New York, Oct. 16 .- The formal anuncement that the coal miners' presdent had agreed to submit their diffiulties with the coal operators to the board of arbitration appointed by President Roosevelt removed any lingering doubts which existed in Wall street about a satisfactory solution of the controversy. London created a strong and active market for American securities, and supplemented with some large buying orders here. Prices opened with a rush upward and huge blocks of stocks were bought at rising prices. The opening in the coalers was wide, and 6,000 shares of Pennsylvania were purchased on a fractional spread. JAMES H. McGREGOR.

James H. McGregor, chairman of the committee of No. 10, Westminster, was next called. The committee had met four times at his house. Dr. Routledge was not at any of the meetings. The other members of the committee were Wm. Wallace, A. C. Johnston and Thos. Baty. Witness had himself distributed the cards entitling those men to be delegates to the convention. Witness swore that he did not ask John McArthur to come to the convention. Witness had seen him but once since the filing of the petition. Witness had not asked McArthur if he was at the convention. Wm. Wallace, of Tambling's Corners, Ridout street, was next called. Witness had seen James McGregor and John McArthur in a buggy in front of his house a few days before election. They drove up together, and one of them asked witness how election was coming on. Witness answered "Election is all right." Witness saw McArthur at the polls on election day. To Mr. Aylesworth the witness said he was standing at his store door when McArthur and McGregor drove by and asked him the question. Judge Falconbridge commented strongly on the delay experienced in the calling of witnesses. "This is very interesting, waiting for these witnesses." he remarked to counsel for a dozen witnesses in waiting."

Mr. Aylsworth objected that it would be unfair and absurd to have all these telegrams read, as many of them would have no connection whatever with the charges in the petition, or even with the election in question.

Mr. Furness also formally objected to making public the telegrams sent by the company without being specifically ordered to do so by the bench. In this objection he was sustained by the judges. It was agreed that Mr. Furness and the leading counsel should go over the telegrams during the noon adjournment, and select the telegrams bearing upon the trial.

HY WICKERSON.

Mr. Hy Wickerson, chairman of No. 5 division of Westminster, said he had seen John McArthur at a committee meeting in Byron. McArthur came in after the business of the meeting was over. McArthur had not spoken to witness on election matters that night. Mr. Meredith, after considerable questioning, elicited the information that witness had received a letter from McArthur a day or two before the election. Pressed to reveal the con-tents of the letter, Mr. Wickerson answered that he had asked McArthur to come to a barn raising, and McArthur had written that he could not come. The answer provoked a ripple of laughter throughout the court-room. "Why did you hedge so much about the question?" asked Mr. Meredith

"The witness has not been hedging," interposed Mr. Justice Maclennan. "He has been answering properly all the fair questions put to him.'

"As deputy-returning officer of your division, how did you indorse the ballots?" was Mr. Meredith's last ques-

Witness was not assigned to canvass any voters. Witness was not in attendance at the convention.

Witness did some canvassing during the election. He did not see a voter named Clack, but he saw Mrs. Clack.

Mr. Aylesworth had no questions to put to the witness.
Edgar French, of Dorchester, was next called. He swore he had seen John Bell a day or two previous to the election and again on the day of the polling. Bell came to tell French that he was wanted to act as constable on election day.

There was no more urging of his supporters to work hard than was indicated in the newspaper report. Outside of the committee meetings, which were not secret, there were no public meetings throughout the riding. Dr. Routledge said he had gone about the riding and had done some canvassing. Dr. Routledge said that at the convention he had seen several men present whom he thought to be on the opposite side of politics. Frederic Hunter, son of Liveryman Hunter, was next called to the stand. He read out some indistinct entries in the day book, which he interpreted as follows:

The last-named vehicle had been obtained by a stranger who said he wanted it for Mr. McGregor. The bill for this rig was included in cure itself, and Nature, alone, unaided, the statement rendered to Mr. Vining, but he would not pay for it, as it had not been obtained for Dr. Routledge. the Premier.

SHOOK FIST IN BALFOUR'S FACE

The Offender Suspended - Others Make Violent Speeches - Education Bill Discussed.

London, Oct. 16.-Parliament was reopened today without any of the usual formalities. The House proceeded immediately to business as soon as the speaker took the chair, shortly after 2 p.m. The session is likely to last until nearly Christmas. Owing to the highly controversial character of the education bill and unbending determination of each the session promises to be the mos ous party struggle in the House of Commons since the last Liberal Government retired from office. Seven hundred and fifty amendments to the education bill await consideration, of which number 588 have been proposed by the Liberals.

TURBULENCE. The sitting opened with a turbulent debate. Premier Balfour moved that the remainder of the session be entirely devoted to Government business, which, he explained would consist mainly of the discussion of the education and London water bills, while the Indian budget the Uganda Railway, sugar bounties and the supply vote would enable the procedure to be carried out.

The Transvaal, he added, would also require attention. James Bryce, leading the Liberals in the absence of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, mildly protested, and then Patrick O'Brien, one of the Irish members, asked that at least a day between now and Christmas be devoted to discussion of the serious state of affairs in Ireland. Mr. Balfour replied that if the request for such an opportunity came from the Liberal leaders the Government would grant it, but they could not notice it from the Irish party.

