"Dear Sir,—On behalf of certain property-owners on Carling street, we are instructed to notify you that the city bylaw relating to driving on sidewalks is being daily, almost hourly, broken opposite the premises of John Garvey, A. Screaton, M. Masuret & Co. and D. S. Perrin & Co., and perhaps other places on Carling street. It appears to our clients and to us that the matter of the enforcement of the city bylaw is scarcely one within the discretion of the police department, but that it is your duty as chief of police to see that no discrimination is practiced against or in favor of particular citizens. Any such discrimination is fatal to the confidence of the public in the administration of justice; and on behalf of our clients we have to request you to do your duty in the matter. Building Permits Will Increase.

There will be a large increase in the number of building permits issued this year, owing to the new regulations. It is necessary now to take out permits for every sort of building, and as a result City Engineer Graydon can keep tab on every building erected in the city.

This morning six permits were taken out, as follows: By Mr. Thomas Copp, for a two-story brick residence on Beaconsfield avenue; Charles Bricklin, for a story and a half brick veneer on Regent street; A. Patterson, for a two-story brick veneer dwelling on Calborne street; Mrs. Lillie V. Chalecraft, for a one-story brick veneer cottage on Colborne street north; and S. H. Foxworthy, for a story and a half brick dwelling on Colborne street.

The men arrested in the alleged blackmail case were Jacob Marion and him in a lawyer's office in the city Joseph Rankin. Their plan, according some time previously, and as to whe- to Marion's story to the police, was to ther anyone had accompanied him to "gather information" about young Stein, and then to demand $50,000 of cumstances Piott seemed very much at the young man's father on pain of having scandalous stories spread. It is said a loud-voiced quarrel among the men on the street, accusing the other of attempting to cheat, brought about a revelation of the conspiracy.

Young Stein's suicide came as an unexpected sequel to the arrests. He is said to have been profoundly depressed by the attempt to extort money from his father. He left letters to his parents and mailed another to an undertaker. When the latter read it this morning he telephoned the hotel, sayliable as he was. There were no names mentioned, and he told us to go home corpse would be found in Stein's room. The discovery of the body followed.

T. R. AND THE FARMER

Tells Them Must Keep Water Power From the Monopolist.

Washington, Nov. 12. - President Roosevelt today received at the White House about 500 farmers and their wives, who are here attending the convention of the National Grange, Patrons of Husbandry. The President refrained from making a speech, but as the sturdy tillers of the soil were each introduced he gave his heartiest handclasp and a cheery greeting. After "Did you get any furniture from him the reception the President remarked that seldom had he seen such prosperous-looking farmers.

The founder of the Stanfield mills did more than anyone else to develop the wool industry throughout the Maritime Provinces. For half a century, the farmers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island have saved their best wool for the Stanfields-first for C. E. Stanfield-and now for his sons, John and Frank, the President and Treasurer of Stanfields Limited.

The wear of a garment depends on the quality of wool from which it is made. Underwear may be PURE WOOL, and ALL WOOL-and still shrink, ravel and wear out in a single season. Because the underwear is not made of good wool in the first place.

There are seven grades of wool in the fleece when clipped from Nova Scotia sheep. Only the first three grades of this best wool are used in making Stanfield's Unshrinkable Underwear for men and women. There are no weak spots in the fibre to break in the garments.

There can be no unraveling, because every stitch is locked. Garments can't shrink, because of our perfected process of treating the wool BEFORE garments are

ANSWER TO CRACKERS AND CHEESE PUZZLE PRINTED THURSDAY

Louis said the cheese weighed ten pounds and the balance board five pounds. Four-fifths of the board, and therefore, four pounds of its weight, was on one side of the balance point. Let us assume that the beam was five feet in length. Then at the point two feet from the fulcrum (the average distance) would be a weight pressure of four pounds, this being equivalent to a two-pound pressure at the extreme end. A two-pound weight at the four-foot arm of a five-foot lever would raise eight pounds on the short arm. The cheese weighed ten pounds, and there was already a halfpound pressure on the short arm, making a total of ten and one-half pounds, which would require two and five-eighths pounds' pressure on the long arm to effect a balance. Therefore the crackers must have weighed five-eighths of a pound.

Surprise Sprung at the Marine Inquiry, and Mr. Gregory's Counsel Protests.

