FRENCH BEGIN TO SHELL ENEMY OUT OF VESLE POSITIONS GERMAN ATTACK ON BRITISH RESULTS IN HEAVY FIGHTING NORTH OF SOMME

HEAVY SHELLING MARKS BATTLE IN VESLE AREA

Each Side Uses Large Volumes of Gas Against Other. ADVANCE HAS PAUSED Thirty-Five Thousand Prisoners Fall Into Allies' Hands.

Conditions on the battlefield along the Vesle River between Soissons and Rheims remain unchanged and, relatively speaking, there have been no developments of outstanding importance on the line running from the English Channel, in both regions, however, there is a tense atmosphere which seems to forecast the approaching dawn of big events.

The bad weather, heavy rainfalls, the swollen river and the resultant wretched condition of the terrain with which the allied troops along the Vesle now have to contend, not to mention the necessity of bringing up guns, ammunition and supplies which were left far behind in the rapid advance—doubtless is having more to do with the holding in leash of Marshal Foch's troops than the opposition the Germans are throwing in their way.

Shell Allied Lines. The Germans have been shelling heavily the French and American soldiers who have made their way across the northern bank of the Vesle or delivering heavy counter-attacks against them, but everywhere they have met with a stonewall of resistance that has not permitted them to counter-balance their losses of ground. They also have deluged the southern bank of the Vesle with shells of all calibres, including gas projectiles, and even have brought their famous flame throwers into play, but all to no purpose. The allies everywhere have remained firm in the ground they have won.

Prisoners Taken. An inkling of the Germans have lost in men made prisoner and guns captured by the allies has become public through an utterance of the French premier at a session of the ministerial council, at which General Foch was made a marshal of France. "Thirty-five thousand prisoners and 700 cannon have been captured," said the premier, who added that Paris no longer was in danger, that Soissons and Chateau Thierry had been reconquered, and that 200 villages had been delivered thru the formidable thrust of Foch's men thru the Soissons-Rheims salient.

Much interest attaches to the manoeuvres of the Germans and the French and British troops, with the latter of whom some Americans are believed to be brigaded, on the front running from Montdidier to the Vesle River between Braches and Morisel. Here a fairly deep penetration into the German line would become a direct menace to the junction point of the armies of the German Crown Prince and of Crown Prince Rupprecht. On both sides of Amiens, where the Germans have given ground, they now are heavily shelling British positions, using quantities of gas, evidently in the intention of preventing an attack in force.

Crossing of Aves. The French north of Montdidier crossed the west side of the Aves River between Braches and Morisel. Here a fairly deep penetration into the German line would become a direct menace to the junction point of the armies of the German Crown Prince and of Crown Prince Rupprecht. On both sides of Amiens, where the Germans have given ground, they now are heavily shelling British positions, using quantities of gas, evidently in the intention of preventing an attack in force.

BRITISH PRAISED FOR BIG VICTORY

French General Eulogizes Their Work in the Marne Battle.

Paris, Aug. 6.—General Mangin, in an inspiring order of the day, warmly eulogizes the work of the English and Scottish troops in the Marne battle, and especially the storming of the Oure-Aisne watershed. He says the British arrived when the battle was fiercest, but that in conjunction with the French they fought a superior number of the enemy's best divisions, foot by foot, notwithstanding bitter counter-attacks.

BRITISH ADVANCE ON MILE FRONT

Attack at Picaut Wood Gains Two Thousand Yards.

London, Aug. 6.—The Germans, by a strong local attack against British positions along the Braye-Corble road north of the Somme, succeeded in taking advanced trench lines in a small portion of the front. Local fighting continues in this area, and the British have taken a few prisoners, according to the war office statement tonight. The text of the statement says: "At dawn this morning the enemy launched a strong local attack against our new positions south of Morlan-court, astride the Braye-Corble road. The assault, delivered by a division from the reserve, succeeded in carrying our advanced trench lines on a portion of the ground captured by us on the night of July 28-29. Local fighting is still taking place in this area, and a few prisoners have been taken by our troops."

With the American Army on the Aisne-Marne Front, Aug. 6.—With their backs to the Aisne, the Germans continued preparations today for what may be either a stiff resistance to give them more time for further withdrawal, or for a definite stand. Scow Breaks Loose and Men Are in Mid River.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 6.—Two workmen are stranded tonight on a scow 1900 feet above the Horseshoe Falls and in momentary danger of being swept over the brink of the entrance. The scow was swept down the river late this afternoon when it broke away from a tug.

RESCUE WORK PROCEEDS

Efforts Being Made to Get a Line Out to Save the Men.

The fire departments from both sides of the river were called out and the life-saving crew was brought up in a truck from Youngtown. Just after dark a line was shot across the wreck, and later, with the aid of searchlights, an effort was being made to send the breeches buoy out to the wreck. The first attempt to send a breeches buoy to the men stranded on the scow and scow above the falls ended in failure shortly before midnight, and it was said all further efforts to rescue the men would be abandoned until daylight.

