TO NEW SUBSCRIBERS.

The addition of so many new names to The Standard circulation lists means considerable extra work in this office. It should not be expected that all these papers will be started immediately, as several days will be required to get the subscription lists in perfect shape. All subscriptions received on Saturday are being dated one week ahead and it is hoped that by the end of the present week the papers will be going regularly. Those who fail to receive The Standard for a day or two will therefore bear in mind that the delay is caused by the rush of work, and will confer a favor by waiting patiently for a short time. If, however, there are any who do not receive their papers regularly after Monday next, they should report the matter promptly to this office.

S. S. CONVENTION HEARS REPORTS

FRIENDLY RIVALRY BETWEEN 2 COUNTIES. Enthusiastic Spirit Pervades the Sessions — One Adult Bible Class Organized — Secretaries Cheered.

Amherst, N. S., Oct. 12.—The afternoon session of the New Brunswick Sunday School Association today, the reports from the different departments were given. The home department, the temperance and the Bible reading all reported through their different superintendents.

Both the reports were of a very encouraging nature and were received with much applause by the convention. The reports from the different counties were completed. These were of a very gratifying nature. The reports of Charlotte and Carleton counties were worthy of special note.

The first named claimed to be a banner county, but Carleton surpassed it in the amount collected for the advancement of the work. In the number of schools reporting, the number kept open and also in the number contributing both counties were about equal. The spirit of friendly rivalry which exists between these two counties has been productive of much good.

Both the secretaries, C. W. Farnam and Miss A. W. Calder, received hearty applause upon giving their report. A strong spirit of enthusiasm is abroad in the convention and it promises to be very successful.

The organization of one adult class was demonstrated at the evening session. Rev. J. B. Ganong acted as president and with the assistance of Rev. W. C. Ross and Robert Reid showed the plan for formation and the carrying out of this important branch of Sunday school work.

LARGE FACTORY IS DESTROYED

A. S. Fillmore's Carriage Shop at Southampton, Near Amherst, a Total Loss — 200 Sleighs Burned.

Special to The Standard. Amherst, N. S., Oct. 12.—The large carriage factory of A. S. Fillmore, situated at Southampton, about 20 miles from Amherst, was today destroyed by fire. The factory was a large one and equipped with modern up-to-date machinery and lighted with acetylene gas.

The fire broke out about 11 o'clock this morning and the flames made such rapid progress that nothing could be done to prevent the total destruction of the building and its contents. The metallic sheathed warehouse adjoining the warehouse was saved.

Mr. Fillmore's residence is in close proximity to the factory and it caught several times, but no serious damage was done to it. Mr. Fillmore had nearly 200 sleighs in his factory ready for his first fall shipment, all of which were destroyed; his stock of carriages, patterns and general supplies also perished in the flames. Mr. Fillmore estimates his total loss at $35,000, while the insurance will only be about $6,000.

The business was one of the largest of its kind in the maritime provinces. He generally employed from 20 to 30 men and had an output in value of considerably over $100,000 a year. He will probably rebuild at Southampton. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

FRENCH STRIKE ON RAILROADS DISASTROUS

Food Supplies Held up En Route Until Unfit for Use — Tugs Being Used to Relieve Congestion.

SUBURBANITES WALK OUT FROM PARIS

Paris, Oct. 12.—The strike by the railroad men which threatens to spread through the length and breadth of France, was denounced today by Premier Briand as "an insurrection purely built upon criminal foundations."

The Premier said that the strike was called while negotiations were on through him and the minister of public works for an adjustment of grievances and he promised that the instigators of the strike would be criminally prosecuted.

The river boats, which in January threatened to destroy Paris, now appears in the role of savior. The government has made arrangements to rush food supplies to Paris from the sea, requisitioning all tugs, boats and barges to make the crisis brought about by the stoppage of the railway service and the crippling of the food market, which is already hard hit.

The employees of the Eastern and the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean railroads have not yet to any appreciable extent responded to the leaders' call to strike, and the government's weapon of mobilization has induced some of those employed on the Northern road to return to their posts. Nevertheless, the Northern and Western railroads are prostrated.

The call to the colors has been ignored by the large majority and at mass meetings held today the strikers reiterated their determination not to respond to the call.

The man's body was ground beneath the trucks of the car and the fire department had to be called to extricate the remains.

SEND ANSWER THROUGH MAILS

Remarkable Method of Choosing Candidate Adopted by Democrats of Mass.—Live Session of Committee.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 12.—The Democrats of Massachusetts through their representatives recently sent to the state convention will have another chance to express their preference for a candidate to head the state ticket, by the use of the U. S. mail. After deliberating for three hours and considering the proposition of Eugene N. Foss, to call another state convention to take a test vote for candidates for governor, the committee decided to send special delivery letters to all delegates accredited to the recent state convention, enclosing return special delivery envelopes in which the delegates may express their preferences for candidates for governor for the guidance of the committee of four to which was given the power of nominating the head of the ticket, but which has been in a dead lock since its appointment by the state convention. The session of the state committee at its headquarters was a stormy one and frequently the noise of lively debate and demands for "fair play" could be heard outside. Boston, Oct. 12.—After the decision of the state committee to take a poll of the delegates to their convention became known, both James H. Vahey and Eugene N. Foss, who were candidates before the convention, issued statements. Mr. Vahey reiterated that he was no longer a candidate for the nomination. Mr. Foss declared that he had not sought to make any deal with Mr. Hamlin, and that he would abide by the result of the canvass proposed.

HERBERT BOOTH TALKS ON CANADA

St. John entertained a worthy member of a world famous family last night in the person of Herbert Booth youngest son of General William Booth, founder and head of the Salvation Army. Like his father Herbert Booth was high in the councils of the Army and did notable work in the ranks of the soldiers who are fighting the great battle of salvation on the broad field of the world. Unlike his father he resigned his charge in the ranks of the Salvationists and for the past eight years has been devoting himself to the work of evangelism through the medium of the churches. He has been in Yarmouth and passed through the city on his way to Fredericton where he will tonight deliver his famous lecture on the Early Christians, in the Opera House. While in the city he was the guest of Rev. David Hutchinson, of the Main street Baptist church, and will return here on Saturday to open a campaign in that church on Sunday next. A Standard representative saw Mr. Booth last night and enjoyed a conversation with him. Naturally the chief interest in the visitor was from the standpoint that he was the son of a famous man, but Herbert Booth would be a noted man even if he had not been born to the purple in the work of the salvation of the world. He has all the attributes of a successful evangelist, personal magnetism, enthusiasm and the faculty of awakening enthusiasm in others, a winning culture and a gift of oratory. Consequently he is well qualified for the work in which he is engaged and it is little wonder that his meetings have been crowned with success.

