The rain which gave a partial relief to the states of the corn belt during the past week was not by any means general, but a succession of thunderstorms affording temporary relief to the over-parched ground and grain. CANADIANS ARE PROUD OF IT!

Pride Rises Within Them at Sight of Pan-Am. Building.

Toronto Correspondent Praises the Creation of Architect H. C. Mc-Bride-A "Delightful Contrast."

We felt very proud of our Canadian headquarters at the exposition when we saw it for the first time on the day of our arrival in Buffalo, writes E. C. in the Toronto Globe. My hearty exclamation of "I'm thankful!" was not quite understood by my companion until I explained to her that my special cause for rejoicing arose from the fact that this building is such a delightful contrast to the building and its uninviting contents of which so many Canadians were ashamed at the World's Fair, as they contrasted it with the buildings of Australia and other states and nations. This time we have reason to be proud of "Canada,' as our building is called, and we are therefore all the more sorry that its position on the grounds is not better, for it is only owing to the fact that the decision of Canada to exhibit was made so late that all the sites in the proper quarter among the other state and foreign buildings had been already taken, so that we are now off in a distant corner, as it were, and in consequence many people fail to pay us a visit. The outward ap-pearance of the building is most at-tractive, and reminds one of the timbered houses one sees in England of the Elizabethan period. The wide verandah and balcony, filled with easy chairs and rockers, have a hospitable look, and the gay bed of bright flew-

Terrible Fatality in Pittsburg-Stove and Coal Oil Can the Cause.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 22.-A whole family was burned in a Penn avenue tenement fire this morning. The mother and three children are dead and the husband is badly burned. The explosion of an oll can was the cause of the fire. The dead are: Mrs. Sophia Ralza, aged 30 years, mother of the children; Viola, aged 8 years; Kashner, a boy aged 5 years, and Wabock, a boy aged 2 years. The injured: Francis Ralza, husband and father of the family, was badly burned and removed to the hospital. It is said he will recover. From what can be learned, Mrs. Ralza was preparing breakfast, and the fire in the kitchen stove not burning as quickly as she wanted it to, she poured some oil on the fire. In a moment a blaze from the grate of the stove ignited the oil in the can and an explosion followed.

JOHN S. BARNARD,

FIREMEN'S STRIKE HAS COLLAPSED

The Other Mine Workers Did Not Sympathize.

The Non-Union Workers Protest Agaist the Steel Strike.

And Affirm Their Sympathy to the Company—Great Strike of Garment Workers Begun.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 22 .- The stationary firemen's strike is at an end. A meeting of the executive officers of the United Miners of the three anthracite districts and the chief executive officer of the Stationary Firemen's Association, was held in this city yesterday, for the purpose of discussing the situation. The United Mine Workers have all along been lukewarm in their support of the strike, and the firemen insisted that they define their position, once for all, as it was impossible to carry on the strike if the United Mine Workers opposed it. With that object in view, the executive officers of the United Mine Workers agreed to come to this city and meet the strikers. The United Mine Workers were represented by 26 officers of the three districts. The Stationary Firemen's Association was represented by J. F. Mullahy, president of the association; Thos. Barret, vice - president; J. A. Garrity, secretary; Brodus Langdon and J. F. Wade. T. D. Nichols, president of district No. 1, opened the discussion. He said the strike was inopportune at this time. It was detrimental to the miners, who were under agreement with the operators to remain at work for one year, and if the United Mine Workers remained out it would mean the sacrifice of the goodwill of the coal op-erators. President Fahy, of the ninth district, also spoke against the strike. He claimed that the strike was inopportune and that his men were op-posed to it. President Duffy, of the seventh district, said the firemen in his district did not go out on strike. This showed lack of unity, and the strike could not succeed.

Secretary Garrity spoke for the fire-men, and the sacrifices that had been made for true union principles. He said the strike had been decided by the unanimous vote of 200 delegates.

It was plain from the discussion that the union mine workers were overwhelmingly against the continuance of the strike. The firemen criticised this, and they submitted the following questions to the United Mine Workers: "Will you withdraw all men of your organization from our positions if strike is declared off? Second, will you use your influence to have all engineers and others reinstated to their former positions if the strike is declared of? Third, will you allow us to meet Unit-ed Mine Workers in joint conference and to present grievances at the same time? To the first two questions an affirmative reply was given. To the third this reply was made: "Yes, if you join the United Mine Workers."

A resolution was then adopted, calling on the grievance committee of the Firemen's Association to call on each coal company today and ascertain if the men who went out on the strike Tuesday will be given back their positions. These committees are to make a report to the same joint committee. which met here yesterday, and if the replies from the companies are favorable, then the strike will be officially declared off tonight.

NON-UNIONISM INDORSED. Pittsburg, July 22.-The first week of the steel strike ended Saturday in this district, with two big meetings, one indorsing non-unionism, the other condemning it. The first was held at Vandergrift in the afternoon, where the sentiment of the workers of the Vandergrift, Leechburg, Apollo and Saltsburg plants of the American Sheet Steel Company was expressed in speech and resolution. More than men attended the gathering. Speeches were made by prominent mill workers indorsing non-unionism, and declaring loyalty to the company. When the speech-making had concluded, the following resolutions were adopted: "Whereas, there is at present trouble existing between the Amalgamated As- her very much.

sociation of Iron and Steel and Tin Workers and the American Sheet Steel Company, which has arisen by reason of said association demanding that all non-union mills be organized into the non-union mills be organized into the union, which demand we do not indorse; therefore be it resolved by the iron workers of Vandergrift, Apollo, Leechburg and Saltsburg, assembled this 20th day of July, 1901, at Vandergrift, Pa., that we hereby express our loyalty to the managers of the American Sheet Steel Company. During the years we have worked for said company we have received the fairest pany we have received the fairest treatment at their hands; our wages have been entirely satisfactory, and we ask that we be permitted to work non-union, as we have been doing since 1894. We feel that no labor union can make our condition any better or more honorable than it is at present, since we are subject to no one man's dicta-tion. We also hereby heartily indorse the action of the business men of Van-dergrift, Leechburg, Saltsburg, and Apollo in their recent indorsement of the policy of the American Sheet Steel Company, and assure them that our interests are mutual, and that we as workmen will not be misled nor do anything that will in any way pair the good feeling and pleasant re-lations that have existed between us pany was thanked for its liberality; and the entire audience united in singing "America." The meeting at McKeesport was diametrically opposite to the Vandergrift gathering in its object and action. It was held under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association, and was addressed by several prominent officials of the association, principal among whom was President Shaffer. The hall was crowded to the doors, and much enthusiasm was evidenced. The manufacturers claim to be well satisfied with the developments of the work, as there are still in operation the non - union mills at Vandergrift, Chester, Duncansville, Old Meadow, Saltsburg and Scottdale, and the tin plate mill at Monessen. All these mills, they say, have a large capacity, and are running full. They also ex-press gratification at the partial start made at Wellsville and the promise of a larger force today.

ANOTHER BIG STRIKE. New York, July 22.-Members of the executive board of the United Gar-ment Workers met Saturday night and ordered a general strike. The strike will involve more than 50,000 men and women, and goes into effect today. The trades that will stop work and the number involved, as given out by the committee are as follows: Brotherhood of Tailors, 25,000; pantmakers, 15,000; children's jacket makers, 2,000; vest makers, 3,500; sailors' jacket makers, 2,000; button-hole jacket makers, 2,000; button-hole makers, 1,000; Lithuanian tailors, 1,100; German tailors, 1,000; total, 50,600. The leaders, in a statement issued tonight, say the strike is made to compel the employers to do away with the sweatshop system and make them furnish sanitary shops for the employes.

TO OPEN CLEVELAND MILLS.