Quebec, Nov. 12 .- Mr. Watson had a surprise for the spectators in court this afternoon when he asked Agent J. U. Gregory to take the witness stand. It had been presumed that it would be left to Gregory to choose whether he would give evidence or not.

When Mr. Witson called him, Gregory talked hurriedly with Senator Choquette, who objected to having his client examined before all the evidence

"It does not deprive you of the privilege of calling him later," remarked Judge Cassels.

The agent was accordingly sworn. "You have been an officer of the department for a long time," remarked Mr. Watson.

"Since confederation," assented Gregory, who was officially appointed agent in 1869.

His salary has been the same for 23 years namely $2,200. "In the year 1904 from what firms and persons with whom the department was dealing did you receive compensation?" Senator Choquette objected to the question, explaining that his client could not be expected to give a complete answer when thus taken by surprise. He asked that Mr. Gregory be excused until tomorrow morning, and hinted about the danger to Mr. Gregory of criminal proceedings. No Criminal Proceedings.

"Criminal proceedings have not entered my mind so far," said the judge. "I do not mean criminal proceedings exactly," said Senator Choquette, "but I don't know what may happen." "If the evidence is straightforward It is not likely to result in criminal proceedings," answered his lordship, vuggestively.

He intimated that criminal proceedings lay with the Attorney-General.

Have No Authority. "We have no instructions," supplemented Mr. Watson, "beyond the execution of this commission. My learned friend and I take the view that we are so limited." It was finally agreed to excuse Mr. Gregory until morning, and in the meantime Contractor J. J. Murphy was put in the box by his counsel, Mr.

Judge Will Inquire.

"I am submitting the facts to the Minister of Justice," asserted Judge Cassels in reference to Mr. Gregory's evidence. He added that he did not think that his testimony before the commission could be used against him In a criminal trial. Gregory may give evidence later this afternoon instead of tomorrow.

Mr. Watson used somewhat plain language to his lordship, telling him that he really had no jurisdiction as to saying whether the witness should answer or not. Witness has to answer, he said, but by taking objection he protects himself, as the statute

Conractor Murphy.

Contractor Murphy's examination occupied only a few moments. He said he paid $645 to Muis Gagne, carpenter foreman the King's Wharf, but denied receiving any favors in return.

Pierre Nolet, chief engineer on the Red Island lightship, was examined in French by Mr. Lemieux. The lawyer tried to show that he was employed by a captain and not by the Government. He received $78 from Drolet's clerk, that firm having had the contract for repairing the ship.

"These are pretty fine distinctions." remarked his lordship, "and, of course,

I have to pronounce on them." G. Belanger, of the gas department, also admitted receiving payments from the Drolet firm of contractors, but declared they were only for work done personally by him after 6 p.m. He said the amount he received from Murphy was less than the latter claimed.

ACREAGE FIGURES.

Your Overcoat Money Gets Most Value Here

When we say that there's no other Overcoat showing in London to compare with ours we're simply repeating what scores and scores of buyers have told us this season. "You've got them all beaten in the Overcoat game," is a remark we hear many times a week, and it means something when made by men who acknowledge they've seen everything the other stores have to show.

It's not only the out-of-the-ordinary smartness of our styles, it's not just the fact that our coats fit better than others, it's not only the unequalled variety we show, but a combination of these with the splendidly-evident unusualness of our values that's getting us new customers every day.

Let's show you tomorrow how well the Coats prove our words.

THE "VARSITY" The most popular model we've got and a garment that deserves its popularity; 50 inches long; it's cut with splendid broad shoulders and loose-hanging back that allow perfect freedom in walking. The lapels are generous in width, and although cut long, just leave the usual opening.

We show this model in a dozen different fabrics, in black and in the new browns, and in smart tweed effects. Some have raised scams, some plain; some with raw edges, and some with stitched edges, $8.95, $10, $12.50, $15, $18, $20, $25

it's a bit shorter than the "Varsity," 46 inches long; it shows practically the same lines and is just as perfect in its close-lying collar, its splendidly-made shoulders and its perfect skirt drapery as the longer coat. We show it in pure wool English Beavers, Kerseys, Meltons, Cheviots and Vicunas, in the new browns, greens and greys, as well as blacks; raw or stitched edges, plain or lap seams, as suits vour taste $10, $12.50, $15, $18 to $25

The element that counts most in the drug business is reliability. Customers should be able to go to a drug store with utmost assurance that their interests will be protected. It is needless, we think, to say that every element—of reliability is provided by this store.