HOT TALK. William O'Brien thereupon made an impassioned speech, warning the House that Ireland was on the verge of revolt. The constitution, he said, was practically suspended, and now the members were gagged in the only Parliament they had. Throughout Mr. O'Brien's remarks

Mr. Lloyd-George, backed up by Irish members, and T. P. O'Connor increased the excitement by bitterly upbraiding Mr. Balfour for declaring that Irish matters must only be discussed by favor of the English Liberals. by favor of the English Liberals.

Only after a heated colloquy with the speaker was Mr. O'Connor prevented from voicing abuse of Mr.

The debate was then closed by a vote of 263 to 143.

The House then went into committee on the education bill.

John O'Donnell, M.P., Defied Wyndham and a description of the alarming state of Ireland, which the other Nationalist members had not touched on.

During the afternoon the speaker's ruling raised renewed clamor from the Irish benches. Members of the House of Lords, as spectators, crowded into the House of Commons, in expectation of a scene, for the threats from the Irish benches became more and more demonstrative. The climax came unexpectedly.

AS A UGANDAN. In a speech which on all sides was characterized as one of the finest satires ever heard in the House of Commons, Mr. Healy, always as a "Ugandan," thanked the Premier for his consideration which enabled the Imperial Parliament to devote time to the discussion of native affairs. He complimented Mr. Balfour on being able to sufficiently detach himself so as to be obvious of the vital disturbances prevailing "in that distant and distressful country, Ireland." In this vein, which irresistibly held the attention of the House, and which caused Mr. Balfour himself amusement, Mr. Healy completed what a Unionist member defined as one of the "finest satirical indictments the Government had ever

Ultimately Mr. Balfour moved the closure, and the uproar broke out again with renewed vigor. John O'Donnell stood up and refused to give way to the speaker. His fellow Nationalists shouted encouragement and cheered vigorously. The

Mr. Balfour smiled quietly as the the Irish members kept up a perfect storm of applause. Detroit, Oct. 16 .- The Union Trust Company, as receiver for the City Savings Bank, was today granted permission by Judge Donovan to declare a divident of 20 per cent. to the sevings depositors of that bank, as first payment. The Union Trust Company was appointed receiver Feb. 12 last. so that six months has elapsed since day next, the 20th inst. the affairs of the wrecked bank were placed in its hands. The petition filed incidentally shows what a threatening cloud of litigation still shrouds management of the funds of the bank, making it necessary for vast sums to be held back by the receiver, that otherwise could be at once distributed to the depositors, in order that the claims of possibly preferred creditors may be duly met.

Should this appraised value be realized eventually from these assets, it is obvious that the savings depositors will receive a second dividend of almost 30 per cent., making their total receipts nearly 50 per cent. Besides this the savings depositors will participate on equal terms in any dividends hereafter declared on behalf of the commercial depositors. The Union Trust Company is unable at this time to declare a dividend to the commercial depositors of the City Savings Bank, and the reasons therefor are significant. The receiver shows that it has collected as of Oct. 11, 1902, from the assets of the commercial department of the bank, and has on hand, the sum of $941,680 75. Against this total there are the claims of certain creditors for payment in board of education for $481,431 40, library commission for $38,551 60,

Wayne county clerk for $38,551 60, Wayne $38,551 60, First National Bank for $272,937 50, and State Savings Bank for $60,000-aggregating $871,253 91. The receiver denies in each case the right of these claim-

TRIPLE MURDER IN ISABELLA, MICH.

Farmer Kills His Babe and the Parents of His Wife.

Gray-Haired Man Convicted of Murder Committed Thirty-Three Years Ago.

Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Oct. 16.-The bloodiest tragedy ever recorded in the history of Isabella County took place on the farm of Joseph Gulick, five miles west of this city, this morning. Archie Woodin, in a fit of jealous rage, killed his father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gulick, his own 1-year-old child, and attempted to kill himself.

Some time ago Woodin and his wife had some words and he struck her. She at once left him and went to the home of her parents. Previous to this she had threatened to leave him and go to work.

This morning Woodin went to the home of his wife's parents with the intention of taking her or the child away, and got into an altercation with old man. He accused Gulick of inducing his wife to leave him, and hot words followed. Woodin is then supposed to have shot his father-inlaw. In his frenzy he attacked Mrs. Gulick with a knife, cutting her throat killing his babe and attempting to take

A Great Lesson.

The coal strike, in area of disturbance, and in magnitude of forces engaged, has been the greatest battle the world of industry has known. It has ended in the only way it could end, unless the coal operators were insane enough to risk virtual confiscation. Technically, it is a victory for the strikers, who have gained their point-arbitration. The operators have added to their own discomfiture through their fatuous policy of trying to keep up an appearance of firmness till the last moment by a display of insolence and arrogance which did not respect even the head of the nation, and repelled many conservative people who were not inclined toward the strikers. In generalship the coal magnates had a great deal to learn from the despised Mitchell, whom they flouted as "the chief of the anarchists."

If the operators had had to reckon only with the union, the results might have been different. They had to reckon with public opinion, a force greater than organized capital or organized labor. People did not stop to weigh the merits of the dispute. They felt the pinch of a fuel famine, they saw misery and suffering ahead, and the full weight of their anger and distress fell on the handful of men, who held a monopoly of a necessary of life. What would have happened during the winter, if no relief had come, is not a pleasant subject for contemplation. In the great cities there might have been something approaching civil war. But if relief had not come in its present form it must have come a later in the form of Government intervention, even if the constitution were wrenched by the process.