Cleveland, O., July 22.—Great interest is manifested in labor circles here in the announcement that the United States Steel Corporation is equippling an idle rolling mill in this city to manufacture cotton ties to fill pressing orders, and that the plant will be manned with non-union labor. Vice-President Ward, of the Amalgamated Association, declared Saturday that the mill would not be started. Mr. Ward and Lawrence Kelly members of the Amalgamated Executive Board, came here Saturday upon instructions from President Shaffer, for the purpose, it is said, of preventing the plant from being operated, if possible. Messrs. Ward and Kelly were busy all day organizing the employes of the American Wire and Steel Company, and also addressed a large meeting of the American Tin Plate Company workers. Company workers. A STRIKE ENDED.

Scranton, Pa., July 22.-The machinists' Scranton, Pa., July 22.—The machinists' strike is off in Scranton. At a special meeting Saturday a motion to return to work on Monday morning passed unanimously. The men here have been on strike since May 4, having gone out sixteen days in advance of the time set for the general strike, because of a local grievance. They tried to have their employers agree to take them back in a body, but were told they must come ack as individuals and that some of them would not be taken back at all. Those would not be taken back at all. Those who do get taken back will have to sign an agreement to do piece work if the company wishes the work done that way. The piece work system was abolished in most of the shops some years ago by a threat to strike. There were 2,500 machinists on strike in Scranton. About a thousand stayed on strike till Saturday.

SUICIDE AT WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, July 22 .- Mrs. Nixon, wife of Winnipeg, July 22.—Mrs. Nixon, wife of a prominent citizen, committed suicide on Saturday evening. She went to her husband's store and stated her intention of going home. Instead of doing so, however, she walked down to the river and drowned herself. It will hardly seem likely that she was in her right mind when she ended her life. Her son was found dead under a veranda about a year ago, and his death was due to a fit, although suicide, while temporarily insane. though suicide, while temporarily insane was the real cause. When the Complexion Is Pale and Sallow

The complexion tells the quantity of the blood and acts as a thermometer of the health. A pale, sallow skin and pallor of the eyelids, lips and gums bear unquestionable evidence that the blood is thin, watery and vitiated. Poor, weak blood fails to supply the nervous system with proper nourishment and day by day the system breaks down and constitutional diseases, such as catarrh, consumption, pneumonia, and heart troubles, find easy victims. There can be no cure, no permanent relief until the blood is made pure, rich and lifesustaining.

The influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in enriching the blood and revitalizing the nervous system is seen in the healthful glow which it gives to the complexion and the new life and vigor which it instills into every motion of the body. By its potent help shattered nerves, palpitating heart, clouded brain, depression of mind and exhausted energies give place to steadiness of nerve, vigorous heart action, good spirits and good health. If you want color to return to the cheeks and strength to take the place of weakness you must use the great Food Cure and tissue-builder.

SERGT. HOWELL RETURNS HOME.

South London Boy Who Fought for Uncle Sam.

Enlisted at Fort Niagara and Spent Two Years With the United States Army in the Philippines.

After two years spent in the Phillipines with the United States army, First Sergt. Percy C. Howell, son of Mr. Wm. Howell, of Grand avenue, returned home yesterday. He enlisted on Oct. 25, 1899, at Fort Niagara, with Company F, 42nd Volunteer Infantry, and sailed from San Francisco on Nov. 30, arriving at Manila a month later. He remained on the first line of defense at Manila until Jan. 20, 1900, when he joined Gen. Schwan's flying brigade, which journeyed by forced marches to Santa Cruz. They covered 550 miles on this trip, and engaged in several skirmishes.

From June 8, 1900, to April 23, 1901. his company did garrison duty at Malabon, Luzon Island. Here he was compelled to go on guard duty every other day, making 24 hours of duty, and then the same time off. The remain-der of the time, until May 28, 1901, when he embarked on the Ohio for San Francisco, was spent at Camp Wallace, near Manila.

Six Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Do a Great Work for G. C. Chalker.

Housey's Rapids, Ont., July 22 .-(Special).-The following letter is from G. C. Chalker, of this place:
"I want to say right here on the start of this letter, I am Dodd's Kidney Pills of my kidney com-plaint. I have no doubt about it, none in the least. I weigh ten pounds more than I did fourteen months ago, and can do a fair day's work any day.

"I can say I am completely cured of my old enemy, Lame Back, and am no longer troubled with heavy, aching arms and dull, bloated eyes. Yes, it is all gone, purged out by Dodd's Kidney pills. The work was done by taking six boxes of that life-saving medicine.

"I often wonder what powerful virtue Dodd's Kidney Pills contain. I don't entertain a doubt in the least particular that where Dodd's Kidney Pills are said to cure they will cure every time.

"This is strong talk, but I can prove it by my own case, anyway. If anyone is in doubt he can write to me."

MRS. KRUGER DIED OF PNEUMONIA!

Former President of Transvaal Prostrated by the News.

Pretoria, July 22.—Mrs. Kruger, wife of former President Kruger, of the defunct South African Republic, died Saturday afternoon of pneumonia, after an illness of three days. She was 67 years old.

London, July 22.—"Owing to the Sunday telegraph hours in Holland," says a dispatch to the Daily Mail, from Hilverdispatch to the Daily Mail, from Hilversun, "Mr. Kruger was not informed of his wife's death until the evening. The news was broken to him by Dr. Heymans and Secretary Boeschoten. Mr. Kruger, who had just returned from Hilversun Church, burst into tears, and asked to be left alone. He exclaimed: 'She was a good wife. We quarreled only once, and that was six months after we were married.' He prayed for a long time, and is now calmly sleeping, his Bible by his bed. The Transvaal and Orange Free State flags flying above the white villa were draped and half-masted. Shortly before the news came a crowd of country girls had been singing a folk song outside the villa."

Poles of the Earth.

Messages may come through the very enter of the globe as well as around t. The earth is never still. Tremors, pulsations, rises and falls of level are always in progress. After a prolonged investigation of these phenomena in Japan Prof. John Milne has established an observatory at Newport, in the Isle of Wight. The days of violent movement are over for the present in that charming region, but the recording instruments there show constant tremblings. Four times on an average every minute the earth "shivers." Delicate apparatus for feeling the earth's pulse indicate the feeblest throb or beat. The first tidings of an earthquake shock in Alaska, Mexico, Japan or Java has reached Newport before the news came by telegraph. A violent outburst or quivering takes place, for instance, in Java. Immediately waves of vibration run through the world and round its surface, and at a large number of stations where these sensitive instruments are installed, the movement is felt. Other things equal, the rapidity of vibrations depends on the rigidity of the medium through which they are transmitted. In sand a shock traveled 825 feet per second; in solid granite, 1,665. Professor Milne finds that tremors which have come through the very center of the earth him with such velocity as to prove that the earth's interior must be more rigid than a globe of solid iron. So distinct and trustworthy are the indications that when a submarine cable has been broken the professor has been able to say that the interruption was due to seismic disturbance and point to the very spot where it had happened.

FEDERATION OF WOMEN.

FEDERATION OF WOMEN.

New York, July 22.—Four women members of the American Federation of Women appeared before the Central Federated Union of New York yesterday to ask aid in securing the co-operation of the families of laboring men in the work of the women. It is expected to bring about for the medium of this organization a revolution in the organized labor movement. The women propose to bring into their federation all the wives of union men in order that there may be complete co-operation in the event of a strike in any of the branches. The argument is made that as the women spend the money made that as the women spend the money made by the men, they can do the most effective work where merchants are con-

A MONSTER PETITION

Mr. Balfour Receives From His Constituents a Petition Hundreds of Yards Long.

