GERMANS ARE IN FULL FLIGHT IN THE CANAL DU NORD REGION

OVER 1,600,000 AMERICAN SOLDIERS HAVE GONE OVERSEAS

CANADIANS HAMMERED HUNS SO HARD THAT NONE REMAIN WEST OF CANAL DU NORD

Germans Surrender Drocourt-Queant Line When Defence Becomes Useless—Furious Counter-Attacks Were Repulsed by Currie's Men.

With the Canadian Forces, Sept. 3.—By J. F. B. Livesay, Canadian Press Correspondent.—The Boche has gone back across the Canal du Nord, surrendering to us, without further struggle, the Drocourt-Queant line. He got out just in time. The Canadian corps was driving in his front and the Canadian artillery was waiting but the hour to lay down such a barrage along the canal as must have destroyed all its bridges and make evacuation impossible. This is not official, but there is small doubt of its truth. It is the logic of the situation.

Yesterday the enemy fought like a wildcat to save his guns and transport. Last night our line was absolutely quiet. An airman this morning reported that after flying all across the enemy lines, he is convinced that there is not a Boche west of the Canal du Nord. He scouted the idea that he might be hiding in his dugouts.

If this great news is confirmed it must lift a load off the minds of our commanders. No troops can fight many days together on the scale of yesterday without suffering such losses as must in time impair their efficiency. The price paid for the first breach of the Queant-Drocourt switch is relatively cheap, doubtless less than the total prisoners, but if the corps had had to fight forward to the canal on the same scale, it must have proved terribly expensive. To gain the line of the Canal du Nord with no further blow, is a triumph indeed, and an unwilling tribute by a beaten enemy to the prowess of Canadian arms. In this triumph British troops worthily participated.

Furious Counter-Attacks.

The enemy inclosed in a cul-de-sac with the Scarpe on his right and the canal behind him, was in a desperate plight and desperately did he fight to escape it. He threw in no less than eight divisions. The fury of his counter-attacks equalled anything hitherto experienced by the veteran Canadian troops.

For miles behind the Canal du Nord he lacks such a great system of fortification as the Canadian Corps stormed early yesterday morning.

On the Canadian front alone the weight of metal was greater than that of the Amiens, Passchendaele or of Vimy, but in addition was the converging fire of the British armies to the right and left. As this barrage crept forward ahead of the infantry, lifting one hundred yards at a time, there could be made out amid the thunder and the lightning, the bulked masses of the slow-moving tanks.

Hardly had the show opened when field batteries galloped over the ground where but a few minutes before infantry had stood at attention waiting the word to go in.

MAYOR WILL SPEAK OPENING NIGHT OF HEARTS OF WORLD

British Government Gets Part of Picture Proceeds.

BIG DEMAND FOR SEATS

Some Blocks of Ten and Twenty Taken for Great War "Movie."

Mayor C. R. Somerville will speak in the Majestic Theatre at 8:15 o'clock next Monday evening, the occasion being the first night presentation of "Hearts of the World," the great Griffiths war picture, which comes to the city for a week's showing.

Government Interested.

The British Government is interested in the net receipts of the picture to the extent of 25 per cent, and its appearance is regarded as a considerable assistance to the cause wherever it is shown.

Mayor Somerville gladly consented to officiate at the opening performance, and will give some idea of the aims of the picture and the work undertaken in France to secure it.

Good Seat Sale.

The sale of seats opened this morning, with demands from many parts of the city and district for reservations. Some blocks of ten and twenty seats were reserved, and the indication is that the house will be sold out for every performance. Many out-of-town people are planning to make their visit to the "Hearts of the World" only secondary to their Western Fair visit. Manager T. W. Logan says that all mail orders will be promptly filled, and advises Londoners to make their reservations early.

Would Prevent Widows From Remarrying.

Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—Enactment of a law in Germany to prevent widows from remarrying, so as to leave the few available men for single women, is urged in a letter to the Tag by a Munich doctor, Hans von Hittig. He points out that the widows, through remarrying after the war would have a detrimental effect on the birth rate, as most of them are mothers already.

"On December 1, 1919," he writes, "there were in Germany about 300,000 widows between the ages of 18 and 45. At a very modest estimate there are now 800,000."

SUGAR FAMINE IN MONTREAL

The Citizens Cannot Secure Enough To Sweeten Tea or Coffee.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 4.—Sugar of any kind is not to be had here for love or money. Customers are rushing stores for granulated for their tea and coffee, and cannot get one pound because stores cannot get it themselves from wholesalers, who blame the refineries. The latter say the food controller and the international committee are not giving enough raw material to them. As a result the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery had to close down last week, but hope to get enough to start operations again next week. The Atlantic Sugar Refinery and Canada Sugar Refinery also say they are getting very little raw sugar and can only give wholesalers about one-eighth of what they want. Very little yellow sugar is on hand here, and people are only buying it when they cannot get anything else.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Quebec, Sept. 4.—Jos. Lavoie, aged 32 years, of Petite Riviere, St. Francois, near Baie St. Paul, was killed yesterday when a steam crane at which he was working broke and crushed him to death. J. C. Lyons, a fellow workman, had a thigh fractured in two places. The former is survived by a wife and five children.

SLIPPING FROM HIS GRASP

Paris, Sept. 4.—Between Ypres and Rheims, with General Mangin menacing the St. Gobain forest and the Chemin-des-Dames, with Generals Humbert and Debeny advancing on St. Quentin, and the Franco-Americans on the Vesle, with Rawlinson before Peronne, General Byng before Lens, and General Plumer before Armentieres, the enemy feels the soil of France slipping from under his feet.

Commentators point out that in the present offensive continuity has been maitained the last forty-six days without a break, and that not since the beginning of the war has such an extended series of hammer blows been directed, throwing the adversary into complete dismay. The enemy is unable to reorganize his forces to make a stand arresting the onward march of the Allies.

NO SIGNS YET OF EXPECTED COUNTER-STROKE BY HUNS

German Prisoners Speak of a Great Mysterious Army.

MACKENSEN TO LEAD

Stand Likely To Be Attempted On Brebieres-Moeuvres Line.

London, Sept. 4.—Canadian Press Dispatch from Reuter's.—Today there was still no sign of the expected German counter-stroke, which must soon be delivered if Ludendorff wishes to save the situation. Prisoners speak of a great mysterious army headed by Mackensen, which is ready to pounce on the Allies, but its whereabouts is unknown. The chief problem of the moment is where the enemy will turn. Experts expect that he will attempt to stand on the Brebieres-Moeuvres line, but this will be the most uncomfortable, as it covers Cambrai and Douai on such a narrow margin that there will be no elbow room left for defence. It would appear that the Germans in the last attempt to save the situation, packed 70,000 men on a front of 8,000 yards. The name of the Hindenburg line has not yet appeared in the German communique while it has utterly vanished from the German papers in which it was the chief feature for some weeks past. So far no indication of the feeling in Germany could be secured.

Official writers are elaborately explaining the advantages of an elastic defence preparatory to breaking the news.

ARAB FORCES ARE HARASSING TURKS

Raids Made Upon the Hedjaz Railway Line.

London, Sept. 4.—Arab forces, under the king of the Hedjaz, fighting on the side of the Entente Allies, are continuing their harassing raids upon the Hedjaz railway, which run northward from Medina and passes to the east of the Dead Sea on the Palestine front, according to advices from the Palestine and Arabian sectors. A Turkish attack on the Arabs near Abunaam was driven off with loss to the enemy.

Pidgeon, who resigned.

SOVIET TROOPS THREATENED BY RUSS PEASANTS

Sudden Revolt Places Bolshevik Forces in Precarious Situation.

Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—Soviet troops advancing in the direction of Ufa, Perm and Saratov are in a difficult position, owing to a sudden rising of the peasants, according to a Moscow dispatch to the Berlin Kreuz Zeitung. The peasants are threatening the Soviet forces from the rear.

Measures are being taken, it is said, to suppress the revolt.

GERMAN EMPRESS GROWING WEAKER

ORDERED TO AVOID WORRY.

Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—The German empress has suffered attacks of weakness and heart trouble in increasing measure, according to a Cassel dispatch to the Weser Zeitung of Bremen. The empress is suffering from arteriosclerosis, and has been ordered by her physicians to keep to her bed and avoid worry and excitement. Contray to accounts from some other sources, the dispatch says that Emperor William gives the impression of being very fit and vigorous ,but the empress, it is stated, has lately appeared to age considerably.

LENINE'S CONDITION IS REGARDED AS CRITICAL

Surgeons Remove Bullet From Body of Bolshevik Premier.

London, Sept. 4.—The condition of Nikolai Lenine, the Bolshevik premier, against whose life an attempt was made last Friday, has become highly critical, according to a Moscow dispatch to the Central News Agency. The crisis is expected within three days. Surgeons have removed a bullet from Lenine's body.

TEUTONS IN DISORGANIZED RETREAT IN REGION OF THE CANAL DU NORD; RUMANCOURT CAPTURED BY THE BRITISH

Nearing the Winning Post

London, Sept. 4.—(Canadian Press dispatch from Reuter's).—Paris papers print the following semi-official statement:

"The hour seems close at hand when the superb efforts of the Allies will begin to bear fruit," one of our great chiefs said yesterday. "We are on the last lap and close to the winning post."

GERMANS STILL HOLD SECTIONS OF LENS CITY

The British Official Statement Fails to Confirm Reported Capture.

London, Sept. 4.—Information from the front today is that the coal mining city of Lens is still mainly in German possession. British patrols, however, are reported to be in the western portion of the town.

There were widespread reports yesterday that Lens had been evacuated by the Germans and occupied by the British. These reports emanated from an authoritative source in London, and were generally accepted as correct until the receipt of last night's official British communication which failed to confirm them.

The chief of staff identified the American unit which participated in the Flanders advance as the 30th division, composed of troops from Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina.

The French advance north of Soissons, resulting in the capture of Tarny-Sorny was participated in by the 32nd division, composed of Michigan and Wisconsin troops, under Major General Haan.

Fair weather is predicted for tomorrow, and the diamond is protected by heavy canvas. The postponement gives the Boston team a day of rest after their hurried trip from the east.

COMPTROLLER ISSUES CALL.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the condition of all national banks at the close of business on Saturday, August 31.

TEUTONS MAY BE FORCED TO ABANDON THE NORTH FRONT

Allied Advance Has Endangered Entire Foe Position.

ALLIES' HOLD IS STRONG

Germans Have Been Unable to Establish Any Defence Lines in Retreat.

London, Sept. 4.—The progress of tremendous events on the battlefront in France is being followed with almost breathless eagerness by the whole British nation. The most significant feature of Tuesday's developments was that the expected German attempt to restore the position of the broken Wotan line did not materialize. The failure of the enemy to make such an attempt apparently is attributable to the speed and energy with which Field Marshal Haig's armies were able to press the advance on the retiring enemy. Observers continue to speculate on when and where the enemy will pull himself together.

Disastrous has been the blow already and the prestige and security of the German position is endangered. Experts here are not expressing anticipation of an early debacle, and admit that the probability of some defences being organized behind the enemy lines in an attempt to check the Allied advance. Some German prisoners taken in the battle talk confidently of the impending arrival of a great reserve army under General von Mackensen, who will turn the tables on the Allied forces, but obviously it is impossible here to throw any light on such reports. Whatever the future may hold, the actual situation is regarded as one of extraordinary promise for the Allies, and containing the possibility of the compulsory abandonment of the entire northern German front, including the Flanders coast.

Allies Have Whip Hand.

While featuring the dramatic developments on the British front commentators do not neglect to emphasize the great importance of the operations of the southern end of the battle line, where the French and Americans are holding against large enemy forces and making progress. French official communiques deal almost laconically with these operations, but their value as a contribution to German's defeat are not overlooked here. Recognition equally is given to the incalculable bearing on the entire situation of the presence of the rapidly growing American army.

The military critic of the Telegraph in discussing the possibility of the German organizing reserves for a counter blow dismisses the subject with the remark that "the counter menace of the American reserves will bind the German reserves like a spell." Commenting on the same subject the Daily Mail's critic says: "In previous successes the lack of strong reserves prevented victories being exploited to the utmost. On this occasion Marshal Foch has in our American armies ample forces available if he determines to press the blow.

"We are witnessing the collapse of the prestige of the Prussian military machine. We have the whip hand as we never had it before in this war, and we hold it with a constantly increasing reserve of power, both in men and material, against which the enemy has nothing comparable.

"The weight of the American army has not yet been thrown into the scale, but it is there waiting to be released in positions which fill us with the highest expectations and the enemy with the deepest concern."

Taking of the Town of Moeuvres By Forces Under Field Marshal Haig Is Reported But Not Confirmed—97 German Divisions Engaged On Battlefront Since August 6th.

With the British Armies in France, Sept. 4.—British troops were reported this morning to have taken the town of Moeuvres, 3½ miles southeast of Queant, but the capture of the place was not confirmed.

The Germans are in full flight in the region of the Canal du Nord and appear to be more than ever disorganized. A thousand more prisoners were captured by Field Marshal Haig's forces last night.

The British have secured a hold on the west bank of the Canal du Nord by taking Rumaucourt, to the north of Sains-lez-Marquion, according to advices from the battlefront today.

Further south along the canal they are reported to have captured Inchy-en-Artois, Demicourt, to the east of Doignies and Hermies, three miles northeast of Bertincourt.

Near the Somme the British, the advices state, have crossed the canal of Haut Allains, slightly more than two miles north of Peronne.

From Hermies, southward, the British line is indicated as running to the west of Ruyaulcourt, a mile and a half east of Bertincourt.