The church of Christ has done wonders for Canada. In the time of stress every section of it has prospered. But now the tide of materialism is setting in, the followers of Christ need to watch and pray. Nothing will help the people of God more than to realize their responsibilities and rise to the opportunity of evangelizing the thousands who are pouring into the land. Realization the Need. "What do you consider the great work of the churches today?" "My observation of about 550 of them in which I have worked the last few years convinces me that they need nothing more than a new baptism of realization. Realization of the truths they proclaim. There is a sense in which organization is today observing revelation. Institutionalism is in danger of taking the place of inspiration. There is a sense in which even the church may eclipse the Christ. The body is for the spirit—not the spirit for the body. When a church loses her vision of the reality and preciousness of her doctrines, she at once loses her spirit, and no elaborate ritual or splendor of sanctuary and excellence of intellect can take the place of the spiritual vision. The churches which have revolutionized the world have ever been the churches with the sense of realization. They believed what they preached and said and sang. They saw Jesus and went forth to tell that which they had seen and heard. They didn't understand it. They never tried to. They didn't need to. They just had it. Just as a man has life and light from the sun, so we have light from heaven," said Paul to Arippa. "Lo I see Jesus," cried Stephen before the unbelieving church critics of his day, and thousands of the choicest spirits went to martyrdom with joy unspeakable, as seeing him who is invisible. It is that vision I hope to see afresh in my mission in St. John. I trust hundreds of others will see it.

The examination of petty officers at the station for warrants as gunners and boatswains is now in progress.

RAILWAYS IN AUSTRALIA

Canada is not the only one of the British overseas nations that is making history. The Commonwealth beyond the Southern Cross is busy with the construction of a transcontinental line to connect the settled portions of South Australia with the northern territory. Andrew Fisher, the quiet, unassuming Scot who heads the Labor Ministry, has announced the intention of the federal government to hold and develop the territory. As a first step toward this the government will build a railway from the northern end of the State, Bullock, of South Australia, some 500 miles north of Adelaide, to Port Darwin, on the north coast. The estimated cost of the railway is $22,500,000. The distance to be traversed makes it evident that the railway will not be of the highest grade, but will be rather in the nature of a light colonization and exploratory line. The construction of the railway is due to national sentiment rather than the requirements of trade, although in the end it is hoped that there will be an important interchange of products between the north and the south when the northern territory is developed. At the present however, Mr. Fisher and his colleagues have their eye not so much on the development of Australia's cotton fields as on the Jap. Three Powerful States. The eastern coast of Australia is occupied by three fairly strong states—Victoria, on the south with a million and a half of people; New South Wales, in the centre, with a million and three-quarters, and Queensland on the northeast coast with something over half a million. These states are sufficiently powerful and sufficiently enterprising to hold their own territories for the white man. In the centre of the island, however, stretching clear across from the north to south, is the State of South Australia, with but 400,000 people and almost a million square miles of territory. The northern portion of the State is cut off from the populous southern part by the great desert that occupies the centre of Australia. On the northern coast, with half a million square miles of territory, much of it suitable for cotton growing, there are less than 4,000 white men and 20,000 aborigines. The great stretch of vacant land is regarded as a standing temptation to the swarming millions of China and Japan. In the re-

Lecture on Life and Voyage of Discoverer at Reception Given by Moncton Council—The Boston Parade.

Special to The Standard. Moncton, Oct. 12.—A large number attended this evening to assist the local council of the Knights of Columbus in their observance of the anniversary of the discovery of America by their patron, Columbus. The exercises consisted of a lecture on the life and voyage of Columbus by the chancellor of the council, H. F. Hamilton, Hon. F. J. Sweeney, grand knight, occupied the hour and a musical programme was rendered during the evening. Joint Celebration. Boston, Mass., Oct. 12.—The achievement of Christopher Columbus of 418 years ago received its first holiday recognition in Massachusetts today through a joint celebration by the Irish, Italian, Portuguese and Catholic organizations, which to the number of many thousands marched for nearly four hours through two dense lines of cheering countrymen. The parade also received national and state approval, for President Taft reviewed the column of every society in eastern Massachusetts turned out in full numbers and from noon until dark the business section of the city shook with the thump of the drum and the blare of the trumpet. Many of the organizations were in uniform, while others were fancifully dressed in costumes of different periods of the American history. Floats were numerous. The vanguard was composed of four companies of coast artillery and a half-dozen companies of blue-jackets. Mayor Fitzgerald reviewed the parade from a special stand on the common, and Archbishop William H. O'Connell was also saluted at a special stand near the start. The day began with high mass at the cathedral, celebrated by Prince Ferdinand De Croix, of Mons, Belgium, one of the staff of Cardinal Vannevel. Later the prince accompanied Archbishop O'Connell to the State House, where the prelates paid their respects to President Taft and Governor Draper. The prince also sat with Archbishop O'Connell in the reviewing stand. While the parade was the feature of the day, nearly all the local Catholic fraternities kept open house, and in the evening the city contributed a fine display of fire works in different sections of the city. The holiday was generally observed throughout the state, having been formally sanctioned by the last legislature.

LAJOIE WAS ENTITLED TO EIGHT HITS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 12.—Umpire Evans, of the American league submitted a report today to President Ban B. Johnson, regarding the Lajoie incident at St. Louis last Sunday. President Johnson did not make public the entire report but announced that Umpire Evans gave Lajoie an absolutely clean bill in relation to Lajoie's making eight hits in eight times at bat in the double-header with the St. Louis team. Evans who officiated the games in question, filed his report at the request of President Johnson. The report will be made public when President Johnson has completed his personal investigation and is ready to announce his decision. President Johnson is said to have proposed as the best solution of the dispute, that the automatic prize be returned to the donors. That in Mr. Johnson's opinion would end the unpleasant mess, but to reward the players, he would have Lajoie and Cobb's average declared a tie and have the league present a suitable prize to each.

WHAT MISSION WORK HAS DONE

Boston, Oct. 12.—Four veteran missionaries tonight reviewed what the American board of commissioners for foreign missions has accomplished in foreign fields. These veterans, of whom the Rev. Dr. Daniel Bliss was the dean, were among the speakers, at tonight's services in connection with the centennial anniversary of the founding of the American board. While they were addressing an audience that filled Park street church, John R. Mott, chairman of the continuation committee of the world's missionary conference, and Rev. Dr. Chas. E. Jefferson, of New York, were speaking to an audience in Tremont Temple. Mr. Mott's topic was "Missions and Christian Unity," and Dr. Jefferson discussed "Missions and International Peace." At the Park street church, Dr. Bliss told of his trip to Syria fifty-five years ago, just after receiving his commission as an American missionary. During more than half a century of active service in Syria he has seen his small mission station develop into a thriving college, of which he is the president emeritus, and which has sent out from Beirut thousands of graduates. "We have no difficulty of preaching the truth to the various sects, providing we can forego the luxury of denouncing their own religion in seeking to expel superstition and error from the human mind," he said, "we follow the method of the janitor who drives out the darkness from the audience room by turning on the electric light. Light has no fellowship with darkness." Faces Serious Charge. Frank DeGrasse, a young North End man, is in jail charged with three offences. The most serious is indecent assault on a young girl. He is also charged with violently resisting the police and fighting with Wm. T. Speight. The incidents which preceded the charges occurred early yesterday morning and the prisoner was subsequently arraigned in the police

A HAPPY HUNTING GROUND. Stanley K. Smith in Canadian Century.

