NAVAL AUTHORITIES BELIEVE CRUISER WHICH WENT DOWN WITH KITCHENER AND STAFF STRUCK A MINE

MOST STUNNING BLOW BRITAIN HAS FELT SINCE THE WAR BEGAN

Kitchener One Outstanding Personality Whom People Talked of and Believed in as a Man — Herculean Task Which He Undertook in Organizing England's Army a Work Unparalleled in History — No Evidence to Tell if the Hampshire was Torpedoed or Hit Mine — Carried Crew of Between 400 and 500.

Lloyd George, Lord Derby, Sir Wm. Robertson Mentioned as Successor—General Staff Has Well in Hand Working Out of Plans which Kitchener's Masterful Mind Conceived.

London, June 6.—Naval officers express the opinion that the cruiser Hampshire must have struck a mine as it would have to be an exceedingly lucky shot for a torpedo to get a ship with her speed and under the conditions of the sea, which was very rough.

The Hampshire, while an old boat and not fit for fleet action, was fast enough for patrol and blockade work. She carried a crew of between 400 and 500 men.

On board the Hampshire with the Secretary of War were also a number of minor army officers.

His Mission to Russia.

An official statement, issued this evening, says that Earl Kitchener was to have discussed important military and financial questions with Emperor Nicholas.

London, June 6.—The news that Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, and his staff, who were proceeding to Russia aboard the cruiser Hampshire, were lost off the Orkney Islands last night, was the most stunning blow Great Britain has received since the war began. This is the second shock the country has sustained within a week. The other was when the newspapers appeared Friday evening with the first information of the naval battle in the North Sea in the form of list of the ships lost, with virtually no intimation that there was any compensation in the way of enemy losses.

The bulletin telling of the death of Kitchener gave the country an even greater shock. Kitchener was the one outstanding personality whom the people talked of and believed in as a man, notwithstanding newspaper attacks, which at a former period of the war threatened to undermine his popularity and the public confidence in him.

A telegram from Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander of the fleet, giving the bare facts, was received at the Admiralty about eleven o'clock in the morning. The first official announcement was issued at about 1.30 in the afternoon. Such news, however, cannot be kept entirely secret, even for an hour. Before noon rumors were spreading, and the telephones in the newspaper offices were busy with inquiries anxious to know whether this—one of the many reports circulating in these days of tension—had any foundation. They were told there was nothing in it.

Admiral Jellicoe's Report.

Admiral Jellicoe's report to the admiralty was as follows:

"I have to report with deep regret that H. M. S. Hampshire, Captain Herbert J. Savill, R. N., with Lord Kitchener and his staff on board, was sunk last night at about eight p.m. to the west of the Orkneys, either by a mine or a torpedo.

"Four boats were seen by the observers on shore to leave the ship. The wind was north northeast and heavy seas were running. Patrol boats and destroyers at once proceeded to the spot and a party was sent along the coast to search, but only some bodies and a capsized boat have been found up to the present. As the whole shore has been searched from the seaward, I greatly fear that there is little hope of there being any survivors.

"No report has yet been received from the search party on shore.

"H. M. S. Hampshire was on her way to Russia."

When the official announcement finally was issued the fact spread about London some time before the newspapers could get into the streets. There was a crowd about the stock exchange which required police reserves to deal with it. The police told everyone to move on; that there was no truth in the report.

At the same time another mass of people was assembling about the government offices in Whitehall. All the windows of the war office had the curtains lowered. That confirmed the rumor, beyond doubt. Other crowds gathered around the newspaper offices; when the boys came out with an armful of extras the people fell on them and fought for the papers. In the course of the afternoon the flags on all buildings were half-masted.

The English, undoubtedly a stoical people, and have taken the good and the bad tidings of the war as they came with an absence of emotion surprising to outsiders. But no one could have walked the London streets today without perceiving that something which the common people took as a calamity had befallen them.

The foreign office was saddened by the loss of one of its most valued members, Hugh James O'Beirne, while Sir Frederick Donaldson and Brigadier-General Ellershaw, of the Ministry of Munitions, were known to be men whom the nation could little afford to lose.

The fact that the cruiser Hampshire, with between 200 and 300 men, had sunk was generally accepted as an unfortunate detail in these days when a thousand go under almost as an incident of warfare, and the Canadians' battle gets a scanty column in the newspapers.

The King came from Windsor, and sent for Premier Asquith when he heard the news. The war council held a long session. Naturally, speculation regarding Kitchener's successor began immediately. Among those discussed were David Lloyd George, Lord Derby and the Chief of the Imperial Staff, Sir William Robertson.

But whether a military meet or a civilian will take the war office has not yet been decided.

Earl Kitchener met death at a moment which will insure his position in British history. He was almost the only member of the government who, from the beginning, confidently asserted that this would be a long war—his lowest estimate was three years—and he insisted that the government should make its plans accordingly. The organization of the enormous new British army is well under way.

The general staff, under Gen. Sir William Robertson's direction, according to the belief, was well in hand the task of working out the details, which Kitchener's brain was largely instrumental in planning and launching.

There is no evidence to show whether the Hampshire was submerged or struck a mine. Many ships

May Be Fortnight Before Casualties of The Rank And File Are Received

Ottawa, Ont., June 6.—The Canadian public must be prepared for bad news from the front. Our losses in the Sanctuary Woods fight have been very heavy. The total will not be known for some days but they are substantially in proportion to those at Ypres.

Another batch of officers' casualties today brings up to 180 the aggregate since the Eaton and Borden Machine Gun Batteries have both been in the thick of the fighting.

From advices received here, the news of the battle has caused a perfect clamor among Canadians now in training camps in England to cross the channel and get into action. The difficulty is to select the men and not to get them. The troops are anxious to avenge the loss of their comrades.

missing, Lieut.-Col. Tanner, of Moosomin, is in the list of dead. He was a practicing physician.

Vancouver, Calgary, Port Arthur and Montreal figure most prominently in the latest roll of honor. The casualty lists indicate that the Eaton and Borden Machine Gun Batteries have both been in the thick of the fighting.

From advices received here, the news of the battle has caused a perfect clamor among Canadians now in training camps in England to cross the channel and get into action. The difficulty is to select the men and not to get them. The troops are anxious to avenge the loss of their comrades.

HEAVY FIGHTING YESTERDAY ON BRITISH FRONT AT HOOGE

London, June 7.—The British official communication, issued this morning, says:

"There was very heavy fighting during the afternoon (Tuesday) east of Ypres. Shortly after midday the enemy commenced a heavy bombardment of our position about Hooge, and also some attacks north and at the same bombardment to the south of Hooge and in the neighborhood of the Ypres-Comines railway and the Ypres-Comines Canal.

"Late in the afternoon the enemy exploded a series of mines at various points, on a 2,000 yard front north of Hooge. This was followed by unsuccessful attacks between Hooge and the Ypres-Comines Canal.

"At Hooge and immediately north of Hooge the enemy penetrated our front trenches after the explosion of mines. Fighting continues in this area, but our general line is still intact. Attacks were also made further north, but did not succeed. On the remainder of the front the situation is comparatively quiet.

"A reciprocal bombardment occurred in the region east of Pervyse and Hamscapelle."

Peking, June 6.—Yuan Shi Kai, president of the Chinese Republic, died at one o'clock this morning in the Palace, surrounded by his wives and older children. Rumors that he committed suicide are denied stoutly by high officials.

The commandants of the legation guards met today and discussed the situation here, coming to the decision that rioting was unlikely.

Li-Yuan-Hung will take the presidential oath tomorrow.

"DREW ENEMY INTO JAWS OF OUR FLEET; BATTLE CRUISER FLEET IS ALIVE AND STILL HAS A VERY BIG KICK IN HER," VICE-ADMIRAL BEATTY SAYS

London, June 6.—Rear Admiral Sir Hedworth Meux, who was elected to the seat in the House of Commons left vacant by Admiral Lord Charles Bessford, when the latter was created a baron, and who has become spokesman for the navy, read at a public meeting today the following letter from Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty, who commanded the battle cruiser squadron in the North Sea fight:

"We drew the enemy into the jaws of our fleet. I have no regrets, except for the gallant lives lost, for the pals that have gone and who died gloriously. It would have warmed your heart to have seen how the gallant Hood brought his squadron into action. Would to God he had been more successful in the general result.

"We will be ready for them next time. Please God it will come soon. The battle cruiser fleet is alive and has a very big kick in her."

KING ORDERS MOURNING IN THE ARMY

For Period of One Week — His Majesty Pays Tribute to Britain's Great Warrior.

London, June 6.—By the King's command the following order has been issued to the army:

"The King has learned, with profound regret, of the disaster whereby the Secretary of State for War has lost his life while proceeding on a special mission to the Emperor of Russia.

"Field Marshal Lord Kitchener gave 48 years of distinguished service to the state, and it is largely due to his administrative genius and unwearied energy that the country has been able to create and place in the field the armies which today are upholding the traditional glories of our Empire. Lord Kitchener will be mourned by the army as a great soldier who, under conditions of unexampled difficulty, rendered supreme and devoted service both to the army and the state.