Midway between Nieppe and Sailly, in the Lys salient, the British have captured the village of Croix-du-Bac.

Since the opening of the combined Franco-British operations on August 6, no less than 97 German divisions have been engaged on the battlefront.

AMERICANS BOMB LONGUYON.

With the American Forces in Lorraine, Sept. 3.—(By the Associated Press).—American airmen successfully bombed Longuyon twice today. About thirty airplanes flew over the German lines last night and dropped a few bombs.

HAIG'S FORCES ADVANCE BEYOND THE DROCOURT-QUEANT LINE

London, Sept. 4.—In their push beyond the Drocourt-Queant line, British troops have reached the line of the Canal du Nord, says Field Marshal Haig's official statement today. North of the Arras-Cambrai road they have occupied the town of Ecourt St-Quentin.

North of Peronne the advance has carried the British through the Vaux Woods, above Moislans. Slight advances have been scored at other points.

Continuing their advance in Flanders, the British are approaching Neuve Chapelle and Laventie. In the same region they have gained possession of Sailly-sur-Lallys and Nieppe.

The text of the statement reads:

"On the battlefront minor actions are reported in different localities. We have reached the east side of the Vaux Woods, north of Moislans, and have advanced slightly at other points.

"Generally our troops have reached the line of the Canal du Nord, and north of the Arras-Cambrai road have occupied Ecourt St. Quentin.

"In the Lys sector, further progress was made by us yesterday and last night, both south and north of the river. Our troops are approaching Neuve Chapelle."

FRENCH FORCE FOE BACK EAST OF CANAL DU NORD

Paris, Sept. 4.—French troops yesterday and last night continued to push back the Germans to the east of the Canal du Nord and between the Ailette and the Aisne, says today's war office announcement.

In their advance the French took the Chapitre Wood, northeast of Chevilly and approached the town of Crisolles, three miles north of Noyon.

North of the Ailette the French reached the outskirts of Coucy-le-Chateau and Juvincourt, and south of the river they drove further east from Louilly and attained the suburbs of Clamecy and Braye.

On the Aisne the town of Bucy-le-Long was penetrated.

Prisoners to the number of 1,500 were taken.

Along the Vesle, parties of French troops crossed the river at several points.

The text of the statement reads:

"Yesterday during the day and night the French continued to press back the enemy east of the Canal du Nord and between the Ailette and the Aisne.

"French troops captured the Chapitre Wood, northeast of

HEALTH INSTITUTE WORK PROVED AN EYE-OPENER TO MEMBERS OF BOARD

City Gets Valuable Service and Pays Nothing for It.

Members of the board of health paid a visit to the London Institute of Public Health this morning with a view of getting a line on the amount of work which the institute carries on for the city.

Since Dr. Hill resigned as head of the institute and M. O. H. the city's allowance to the institute has been stopped. However, there has been a considerable amount of work done.

Chairman Russell stated after the inspection that the amount of work of great importance carried on for the city was an eyeopener to him. He said that his conclusion was that the city derived a wonderful benefit from the institute without paying anything for it.

There were also suggestions put forward to centralize the work of the different public nurses that they might avoid overlapping. This matter will be gone into later. It is possible that the board of education nurses may be asked to co-operate in this work.

The board of health, at it's next meeting, will decide as to whether it will continue the arrangement to have the head of the institute act as M. O. H. A new head has not be secured for the institute, but undoubtedly when he is appointed he will also be tendered the health work of the city also.

Millinery With a Master-Designer's Stroke

The Hat once again is the climax of the costume. During these opening days a remarkable collection of masterpieces are being shown in exclusive and distinctive models, for there is only one of a pattern. So versatile are the fall hats in their exclusive simplicity that every woman's particular millinery requirements for dress or street occasions are delightfully realized. In this presentation are some wonderful patterns from Paris and New York. The principal feature of the shapes are the slashing and pointed effects. Also typical of the autumn modes are the chic tailored models in velvets; they have the upturned wrapover back with the angular brim and shirred crown, all of which are so very smart and new. The width at the sides, a feature of the smartest chapeaux, is given by the clever posing of two sweeping wings. The distinctive millinery of our own expert designers added makes this the most attractive display ever exhibited to the ladies of London and district.

SMALLMAN & INGRAM LIMITED

VOTE CATCHING IS FAVORITE PASTIME OF SOME ALDERMEN

Instances Crop Up at Recent Council Meetings.

ONE MAN'S GREAT PLAN

Moves For Work To Be Done, Knowing It Is Under Way.

City Clerk Baker, in his annual report to the ratepayers last year, called attention to the remarkable fact that during the year 1917 attempted ward grabbing among the aldermen was entirely absent.

This fact was pointed out to him recently, and he was asked if he could conscientiously say the same about the year 1918 so far as it has gone. He did not answer. He smiled that peculiar smile of his and started talking of his recent trip to Toronto.

The recent trend of events in the council would lead to the belief that Mr. Baker this year will be obliged to tell some peculiar things in his report to the ratepayers. Something closely akin to ward grabbing has been rampant of late. One official of the city recently remarked that this old disease was returning in a most aggravated condition.

Some Incidents.

There were several incidents at last night's council meeting that on the face of them appear to be of a nature that will make the lovers of good government weep.

For instance, some time ago, the council decided that no walks would be laid this year. A little later a small committee meeting decided that there should be some walks laid. These aldermen decided among themselves what walks should be laid. They were confined to their own wards. The needs of other wards, the fact that other places might require walks much more urgently, and may have been after them a much longer time, was lost sight of altogether.

There have been several sewers initiated. In one ward there is one particular sewer wanted, the construction of which has been laid over. Last night one of the aldermen of the ward in question quite candidly told the council that if the sewer were not laid their would be trouble. He did not go further. The whole question, walks and sewers, goes back to the board of works.

There were other instances.

Generous Motion.

In one rather isolated section of the city an aged woman wants water service. Her home is 500 feet from any service. It would cost $500 to give the woman service, the utilities commission declares.

The commission's policy is that it will lay mains only where there is a guaranteed income of ten per cent on the money invested. One of the aldermen of the ward has moved "that the commission give the service in question at its own expense (this to avoid its billing the city) even at a cost of $500, without the guarantee of $50 per year, if it can possibly do so." The members of the council saw the humor of such a resolution and pictured to themselves what the utilities commission would do with it and let it go through.

The same alderman later presented a resolution that the Talbot street pavement from Queen's avenue to Dundas be repaired. It is in a shocking state, he said. Other aldermen remarked that it was just the same as the balance of the street through to York and also King street. The alderman said he did not care; there were holes in the part in question in which a car could be lost.

Some of the aldermen said that the resolution was useless, as the work would go on in good time. Then someone thought of calling the engineer.

Already Settled.

"I told the alderman before the meeting that I was going to start repairing that street in the morning," said the engineer.

"That's the way I get work done," said the alderman.

Some of the aldermen seemed to think that the alderman in question was trying to get credit for the repair work, and get a motion of his through, having the knowledge that the engineer planned to start the work today. That this was the opinion of the majority of the members of the council was evidenced by the fact that they voted down the alderman's motion that the work should be done.

Later the same alderman presented a motion to have the police commission requested to erect silent policemen. It carried by one vote, 7 to 6. Ald. Manness saved him here. He voted: "Yes," "no," and lastly, "yes." Other aldermen were just as much at sea as to how they should vote.

And so the ward grabbing goes on. Some of the aldermen are open and barefaced about it. Some go about it in a sly manner. Others never think about it. Certainly it is not the best thing in the interests of the city, but it gets votes.

AIR FORCE LOOKING TO YOUNGER MEN TO COME FORWARD FOR SERVICE

More Needed of Good Physique to Join the Fliers.

Capt. W. S. Smith, chairman of the R. A. F. sub-committee stationed in this city, today received word from the officer in charge of recruiting for the Royal Air Force, in which it was stated that, because of the fact that the larger part of available men of military age were being called to service under the military service act, it would in future be found necessary to resort to the rising generation and the 19-year-old class for cadets for the unit. The letter further stated that for this reason it is the idea of the Royal Air Force to keep the name of R. A. F. continually before the public, and advertise it in all newspapers as well as issuing circular letters, etc.

It is mentioned that some of the cadets forwarded from this city were not up to the standard of efficiency required by the force, and it is thought that this publicity will bring a larger quantity of recruits to the offices, so that it will be possible by careful selection from this large number to raise the physical standard of the men. Mechanics are also needed, and a campaign will be started for these.

A number of copies of the Cadet Wing Review, which is written by the cadets at Cadet Wing, was also forwarded to Capt. Smith, who will distribute these about the city, and place them in public places to encourage the boys.

Matter such as this will be forwarded from time to time to this city.

WOMEN'S BATTALION HOPES TO BE GIVEN OFFICIAL RECOGNITION

Rumor Says This May Be Granted Soon.

TAG DAY IS ARRANGED

Public Drill Will Be Held On the Market Square Tuesday.

The rumor is abroad that before many hours official recognition will be given to the Woman's Battalion now recruiting in Canada. The heads of this battalion are now reported to be in Ottawa, carrying on negotiations to this end. Indeed a new epoch is about to take place in woman's war service, if what is expected occurs and V. A. D. nursing, cooking, motor driving and clerical work are all brought under the one head, thus avoiding overlapping in war service. Several divisions, about 100 members in all, are now recruiting in London, and as the need is very great for just such trained women, according to messages from overseas, it is expected that many more will soon be enlisted.

Tag Day.

On Thursday a Tag Day will be held here for the purpose of providing uniforms and equipment for the women already drilling, and on Tuesday next at 8 o'clock an opportunity will be given the people of London to see the women drill on the market square.

Still many letters come in regarding this battalion and to all inquirers is sent out the necessary information.

The battalion was first formed in Winnipeg in 1915 for the purpose of releasing men for the firing line and taking over their work mainly in three branches: cooking, motor driving and clerical work. Numerous small drafts have gone overseas from time to time.

Must Be Fit.

The candidates must be medically fit, and be from 20 to 45 years of age. No girl under 20, or woman with young children may be a member. The membership fee is 50 cents. There will be a motor class in progress under the auspices of No. 4 Nursing Division, the class in this branch of the work being resumed on Thursday, and classes in first aid and home nursing will begin tonight at No. 4 Nursing Division rooms, 404 Talbot street. It is not imperative that volunteers take these classes, but desirable. Competent army instructors have been secured and drills will be held every Tuesday in Queen's Park, when new members may be enrolled.

PUBLIC HEALTH CASES ADJOURNED ONCE MORE

Offenders Making Efforts to Do Away With Nuisances.

Several cases of breaches of the public health act that had been adjourned until today were again adjourned this morning by Magisfrate A. H. M. Graydon, as Inspector James B. Lutman informed the court that the defendants were making reasonable efforts to comply with the act. The scarcity of labor was asserted to be the cause of delay in the completion of the work.

In one case it appears that the information was laid against one of three brothers regarding outhouses on property on Rectory street, and it has been learned that he is not the owner. This case was dismissed and action will be taken against the owner. The brother in whose name the property is registered has been warned by the inspector to have the connection made with the sewer, and it is understood that he refuses to do this. He is reported to have said that he would tear down the dwelling first.

That the city is an offender against the same act is the statement of Inspector Lutman. The school board was ordered to connect Colborne street school with the sewer, and it was given until August 1 to have the work completed. The inspector says he has not yet had the premises inspected to see whether the work has been done or not. If it has not been done he intends to lay a complaint in the police court against the board.

One girl from St. Thomas who was arrested recently for vagrancy and remanded until September 4 was allowed to go to her home with her mother.

The large break which occurred during the Monday night storm was repaired early yesterday, and the break which occurred last week was permanently fixed up late last night.

SHORTAGE OF SUGAR IS REALLY SERIOUS IN CITY AT PRESENT

Many Grocers Have Not a Pound For Sale.

SOME YELLOW ON WAY

None To Spare in the United States, Except in Thrifty New York.

Apart from any food board regulations, an awkward shortage of sugar exists in the city and surrounding district at the present time, for canning or any purposes.

One housewife went to three grocery stores on Saturday afternoon before she could round up a couple of pounds of sugar, her own grocer stating he would be glad to know where he could put his hands on "25 cents' worth of sugar." Another story vouched for has come in to the effect that a London woman visited from half a dozen to ten groceries on Tuesday on a quest for granulated sugar. One of Dundas street's leading grocers states today that he is completely out of granulated sugar, and has only loaf sugar and a small quantity of yellow sugar left in stock.

Yellow on the Way.

So far as that yellow sugar is concerned, cheer up. Col. W. G. Coles, representing the Lantic Sugar Company locally, states that 2,400 pounds of the yellow sugar refined by his company is on the way to town and will be here in the course of a few days.

The leading reason given for the sugar shortage is the transportation difficulties and the fact that so much raw sugar has been sent to Davy Jones' locker by heartless Hun subs. If the refineries cannot get the raw material they cannot send streams of sugar out to sweeten the lives of the Canadian people.

Col. Coles is of the opinion that the higher freight rates, which are hitting a hard blow at necessitites and playing havoc with the poor man's pocket, are somewhat to blame for the local shortage. It may be possible that the eastern refiners are holding back awaiting a more satisfactory adjustment of the freight rates, which have advanced 30 to 40 points between Montreal and London alone.

New York Thrifty.

Concerning a rumor that the United States has a surplus of refined sugar, and the comment that it is up to the international commission to do some adjusting, it is discovered that when the story is traced to its source, the surplus exists in New York City. New York City, it is stated, should be entitled to its surplus, since that surplus has been accumulated by scrupulous exercise of thrift which has made possible a reserve stock.