Good comes out of evil; the strike the American people much searching of heart. They have seen their President insulted and defied by the heads of the coal trust, his good offices spurned, and his impotence to deal compulsorily with such a crisis, exposed to the world. Is the public to be crushed between the upper millstone of organized capital and the nether millstone of organized labor? This is a question which the American people are pondering, and for which they are trying to find an answer. The doctrine of public ownership of natural monopolies (among which the anthracite coal deposits of the United States, by reason of their contiguity, may fairly be classed), has received a great impetus from this strike. The Democratic party of New York State made it a plank in their platform. But the theory will probably be first worked out in the municipal sphere before it is attempted on a larger scale. The proposed solution which stands out most prominently, and to which thoughtful minds are now turning, is compulsory arbitration. With the growth of trusts on the one hand and trade unions on the other, great masses of capital and great masses of labor are thrown into collision, so that labor disputes, which were limited in their effects when industry was in the hands of smaller capitalists, tend to be waged on an ever-increasing scale, and one strike, as we have just seen, may convulse the whole nation and spread distress over millions of people. While labor and capital fight it out, must the public sit still and suffer, because of abstractions about freedom of contract and rights of property? The first remedial step will probably be an amendment to the constitution of the Unied States, empowering Congress, as the organ of the public will, to interfere in any situation which threatens the public welfare, whether it be to regulate the great trusts, or compel capital and labor to call a truce, and submit their differences to an impartial tribunal, with authority to enforce its decisions. The logical result would be the incorporation of the great labor unions, so that they might be held responsible by the law for fulfillment of contracts imposed upon them by the decree of the arbitrators.

Mr. Borden in the West.

Mr. Borden, the Conservative leader, made the principal speech of his western tour at Winnipeg Tuesday night. There was much curiosity as to what he would say on the tariff question, in the capital of the province which the stronghold of low tariff sentiment. Mr. Borden handled the subject in a very gingerly fashion. He declared the policy of the Conservative party to be "adequate protection for all legitimate industries in Canada." He took care not to stray from this generality into particulars. He did not attempt to define what degree of protection he considered "adequate." Did he echo the cry of the eastern wing of his party for an increase in the tariff? Not one word did he utter that could be construed into an argument for scaling up the duties. He trade, putting the label of the Liberal party on a man of straw and knocking him down. "I want to point out," he mean that we might destroy our home industries, and very materially benefit the industries of the great republic to binds them to us with sentiments of was also very evident in the church. the south." vocating the throwing down of these tariff barriers, there would be some logic in Mr. Borden's line of attack. "At the same time," Mr. Borden continued, "we would have no guarantee, The Leading Medium for Advertisers and indeed there would be little probability, that manufactured articles would be sold any cheaper than at present." Yet the agitation for an increase of the tariff, to which the Conservative party is committed, is based on the pretext that the American trusts will dump their surplus production on the Canadian market and un. dersell the home manufacturer, unless the tariff wall is raised. Mr. Borden realizes that the people of the West will oppose any policy which will increase the price of what they have to buy. He has not courage to stand before a western audience and assert, as his eastern supporters are doing, that the tariff should be raised, in order that the eastern manufacturers may take heavier toll of western consumers. The West will not have the wool pulled over its eyes by political platitudes.

Whom Arno shall remember long,
How stern of lineament, how grim,
The father was of Tuscan song!
There but the burning sense of wrong,
Perpetual care and scorn, abide;
Small friendship for the lordly throng;
Distrust of all the world beside. The lips as Cumae's cavern close,
The cheeks with fast and sorrow thin,
The rigid front, almost morose,
But for the patient hope within,
Declare a life whose course hath been Unsullied still, though still severe;
Which, through the wavering days of sin, Kept itself icy-chaste and clear.

Faithful if this wan image be,
No dream his life was, but a fight;
Could any Beatrice ever see
A lover in that anchorite?
To that cold Ghibeline's gloomy sight
Who could have guessed the visions Of beauty, veiled with heavenly light, In circles of eternal flame?

Peace dwells not here—this rugged face
Betrays no spirit of repose;
The sullen warrior sole we trace,
The marble man of many woes.
Such was his mien when first arc se
The thought of that strange tale divine,
When hell he peopled with his foes,
The scourge of many a guilty line.

It was for this reason that instead of reminding them of material good, he had invited his brethren representing other churches to come and tell them in what lines their denominations had been moving forward during the past year. He rejoiced that it was possible for them all to join in a common thanksgiving for each other's progress and to rejoice in each other's success.

PROGRESS IN CONGREGATIONAL

CHURCH. Rev. D. S. Hamilton, in speaking for the Congregational Church, said that although his church in Canada was small among the tribes of Israel, yet they could tell of blessings enjoyed and some progress made. Progress had been particultarly marked on the lines of a broader sympathy with other churches and a revival of interest in foreign mission work. He referred to the settlement of the coal strike, and said that it was a sign of the times that on the committee of arbitration a representative of the Church of Christ should have a seat. His church had believed in taking a deep interest in social questions and never more fully than at the present, when these questions were so prominent.