New Brunswick is the sportsman's paradise par excellence. For the calling of the lordly moose, the stalking of the gentle deer, the exercise of the angler's art and the gunning for birds of all sorts there is ample opportunity and best of all wide game laws provide for the preservation of present conditions for all time to come. Already the lure of the woods is calling. The exodus will soon begin. The nobility of England and of Europe, the rich from the crowded cities of the United States, and the nabobs from the larger and more central provinces of Canada know and are known in these primeval forests of ours and the story will be repeated again this year. That there is abundant game in the woods for this year's killing is evident. A party of New Yorkers, armed not with rifles, but with moving picture machines, and cameras, invaded the Miramichi district during the summer and on their return to Fredericton, reported they had sighted in the course of their journeyings not less than sixty moose. A sight for the gods, this. Imagine the parade. Three score forest monarchs marching in all their magnificence to their doom by the hunters' rifle. An ordinary experience for I.C.R. trappers is to see moose grazing along the track. An instance is recorded of two railway men who took a hand car into the woods, each calling a moose to the track, shot them down and returned within a few hours in triumph with the heads. Two years ago Richard O'Leary of Richibucto shot a moose without getting out of his automobile. Started deer appear in the clearings in the back settlements making havoc with the farmer's crops. The writer saw a large moose trot up King Street in St. John, hounded by a crowd of men and boys, lie down and die in what is known as the old burying ground. These, of course, are isolated instances of the big game animals venturing out into civilization. As a rule they remain secure in the depths of the province where one moose, two caribou and two deer in one season are liable to the same amount. Shooting of a cow moose or young moose under three years is also prohibited. A change has been made this year in the regulations for shooting duck, woodcock, wild geese, etc., the season beginning on September 1st instead of September 15th. This will be good news for the sportsmen who like this kind of thing, and parties have already gone forward to certain sections of the province where one is pretty sure of a well-filled bag. Feathered game abounds along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and one hour's ride from St. John will put the hunter within reach of a good day's sport. In fact anywhere in the big game country partridges abound and form no small part of the sportsman's kill. June is the month for trout fishing. At a moderate cost, say from $4 to $7 a day, experienced guides guarantee the non-resident a satisfying catch. On the north shore the principal trout streams are the Nepisiquit, Tobique, Tabusintac, Upsalauquit and Restigouche. Three railroads penetrate the very best of fishing sections. The I.C.R. branch from Fredericton to Chatham taps a region noted for sea trout fishing during the months of May and June. Well known trout streams, such as the Magalloway, Grommet and Piskebeagan are crossed by the C.P.R. between St. John and Vancouver. In the southern part, along the N. B. Southern, the fishing is good and easily accessible. For salmon fishing, that king of sports, the Restigouche and its tributaries are unequalled. On the Upsalauquit, reached from Campbellton by way of the new international Railway, trout privileges cost $10, with a limit of five fish per day. Eight miles from Metapedia station, on the I.C.R., there is excellent salmon water on the main strict, employs subordinate guides and is sought after by sportsmen. John Connell of Baribogue, might be described by T. R. as a nature fakir, but he is a picturesque figure none the less. Connell is an experienced guide and has several men in his employ, but it is his penchant for the domestication of wild things that gives him his chief claim to distinction. Residents of Chatham were much startled one winter morning by the sight of an ungainly half-grown bull moose drawing through the streets a sledge in which Connell was seated, much enjoying the situation. Captured and trained by the eccentric Connell, the young moose not only brought notoriety to its owner but furnished C. D. G. Roberts with a theme for one of the more interesting of his later nature stories. "The White Slashed Bull."

Restigouche, where trout privileges cost $5 per day. On these waters the fish are of great size and occasionally a forty pounder is taken. On the branches of the Miramichi and Tobique and on the Pocologan in the south the seeker after salmon is also well rewarded. The red deer is considered small game and is met with in almost any section of the province. A special non-resident license for shooting deer costs $10. The best bear country is on the headwaters of the Miramichi, and the most likely season from August to October. Bear hunting is good sport, and the poet makes a handsome trophy. Caribou cannot be counted upon except in certain districts until the month of November. Woodcraft ex-

Connell also trains wild foxes and they serve the purpose of watch dogs. A thieving neighbor was once bitten while prowling about the grounds at night, and as it was no ordinary dog bite, the world would not hear. A good story is told of how a New Yorker made an attempt to pull ashore a dummy nine-pound trout which the crafty John had planted in a brook near his Baribogue camp. It was securely fastened, however, and the enthusiasm of the angler gradually faded, failing to land the big fellow, after much effort.

The guides are organized and in league with the Crown land department in the campaign for the regulation of the destruction of big game. Under present conditions the number of animals is increasing rather than diminishing. New Brunswick has a valuable asset in hunting attractions and fortunately that fact is realized. A fish, forest and game protective association does active work, and there is every promise that the big game resources of the province are practically inexhaustible. Here's to the first moose, anyway!

Obedient Child. The curly haired little sprout of the house came running to her father about the study and, throwing her arms about his neck, whispered confidentially in his ear: "Oh, papa, it's raining!" Papa was writing on a subject that occupied his mind to the exclusion of matters aside, so he said, rather sharply, "Well let it rain!" "Yes, papa, I was going to, was her quick response."

ST. JOHN, N. B., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1910.

A FAR REACHING REVIVAL.

The proposed religious revival for men, to be discussed at a conference in Buffalo on October 25 and 26, at which the Protestant churches in St. John will be represented, is being projected on a scale never before attempted by any similar movement, and judging by the announcement of its ambitions will not only appeal to the individual but will attack graft and such like evils in a community from a new standpoint. The co-operation of all Protestant bodies on the continent is being sought.

For four or five years, the temporary committee states, it has had this campaign for men in mind, and it gave way in point of date of beginning to the Laymen's Missionary Movement last year. Now the plan is to have the campaign begin at once, and to conduct it with great animation for a year and a half, culminating in May, 1912. The new campaign proposes to touch all the principal cities on the continent, and to require that each shall, through its local committee, pledge to carry out a campaign in fifteen to twenty small adjacent towns. The number of meetings, and presumably the number of men reached, will be enormous, if the plans are put through.