In connection with this local sugar shortage, which one broker states, is general in Canada, the hog person has been on the job, as usual.

The Hog Again.

He drove up to a grocery store a few days ago and purchased a quarter's worth of sugar. While he was still talking, the lady clerk who had waited on him told a junior boy clerk to carry the parcel out and put it in the car. There the junior clerk discovered several more parcels just like the one he took out, snugly packed in the bottom of the car. A fine day's bagging to fortify against a "close season!"

Concerning the relation of the Canada food board to the sugar situation, Col. Coles says: "The Canada food board must know the exact situation. Providence has provided us with a fine crop of fruit, which should not be allowed to go to waste if it possibly can be prevented. If there is sugar in the country, now is the time to allow it to be used for conserving that fruit crop, and let people do without when the snow flies."

SENTENCE OF FIVE YEARS REDUCED TO FORTY-TWO DAYS

First General Court-Martial's Finding Is Made Public.

Pte. A. Buck, who was charged a few weeks ago before a general court-martial with desertion, was sentenced this morning to five years' penal servitude, but the sentence has been reduced to 42 days' detention by the militia headquarters at Ottawa.

A general court-martial has the power to sentence to death, but the sentence must be confirmed by Ottawa authorities before being promugated. Buck took French leave while under orders to proceed overseas with a draft, and when arrested was held for trial, as the draft had proceeded overseas. It is expected that Buck will accompany the first draft from this city. During the reading of the sentence Buck was extremely cool.

ARE YOU EATING WHEY BUTTER? THERE ARE ABOUT 30 FACTORIES MAKING IT IN WESTEBN ONTARIO

Conservation of Fats Has Led to Manufacture Hitherto Not Tried Here—Product Considered Good, But Unfit For Keeping Long in Cold Storage.

"There ain't no such animal."

It was words to that effect which a London housewife uttered a few days ago, when a Man Person referred casually to "whey butter."

"Why," she jeered, "where would the fat come from to make the butter after it had been extracted for the cheese?"

But the Man Person valiantly stood by his statement, asserting that quantities of whey butter were being made in Western Ontario this year, and, in fact, he had reason to believe, right in London.

"I have no doubt you have bought and eaten whey butter," he asserted, "and didn't know the difference."

The dispute is settled by the facts of the case which were obtained today from Frank Herns, secretary of the Western Dairymen's Association.

Many Factories Making.

It appears that some 30 cheese factories in Western Ontario are now manufacturing whey butter from the butter fat that escapes when the cheese curd is being cut into cubes to be cooked or "firmed," as it is called.

As everybody knows, in making cheese, the minute fat globules in the milk are coaxed to coagulate by the use of rennet. When solidification has taken place, the curd is cut by means of vertical and horizontal knives into cubes, and it is during this process that a small number of the minute fat globules shake off into the whey.

The average loss is not more than .2-10 of 1 per cent, and this is separated from the whey, which in its pure, sweet condition is pasteurized immediately after it has been run off from the cheese tanks, and the cream then separated and converted into butter.

The whey cream, containing about 50 or 60 per cent of fat, is pasteurized, then properly cooled and churned into butter in the ordinary way.

The greater part of the output as yet in Western Ontario, it is stated, is taken home to be used by patrons of the cheese factories.

New in Western Ontario.

"While whey butter has been made to a great extent for years in Eastern Ontario," says Mr. Herns, "this is the first year that it has been made to any extent in Western Ontario. The reason for this is that it would not have paid at butter prices in the past, and again, food conservation is demanding all possible conservation of fats. About two and a half pounds of butter are obtained from a thousand pounds of whey, which means 1,100 pounds of milk. The average capacity cheese factory uses perhaps 15,000 pounds of milk a day during June and July. This would give about 40 pounds of butter a day from the whey. Selling at a wholesale price of 40 cents a pound, this would mean $16 a day.

"The term 'whey butter,' and the fact that it is being manufactured and sold has given rise to an erroneous impression. Some people have got the idea that because butter can be made from whey cream, the whole milk is not required for cheese."

Mr. Herns says that it is only the fat globules which escape even with the exercise of greatest care, that form the whey cream.

"People can be and have been prosecuted for keeping back a part of the cream in sending their milk to cheese factories," he states, adding: "After the whey cream has been separated from the whey, the latter is taken as usual by the farmers to feed to the pigs and calves. In the past, the fat globules escaping into the whey have been fed with it to the stock. With the removal of the fat, it is necessary to provide a substitute to supply the lack in the rations of the pigs and calves. Linseed meal or some other vegetable fat frequently takes its place."

Of Good Quality.

While a number of people seem to know in a more or less vague way about the manufacture of whey butter, a considerable difference of opinion exists among these in regard to its relative value and quality. They are unanimous on one point, however, that while it is excellent for immediate use, it cannot be relied upon for storage purposes.

Concerning these points, a creamery butter expert interviewed says:

"It is hardly as good as No. 1 creamery butter and better in my estimation than grade 2 creamery butter. In manufacturing creamery butter, the cream is first graded and the butter after for color, flavor, salt, and so on. Butter scoring over 92 points out of 100 is graded as No. 1, while all under 92 points grades as No. 2. Of course, there are grades in whey cream just as there are in other cream. Where the proper care has been exercised in separation of the whey cream from the whey, a good grade of cream is obtained. For salt-less butter, for which there is demand, especially in June, the whey cream butter is as good as June No. 1 creamery, saltless."

Concerning any difference in the price, it is estimated that the price of whey butter should run about from 6 to 8 cents a pound cheaper than the ordinary butter.

It is stated that the regulations require that when whey butter is sold it must be labelled as such.

It is known that a good deal is being sold in the district without distinguishing mark and buyers are suggesting that the authorities take prompt action to enforce the regulations.

TEUTONS IN RETREAT IN REGION OF CANAL DU NORD; RUMANCOURT CAPTURED BY BRITISH

Chevilly, and further south French elements advanced, pursuing the enemy, and are approaching Crisolles.

"North of the Ailette, the French carried their lines to the western outskirts of Couey-le-Chateau and Juvincourt. To the south, the French progressed east of Leuilly and reached the outskirts of Clameey and Braye and penetrated Buey-Long. The number of prisoners taken in that region exceed 1,500.

"On the Vesle front French elements crossed that river at several points."

AMERICANS PENETRATE FOE LINES.

With the American Troops in France, Tuesday, Sept. 4, 3 p.m. —There was considerable patrol activity on the American front in the Vosges region last night. An enemy raiding party of 50 approached the American trenches at one point. The raiders were driven off by rifle fire. The artillery was active on both sides in this sector, the enemy using tear and sneeze gas shells.

In the Woevre district an American patrol penetrated the enemy lines after cutting seven strands of barbed wire. Other patrols met small German groups and drove them off without difficulty.

The enemy artillery and machine gun activity in the Woevre increased slightly.

OIL TRUCK SMASHES THROUGH BRIDGE IN COURSE OF REPAIR

Delaware Road Is Closed to Traffic by Accident.

Delaware bridge has been closed to traffic on account of some necessary repairs being made. Motorists going west from the city will find the Pipe Line road over the Kilworth bridge, thence on to the Longwoods road, south of Mount Brydges, the best route, according to County Engineer Talbot.

A temporary flooring had been laid on the bridge in an effort to keep the road open, but a large oil truck went through the bridge this morning, and as a consequence it has been decided to keep the road closed until the repairs can be completed. Signs had been posted warning the users of the road of the condition of the bridge, but is is supposed the driver of the truck took a chance. Engineer Talbot says he should not have attempted to cross it with the truck. The driver escaped without injury, but the truck was badly smashed, and is still ranging to the bridge. No oil was lost, it is stated.

SERGT. S. M'DONALD DROWNED IN FRANCE

Former Member of the Oxford Battalion Leaves Family Here.

"We regret to inform you of the death of Sergt. Stanley Addison McDonald by accidental drowning on August 25." This was the contents of a telegram received by Mrs. M. Burgess, 575 Dundas street, the soldier's mother-in-law, on Tuesday.

Sergt. McDonald enlisted with the 168th Battalion in Woodstock, but on arriving overseas he was transferred to a stretcher bearers' corps. While in this branch of the service he was awarded the military medal. After serving some time in France he was invalided to England to have some minor operation performed. His wife and baby daughter Jean are visiting relatives in St. Marys, and two letters and a birthday gift received on Monday for her birthday (today), September 4, were forwarded to her. The young wife's birthday was turned to a day of grief. Sergt. McDonald has a brother-in-law, Sergt. Claire Farr, who is stationed only a few miles from the place where Sergt. McDonald met his death. Mrs. M. Burgess stated to The Advertiser that it was hardly possible that Sergt. McDonald would go in bathing on Sunday, as he did not believe in swimming on that day, the day mentioned in the telegram, and that his body may have just been recovered on that day. Sergt. McDonald is survived by his parents and his wife, and one baby daughter. He was 25 years of age.

PASSED FROM TOWN TO TOWN SEEKING WORK, TO LAND IN COUNTY JAIL

Old Man's Case Puzzles the Local Authorities.

Scarcely able to walk, Thomas Brennan, 76 years old, tottered into the police station on Tuesday, and asked to be sent to jail for a while. He told the court that he was too sick to go any place, and wanted a rest. Magistrate Graydon gave him one month in jail to recuperate. He was quite ill last night, and Dr. James D. Wilson was called in to attend him. It is thought that he will be all right in a week or so.

It appears that he has no friends, and no home, and has been looking for work for some time. He started his search in Hamilton, and not being successful there he journeyed to Paris, only to meet with the same fate. Tillsonburg was the next place visited, and as he secured nothing there he went on to Woodstock. He does not say whether he searched for work there, but he asserts that he was sent from Woodstock to London. Evidently when he reached this city he was so exhausted that he could do nothing and wandered to the police station.

What to do with him after the month expires is the question that is causing the local authorities some anxiety. He will have to be taken some place where he can be properly cared for, but it is pointed out that the county of Middlesex has no right to keep him. It is possible some effort will be made to discover where he spent his life.

ATTENDANCE RECORDS FOR THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BROKEN

Principal Unable to Find Accommodation for All.

ASKS BOARD FOR HELP

Enrollment on Tuesday Shows a Total of 955 Students.

The attendance on the opening of the Collegiate Institute broke all records for an opening day, and was so large that the principal was unable to find accommodation for all the pupils. He appealed to the board of education yesterday for immediate assistance in providing temporary accommodation and a substitute teacher to teach them.

Old Record Broken.

The roll of the whole school on Tuesday showed 955. Last year's total was 881, a record up to that time.

The most serious situation exists in the Collegiate commercial department. There are two first-year classes, and these drew 136 pupils, or 68 pupils each, while the second-year class is composed of 66 pupils.

"It is absolutely impossible for one teacher to handle such a class," said Principal Mooney. He suggested that the matter of opening another room be taken up.

What To Do Tomorrow?

It was suggested that the matter be referred to a committee. "The question is, what are we going to do tomorrow?" asked Principal Mooney.

It was decided to advertise for a substitute commercial teacher, and to look into the matter of opening a new room at the Quebec Street School.

The figures quoted by Mr. Mooney on the opening day attendance were:

	1918.	1917.
General Course—
First year	334	304
Second year	222	224
Middle school	156	148
Upper school	36	44
Commercial Course—
First year	136	...
Second year	66	*161
Totals	955	881

*First and second years.

Problem Not a Small One.

The problem to be handled in the general department is no small one, with 334 first-year pupils for seven first-year classes. This is 47 pupils per form, and provides not only a difficult teaching problem, but also one of accommodation.

Principal Mooney says that 47 pupils are really more than a class room will accommodate, or than one teacher can instruct. The matter will be looked into today.

Inspector Edwards' report showed that there is overcrowding in public schools, especially Aberdeen and Simcoe Street Schools. Some of the pupils from there will be sent to the Alexandra School to relieve the situation.

Mr. Edwards' recommendations were:

That the principals in Aberdeen and Simcoe Street Schools be authorized to transfer to Alexandra School a sufficient number of pupils to relieve the overcrowding in their schools.

That the Talbot Street, household science centre, be closed for the school year, in order to save hard coal, and that the girls attend Lord Roberts School, for their household science work.

That the manual training classes at Alexandra School attend Lord Roberts School until such time as the equipment in this centre be renewed.

He reported that one classroom has been closed in the Empress Avenue annex, and the other room in Charles Street School has been opened to accommodate the smaller pupils.

There remains a vacancy in Ealing School and the prospect of an additional teacher being needed at Alexandra to accommodate pupils, who may be transferred from Aberdeen and Simcoe.

C. E. WHEELER OF LONDON NEW VICE-PRESIDENT OF GUILD OF ORGANISTS

The present officers were re-elected, with the exception that C. E. Wheeler, F.C.G.O., London, was elected a vice-president in the place of the late Dr. F. Torrington.

ENEMY POWER WIRES MADE LOVE--DISASTER TO HYDRO IS RESULT

Storm Monday Night Crippled Generators at Niagara.

It is believed that a couple of McKenzie & Mann cables trying to make love to a couple of hydro cables at Niagara Falls nearly put the hydro plant on the rocks for a short time during Tuesday morning's storm. It resulted in a general reduction in power to one-half for some time.

The cables of the two companies started hugging one another during the storm. Evidently the contact was disastrous. It put two of the hydro generators out of business. Immediately the power load to all centres was cut 50 per cent. and an effort made to repair the damage.

The local utilities commission was unable to get down to 50 per cent. and on three occasions the power was shut off completely. The London street railway, London and Port Stanley and the Traction lines were affected.