Rev. Prof. Burgess was introduced Dr. Johnston as a former teacher of his own. Speaking for the Episcopal Church, the professor, in graceful sentences and in a manner that held the closest attention of the large audience, briefly reviewed the features of progress which he had noticed during the past year. First there was a very DISTINCT REVIVAL OF INTEREST in the church on the part of the young The church was worthy of people. their loyalty and was happy in pos-sessing it. HOME MISSION PROBLEM. The marvelous opportunities opening to the church in a land capable of supporting a population of 50,000,000 appealed to the church, as did also the dangers threatening - the Mormon danger, the Chinese danger, the fordanger arising from conditions in a land where wealth was rapidly accumulated and where a materialistic spirit threatened to submerge higher and better things.

Progress in other lines would come to the church, he had faith to believe, but for the present he was glad that in some measure at least the church was aroused to recognize that now was the time to do what might be done to possess our land for Christ. He could not fail to note that while they prayed and worked for union among the churches blessing had come even from the existing divisions, for it was evident that the different denominations had been pressing forward in different lines of activity, and thus God had overruled existing conditions for good.

During the evening the choir rendered an anthem, the St. Andrew's Quartet sang "The Wayside Cross, and Miss Pickard and Mrs. Munroe sang solos. The closing hymn was Church's One Foundation Is Jesus Christ her Lord."

Skyscraper Men's Union.

Chicago, Oct. 16. - Managers of 80 skyscrapers and big power reducing plants and a committee from the real estate board failed last night to reach conclusions with representatives of the new steam power council. The council consists of engineers, firemen, elevator men, janitors, teamsters and other employes needed in the operation of great business and office buildings.

The demand for a fixed scale of wages and an eight-hour day is made by the engineers and firemen of the power producing plants. For engineers a scale of 37½ cents an hour is demanded, with 12 cents for overtime. The firemen demanded 25 cents an hour and overtime. The managers say they propose to treat unionists and non-unionists alike, but members of the union say that buildings which refused to recognize their demands will find it impossible to remain open

ANGLOPHOBIA IN BAVARIA. A Vienna correspondent says that among the most bitter and active enemies of Great Britain during the South African war were the ultramontain clericals, and that in Bavaria, where they are rampant, Anglophobia still rages. One of the present objects of the clericals, according to the correspondent, is to excite public feeling all over the continent against England and the United States. They are perhaps more to be feared, continues this authority, than the Pan-German, because the latter work in broad daylight, while the influence of ultramontainism is not so easy to detect, owing to the occult and stealthy methods of

Sir Frederick Darley, chief justice of February, 1902. COAL MINERS TO MEET IN CONVENTION AT WILKESBARRE ON MONDAY NIGHT

(Continued from page 1.) trict board members are instructed to have all credentials in the hands of the credential committee Sunday afternoon. It is recommended that delegates be given full power and authority to act in behalf of their local union. Respectfully submitted on behalf of the executive board of districts 1, 7 and 9.—(Signed), John Mitchell, president United Mine Workers of America; W. B. Wilson, secretary; George Hartlin, secretary of meetings." The executive board of the three districts, having thus unanimously decided to recommend to the delegate convention the acceptance of the arbitration proposition submitted by the President of the United States, it is that the mining of coal will be resumed before the close of next week, after a suspension of more than five months. MAY START MONDAY.

If the plans of the strike leaders are not disarranged a general resumption of mining will take place about next Thursday. It is expected the convenwill be an interval of one day from the time the convention adjourns till the the mines. If the convention should able resumption would not take place until Friday. There will not be enough work at first for all the strikers, as it is the intention of the companies not to dismiss non-union men who have stood by them during the strike. The organization will take care of such other men as are unable to find work. It is estimated that all the strikers will not find work until two or three months have elapsed. This is due to the condition of the mines. Some of them are wholly or partially flooded and others need repairing. The coal companies, anticipating the ending of the strike next week, are busily engaged in preparing for resumption. Thousands of coal cars are in the regions ready for loading, and them in the large distributing centers C once mining is resumed. It is esti-mated that more than 200 of the 350 end of next week, and will produce enough coal to relieve the situation. One of the district presidents said: "The strike is as good as called off already. The convention will accept Mr. Mitchell's recommendations, and will call off the strike." President Mitchell was in conference after 3 o'clock with National Secretary Wilson and District Presidents Nicholis and Fahey regarding the reeipts of President Rocsevelt's message giving the names of the arbitration commission. Mr. Mitchell was asked: "Is it time now to offer congratula-"If you think we deserve it." tions? he said, "and now I am going to bed."

GETTING READY TO START.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 16.-Greater activity was shown at the offices of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company today than at any time since the anthracite coal strike began, more than five months ago. It is evident that the company expects an early resumption of mining, and preparations were being made for placing cars at the mines at once. The Reading Company owns 23,000 coal cars. All of these will be shipped to the mining region with the utmost dispatch.
When the strike began nearly 5,000 car handlers were laid off, and these will be re-engaged as rapidy as possible. The company also has 30 barges at wharves in this city, with a capacity of 1,450 tons each. They are ready for immediate use. Their tugs which have been in use in the soft coal trade are being hurried back to this city President Baer, of the Reading Company, this morning said that he had ington conference; that he had not read the morning newspapers, and that he was too busy to read them. The greatest satisfaction is expressed in official circles at Washington over the success of the negotiations for the settlement of the strike. Mr. Mitchell was disposed to accept with- the Erie

It is understood that Bishop Snalding was the President's personal choice, and that this selection was par ticularly pleasing to Mr. Mitchell, who has the utmost confidence in him. READY TO SERVE.