Mr. Balfour has received from his constituents a petition hundreds of yards long, bearing a hundred thousand signatures, in support of the Sale of Intoxicants to Children bill. Huge as it is, this is not a record petition. Parliament has known these monster memorials again and again. Eleven years ago this month, members of the House of Commons were surprised to find the whole floor of the house between the table and the bar occupied by a petition in favor of the local taxation bill, which related, it will be remembered, to the interests of the liquor trade. This amazing document. to contain some six hundred thousand signatures, and to be eight miles in length, was wound around three enormous wooden cylinders, each seven feet in diameter, arranged, one after another, along the floor of the house. So huge were the rolls that the members below the gangway were unable to see members on the other side of the house. There are still many men living who remember the great Chartist petition of 1848, which was carried from Kennington Common to Westminster several cabs. Feargus O'Connor declared that the signatures numbered 7,506,000, but a strict scrutiny brought SECURITY the figures down to the still highly respectable total of just under two millions. No petition in our time ever caused greater excitement than this. The streets along which the great document was carried were guarded by 170,000 special police. But all the world knows now how absolutely unnecessary these precautions were. The meeting in Kennington Common was easily dispersed by the police without the assistance or even the presence of a single soldier. It was, in some ways, the record failure of the century.

Viscount Ridley, when, as Sir Matthew White Ridley, he acted as home secretary in the last government, received a petition which was probably a record for any government department. It asked the home secretary to advise the Queen to grant a pardon to Lieut. Wark, who was under sentence of death, and was so bulky and weighty a document that a carriage and pair had to be requisitioned to convey it from Woolwich. No fewer than 53 942 signatures were inscribed upon this remarkable petition. Exactly two centuries ago, the House of Commons was thrown into a state of great excitement by the appearance of the leading gentry of Kent at the doors of the house, bearing a petition. As the deputation waited in the lobby one of the Kentish members came out and informed them of the excitement into which the petition had thrown the house, while another declared that if there were a hundred thousand hands to the petition they should all be made an example of. Si Edward Seymour threatened that the whole of Kent should be doubly taxed, and the estates of the petitioners confiscated. But the men of Kent stood their ground, and their leader, adapting a famous phrase of Luther, retorted that, "If every tile of the roof of St. Stephens were a devil, he would present this petition." At length the house resolved that their petition was scandalous, insolent and seditious, "tending to destroy the constitution of parliament, and to subvert one established government of these realms." That, with the incarceration of the petitioners for two months at Newgate. was the end of the great petition from

It is natural enough that parliament should be skeptical of monster peti-tions. The brewers' petition in 1890 was found to contain a large number of signatures in the same handwriting, many quite fictitious, and a small number "obscene." An old writer has a curious entry in reference to a Royalist petition for Herts presented to the House of Commons in 1641. It reads: "Thomas Hulbert, one of the framers of the Hertfordshire petition, sent for as a delinquent; also Martin Eldred, one of the penmen of the same. The said Martin Eldred, being called into the house, acknowledged that Thomas Hulbert, a young scholar of Cambridge, did draw the said false petition of Hertfordshire in his presence. and that they sold it to the said John Greensmith, a stationer, for half a crown, when the said Greensmith, being called on, did likewise confess that he printed it." There were at this time in London, according to the authority, "certain loose, beggarly scholars, who did in alehouses invent speeches, an l make speeches of members of parliament, and of other passages supposed to be handed in or presented unto this house. Some remarkable petitions have been presented to parliament from time to time. An Indian, who described himself as "one of the most miserable of her Majesty's subjects," once petition. | monks and nuns.

ed the members of the House of Commons to mitigate his miseries by sending him a shilling apiece; and it was one of his countrymen who sent this touching appeal to parliament: "I most submissively beg to inform honors that I am a poor helpless inhabitant of the Aurangabad town in Gaya District, in Bihar. I describe my poor fate. In my early days I studied in the Aurangabad M. E. School, and I passed the M. E. scholarship examination from that school. But my poor fate was fated to be born in the house of such a poor parent that their poverty did not allow me to read further. I was, therefore, obliged not to be admitted into any high school. Then I applied to some of your subordinates for a post. But they did not reply, Now I inform your honor that your honor will be graciously pleased to confer on me a post. Sir, there is nothing in this world except your honor to look after me. For which act of kindness ! shall, as in duty bound, ever pray.'

The golf sunbonnet, with its bright red gorgeousness, makes a charming bit of color on the smooth green links, and these bonnets are usually rather small, so as not to interfere with one's range of vision. There is a small scoop coming low over the face, but the sides are shoved back to the lower part of the crown, the whole outside edge being finished with a single medium size ruffle bordered with lace. The simplest bonnets, however, are the prettiest and the most serviceable. For when driving off one doesn't want to be bothered with too many frills

For sailing there is no head covering quite so adaptable as the quaint little sunbonnet. It is less heavy on the head than a sailor hat, and its shade protects the eyes from the glare of the sun and sheen of the water. Investigations in Central Asia Made by G. F. Wright-His Journey Through Mongolia and Siberia.

[From the Literary Digest.] Geological conditions in Central Asia the rivers coming into the Aral sea are such as can be explained only on were so much larger than now that the the theory of extensive submergence of the region where the Scriptures and such volume that nearly all of its salt tradition locate the flood. This is the was carried into the Caspian and the conclusion which has been reached by Prof. G. F. Wright, of Oberlin College, the well known geologist, in a recent journey through Mongolia and Siberia, and stated by him in an arti-cle in McClure's Magazine. Dr. Wright asserts that the evidences of a deluge are not one, but several, and extend from Mongolia to the western borders of Russia. In the first place, he tells us, there is no evidence in this region of a glacial period such as once existed River Dnieper, whose general surface in Europe and North America. He entire region, we were confronted with may have been made by it. In the disthe evidence of a great subsidence of the land which had taken place in recent geological time, and which, in date, would correspond roughly with that of the glacial period in North America. For several hundred miles, while driving through the region south of Lake Balkash and the Aral Sea, we were evidently uopn a terrace of the fine loam which is called loess, about 2,500 feet above sea level. Indeed, at different elevations this loess extends continuously in a broad shelf along the base of the mountains, from the Irtish river to the Caspian sea, and is found in extensive level areas over various portions of the Caucasus and northern Persia around the base Mount Ararat; while the so-called black earth' of southern Russia is a deposit of the same material, and probably of the same age, 100 or more feet in thick-ness. The distribution of this loess is the key to the whole situation."

RESULT OF SUBMERGENCE. That these deposits are the result of submergence and not wind-transported, as some travelers have maintained, Dr. Wright is convinced. To quote again:

"On coming around to the northwestern side of the great Asiatio plateau, in Turkestan, which is in almost the exact center of the continent, the wind hypothesis became entirely incredible, and the evidence accumulated that the land had lately been depressed to such an extent that the water of the ocean reached the base of the bordering mountains, rising to a height, certainly, of about 3,000 feet; for, at this level. south and southwest of Lake Balkash, we found the loess spread out in such extensive terrace that the wind would be entirely incompetent to produce the results. We were interested to find, upon visiting St. Petersburg, that the chief Russian geologists had arrived at substantially the same con-clusions which we had formed."

The recent depression of Central Asia, Dr. Wright holds, is also proved by the fact that Lake Balkal and the Aral sea are fresh. We should expect both to be salt, like the Dead sea and own Salt lake, as they have no outlets. Says the writer:

A RECENT TRANSFORMATION. "The only explanation of the freshness of the water in these two great seas is that there have recently been great changes both in the climate and proaching nearer and nearer the point of saturation. In the case of Great Salt lake and the Dead sea this point was long since reached; but in the case of the Aral and Caspian seas little progress has been made.

"It is therefore clear that this region has lately emerged from below sea level, and, in consequence, rapidly passed through climatic changes which have transformed it from a recently well-watered region to one that is now a desert. During this transition stage, sea overflowed the rim of its basin in was carried into the Caspian and the sea thus became practically fresh."