About 10 o'clock Tuesday word came from Niagara that the damage had been fixed, and that the city would be cut but 20 per cent. This is while working on the damage which caused the 25 per cent cut all last week continues. Once again the local commission is assured that the damage would be repaired by night.

WORK ON BUILDINGS AT CARLING HEIGHTS HAS NOT YET BEGUN

Rumor Has It Delay May Be Long.

Reports are in circulation today that the winter buildings for Carling Heights will not be erected for some time, although the contract has been let to the firm of which Col. Bob Low is the head.

The work was to have commenced two weeks ago Monday, according to Col. Low, and there is a clause in the contract which calls for completion of a number of the buildingsw ithin sixty days.

Contractors who expected to secure some of the minor contracts were not optimistic that the work would go on. Headquarters could give no information in the matter, but it was stated that no attempt had been made to secure the Western Fair buildings for another winter.

One theory was that the work was being held up because of the chance that peace might be here before the buildings were needed.

GAS RESOLUTION GOES BACK TO COMMITTEE

Alderman Wants Details of Proposed Vote.

The city council last night referred back to No. 1 committee the motion that the request of the Gas Company that it be allowed to mix natural gas with its artificial, be sent to the ratepayers in January.

Ald. P. J. Watt stated that the resolution should state what percentage of gas was to be mixed and also the period for which the agreement was to run. He stated that he understood that the company was going to charge 90 cents for this gas. It could purify it at a cost of 20 cents, he declared.

Ald. Ashplant said he thought the city would be governed by the recent legislation which limited such agreements to yearly or annual ones.

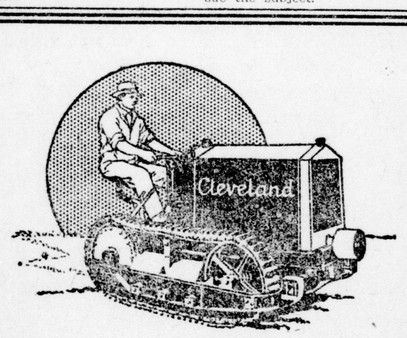

"We have to get all the fuel we can get," declared Controller Merryfield.

WANTS OVERHEAD BRIDGE

Ald. Watkinson wants the city to consider erecting an overhead footbridge at the Egerton street crossing of the Grand Trunk. He told the council last night that the crossing was a "death-trap" and menace to life. Why should the lives of citizens be placed in jeopardy? he asked. Workers are held up and frequently suffer the loss of part of their day's pay because of delays at this crossing, he said. Trains block the crossing for periods of from five to ten minutes. When the pedestrians get to work they find the doors closed and have to wait until quarter time, or 9 o'clock, before they can go to work. In this way they lose three hours.

He wanted to know what the city was going to do about it.

Mayor Somerville pointed out that it was useless for aldermen to ask such questions. There was no one who could answer them. They should direct the matter to the attention of the proper committee, and it would then be considered. The alderman did not pursue the subject.

Cleveland Tractor

It is estimated that a horse requires the products of about five acres to sustain it.

THE CLEVELAND TRACTOR does the work of several horses, but consumes none of the food which it produces; hence by its use many more acres are available for human food.

THE CLEVELAND TRACTOR travels on its own endless tracks like the great battle "tanks." It goes almost anywhere and does the things you want a tractor to do.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS PROVIDED SOLDIERS ARE UNCOMFORTABLE

Maimed Man Asks Attention of Premier Borden.

POINTS OUT HIS DUTIES

Sir Robert Ought To Look Into This Instead of Going Fishing.

In view of the fact that permanent injury incurred when on duty in the service of one's country demands in the name of justice and national honor as ample compensation as it is within the power of the government of that country to provide, the following letter is timely and of special interest. It discloses a state of affairs concerning which a public, whose sympathies are all on the side of the maimed, returned soldiers, is certainly not informed. If individual patriotism induces a man to forsake home and family, to forego business and pleasure, no less does national patriotism require a Government to discharge to the limit obligations which it has pledged itself to fulfill. The writer of the letter suggests this can be accomplished more efficiently and expeditiously if the leader of the Government would deny himself the luxury of a fishing trip and its attendant pleasures, until he can satisfy the people that nothing has been left undone that will render easier the lot of the soldier maimed for life.

EXPERIENCE SPEAKS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I am writing a letter, trusting you may find space in your valuable columns.

In Wednesday night's paper I was very interested in the letter concerning Borden and his pleasure trip to England.

I agree with the writer, if the premier would stay at home and look after the welfare of the people he would have a few more friends.

I was wounded at the battle of the Somme, and the result was I lost my right leg six inches from the hip. I am now wearing a Government leg for a year. It's not a leg; just a piece of a tree whittled out the shape of a leg. I think a jackknife carpenter could do much better.

Heavy and Rattles.

This leg weighs eight pounds, and rattles like an old wagon with a loose tire. I have been to Toronto three times at the Government's expense to see if the leg could be made with more comfort, but not such good fortune.

Now, if Borden had taken his pleasure trip to the limb-factory in Toronto, and seen how the boys try their best to navigate on the piece of tree, I think all the Dominion would say it was a sensible outing. Fathers and mothers would say and think their sons were being looked after properly, and would be able to fulfill responsible positions once more in civilian life, but as it is they are to be left invalids for life and be pushed around in an invalid's chair by an aged parent. I am trying to save enough money to buy myself a leg from an American firm; it will cost $125.

Thousands Affected.

I am one out of thousands maimed for life. If the returned man was treated better, he could look forward to better days, but as it is, he is completely discouraged.

I am more of a cripple today, caused from wearing this leg, than when I returned from France. If Borden was wearing it, I don't think he would go on his fishing trip.

DISCOURAGED VETERAN.

P. S.—I am not the only one in this district complaining, but I have yet to meet the first man saying he has got a good Government limb, and some already are wearing the Winkley limb with good results.

London, Sept. 3.

GIRLS AND WOMEN IN POLICE COURT PROVIDE MOST OF THE BUSINESS

Four Face Magistrate, Three Vagrancy Charges and One Accused of Drunkenness.

That girls who go driving in an automobile with men whose names they do not know commit an act of vagrancy by so doing, was impressed upon two girls in police court Tuesday by Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon. The girls were arrested on Clarence street about 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, when they told the patrolmen that they did not want to go to their boarding-house, as they had been out to Springbank with two men and were late getting home. They pleaded not guilty to the charge of vagrancy.

Both of the girls work at one of the restaurants during their spare time in order to make enough money to live, they said. One of the two said she made only $6.83 per week at a local factory, and she has to pay $4.50 for her board every week. She was brought out from England by her brother, who is now overseas, and she has no relatives here at all. Her companion is an English girl also. Magistrate Graydon suggested that it would be better for them to go to housework. One of them demurred at this, as she said so many people did not know how to treat a servant properly.

A lady who has been taking an interest in the welfare of the girls of the city pleaded for leniency on their behalf and promised to exercise a motherly oversight of them. They were dismissed on suspended sentence with this understanding.

One other woman, also charged with and convicted of vagrancy, was remanded to jail for one week to allow time for consideration as to what is the best course to take regarding her case.

One more of the weaker sex was in court to answer to the charge of being drunk, but she pleaded not guilty. J. M. McEvoy, her counsel, asked for an adjournment, in order to procure some witnesses. This was agreed to by the court, and her case will be tried on Thursday. She was allowed her freedom on her own bail. Dr. Spence explained to the court that if she were drunk it must have been caused by beef, iron and wine, as he had found an empty bottle, which had apparently been left at his office by her.

"The doctor apparently has a grouch against patent medicines," said J. M. McEvoy.

ONE TEACHER ABSENT

Full Staff on Hand for Opening of School.

The full teaching staff of the public schools was on hand for the opening yesterday with but one exception. Assistant Principal Knight of Victoria School, who is confined to his home. He is just recovering from an attack of pneumonia.

Misses D. Bell and M. Harris, the former a public school teacher and the latter an art school teacher, have resigned. Miss Marion Nash, a public school nurse, also resigned.

The school board has approved of the appointment of George Cowle, of Strathroy, as manual training teacher for the public schools, at an initial salary of $1,300.

Mr. Cray, a temporary teacher of French and German in the collegiate, has been appointed permanently to the staff on the recommendation of Principal Mooney.

The school board has been touched for $200. It discovered that the heating apparatus of the new Ryerson school was of defective construction. It cost that amount to put it in shape.

R. M. Ferguson, janitor at Alexandra school, has been transferred to the Technical school, and C. W. Thurling, who was in the employ of the board previous to going overseas, has been appointed janitor at Alexandra School.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

A GLARING CASE FOR INVESTIGATION.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

"Father of a Soldier, etc," complains no doubt justly of treatment accorded one of his boys. After my experience I can believe almost any statement of abuse of bumpkin officials in enforcing the M. S. A.

Arnold Smith of Beachville, Ont., 46 years old, stands some five feet, weighs 110 pounds, wears a boy's No. 5 boot, and a small youth's suit, is so deaf he can hardly hear, can be scarcely understood when he speaks, cannot read or write, has always been an invalid, and doctor's instructions are to take greatest care of him, as he is most delicate, and was given up years ago. With all these handicaps it is with sorrow we have to state his mental condition is deficient, quite noticeably so. He has lived with brothers and sisters in this place sixteen years, coming from London. He is well known for miles, and has never been away from his family in his life. He never slept alone or without a light. No baby out of its cradle, no doddering old man, no cripple was ever more noticeably not subject to the provisions of the M. S. A. than this man. Yet the chief of police of Ingersoll, who knew him well, met him on the street Saturday evening, and asked him to call at his office Monday at 9:30 a.m. Upon doing so he locked him alone in a cell and said he would have to send him to London. Monday evening he was taken to Carling Heights. He was given a blanket only, shown to a tent away on the outside row, and extreme eastern side of camp, and left to sleep on the floor alone. The fly and bottom of tent were rolled up, which he did not understand unrolling, and slept there in his condition, and health and state of mind, on one of the coldest nights since July. He had nothing to eat for twenty-one hours.

In his health and condition imagine his state! His natural protectors away at the time, he knew they were not aware what had become of him. He could not understand what the trouble was. If he had to be stood up against a wall and shot he could not have felt it worse.

Tuesday morning he was sent to the mobilization centre to be medically examined, and was given a certificate as mentally deficient, yet that did not discharge him. He was sent back with his papers to Carling Heights, and they wanted to keep him over until Wednesday afternoon. Upon strong representations by writer, who was there looking after the matter, he was given a pass until 2:30 to interview the A. P. M., also instructed to turn in his blankets. While taking them in he was stopped, thrown into a tent by a sergeant of I Company, W. O. R., and ordered to wait the arrival of some other jack in office, and this despite the fact he had a pass. The writer objected to his detention under the circumstances, and unwisely deplored the unwinding of so many miles of red tape. For this he was ordered out of the quarters, although it was raining very heavily, and was obliged to stand in the rain for over half an hour. I asked the sergeant his name and was informed it was "none of my damned business."

Such is one experience with the working of the M. S. A. We hold up our hands with horror when we hear of the Germans deporting Belgians. No doubt intelligent men who can appreciate their exact position, will ask are all such deportations any worse than the treatment handed out to Arnold Smith, who could not appreciate his exact position?

If these men who are seemingly so anxious to secure the bodies of men are not stopped they will be raiding the asylums, hospitals, orphanages, homes for incurables, and houses of refuge, in order to get some.

In conclusion, I want to state in regard to this particular case that all facts are true and all available; further, that in the minds of all decent and right-thinking people, the town of Ingersoll receives no credit from it, by employing such a man as chief of police and that it ought as a municipality consider itself disgraced by the action of this man while in its employ, and that it should purge itself by investigating the case until such time the man and the town who employs him should be considered on a par only with the Prussian deporters of Belgians.

One bright spot in the whole disgraceful affair is the considerate kindness shown to the writer by Majors Irving and Hirsch.

Cannot, dare not, call full attention to it! Then we had better let Germany run things. She could not run them worse.

These are the utterances of a rabid Englishman, and one whose brother's name is to be found on the Soldiers' Monument in the park at London, Ont.

Yours truly,
A. W. Smith.
Beachville, Ont., August 29, 1918.

WHY ARE THE FARMERS AND LABOR MEN OF CANADA NOT BETTER REPRESENTED IN PARLIAMENT?

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

According to a statement in the Farmer's Advocate of May 23, 1918, the present House of Commons of the Parliament of Canada consists of 73 lawyers, 39 farmers, 23 physicians, 23 manufacturers, 22 merchants and a small smattering of other professional men and artisans.

Why are there not more farmers and labor men among the representatives? Because the farmers and laboring men have hitherto been too much divided on party lines, "Grit" and Tory," for their own good, instead of "getting together" and "sticking together" and electing suitable candidates of their own.

Would it not be more to the interests of both farmers and labor men to have suitable farmer and labor candidates to represent them than to depend on lawyers and doctors, and other professional politicians who are not in sympathy with the farmers and labor men?

If farmers and labor men are to become properly represented in Parliament they must organize politically on right lines and make sure that proper representatives of their own are elected to represent them, and they should proceed to get their organizations properly developed now and not wait until an election campaign is on. It takes time to get proper organization completed.

Why should not farmers be elected to represent rural constituencies, and labor men be elected to represent city constituencies?

LOAN ART EXHIBIT SECURED FOR FAIR

Prospects For Big Week Were Never So Bright.

Art-lovers who visit the Western Fair this year are assured of a genuine treat in the shape of a beautiful loan exhibit from the National Art Galleries, Ottawa, which the fair management were successful in securing.