New York, Oct. 71.-E. E. Clark, Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, who was appointed by President Roosevelt as a mem-ber of the coal strike arbitration commission, is in the city to attend a

London, Oct. 17.-The newspapers here express great satisfaction at the apparently favorable outcome of the coal strike in the United States for the sake of Great Britain as well as the United States. "SAVED ME FROM DEATH" A Toronto Contractor Says Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Worth Their Weight in Gold to a Sick Man. Toronto, Ont., Oct. 13.—Five or six years ago Mr. W. J. Keane, of 86 Lip-pincett street, this city, was an invalid confined to his bed with a severe case of Lame Back and Kidney Trouble. He

'A friend advised Dodd's Kidney Pills, but as I had used so many other medicines without any good results, I had little faith that anything would cure me. I had only used part of the first box, however, when I found that my condition was rapidly improving. I used altogether seven boxes and was completely cured. As this was over four years ago and the trouble has not returned in any form, I am now sure that my cure was a perfect and permanent one.

"I believe Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me from death. They are worth their weight in gold to a sick man."

TALES OF LONDON TOWN

-Mrs. George A. Spence left last evening to join her husband in Woodstock, where they will reside in future. -Next Sabbath will mark the sixth anniversary of Mr. Belcher's work at the York Street Mission Hall. He will preach a special sermon in the evening on the theme "Christ the God." --Mr. Walter Bartlett, of Bartlett & Ellis, is in Toronto, where he was summoned regarding the death of Godfrey B. Baird, an English traveler, who jumped from the Rossin House fifth story window on Thursday. Bartlett is one of the late Mr. Baird's oldest Canadian friends. -The New York Journal thus refers to Miss Olga McAlpine, daughter of the late Dr. McAlpine, and niece of Mr. M. J. Kent, of this city: Miss Olga McAlpine, the Canadian contralto, has been engaged as soloist at the Temple. corner Sixty-third and Lexington avenue. Miss McAlpine is also the contralto of Holy Trinity, Brooklyn.

MUNSON-HILL. Richard E. Munson, of Ekfrid township, and Miss Ida C. Hill, of Bradford, Ont., were married at the Dundas Center Methodist Church on the afternoon of Wednesday, Oct. 15. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. C. T. Scott.

FUNERAL OF MRS. MEADEN. OLD COUNTRY PRICES.
Lodon, Oct. 16.—Canadian cattle are unchanged, at 11½c to 13c per lb, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is 11c to 12c

The funeral of the late Mrs. Fannie Meaden, who died on Tuesday, took place this afternoon from her home, 569
Richmond street, to Mount Pleasant Richmond street, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. Rev. George Bishop, pastor of the First Methodist Church, con-acceptable holiday offering. The play hardly scores the unqualified success that fell to the lot of its predecessor, "The Prisoner of Zenda," but this is probably owing more to the novelty and originality of the idea having be come dulled than through any inherent fault of the play itself. The present company is in the main equal to the demands made upon it. Mr. Harry Leighton, who takes the double role of King Rudolf and Rudolf Rassendyl, gives a clever and commendable rendition of a trying part. Not the least valuable feature of his historic equipment is his voice which is well modulated and pleasingly clear, and over which he has such perfect control. It is noticed that Mr. Leighton dispenses with the wig required to make the King and his English cousin meet the popular conception of the "red Elphbergs." It is an omission like this that makes a play, founded on a book which has been so widely read, lose some of its satisfying quality for those who have perused the story. Mr. Cecil Owen in the title role did not realize the possibilities of the part, for he falled to portray the smooth, mocking deviltry of Count Rupert's villainy. Miss Ethel Barrington as Queen Flavia, was also woefully weak at times. George B. Miller was excellent as the faithful old soldier, Col. Sapt, and the minor roles were filled with acceptance.

Thos. Kelley's Female Minstrels at the London.

The first burlesque offering of the season was given at the London Opera House yesterday in Kelley's Female Minstrels, and if future attractions of the same kind are up to the standard set by this show, the patrons of the house will have no grounds for complaint. The show is bright funny and void of offense. The two burlettas proved to be highly amusing, while the olio is rather above the average. It includes Maud Thornton and Bessie York, two attractive girls in a fetching song and dance turn; Burkhart and Berry, in a sidesplitting "baby" act; Leno and Ridley, clever change artists; Miss Nellie Burgess, who possesses a remarkable baritone voice, and George W. Revere, in a good black face musical act. Mr. A. L. Salvail, who has appeared in this city several times before, and has many friends here, takes a prominent part in the show. The engagement will conclude with a performance tonight.

ANOTHER TREATING CHARGE. Charges 107, 108, 109 and 123, concerning alleged treating at Shain's hotel, Pottersburg, were then taken up.Judge Maclennan said that on account of the unnecessarily verbose language which the charges were clothed, he must ask counsel for the petitioners to save the court's time by setting forth in plain English the purport of the

Mr. Meredith explained that the first three charges concerned the supplying of liquor to voters at Shain's hotel, while the last charge covered the payment of money to Mr. Shain for the liquor dispensed.