This submergence took place after the creation of man. Says Dr. Wright:
"The crowning point of interest is reached in the discovery by Professor Armashevsky, at Kief, of flint implements and burnt stones in connection with the bones of extinct animals fiftyseven feet below the undisturbed surface of the soil. The discovery was made in the bluff of loess bordering the is 633 feet above the sea and 340 feet above the present stream, and totally 'On the contrary, throughout this unconnected with any deposits that covery we have the link connecting the geological changes in the east with those in the west. The flint im-plements of glacial man found in France, England and the United States indicate the same stage of culture as that attained by the men who were overwhelmed in the great subsidence of Central Asia and southeastern Russia, and of the region about the base of Mount Ararat."

TRUTH OF THE BIBLE STORY. In the opinion of the writer the Bib-Heal story of the deluge is shown by these facts to be in substantial harmony with geological history. He

"If we may be permitted briefly and provisionally to summarize the facts as they appear probable, both from the Biblical story and the illustrative seological facts, the completed narrative might be made to read something as follows:

"Some time during the prevalence of glacial ice over Northern America and Northwestern Europe man came into existence in Central Asia, where the climate was still congenial. From this point he spread as far west as the At-lantic seaboard in Europe, and eastward to the Pacific coast, whence he succeeded in reaching, by way of the Behring sea and Alaska, the western coast of North America, and thence migrated to the Atlantic coast, where his remains are found in the glacial gravels of Trenton, N. J. But the extreme and rapid changes incident to the closing stages of the glacial period naturally, and very likely, exterminated man in company with many of animals accompanying him in America and in Europe. The destruction of many of the species of animals accompanying man at the close of the glacial period is a well known fact. It also seems probable, from scientific evidence, that man shared largely in the destruction. There is everywhere a sharp line of distinction be-tween Paleolithic and Neolithic manthat is, between the men who were limited to the use of flaked or rough stone implements and those who used smoothed stone implements. It is Paleolithic implements only which are found in the glacial gravels of Ameri-

Genesis.

"In Asia, the rapidity of the subsidence spoken of, though so great that man could not adjust himself to it, might still have been so slow as to be almost imperceptible. But toward the close of this period there were 120 years (specially mentioned in the Bible as a time of warning) in which the are of a becoming color. as a time of warning) in which the movement was accelerated to such a

There is no man in Canada better able to give expert evidence on military matters, or anything connected with the welfare of the soldier than Colonel Otter. who commanded with such distinction the Royal Canadian Regiment in South Africa. What he says regarding "Foot Elm" is well worth your careful consideration.

It was largely used by all ranks in the 2nd Royal Canadian Regiment during its long marches in South Africa, 1899-1900, and always with the best results. Yours very truly,

The employes of the McCormick Manufacturing Company held their 31st annual of the employes and their friends went BOOKS FOR SUMMER READING to Port Stanley, where the afternoon and evening were enjoyably spent. lack of interest in next year's coronation festivities. One would think people would never get tired of talking about it. What is creating most concern in official circles and most interests the public is the objection raised by the Roman Catholic peers against the proposed new form of the coronation oath. It looks as if there would be a nice bit of a storm over it. These peers object to the word "adoration" in the oath as applied to their sentiment toward the Virgin Mary. Lord Salisbury has expressed the opinion that no doubt the word "worship" could be substituted for "adoration" when the bill comes on for discussion, but it seems doubtful whether "worship" will prove any more acceptable to Lord Llandaff and his friends, "Veneration of the Virgin' will probably be the term proposed by a Roman Catholic peer. Then the question will arise whether "veneration" of the Virgin is contrary to Protestantism. Evidently

"Coriolanus" was enacted for the last time at the Lyceum Theater Sat-urday night, and the friends of Sir Irving and Miss Helen Terry rallied in force to give them a hearty greeting. The play went smoothly, and Sir Henry Irving's action was strong and his voice more distinct than on the opening night. He had a most hearty greeting after every act, and was recalled at the close for his usual affectionate speech of thanks and the announcement of his plans for the provinces and America. The programmes for his American tour are not yet definitely arranged, but the plays will be those which he has revived in the present season.

STRUGGLES OF ACTRESSES. The suicide in London of Ida and Edith Yeoland, actresses, July 16, in consequence of their lack of engage-ments and disappointment at failing to secure an expected opportunity to play in New York, has forcibly brought to public notice the difficulties of making a livelihood on the London stage and the fact that there are today a number of tolerably good actresses in London who are destitute or next door to it. Among those actresses are many Americans who have come over in the hope of making a hit, and who find engagements almost impossible to secure without social and financial backing. The struggle in the gloomy rooms of Bloomsbury continues. The actresses are ashamed to go back to the United States and con-fess their failule, and that they were unable to secure employment in London for that moderate talent which would generally assure them engagements in the United States. A pitiful case came up this week, when an American girl, who had done very well at home, and who was well connected, appealed to the United States embassy to send a cable to her uncle asking for Even when employment found it is a beggarly pittance that actresses get in return for their services, unless they possessed exceptional talent or backing. Cause of Withdrawal of Infantry From South Africa.

An Anglo-Italian Conference to Discuss Mediterranean Questions-Naval Wen to Meet.

London, July 22.-The decision to withdraw 70,000 infantry from South Africa in September was made before the capture of the Reitz-Steyn correspondence. It was not dictated by the expected collapse of the Boer resistance, but by another crisis which threatens to follow close upon the heels of the war in South Africa. It would be premature to indicate the nature of this fresh peril, because it may even yet be averted, but it is giving the government the greatest anxiety, and elaborate preparations a week a most satisfactory letter from Gen. Botha, in which details of future are being made to meet it.

ANGLO-ITALIAN CONFERENCE. Though not officially admitted, an important conference will shortly be held by British and Italian naval of-ficers in regard to various Mediter-ranean questions. The conference, indeed, is part of the programme of the visit of a British squadron to Italian waters, where peculiar privileges will be granted to the Englishmen. Both governments desire to arrive at an understanding through their naval representatives which will cover all eventualities, including probably a precise declaration in regard to the Italian interests in Tripoli.

One London paper hears that "the American yachts which will be at Cowes are expected to beat anything ever seen before in the Roads for luxury and splendor. The London theatrical managers are making haste to close their theaters. Sir Henry Irving's season at the Lyceum ends tonight. Sir Henry and Helen Terry will make a tour of the provinces, and will open in New York Oct. 21.

A lot of choice wines, champagne clarets belonging to Sir Henry Irving, were sold at Christie's auction rooms yesterday at low prices. The Haymarket, where "The Second in Command" has been one of the few successes of the season, and the Duke of York's Theater both close their doors after tonight's performances. The opera will continue for another week. According to the latest interpretation of the British law, the audience in a theater can throw stones at the stage with impunity. A rowdy has been haled in a police court charged with throwing stones in a music hall at Hoxton. Six or seven stones were produced in court which had picked up from the stage, but the magistrate held that in the absence of any witness having been struck by the stones or individually pelted by the thrower, the prisoner must go free.

TO HELP JAPAN. Correspondence of a significant character has been passing between the British and Japanese Governments in regard to British interests in Corea, the possible outcome of which may be a convention on that subject.

The necessity for such a convention is due to the fact that Russia, for the sake of procuring Japanese assistance, or at any rate inaction in China, is willing to make such important concessions in Corea as will result in giving Japan supreme political influence there.