The temporary committee has issued a statement, showing that Brotherhoods, Y.M.C.A.'s, Sunday schools and practically all organizations of men in all bodies are represented. A map accompanies the statement which sets forth that 60 per cent. of the American people are not in any Christian body, only 24 per cent. being in Protestant and 13 per cent. in Roman Catholic bodies. The statement also points out that there are 3,000,000 more women than men in the churches and says that the task of making them even, man for woman, is a "man's job."

The way to attack it, the committee thinks, in a United States way, which is felt to be better than the European way. That it is better, the statement sets forth, is conceded by Europeans. The proposition is so to use all sorts of advertising methods, popular, but proper, as to compel attention to the campaign. Railroad time tables, laundry lists, hotel menus, street car signs and bill boards are among the ways suggested. The programme intimates that the campaign is to last five years, and that its ambitions include the adding of one hundred thousand men and boys to Christian Church membership, doubling the present enrollment in Bible classes, vastly increasing missionary contributions, enlarging the number of lay volunteers, cleaning up graft in cities or most of it, and giving conclusive testimony beyond anything yet offered that the Church spells Christian unity.

At the Buffalo meeting it is expected that the cities will be urged to name committees of one hundred, charged with the duties of holding local meetings and conducting those in tributary towns. There are to be available the greatest companies of travelling evangelists, Sunday school and social workers it is possible to select in America and England. The campaign of last year, great as that was, will be wholly outclassed. The time of beginning is September, 1911, and of ending, May, 1912, the eleven months till next September being consumed in preparation. The whole thing is put forth under the title "In behalf of the Christian life of the men and boys of North America."

AN ARBITRATION REVISION.

The period during which any protest could be lodged against the decision of the Hague tribunal upon the Newfoundland fisheries case having elapsed, that decision is final and irrevocable. Not that there was the slightest indication at any time of any likelihood of a protest being entered. In the case of another international arbitration, however, the Hague tribunal is entering upon the consideration of the question whether the decision of a previous arbitral tribunal shall be set aside and the case gone into again from the beginning. This is the first case of the sort in the history of international arbitration.

The matter in question is between the United States and Venezuela. By agreement between the two governments the Hague tribunal is to decide the question whether the decision of the Mixed Commission of 1902 in the Orinoco Steamship case shall be re-examined on its merits. The difficulty grew originally out of the violation of certain exclusive rights of navigation on the Orinoco River held by the United States citizens and the cancellation of concessions to them by the government of Venezuela, a procedure which ultimately worked the destruction of a business in which nearly three-quarters of a million dollars of American capital had been invested.

The company, indeed, was finally forced to dispose of its vessels for the sum of $160,000, declared to be "totally inadequate," and to persons who immediately formed a company in which General and President Castro owned one-third of the stock. The Americans submitted their claims for about $1,400,000 of damages to the United States and Venezuela Mixed Commission of 1902, which disallowed all but $25,000. After protracted negotiations, a protocol was signed in 1909 creating, under the Hague conventions, a special tribunal to decide, first, whether the previous decision must be considered so conclusive as to preclude a re-examination of the case on its merits, and, if not, to reopen it.

In setting forth the substantial agreement of all writers on international law that certain causes justify a refusal to accept an arbitral award, the New York Evening Post quotes the summing up of the matter by Hall, who writes: "An arbitral decision may be disregarded in the following cases, viz.: when the tribunal has clearly exceeded the powers given to it by the instrument of submission, when it is guilty of an open denial of justice, when its award is proved to have been obtained by fraud or corruption, and when the terms of the award are equivocal." The United States is in this case alleging the first two of these grounds.

THE DEVELOPMENT OF CUBA.

An English financial firm has been negotiating for the purchase of 500,000 acres of land in Cuba, and it has caused considerable comment in Great Britain, especially among investors. Although no announcement has been made to that effect, it is quite probable that the negotiations have by this time been successfully concluded. The price was to be 24 shillings, or about $5.75 an acre.

The tract in question, lying about thirty-five miles west of Santiago, has an ocean frontage of forty-five miles and is said to contain more than 3,000,000,000 feet of yellow pine, mahogany and cedar, twenty varieties of hard woods and a deposit of 40,000,000 tons of iron ore. Moreover, it has a landlocked harbor from which its products may be shipped direct to all parts of the world.

Mr. Sydney Brooks, who is recognized as one of the ablest and most reliable writers on Anglo-American affairs of the period, seems to have taken a deep interest in this transaction. After saying that the presence of half a million acres of virgin forest in an island smaller than England itself must seem to most Englishmen incredible, he adds: "But those who have seen something of Cuba know that much of the country, especially in the eastern provinces, is practically the same as when Columbus discovered it. There is nothing in this statement but what is commonplace. I should not be surprised to learn that a dozen syndicates in London and New York are at this moment negotiating for the purchase of properties with all the potential riches of the one mentioned."

It is evident that the undeveloped riches of Cuba will receive very considerable attention in the next few years. At the close of the Spanish war the United States government took pains to have it made known that legitimate development schemes would be welcomed in Cuba, but that the ruthless exploitation of the natural resources of the island would not be tolerated. The Cubans themselves, during the two periods of occupation, learned how to differentiate on these points. There is no reason, however, to suppose that the 500,000 acre deal is not a legitimate enterprise. It will likely be the forerunner of others when it is more fully realized that Cuba is a country with tremendous possibilities.

ANGLO-AMERICAN RELATIONS.

The testimony of Mr. Nelson R. Butcher will go far, says the Hamilton Spectator, to dissipate the legend that Great Britain has always been prone to placate the United States by easy-going complaisance in the settlement of international disputes, and that the interests of Canada are habitually sacrificed. Mr. Butcher, who headed the staff of official reporters at the sessions of the Hague tribunal, declares that nothing could exceed the diligence and fidelity to duty of the very able lawyers appointed by Great Britain to represent, with our counsel, the Canada and Newfoundland side of the case. He thinks it is time the notion were dispelled that our interests are lightly dealt with when we leave them in the hands of the imperial government.

To this it may be replied, by anyone ill-natured enough to do so, that in the very early days, when Canada was of little more account in the eyes of British statesmen than Jamaica or the Straits Settlements, there may have been regard for matters which we considered important. Even yet it is alleged that Lord Ashburton was outwitted by Daniel Webster in the fixing of the boundary of Maine, and that if Ashburton had been sharp enough to know that Webster was hiding a map delineating the truth, there would not have been that ugly projection of American territory toward the lower St. Lawrence. On the other hand, however, it must be borne in mind that such stories as this are stoutly denied by modern American historians, and Dr. Goldwin Smith has left on record his conviction that Great Britain at all times exercised her very best offices in Canada's behalf.