Hiram Shain, proprietor of Shain's hotel and Shain's hall, at Pottersburg, was first called. He remembered the holding of several Reform committee meetings at his hall. One meeting was a larger one than the others. Dr. Routledge came to this meeting and treated just after he arrived.

Mr. Aylesworth objected to the further admission of evidence as to this occasion. The charges concerned an alleged offense which took place two weeks before the election, while the meeting spoken of by witness took place about six weeks before the election. The respondent, in his examination for discovery, in which he was asked more tran 2,000 questions, had fully described the occurrences of that meeting, yet counsel for the petitioners had deliberately refrained from including the case in the roll of particulars. They had, however, a few days before the opening trial given notice of amendment.

Mr. Cassells moved that the amendment, which had been postponed, be granted.

Mr. Justice Maclennan expressed himself as opposed to granting the amendment. Mr. Justice Falconbridge said that he was in favor of allowing the amend-ment, but as his learned brother did not concur, the application for amendment must be dismissed. Mr. Justice Maclennan said that in deference to the strong views of his colleague, he would yield the point and grant the application. The charges as amended, however, could not be proceeded with until counsel for the respondent had been given time to prepare his defense. Both judges commented strongly on the tendency of counsel to delay the progress of trials by applying for amendments, which could be avoided through care and proper presentation. IN DORCHESTER.

Witness was warned though that treating after that date would bring him within the election law. Witness could not say whether Mr. McEvoy had spoken before the night at Chittick's or not.

Mr. Vining had treated sometimes during the period of holding committee meetings. Questioned as to the finances. witness said that he had not received back the balance of the sum which he had turned over to Vining. Witness did not know where the money thus spent came from unless it was Mr. Vining's own. Witness had not given it to him.

Mr. Aylesworth objected that this was unnecessary, as all the moneys had been accounted for.

Witness when he treated always asked those in the bar to have something with him. Mr. Vining had not always treated; sometimes he did. John S. Cousins, ex-reeve of Westminster, was first called. Witness was not at the Charles Hotel meeting when Dr. Routledge was there. Witness' treat was just a general treat. He did not know who partook of his treat. There was no electioneering upon his part in the barroom. Witness could not say what his treat consisted of, whether drinks or cigars.

John Charles, called, said to Mr.Cassells that he did not remember how many were at the meeting. Mr. Cousins first spoke to witness about the meeting. Witness could not say who paid for the cigars. Witness had attended a committee meet-ing at Charles' hotel. Dr. Routledge was there. The voters' lists were gone over. Witness had not taken either drinks or cigars upon this occasion. He does not drink at all.

Duncan McCallum, called, said to Mr. Meredith that he was at the Charles' hotel meeting. While there, witness was handed a cigar. Witness did not notice by whom, nor did he know who paid for it. Charles was not in the room that night. There was no drinking whatever there that night. Witness did not go into the bar, and could not say that any of the committeemen went into it after meeting. Witness said no, he didn't. He said to witness that he was electioneering for the doctor. He said also that if there was anything going witness would get it.

He came to witness again the night before the election. They did not speak. He handed witness an envelope. He said that was for witness. Witness took it from the rig, where it had dropped. Bell asked witness could he come for him in the morning. Witness said no, he would go down and vote himself. He opened the envelope afterward and found $2 in it. This he put in his pocket. Witness kept the envelope and some time afterward gave it to Mr. Bartlett.

To Mr. Aylesworth witness said that he lived on a rented farm near Dorchester. Witness had been working by the day for Mr. McFarlane and Mr. McNeely before last Sunday.

Witness did not go home at night for two weeks, that was since the particulars were served. Witness had really done work for Mr. McFarlane. This was not the first time he had worked for him. Witness had got no pay yet from Mr. McFarlane for his last work. Witness had stayed seven nights or eight at McFarlane's; all of last week. Witness went home Sunday and returned to Mr. McFarlane's on Monday. Both he and McFarlane were on the the same side of politics. McFarlane's was a strong Conservative. The witness worked at Neely's

John Bell, witness said, is a farmer in the neighborhood. There were two days between the time he first went to witness and election day.

Bell came the second time in covered buggy. Bell said nothing—simply handed out an envelope. Witness recognized the envelope produced as the one he had received. He had put it in his pocket and left it there until he took it to give to Mr. Bart-

"I couldn't help it, dear." she said, apologizing for her apparent weakness; "I must give up a little, for it upsets me to think how near we came to losing you entirely, and just as George Washington and I had made up our minds to take real solid comfort with you."

Annie looked the wonder she felt at this enigmatical speech, but Miss Starkey said she must have some nourishment right away to restore her strength, and hastened out of the room to prepare it, and without giving the fair invalid an opportunity to ask her to explain what she had said.

She soon returned with a steaming bowl of beef tea and some delicately-browned toast, and sat watching with evident satisfaction while Annie disposed of the whole with unmistakable relish. "Why, I feel almost ag good as new, she said, as she passed the bowl back; "and you do make the most delicious beef tea."

It would sort of liven us up, perhaps, to have a bright young girl in the house, and make us forget, now and then, that we are getting so old; while we hoped, also, to make life a little easier for you. We knew, of course, it couldn't last very long when we found out you were going to marry young Waldemar; but we'd be thankful for a little, and then I did feel kind of chipper that we could help to settle you nicely, and give you a good, sensible outfit when you were married.