VERY HOPEFUL

With Ammunition About Exhausted the London, July 22.-Cecil Rhodes and Dr. Jameson have remained virtually in retirement since their return to England, and have not revealed their all times, and enjoins silence as a necessary condition, of service rendered to him by all his associates and employes. Mr. Jameson is entirely under Mr. Rhodes' influence, and imitates the inscrutible reticence of his chief. They have a strong body of South African mine owners and partisans in London, with whom they have opened communications and exchanged confidences. They are outspoken critics of the military administration during the war, but respect Lord Kitchener, and are not disposed to hold him responsible for the delay in bringing the campaign to an end. They will remain in the background and look after their business affairs. Dr. Jameson's health has not been fully restored; still he is fairly well, and Mr. Rhodes never was more vigorous and alert. The mining interests in South Africa, according to well-informed men like Al-

NEARING THE END. The captured correspondence between Mr. Reitz and Mr. Steyn has convinced the mine owners that the Boer ammunition is nearly exhausted, and that guerilla operations cannot be maintained when about 500 Boers are accounted for every week as killed, wounded or prisoners. They are also encouraged by the signs of thoroughness with which the Orange River Colony and the Eastern Transvaal have been cleared, and by the evidence that the Boers remaining in the Dutch districts of Cape Colony are Cape rebels, who can be brought to trial and punished for depredations. The appeal of Gen. Botha and his colleagues, disclosing as it does the severe straits of the Boer commandos in the Transvaal two months ago, brings the end of the war for the first time within measurable distance. It is true that Mr. Steyn's urgent remonstrances appear for the time to have prevailed, but Mr. Steyn's coadjutors have since been taken prisoners, and he himself harrowly escaped with his life. The Boers can hardly now hope to keep up the struggle much longer, and the gov-ernment will probably be strengthened in its determination to insist on unconditional surrender. This makes the question of the settlement in South Africa even more urgent than it was before. If the opposition are to exercise any influence upon that settlement they must be united and must have a policy.

THINKS REFUGEES TOO WELL TREATED.

The Cape Times, in an editorial article Saturday, contrasts the fact that the British refugee relief fund is almost exhausted with the abundance which smiles on almost every Boer refugee camp. The paper says the British refugees of the poorer class are enduring privations and sufferings, while the Boers are well fed and are made as comfortable as possible.

PROOF LINE ROAD.

M. Crunican, of the Proof Line road, has on his farm a new idea in air motors, the invention of his son, A. M. Crunican, who has considerable mechanical ability. During his spare moments he made all the patterns from which the machine was built. There is some danger attached to taking care of the ordinary windmill, climbing up and down the tower being risky, especially in rough weather. To obviate this Mr. Crunican has conceived a single shaft idea, and the wheel can be lowered up or down at will. In case of a windstorm the wheel can be lowered to the ground, and the danger of an accident is averted. The fans on the wheel are self-adjustable, and the greater the power required the more the fans bend to the wind. and the power is consequently increased. If the work is light, the machine does not wear itself out, but only produces the power required to do the work. The gearing is very simple and light. The wheel being placed at right angles to the vane, the hinge and

IDDERTON.

Thos. Boston, of Villisea, Iowa, formerly a resident of Lobo, and brother of Jailer Boston, is taking a trip through Canada visiting some of his many friends. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Villisea. Both have just returned from the Pan-American and are now for a few days visiting A. McRae, general merchant, Ilderton.

A. J. Clatworthy, formerly of Ilderton, who recently started a lumber business in Granton, has purchased the stock and good will at Joseph with the companionship possible in the work necessary around the farm or the barn-yard and may be performed with its assistance.

"The first aim of all philanthropic work, whether state or private, should be to preserve the manhood of the person to be helped—to make him self-supporting instead of alms-receiving," said the Rev. John B. Devins in a paper before the 3 unmer School of Philanthroppy. "It is only when men are legitimately employed that life is worth the living." He quoted Walter A. Wyckoff as having said: "The problem of the distribution of labor—taking men from places where many jobs are looking for one man." Mr. Devins said that while the frequent suggestion that the unemployed should be seen to the country has much in its favor, there is something more to be done than to get them there. They must have some one to train and instruct them when they are there. Furthermore, many would choose want and penury with the companionship possible in the [From the New York Tribune.]

city, rather than comparative plenty with isolation from their kind.

The speaker urged the necessity of including manual training in the public school course, saying that it is not easy for an adult to acquire industrial educa-school course, saying that it is not easy for an adult to acquire industrial education.

"The problems involved in dealing with the unemployed are not to be solved in a day or a generation. We must begin with the children. The question of fitting a man with something definite in life is of the first importance. If the state cares for the man out of work who commits crime, providing food and lodging for him for years, perhaps; if the state cares for the sick man who is destitute, in hospital or other institutions, why should not the state enable him to do something to keep him honest and healthy by providing industrial training? Men who can't do 'anything' find it difficult to get 'anything' to do. To do something properly is the necessity. Civilization tends to specialization."

He expressed his belief that even the degree in which manual training has been introduced into the schools would be productive of much good. "The training, even though slight, in color, in design, in sewing and in cooking is of great value to the school girl in its developing influence," said Mr. Devins. "The cooking classes are especially useful, and will be found to affect the whole social problem in another generation, as the wife's ignorance of cooking in a frequent, though unsuspecting cause of drunkenness among the poor."

In concluding his paper, Mr. Devins de-

the poor."

In concluding his paper, Mr. Devins declared that the state should provide industrial training to remove the stigma of charity inevitably associated with the schools for the purpose provided by be-payolence.

Legal Adviser of Hunter Commission Resigns to Practice on His Own Account.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, July 22 .- A private dispatch from Vancouver, B. C., says that Mr. Congdon, the legal adviser of the Hunter commission at Dawson City, has resigned his position and will practice law at Dawson on his own account. Mr. Congdon was formerly of Halifax, N. S., and was appointed a few months ago to take the position of Mr. Cle-ment, K.C., who had resigned as legal adviser and a member of the Yukon commission. It would appear that the salaries paid to lawyers by the government in the Yukon is not at all equal to what they can make on their own account.

O., chap. 77, sec. 4; R. S. O., chap. 127, sec. 4 must be read with R. S. O. chap. 77, and sec. 4 of the former as subject to the provisions of sec. 4 of the latter; (2) that if the widow takes the piano, which is owned by her, but specifically bequeathed to a son of the testator, she must make good to the son its value out of the property bequeathed to her; (3) the amount of insurance policy, but for the apportionment by the will of $500 to the son and $1,500 to the widow, would under R. The pain and localized conditions are mere results of constitutional conditions. Poisoned blood sends its evil influence to various parts of the body, and to cure permanently you must treat it constitutionally. Nothing so completely dispels these poisons from the system as Ferrozone. It makes new blood. It imparts vitality and vigor, enabling the system to throw off the poisons that engender rheumatism. Ferrozone also fortifies the system against the weakening effects of rheumatism, and cures, not simply relieves, as most medicines do. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co.

STRIKE LEADER IS CONFIDENT!

Says the Companies' Plans Have Reen Frustrated.

HIGH COURT CASES Striking Steel Workers Claim to Have the Upper Hand in Present Contest.

> Cleveland, Ohio, July 22.-John F. Ward, vice-president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, for the sixth district, says that he has completely frustrated any attempt of the American Steel Wire Company to start its Newburg hoop plant in operation, despite contrary reports made by the com-

> "It has been reported to me, from time to time," says Mr. Ward, "that the company is attempting to lure away from the union affiliations to start them to work. I have heard that they are trying to stampede the union men who are sympathetically with us. Their efforts are useless. They can do nothing. We have anticipated their every move, and their efforts will appear ridiculous later on."

MEETING OF DELEGATES.