"His Majesty the King commands that the officers of the army shall wear mourning with their uniforms for the period of one week. Officers are to wear crepe on the left arm of uniform and of great coats."

Similar Order for Canada Likely.

Ottawa, June 6.—High military officers here state that while the King's order that mourning be worn a week in connection with the death of Earl Kitchener applies to Canadian forces in France and England, it does not apply to officers in training in Canada.

It is considered likely, however, that a similar order will be issued immediately the King's order becomes officially known to the militia council here, and will be made applicable to officers in Canada.

WASHINGTON REGRETS THE DISASTER

Not the National Disaster it Would Have Been Earlier in the War.

Washington, June 6.—Profound sorrow over the loss of Earl Kitchener prevailed at the British embassy here today, but members of the embassy staff found solace in the belief that his death now would not be the national disaster it might have been earlier in the war, before he performed his stupendous task of creating the greatest fighting machine ever was known.

It was said his work practically was finished, so far as raising and equipping the British army was concerned, and that his duties of late had been rather of a diplomatic than of a military nature.

Of such a character, it was pointed out, was the war secretary's mission to Greece, which had at least the

RUSSIAN INFANTRY IN COUNTLESS WAVES THROWN AGAINST TEUTON'S ARMY; GEN. BRUSSALOFF SAID TO BE LEADING

Over 25,000 Men, 480 Officers Besides Many Big Guns Said to Have Been Captured in First Stages of New Russian Offensive—Attacking Along Whole Front of Two Hundred Miles.

Petrograd, June 6, via London, (7.24 p. m.)—The Russians continue to develop the successes won by their newly inaugurated offensive. It is reported that up to the present time they have captured 480 officers, 25,000 men, 17 cannon and 15 machine guns.

SENDING COUNTLESS WAVES OF MEN AGAINST HUNS.

Amsterdam, June 6, via London (4.23 p. m.)—Despatches from Vienna report that a violent battle has been raging during the past twenty-four hours on the Russian front along a sweep of 300 kilometres (about 200 miles). The correspondents describe countless waves of Russians being sent into the battle.

General Brussaloff, who is believed to be in command of the Russian forces on this front, seems, according to the advices, to be following the tactics pursued by the Russians in the Carpathians, making attacks in mass in an effort to break through the hostile lines.

BRIG. GEN. LIPSETT TAKES COMMAND OF THIRD DIVISION

In Place of Gen. Mercer whom Ottawa Believes Dead — Brig. Gen. W. S. Hughes, Youngest Brother of Sir Sam Hughes Succeeds Brig. Gen. Williams.

Special to The Standard.

Ottawa, June 6.—It is now fully believed here that General Mercer is dead. He was the commander of the third Canadian division and was reported missing since last Friday when he was in the front trenches at the time the heavy bombardment by the Germans took place. Nothing whatever has been heard of him since and it is now considered almost certain that his body lies in the shell torn area where the front trenches formerly were, but are now practically obliterated.

Brigadier General Victor Williams, of the same division, is a prisoner in the hands of the Germans.

The two vacancies, of course, had to be filled at once and the resulting changes are as follows:

Brigadier General Lipssett has been appointed commander of the third division in place of General Mercer. He was an English officer before he came to Winnipeg some years ago and became attached to the permanent corps there. On the outbreak of the war he organized the 8th battalion from the 90th militia regiment of Winnipeg and went with the first division as commander of the battalion.

He went through St. Julien, Festubert and Givency and on the reorganization of the first division was given command of a brigade.

negative value of keeping that country neutral at the moment when it seemed to be passing over to the side of the Central Powers. It is assumed the visit to Russia, upon which he had embarked, probably had as an objective closer co-operation in military policies in Asia Minor and Persia.

Brigadier-General Ellershaw, one of those who perished with Lord Kitchener, was in the United States two months ago in connection with the procurement of military supplies for Russia.

Brigadier General W. S. Hughes takes the place of Brigadier General Victor Williams as a brigadier commander in the third division. He is the youngest brother of General Sir Sam Hughes and was an inspector of penitentiaries before the war. He went to England as colonel of the 21st Battalion, of Kingston, and on the other side was made a Brigadier commander in the fourth division which has not yet gone across to France.

Lt.-Col. J. F. L. Embury takes the place of the Brigadier General Hughes in the fourth division. He is a Regina lawyer who went to England as commander of the 28th Battalion.

Major Stewart, of the 10th Battalion, who was killed last Saturday, was an American whose home was in New York. He had considerable experience as an American soldier and is said to have been a personal friend of General Leonard Woods of the United States army. On the outbreak of war he became attached to the 10th Battalion at Calgary.

PRESENTATION TO LIEUT. A. P. ALLINGHAM

Halifax, June 6.—A feature of the proceedings at the Halifax Rotary Club today was the presentation of a wrist watch to Lieut. A. P. Allingham, president of the Rotary Club of St. John. The presentation was made by the Halifax Rotary Club but not on its own behalf. The wrist watch came from the St. John Rotary Club. They could not overcome the bashfulness of Lieut. Allingham, who they would like to have had in St. John for the honor, and as he would not go to St. John for the watch they sent it here.

WESTMORLAND COUNTY COURT IN SESSION

Judge Borden Points to Importance of Facilities for Care of Juvenile Offenders With View to Reforming Them.

Special to The Standard. Dorchester, N. B., June 6.—Before the formal opening of the Westmorland County Court His Honor dealt with criminal matters which came before him under the "Speedy Trials Act" in the case of the King vs. Harry Forbes, charged with theft.

Three prisoners, Hugh Sullivan, Andrew Wallace and Charles Metcalf, who had been tried on a previous date and found guilty of breaking jail, were sentenced to two years in the penitentiary for two years; Wallace and Metcalf each were committed to the county jail for six months.

Juvenile Courts and Reformatories. The regular sitting of the Westmorland county court was then formally opened, His Honor Judge Borden presiding.

W. Hazen Chapman, K.C., the clerk of the court, was in attendance. No grand jury had been summoned. His Honor before beginning the one case on the docket delivered the following address: "Since my appointment as Judge of this court, my attention has been repeatedly called to the inadequate provision in this province, and in fact in the other maritime provinces, for the care of juvenile offenders.

The question of the treatment of criminals of all kinds has of late years received very serious attention from the governments and the reformers in all civilized countries, from a humanitarian, and reformatory standpoint, and many plans have been put in operation to give criminals under sentence a chance to reform.

In most of the other provinces in Canada, juvenile courts and reformatories have been established where youthful criminals are placed, and facilities provided for their education and acquiring some useful trade, so that when their term of confinement has terminated these young people will be in a position to earn an honest living, and become good useful citizens.

Under chapter 99 of the consolidated statutes of New Brunswick, the county council of each council in the province is authorized to establish a reformatory and industrial school for juvenile offenders and vagrant children, and to procure land and erect buildings thereon for that purpose.

My attention has been more forcibly called to this matter, when, recently the small boys, about 14 years of age, were brought before me, charged with the very serious offence of breaking into and stealing a great number of articles from a number of summer cottages at Brule, and the Cape, in the Parish of Shediac. If I had sent them to the penitentiary for such a crime, as the nature of the offence warranted, their chances for an honest life, upon their release, would be ruined, their character depraved, and only a career of crime left to them at an early period of their lives.

In the coming years by reason of this disastrous war, there will be an increased number of boys deprived of parental control and support, for whom provision should be made. I have therefore thought it my duty to call the attention of the governments and the public of the provinces to this matter, being deeply impressed with its importance.

Hon. F. J. Sweeney and the high sheriff, G. B. Willett, spoke in terms of strong commendation, while James Priel, barrister, expressed dissent from the views set forth in His Honor's address. There is but one jury case on the docket, Michael C. McCormick vs. Hannah Gallagher, James Priel for plaintiff, Hon. F. J. Sweeney for defendant. This case goes to trial tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

The Eastern Steamship Corporation formally announces the use of the Cape Cod Canal for the steamers of the Metropolitan Line All-The-Way-By-Water route between Boston and New York.

By the use of the canal thence via beautiful Buzzards Bay and Long Island Sound the All-The-Way-By-Water distance between Boston and New York is reduced from 337 to 260 statute or land miles and the steamships Massachusetts and Bunker Hill, which are in this service, will hereafter leave India Wharf at 6 o'clock instead of 7 o'clock in the evening, and scheduled to arrive in New York at 7:30 the following morning, running time between the two cities being fixed at 13 1/2 hours.

At the adjourned sitting of the supreme court circuit yesterday, Justice Barry presiding, the case of Francis del Clements vs. the Bank of Nova Scotia, Robert G. Wallace and Edward S. Crawford was taken up. The case is being tried with special jury. The plaintiff claims $5,000 damages, in addition about $400 special damages on the grounds of malicious prosecution and false arrest. In January, 1915, the plaintiff, at the instance of the defendants, was arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences, the charge being that he fraudulently obtained from the Bank of Nova Scotia credit to the amount of $260, less ninety cents commission incurred in a liability of $360 in a draft made by the Clements Co., Limited, of which the plaintiff was the manager, directed to H. G. Harrison of this city, and made payable at sight. Following his arrest three other charges of similar nature were added. The Bank of Nova Scotia, through their agents, Messrs. Wallace and Crawford, alleging that the plaintiff fraudulently obtained money by making the following cheques, and the amount of $7,124, directed to the Sussex Bank Company for $375; another directed to A. E. Kelstead, for the amount of $345, and the third to the Carleton Produce Company for the amount of $282.