Old tales die hard. Perhaps some day it will even be possible for the Americans to discover that their forefathers were mistaken in supposing themselves ill-treated by Great Britain at the outbreak of the Revolutionary war—that really the parent country wanted no more than a reasonable contribution toward the expenses of protecting the colonists from marauding bodies of French and Indians along a widely extended boundary. Goldwin Smith has given the weight of his name to the correct view of this chapter also of misunderstood history.

Current Comment

(Hamilton Spectator.)

All the things we have been hearing about the Queen's Own Rifles and their trip to England have been complimentary so far, but now comes the captious critic in the person of a contributor in John Bull, a London publication, who writes as follows: "The press have only to announce that somebody will go somewhere at a certain hour by a certain route and lo! the streets are lined with gaping idlers. Perhaps the poorest show of that kind was provided by the Canadian Rifles on their way to lunch. Their uniforms looked funeral; their figures were weary, almost suggestive of ballet-girls; their complexions bore traces of banquets; they had a mincing or groggy gait, and few of them knew how to keep step. As for Sir Henry Pellatt, he rode like a tailor on a sack of wheat. Even the Tzar of Bulgaria could give him points." The reply to this rough bit of pen work will come from Toronto, and we await it with breathless expectancy.

Despatches tell us that C. P. R. officials have inspected the new double track between Winnipeg and Portage La Prairie and found it good. A few years ago the C. P. R. undertook to double track the line from Winnipeg to the lakes. This was accomplished in a couple of years. Now the apparent intention of the railway is to double track the entire Transcontinental system, an undertaking second only to building a new road. Canada frequently counts on its fingers the western railway facilities it will have in a few years hence. In these future calculations it will be well to include a double track C.P.R. from Vancouver to the Great Lakes.

Hon. George E. Foster, M. P., has returned to his home at Toronto, after a summer's rest, feeling, as he says, "very much better." There were some political obituaries of Mr. Foster, written by his enemies, and printed at the beginning of the year, that are likely to need considerable revision before they are again brought into use for the purpose of injuring him.

The wild and plunging seas have smote our sides; The wild and trampling winds have rent our sails; Yet if God means the gulfing waves to whim My galleons under, let God's will be done! I can rest content, In the sea's ooze, or drifting to and fro, A lifeless corpse made animate by the tides, My sightless eyes shall see when great ships pass; And my dead ears shall hear their deckbells ring; And I shall know brave seamen guide their helm, And still shall guide, till all my Quest is won, Beyond the beckoning sunset, and beyond All ultimate far seas, the alluring gold of India waits; What words are these! No gleaming mines of gold, Or flashings of great pearls, or odoriferous woods, Or mounds of whitest ivory, or the sheen Of opalescent silks, allure my keels, I would the shores of India bleaker were. Than all the storm-wracked Hebrides! the womb Of all her mountains barren! her great peaks Swart as black lava, so all fools should learn I seek no wealth, I only seek to know, I urge the gold of India as the bait For those who find no profit but in gold. Mayhap my wrist shall feel the bite of chains, And on my head the curse of fools may break For that I prove them fools—yet what to me? Mine are rewards that they can never give; And in my soul a peace they cannot know. I saw the hand of God blaze through the sky; I heard the voice of God in all the winds; The hand wrote, Follow!—and the voice rang, Go! And I obeyed the vision and the dream, Seeing no visions, ye call visions lies; Dreaming no dreams, ye held mine own untrue— Knowing no truth but that of touch, tax small, Seeing and hearing, Beasts of little mould, My bait of pearls and gold was well devised!

THEN IT HAPPENED

Hark! 'Tis a midnight alarm of fire! Thick, blinding smoke filled the apartment house, its acid fumes awakening those who were not used to having their fumes acid. Gwendoline De Style was one of these. Apprehending that no time was to be lost, she dressed herself and then stepped out on the fire escape. All she had to do was to descend the fire escape and she was saved. Horrors! She had put on her hobble skirt. Behind her the smoke surged menacingly. The End.

These Boy Scout Signals Are Recognized as wild animals, birds' nests, trees and bushes which bear nuts or berries suitable for food, or any other class of natural objects, and find out which scout can see the greatest number in a given time.

When your leader calls you together to rest, let each scout make his report of the things of interest he has seen. Each scout will make a truthful report, because, you remember, the first scout law is, "A scout's honor is to be trusted."

Spoken orders will be little good when you are all spread out—and a good scout will never give away his location by shouting, so you had better learn these scout signals. Some of them are those used by the English scouts, some those of the United States army scouts, and some belong just to the Boy Scouts of Canada.

Advance, move ahead—Arm or staff vertical, waved forward. With the whistle give succession of long, slow blasts.

To the left—high note and low note. Suppose your outfit boss gives the following whistle signal: Long blast; low note; and a short one giving succession of short blasts. That would mean: "Halt and listen for orders, Scouts on the right come to me." If he added the "alarm" long and short blasts, it would mean "something important doing, hurry."

It's but a step from fall to winter—the season of short days and long evenings spent indoors.

DREDGING CASE COMES UP TODAY

Hearing in Mayes vs. the King Will Begin at 10 O'Clock This Morning—Reid vs. King Postponed.

When the exchequer court resumed yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, R. W. Hewson, solicitor for the appellant in the case of Reid and Company vs. the King, applied for a postponement until the next court, owing to the illness of M. G. Teed, K. C., counsel with him in the case. Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C. and A. E. G. McKenzie for the Crown, consented. His Lordship Mr. Justice Cassels, postponed the trial accordingly but said he would hear the testimony of one of the witnesses for the Crown in the afternoon at 3 o'clock.

This action is brought by John W. Y. Smith and J. Frederick Edgett, doing business under the name of F. R. Reid and Company, at Moncton and Campbellton, to recover the value of a carload of groceries which was destroyed by fire in the freight shed of the I. C. R. at Campbellton on October 30 or 31, 1907. The plaintiffs allege in their petition of right that the freight shed and contents were destroyed owing to the negligence of the servants of the Crown. The Crown denies there was negligence on the part of its servants, but that the plaintiffs were negligent in not removing the goods from the shed. The plaintiffs claim $2500 damages.

At the afternoon session Percy M. Sears, of Portland, Maine, formerly cashier in the freight shed at Campbellton, was examined on the part of the Crown. A. E. G. McKenzie conducted the examination. Witness said that on October 30 and 31 he was cashier of the I. C. R. in the freight shed at Campbellton. When the car of groceries consigned to the plaintiffs arrived, he communicated the fact to the plaintiffs by telephone. It was the custom in the office to notify all consignees of the arrival of their goods by phone. Those who had no phones were notified through the mail.