"Now you know all about it, child. We had planned to tell you the story last night, but, of course, we forgot everything else when you were in such danger. You have wedged yourself into our old hearts since we have been here, and we long to have you love us a little bit; for we are two lonely old folks. The woman, in her eagerness, fell upon her knees beside the bed, leaning toward the lovely girl lying there, the tears rolling over her wrinkled face, and a pathetic heart-hunger looking forth from rolling over her wrinkled face, and a pathetic heart-hunger looking forth from her eyes.

Annie had been weeping quietly for some time. The story had been told in plain, homely terms, but it had touched her very soul. She could imagine something of what this strong, true woman must have suffered in those years so long ago, when she had given her love and all the best of her nature to the silent idelatry of a man who was so

Annie put up her disengaged hand and drew that earnest, wistful old face down to hers, and kissed her upon the lips.

McCLARY BASEBALL TEAM WON CITY CHAMPIONSHIP

Defeated Londons in a Double-Header at Tecumseh Park Yesterday.

The McClary baseball organization are champions of the city for 1902. They won both games at Tecumseh Park yesterday and thereby practically won the coveted championship. Gate receipts were light in the morning, and had London won the morning game there would have been no game to play in the afternoon.

The morning game which was won by a score of 8 to 7, started well for London. Stein was hit by the pitcher, but was caught at second. Sippi, on errors, got to second and was followed to second by Ashplant, the two of them being brought in by Bell's drive

The McClarys made their first runs in the third, when after two men were out, Gibson and Delaney got to bases on an error and a hit by pitcher. Each stole a base and came in on Peacock's Carroll made a pretty double in the seventh, Wanless fanned and Sheere put a nice little drive, good for a base, into the right pasture. Jackson made a balk, after which a little drive by Sippi to left brought Carroll and Sheere across the rubber.

The afternoon game was actually a repetition of that of the morning, Mc-Clarvs stretching out in one inning. when least expected, and running up the tally in a monotonous manner. London made two runs in the first and third, but did not score afterwards. McClarys scored first in the sixth inning, their vigorous tally good for seven runs being made in the seventh. As in the morning, a few errors on their own part and a few hits on their opponents', seemed to throw the Londons out of working order. They worked hard to redeem themselves. however, but failed. ATHLETICS.

Watched Match-Toronto II. Are Next.

The Londons did exactly what was expected of them vesterday, winning the Argonaut game by a score of 6 to The game on Carling's Heights showed that the local team is the strongest and best, and that the confidence felt here in them was not wrongly placed. The Argonauts were not as strong as when they played London in Toronto, while London, on the other hand, was considerably stronger. They went into the game feeling thoroughly sure that they would win, and the same idea was entertained by all who knew the composition of the two teams.

The improved condition and better playing of the home team, as compared with that shown at the Toronto 11. game, was very excellent. Hardly any time was lost by accidents. As a matter of fact, while the game was principally a test of strength and endurance, there was extremely little rough play on either side. The work of the referee, S. C. Mullins, of Toronto, and of the umpire, Mr. McLaren, also of Toronto, was very fair and satisfactory. The game was attended by a large crowd, eleven or twelve hundred peopaced a mile on the Davenport mile It was clear from the first that the track today in 2:01. Time by quart- Argonauts were badly up against it. London's scrimmage and wings were both stronger than theirs, which meant a big advantage in a game such as this was, when there was comparatively little open play. The Toronto men played heroically, but they could not get results. Their stubborn fight in the second half prevented London from increasing the score, but it did very little for themselves.

It was fortunate that London scored their six points in the first half. Magnificent work was done in the first by the two new-comers, Meredith and Bice. They, however, were not in condition, and were not able to keep up the same fast gait they set in early part of the game. Their work was the feature of the game, theirs and to do when they get into trim. The team work altogetner was admirable, and as usual, Jack McNee, in particular, distinguished himself. He engineered a number of successful moves, which Forneri cleverly assisted him in carrying out.

Two chances which might not occur again in a lifetime gave the Argonauts and official acts to bring about their two points. In the ordinary settlement of the controversy. He course of events they would have been | said: shut out completely. They were lucky enough quite towards the close of the second half to get two free kicks | dent in the coal strike, but I say to each from the 25 yards line, and were you that it is too late to complain able to force rouges. Just at this time it had looked serious for London, as play had been dangerously close to goal territory. In several instances good work on the part of Stirling and Little prevented Toronto scoring.

The teams were: London-Full back, Stirling; quarter, McKay; halves, Mc-Nee (center), Little (right), Forneri (left); wings, Meredith, Kerrigan and Fields (right), A. Bice, Black, Regan and Sippi (left), and Taylor, Lucas and G. Bice, scrimmage. Argonauts—Ridout, Bomwell, Dudley, Ryan, Heimber, McIntyre, McNichol, Duggan, Kent. game as they were yesterday. They weeks, and some good practice should | Hatteras. be got in in the meantime. There is no doubt that London has the strongest team this year that it ever had. The teams they are playing are stronger, better and more experienced. The Argonauts are a sample. The teams which London has beaten this year could easily defeat the teams that were the championship possibilities of a year or two ago. The result vesterday inspired the people here with the belief that the London team of this year is going to repeat the successes of the past.