Mr. Clements was given a preliminary hearing in the police court and committed to stand trial on an indictment being preferred against him on four counts. On the charge coming before the grand jury the indictment was ignored, and Mr. Clements, who has been out on bail, was given his liberty. Mr. Clements now claims damages on the ground that the prosecution was a malicious one. The defendants, in their defence, deny that they and each of them had no reasonable and probable cause for preferring the said charge and for taking the said proceedings against the plaintiff, or that the defendants or any of them in so doing acted with malice; on the contrary the defendants and each of them acted without malice, and in the bona fide belief that they and each of them were discharging a public duty.

M. G. Teed, K. C., and George W. Fowler, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, and Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., and Fred. R. Taylor, K. C., for the defence. After the special jury were sworn in Mr. Clements took the stand and was giving his testimony when the court adjourned at noon.

At the afternoon session Mr. Clements continued his testimony and was still on the stand when court adjourned.

132ND GOES THIS WEEK TO VALCARTIER

No Official Word Yet of Other Battalions -- Fete Day at Seaside Park.

The 132nd Battalion, commanded by Lieut.-Col. G. W. Mersereau, will leave New Brunswick this week for Valcartier. This is the first unit to leave the province. A detachment of the battalion which will leave here in advance of the other battalions to prepare the tents, etc.

15th Leaving Next Week. Saturday, June 10th, will mark the first step for the removal of the 115th from St. John, when an advance guard will leave for the summer camp to arrange for the remainder of the battalion which will leave here on Tuesday. This will give the 115th one more Sunday in St. John.

Fete Day. On Saturday afternoon at Seaside Park the Brunswick Chapter, I. O. O. E. will present the battalion with their regimental colors, which are to be consecrated by the Bishop of Fredericton.

The 14th Battalion will also be presented with their new band instruments which have arrived from England. The presentation will be made by Chief Justice McLeod. It is understood that Lieut.-Governor Wood will make the reply for the battalion. The day at Seaside Park is to be conducted for the purpose of impressing upon the people of St. John the departure of the 115th Battalion from the city. Fireworks and refreshments, along with military manoeuvres, will be arranged for by the committee in charge. The battalion is preparing for the embarkation of the advance guard which is to leave Saturday.

The regular drill is being energetically carried on and the battalion is confident of holding its own with the many which they are soon to be quartered at Valcartier.

Today the regular routine work will be carried on. The battalion are also practising a slow march which will be used when the presentation of colors takes place on Saturday.

The 14th. Now that the fate of the 115th has been definitely settled the members of the 14th are beginning to ask when are they to leave St. John. Various conflicting reports are in circulation in regards to the departure of the 14th, but it is not known officially whether they will leave before July 1st or not. In the meantime, however, the men are putting in hours of arduous training, fitting themselves for the work overseas.

Today the regular routine work will occupy the attention of the battalion with Lieut. Manning as orderly officer. Word was received yesterday from an authoritative source, although not official, that Sussex would have at least two battalions for the summer. The 145th and 165th Battalions, now stationed at Moncton but not up to strength, will probably be camped at Sussex for the summer.

Mayor L. W. McLean of Moncton wrote Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, asking him to allow the 145th and 165th to remain in Moncton until they were up to full strength, but received the following despatch: Ottawa, Ont., June 6th, 1916. Mayor of Moncton, Moncton, N. B. Lettergram second received. Regret exceedingly cannot accede to your wishes regarding 145th and 165th Battalion.

SAM HUGHES. Both battalions require at least 300 men before they will be complete.

No Word of 104th. No definite word has been received at the New Brunswick command concerning the summer camp of the 104th at Sussex. There is a rumor current that they will occupy the quarters recently vacated by the 85th Highland Regiment at Halifax, N. S.

STRIPS OF KHAKI. G. O. D. Oty, Hampton, received a despatch on Monday night informing him of the death of his son, Lieut. George N. Oty, who had been killed in action.

Capt. (Dr.) Corbett, of this city, has been promoted to the office of registrar at the Canadian Convalescent Hospital, Walsingham, England, in recognition of his services on the firing line.

"A Competent German Authority" Version of the big Sea Fight off Jutland Coast.

London, June 6.—The admiralty made the following announcement tonight: "A Berlin official communication, signed fleet command, has been issued today in which the loss of the Warspite, Princess Royal, Birmingham and the Acasta in the action of May 31 is claimed on the evidence of British sailors picked up by German ships. This is false. The complete list of British losses has been made public. A Made-in-Germany Story of the Fight.

Berlin, June 6, via wireless to Sayville—A competent German authority today gave the German admiralty's version of the battle between the British and German main naval fleets off the coast of Jutland, May 31, as follows: "The German high seas forces advanced in order to force into battle divisions of the British navy, which of late had repeatedly been reported near the south coast of Norway.

"The Germans first sighted the enemy on May 31 at 4 p. m. about seven miles off the Skenszak. The force was composed of four small cruisers of the strong Calypso type.

"The German cruisers immediately pursued the enemy, who sailed away to the northward at the highest speed. At 5:20 p. m., the German cruisers sighted in a westerly direction, two hostile columns which turned out to be six enemy battle cruisers and a large number of small cruisers and destroyers.

"The German cruisers approached until they were about eight miles off the hostile ships and then opened on a southern to a southeastern course, with a very efficient fire. During this engagement two British battle cruisers and one torpedo boat destroyer were annihilated.

"After an engagement lasting half an hour the Germans sighted, to the northward of the enemy, further engaged two British battle cruisers and one torpedo boat destroyer were annihilated.

"The German main fleet entered into action."

MEREDITH-DUFF COMMISSION FINISHES TAKING EVIDENCE

Intimation of F. B. Johnston, Counsel Named by Laurier, that He May Not Address Commissioners, the Surprise of the Day—Kyte Still Absent—Col. Carnegie and Gen. Bertram Declares Gen. Hughes Exerted No Pressure Regarding Placing of Contracts.

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Ont., June 6.—The Meredith-Duff Commission concluded the taking of evidence into the Kyte charges this afternoon. Counsel will address the commissioners tomorrow and the sittings will be over on Thursday, if not tomorrow evening. The surprise today was the intimation by Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, the counsel nominated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, that he would be unlikely to address the commissioners. All along there has been some doubt as to Mr. Johnston's status. He has not actually been in the position of an attacking counsel, although his role has verged upon this. Sir William Meredith summed up his attitude this afternoon thus: "Mr. Johnston has not been vicious at any stage."

"I made no charges" said Mr. Johnston when the question of his addressing the commissioners arose. "You must be neutral" remarked Mr. Hellmuth, the government counsel. Mr. Johnston said he did not know what he would discuss and added smiling: "If General Hughes was here he might discuss the question of fees."

When Mr. Johnston claimed that he was not acting in the capacity of a lawyer making charges, but rather as an investigator, Mr. Hellmuth remarked: "I have never assumed you were my colleague." Mr. Hellmuth therefore will address the commissioners first and will probably be followed by Mr. Carvell.

Before the commissioners rose today the commissioners asked counsel if there was any question upon which they desired further investigation. Carvell's Request. Mr. Carvell asked the right to investigate all contracts that made up the five million order for shells of which the fuses formed a part. This is a question which he has brought before the commissioners more than once. Judge Duff replied that both the commissioners were quite clear that "contracts for parts were not suitable matters for investigation here and therefore as such they were not to be investigated."

Sir William Meredith: "It is most undesirable when evidence is understood to close today that this should be sprung."

Mr. Carvell resented this and pointed out that he had already brought this matter to the attention of the commissioners. Mr. Ewart then asked Mr. Carvell about Mr. Kyte, and if he intended to be present.

Mr. Carvell replied that he regarded the question as "a little hot air" from my friend and I take it as such. Sir William remarked that Mr. Kyte was reported to have said that he had committed perjury and one lied. "If there is anything in that statement it ought to be investigated" he said.

Mr. Carvell said he hadn't any knowledge of the statements attributed to Mr. Kyte. Mr. Kyte had gone to Nova Scotia to take part in the provincial elections and Mr. Carvell stated that he had in his possession a letter from Mr. Wallace Nesbit saying that the presence of Mr. Kyte was not necessary.

Kyte Has No Kiek. Sir William asked if he had any knowledge from Mr. Kyte that there was any matter not inquired into which should have been. Mr. Carvell: "Not so far as I have been allowed to go."

Mr. G. F. Henderson, mentioning that he was anxious to be out of the city tomorrow, expressed the view that he had heard now, Judge Duff said: "You cannot speak before knowing what is going to be said against your client."

Judge Duff asked counsel to look up the status regarding inquiries of this nature and expressed the view that there might be no finding necessary unless specific charges were made.