RUSSIAN SOCIALISTS APPEAL TO BRITONS

London, Aug. 6.—The Russian Socialist Revolutionary party, which is opposing the Bolshevik Government, has issued a direct appeal to the British Labor party, urging its efforts be made to convene an international Socialist conference. The appeal declares that the Russian revolution in the Bolshevik hands is a betrayal of the cause of the workers and that the British Labor party should work to re-establish the national power of Russia and to abrogate the shameful Brest-Litovsk treaty.

MASSACRE FOLLOWS FIGHTING AT JAROSLAV

London, Aug. 6.—The most sanguinary fighting in the civil turmoil in Russia was for the possession of the town of Jaroslavl, on the Volga, and it terminated in favor of the Bolsheviks, according to quotations from Moscow newspapers, reproduced in The Rheinische Westfaelische Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here from Germany.

He milked the cows himself and found that it registered a much higher percentage of fat than that sold to the creamery.

The police made several attempts to break up the parade, and toward midnight were successful in having the streets cleared of organized groups at that time. Near the corner of King and Yonge the police made another charge with batons out, but here they merely waved them over the heads of the people.

Interviewed by a reporter for The World at the King Edward Hotel last evening Mr. Rogers spoke in an optimistic way of the crop outlook in the west. "It will be a good crop," he said, "in spite of the efforts of some newspapers to kill it. There are bad spots, but generally the crop is good. We will have 250,000,000 bushels of wheat alone."

GERMANS DREAD ALLIED AIR POWER

Enemy Will Not Face Single Combat in the Skies.

WANT GREAT ODDS

Kaiser's Aviators Fight Only at Three-to-One Advantage.

British Air Force Headquarters in France, July 31.—There have been many signs recently of extreme uneasiness in the German high command regarding the increasing ascendancy of the allied airmen on the western front.

It has become a commonplace among the German aviators that their opponents will not face combat in the air unless in strength of three or four to one.

Perhaps the most striking evidence of German official anxiety regarding the allied superiority in the air is to be found in the official German wireless news.

Thus a recent copy of the German wireless report says: "Superior methods of flying and greater speed successes on a scale such as were never known before."

"The progress of improvement has been so rapid and continuous that the government is being obliged to contemplate the reduction in intemperance has been larger in this country during the war than in any other part of the world."

He took as an example the report for May before the Shipping Commission, which dealt with the British air fighting alone.

WATERWAYS BOARD TO MEET IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Aug. 6.—The international joint commission created under treaty between the United States and King George V. for the settlement of all questions relating to boundary waters between Canada and the United States will hold a public session in Montreal, Monday, sitting in the court of appeal.

The most important matter for consideration before the commission is an application of the New York and Ontario Power Commission for approval of its plans to reconstruct, repair and improve its dam, and water power properties at Waddington-on-the-St. Lawrence, on the New York side of the river opposite Morrisburg.

Opposition has been filed to the company's application by the Canadian Government and the Dominion Marine Association, the first on the ground that the company's scheme would interfere with the full and economic development of the river.

At noon yesterday, the Lux Blanca was about 75 miles southwest of the mouth of the St. Lawrence, proceeding along her course, when the vessel suddenly shook from stern to stern.

Shortly after 2 o'clock in the afternoon she reappeared, according to a statement made to the Associated Press today by Baron D'Abernon, chairman of the central board of control, which has been set up to deal with the liquor problem.

"The regulations limiting the hours of sale, providing for the dilution of spirits and better and forbidding treating, have resulted in remarkable decreases in drunkenness and the diseases incidental to drinking."

Baron D'Abernon asserted that the "wonderful" results of the non-treating rule, which had caused the "abolition of compulsory drinking" that accompanied the treating custom.

Montreal, Aug. 6.—The Parliament of Canada, far from having the right to legislate in the matter of general intemperance, has no right to suspend the right of habeas corpus in Canada, does not have the power to suspend the writ of habeas corpus in Canada.

There was another issue in the Blanshly and Strulovitch case of nationality. In this the judge held that inasmuch as the two petitioners had not voted at the last election they had not been called upon to perform military duty.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 6.—Captain Thomas, of the oil tanker Lux Blanca, which was sunk 85 miles southwest of the mouth of the St. Lawrence, spoke readily of his experiences.

The odds were against the Lux Blanca in spite of her sturdy resistance. The submarine had two guns to her one, both of more powerful calibre.

The crew took to life boats immediately. They had no time to secure a stock of provisions; they were unable to bring along the bodies of their slaughtered comrades.

They left the ship at 3 o'clock. As they drifted away, the shells were bursting in the water all around them, some of them aimed directly at the life boats.