St. Louis, July 22.-The first meeting of the delegates of the different metal trades unions assembled in St. Louis for the purpose of forming a national metal trades council, will be held this afternoon. The national body is designed as an organization to embrace all local metal trades councils which are themselves the governing bodies of the various metal workers unions in the towns where they are situated. The movement was launched at the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Louisville, Ky., Dec. 6, 1900. More than a hundred leaders of the metal workers will sit in the convention, which will extend its ses-sions over the greater part of the week. Presidents of the national bodies have promised to be in attendance, representing the following unions: Pattern Makers' League of America, Metal Polishers, Buffers, Platers and Brass Workers' International Union. International Association of Machinists, International Union of Allied Metal Mechanics, United Metal International Union, Iron Workers' Molders' Union of North America, Core Makers' International Union, Boiler Makers' and Iron Ship Builders' International Union, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths', Stove Molders' and Steel Range Workers' International Union, International Union of Electrical Workers.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK. Scranton, Pa., July 22.-The striking boilermakers, machinists and foun-drymen at the shops of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad returned to work at the old rate of wages today, notice having been postthe company, following a sion of the men to return, that all the 573 men who went on strike eight weeks ago would be taken back. Two men were discharged for cause. 900 men employed by the Allis-Chalmers Company remain out pending a settlement at the shops of the company

A DECISION REVERSED. London, July 22.-The House of Lords has reversed the decision of the appeal court dissolving the injunction well, in the high court of justice, which enjoined General Secretary Bell of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, and Organizing Secretary Holmes from "watching and betting" the Great Western Railroad stations and approaches with a view of inducing non-unionists to refrain from taking the places of Taff Vale Railroad strikers. This action of the House of Lords restores Justice Farwell's judgment. The House held that it was not the intention of the Legis. lature to prevent a trades union from being sued if, through its officers, it were guity of illegalities.

STRIKERS ARE ON THE ALERT.

A Keen Lookout Is Kept for Non-Union Workmen.

President Shaffer Sags the Amalgamated Association is Prepared for a Long Siege.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 22.-The situation of the strike today is practically the same as on Saturday, Wellsville and McKeesport being the points around which the interest centers, and any new development will no doubt eminate from those places. The rumored accession to the force of the men to the Wellsville plant did not take place, and the 23 men who have stuck to the company went to work this morning as usual. It is expected that the company will endeavor to increase this number within the next few hours. Color is given to this by the report that the managers of the Pittsburg mills held a secret meeting in this city Saturday, when they decided that, owing to the weakness of Wellsville as an Amalgamated stronghold, they would start up that mill. The strikers at Wellsville have been watching very closely all the movements at the plant, and a close scrut-iny is kept upon the railroad stations for any strangers that might come into the town. None, however, have as yet appeared. At McKeesport the Dewees-Wood Company did not make any attempt to go into operation as was expected. Rumors of great moment were rife yesterday and unusual excitement manifested itself. It was stated that the company would bring in new men this morning, and the strikers were watching every ingress to the city. Hundreds of men were parading the streets watching the railroads and also the river bank, as it was said the men would be brought in by boat up the Monongahala River.

STRIKERS ELATED.

The Amalgamated people are greatly elated over the fact that they succeeded yesterday in organizing a lodge among the employes of the National Tube works. The formation of this new lodge of Amalgamated men at the National Tube Works may extend the conflict to that plant, inasmuch as the Amalgamated Association, say they would undoubtedly protect these men by calling out all the workers at the mill in case the company discharged them for having joined the union.

The situation this morning throughout Pittsburg and Alleghany, in the strike district, was about the same as Saturday. Contrary to the expectations of many no efforts were made on the part of any of the plants to run. FIREMEN REFUSED TO WORK.

Shamokin, Pa., July 22.-All the striking firemen refused to go to work this morning. President Schultz said none of the men will go back until ordered to do from headquarters at Wilkesbarre. He does not anticipate that any of the companies will refuse to reinstate the men if the strike is declared off. Most of the collieries hereabouts started up today with nonunion men in the fire-rooms.

SHAFFER PLEASED. Pittsburg. July 22.-When seen this morning President Shaffer was in a good humor. He would not discuss his plans for this week. Much depended on circumstances. The general plan of the Amalgamated Association were, of course, laid out, and would be followed to the letter. There are some startling surprises in store for the manufacturers when the proper time comes for springing them, he says. "Our people," said he, "have been saving, and have fortified themselves against such an emergency for three years. At present we are simply taking our much- needed vacations, when the cooler weather arrives we will be in shape to settle down for the winter, undisturbed by the conditions confronting us, for we have everything in readiness for just such a winter as will result if this strike is not settled."

Teamsters' Strike.

San Francisco, July 22.—It has been decided to make the strike of the teamsters a final issue between employers and employes in San Fran-This morning about 1,000 drivcisco. ers will go to their places of work as usual and will be discharged. This is according to programme. By nightfall it is expected every large draying establishment in the city will have its trucks in the barns. The teamsters state that they will pass the matter up to the employers and the final decision will be made by them. Estimates vary as to the number of men and the far-reaching effect of the teamster tie-up for the matter has not yet reached the proportions of a strike. There are over 4,000 men driving teams who are connected with the various unions that constitute the team drivers' executive council. Then this body is affiliated with the Water Front Federation, which embraces men that are more or less connected with or dependent upon the teaming This includes stevedores, business. porters, packers, warehouse men, marine firemen, engineers, and in affiliated branches, perhaps about 8,000 more. In the event of a strike being ordered all these would, in necessity, go out in sympathy. Non-union men will have to do the driving. In that event the longshoremen, it is expected, will refuse to handle the merchandise brought to the various vessels by the nonunion drivers, and the coasting vessels will either tie up or go away in ballast.

On the return journey two bright women in an opposite seat were continually peering from the window and getting in my way, for I was peering, too, as we got near London, for a little glimpse of the college on the hill where long ago I and many of you other 'old girls' were educated. Suddenly it flashed into fringes of trees that border the foot of the hill. The two bright young women cried out, 'There it is!' and we all looked until it was lost to view. Then we looked at one another. 'You're a college girl,' we all said, and had the greatest chat for hours over the old days—the happies days, as one of them called them. It was not I. And when we reached Toronto I was quite glad, in spite of the heat and the dust and the bundles one always brings from the old home, to take them to their hotel and tell them what to see next day. of those loose strings that weave our lives together unawares had sud-denly been pulled taut, that was all! RIE VINCES

Before Prof. McLean, Dominion SPRINGBANK Railway Rate Commissioner.

Chief Burden of Complaint Is Unjust Discrimination in Freight Rates Against Canadian Shippers.

Prof. S. J. McLean, the recently-appointed Dominion railway rate commissioner, is in the city today to hear any grievances which the manufacturers, wholesalers or other shippers of London might desire to have brought to the attention of the government. He is accompanied by his secretary, Mr. H. F. McNaughton. Prof. McLean was at the board of trade rooms all morning and there met half a dozen members of prominent local concerns. The chief burden of complaint seemed to be the fact that the railways discriminate unjustly against Canadian shippers in favor of United States

The first to appear before Prof. Mc-Lean was Mr. Walter White, of the White Engine Works. Mr. White presented a lengthy statement, compar-ing Michigan and Ohio rates with those in force in Ontario, and showing that the former were much the lower. For instance, a 20-mile haul from London of a portable engine costs $9, while in Michigan it costs only $7. When two portable engines are loaded on a car, the full carload rate is charged, though the weight is several thousand pounds below the minimum carucated. Suddenly it flashed into load weight. Similarly, full carload view, sitting so beautifully amid the charge is made for a traction engine weighing 8,000 to 11,000 pounds, while the minimum is 16,000 pounds. The rate for a 100-mile haul out of London for a traction engine is 26 cents per mile, while in Michigan it is only 15 per cent less than 19½ cents. In the ship-ment of iron and steel to London, the rates are in favor of United States concerns. From Guelph to London the rate per hundredweight for car lots is 12 cents, and for less than car lots 15 cents. From Toronto to London, it is 14 cents and 18 cents respectively. From Buffalo to London the rates are 9 and 11 cents, and from Pittsburg to London 14 and 18 cents. The White Company, up to five years ago, were given satisfactory stop-over privileges when shipping in old machines, but these are now refused. One instance of anomalous rates cited by Mr. White was the fact that two threshing engines can be shipped as cheaply on separate cars as on one car. Mr. John Bowman, of the Bowman Hardware Company, followed Mr. White. Mr. Bowman was of the opinion that Canada as a country is very liberal to her railways, and the latter make more profit out of the shipment of freight than the vendors do by selling the goods. He complained that the rates were much more favorable to wholesalers in the United States than they are to wholesalers in London, Toronto and other Ontario distributing points. In the past two years rates have been raised to Canadian shippers and lowered to United States shippers, and thus the Canadian is virtually paying part of his American competitors' shipping charges. A Detroit firm is shipping hardware into Ontario at a less rate than they could ship from Windsor, and this discrimination partly offsets the duty and enables them to compete with local wholesales. Mr. Bowman had no complaint to make of the classification of goods.