Col. Carnegie and General Bertram were on the witness stand during the afternoon elucidating some points in their evidence given previously. They both declared that General Hughes had exerted no pressure upon them with regard to the placing of contracts. Col. Carnegie said Messrs. Lloyd Harris and T. A. Russell had have misunderstood him regarding the seeing of Allison before they could get a contract and the question of advances.

Mr. Carvell asked the right to investigate all contracts that made up the five million order for shells of which the fuses formed a part. This is a question which he has brought before the commissioners more than once. Judge Duff replied that both the commissioners were quite clear that "contracts for parts were not suitable matters for investigation here and therefore as such they were not to be investigated."

EMPIRE MOURNS LOSS OF GREAT WAR CHIEF

LORD KITCHENER AND STAFF LOST WHEN BRITISH CRUISER SANK OFF THE WEST ORKNEYS

England's War Chief Was on Way to Russia Aboard the Hampshire
When She Met With Disaster.

LONDON, JUNE 6.—ADMIRAL JELlicoe, COMMANDER OF THE BRITISH GRAND FLEET, HAS REPORTED TO THE ADMIRALTY THAT THE BRITISH CRUISER HAMPSHIRE, WITH EARL KITCHENER AND HIS STAFF ON BOARD, HAS BEEN LOST OFF THE WEST ORKNEYS.

ANOTHER REPORT SAYS THE WARSHIP WAS HIT BY A TORPEDO OR STRUCK A MINE. FOUR BOATS WERE SEEN TO LEAVE THE HAMPSHIRE, BUT A HEAVY SEA WAS RUNNING. ONLY A CAPSIZED BOAT AND SOME BODIES HAVE BEEN FOUND.

EARL KITCHENER WAS ON HIS WAY TO RUSSIA. ADMIRAL JELlicoe REPORTS THERE IS LITTLE HOPE THAT THERE ARE ANY SURVIVORS.

TEXT OF JELlicoe'S REPORT.

ADMIRAL JELlicoe'S REPORT TO THE ADMIRALTY FOLLOWS:

"I HAVE TO REPORT, WITH DEEP REGRET, THAT HIS MAJESTY'S SHIP HAMPSHIRE, CAPTAIN HERBERT J. SAVILL, R.N., WITH LORD KITCHENER AND HIS STAFF ON BOARD, WAS SUNK LAST NIGHT AT ABOUT 8 O'CLOCK, TO THE WEST OF THE ORKNEYS, EITHER BY A MINE OR A TORPEDO.

"FOUR BOATS WERE SEEN, BY OBSERVERS ON SHORE, TO LEAVE THE SHIP. THE WIND WAS NORTH NORTHWEST, AND HEAVY SEAS WERE RUNNING.

"PATROL VESSELS AND DESTROYERS AT ONCE PROCEEDED TO THE SPOT, AND A PARTY WAS SENT ALONG THE COAST TO SEARCH, BUT ONLY SOME BODIES AND A CAPSIZED BOAT HAVE BEEN FOUND UP TO THE PRESENT. AS THE WHOLE SHORE HAS BEEN SEARCHED FROM THE SEAWARD, I GREATLY FEAR THAT THERE IS LITTLE HOPE OF THERE BEING ANY SURVIVORS.

"NO REPORT HAS YET BEEN RECEIVED FROM THE SEARCH PARTY ON SHORE.

"H. M. S. HAMPSHIRE WAS ON HER WAY TO RUSSIA."

LONDON, JUNE 6.—THE NAMES OF THE MEMBERS OF EARL KITCHENER'S STAFF HAVE NOT YET BEEN LEARNED. SIR WILLIAM ROBERTSON, CHIEF OF THE IMPERIAL STAFF, IS IN LONDON.

London Puts on Mourning Garb.

As soon as the news of Earl Kitchener's death was received by means of special editions of the evening newspapers, crowds started toward Whitehall. That thoroughfare and its extension, Parliament street, were soon filled with persons who were waiting the latest news and hoping the first reports were exaggerated. They found no comfort. Every blind of the big black which houses the war office was drawn, and the flag was at half mast. Other public offices apparently had not heard the news, or if so the staffs were too stunned to take action, for no flag was flying, even on the House of Lords, which always lowers the ensign to half mast when a member dies.

The crowd grew greater as the day became generally known, and it was necessary to call out police reserves to control them.

In the west end and in the financial district the news was received with even greater evidences of regret than was the first report of last week's naval battle, which made every one believe the British navy had suffered a severe reverse.

Premier Asquith paid high tribute to Earl Kitchener's work in his speech at the recent adjournment of parliament, saying no other man could have raised the great armies which Kitchener assembled.

It has been recognized that there was placed on the war secretary's shoulders a load it was impossible for the man to bear. In the early part of the war he was responsible not only for the organization of armies, but for the enormous work of equipping them and supplying them with munitions. Since David Lloyd George took charge of the munitions department, Earl Kitchener has been able to devote himself more largely to the work of military organization.

Great Britain's Allies had great confidence in Earl Kitchener's judgment. His visits to France and Italy were supposed to have had important results in co-ordinating the work of the Allies. The fact that he had left London for Russia is regarded as an indication that he was on a similar mission to that country. The first intimation came in the bulletin announcing that he had been lost.

Asquith's Tribute Last Week in Commons.

Premier Asquith's speech defending Earl Kitchener from criticism reflecting unfavorably on the conduct of the war was made last Wednesday. Sir Herbert had introduced in the House of Commons a motion for the reduction of the war secretary's salary, which is a customary thing when finances are discussed of giving an opportunity for criticizing any official. The Premier said:

"I come to the motion which has been made to reduce the salary of the secretary of war. I think the whole of this discussion might have taken place with as much freedom if such a motion had not been made, but every member of the House must exercise his own discretion in that matter; and since it has been made I am bound to say—and I say it with the utmost sincerity and earnestness—that I think the army, the country and the Empire are under a debt which cannot be measured in words for the services Lord Kitchener has rendered since the beginning of the war.

"This was not, heaven knows, a task which was sought by Lord Kitchener for himself. He was on his way back to Egypt to resume the functions which he had discharged there with such conspicuous value to the Empire during so many years. My telegram to him asking him to stay and to come to see me reached him only as he was stepping upon the boat at Dover. He returned. He told me in the frankest possible terms of his indisposition, except to the call of duty, to undertake the task which I proposed, with the consent of the sovereign, to lay upon him.

"Like every good soldier, duty came first with him. He subordinated everything to that. From that moment on this there has not been one single day in which Lord Kitchener has not labored with an assiduity, zeal and patriotic self-devotion, I can say from personal observation of daily contact with him, which is beyond all praise.

"I am not going to say—I do not know that I can say it of any of my colleagues, much as I respect and value them—that Lord Kitchener has never made a mistake.

"He was one of the most arduous undertakers that was ever laid upon a human being. I am sure there is no single critic here who is not generous minded enough to say that if there has been a mistake it is just possible that he himself has made mistakes. The charges, such as they are, which have been brought against Lord Kitchener are charges not against him only but against the government of which he is a member. I have been, more than any of my colleagues, since the first, closely associated with Lord Kitchener in all he has done, and I accept and share full responsibility.

"There is no other man in this country, or in this Empire, who could have summoned into existence, in so short a time, with so little friction, and with such satisfactory, surprising and even bewildering results, the enormous armies which now, at home and abroad, are maintaining the honor of the Empire. I am certain that in history it will be regarded as one of the most remarkable achievements of the kind that has ever been accomplished, and I am bound to say, and I say it in all sincerity, that for that achievement Lord Kitchener is personally entitled to the credit."

Kitchener's Career a Bright Chapter in The Military History of Great Britain

Earl Kitchener was appointed Secretary of State for War on August 5, 1914, a few days after Great Britain's declaration of war on Germany. He was regarded as England's greatest soldier, and the decision of the government to entrust him with supreme direction of the war was received with unanimous approval.

As the war progressed and Great Britain's deficiencies in certain directions, particularly in regard to shortage of artillery ammunition, became apparent, Earl Kitchener was subjected to severe criticism, led by Lord Northcliffe. The Secretary was charged with responsibility for failure to foresee the extraordinary demand for heavy shells, and as a result the Ministry of Munitions was formed with David Lloyd George at its head.

Earl Kitchener's responsibilities were further lessened by the appointment of General Sir William Robertson as chief of the Imperial staff in December of last year. It was reported at this time that friction had arisen between Earl Kitchener and Field Marshal French, then in command of the British forces in France.

Shortly after the appointment of General Robertson, Field Marshal French relinquished his command. Notwithstanding the criticism directed against Earl Kitchener, his great accomplishments during the war were recognized universally. Foremost on England's untroubled manhood of a huge army.

During the years the British people had looked on Kitchener's silent, but effective work, they had never been able to fathom his personality. A cockney non-commissioned officer, who had seen much service under him, summed up the general opinion when he said of Kitchener:

"He's no talker. Not 'im. 'E's all steel and 'is." His face was that of a man who neither asked for sympathy, nor wanted it.

He had steady, blue grey, passionless eyes, and a heavy mustache covered a mouth that shut close and firm, like a wolf trap. He believed with all his might in the gospel of work. He had limitless self-confidence. For bungling and faint-heartedness, he was incapable of feeling sympathy, or showing mercy, an officer who failed him once, got no second chance. He had a grim laugh.