Secretary A. M. Hunt, of the fair, states that the exhibit arrived safely at an early hour this morning and contains the following noted pictures by well-known Canadian artists: "Breaking a Road" by W. Cruikshank; "Mother Love" by Paul Peel; "Britain's Domain" by W. M. Cutts; "Beaupre" by F. McGillivray Knowles; "Youth and Sunlight" by Suzor-Cote; "Interior of a Sail Loft" by H. Britton; "Spring's Garland" by Ivan Neilson and "Late Fall—Manitoba," by L. L. Fitzgerald. It is believed that this splendid exhibit will be the best ever brought to London and local amateurs and professionals are eagerly looking forward to the opportunity of examining the work of the leading successful Canadian artists.

A vast quantity of material of all kinds is now on the grounds, and out of the heterogeneous piles of miscellaneous matter will shortly be evolved what is expected to be by far the greatest exhibition Western Ontario has ever held. Extremely heavy mails are now being handled by the Western Fair staff, and the general offices are fairly swamped with entries. The cheese and butter entries will be sold at public auction in the dairy building at 7 p.m. on Monday evening next.

The New York expert in charge of the fireworks is already in the city making arrangements for his part of the program, and states that his firm has excelled itself in providing the pyrotechnic displays that are to close each evening in a blaze of glory.

The Silent Heroes of the War

THE men of the Merchant Marine—do you ever give them a thought?

The whole submarine campaign is aimed to frighten this non-combatant force off the seas. For then—

Britain, France, Italy would face starvation.
Our armies could not fight.
Canada would be wrecked commercially.
The fight for liberty would be lost.

Yet governments make no official recognition of this heroic body of 300,000 men who toil day and night in danger of death. No provision is made for pensions, or relief for their dependents.

We must admit our debt to the widows and orphans of the 15,000 men of the Merchant Marine, who have gone down, victims of the U-boat. Our cry must be—

"They Shall Not Want"

THE soldier is rightly remembered with gifts, separation allowance and pension. He is honored, as is his due.

The men of the Navy are provided for and their dependents not allowed to suffer want.

But the seamen of the Merchant Marine—facing death in a hideous form at their daily work, risk all at the call of duty.

It would be a lasting disgrace to allow the widows and orphans of the noble 15,000 to suffer hardship, other than the loss of their dear ones. Those who died on the sea are calling to you now!

In his famous speech of August 8th, 1918, Premier Lloyd George said:

"During the past two years Germany has made two distinct attempts to force a decision—one on the land and one on the sea. The land offensive might have been disastrous, but the sea offensive, if it had succeeded, would have been final. If the submarines had succeeded, our armies in France would have withered away. No Americans could have come over to assist us and the French troops. Ammunition could not have been shipped and we could not have sent the necessary coal and material to enable France and Italy to manufacture munitions.
If France, Italy and Great Britain were threatened with starvation the war would have been over before this stage had been reached."

Picked for Task of Breaking "Wotan Line."

CASUALTIES ARE HEAVY

Strenuous Fighting Lies Ahead in Rolling the Enemy Up.

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN THE FIELD, Sept. 3.—(By J. F. B. Livesay, Canadian Press correspondent.)—The Canadian corps captured yesterday between five and six thousand prisoners, but it was only by intensive and sanguinary fighting. More than ever the enemy relied on his machine gun nests. A single gunner in one of these might inflict a hundred casualties on our advancing infantry. It is some solace that the destruction of the machine gun nests led invariably to the capture of a hundred or more Boche sheep in the dugouts behind. They surrendered willingly enough. Their machine guns had paid their price.

At noon Monday the Canadian forces attacking had passed through the portion of the Quesnt-Drocourt switch confronting them, thus breaking down the enemy's main line of resistance in this sector. On either flank British home troops were well up in the thick of the battle.

Hard Fighting Ahead.

The Canadian corps has achieved the great initial feat of breaking the enemy's chosen and fortified line. It opens the way for large operations, but the corps is up against resistance of the most determined kind. To even hold what it has won, it must beat back counter-attack after counter-attack. The enemy has massed some of his best divisions in a nattempt to stop our forward operations. The struggle of the next few days may be of a severe character, but the Canadians are confident. They believe that under his selected conditions they can always taek the measure of the Boche.

In the entire Amiens operations the Canadians captured 190 guns and howitzers, 1,040 machine guns, 51 trench mortars and 9,131 prisoners. But important though that operation was, its objectives were limited as compared with the tasks essayed Monday by the Canadians. This was nothing less than the shattering of the enemy's last main line of defence in this sector.

Picked for the Job.

The ground on which they stood when zero hour struck was the farthest line east of Arras, won by the Allies since the battle of the Marne two years ago, and this would have been a great objective in itself, but with the coming of the war of movement, such tried troops can be set at a greater task. They were given the task of breaking through the Quesnt-Drocourt switch (or to the Wotan line, as he calls it), and thus driving in the wedge that shall burst asunder his defence and roll it up to the north and south. It is a task entailing great preparation of every kind, but depending on its final terms on the power of the artillery and the tenacity of the infantry. The barrage that was opened at 5 o'clock Monday morning was the most extensive and represented the heaviest collection of artillery, light and heavy, ever seen in this war, whether on the front of the Amiens battle, or that of Passchendaele or of Vimy Ridge.

A Converging Fire.

But, in addition, there was the converging fire of the British armies to the right and left. As this barrage crept forward ahead of the infantry, lifting a hundred yards at a time, there could be made out the slow-moving tanks. Hardly had the attack opened when field batteries galloped over the ground, but a few minutes before the infantry had stood at attention waiting the word to go in. Overhead flew the bombing aircraft, raining death from the skies upon the enemy. Behind all waited the machine guns, independent mobile, that did such splendid work along the Roye road, and now waited impatiently the chance to get in behind and cut to pieces the enemy's organization at the back. Again a considerable body of British home troops are fighting within the same corps, side by side with the men from the Dominion. They, too, shared in the victory. Tried troops of the first British armies, they are the worthy comrades in arms of their Canadian brethren.

INTERNED GERMANS ATTEMPT TO SINK VESSELS IN CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Sept. 3. — The crews on the German steamships interned at the Chilean seaport of Corral, in Valdivia, today made attempts to sink their ships.

The Government and people are much exercised over the occurrence. If the Germans had been successful in sinking their vessels the port would have been made useless.

Commander and 24 Men Sole Survivors of Enemy Battalion

German Losses Heavier Than Any They Have Previously Suffered.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 3.—In one place along the line of battle eight German divisions—or, rather, four comparatively fresh divisions and the remnants of four other divisions—were fighting against three British divisions. An officer from one of these enemy divisions, which was the second guards reserve, said, however, that his division had been in the fighting for more than a week, and that its effectives would number less than 1,000 men. In his battalion, only himself and 24 of his men had survived, he declared. He added that the German losses had been heavier than any they had previously suffered.

ALLIED AIRMEN DROP BOMBS IN RHINE PROVINCES

Heavy Damage Inflicted at Ehrang, Buehl and Saarbrucken.

FOE HANGARS DESTROYED

Enemy Military Works and Railway Station Are Damaged.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The British independent air force within the last 24 hours has dropped fifteen tons of bombs on German military works in the Rhine province. Three raids were made on the German airdrome at Buehl. Three hangars were demolished and direct hits were obtained on many others.

The railways at Ehrang, four miles northeast of Treves, were attacked from a height of 900 feet and every bomb scored a direct hit.

At Saarbrucken, 40 miles southeast of Treves, the Burbach works and railways were bombed.

Disastrous For Foe.

American and British airmen in an air raid on the German airdrome at Vassenare, Belgium, have caused great damage, according to an announcement made here today. A gasoline and oil shed was set on fire, and this in turn ignited an ammunition dump and also six fokker biplanes. Two other machines were destroyed by direct hits by bombs, and a large Gotha hangar was completely burned.

The pilot of a British two-seater was attacked by seven hostile machines. The enemy fired explosive bullets and the pilot was hit five times in the left leg. Although his leg was almost severed the pilot succeeded in landing his machine behind the British lines.

The air ministry this evening issues the following report dealing with recent aerial operations:

Raids Into Rhine.

"In addition to the attacks already reported on the hostile airdromes at Beuhl on the morning of the second instant our squadrons on the afternoon of the second instant again attacked the same objective. Very good results were obtained. More hangars were hit and a fire was started. All our machines returned safely.

"On the night of September 2-3 our squadrons dropped a total of seventeen tons of bombs. The Beuhl airdrome was again heavily attacked and the following targets bombed: The Burbach Works and the railways at Saarbrucken and Ehrang and the Boulay airdrome. Several fires were started. At Beuhl, three hangars were demolished and direct hits were obtained on many others. The attack was carried out at an altitude from 300 to 900 feet. More than fifteen tons of bombs were dropped on this airdrome in 24 hours.

"The railways at Ehrang were attacked from a height of 900 feet and every bomb obtained a direct hit. A fire was started at the Burbach works and very good bursts observed. All our machines returned safely."

SILENT POLICEMEN FOR GODERICH SQUARE

GODERICH, Sept. 3.—The town has placed a couple of silent policemen to direct the traffic on the square, which means a great deal for the safety of the public, as well as saving many accidents with cars and rigs.

William Moore, a young man of about 18 years of age, was arrested the other day by Chief Postlethwaite, and appeared before Magistrate Reed on a charge of stealing a wheel. On hearing the evidence the young man was sent up for trial.

SOMME CROSSED BY THE FRENCH NEAR EPANCOURT

Poilus Also Gain Strong Footing on East Side of Canal du Nord.

1,200 PRISONERS TAKEN

Germans Have Used Some of Their Best Regiments in Last Few Days.

PARIS, Sept. 3.—French troops have crossed the Somme near Epancourt, according to the war office announcement tonight. They have also gained a foothold on the east side of the Canal-du-Nord.

The statement reads:

"Our infantry has crossed the Somme before Epancourt. Farther south our troops have gained a footing in the village of Ceuvry (Genvry?) east of the Canal-du-Nord, taking two hundred prisoners.

"East of Noyon we made new progress and reached the outskirts of Salency. The artillery fighting is lively in this region.

"In the course of the battle yesterday between the Ailette and the Aisne we took 1,200 prisoners.

"An enemy raid in the Violu sector (the Vosges) brought no result."

KILLING OFF FOE'S BEST.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, Sept. 3.—By the Associated Press).—The battle for the plateau north of Soissons has used up some of the best divisions remaining in the German army. Yesterday's fighting between Crecy-au-Mont and Leuilly and between Juvigny and Terny was particularly severe.

This was evidenced this morning by the field being strewn with the dead of the Prussian Guards. They are piled one on top of the other in some trenches and long lines of them show where the Guards counter-attacked five times in a violent effort to stem the tide of battle which was running relentlessly against them.

Each one of these efforts added largely to the losses of the Prussians in wounded as well as in dead, while after each rush a lot more of unwounded prisoners remained in the hands of the French. More than 1,200 Germans were sent to the rear in the course of the battle.

Both tanks and air squadrons contributed to the rout of the Guards. Aviators, flying low over the field, met the attacking forces with a galling machine gun fire and pursued the decimated lines as they retired before the unflinching French troops.

Tanks drove into the enemy's lines machine-gunning and shelling the assaulting waves and opening big gaps in the German lines.

OVER 40,000 SUSPECTED SLACKERS ARRESTED IN UNCLE SAM'S ROUND-UP

New York, Sept. 3.—Federal officials estimated shortly before midnight that more than 40,000 suspected slackers had been arrested today in New York and nearby cities in the great roundup of draft evaders, conducted by 25,000 soldiers, sailors, policemen and government agents.

WHITMAN FOR GOVERNOR.

New York, Sept. 3.—Gov. Charles Whitman, according to the primary returns received up to midnight, has been renominated as the Republican candidate for governor.

LUMBER INDUSTRY IN BRITISH COLUMBIA OF BIG IMPORTANCE

Commissioner Beale Outlines Export Possibilities of This Product.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—L. B. Beale of the provincial department of lands has been appointed by the Government as lumber commissioner in Great Britain and France. On his way to take up his duties in Europe, Mr. Beale has investigated conditions in Eastern Canada. In an interview given out in Toronto recently he declared there were practically unlimited possibilities in connection with the export of the British Columbia lumber, not only to Europe, but to South America, New Zealand, South Africa, India, China and Japan.

So far as the Eastern Canadian lumber trade is concerned, stated Mr. Beale, preparations will undoubtedly be made to secure a larger proportion for British Columbia when conditions are closer to normal.

War conditions have brought about a considerable expansion of the lumber industry. Spruce cutting for the construction of airplane wing beam stock has now become a large branch of the work, and with the supply of wood suitable for this purpose, practically centered in British Columbia, this line should retain importance when attention is directed to the commercial development of the airplane after the war.

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—Mrs. E. J. Zavits has been elected to the senate of McMaster University to represent the arts graduates for a five-year period. This is the first time a woman has been elected to this position. At the same election Rev. L. S. Hughson, D.D., pastor of Ontario Street Baptist Church, Stratford, was elected to represent the graduates in theology for a similar term.

WOUNDED IN HEAD.

AILSA CRAIG, Sept. 3.—Official word has been received by Mr. Donald McCallum of East Williams that his son, Pte. Donald McCallum, who went overseas with the 135th Battalion, has been wounded in the head. This is the second time Pte. McCallum has been wounded.

PRINCE RUPPRECHT IS AT LOGGERHEADS WITH CHIEF OF ARMY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Dispatches from Switzerland say Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is in complete disagreement with General Ludendorff. The Barvian crown prince, it is said, opposed the last German offensive, holding that the Germans neither had the means nor the strategic positions to be successful. He wished to retire, but the German commander feared the discontent that this step would awake in Bavaria.