Mr. W. C. Allan, of the Western Wire and Nail Works, complained of

as putty, white lead, etc., which have to pay a much higher rate than they should. He knew that the rates for shipping from Chicago were much lower. In shipping wire, also, the United States manufacturers enjoyed a distinct advantage in rate over Ontario shippers. From Cleveland, Ohio, to Guelph and Chatham the rate per hundredweight is only 131/2c, while from London to the same points it is 12c. From Cleveland to Toronto the rate is 131/2c, lower than the rate from London to Toronto, which is 14c. Mr. Robert Watson, of the Globe casket works, had two matters to complain of. One was that certain sup-plies, such as casket handles, screws were classed as silver-plated hollow-ware, when they should only be classed as ordinary hardware. Mr. Watson complained also that freight rates from the west to the east were much higher than from east to west. This made competition from the Maritime Provinces a serious factor. As an instance, Mr. Watson said that manufacturers in Amherst, N. S., and St. John, N. B., could ship goods to Winnipeg at a comparatively cheaper rate than could Ontario manufacturers. Mr. J. K. Pope, secretary of the Mc Clary Manufacturing Company, told the commissioner that there were many phases of the freight rate situation which he would not care to discuss in public. His company had to contend with the fact that the railways give to Montreal and Toronto manufacturers as low a rate to Winnipeg as London manufacturers can obtain. An extra haul of 500 or more miles is not considered by the railways. This is a general source of complaint. The rates from east to west also are about 10 per cent lower than from west to east. The rates for Ontario for shipments less than carload lots are also unsatisfactory, being 25 to 50 per cent higher than carload rates. The low rates for iron and steel from Pittsburg allow manufacturers there to compete in raw materials with local concerns. There is not much American iron and steel coming in now, most of it coming from England, but the United States concerns have their eyes on this market. Mr. Pope will meet the commissioner in private and discuss some details of the freight question.

After hearing Mr. Pope, the commis-

Street Railway Company's List o' Pleasure Purveyors for the Six Nights to Come.

Springbank's popularity bounds upward with every jump of the mercury. When asphalt sizzles in the sun and Old Probs tells pop-eyed humanity that a fresh rash of spots on Sol's visage means more humidity, there's nothing left for face-mopping humans but to board a street car and leave to the breeze the task of checking the perspiration. All the people who've been telling the limp and sweat-soaked public how to keep cool unite in saying that worry works up more heat.
The perusal of a score or so of these articles brought the street car company to the conclusion that if it could only keep supplying a good range of Springbank entertainments the park's patrons would find no time to worry, and heat would be as far away as it's possible to get it. A survey of their list of available material showed several promising performers. Most of them have been here before and pleased large audiences. The company is hoping that empty seats on the amusement stand will be as scarce this week as the cold June days that Hicks told about, and that's nearly the limit.

A few weeks ago the ventriloquist, Winton, put on a show that was truly a shaker of sides. He and his old bulbous-nosed friend will be there again, giving everyone who didn't catch on last time another chance to learn just the proper way to rise from the chair and sing out "Danger."

Late as it was when they came on, Fairman's illustrated songs always held the crowd, so he will come back once more with new and pleasing songs.

The Llewellyn sisters charmed all who heard them on their last engagement. Their songs were delightful, and caused hundreds of people to repeat their trips parkwards. The return of these sweet-voiced Australians will be most welcome.

The only entertainer of whom nothing is known, except from flattering advance notices, is Areno, a contortionist, who is said to be remarkably

CHAPTER XII.

"Are you well enough to be bothered?" asked Sir Kenneth Donaldson, entering the sitting room at the Maisonnette, and, after shaking hands with Andree, taking a seat on the sofa on which her husband reclined, looking pale and thin, but sufficiently recovered from the effects of the shot in the dark to sit up, and even drive out in the low phaeten the young baronet had sent over for his use.

"I never mean to be well enough to be bothered," answered Douglas, laughing. "I have been living a Sybarite existence during the last five weeks, and nothing will ever induce me to declare myself convaiescent, if it necessitates the giving up of all the making-much-of I have enjoyed lately. What is it, Donaldson?" "What have you been doing with writing materials?" asked Sir Kenneth, laughing. "If you are well enough to write leaders you are well enough to ing materials?" asked Sir Kenneth, laughing. "If you are well enough to write leaders you are well enough to submit to a cross-examination.

A crash and the sound of broken glass at the other end of the room startled them. Sir Kenneth turned.

"What mischief have you been up to now, Mrs. Lancaster?" he said, rising to go te Andree's assistance.

She had been arranging some flowers in a vase at a side-table, and, as he had spoken, the vase had slipped from her fingers and fallen to the ground.

"How very awkward!" she said, with an attempt at a laugh. "Don't let me interrupt you, Sir Kenneth. I can manage, thank you."

thank you."

"You are nervous, Mrs. Lancaster." he said, as he bent to pick up the flowers.
"I am afraid my Sybarite existence, has tried her," said Douglas from the sofa, glancing anxiously at his wife, whose pale face and trembling fingers justified the baronet's words. "She used not to know the meaning of the word 'nerves."

'nerves.' Andree gave him a smile as she crossed the room to ring the bell, and a servant —not Mrs. Kenny, but Mrs. Clarence's maid, for the widow was staying at the Maisonnette—entered and collected the fragments of the broken vase. Her mistress following, caught Sir Kenneth's next words: next words:

"I think she is nervous now."
"Nervous!" echoed Man "Nervous!" echoed Mrs. Clarence;
"Andree pervous! That is something new. Why, Sir Kenneth, her ponies were as frisky as your own chestnuts, and she would ride an unbroken horse! Andree Kenneth, smiling. "Could you, Mrs.

"I daresay I could," she rejoined, with a little defiance. "I am not a bit nervous, Sir Kenneth. Your imagination is vivid; only please don't infect Douglas." Seeing that she was annoyed, the young man changed the conversation.
"Is your patient well enough for business, or are you still to continue editressin-chief?" he said, bowing to the widow with a mock solemnity which made her smile. Lancaster?

'No. no. Sir Kenneth, I can't lay claim "No, no, Sir Kenneth, I can't lay claim to such a sounding title as that. I have been sub-editor, it is true, but Douglas has always been the editor-in-chief."

"Women can't write political leaders,

"Women can't write political leaders. Sir Kenneth; in fact, they ought not to go in for journalism at all." she said, decidedly; "unless, of course, it is to marry editors. But what is the business on hand now?"

Andree looked up from her flowers with an eager anxiety in her eyes which any of the other three ocupants of the room could not have failed not read had they not been too much occupied, and waited in breathless suspense for Sir Kenneth's enswer.

"One in which I am, and in which you ought to be deeply interested. Mrs. Clarence," he replied. "The attempted murder of your guest within a mile of my estates—nay, less than a mile, barely helf that distance." half that distance."

"You treat the matter too seriously, my friend," said Douglass, quickly; but the other interrupted warmly:
"My dear fellow, is it or is it not true that you have been seriously wounded by a shot fired from the garden?"

Yes, butme no buts," said the baronet, kingly, half seriously. "It is true.