"What is your taste in hairpins?" for instance, he said to him once, with the query with which he annihilated a dandified officer. He was indifferent to popularity, and he was indifferent to the man to lead in the recruiting and organization of the new army.

It was not a sentimental clamor, for though Kitchener was a proven hero of many campaigns, he was a man of steel, and he was not a hero that could be loved. Even the War Office had no pronounced liking for him, but on all sides there was a respect and admiration for his military efficiency and for all he had done to extend the domains of the British Empire.

By mere luck Kitchener happened to be in England on one of the comparative rare visits that he had paid to London during his long career abroad when the European war broke out. He had just come home from service as British agent in Egypt, had accepted a commission from King George and was being talked of as viceroy of India. Within a few hours after England's declaration of war Kitchener was appointed secretary of state for war, and immediately took full charge of the war office, where he worked day and night to overcome the handicap which the Central Powers had over England in the matter of fighting strength.

He firmly told the British people they had a bigger war on their hands than they realized, and one that might last longer than they expected, but it was to be faced with entire confidence. Without his crowning achievements as the great organizer of the British campaign in the European war, Kitchener had already won wide and lasting fame by his many campaigns in Egypt, South Africa and in India.

He was born on June 24, 1850, in County Kerry, Ireland, a fact that gave rise to a general belief that he was of Irish blood, but his parents were of French and English descent. His father was a soldier, but of no very high rank. He had managed to climb to the Lieutenant Colonelcy of a Dragoon regiment when he retired to the estate in Ireland, where Horatio Herbert Kitchener, the to-be-distinguished son, was born.

Young Kitchener received his fundamental military education at Woolwich, where he displayed only ordinary brilliancy, with the exception of his liking for mathematics.

The fight at Omdurman, Sept. 2, 1898, just across the Nile from Khartoum, was the greatest battle of Kitchener's time, in Egypt. Osman Digna faced him with 50,000 Mahdists, while he had but 20,000 men. When the battle was over 11,000 of the Mahdists had been killed outright, 16,000 wounded and 4,000 taken prisoner, while the English and Egyptians lost altogether under 500 men.

With the capture of Khartoum, captain of the Nile, and the re-establishment of British possession of the upper Nile, Kitchener became the object of hero-worship in England.

For his triumph in the Sudan he was raised to the peerage as Baron Kitchener of Khartoum, and received the thanks of parliament and a grant of £160,000. Shortly afterwards he was promoted to Lieutenant General, and then chief of staff to Lord Roberts in the South African war, and on Lord Roberts's return to England in November, 1900, succeeded him as commander-in-chief in that field.

By constructing a 3,500 mile chain of blockhouses he stopped the Boer raids and virtually ended the war in South Africa. This added to his popularity and prestige at home and he was rewarded by the title of Viscount, promotion to the rank of General for distinguished services, the thanks of the parliament and a grant of £250,000.

Immediately after the peace Gen. Kitchener went to India as commander-in-chief of the British forces there and in this position, which he held for seven years, he carried out not only far-reaching administrative reforms, but a complete reorganization and a strategic redistribution of the British and native forces.

On leaving India in 1909 he was promoted Field Marshal, and appointed commander-in-chief and high commissioner in the Mediterranean, and later on took a tour of inspection of the forces of the entire Empire, drawing up a scheme of defence of the Overseas Dominions.

He then returned to Egypt, the scene of his first triumph, in the capacity of British agent and consul-general in Cairo—virtually a governor-general of Egypt—and led in the economic development of the country, building new roads and irrigation projects on a large scale.

The prosecution today began the presentation of its case against the accused, King George to the nation to abstain from the use of alcoholic liquors during the war.

The Baltic exchange closed when the news of Lord Kitchener's death was received. On the stock exchange, where his business was suspended as the announcement came in, no news since the outbreak of the war caused such bitter feelings against the German members. While most of the members of German birth were expelled some months ago, a few who had sons fighting at the front were allowed to remain. Today the members after the close, met and passed a resolution asking the committee publicly to expel all the German members.

PHYSICAL FEAR STRANGER TO "K. OF K"

Some Incidents and Phases in His Career—An Enthusiastic Art Collector.

London, June 6, 3:22 p. m.—Incidents and phases of Earl Kitchener's career are being numerously recalled now in connection with his untimely fate.

There is no question that the tradition of recent times, picturing him as a man of extremely plain life, was over colored.

The story that the first thing he asked for when he took charge of the war office was an iron bed on which to sleep there was a fiction. The government gave him a handsome mansion, York House, which is a part of St. James' Palace, for a residence at the beginning of the war. He surrounded himself there with costly art objects, of which he was an enthusiastic collector.

A French writer who met Lord Kitchener at Pashoda on the occasion of his historic encounter with Col. Marchand's expedition, which brought France and Great Britain nearer to war than they had been since Napoleon's times, described him as a "man known to his officers as without physical fear." He was twice wounded in the earlier campaigns.

Lord Kitchener was one of the first public men to announce to the world that he would follow the appeal of King George to the nation to abstain from the use of alcoholic liquors during the war.

Forced to Leave School, Had St. Vitus' Dance

Astonishing Cure of This Nervous Trouble Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Here is a case where life-long gratitude will be felt for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As a school girl and in later life Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to the rescue when the nerves gave out. Now a healthy, robust woman happily gives the credit to this great food cure for restoring her to health and strength.

Miss Sadie M. White, 38 Waterloo street, Fredericton, N. B., writes:—"When ten years of age a friend of mine had St. Vitus' Dance and she had to leave school and go under a doctor's care. Instead of benefiting by the treatment she appeared to get worse. Her tongue and tongue became so swollen that she could scarcely take any nourishment. For two weeks she was this way and then took convulsions and nearly choked to death. She was ordered to the hospital, but soon got worse again. I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to her and she used nine boxes, steadily growing better. Three years later a severe fright brought on the nervous trouble again, and she suffered everything a human being could endure. Her mother bought a dozen boxes of the Nerve Food, and with this treatment she was fully restored. I wish you could see her now, a strong, healthy, robust woman with two lovely babies. She still uses the Nerve Food when she feels out of sorts, but has had no return of the old nervous trouble."

For weak, nervous children there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, restore the starved nerves and start them on the way to health. When they fail to get proper nourishment from the food they eat, this food cure presents the necessary ingredients in condensed and easily assimilated form, and strength and vigor is restored. 50 cents a box, 5 for $2.50, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Company, Limited, Toronto.

BERLIN STORY DENIED BY THE ADMIRALTY

If Submarine Was Sunk in North Sea Was Enemy, All British Craft Having Returned to Bases.

London, June 6.—The following official statement regarding the North Sea battle was issued here today: "The German admiral, in a statement issued June 2, stated that among other casualties a British submarine was sunk in the course of the battle during the afternoon and night of the 31st of May. All British submarines at sea on this date have now returned. It must therefore be assumed, if any importance is to be attached to the German official statement, that the submarine sunk was an enemy submarine. This vessel should be added to the list of German losses stated in the British Admiralty communiqué of June 4."

Forced to Leave School, Had St. Vitus' Dance

Astonishing Cure of This Nervous Trouble Effected by Use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Here is a case where life-long gratitude will be felt for Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. As a school girl and in later life Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to the rescue when the nerves gave out. Now a healthy, robust woman happily gives the credit to this great food cure for restoring her to health and strength.

Miss Sadie M. White, 38 Waterloo street, Fredericton, N. B., writes:—"When ten years of age a friend of mine had St. Vitus' Dance and she had to leave school and go under a doctor's care. Instead of benefiting by the treatment she appeared to get worse. Her tongue and tongue became so swollen that she could scarcely take any nourishment. For two weeks she was this way and then took convulsions and nearly choked to death. She was ordered to the hospital, but soon got worse again. I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to her and she used nine boxes, steadily growing better. Three years later a severe fright brought on the nervous trouble again, and she suffered everything a human being could endure. Her mother bought a dozen boxes of the Nerve Food, and with this treatment she was fully restored. I wish you could see her now, a strong, healthy, robust woman with two lovely babies. She still uses the Nerve Food when she feels out of sorts, but has had no return of the old nervous trouble."

ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 7, 1916.

"We are fighting for a worthy purpose, and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved."—H.M. The King.
TO THE PEOPLE OF THE EMPIRE—Every fighting unit we can send to the front means one step nearer peace.

EARL KITCHENER.

The British Empire yesterday received the most stunning blow it has sustained since the outbreak of war, when the cables brought the tidings that Earl Kitchener and several members of his personal staff, had perished when the British cruiser Hampshire was sent to the bottom by a German mine off the coast of Scotland.

Earl Kitchener's name had so long been synonymous with the highest type of efficiency in the British army that he was popularly regarded as more than human, and it was felt that like the Bank of England, and the navy, he was a national institution to go on from everlasting to everlasting.

It will be remembered that when the war clouds first broke over Europe Kitchener stood almost alone in the prediction that the war would be a long one and it would be necessary to prepare for it from that viewpoint.

But with all his vast experience the present war presented problems which he had difficulty in solving. Much of his work of organization showed no apparent results and the consequence was that he was the target for hasty and often ignorant criticism.