It is suggested that this situation may explain why the crown prince has gone home on a long vacation.

THE LONDON ADVERTISER COMPANY, LIMITED.

London, Ont., Wednesday, September 4.

LET SIR DOUGLAS WRITE IT.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG paid the finest tribute that can be written to the Canadians yesterday when his official report contained the following:

"Canadian troops showed the greatest skill and courage in storming the Drocourt-Queant line. These lines had been perfected by the enemy in the past eighteen months. They provided the most formidable obstacle, as they had been furnished with every device of modern engineering. The enemy had reinforced his defences here to such a degree that on a front of 8,000 yards no less than eleven German divisions were identified."

PUSHING THEM BACK.

THE FALL of Lens places an immense advantage with the Allied forces, and coming after the splendid British-Canadian stroke in breaking through the Hindenburg line at the Drocourt-Queant switch makes almost certain that with constant pressure and further strokes by Foch a new line from Lille to Douai to Cambrai to St. Quentin to Laon must be quickly formed.

The whole of the Hindenburg line would then be lost to the Germans, and there is imminent danger to the Huns that beyond its famous bulwark of defence is almost certain to come an overwhelming defeat. The speed with which the Allied armies are operating, the success at points strongly or lightly defended, the spirit of victory which appears to beckon on our fighters and to fill them with a marvellous stamina are telling factors in the development of a potential rout for which history would hold no parallel. Prophecy has been humbled in this war, but the signs were never so full of the certainty of speedy German defeat and an end to the war. The enemy in more than five weeks of fighting on his own battleground has never been able to get his feet set to bring a pressure against the Allied forces. One foot is first forced back, and though the second sinks itself and attempts to hold on, the toes are hacked and battered and the other leg subjected to such a punishment that the big brutal fighter cannot maintain his balance. The lilliputians have grown up into a sturdy set of youths, to say the least. They are hammering the giant from every side. They have the numerical strength, they have the guns, the money and the will to win.

German strategy and German morale have been put to the great test in the last five weeks. The strategy was crumpled up and made to seem a poor thing, as on many other occasions when it appeared the Hun had the whole world at his feet. The British and French have shown that they could fight a wonderful defensive action and finally check their enemy. The German has yet to prove that he can retreat without showing a yellow streak up his back as broad as the River Rhine.

EVERYBODY GIVE TO THE NAVY.

OUR DEBT to the sea fighters, the men who man the tramps, the boys in the mosquito fleets, can only be conceived when one eliminates the spaces that lie between us and the ocean and lives on the seaboard.

The seaboard of the British Empire is the line which these sailors hold. Inland cities are only geographically fortunate if they do not come in contact with the dangers and disasters faced by the brave fellows who keep the sea lanes clear, who hunt the submarines and by dint of the most constant vigilance, skill, sacrifice and courage frustrate the sea serpents of the enemy in his attempts to strangle the free people of the world.

For every day of security, for every Canadian carried safely to England, for every letter and every parcel that goes forward, we owe a debt to the sailors. They are removed from us to such an extent that a seaman's uniform is a sight on our streets. They do not receive the same rate of pay as the soldiers nor are their dependents secure against financial deprivation in the event of their death.

It is the bounden duty of Londoners this week to do something in a substantial way for the navy. Who has not thanked God and the British navy for our safety and the world's safety? Talk is very cheap. The thing to do is to give something during sailor's week for such a cause. Sit down quietly for a few moments and take the navy as a subject for your thoughts. Let the force of that mighty service to humanity sink in. And your hand will reach automatically for your checkbook or your purse. Give much or give a little, but give something. Let us get over the top this week and respond with that $25,000 for which the Navy League of Canada is making an appeal! Let the spontaneous generosity of citizens take the place of organization! Give all you can!

WALT WHITMAN IN 1918.

BECAUSE WALT WHITMAN wrote some of his best poetry at a time when the minds of men were occupied, just as they are today, with war and all its surroundings, it is not strange to find these verses of civil war times ringing afresh with new inspiration and new message in this our own day of stress and conflict. It is precisely because of the humanity aspect of this war, its hopes and its strivings for freedom and democracy that Walt Whitman is so much that poet of the past who makes the living appeal today. "How many young men did I find in the French Ambulance Service during this war in Belgium or in Macedonia reading Walt Whitman's 'Wound Dresser From the Drum Taps?'" writes Pierre de Lanux in a recently-published book. "His influence on a few poets is small, compared to his action on the mentality of the young in general. It is an immensely renewed inspiration which he proposes and which is one of the treasures of our time."

And a tribute not unlike this is brought by "Medicine and Surgery," which sees in his effect on youth a breath of preventive medicine. "Walt Whitman has become today," says this journal, "a tone of the clearest resonance with mighty reverberations which are effecting a complete change in the youth of France and England."

The civil war brought physical suffering to Whitman just as it has come to so many in our own day. It tested his religion and faith, tried his sanity and his cheerfulness and his charity. He gave of his best to the relief of wounded and suffering soldiers and the best came back to him in widened vision of mankind, of mankind's sufferings, aspirations and hopes. Out of that experience came some of his noblest verses, the "Drum Taps" and the poems on the great emancipator that are so deeply spiritual.

John Burroughs saw him in 1863 and he has written: "The actual scene of this man moving among the maimed, the pale, the low-spirited, the near-to-death, can hardly be pictured by any pen, however expert. His magnetism was incredible and exhaustless. The lustreless eye brightened up at his approach, a bracing air seemed to fill the wards."

The external details of his daily task the poet records in one of the "Drum Taps":

"Bearing the bandages, water and sponge,
Straight and swift to my wounded I go,
Where they lie on the ground after the battle brought in.
* * * * * * *
To each and all one after another I draw near, nor one do I miss."

The lesson of the war for Whitman, the greatest lesson, was that the race could still sacrifice for its ideals. That, too, has been the supreme discovery in our own day. "The soldiers know how to love," he said on one occasion, and he saw where that spirit lay latent in all hearts ready to be touched by a world need. He saw men as brothers all, soldiers all in a field that is the world, the battle going on every day for the body and the eternal soul until the times comes when

"Presently, O soldiers, we too camp in our place in the bivouac-camps of green,
But we need not provide for outposts, nor word for the countersign,
Nor drummer to beat the morning drum."

EXCESSIVE SPEECH.

THE ADVERTISER is being accused by the friends of one alderman who seldom opens his mouth at a council meeting with crediting his remarks to another alderman who rarely opens his mouth. It should be noted London has three or four silent aldermen, but the others are equal to the task of making up for the silent ones. The board of works meeting on Tuesday night was an evidence of this. On one occasion five aldermen were talking on different subjects at one time, while the real subject under consideration was forgotten. The minutes of the meeting since compiled in the clerk's office state that "no action was taken" on the matter. The claims of the different wards on their respective aldermen are soaring to the top repeatedly of late, even to the exclusion of matters of paramount importance to the city at large.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

First through the heart of the Hindenburg line—Currie of Middlesex and his brave men.

The Provincial Government sets a fine example in donating $100,000 to the Sailors' Fund.

Sir Robert Borden gave his watch to a baby to chew at Toronto. Is that all he knows about feeding infants?

All sorts of featherweight championships were decided in London Monday. Two prize fighters were after one title and at the Labor Day sports two women in a chicken race disposed of the feathers of a fowl in short order.

The sympathy of many friends will be extended to Hon. Rudolph Lemieux in the loss of his son, Lieut. Lemiex, who fell in recent fighting. The former postmaster-general is one of the staunchest lieutenants of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Let's hope when peace comes that the Allies will make a present to France of all war material that may be converted to the country's peaceful pursuits, such as barb wire, tractors and even possibly tanks converted into agricultural implements.

PATIENCE NECESSARY.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

We must be patient with Russia. This does not mean that we must be patient with men who mislead Russia. The paucity of news, its prejudiced coloring, the wide differences of race and mental methods, have prevented us from judging prematurely the good faith and honest purpose of men whom the turbid tide of the Revolution has from time to time thrown upon the surface. Wise and fair minds have awaited some supreme test. That test has now come. The present attitude of the Allies, as expressed by the American Government, by the British expedition at Archangel, by Japan and in various other ways, is so transparently, unquestionably sincerely friendly toward the Russian people and the Russian Revolution that it is no longer possible for an honest mind to doubt it.

NO END TO GIVING.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Is there no end to giving? There is not—until the great end. The best line that any advertiser in the United States ever wrote was the line: "While some one gives his life, what are you giving? Think a minute."

What are you giving, you who run loose and go about your virtually undisturbed affairs? What are you giving when you think a minute of the fellows who fight Germans and cooties, rats and trench fever, gas and shrapnel, mud and filth, and endure atrocious suffering or miserable discomfort?

What have you given or what can you give? The demands upon your money do come rapidly. It is the way they have to come. It represents the pressure which must be put upon. Even this pressure is an indication of your own good fortune. You are here, being asked for your money but not your life.

This is the way in which the loose coin of the nation is shaken out of its pockets; the fashion in which lose habits are ironed out and community discipline imposed.

THOSE FRENCH NAMES.

The war-poet who made Joffre rhyme with offer did not reach the limit. The newspaper jester who remarked "Pop goes the Vesle" has him beaten several kilometres.

SAVING THE HAM.

Luke McLuke Says

The man who realizes that he is fooled a whole lot oftener than there is any excuse for never loses much. It is the square-head who thinks he can't be fooled who gets the hard wallop.

The reason why Mother knows that the Baby is saying "Oh, look at the pretty dolly" is because the Baby is trying to get some curdled milk out of his throat and isn't trying to say anything.

Once in a while a woman drives a man to drink. But oftener than that he beats her to it.

The best way to get on with people is to let them alone and not to see too much of them. That's the reason why married couples have so many fusses.

One thing worth remembering is that every time you butt in you add at least one more to your collection of enemies.

If a man wants to go to a blow-out and tells his wife so, she will tell him that he can't go. But if he is smart and growls around that he promised to attend the blow out and isn't going to because he doesn't want to go, she will bawl him out for being a mean man, and disappointing his friends, and she will force him to go.

A girl often marries a man when she knows that he isn't good enough for her because she knows that he is too good for the other girl who is chasing him.

Many a nice sleeping porch is unoccupied at night because Friend Wife knows how Friend Husband snores, and make him sleep indoors so he won't arouse the neighborhood.

It is a good thing that a man doesn't have to carry a handbag in which to keep his handkerchief and his money like a woman. If he did he would have to buy a new bag every day in the week. If he didn't leave it in the street car he would leave it in the first cafe he visited.

Maybe money would look as big to a man as it does to a woman if he had to touch his wife for every cent he got to spend.

The reason why everything he does pleases her before they are married is because nothing he does will please her after they are married.

"SOPHISTICATED BILLY."

By Louise Oliver.

Billy Crawford was tired and wanted a rest. It had been an intensely busy winter at the plant, with every wheel turning and every man working, and now that the warm, languorous days of spring had come he decided that he needed a vacation.

So he called on Eleanor Gage one evening to bid her good-bye and to impart the news that he was going to New York "for a time."

"What do you call a 'time,' Billy?" she asked.

He flicked the ash from his cigarette. "Well," he answered, with a man-of-the-world air, "it means to the sophisticated a round of pleasure. The usual thing, you know—shows, restaurants, roof gardens this time of the year, and so forth. Lots of pretty, well-dressed women, people you get along well with if you're the right sort, and all that. Dickie Merrick and I usually hang out together. Dick knows scads of people. I'm to meet him at the Biltmore."

Eleanor counted her stitches before she answered.

"But just now, Billy, do you think it's the thing?"

He regarded her with tolerant amusement. "I suppose you mean the war. You rather have a sneaky idea I ought to enlist, haven't you, Nellie?"

"Oh, it isn't exactly that. I just think it's not good taste to throw away money on foolishness when it's so badly needed elsewhere."

"Well, maybe it looks like fiddling while Rome burns, but I've earned the right to have a good time. I've worked all winter on war stuff—what more do you want?"

"The boys in the camps have worked all winter, too, Billy. And they're not getting any rest now, or prospect of rest with France ahead."

He threw away his cigarette impatiently, and then he said a mean thing. "That's what it is to live in a small town. You girls are like everyone else; you get one idea in your head and you can't get it out. That's what I'm going to New York for—to get away from knitting and Red Cross and Liberty bond fiends and war talk. I'm going where people understand, where they have a broader view and don't think you're a criminal if you have a little fun."

Then Eleanor waxed righteously angry. Forgotten was the sock which fell unheeded along with the ball of yarn at her feet.

"Then, if living in New York means to forget the war and our boys over there for one instant, I'm glad I am a small-town girl. And, although just now you don't seem especially anxious for my answer to a certain question you asked me a week or so ago, I'm going to tell you now that I won't marry you. You're a slacker."

Billy left at that, crestfallen. He really hadn't meant to get into it so deep. Besides, he really did care for Eleanor's opinion, and he cared for her a great deal; but he had to confess that the glamor of his trip ahead softened the sorrow of losing her very considerably. Besides, he thought she might change her mind by the time he got back.

The next day William R. Seymour registered at the big metropolitan hotel and waited for Richard Merrick, who arrived in the course of a few hours and proceeded to tell his troubles to his friend.

"I say, Bill, has your town gone nuts on the war?"

"Has it?" whistled Billy.

"I'm hanged if I'm not glad to get away," went on Dickie. "A fellow can't buy himself a pack of fags any more without some Jane piping up and saying, 'Wouldn't you rather invest in a war savings stamp? Or some grandmother poking in with, 'Half that, young man, would keep a Belgian child for one day.' I did buy a bond. Now I wish they'd let me alone."