"But me no buts," said the baronet, half jokingly, half seriously. "It is true. Is it not equally true that the wound escaped by a hairbreadth of being a mortal one?" "But" said Douglas again. "And for our own sakes, Mrs. Clarence, for the justification of our characters—yours as hostess, mine as lord of the manor—are we not bound to see into this matter? I have determined to make

All glanced in Andree's direction, and

And as Sir Kenneth proceeded, Andree apologized mutely for the sharpness of her voice by bending over her husband and touching her lips to his hand with a shy, constrained tenderness.

"I think we are bound to see into it, Mrs. Clarence, and as, of course, a lady is powerless in such business as this, you will allow me to take the initiative," said Sir Kenneth.

"Must certainly," she replied. "I shall be much obliged if you do."

"I have already done so," he answered. "I have written to Scotland Yard, and they are sending me down a ciever detective, who, I hope, will prove successful in finding out the guilty man. I have no doubt, of course, that it must be one of those rascally poachers who are ruining my preserves and eluding all my gamekeepers as cleverly as if they had agreed to do so, and as if my fellows connived at the villainy. We have wounded several, you know, in our sorties; but somehow or other not one has been caught, and we cannot account for it. Once, however, in the detective's hands, I hope all will be discovered."

"I hope so, also; but, Sir Kenneth," said the widew, smiling. "detectives are not infallible, and these good people may not prove more clever than you and your gamekeepers in discovering the real offenders. They will be on their guard after this."

this.
Douglas, lying back on the cushions, shaded his face with his hands, and did not answer. Mrs. Ciarence looked up inquiringly from her work; Andree, one hand pressed to her heart, sat with her eyes drooping on her lap, her face, half hidden behind Douglas' cushions, was white as death, and for a moment it wore an expression of almost wild sorrow and fear.

CHAPTER XIII.

"You see," said Douglas, slowly, with-out removing his hand, and speaking in a low, pained voice, "it is not as if I had no enemies. For months after my father's death I never felt as if my life father's death I never felt as if my life was my own, there were so many ruined and desperate men who had reason to execrate our name. I used to receive anonymous letters by the score, containing threats of vengeance, and calling every evil down upon me and mine. How can we tell, Bir Kenneth, but that one of the writers of those anonymous letters may not have dogged my footsteps from the beginning until that night, and, furious at the great happiness of the man who he thought he had such reason to hate, could no longer restrain his avenging arm."

He ceased, with a weary, mournful sigh. Andree rose, and slowly, with a of self-control; but she had had been the door after her when she sank senseless on the bed.

"I wish you would give it up, Donaldson," said Douglas, earnestly, when she was gone; "I ask it as a personal favor. I have told you my opinion. If it be so, and personally I have no doubt but that it was some person who owed me a grudge, and who paid me out perhaps either more or less severely than they wished; but if it be so, I could not bear that any whom my father has injured should suffer once through me, so that, as a personal and great favor, the greatest of your many kindnesses, I entreat you to give up any further trouble about it."

Sir Kenneth rose and began pacing up and down the little room, evidently in great perturbation. He was passionately desirous of finding out the guilty man, and to give up his amateur detectiveship desirous of finding out the guilty man, and to give up his amateur detectiveship under the professional man sent from Scotland Yard, would be sacrificing the dearest wish of his heart.

"Let it rest, old fellow, let it rest!" went on Douglas, looking at him with very mournful eyes, smiling though his lips were. "I assure you it will be wisest and best."

"Give me a day or two to think of it."

"Give me a day or two to think of it," the young man said at last. "I wish you would not ask me. Lancaster."
"I do ask it, though," said the other, earnestly, and turning to Mrs. Clarence, addressed some observation to her about his wife, which effectually changed the conversation, and turned their ideas into another channel.

CANADIANS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP. CANADIANS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP.

Philadelphia, July 22.—The world's champion Vesper eight-oared shell crew, of this city, which has carried the colors of its club to many a victory, went down to defeat on Saturday before the strong Argonaut crew, of Toronto, Ont., in the last day of the annual regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen. Not only was this crew whipped by the Canadians, but the eight men of the Winnipeg Rowing Club also flashed past the champions and beat them out at the finish. It was the first defeat for the Vesper eight since the crew was gotten together. With the exception of two men the Vesper crew was the same as the Vesper eight since the crew was gotten together. With the exception of two men the Vesper crew was the same as that which wrested the victory from the world's carsmen at Paris last year. The Argonauts' time for the mile and a half was 7:49, just 10 seconds slower than the time made by the Vespers over the same course in a race last year. Winnipeg's time was 7:55%, and the Vespers' 7:56. Hetween 30,000 and 50,000 people saw the races. The dual contest for the championship of the United States in the singles was not as inspiring as hoped for, and the honor will remain with Ten Eyck for another year at least.

AMBIDEXTERITY

Should the Use of Both Hands Be Encouraged ?

[From American Medicine.]

The question should ambidexterity be encouraged is answered in the negative by a writer in the American Journal of Insanity, and upon the ground that, while coarse movements may be performed nearly as well by one-half of the body as by the other, accurate and expert movements require a higher organization of one-half of the brain than the other. Hence the more expert hand should be consciously still more and more specialized; making the ordinarily quiescent half of the brain assume control tends, it is said, to impairment of mental processes as well as inferiority of physiologic speed and dexterity. All of which we deny, both fact and theory being untrue. The writer has doubtless been misled by observation of the function of speech, which is single, and in execution requires the control of a single center. We have but one voice, but we have two hands which in many cases at different instants may be put in action with the same dexterity. Many surgeons can operate equally well with either hand; many artists paint with either hand, and we have seen men who could write as well with the one hand as with the other. The critic of ambidexterity may reply that this is impossible with synchronous movements, forgetting that in the musician, and especially in the pianist and organist there is the most marvelous expertness of both hands executing most complicated and entirely different functions, and at the same instant. The arguments against ambidexterity appear not only inconclusive, but are squarely contradicted by facts. Surely also they are against a desirable fredom of the mind. Without the musician's ambidexterity, life would be deprived of much charm. We should encourage "divided attention," and that large power of the mind over the body shown in the synchronous control of multiform activities.

A HEATED NARRATIVE.

The Toronto World says: Mr. Alexander Findlay, of London, was in Toronto before going home from the Masonic gathering at Hamilton. He says it was so hot in the Ambitious City on Wednesday that a horse fell down on James street and melted away. All that was left as evidence of the tra-gedy was a pool of grease and the horseshoes, which, by the way, were

THE TALBOT STREET PAVE

MENT. It appears to me a great pity, writes a correspondent, that in this otherwise beautiful city of ours, the roadways of some of our main arteries and most desirable residence streets, should be in such a deplorable condition. Take Talbot street, for instance. It is one of the most generally used thorough-fares from the country into the city, and its present condition, from Oxford street to Carling street, is simply abominable. I understand that a pe-tition is about to be circulated among tition is about to be circulated among the residents of Talbot street, to have it macadamized, and it is to be hoped for their own sakes, as well as for the general good, that they will sign it liberally. Nothing enhances the value of city property more than good roads and sidewalks, and the residents of Talbot street will be amply repaid for the small additional taxation entailed by macadamizing.

Y M. C. A. DIRECTORS.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held Saturday. Among a number of communications that were received were those from the officers of the various regiments who had camped on Carling's Heights this year, thanking the association for the work that that body had done. Mr. C. E. German resigned as a member of the board, owing to press of other duties. His resignation was received with deep regret. A resolution of thanks was re-ceived from Mrs. Boomer on behalf of the National Council of Women. The membership committee are entering upon a vigorous campaign, and it is expected that a considerable increase will be shown over last year. It has been decided to lay special stress upon the swimming and bathing facilities at the disposal of members. The entertaining committee reported pro-gress, and a report of the work done by the association during the late camp was read. The finance commit-tee reported a need of funds to meet current expenses.