The extent and quality of our trade, and the obvious confidence reposed in us by the public, is evidence that we have always given superior service.

What It Means.

They were somewhat surprised when told that the contract embodies much more, and that by it the city engineer could compel the company to install a new plant throughout, and that the city could remove all poles and wires belonging to the company from the streets, no matter for what purpose they were being used. The company would also be throwing up its franchise, which enables it to supply power for house lighting.

Committee Appointed.

On motion of Ald. Booth it was decided to send a subcommittee composed of Chairman Greenlees, Ald. Armstrong and City Solicitor Meredith to go over the contract with Mr. C. B. Hunt and Commission Sets Date for the Great Celebration Next Summer.

Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 13 .- The commis-Sions representing the States of Vermont and New York, in arranging for the celebration of the tercentennial anniversary of the discovery of Lake Champlain and the surrounding territory, now forming part of the two states and of the Province of Quebec, have decided upon the dates on which the observance will be held. The opening day's celebration, Sunday, July 4, have been arranged to consist largely of religious services, and will be general throughout New York, Vermont and Quebec. On Monday, the real opening day of the observance, Crown Point, N. Y., will be the headquarters; on Tuesday, Ticonderoga, N. Y., and on Wednesday, Platisburg will be the scenes of the closing celebrations in New York State. Shifting into Vermont on Thursday, the main observances of that day will be held in Burlington, and the celebration will be continued on Isle La Motte on Friday. Saturday, like the opening day, will be featured in general observances.

CROKER COMING ACROSS.

Dublin, Nov. 13 .- Richard Croker, the former leader of Tammy Hall, will be a passenger on the Lusitania, which sails from Queenstown tomorrow. He will not return to Ireland until May. Mr. Croker declines to express an opinion on the recent elections in the United States, saying that he is entirely out of politics.

Pro!. Barnes Traces Movements of Civilization Through Several Centuries

St. Andrew's Hall was well filled last night when Professor Earl Barnes gave the fifth of his series of lectures on "The History of Civilization," delivered under the auspices of the London Froebel Society. His subject for the evening was "Monarchy and Democracy."

Prof. Barnes first gave a short resume of his course of lectures, showing how the advance of the world had been marked off into definite cycles in which civilization advanced along one definite line. He showed how in each age this was the case. There was no universal development, each period stretching out like a tentacle in some particular line. It was an age of great personalities, or the personalities were lost and it became an age of culture; or again, they were forgotten for the time, and ecclesiasticism became the noun of life; later, it changed to a bases of politics, when everything becomes subordinated to this conception.

What 1870 Did. Using the statement of the Hon. James Bryce that a hundred years hence, 1870, would be considered the greatest date in human history, the speaker went on to show how from tea biscuits than any q that date throughout the world the democratic principle began to spell ruin to the principle of absolute monarchism. It became the age of politics. That date saw the final unification of the kingdom of Italy; the unification of the petty German states into a great empire, and republicanism adopted in France. The period, too, marked the rise of the idea of state education in England. Michigan and Cornell Universities threw open their doors for the higher education of women, and trade unionism became a factor in life and capital became organized.

All Is Changed.

Now the great rulers and statesmen and jurists have sunk into the background, and it is such names as Rockefeller, Morgan, Schwab, the captains of industry, who have come to

The United States is moving towards a highly centralized form of government, as opposed to state right, a great change in the whole system of the country. Yet it was hardly an issue in the recent presidential campaign. Taft himself is an avowed Unitarian. His wife, it is said, is a Roman Catholic. In a former age this would have been an insurmountable stacle to his election, but it was scarcely mentioned in the recent cam-If a man lost or gained a reputation it was due to his relation, right or wrong, to great industrial Issues of Life.

The issues of life, said the speaker, fall into two lines. In how far shall we express ourselves? Or how for shall we subordinate ourselves for the good of the majority? If a man subordinate himself he is known as a conservative. If he insists on his own individual rights he is known as a radical, and the problem of political development is the problem of these two forces working against one ansubject of his lecture, Prof. Barnes