"Same here," said Billy, gloomily. Then brightening, "But we're wasting time, old man. We're here to forget. Let's call up the girls and get something started."

"The girls" were cousins of Dick's, very fashionable and up to date.

"All right. I'll ring them now. Say, Bill, did you ever see so many soldiers in your life?"

"Never did. Nellie says they don't get a rest. She ought to come to New York and find out. I shouldn't mind splurging round in a uniform myself."

But William's remark had been overheard. An old gentleman at the next table leaned forward. "Then, young man, why don't you? You can get one for nothing."

Billy flushed and murmured something about doing war work. But the old man went on. "These soldiers and officers are leaving for overseas duty. Most of them go from the port of New York. The Englishmen and French soldiers are here on war work. Some of them off ships that carry our men over. They're all here for a purpose, young man. And if they appear to splurge, surely they've earned the right. Why shouldn't a man be proud of his uniform?"

Our friends left soon after.

Leona Merrick herself answered their call. "Oh, I'm so glad you boys are here. I'm nearly dead with work and can't get a soul to help, everyone is so busy. I've got two tons of stuff to take from our Red Cross unit to headquarters. I'm running a motor truck, you know, and you have saved my life. The boxes are too heavy for me to handle. I'll run the car around to the hotel and pick you up."

The two men looked at each other, but had nothing to say. Leona Merrick was very pretty. Of course, they could not refuse.

That night, tenderly nursing the blisters on their hands, they got ready for the theatre. Things were looking up a bit. The whole jolly crowd was going, and their jaded spirits revived at the prospect.

The play was Blanche Bates in "Getting Together," a plea for men to join the army, an appeal that was an appeal. There was no after-theatre supper as of old.

"Don't you want to hear Abbe Flynn tomorrow?" asked Jane Merrick.

"We're all going after surgical dressing class. They say he is wonderful."

Again Billy and Dick exchanged glances, and again they accepted.

At the end of a week, after hearing the Bishop of York, Major Watt and Anne Morgan, they were ready to go home. They had changed—not their opinion of New York but of their own towns.

When Eleanor opened the door to a very contrite Billy, he was in uniform.

"I came to ask you to forgive me, dear," he said humbly. "I guess I had to have my eye-teeth cut on this war business. Well, I've cut 'em, dear. I see now I've got to go. You were right—I was a slacker."

"No, you're not, Billy, dear," declared Eleanor proudly. "It takes a brave man to acknowledge when he's wrong. I didn't mean what I said about the other, Billy, either. I'll marry you whenever you like."

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run-down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and headaches disappeared. I gained in weight and feel fine, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was."—Mrs. Adeline B. Lynch, 100 Plain street, Providence, R. I.

Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment.

Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and for special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

JIMMY COON STORIES

By Dr. Warren G. Partridge.

TEDDY POSSUM ATTE NDS A TOWN MEETING.

After Mr. Wolf had scared all the little people of Silver Pond, and they had either climbed up their family trees or hidden in the waters of the pond, there was a wonderful silence in the Great Forest. And after a long wait Mr. Wolf decided to go away and hunt elsewhere.

After Mr. Wolf had gone, all the little people came down from their family trees, or came out of the water where they had been hiding, quivering with fear because of Mr. Wolf's unexpected visit.

All the little people gathered again at the Beaver's dam, and agreed to call a Town Meeting to decide which was the most ancient family in the Great Wood. All arranged to meet at sunrise, near the big rock in Silver Pond, by the Beaver's dam, and let Grandpa Turtle decide the matter.

All the little folk of the Great Forest and the famous pond gathered on the Beaver's dam or near by; for Grandpa Turtle's favorite rock was near the dam.

The Town Meeting was very funny, for everybody wanted to talk at once. But Grandpa Turtle seemed asleep in his little shell house on top of the big rock.

That is, all the little folk thought he was asleep, for he was inside his little house, and all the windows and doors were shut, and all the blinds and shutters were closed. You remember that Grandpa Turtle carries the bungalow in which he lives on his back.

Grandpa Turtle carries the bungalow in which he lives on his back.

As Grandpa Turtle was so still, and his little house was so quiet and dark, Teddy Possum, who thought himself so smart, yelled out: "Jimmy Coon, will you throw a stone against the window of old Mr. Turtle's house and wake him up? For it's time to begin this Town Meeting."

And quick as you could wink an eye out popped Grandpa's head from his front door, and his bright eyes snapped fire, and he looked sharply at that rascal Teddy Possum. And Teddy was so scared that he hid behind his mother, and she gave him the spanking of his short life.

You see, Grandpa Turtle is very, very old, and very, very wise, and all the little people have great respect for his wisdom. You know, Grandpa Turtle is over one hundred years old, and he has always lived in Silver Pond. And Grandpa Turtle's grandfather lived to be a hundred and fifty years old.

Tomorrow—Grandpa Turtle is Chairman of the Town Meeting.

UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, 1918.
ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION.

By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.

Conquering evil. (May be used with temperance applications.)—I. Kings xxi: 1-29; Eph. v: 6-21.

Questions For Today.

8. Verses 9-14.—What is the limit of the badness to which men may be driven by pride and covetousness?

9. Verses 15, 16.—On what principle in human nature can you explain Ahab's entering gladly into possession of a property by perjury and murder?

10. Verses 17-24.—What was the penalty which God pronounced against Ahab, and Jezebel, and how was it carried out?

Golden text: Have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather even reprove them.—Eph. 5: 11.

WE SHOULD NEVER PATRONIZE SIN.

The evils which we have to fight are many, and it is essential that all who are good, and true, should continue their warfare against them. But besides this, we should never, in any way, allow ourselves to patronize sin; for, for that matter, to patronize anything, the tendency of which is sinful. Christians should avoid the very appearance of evil. There are a great many things which church members patronize these days, that the fathers would blush at, if they were alive. We should not be narrow, nor oppose anything which is healthful, and helpful, but we should have courage enough not to patronize many doubtful things which are very popular. The theatre, and for the most part, the moving picture shows, the dance, and the use of tobacco, are things which we should denounce.

A faded colored waist may be made white by boiling it in a cream-of-tartar water. One teaspoonful of cream of tartar to one quart of water will bleach it perfectly.

Both were active in college life and members of the Delta Gamma and Phi Delta Theta fraternities respectively. Several guests from a distance were present, and many beautiful gifts were received. WHY NOT JOIN THE W. F. W. O.?

Why should farmer women organize? Is it not sufficient for our purpose that the men are organizing, in view of the fact that we are under the present U. F. O. constitution, that we are honorary members of the association? These are the questions we have been meeting frequently. When women are made merely honorary members of the farming profession they will be content, perhaps, to be mere honorary members of the club. But the successful farms today are those that are being managed by the joint work and planning of husband and wife. Indeed, in no other business does the man's success depend so largely on his wife's capability and co-operation. Whether the present farm problems are viewed from a personal, community or national standpoint, women feel the inconvenience and injustice of the whole situation just as keenly as men do, and the situation is grave enough that it will need our united effort to successfully cope with it.

Women are now voters. Any organization has weight with the Government, just in proportion to the actual number of votes controlled by it. The reason why farmers receive practically no consideration is because up to the present time they have been just individuals, and, of course, could not have any real influence.

The conditions on the farm are far from ideal. We work longer hours and receive less for our work than any other class. We produce three-quarters of the nation's wealth, and own—what? So our aim is the betterment of farm conditions by our own interchange of ideas, co-operation and by organizing to secure needed legislation.

The farm woman must learn something of the principles underlying Government policy if she is to vote intelligently, and one cannot help repeating again and again that the one great need of today is thoughtful, honorable use of the franchise. To the majority of us the ballot comes unsought, and so in our clubs we must study civics, the science of government, in order that we may cast our votes where they will count most for righteous government. Most women have no "political skin," to use a homely phrase. A women perhaps comes from a Tory home into a Grit family. The opinions of the men of both families has a certain value to her, but they are directly opposite, so she must think for herself.

Eligibility for Membership.

Who may join these clubs? Farmers' wives and daughters 18 years or over, or any person of that age whose work and aims are in accord with those of our club. Until after December 1 all organization is provisional. At the U. F. O. convention, which will be held at that date, the constitution of the U. F. O. will be amended, striking out the clause which makes women honorary members, and gives the F. W. O. equal standing with the U. F. O. The officers are Mrs. George Brodie of Newmarket, president, and Miss Emma Griesbach, Collingwood, secretary-treasurer. There is also a standing committee of seventeen members.

Either of the above ladies will be glad to answer any questions relative to our work.

Wherever there is a U. F. O. there should be a U. F. W. O. Five women may meet, elect president, secretary and three directors, and then add to their numbers. The fee is the same as that of the U. F. O., $1 per year, 50 cents of which is sent to the provincial secretary and the remainder kept by the local club. Meetings can be arranged either jointly with the U. F. O. or as in the case of the Women's Institute.

Let us each put ourselves in touch with this great movement, widen our outlook, increase our influence and help to make our profession the power it should be in helping to mold national trend of thought and action. Yesterday is past. Tomorrow will be shaped largely by today's action. Let us be up and awake.

One way to lengthen the life of linoleum is to mix the warm suds and cooked starch that are left over on wash day and use them to mop up the linoleum. This not only preserves it, but gives it a gloss as when new.

When you buy a new piece of furniture spread over it a coat of some good furniture wax. This prevents the varnish from absorbing moisture and becoming rough and cracked. If this process is repeated three or four times a year the furniture will retain much longer its lustre and smooth surface.

Recent donations included: $9 from Rev. E. J. Harding, Miss Marie Davidson and Miss Palmer; $6.50 from Misses M. I. and J. E. McIntyre (those were fees for registration); $5 from Mrs. R. J. Stewardson, and $11 for Secours National.

The Soldiers' Service Society, which is composed of a number of Thamesville young ladies, have recently received a letter of thanks from one of their Belgian soldiers. These young ladies are very industrious and energetic. Besides writing numerous letters to the overseas boys, they are busy knitting and are now planning to install a cot in either an English or French hospital.

FOOD BOARD FLASHES FOR FEMININE FOLK

With the beginning of the fall school term the teacher should plan to include a simple study of food questions in her daily schedule. The children might be asked to make food posters and small stamps. Prizes might be offered for the best essays on food conservation and production. It should be pointed out that by keeping rabbits, chicks, pigs or goats, Canadian girls and boys can help to feed their little brothers and sisters in Europe.

M. Victor Boret, French minister of food, called upon the children of Paris some time ago to make designs for posters. The results surprised everyone and now the posters and stamps are being proudly exhibited all over France, as evidence of the patriotism and naive artistic skill of the Parisian school children.

"THEY ARE KNITTING SWEATERS."

Has not the popular craze for hand-knitted sweaters crowded to the wall the familiar grey knitting?

During heated summer weather, when fingers glide less swiftly and the grey sock more slowly grows into shape, one notes with surprise the array of bulky, cumbersome sweaters under construction. Not sweaters of khaki or grey, but green, yellow, rose, any gay hue under the sun.

Cosy they are, it is true, and in normal times commendable, but should our fighting lads suffer through their popularity? The time expended upon their construction may well be counted lost.

All honor is due our Canadian women and girls who have so patiently carried on the good work of making comforts for our boys, and while we realize the fascination offered in those pleasing shades and finer wools, to beauty lovers, we would add a plea that it be not overdone.

Knit on, by all means, girls, but let it be for our brave boys who must face the hardships of a foreign winter once more.

A torn window shade may be made to last twice as long by untacking the end on the roller, hemming it on the machine and retacking the frayed and cracked end to the roller where it will not show.

To keep grated cheese from molding in a glass jar line the jar with a piece of cheesecloth dipped in vinegar before adding the cheese. No mold will form, and the cheese will not dry out when treated in this way.

To shrink and set colors in ginghams and percale leave the goods folded, put into cold water with a small cupful of salt, leave in salt water over night, and in the morning boil for about five minutes. Hang the goods out to dry without wringing.

A soft, curled-edge rug may be made stiff and new looking by placing a damp cloth underneath the rug and another one on top and pressing with a hot iron. The result is a flat, "stiff-as-when-new" rug.

CHILD GETS SICK, CROSS, FEVERISH IF CONSTIPATED

Look at tongue! Then give fruit laxative for stomach, liver, bowels.

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm children and they love it.

Mother! Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign the little stomach, liver and bowels needs a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, remember, a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills; give a teaspoonful, and in a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food which is clogged in the bowels passes out of the system, and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless, delicious "fruit laxative," and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on the bottle.

Keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

CHOICE OF CUBS FOR SLAB WORK TYLER OR VAUGHN

Teams in Perfect Condition For World's Series Tomorrow.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Everything is set tonight for the initial combat between the Cubs and Red Sox for the premier baseball honors of the world. Each team is supremely confident of eventually winning, and the players are in perfect physical condition.

Manager Mitchell of the National League champions drove his players through an hour of batting drill at Comiskey Park this afternoon and tapered off the final practice with a spirited fielding workout. The players limbered up in dashing form and Mitchell left the field satisfied they were ready for the series.

The Red Sox, however, reached Chicago from the east too late to engage in practice, and Manager Barrow sent them early to bed for a refreshing night's sleep. The American League pennant winners are quartered at a hotel within a short distance from the park, and may take a brief workout to loosen up their muscles in the morning.

While neither of the leaders would announce for publication the pitcher selected for the test of the opening game, the Chicago pilot said he expected to start a left-hander—either Tyler or Vaughn.

"Tyler and Vaughn will both warm up," Mitchell said, "and the one that appears to be in the better shape will be selected. Killifer will do the catching, so I am certain to have a strong battery."