It should be remembered that the London juniors are to play at Carling's Heights with Petrolea tomorrow afternoon. The game will start at 3:30, and promises to be very interesting. The younger players should be

Sippi's. They put up a splendid game encouraged by a big attendance. FRANK M'VEAN L. C. I. STUDENTS 'CROSS COUNTRY

U. S. Secretary of the Navy Says Labor Has Right to Organize.

Kansas City, Oct. 17. — Secretary of the Navy Moody, addressing a big Republican meeting in Kansas City, Kansas, said the President's appeal to the strikers and coal operators was made in the name of humanity and the great people he represented. He disclaimed all "The coal operators apparently have resented the interference of the Presiof the organizaion of labor. Organized labor, like organized capital, is here to stay, and the administration of President Roosevelt stands for or-ganized labor. We believe that the voices of both organizations must listened to, and both must work for public welfare, and they must yield obedience to the laws of the land." Moody declared that if the President had sent federal troops into the anthracite field he would have been subject to impeachment.

On Wednesday, Oct. 15, at half-past one o'clock, the marriage of Miss Charlotte Beatrice, youngest daughter of Mrs. T. Rowe, to Mr. Sherman A. Dempster, of Ridgetown, took place at the home of the bride's brother-inlaw, Mr. T. P. Weekes, of Mount Brydges. The bride was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Weekes. Miss Rowe was married in a very dainty gown of white Louisienne silk, trimmed with white applique and lace. She wore a tulle veil, caught up by a spray of orange blossoms, sent her by her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. J. Rowe, of Santa Monica, Cal. Her bouquet was a sheaf of white bridal roses. Miss Elvie Currie, of Strathroy, was bridesmaid. She was prettily attired in white muslin, with trimmings of moire and Battenburg lace, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Little Beatrice who wore a white silk dress, trimmed with lace, made a pretty flower girl. The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Robert M. Campbell, of Ridgetown. Master Gordon Weekes acted as page and carried the ring on

Two Would-Be-Suicides Consoled Each

[Detroit News.]

Side by side in the Emergency Hospital two women would-be suicides lay companions in woe. One a resident of the east side, the other of the west, both perfect strangers to each other, moved by the same impulse—jealousy of their husbands—they attempted self-destruction by taking carbolic acid, and on the same night, only a few hours apart, were brought in by the ambulance. At the hospital they are known as Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Adams, but more

"You shouldn't allow yourself to get so jealous," said Mrs. Smith. "And you shouldn't take it so much to heart if your husband happens to look at a pretty woman," said the other.

"But she wasn't pretty," said Mrs. Smith. "She wasn't nearly as goodlooking as I am." Thus they condoled with each other and after a few such conversations had agreed that what they had done was very foolish; that there esult was the choice of Elder How- a man top of the earth worth com-

The two women, thus so strangely brought together by fate, separated at the door of the institution, each pledging the other her word never again to attempt self-destruction.

THINKING MADE EASY There Is a Way.

"I asked husband to get some Grape-Nuts, the ready-cooked food. He brought them at noon, and I served a dish for dinner, for I thought what was good for breakfast was good for any other meal. Well, do you know, we did not eat half so hearty of the meat, potatoes, etc., after eating the Grape-Nuts. It filled that vacancy which the regular fare did not. "The 'newspaper puffs,' as I used to call them (I know better now), are not one bit too strong-are not strong enough, for steadier nerves, better complexion, increased endurance and a renewed reserve of strength are now mine, and I cannot be too thankful. I can walk five miles without one-half as much loss of strength as when I formerly walked one.

"If, in cleaning house and numerous other back-breaking toils, we wo-men must do, we would all prepare a dish of Grape-Nuts instead of the oldtime 'cup of tea to brace up on,' one would soon see the difference.

"I have found, since using Grape-Nuts, that mental occupations, which months ago were taxing and fa-tiguing, are now real pleasures. I can

The stage production is conceded to be the most elaborate ever seen, and one that I am justly proud of. So phenomenal has Gregory, who were kept busy looking been the success of both organization and production I shall after playing Toronto and Montreal, go immediately to Boston for a 10-weeks' engagement, to be followed by an indefinite run in New York, indications of which point to not less than two years. London and Hamilton are the only one night stands booked. The outlay attending an enterprise of this magnitude (consisting of 100 singers and players and 100 auxiliaries) with expenses incurred visiting smaller cities necessarily demand an attendance of the theater's capacity, to cover simply operating expenses, the future certainty of my other metropolitan productions coming to your city will in a measure depend upon what the returns of this engagement will register on the index next Monday evening. For I certainly could give you nothing stronger, grander or so musically charming. Company will arrive in three special

$5,000,000 MEAT TRUST

The Chicago Restaurants Plan a Unique Combine.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Chicago is to have a restaurant trust, capitalized at $5,-000,000, if the plans of certain promoters are carried out. All the large restaurants of the city, it is contemplated, are to be drawn under one contral management, the head of each establishment, however, to retain the direction of his own place.

A large grocery house, bakeries, a central meat market and storage warehouse from which all the cafes will draw their supplies at wholesale prices is one feature of the combination scheme. In this way, it is held, a saving of from 5 to 20 per cent can be made direct on the $1,200,000 that seven of the leading restaurants of the city expend annually for supplies.

The active promoter of the scheme
