reference should be given to the good industries which are not facing the prospect of being limited by legislation as are the railroad industry.

We would advise purchases on moderate prices, but with the market remains irregular. High priced rails may be held by the bears, but the market is generally well supplied.

There is a disposition now to turn the academic questions in financial circles. The Sun points out the English elections as a factor likely to develop should the Lords fail to give assent to the bill. The idea of socialism being dominant. Further, Taft's proposed legislation this winter is receiving attention here in banking circles because of the tendency to restrict the road management more and more. These things should be weighed, but for the moment we do not believe they constitute factors.

Otherwise, the news over Sunday includes further reference to dividend disbursements in industrial circles. The October disbursements of interest and dividends are figured by the Journal of Commerce at $18,000,000. It is expected in some quarters that the Bank of England discount rate will be raised this week.

Market literature is divided with press views on the market "on the fence."

MORNING COTTON LETTER.

A reaction would be only the natural thing in view of the violent upward movement, but the situation is considered too bullish to make about selling an attractive proposition while the long lines with profits who are still confident of ultimate higher prices that the long interest is shifting into the hands of fresh buyers a source of future support is also secured.

Thus far this morning, news as to the present position and intensity of the tropical storm will be a foremost consideration. Unless there are developments in this quarter the trade will be interested, first, in indications as to a continued weakening of the public demand, and secondly, by the character of the news from the southern markets. It is strongly felt that with speculative sentiment so overwhelmingly bullish, further sensational advances would be possible were the south to lead the way. Naturally little news at this time were so close a disposition to undersell.

On Cook's arrival at Annotak in April 1909, he told of his discovery of the New York, Sept. 27.—Dr. Cook is preparing to bring suit against Commander Robert E. Peary, for slander and the misappropriation of Dr. Cook's stores at Etah. This action is being arranged in view of the reports that Peary had placed his attack on Etah in the hands of General Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club, as a lawyer. Dr. Cook's secretary, who was with the two explorers, it appears, may decide who discovered the Pole.

BOOTS RATHER A BAD GIVE AWAY

Hearing of Prisoners Arrested on Suspicion of Theft From Camp at Drury Cove

Thomas Preece and James Hogan were arrested on Sunday by Detective Killen and Policeman Gosline on suspicion of stealing a suit case, clothing and other articles from a tent at Drury Cove. They were before Judge Ritchie in the police court this morning and pleaded not guilty.

Lefroy Sandall, Archer F. Manks and Lester Smith, whose tent they are charged with entering, gave evidence, identifying property found in the prisoners' possession.

Detective Killen told of the arrest and the finding of the goods in the possession of the prisoners.

Mr. Sandall told of having left everything intact on his visit to the tent on Monday last. On Wednesday he and the others, including G. Eldon Merritt, went out to break camp and found things generally topsy turvey. He described the manner in which the three lockers had been broken open and the things that were missing, all of which he identified as those in court. He told of reporting the matter to the police.

The following list of articles missing had been made up by him:- A pair of lace boots, one quilt, one suit case, Flobert rifle, mirror, duster, suit felt hat, court boots, brass two pairs of pants, a coat, tin cup, two bathing suits, pair of slippers, sweater, and rain coat.

In company with Detective Killen and Policeman Gosline he drove out yesterday when they located the two prisoners this side of Rotherway near the road side where they were camping. He recognized his boots, which were worn by Preece and asked him where he got them and the prisoner replied in Boston. He asked further "Have they rubber heels?" and the reply was "No."

On the detective's insisting that Preece lift up his heel it was found that the boots had rubber heels and were the property of Mr. Sandall. The heels and parts which were worn by Preece were Merritt's and the sweater belonged to Manks.

Preece volunteered that he had got them in Boston.

Preece here denied that he meant those he was wearing but others near by, and when the witness asserted that at that time none other was exposed to view Preece told him he lied. The value of all the things he had seen him.

Messrs. Manks and Smith gave evidence corroborating Mr. Sandall's. Sandall told Preece recognized Preece as having been in the vicinity of the camp at Drury Cove on Labor Day or thereabouts. Mr. Smith, too, said that he had seen him.

Preece here stood up and said, "I don't think so."

Detective Killen said that Preece had said he found the articles in the woods in a bundle while rabbit shooting. Hogan asserted that he owned nothing but what what he had on. A shot gun Preece had he told he had bought in a shop on the square and Hogan had pointed out Scribner as they passed it coming in. Hogan said while driving in that they came from Boston three weeks ago. Detective Killen said he had expected to have owners for a boat sail, jib, hatchet and hammer, found in the possession of the prisoners.

The case was adjourned till tomorrow morning when Mr. Merritt will give his evidence.

LIKELY END TODAY

Peters-Barbour Case in Circuit - Early Adjournment to Suit Juror

When the Circuit Court opened this morning Justice White said that Juror Kendall Hall had told him that it was of the utmost importance to him that the morning's session be not delayed after 11:30 o'clock. It was for the counsel to decide whether it would be convenient to adjourn at that time or not.

Mr. Hazen said that the evidence would probably be all in by that hour, and it would be a pity to adjourn if the case could be finished by 1 o'clock. But if the jurors wished it so, it would be satisfactory to him.

G. V. Barbour was then placed on the stand. A number of orders for hides were recognized by the witness as having passed through his hands. An entry in the books 100 hides on Dec. 10, caused considerable discussion, as there was no receipt to correspond with it. The witness said he was conducting the warehouse under the name of himself, and whatever profits accrued went to him. He managed the warehouse entirely. If there was anybody indirectly interested it was the Geo. E. Barbour Co.

Mr. Barbour was cross-examined by Mr. Hazen, and re-examined by Mr. Teed. Two other witnesses were examined, James MacLachlan and Benjamin Allan, employees of the defendant, who told what they knew of the warehouse transactions and the storing and talking of hides.

Mr. Teed made application to have the declaration amended. He wished to have it changed to meet the evidence concerning the warehouse receipts, which were made out to the Bank of Montreal. His honor allowed the right to enter a plea.

It was now a quarter to twelve, and to suit the wishes of Juror Hall, who said that his business would suffer if he did not keep an appointment at 11:30, the case was adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the counsel will make their addresses, and his honor also. It is expected that the case will go to the jury this afternoon.

L. A. COLWELL BRINGS HOME A FINE MOOSE

L. A. Colwell, of north end, returned on Saturday from Portobello, Sunbury county, and brought with him a fine moose which he shot within 200 yards of his camp there. He went up on Wednesday and came out on Friday. He had an Indian guide.

Mr. Colwell says seven moose while in the woods, but they were not large. Black duck, he says, are plentiful and he secured a good haul. The antler spread of the moose he shot was about forty-five inches.

Fall Finds The Men's Tailor Shop Splendidly Equipped for Service

For the man who 'looks before he leaps' this tailor shop has assembled in well-chosen abundance the woolen suitings that will set the style this fall.

These wools come from wherever good wools are produced in England, Scotland and Canada.

There are certain greys among the imported suitings of the kind that will never grow old and these should be markedly popular among tasteful dressers this coming season.

We direct particular attention to the imported fabrics which we will make to measure for $25 to $30 a suit. And the suits will be hand built by tailors who work for us because they know how.

- Men's Business Suits to measure $18.00 to $30.00. Men's Evening Dress Suits to measure 30.00 to 35.00. Men's Frock Suits to measure 25.00 to 35.00. Men's Top Coats to measure 18.00 to 35.00. Men's Trousers to Measure 5.00 to 8.00.