R. W. Hewson, for the plaintiffs, cross-examined witness. The case then adjourned until the June sittings 1911 of the court. His Lordship announced at the morning session yesterday that the case of Gershon S. Mayes vs. the King would be taken up this morning at 10 o'clock. Attorney General Hazen and Recorder J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., appear for Mr. Mayes and Dr. W. B. Wallace, K. C., E. H. McAlpine, K. C. and A. B. Copp, M. P. P., Sackville, for the Crown. This case was adjourned at the last sitting of the court which opened here in June. The plaintiffs' counsel appeared for the plaintiff and Dr. A. O. Earle, the late Recorder Skinner and E. H. McAlpine, K. C., for the Crown. The late recorder applied for a postponement of the case owing to the illness of Dr. Earle. Dr. Wallace and Mr. Copp came into the case at a recent date.

NO ASIATIC LABOR FOR B.C.

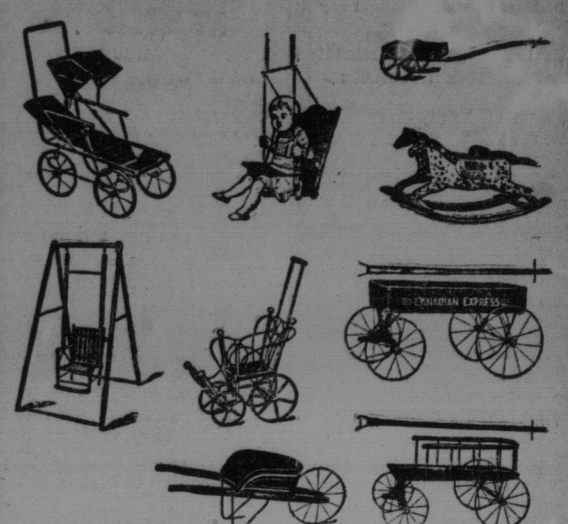

McBride Government Declines to Allow Orientals to be Used on Transcontinental—Premier's Stand.

Victoria, Oct. 11.—The Grand Trunk Pacific will not be permitted to use Oriental labor for the construction of its line in British Columbia.

The company through its solicitor, yesterday applied for an order-in-council permitting Oriental labor, but the application was refused on the ground that it would be inconsistent and distinctly at variance with the province's policy of conserving British Columbia, its resources and industrial opportunities for white people.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. John Guest.
The death of Mrs. Jessie Grey Guest, wife of John Guest, and second daughter of the late Robert Thomson, of Lincolnton, Rothesay, occurred at her home in Island Pond, Vermont, yesterday morning. She is survived by her husband and several children, one brother, Wm. E. Thomson, and two sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Helen Thomson of Rothesay. She was a cousin of Robert Thomson, of Messrs. Wm. Thomson & Co., and has many other relatives and friends in this vicinity, who will hear of her death with sincerest regret. For some time after her marriage she resided at Yarmouth, N. S., of which place her husband is a native, and several years ago the family moved to Vermont.

Robert Wall.
Chatham, N. E., Oct. 12.—Death came at 3.30 o'clock this morning to an aged and very much respected resident of Chatham, Robert Wall, who passed away at his home on Howard street, aged 73 years. Mr. Wall's wife predeceased him some four years and the remaining members of the family are Frank, Montreal; and Annie and Mary at home. The late Mr. Wall was a quiet but kindly genial nature and had a warm friend in everyone who knew him. He was a carpenter by trade and had built up the larger portion of the houses that now form Howard street and nearby sections. The funeral will be held on Friday morning from the cathedral.

Mrs. A. Longon.
The death of Mrs. Margaret Longon wife of Alex. Longon occurred yesterday morning. The deceased, who was formerly Miss Margaret Gillespie, was thirty-four years old, and is survived by her husband, four brothers and two sisters.

It is 12 feet in length and 3 feet 6 1/2 inches in width, compared with 11 feet in length and 3 feet in width, the dimensions of the old one. It contains 38 tubes, whereas the old one contained only 28 tubes. The installing was done by St. John Iron Works.

CHOOSING SCOUT MASTERS

The president and officers of the city council of the Boy Scout movement are busy now in considering the recommendations from the various troops for scout masters. Two such recommendations have been received and the other troops will send theirs in in the near future. Until this is done the movement is in rather an embryonic state as regards united organization, although the troops so far formed are taking a great interest in the work.

(By C. L. Gilman.)

Get together all the things you think you will need for a day out in the open—and then leave half of them at home.

This is the golden rule of the real scout. Carry as little as you can, and make the country you travel through supply your needs. We'll suppose that you have already organized your "outfit" and chosen your "outfit boss." If you have your "kit" across country will be under his direction. It will be up to him to manage things wisely and up to the rest of you to make his plans a success by carrying out his orders promptly and cheerfully. Not to do so would be to be a "quitter" and there are no quitters in the Boy Scouts.

When going through the woods or across the fields don't huddle together. Supposing there are eight of you, let two scouts lead the way. Then let four more of you march 100 yards, about a city block, behind them and spread out 50 yards apart. Your leader and his second in command should bring up the rear.

This formation gives you each a chance to devote the whole attention to seeing things—and seeing things is one of the big points in scouting. When you look at anything, whether it is a tree, a bird or a little wild beast, look at it long enough to be sure that you have seen, noticed and can remember everything about it.

At first you will find that you can look at only very little of what lies before you, but as you keep up this practice you will find the time it takes you to see all of one thing growing less and less, and the number of things you can see and remember growing more and more.

Make it a game. Pick out some class of objects, such as

Eiter-Black.
Amherst, N. E., Oct. 12.—At 8.15 a. m. this morning, in Christ church, the marriage of Winnifred Lorene, daughter of Major J. A. Black, and Walter W. Eiter of Sackville, was solemnized by Rev. J. J. Millidge acting rector. The bride, who looked very pretty, was attired in a traveling suit of rose cloth, with black velvet hat. She was conducted by her uncle Hon. A. B. Eiter, and given away by her father. The couple stood under a pretty floral arch and bell, the handwork of girl friends of the bride. "The voice that breathed of Eden" was sung by the choir, and at the close of the service Miss Phillips played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The automobiles of Claude D. Black, the bride's brother, and J. R. Douglas, conveyed the party to the church and to the railway station, where they took the Maritime train this morning for a ten days' trip, which will include some time at Major Black's bungalow at Rockingham, near Halifax. The bride was the recipient of many valuable gifts, testifying to the popularity and esteem which she enjoys, and friends of the groom, who represents the wholesale house of M. Wood & Sons in Cumberland and Westmorland counties, similarly remembered him.

Found Empty Boxes.
The cash boxes and all of the papers stolen from the Cranhall & Carter safe at Salisbury last week, were found in an old barn a short distance below the village by Luther Hains, on A. E. Trites' farm. The robbers had evidently met at the old barn after the burglary and divided up the cash, leaving all papers with the empty tills.