When the war broke out the British army numbered but little more than 600,000 men and it was necessary to oppose that army to the greatest fighting machine the world had ever seen.

His passing is mourned as we mourn no other man. Not even the death of the King himself could more strikingly bring home to the people of the Empire the terrible lesson of war.

THE "SILVER BULLETS."

One of the astonishing things about this war is the easy financial equilibrium being maintained by the leading powers after nearly two years of unprecedented expenditures.

Money in London is comparatively easy, stocks are firm, and business brisk. Yet the debt of the Government has increased from about $3,000,000,000 to about $11,000,000,000. France is buying short-term Treasury notes at a rate of 18,000,000,000 francs a year, now, even after the national debt has been increased from 32,000,000,000 francs to 52,000,000,000 francs, so far as its internal finances go, gaining strength through the war. The sale of stocks being cut off, the treasury is accumulating money, and producing 30 per cent. more. Early in the war economists were prepared to see ruin and chaos follow the spending of the huge sums necessary to maintain hostilities, but as the money spent is being kept in circulation, credit only is involved and the accumulated wealth of the nations will stand heavy drains upon credit. The national debt of Germany has been increased since the war by 515 per cent., that of Britain by 165 per cent., of Austria 74 per cent., France 61 per cent., Russia 34 per cent., but in no case does the limit of financial power seem to be in sight.

NOVA SCOTIA POLITICS.

It has been a long time since the Conservative party has had even a fighting chance in the Province of Nova Scotia. When Hon. W. S. Fielding was at the height of his career that province sent "the solid eighteen" to Ottawa, while the Liberal government in power at Halifax had an opposition so small as to be negligible.

While allegations of graft and corruption have been made against members and supporters of the government, it is felt that the real cause of their political death will be inaction. For many years they have done nothing, the splendid resources of the province have been left undeveloped and the great public services shamefully neglected.

AN INTERESTING VISITOR.

St. John had an interesting visitor yesterday and what is more interesting it is likely that he will be in this city quite frequently for the next few months. We refer to Lt-Col. C. S. Bullock, who has been commissioned to organize and recruit the 237th Overseas Battalion. Lt-Col. Bullock is not only the commander of a battalion but he is a clergyman as well. Also, he is the gentleman who told the Liberal Ottawa Free Press an interesting story concerning the methods employed by Mr. Dark Lantern Brigadier Carvell in his hunt for evidence, or rather, political campaign material in the Meredith-Duff Enquiry.

the Daily Annapolis to interview just now.

WHY ARE THEY SILENT?

A few weeks ago the members of the Board of Trade and the Grit newspapers were attempting to create political capital against Hon. J. D. Hazen and the Dominion Government because the Government grain elevator at this port, destroyed by fire in August, 1914, had not been rebuilt.

THE BIG GUN SHIPS.

The decisive results in the battle of the North Sea were gained not by light cruisers but by heavy gun ships, the initial superiority of the Germans was due to their greater gun power.

TORONTO HAS IT TOO.

Toronto, like St. John, has adopted the daylight saving plan, and the Queen City finds the same advantages and difficulties experienced by the City of The Loyalsists.

FIGHT OR PAY.

There still is need for men in the Empire armies. There still is need for money in the coffers of the Patriotic Fund. Judging from the results in the campaign for men and dollars St. John people have forgotten that now more than at any other time since the outbreak of war the slogan "Fight or Pay" represents the real duty of every patriotic Canadian.

WOLFVILLE MAN AMONG THE WOUNDED

Maj. Stanley L. Jones in Big Fight Near Ypres Last Week—Wife Made a Lieutenant by French Military Authorities.

Special to The Standard. Amherst, June 6.—Among the officers reported wounded in the severe fighting near Ypres on Friday and Saturday appears the name of Major Stanley L. Jones, formerly of Wolfville, a brother of Mrs. B. J. Lawson of this town. Mr. Jones enlisted as lieutenant with the Princess Pats at Calgary and this is the third time he has been wounded during the last eighteen months.

Excess Alkali Makes Soap Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use soaps and prepared shampoos that contain too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was doing my lessons on the setting room floor last night; and pop sed, Benny, get up off the floor, you'll ruin your clothes for evermore.
O, pop, that's a rime, I sed.
I know, it didn't make it up, sed pop.
How perpostries, sed ma, how do you expect the child to pay any attention to what you tell him if you make a joke out of it?
That's jest, my I expect him to remember it, sed pop, dont you know a rime is the easiest thing in the world to remember, its a scientific fact that a man always forgets the multiplication table before he forgets Mary Had a Little Lam, and wats the reason, wy, the reason is, there's no rimes in the multiplication table, I think Ill rite a book to prove that everything worth remembering should be put into rime.
You touch liker shall never touch mine, people wood say, Lips that touch liker shall not teeth mine ficker.
Well Ive herd some silly ideas, sed ma.
You woodnt haf to confine it to jest liker in general, you cood grow speckled, sed pop, for instants, Lips that touch ber cant pucker up ber.
Reedofkilla, sed ma.
Lips that touch sherry are unwelcome, very, sed pop.
O, all rite, I see the point, sed ma.
Lips that touch wiskey shall never with mine grow frisky, lips that lick up gin shall never smack mine agin, sed pop.
May I call your attentuon to the fact that Benny is still lying on the floor, thats how much your theory amounts to, sed ma.
Benny, heit it up out of that, sed pop. Wich I did, and pop sed, After all, perhaps theres nothing quite so effective as good old Anglo Saxon prose.

Absorption Process Makes Faces Young

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some method of removing the outer veil of facial skin in case of unsightly complexion, which would be both painless and harmless. The new process is so simple, so inexpensive, the wonder is no one had discovered it long ago. It has been amply demonstrated that common mercurized wax (sold by druggists in some packages) entirely removed, by gentle absorption, the withered, lined, wrinkled skin, showing the youthful, rosy skin beneath. The wax is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleanses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and preserving tone, color and natural beauty of the new skin. A simple and harmless process which has also proved quite successful can easily be made at home in a fifty-cent jar. All one need do is dissolve, in ounce of powdered azolette in a half pint of witch hazel and bathe the face in the solution once a day for awhile. After the very first application the fine lines disappear and the deeper ones soon follow.

Don't Abuse Your Eyes

Eyes that are on a constant strain are bound to cause trouble. Much headache, nervousness and other troubles come from eye strain which is not suspected because apparently vision is good.
This unsuspected strain is the most dangerous. At Sharpe's you can have an examination of your eyes which will determine their exact condition. It is the part of wisdom to have such an examination.

VOTED $1,000 TO RED CROSS, TORONTO

Action by the Local Society at Monthly Meeting.

MANY DONATIONS
WERE RECEIVED

The Surgical Department
Work of the St. John Ambulance Association.

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Branch of the Red Cross Society held on Monday afternoon in the Dop Rooms on Chatham Hill, was largely attended. The most important matter that came before the meeting was the voting of a resolution to Headquarters at Toronto for what ever use in the work is most necessary. A letter was read from the treasurer, Mr. A. C. Skelton, calling attention to the fact that there is and a balance sufficient to justify the Local Branch in an effort to provide some of the necessities and to respond to some of the appeals made at Verdun. It was therefore moved by Miss Skelton and seconded by Mrs. Murray MacLaren that the sum of one thousand dollars be sent from this society. In the same connection, Mrs. Lawrence moved with Miss Lillian Hazen as a second, that the monthly grant of $300.00 be increased to $300.00. Both these motions were unanimously supported by those present.
Miss Alice Walker read the treasurer's report for the month of May. The receipts were as follows:

HOW SCOTIA OUTDOES VERY ENCOURAGING

A. B. Crosby, M. P. of Halifax, in City Yesterday, Says
Murray Government Will Go Out.

A. B. Crosby, M. P. of Halifax, was in the city yesterday and left for home last night. He has been seen by a Standard representative and asked what he thought of the chances for the opposition were in the coming provincial election, in a single contest. Mr. Crosby was very enthusiastic over the outlook, and said that so far as he could judge the Murray government would be badly defeated at the polls. He ventured the prediction that the premier would meet with defeat in his own county. The Conservatives had a splendid organization, and every-thing was in their favor. Attorney General Daniels and Commissioner of Mines Armstrong, would also be defeated. The Liberals were conceding fourteen seats to the Conservatives, while on the other hand there was not a single contest in which they could claim to be sure.

The people of Nova Scotia were weary of the do-nothing policy of the Murray government, and were going to turn them out and put in a more progressive and wide-awake set of men. The present government had been in power a long while, and had done nothing to develop the province, so far as any up-to-date or progressive legislation was concerned, and the voters of Nova Scotia had awakened to that fact, and the two-thirds vote of June they were going to turn them out and elect a government that had a progressive platform, and were prepared to carry it out. The Murray government had been in power since the last election, and the Conservatives had won every by-election which had been brought on in the last three years, with the exception of the last one, when the Conservatives were returned by acclamation, but they could have defeated him had they cared to contest the election.

