ABOUKIR WAS STRUCK FIRST

Disaster to Hogue and Cressy as They Sought to Rescue—Officers and Sailors Hours in Water—One Little Middy, Thrice Rescued, Was in All Three Explosions—Two of Enemy's Submarines Destroyed

Ymuiden, Holland, Sept. 23 (via London)—This little seaport town is all agog with excitement over the bringing here of 237 survivors from the British cruisers sunk in the North Sea by German submarines.

From the outside of one of the hotels the crowds could see a number of the British sailors enjoying a general meal at a long table. They were dressed in all manner of clothing, mostly from the little store possessed by the Dutch sailors of the rescuing boat.

ABOUKIR FIRST HIT The Aboukir was the first ship struck, she received three torpedoes of terrific force, which blew out a big section of the bottom at the bow, capsizing the ship.

CRESSY DESTROYED SUBMARINES The cruiser Cressy at this point discovered the presence of two German submarines on the way to attack her, and began shelling them with heavy projectiles.

THE WAR NEWS

From the official report of Sir John French, covering the operations of the British army from the date of his previous report up to September 18, the following extracts may be regarded as a summary of the situation as it stands.

"So far as the British are concerned the greater part of this week has been passed in bombardment, in gaining ground by degrees, and in beating back severe counter attacks with heavy slaughter. Our casualties have been severe, but it is probable that those of the enemy are heavier. On our right and left the French have been fighting fiercely, and have also been gradually gaining ground."

"This was the condition of affairs up to Sept. 18. In the five days which have passed since then the conditions have been unchanged. There have been some lulls in the fighting, due to exhaustion on both sides; but the allies have continued to gain a little ground and to demonstrate further the fact that the Germans are and must remain on the defensive, with steadily lessening numbers. There is still a lack of information regarding the fresh forces referred to in yesterday's news as attacking the extreme right of the German army; but such information as is at hand indicates that the German right is gradually being bent back and its line of communication placed in greater peril from day to day."

"From the east comes news that the Russians have captured Jaroslau, which is an important railroad centre and commands the passage of the San River. The news that Przemyel has also been taken will probably not long be delayed, although it is said to be defended by a strong Austro-German force. The Serbians and Montenegrins are prosecuting a successful campaign in Bosnia, and while the report that they have captured Sarajevo, the capital, has not been confirmed, the campaign goes in their favor."

"Evidences of German barbarity are found in all the reports from the front in France, and are confirmed by no less an authority than Sir John French, who says that while there have doubtless been many exaggerations, yet it has been definitely established that the German soldiers 'have committed atrocities on many occasions and have been guilty of brutal conduct.' One correspondent who visited French towns through which the Germans had passed indignantly describes the wanton and stupid destruction of even the furniture and ornaments in the cottages. Such conduct reflects not merely upon the soldiers, but upon their officers, since the latter must be held responsible for the conduct of their men. If Germany desired to alienate the sympathy of the whole world from her cause she could not have chosen a surer means of bringing about that result."

differences of opinion between the heads of departments, else the matter could be amicably arranged.

Two reports are now awaited by the citizens with a good deal of interest. One is that on the Dugal charges and the other that on the police department.

The famous Pink steps in Fairville have provided a controversy of such absorbing interest that the court yesterday would not adjourn for supper. Is Mr. Pink usurping the king's highway, or are the road commissioners assaulting an Englishman's castle? What a pity the Hague tribunal has been put out of business.

The Japanese consul general in Canada points out that Japan has been importing annually about twenty-five million dollars worth of manufactured products from Germany, and millions of dollars worth of grain from Austria. He declares that Canada now has a great opportunity to capture a share of this trade. Since the navies of Japan, Britain and France have made the Pacific sea routes safe, the manufacturers and grain shippers of Canada should look into this proposition without delay.

While several small cruisers and some merchant vessels have fallen a prey to the Germans the great British fleet is still intact. Not one of the first class ships of the fleet has been captured or sunk or seriously damaged by the Germans.

The selection of St. John as a port for the shipment of horses from Canada for the British army would be a good thing not only for the port, but for the farmers of the province. Forage would be required, and the care of the horses would provide a good deal of employment for men.

The court which inquired into the accident to the steamer Shenandoah recommends that a lightship with a strong fog horn be placed six miles south of Partridge Island, and that the fog signal at Tiner's Point be removed to Split Rock and made more efficient, while a more efficient fog signal is also placed at Cape Spencer. No doubt the marine department will provide for these improvements in its next estimates.

The military spirit has taken a very strong hold upon the citizens of Toronto. It is now proposed to raise in the city a supplementary militia force of 60,000 to 70,000 men. A deputation representing seventeen ratepayers' associations in the city waited upon the board of education last week and asked that they permit the school properties to be used, as the armories would be totally inadequate for the use of so large a force. The school trustees at once signified their willingness to grant the use of the school properties. Space will be provided in the buildings for the storage of necessary equipment, and school grounds will be available for purposes of drill. Rifles for cadets are provided in the Toronto schools, and these also will be placed at the disposal of the civilian force. Business men, professional men and men of all classes appear to be taking a very active interest in the new movement, and special emphasis is being placed upon the importance of producing good marksmen. The Toronto movement is likely to spread to other cities.

CZAR DETERMINED TO LEAD ARMY IN BERLIN

Expects to Ride at Head of His Troops in Kaiser's Capital

Discussing the general situation on last Tuesday Minister of War Sukhomlinoff at Petrograd declared:— "The British army is going to capture Berlin. That is the task assigned to it by the allies in the present war. The entire strength of the Russians will be used to this purpose. We have been compelled to remove the Austrians as a source of danger, but we have not planned any general invasion of Hungary or any attempt to take either Budapest or Vienna."

"Russia is administering the captured territory, but it will not forcibly annex any of Austria's territory. Questions of that sort must be left until after the war is over."

"That the invasion of Hungary by Russian troops has been definitely abandoned was intimated on Wednesday. It is realized by the Russian general staff that the German resistance would be very strong, and it has been definitely decided that the entire Russian field army, first and second line troops, will be retained for the capture of Berlin."

The hope is universal that Captain Bernard Harvey of the British cruiser Cressy, and son-in-law of Lieutenant-Governor Wood, may be among those saved from the disaster which befell that vessel and two others in the North Sea.

THE SWORDS OF INDIA. (By Harold Begbie in London Chronicle, Dedicated to His Highness the Maharajah of Mysore). They said, the gentle Germans said: "When we, the mighty host, attack This England whom the nations dread, India will strike her in the back!" But you another tale unfold; You offer treasure, and your lords Cry to their Emperor, "Behold Our swords, our myriad swords!" They said, the jealous Germans said: "This bloated England, like a beast, Too long her coward soul has fed At the rich man's table in the East!" But you who scorn the tyrant's lash, Our Peace the shield of all your horde, Under the flag of England flash Your swords, your warrior swords! They said, the jeering Germans said: "India, who waits, will not be loth— Her conscripts' blood be on the head Of them who died about us both! India, with us you live and breathe, Our steadfast will with yours accord; God knows our pride when you unsheathe Your swords, your faithful swords!" LIGHTER VEIN Successful Student.