Good Reading For the Long Winter Evenings.

It's but a step from fall to winter—the season of short days and long evenings spent indoors.

At this time a grate fire and a good book or magazine are cheery companions—and the cost, armchair, a pretty exquisite report when Jack Frost is making things hum out of doors.

But the right reading material is often lacking when most wanted. You have read books around the house—possibly over and over again. The evening paper has been scanned even to the last "out of town" social item.

This is when a bright magazine that arrives regularly at your home each week, with its quota of short, breezy stories, its illustrations vividly picturing current events far and near; its interesting discussions of important national questions, etc.

And now is our opportunity to see this pleasure at a low cost—the special October offer, one year's subscription for one dollar, of The Canadian Century, Canada's big illustrated weekly magazine.

You should send in your subscription at once. This offer is only good for a few more days, when the regular price will be resumed. Be one of the thousands of new readers who will enjoy this reading this coming year.

HARD LUCK OF MAINE FAIR

Topsham, Me., Oct. 12.—Misfortune continues to follow the annual Sagadahoc fair. Today the second day of the exhibition was marked by a fire in the grandstand in which 4000 people were seated and another mishap on the track which sent one man to the hospital with a broken wrist and numerous body bruises.

The fire was discovered before it could get fairly under way and there was little or no damage to the grandstand, but the trouble came when shouts of fire were set up by two persons who were near enough to smell the smoke. With one accord the 4000 people rose to their feet and but for cooler heads and assurances that there was no danger, a stampede would have followed.

The accident came in the third heat of the 2 1/2 trot and pace class. The Indian, driven by Billy Nelson, fell and Roland Q. landed on top of him. Harry Richards, driver of Roland Q. and Nelson were both thrown. Nelson escaped with only shaking up and a few bruises, but Richards was not so fortunate, sustaining a broken wrist and other injuries. He was removed to Brunswick.

Runners Here Tomorrow

Came Back at 40

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 12.—"There'll be skirts enough when you're through fighting. You can't trail petticoats under the lights and become a champion. If you don't believe it, look at me. I'm thirty-nine. It's taken me nearly twenty years to learn this truth.

It was a year ago when "Kid" Farmer handed this advice to Jack Redmond, then attracting attention around New Orleans. Farmer was getting a preliminary wherever he could and taking a beating for the loser's end. He sized up Redmond as a comer and tried to show the youngster the effect of dissipation.

But Redmond wouldn't listen. He got a newspaper draw with Ad Wogast and jumped into fame. The other night Frankie White trimmed him and the latest is that Redmond has fizzled.

Today "Kid" Farmer is fighting like a demon, because he took unto himself the advice Redmond passed up. He was arrested in New Orleans for slugging a woman, and went to prison. His friends permitted him to soak long enough for the lesson to sink in, and when he came out Farmer turned a new leaf.

Before the change Farmer lost more fights to second-raters within a year than he had in all of his 18 years in the ring. Frankie White beat him decisively in a fierce fight, for although a shell, Farmer fought viciously until stretched out.

Today a team of horses couldn't drag White into the ring with Farmer, who has had 310 battles. The "Peoria Demon," as the veteran was known at the time Abe and Monte Atzell released their holds on elevator grips, is fighting all kinds of men.
Farmer has helped to bring out a number of good boxers, including Ray Bronson, Packey McFarland, and others. And right now at forty, a "come back" he is willing to take on any of them at 126-130.

PROVINCIAL BOWLING MATCH HERE OCT. 18-19

Semi-Annual Contest on Victoria Alleys Attracting Much Interest—Chatham to Send Crack Team.

In the bowling world there is one competition that is being much talked of at present. This is the Brunswick-Balke Co. competition for a trophy much coveted by the bowlers throughout the province, which will take place in the Victoria alleys on the 18th and 19th. This is a semi-annual match and always arouses much interest.

There will be two teams from Fredericton, one from Moncton, one from Calais, Maine, one from Black's alleys, a Y. M. C. A. team and another from the Victorias, and probably a crack team from Chatham, of something the same calibre as the champion baseball team.

THE HARVESTER 2 MILES TODAY

Champion Stallion Will Go Against Record Set by Cresceus—Results at Lexington Yesterday.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 12.—General H. won the $3,025 McDowell stake today, the feature event of the card of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders Association, trotting the second heat in 2:05 1/2.

The 2 1/2 pace was won by Princess Hal, who took the last three heats after losing the first to Sallie Stiles. Fair Margaret won the first two heats of the 2:11 trot, and it was postponed until tomorrow.
The 2:20 trot, carried over from yesterday, proved a surprise, when Carnation, which finished 5, 3 and 3 yesterday, and was overlooked in the betting, took the last three heats from Betsy G, which won the first two.

The pacing division championship stallion stakes went to Nell Gentry, after she had lost the second heat to Lettwich. It was worth $2125 to the winner. Starter Walker announced that The Harvester would start tomorrow to beat the two-mile record, 4:17, held by Cresceus. Sallie Stiles, which was second in the second heat of the 2:12 was declared distanced for foul driving.

Championship runner-up—Dr. J. M. Magee.

World Series Stars

Although game little Johnny Evers, he of the lantern jaw, is cut of the world's series if not out of baseball forever, as the result of a broken ankle, his place at second will be capably filled by the Cubs' great infield utility man, Zimmerman.
Zimmerman is a far better hitter than Evers, and he has shown in the past his ability to play any infield position brilliantly. He may not be given the credit for the brain work Chicago sporting writers have delighted in crediting to Evers, but it would not surprise students if he were the hero of the world's series, as Rhoe was in the Sox-Cub games in 1906.

UNFINISHED AT WOONSOCKET CAMERON AND WOOD CONTEST

None of Three Events on Yesterday's Card Decided—Ben Hur Took Left-Over After Six Heats.

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 12.—Lovers of horse racing were treated to one of the finest exhibitions that have been seen in Rhode Island, here today, the third day of the fall meeting at the Woonsocket track.

There was one unfinished race and three new races on the card for today. It took two additional heats making six in all, to decide a winner in the race which was carried over while in none of the new events was the supremacy settled, although two of them went four heats and the other three. These three events will be finished tomorrow.
The race brought over from yesterday was the 2:19 pace. Ben Hur, the favorite, won two straight heats today, thus taking the race. In the 2:15 pace, today, Charlie Miller, the favorite, is credited with two heats, while X-Ray and Fred W. have one each to their credit. In the 2:21 pace the favorite, Cecil Bryan, showed up poorly and Arrow W. led the field with two wins in the four heats run off. In the 2:19 trot, The Fashion on the favorite, scored two wins out of the three heats which were finished.

HAZEN CAMPBELL IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Well-Known Sport Promoter and Erstwhile Boxer Not Expected to Live—Sketch of His Career.