In the premier's own county of Victoria, one of the representatives had died, the by-election was called on in twenty-one days, the opposition candidate was elected by a technicality, and the government were afraid to reopen the county, and deprived the people of one of the representatives who were entitled to represent the county. Looking at the whole record of the government, the Conservatives collected taxes April 1916, $22,295. W. Nelson Leitch, commissions collecting taxes April 1916, $17,311. R. Harry Carr, commissions collecting taxes April 1916, $50,411. Robert Harris, commissions collecting taxes April 1916, $17,111. Alexander Crawford, commissions collecting taxes April 1916, $15,999. # THE BUSINESS TRANSACTION BY CITY COUNCIL

Many Matters of Routine Discussed and Disposed of Yesterday's Council Meeting.

A recommendation was adopted at the council meeting yesterday that J. Clark and Sons be allowed to erect a standpipe for the sale of gasoline at the curb in front of their premises, 17 Germain street, provided they put a light on the top, and agree to comply with a by-law to be framed in regard to these matters.

The commissioner of finance recommended the following payments: Treasury Department, $1,105.75; Public Safety Department, $13.97; Public Works Department, $1,810.08; Water and Sewerage Dept., $1,021.95; Harbors, Ferries and Public Landmarks Department, $2,915.87. He also reported payments for the month of May of $137,789.85.

The commissioner of public works recommended that the agreement with the C. P. R. with the city for the sale of a piece of land on Mill street for street widening purposes be approved and the common seal affixed under the hand of the mayor and common clerk. That Hum Sum, 207 Union street, Opera House block, be allowed to erect an electric sign on the building subject to the usual terms. That he be authorized to enter into an agreement with the C. P. R. for the right to run a sewer from the city plant under the tracks of the railway into Courtenay Bay. These recommendations were adopted.

The commissioner of harbors, ferries and public lands reported that he had accepted the tenders of Estate of C. E. Colwell for 20 tons American anthracite coal, delivered at West Side toll house at $10 per ton, and George Dick, for 45 tons American anthracite coal, delivered at East Side toll house at $9.75 per ton, and asked the council to ratify same. Report adopted. A communication was read from G. A. communication which the council to pay two bills which had been contracted by the reason of his wife falling on the icy streets last January and injuring herself. One was for $25 from Dr. Bax and the other for $25 from the hospital. This was referred to the commissioner of public works and the recorder.

That Garage Matter.

A communication was read from George Carvell complaining that he had not been used fairly in the matter of being allowed to erect a garage, and claiming that the bishop was building a public garage on Waterloo street, and he did not pay any taxes, while he paid the city about $500 a year. He could not get permission to build on his own land. He thought they should either rescind the by-law or segregate such buildings in some section of the town. The communication was filed. A communication was read from D. H. Waterbury of the Public Works Department asking that the city erect ornamental lights in front of the new post office building and stating that their engineers would be pleased to supply plans for the same. Commissioner McLellan thought that if the Public Works Department wanted fancy lights in front of the post office it was up to them to put them there. Referred to the commissioner of public safety.

Civic Holidays.

The commissioner of finance brought up the subject of holidays for the men of his department and the commissioners were authorized to arrange for the holidays of the men in their respective departments. This commissioner of safety was given power to deal with all cases of men off duty through illness or accident in the fire and police departments. The mayor referred to a communication which

DEPRESSION ON MONTREAL STREET

Prices Held Remarkably Well, However, in Face of Day's News.

MARKET DULL IN THE AFTERNOON

Cement and Loyal Two of the Few Striking Features of Day's Trading.

Special to The Standard. Montreal, June 6.—The local market felt depressed today by the rapid and startling developments of the past few days, none of which have had a tendency to create fresh buying sentiment, but notwithstanding prices held remarkably well.

Although the North Sea naval fight and the tragic death of Lord Kitchener were sufficient in themselves to make fresh commitments for the time being, what came home poignantly to the street was the seriousness of the casualty list among the Canadian forces at the front. So many people closely associated with financial affairs are either personally affected or fear that any moment they may be that no one was surprised at the contraction in business and the tendency of prices to ease in some cases.

The most striking features of the list were Cement, Loyal, Wayagmack and Forgings so far as price changes were concerned. In other respects the leaders showed a slightly easier tone, while the scale of the less active were unchanged.

Following Cement's advance to 72 1/2 at the close yesterday it opened at 72 1/2 but before noon had reached 70 1/2. By the close of the afternoon however, it had rallied to 72. Loyal, after its advance from 75 to 80 1/2 yesterday, continued the movement, opening at 81 to 82 1/2, but subsequently receding to 80. Wayagmack starting at 60 rose to 62 and closed at noon at 64, the high on the former movement was 63. The only other striking change was in Forgings, which had another rise on small dealings of 8 points to 208.

The afternoon market was dull and featureless only fractional changes being recorded.

BIG REDUCTION IN OPERATING COST LAST MONTH

May Tonnage of Dome Mine for Mouth 39,400 Tons and Production $189,000.

Special to The Standard. Toronto, June 6.—The complete figures of the results at the Dome Mine in May show considerable economies in operation despite the exorbitant prices of materials. The estimated cost of mining including hoisting was 79 cents, development 60 cents, crushing and conveying 50 cents, milling 73 cents and general expense 57 cents, making a total cost of production of $2.46 per ton, which compares with $2.41 in April. These costs are understood to cover depreciation and all other charges. The May tonnage was 39,400 tons and the production $189,000.

CALL MONEY GOES UP TO FOUR PER CENT

Highest Quotation in Year and half — Motor Stocks Less Active and More Irregular.

New York, June 6.—Special stocks, as well as representative issues, were elevated again today on an expansion of professional activity. The market's course was altogether inconsistent, however, in that it ignored the disaster to the British military administration at the outset, but declined later on the favorable sagures conveyed in a number of increased dividends. Announcement of an early settlement of long standing differences among interests in Mercantile Marine proved of negative value to shipping shares, which were especially weak at the close.

The reversal of the latter session was concurrent with an advance in call money to four per cent, the highest quotation in 18 months. Local banks recently expressed their disapproval of the movement in certain of the more volatile issues, and the hardening of loan rates may not be without its significance in that quarter.

Motor stocks were less active and more irregular than yesterday. Willam Overland made an extreme recovery of 8 to 8 1/2, but fell far short of its record price. Maxwells, Goodrich and United States Rubber were higher at intervals by 1 to 2 points, but Chandler fell about 8 points, with moderate backwardness in other motors and accessories.

Sugars repeated their familiar performance of counting to higher levels. South Porto Rico commn and preferred touched 236 and 120 respectively, with 8 1/2 for American Beet. Some of the better known war issues, like Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive, had their narrow flights, and Bethlehem Steel gained 6 points, but United States lagged in characteristic fashion, developing heavily and closing close. Coppers were only mildly responsive to higher dividends, while other specialties, including Harvester, American Writing Paper preferred and United States Smelting developed the activity of pools and cliques. Norfolk and Western fastened its claim to leadership of the rails on a further advance of 2 3/8 to the new high price of 136 3/8, with variable gains in some of the Pacific, Reading and the cotton carriers. These were largely effaced in the general selling of the final hours. Total sales amounted to 625,000 shares.

Marine 4 1/2 imparted firmness to the general bond list on their advance to the new high quotation of 104 1/2. Total sales of bonds, par value, aggregated $3,760,000.

United States registered 4 1/2 advanced 3/4, coupon 4 1/2 and Panama 3 1/4 per cent on call.

NEWS LETTER FROM MONTREAL EXCHANGE

Montreal, June 6.—Considering all the unfavorable news which we had lately, today's market gave a very good account of itself. On any weak days there was good buying. Cement held up well. There was good buying of Steel of Canada on the decline, and there was buying by investors of Montreal Light, Heat and Power at these prices. The New York market again was strong in the forenoon, but by the afternoon and evening the market was closed. They seem to be waiting there for some incentive, which probably will come after the presidential nomination. The big consensus list with Montreal and other places in Canada, suffered had a depressing effect, but France and Great Britain have had this continuously. In the unlisted department Wayagmack was remarkably strong.

DIVIDEND WILL BE ONLY ON OLD HOLLINGER STOCK

New Stock Likely Ready for Distribution in Fortnight—Should Sell Around $7.50

Special to The Standard. Montreal, June 6.—The Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines, Limited, 4 per cent. dividend, payable June 16, is understood will be on the stock of the old Hollinger stock only.

The merger, however, dates to January 1, and it is presumed the dividend accruing on the stock represent the interests uniting with the Hollinger.

It is said that the new stock will be ready for distribution in a fortnight, when the shares will be quoted on the new basis. At the prevailing price the new stock should sell in the neighborhood of $7.50 a share.

CLOSING LETTER OF N. Y. MARKET BY E. & C. RANDOLPH

(McDOUGALL & COWANS.)