CROWN PRINCES AT LOGGERHEADS

Each Wanted the Honor of Starting the Big Offensive.

Paris, Aug. 6.—The feeling between the Crown Prince and Crown Prince Rupprecht had its effect on the German high command in the beginning of the present offensive between Belgium and Rheims, which already has turned into a defeat for the armies commanded by the heir to the Prussian throne.

Decision having been made, the big offensive opened in the north in the direction of Amiens, and, second, east of Hazebrouk, in the direction of Arras.

On May 27 the German Crown Prince struck the Chemin des Dames, and was not halted until the Marne was reached. His next effort was to strike the Montdidier-Soissons line.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—The department of soldiers' civil re-establishment has made provision for the care of tuberculous discharged soldiers in the three western provinces.

The United States is Saving Canada

The thing that is coming out these days is that President Wilson and the United States Government have entered upon the task of breaking up the German control of metals; and that, therefore, the people of Canada who resent the fact that Canadian nickel was regularly shipped to Germany notwithstanding the so-called preventive measure adopted by the British, Canadian and Ontario Governments, must look to Washington rather than their own governments for relief. Great Britain was shamefully in the hands of the German metal trust; the United States refused to wear a German nickel-plated collar.

Another Hospital Ship.

Another hospital ship has been torpedoed by the Germans. If any military or naval advantage were to be had from this by them one might understand the action. It is argued by some that hospital ships have to be replaced as well as others, and the withdrawal of a hospital ship weakens the general transport situation.

Must Not Permit Production to Lag

One phase of munitions labor that must not be lost sight of, is that a great deal of our future industrial prosperity depends upon it. Great Britain, United States, France, Italy and Belgium are all great where they can be sure of getting the munitions they need, and when they want them.

Capital and Labor in Conference

belligerent countries in these days of war stress, ought to be satisfied to be as well off as their hosts and entertainers, in whose land they live. If they do not like this, they can go home, as the United States settles it.

A Side Issue in the Riots.

Mayor Church has been deploring the clubbing of citizens by the police. We do not think objection would have been made to a reasonable use of the baton, but when the men and women who were struck to the ground were kicked by members of the police force, then the limit was passed. The men who did this do not represent the normal police force of the city. It is quite true that when a riot is on foot, the streets are no place for peaceable citizens, but many men and women on last Friday and Saturday evenings were going about their proper business, and became involved in the fracas before they knew what was going on.

But talk as she might Ruth still remained unconvinced. She loved Brian Hackett; she would marry him and be poor—for a little while—if necessary. Not that Ruth was unfeeling, or that she did not love her aunt, the only mother she ever had known; but she loved Brian better—so she thought. At least, she loved him in a different way. But all her coaxing, her wheedling, could not change her aunt's decision.

Germans Took Every Movable Thing From the Gladys M. Hollett.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, Aug. 6.—Captain Cluett said that the Gladys M. Hollett, which was sunk by a submarine, was bound from Twillingate, Nfld., with a cargo of herring for New York. Yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, he sighted a submarine about three miles away. The U-boat bore down on him at full speed, he said, and signaled for him to "heave to."

CHINESE GENERALS TO CHOOSE PRESIDENT

Pekin, Aug. 6.—At a conference held by the generals of the northern Chinese army it has been agreed to nominate Hsu Shih Chang, former vice-prime minister, for the presidency. He is understood to be acceptable to the southern provinces of the republic. The real struggle in the coming presidential election, however, will be for the vice-presidency. If Hsu Shih Chang is elected he will hold office only so long as the military party and much depends on the character of the man who would be his successor.

THE BETTER WAY.

When evil tongues their evil speak it matters little to me. No slander shall ever make for me a moment of shame. Indeed I rather pity him who likes to deal in scandal. And to vex himself among his kind a spiritual vandal. For as I've wandered on thru life, thru days of unobscured grieving, and thru Thru days of dark foreboding, and thru hours of unobscured grieving, I've found what'er my trouble be if so I must go thru it. They'z happy who suffer wrongs than those who stoop to DO IT.

WOULD ADMIT GERMANY

British Labor Minister Says She Should Come Into League of Nations.

London, Aug. 6.—G. H. Roberts, British minister of labor, lecturing at Cambridge University, declared himself in favor of admitting Germany to a league of nations after the war, for he said, "Germany's exclusion from such a league would mean a reversion to the old dangers."

The defeat of Prussian militarism is the essential preliminary to the league, he stated. He suggested that the entente nations and others engaged in the war on Germany summon representatives of the allied nations to a conference at the Hague, to be attended only by these allied representatives, to draw up a scheme for the settlement of disputes and, perhaps, to revise their peace program.

