Inc.

Seven-Point Decline at New York Aids General Demoralization.

WAR SCARES REVIVED

Disappointing Earnings of U. S. Steel Also Contribute to Pessimism.

NEW YORK, April 29.—The pronounced weakness of European markets caused by reports of Austria's belligerent attitude toward Montenegro was of direct influence on the home market where prices were depressed sharply today. Many of the important stocks made new low records for the year with numerous losses on the day of 1 to 3 points. Pressure was heaviest against the international stocks, especially Canadian Pacific, which slumped seven points. Steel, the Harrimans, Reading and Amalgamated displayed marked weakness.

The market continued to reflect absence of demand and susceptibility to pressure. Prices broke sharply in the earlier trading. American stocks, in London, which had shown general advances, weakened abruptly before the opening here, and some of the early selling in this market was for foreign account. Before midday the list stiffened, but in the afternoon active selling was resumed, culminating in a vigorous drive during the last hour, which forced the market to the low point of the session. Selling appeared to be chiefly in the nature of bear pressure.

Steel Statement Poor.

The quarterly statement of the Steel Corporation, which came out shortly after the close of the market, was less favorable than had been generally predicted, total earnings of $34,426,000, comparing with forecasts of $36,000,000 to $38,000,000. While the average of prices received for steel was higher than in the December quarter, the gain derived from this source was offset by extensive flood damage and the increase in operating expenses resultant on the advance in wages established Feb. 1.

The expected announcement of an issue of New York City bonds was made today, the city offering $45,000,000 at 4½ per cent. Outstanding issues were depressed by the announcement, some of them touching new low prices. The bonds sold "when issued" on the curb at 100½. For an issue of 4½'s in 1907 the city obtained an average of 102, and for a 1908 issue an average of 104. On account of present conditions in the money market bankers predicted that the average for the new issue would be under 101.

Bonds were irregular. Low prices were made by some reorganization issues.

PORCUPINES STILL ON THE TOBOGGAN

Unsettlement and weakness in the big stock markets of the world did not help the mining issues yesterday. Trading continued of small volume, and at no time did anything like a vivacious movement develop. The list, in fact, showed an absolute lack of leadership, and in numerous instances prices were left to find their own level. A measure of buoyancy in certain of the Cobalts inspired some enthusiasm late in the day, but the improvement was fully offset by further losses in the gold mining issues.

Scattered liquidation was still in effect in the Porcupine list, and as the demand was scant, stocks met a poor market. Porcupine Gold broke thru to a new low record since January last at 18, Pearl Lake sank to 46½, a net loss of 2 points for the day; McIntyre was off 25 cents at $3.25 and wound up on offer there. Jupiter lost a further fraction at 49¼, and Preston East Dome sold down below 4 again. Announcement of the first clean-up at the Swastika did not help the shares, which sold off to a new low record for the month at 9¾.

Few material changes were made in the Cobalts, and outside of a smart recovery in Beaver, which rose 2 points to 36¼, there was little of interest in the dealings. The improvement in those shares was due to the feeling that the decline occasioned by the failure of the company to pay a dividend this quarter had been overdone. Chambers-Ferland was quoted up to 20, but closed below that figure. La Rose was weaker again, with the price back to $2.42. Wettlaufer sold at 15. Peterson Lake made a new low record for April at 22½ on sales of a small block. On the curb Dome Mines sank into new low ground for the year at $15.75. The shares have been under pressure of late.

WHERE IS IT GOING TO END?

Stock market followers were given a bad half-hour yesterday, when Wall Street, influenced by the adverse turn in European political affairs, developed one of its chronic fits of the blues. Prices dropped rapidly, until the average quotations had reached a level about one point above the low record of last month.

Up to this week the stock market had given a fairly good account of itself, and there were many who believed that the worst had passed. In consequence, the optimists had taken on securities in anticipation of a good recovery. Margins were wiped out without mercy on the decline yesterday, and once again the lambs—pretty skinny fellows—were closely sheared.

The following table shows the extent of the recent setback. It gives the high and low for the year, the price a week ago, and the bottom figures of yesterday on prominent "rails" :

RUMORS BUSY IN WHEAT PIT

European Complications and Talk of Crop Damage Caused Flurry.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Wheat displayed nervousness today under several conflicting influences and a net loss of ¼c to ½c was recorded. Corn suffered a net decline of a shade to ½c, but oats finished ⅛c to ¼c up and provisions made a net advance of 2½c to 10c.

Weakness at the close of wheat trading came on profit-taking that followed a bulge, caused by reports that Austria was moving troops to engage Montenegro by renewed talk of damage from chinch bugs and hessian fly in the southwest, and by sales of 305,000 bushels of wheat for storage.

Reports of the imminence of a general strike at Rosario, an important wheat handling city of Argentine, had also helped the early upturn.