New York, June 6.—After maintaining strength in most of the active issues except Mar Pfd. and after Norfolk and Western and some of the southern roads made new high records the market sold off in the late trading with Marine the leader in the downward movement. Official announcement was made that the two Marine stockholders committees had come to an agreement. It was reported that the plan would leave to the discretion of the directors the matter of paying off back dividends on the Pfd stock. This caused the rapid decline in the Pfd stock in the late trading. Five increased or extra dividend announcements came from the copper companies. Short but generally without favorable market effect. Kenny Copper increased quarterly rate to $1.50, Chino declared an extra dividend of $1, Nevada Cons. 3 1/2 cents, Utah $1.50 as compared with $1 extra three months ago and Butte and Superior $10 extra the same as three months ago. Kenny Copper made a statement that cash and sold copper on hand at date of payment of its next dividend will be in excess of $21,000,000. Still the stock displayed the same inability to advance it has shown for a long time. Advantage of favorable news seemed to be taken to continue liquidation in the industrial.

The New Home Treatment For Ugly, Hairy Growths

(Boudoir Secrets).

Here is a simple, yet very effective method for removing hair and fuzz from the face, neck and arms: Cover the objectionable hairs with a paste made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. Leave this on for two or three minutes, then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs have vanished. No pain or inconvenience attends this treatment, but results will be certain if you are sure to get real delatone.

The Small Percentage of Alcohol

contained in pure Beer is completely oxidized without the slightest injury to the tissues. Human beings require more or less alcohol in order to keep in good condition. Everybody, even the strictly total abstinent, takes alcohol daily. Fresh bread contains .05 to .08 per cent alcohol. Grape Juices contain .46 per cent alcohol.

READY'S LAGER BEER is of such light alcoholic strength that its use is quite within the bounds of true temperance. It is absolutely pure. Water and milk are not. Too frequently they contain deadly germs.

READY'S LAGER BEER, brewed by READY'S BREWERIES, LTD., St. John, is a rich, nourishing, liquid food with a negligible percentage of alcohol.

AT ALL STAGES OF LIFE

The Woman's Medicine. Good for All Ages. Mrs. Harold Smith's Experience.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—"I am writing to tell you the good your medicine has always done me and I hope my letter may be the means of helping some other suffering woman. When I was 16 years old I caught cold and had suppression for two months. I got so weak I could scarcely drag myself up the stairs. I went to two doctors, then my mother got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. I never had any more trouble and got strong fast. Then I took it again before my little girl was born and it helped me a good deal and I give the Compound the credit for it. Then this spring I felt very badly again, but I took the Compound and have been well all summer. I cannot be grateful enough for your medicine."—Mrs. HAROLD M. SMITH, 470 Water Street, Clarksburg, W. Va.

For forty years it has been making women strong and well, and curing backache, nervousness, uterine and ovarian inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularity and periodic pains.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Obituary.

Geo. R. Boutiller. George R. Boutiller, of 252 Waterloo street passed away at an early hour yesterday morning from the result of blood poisoning, caused by a cut from a piece of glass. He was in the thirty-sixth year of his age, and was employed by Murray & Gregory as foreman in the glass department. Besides his wife and one child, he is survived by one brother, William, and one sister, Mrs. John O'Brien, both of Halifax.

Today's Little Joke.

A little hand in the rear of the room was raised, and the superintendent requested the child to tell how he thought Noah would pass the time. The boy stood first on one foot and then on the other, and at last said, "Fishin'!" Just then another small boy snaped his fingers. "Noah wouldn't fish, very Jones," said the boy. "Why not?" asked the puzzled questioner. "He couldn't, because there were only two worms on the ark."

Birthday Greetings.

Uncle Dick wishes many happy returns to the following kiddes whose birthday are taking place today: Gardie Alexander, Annapolis, June 7. Lella, 87 Crown St., June 7. Robert M. Powers, 33 Dorchester Street, June 7. Agnes Pearson, 164 Germain St., June 7.

Extracts From the Mail Bag.

All Kiddies Welcomed. Dear Uncle Dick: Chipman, N. B. As you are welcoming all the kiddies to your Corner, I thought I would like to come in. I am going to try to win the watch. I have solved your puzzle. Wishing you every success. I remain your niece, Edna M. Brown.

Joining the Corner.

Dear Uncle Dick: I would like to join your Corner. I am trying the contest this week. I hope I will be successful. With best wishes. Your loving niece, Daisy Ferris.

Got Four New Members.

Hampstead, N. B. Dear Uncle Dick: I'm just sending the four names. I will write another letter soon and tell you something. I also am going to send you some violets if you would like to have them. With all good wishes, I remain, Your nephew, Ernest Thomson.

Interesting Letter From Old Member.

Miltoona, N. B. Dear Uncle Dick: I am sending an answer to the Jumbled Word Contest, and hope to succeed. I am trying to get members to join the Corner. I have got one to join, Mary Enright, and two more are going to write in a few days. I intended to answer the addition contest but I did not know whether X had to equal the same number all the way through the sum or whether it could equal different numbers. I am sending in a recipe for candy, and also a few riddles. Well, I guess I must close for this time, as my letter is getting rather long, with love and best wishes to the Corner and yourself. From your loving niece, Hilda E. Chown.

Suffered From Nerves.

Could Not Sleep. To the thousands of people who are tossing on sleepless beds night after night, or who pace the floor with nerves unlinged, and to whose eyes sleep will not come, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer the blessing of sound, refreshing slumber.

MME. PETROVA AT THE IMPERIAL TODAY.

My mood expressed by the great Mme. Petrova is invariably an interesting mood to me. There seems to be no end to her subtle and supreme artistry in delineating temper, humor and disposition in the magic realms of the silent drama.

WHAT MARGUERITE SEES.

HEARS AT THE MOVIES. "Who are these girls doing this ushering at the Imperial, anyway?" one young man was heard to remark. His companion started to answer, "Why it's that—" When a soldier sitting near finished the sentence for him "Young Women's Patriotic Association, bless them."

That a St. John audience is certainly a cold one.

If they are pleased with the vaudeville at the Lyric (and they must be very often) you would never know it. Applause of clever acts is something Marguerite does not often hear.

That that supper party in "The Gilded Fool" picture at the Unique looked particularly entertaining and the viands most appetizing.

I'm sure they were real "eats."

That the marriage-broker's derby hat may have been a touch of realism in "Madam Butterfly," but it did not fit in with the surroundings.

That the news of comedy at the Imperial is good news.

At the Drows and Frank Daniels.

And that a fairy story for the children will be at the Unique on Saturday afternoon.

I hope grown-ups are not barred out. Who else forgotten Rumpelstiltskin?

Peg O' The Ring.

A rather unique arrangement has been entered into by the enterprising Little Empire Theatre of Carleton and the big Imperial in that children will be entertained with a real big circus throughout the summer months. Commencing Saturday, June 16th the New Universal serial story "Peg O' The Ring" in which the popular favorites Grace Dunning and Francis Ford will play leading roles, will be shown at both theatres. This is a circus story and deals with the adventures of a bare-backed rider and the son of the owner of the show.

The picture abounds in wild animals and clowns and all the paraphernalia of a circus being photographed in connection with Ringling Bros. Mammoth Show.

Clowns supply the comedy element and there is plenty of romance in the love adventures, while real circus professionals give thrills in acrobatic performances. There will be parades and pictures of wild animals also.

Little is generally known of the place, and she spent an interesting half hour there, watching the horses being brought in on gigantic ambulances, and seeing them carried up and down in large elevators and arranged in position for operation in swings suspended from the ceiling.

A Birthday Present.

P. Thad. Volkman, assistant director at the Columbia-Metro studio, presented his wife, Mae De Metz, the clever ingenue, with a Victoria for her birthday. As he was out of the city working on "The Half Million Brbe," on her anniversary, he had a special record made of greetings and felicitations, which he arranged to have delivered to his wife on the festive day. Thad. wanted to call it "His Master's Voice," but thought better of it. ALICE FAIRWEATHER.

Case of St. John Man Charged With Stealing $2,262 from Chas. A. Clark to be Heard in Boston on 13th.

Although it is said that Wesley H. Estey has waived extradition after being arrested in Boston, and Sergeant Sullivan left here Monday morning to bring the prisoner back to St. John, it is thought that it will be at least a week before the police officer will be able to leave Boston with his man.

The defendant was arraigned before United States Commissioner Hayes, who held him without bail for a second hearing on the 13th.

COL. BULLOCK IN THE CITY YESTERDAY

Distinguished Officer Will Recruit 237th Battalion in Maritime Provinces and Quebec.

Lt. Col. C. S. Bullock, who has been authorized to recruit the 237th Overseas Battalion, C.E.F., having all of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces for his field, came to St. John yesterday en route to Digby to open a depot for recruiting.

Through his own efforts, almost single handed, without a dollar, except that which he himself raised, and without help in the difficult task of working out the plans of such an organization, Colonel Bullock carried out his self-selected task so that now he is credited with being an organizing success as well as being a successful "Man's Preacher" and a genial fellow to meet.

The plan of the American Legion was conceived in his study one Sunday afternoon while he was preparing a sermon for the evening service in his church, the "Church of Our Father" in Ottawa.

His last commission from the Minister of Militia is to raise a new battalion, the 237th, from Americans in the eastern provinces, in the vicinity of the New England States.

This new battalion will be recruited wholly in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. There are hundreds of young men who have gone over to the United States and gained residence, who will come back to the call of the Empire and find a place in the 237th Battalion.