CABINET DEFERS POSTAL DECISION

Letter Carriers State Case Before the Dominion Government. TO AWAIT REPORT

Chairman Roche of Civil Service Committee Conducts Enquiry.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—After a series of conferences between the members of the cabinet and representatives of the letter carriers, mail clerks, and postal clerks, lasting from 2.30 this afternoon until 7 o'clock this evening, it was announced that the government would give its answer in the course of a few days, probably Thursday.

Members of the cabinet in attendance at today's conference included Hon. A. K. McLean, chairman of the sub-committee; Sir Thomas White, Hon. J. A. Calder, Hon. P. Blondin, postmaster-general, and Hon. Mr. Robertson. The conference with the representatives of the federated letter carriers whose grievances were the cause of the recent strike, occupied the greater part of the afternoon, the postal clerks and mail clerks being heard later.

The postal clerks were headed by A. Jacques of Montreal, president of the postal clerks' association, and Wm. Cartwell, vice-president. This delegation, it is understood, expressed the views of the postal clerks employed in all the city postoffices east of Port Arthur.

The ministers were informed that there is a strong undercurrent of feeling among the postal clerks, which had been with difficulty restrained during the strike. The feeling was due, they said, to the fact that the government proposed to reduce the salaries of postal clerks to the level of the letter carriers in western cities.

The chief requests presented to the government were: 1. The extension of the benefits of the provisional allowance granted last session to all employees of the postal service, whether married or single, or whether employed for a number of years, or their conferees east of Port Arthur.

During the course of the interview it was stated by the representatives of the postal clerks that there was a strong feeling in the west, which temporarily paralyzed the postal service, might be expected in the east. The postal clerks felt disposed to adjust existing and long standing grievances in a manner satisfactory to one another.

The members of the cabinet gave a very sympathetic hearing to the representations made by the delegations, heard and promised early consideration of the demands made within a few days.

It has always been maintained by the department of justice that, as a matter of fact, the right of habeas corpus has never been annulled by order-in-council. All that has been affected by the order-in-council is the law, it is claimed, is in no manner affected by the order-in-council.

Australians Want Conjoint Commission to Settle Government.

Sydney, Australia, July 31.—The final disposition of the German colonies in the Pacific, the "Pacific Monroe Doctrine," broached by the prime minister, William Hughes, in his speech before the Pilgrims' Club in New York, and the recent report of the Australian interstate Commerce Commission upon British and Australian trade in the South Pacific, all relate directly or indirectly to discussion which is becoming more or less frequent in the Australian, New Zealand and Fiji press touching a federation of the South Sea Islands.

"The government of the islands controlled by the British crown is at present lacking in cohesion and unity of policy. The commission is satisfied that the islands under the British crown should be grouped under a more coherent system, and in its report suggested that in order to ensure timely settlement of this paramount question of government a joint enquiry by representation of the United Kingdom, Australia and New Zealand should be undertaken." One of the British Pacific island commissioners said in Sydney while on a recent visit here.

"The suggestion that a conjoint commission of inquiry be appointed at an early date should, in my opinion, be granted, and the commission which would represent the interests of the imperial government, of the Commonwealth and of the Dominion of New Zealand, one which also claims the full consideration of statesmen. British interests at present are widely spread under many forms of political administration, and are constantly being widened by the lack of effective cooperation. Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand are carrying on the work of administration thru officers who have no direct relation with each other. There are crown colonies, Fiji and the Gilbert and Ellice Islands, the Imperial protectorate of the Solomon Islands; Australian dependencies such as Papua; and the islands under the civil administration of New Zealand. To add to this diversity of control, we now have the military occupation by Australia and by New Zealand of the late German Pacific possessions. It is a maze of control with centres of reference in London, Melbourne and Wellington.

"Objection may be made to the grant of administrative powers at present to any commission. The war is still on and it may be urged that little can be done, at least so far as the late German Pacific possessions are concerned. The issue of it is known. But, pending peace, why not appoint a board or commission to obtain information and, as far as possible, to simplify the existing administration? The commission could thus take the interests of Great Britain, of Australia, and of New Zealand into a common pool for the moment, and when the peace comes, it could furnish a valuable information should be available."

ICELANDERS TRADED MUCH WITH GERMANY

London, Aug. 6.—A great deal of trade was done between Iceland and Germany and Austria earlier in the war, in the opinion of the attorney-general, expressed during the hearing of a case in the prize court. The contraband trade was upon an enormous scale and very difficult to detect, he declared. He gave an illustration: Between October and December, 1914, the entire output of 200,000 workbooks was exported to Germany and Austria, via Denmark.

Altho the British Government knew this was going on, it had not been possible to detect it owing to the territorial nature of the voyage. It had been able to get evidence by means of intercepted messages. Fortunes had been made in Iceland. Voyages were usually secret and by unusual courses designed to avoid the British navy, while documents were made out to conceal the true nature of the transaction.