The many friends of Hazen Campbell, who was removed to the hospital some days ago, will be sorry to learn that at an early hour this morning he was reported to be in a very critical condition, and not expected to live many hours.

Mr. Campbell is a son of the late William Campbell, of West St. John, and has spent practically all his life in this city. In his younger days he was a boxer with more than a local reputation. For some time he conducted a boxing school here and among his pupils were several young men who afterwards won considerable renown in the ring. One of the men whom he trained was Eddie Connolly, the well-known St. John fighter who won the lightweight championship of the world.

He also initiated Beth McLeod and Alf Lynch into the mysteries of the pugilistic art. Mr. Campbell took a great interest in sports of all sorts. He was a member of the tug-of-war team of West St. John, which carried off so many prizes in the old days when that form of sport was more popular than it is now. He was a pupil of Tom Bate, the noted boxing instructor, whose death was announced the other day.

Mr. Campbell has conducted a saloon on the West Side in recent years. He has been in frail health for about four years, but was able to attend to his business up to a short time ago. His mother is still living, as well as his wife and five brothers, John, James, George, Charles and Fred. Mr. Campbell is 43 years of age.

NO HOME LIFE FOR JAPANESE CHILDREN

Miss Shaw, Returned Missionary, Gives Interesting Account of Experiences in Island Kingdom.

Miss Shaw, who recently returned from Japan on furlough, delivered an interesting lecture on missionary work among the Japanese children, before a large audience in the school room of St. Luke's church, last evening. The lecture was illustrated with a fine series of views, showing the children of Japan, in school, at home, and at their games.

Miss Shaw, who is a fluent speaker, gave a vivid description of the child life and pointed out the influences of these institutions in shaping character. She said that the missionaries only taught the English language in many of the schools, which in some respects were excellent institutions. The science teacher in the school she was connected with was a professor from the University of Tokio, and many of the other teachers were university graduates.

Owing to lack of funds some of the primary departments had been closed, but the missionaries conducted Sunday schools for the pupils thus deprived of the benefits of education. The lecturer said there was no word in the Japanese language corresponding to the English word home. The marriage tie was not held sacred and a man might divorce his wife and take another for very slight reasons. The consequence was that there might be two or even four families living under one roof, and the home life was not at all what it was in Christian countries.

Rev. R. F. McKim occupied the chair and at the close of the lecture, a vote of thanks was tendered to Miss Shaw.

VISITORS WATCH WORK ON GERMAIN STREET

Notables Gathered to See Paving Laid—Impressed With Rapid Progress Being Made—Gutters Laid on One Side

The Hassam Company are giving the city an object lesson in German street in the business of rushing a pavement job. From end to end of the portion to be paved the street is crowded with men, and the busy scene as he directs the work.

Already the combined curb and gutter has been laid on one side of the street between Queen and Duke streets, and yesterday the men were at work rushing up the old sidewalk on this particular strip.

The Mayor and the chairman of the board of public works are frequent visitors to the scene of operations, Hiram Hornbeam, James Jones and the Times newspaper are keeping a close eye on the work in order to see that the city gets what it pays for.

NOT MUCH POVERTY DURING THIS WINTER

Mrs. Hall Reports to Associated Charities Management That Outlook is Bright—Report Tells of Busy Months.

That there will be less poverty than usual in the city this winter is the opinion of Mrs. C. H. Hall, secretary of the Associated Charities. Mrs. Hall says that the outlook at present is rather bright and she bases this in a measure upon the fact that many St. John men who have been unable to secure regular employment have profited in this regard by the fire in Campbellton and the activity in building trades which resulted.

The regular meeting of the board of management of the Associated Charities was held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. rooms. This was the first meeting held since June, a meeting having been called in the month of September, but adjourned because of the absence of a quorum.

At yesterday's meeting the reports from June to October were read by the secretary and judging from them she has been kept busy with the manifold duties of her office. During the term she received applications of various kinds to the number of 445. These were classified as follows:—

Requests for employment:—14 men, 34 women, six boys, eight girls; total, 62. Requests for women by the day, 53. Requests for maids, 30. Requests for young girls as nurse girls, etc., 27. Requests from outside the city, 24. Seeking Transportation, 4. Recommended to employment, 25. Advice given to 60. Relief procured for 19. Transportation procured for one. Clothing given to families, eight. Employment found for 10 men, 27 women, six boys and eight girls. Cases investigated for other cities, 20. Recommendations given, 40. Letters written, 42. Visits made, 120.

Since the last meeting of the board five families which were on the secretary's list have been removed to other places where they have found permanent employment. Death entered five homes, rendering temporary assistance necessary.

The annual meeting of the Associated Charities will be held in the board of trade rooms on the last Thursday in the month. At this meeting the reports for the year will be submitted and the new officers elected.

As stated at the outset Mrs. Hall regards the outlook for the winter as brighter than usual at this season of the year. During the summer there have been fewer men than usual seeking employment and she does not look for any great increase in the number.

SMYTHE STREET WORK BEING RUSHED ALONG

Contractor Low Indignant Over Complaint of Merchants—Could Have Closed Street Altogether if He Wished.

R. S. Low, the local representative of the Hassam company, was in an indignant mood last night over a report in the evening papers that the merchants of Smythe street were complaining that his company were unnecessarily inconveniencing traffic by not rushing the work of paving the street.

"The report is a libel," he declared. "We have planned out the work and have done it in sections at a good deal of inconvenience and expense to ourselves, in order to interfere as little as possible with the teams of the merchants on the street. The Hassam company can stand criticism, but when we go to a good deal of trouble to facilitate street traffic we would like to have fair treatment. If we had closed the street to traffic altogether, as our contract would have given us the right to do, and as most contractors do in the big cities, we could have done the work much more quickly and at less cost, and the merchants would have had good reason for kicking."

Would Stop Cars. In fact nearly everybody would have had a kick coming, because the street railway would not have been able to get coal, and the cars would have stopped and the electric lights would have gone out.

"But we did the work in sections so that the street railway and the Starr people and others could have continuous access to their premises. Of course they have had to send their teams in a roundabout way at different stages of the work, and that seems to be the reason some of the firms are kicking."

"But I do not believe there is any truth in the report that some of the merchants are losing 50 loads a day. The Starr Co. is about the only concern on the street that handles 50 loads a day.

"Nor is there any truth in the assertion that German street is being attended to at the expense of Smythe street. We have all the men employed on Smythe street that we can keep busy without changing the method of work. That ought to be self-evident; we want to get the job finished as soon as possible.

"There is another thing we do to help the merchants that we do not get credit for. We are supposed to keep the street closed for ten days after the pavement is laid. But instead of doing this we cover the paved portion with heavy planks at the end of five days and allow the teams to go over it."