Manager Barrow declined to give any hint in regard to his probable pitching selection, but bleacherites guessed that "Bullet" Joe Bush would be chosen, with second choice falling to "Babe" Ruth.

MUCH INTEREST EVINCED OVER WORLD'S SERIES

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Capacity crowds seemed probable at the first of the world's series baseball games set for today between the Boston Americans and the Chicago Nationals at the American League grounds. Although the demand for reservations has not come anywhere near that of recent years, Business Manager Craighead of the Chicago club, said interest in the outcome of the world's series is general. He said this was indicated by the number of baseball writers from all sections of the country who were on hand for the contests. The space required for these visitors was about equal to that of preceding years, he asserted, although there were fewer telegraph operators on account of the Government control of the wires. Among the baseball writers in attendance are three from newspapers in Cuba.

While tickets found their way into the hands of scalpers to some extent the chances for their reaping a harvest were reported to have been reduced to a minimum.

Confusion has seemed to exist in the minds of some baseball enthusiasts as to the rules governing the series. The first three games are to be played here, whether it is possible to play them on the dates scheduled today, tomorrow and Friday. In case of rain or a tie game the competing team will remain here until three games have been decided. Rain today would mean that tickets for the first game would be good tomorrow or whenever the first game could be played, and this would apply for the second game. Tickets are not good for any specific date, but for a specified game.

The umpires announced for the opening contest are: Hildebrand, Owens, O'Day and Klem. The probable line-up is given as follows:

Cubs—Flack, r.f.; Hollocher, s.s.; Mann, l.f.; Paskert, c.f.; Merkle, 1b.; Pick, 2b.; Deal, 3b.; Killifer, c.; Tyler or Vaughn, p.

Red Sox—Hooper, r.f.; Shean, 2b.; Strunk, c.f.; Ruth, l.f.; McInnis, 1b.; Scott, s.s.; Coffey, 3b.; Schang, c.; Mays or Bush, p.

In giving out the line-up no mention was made of Fred Thomas, 3rd baseman, who was given a furlough from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station yesterday in order to play, and who is among the eligibles on the Boston list.

Prices of admission, including war tax, were as follows: Bleachers, 55c; pavilion, $1.10; grandstand, reserved seats, $1.65; box seats, $3.30.

SPORT AS IT ISN'T

(By Percy Prune, The Advertiser Sport Critic.)

In the course of my wanderings from coast to coast, and universe to universe (in the days before the fatal 16th, it used to be from pole to pole), I have come across a number of funny things. I have seen beautiful stretches of country that could be made into fine golf courses, and I have seen many vacant lots that could be manufactured into desirable ball diamonds. But of all the things that I have seen in this line, nothing has struck my fancy so much as the River Thames of London, Ontario. If you look at the River Thames through a pair of defective eyeglasses, you will immediately perceive the great things that could be done on the stream. Not only could a regatta, open to all the world, be staged on this beautiful and sole refreshing stream, but during the winter, when ice and snow, not to say sleet, clutches the denizens of this celebrated burg, ice carnivals and skating parties could be held on its glassy surface. In addition to this, they tell me that fine fishing is to be had in the delirious depths of its deep. Walruses and eels flow in abundance in the river. Whales and minnows are common creatures of its unfathomed depths. Nobody has yet caught one of these sea monsters, but the time is coming when these members of the fishy tribe will become common articles of diet on local breakfast tables.

All of this brings me to the subject of this article. It is advice on "How to Fish." I have never caught fish myself, but have often been taken for one. Hence I am able to give first-hand information on how a fish feels when he is caught. In the first place, never use a worm as bait for your fish. A wise fish will suspect something if you use worm on meatless days. Furthermore, before casting in your hook for a particular member of the finny species, always find out the religion of the animal. A Roman Catholic fish will not eat members of its own family except on Friday, unless it is a sucker. A Protestant fish prefers English sauerkraut to any other type, but it A Dukabor fish likes poultry, but it must be undressed. The easiest fish to catch is a member of a spiritual sect. All you have to do is whisper something in the fish language and your victim will think it is his long lost affinity that was caught some months ago during the famine of the early spring. A drop of whiskey is another source of attraction to fish. Once you get a fish drunk he will be apt to bite at anything. Don't eat a fish immediately after you have caught it with a pinch of old Scotch. The fumes may have a bad effect on you and a $200 fine imposed for impeding on the fish. In this case you will be the fish yourself.

Now that my sermon on "How to Fish" is over, I am going to give you a line on my experiences as a sport critic in the city of Berlin. The first game that I ever criticized in Berlin was one in which the kaiser was one of the principals. As you know, the national pastime of Germany is "belly bloating". The man who can swell his stomach to the largest size is hailed as the champion bloater of the imperial empire. The kaiser never was much on this game in his old age owing to excellent work in the early part of his youth in promoting the pastime. After he had become champion himself, his health gave out, and now his daily menu consists chiefly of liver pills. Once, when competing for the imperial honors in the "bloating" contest, the kaiser ate half of his mustache by mistake while demolishing a barrel of macaroni. Owing to this accident the emperor lost the contest by a hair. Upon my suggestion he commenced eating condensed foods, which are supposed to expand when they enter the mysterious passages of the inhuman stomach. The kaiser's repast was served on a poker chip and covered by a thimble. It fell to the floor by mistake, however, and the imperial cat ate the repast up in one gobful. Within five minutes the animal had blown up, so great was the expansion of its feline intestimonials.

Although I pleaded with the kaiser to try another repast of the condensed variety he wouldn't take the chance of being blown up. He said he was going Tohell before he would let a common sport critic boss him. I asked him if he would go to Berne on his trip, but he just snorted and ordered another barrel of macaroni. "If I had a wooden arm I would plunk you over the bean," he said, when I persisted that he try another portion of condensed food. "Why don't you use your head," I replied, but the joke was lost on him. "Bring on the imperial puddin'" the kaiser ordered after he had finished the macaroni. Thinking the imperial pudding was flavored with a touch of Imperial, I volunteered to help the kaiser eat the edible, but his majesty would have none of it. "This pudding is the best that was ever pudded." The kaiser explained. "It is not made for common sport critics." I am glad now that I didn't eat the stuff, because if I had the kaiser would not have won the championship. As it was he ate so much that the only thing he is allowed to eat now is Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable compound.

HYDROPLANE RACES TO BE HELD ON THE DETROIT RIVER COURSE

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—The 1919 gold championship races for hydroplanes will be held on the Detroit River courses early in September, with the final heat on Labor Day, it became known today. Some fears were expressed, however, that Government action might necessitate the calling off of the annual classic next year.

DIRECTUM J. AGAIN WINS FEATURE RACE OF HARTFORD MEET

Close Finishes Recorded at the Second Day of Charter Oak Park Racing.

ACHIEVEMENTS OF SPOTSMEN IN FRANCE STRONG ARGUMENT FOR MORE ATHLETICS HOME

Breaking Up of Big League Baseball in United States Has Effect on Other Lines of Sport — Youngsters Should Be Encouraged.

With the war demanding increased attention from day to day and all other activities consequently declining to a minimum of importance in comparison, there is a chance—a big chance that the conflict in Europe will harm outdoor athletics to such an extent that it will take years of work to restore sporting endeavor to normal after the war.

The postponement of baseball in the United States, until after the kaiser's mad dreams have been permanently squelched, has not been without its effect on other lines of athletic activity. Pastimes, such as tennis, golf, bowling, etc., are becoming less and less indulged in daily. Youngsters are no longer taking the interest in sport that they should, owing primarily to the lack of encouragement by their elders. In fact, 75 per cent of America's population is looking at the sport question the wrong way, and if athletic games deteriorate as they have been doing of late, an irreparable damage will be done which will only be realized long after hostilities in Europe have ceased.

What About Youngsters?

The explanation advanced by many anti-sport people for their stand on the question is that those who cannot go to war should not be allowed to waste time in unprofitable and unpatriotic enjoyment. This is true to a certain point. But what about the younger generation, who cannot go to war? Shall they be denied the advantages of athletic enjoyment and thereby become physically and mentally inferior to their brothers and fathers at present battling with the Hun in France? This question should receive the earnest consideration of those who meditate on conditions following the termination of the world fray.

No class of society responded to the call of war so readily as the sporting element. No class of society is represented in such great numbers under the sod of France and Flanders as the followers of outdoor athletics. In fact, it can be said that the success of Allied arms throughout the four-years campaign is due primarily to sportsmen who were willing and delighted to take a chance in the big game, just as they were delighted with the opportunity to take part in little games before the war. The spirit of the sportsman is that which has bolstered and held the morale of the British, American and French forces in four crucial years of uncertainty and doubt. Shall this spirit be killed because of a lack of foresightedness on the part of men whose endeavors toward the winning of the war blind them to conditions that will arise after the war is won?

Sports Produce Courage.

The Toronto Star says:

"Baseball being the national game of the United States, there never was any doubt about the Americans showing plenty of dash and courage in war. Not only do the players show these qualities, but any country is all right that can produce men whose achievements in all lines of sport has surpassed that of any other nation."

These arguments are followed by the more familiar arguments that familiarity with and devotion to sports fosters initiative and ability to keep cool in unexpected situations.

Encouragement of sport among boys should continue with even greater zest than heretofore. The result of outdoor athletics has been shown by the heroic achievements of sportsmen in France. Their example should act as an incentive, not as a deterrent, for the far-seeing public to foster and promote sport among the youngsters to a greater and more effective extent than has been done in the past.

MURRAY IS NEW TENNIS CHAMP OF THE WORLD

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 3.—R. Lindley Murray, the Californian, entered from Niagara Falls, N.Y., is the new national singles lawn tennis champion of 1918. He won the title by defeating W. T. Tilden Jun. of Philadelphia, 6—3, 6—1, 7—5, on the courts of the West Side Club here late this afternoon. The victory of the Californian gives him the championship which has been held by Lieut. R. Norris Williams since 1916, there begeing no play for the honor last year. Murray's steadiness, skilful change of pace and radiating confidence in the result were the factors which won him the turf court honors of the year. Tilden showed occasional flashes of his court and racquet wizardry, but he could not maintain the pace in the face of the cool play of Murray long enough to win even one set.

Following in the footsteps of Maurice E. McLoughlin, who won in 1912 and 1913, and William M. Johnston, the titleholder of 1915, Murray showed the same well-rounded game and the same calm confidence in his racquet ability that marked the play of his predecessors from the far coast. Notwithstanding the fact that Murray had not played any tournament tennis until about ten days ago, when after receiving a vacation from the munition plant where he is a chemist, he made his appearance at Southampton, and later Forest Hills, his progress through the present tournament and his victories over the best players in the country at the present time stamp him as a tennis star of extraordinary ability.

SUNNY SLOPE SHOWS UP AS CONTENDER FOR 3-YEAR-OLD HONORS

New York, Sept. 4.—William Martin's Sunny Slope firmly established himself as a serious contender for 3-year-old honors over the mile route when he easily disposed of Motor Cop in the Jeremiah handicap at Belmont Park yesterday. The victory was all the more remarkable because Sunny Slope was given an added starter, his name only being put on the board after it was determined that he had suffered no ill effects in scoring handily over Eyelid and Hollister in the Autumn handicap on Monday. It takes a good horse to run winning races in first-class company on handicap days, and Sunny Slope proved himself one. He had to pick up a five-pound penalty for winning on Monday, which brought his impost up to 129 pounds, only three pounds less than Motor Cop carried. The latter had won his races at a mile distance with such ease that, with Loftus in the saddle, he was made an odds-on choice, but there was plenty of support for Sunny Slope by those who figured that he had a good chance to repeat. Sunny Slope won handily by two lengths.

Morton L. Schwartz gained double brackets, winning the steeplechase with Fly Crest Hill, and then scoring with Fly Away in the very next race, a 5½ furlong dash for 2-year-olds. The fields were small, but puzzling, as only one of the favorites won.

NOVA BROOKS TAKES BREEDERS' FUTURITY

Rain Compels Postponement of 2:12 Trot at Detroit.

DETROIT, Sept. 3.—Rain, which left the track in bad condition, compelled a late start at the Michigan "Shortship" meeting on the State Fair track this afternoon, and only two races were decided. The feature was the Michigan breeders' futurity, which was captured by Neva Brooke, whose sire, Justice Brooke, won the first of this series of stakes.

The 2:12 trot, postponed because of the track, will be raced on Wednesday, with the 2:15 pace, 2:24 trot, and the futurity of pacers. It should be a day of good sport, as the track will be fast.

College Sports Abandoned

College sports in the United States will be practically abandoned this fall. In Canada they were abandoned at the beginning of the war in 1914. There are few students left to play games on this continent, or in any of the Allied countries.

The colleges are heart and soul in this war, and only the work essential to "getting the main thing over" will be tolerated. They are bending all energies to that effort.

Everybody interested in sports should get the college boys' ides. It will make for the healthfulness of sport. Not everybody can enter the army. But there are other opportunities.

Food conservation and production are calling for able-bodied men.

Enlist for the harvest. Every pound of food saved means helping the Empire's allies.

How Doctors Build Up Our Men For Service to Country

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG.
A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

DR. HIRSHBERG

He came to the big training camp in a recent draft from a rural district. The draft board accepted him, although he was so round-shouldered that he looked like a hunchback.

He drilled with his company in the depot brigade. At least, he tried to drill. But no amount of exercise nor of coaxing by the drill officer could get him to straighten up and throw back his shoulders. To make matters worse, his feet went bad finally he could scarcely hobble about. Then he was sent to the army surgeon, where he became a patient in the new base hospital.

Surgeons looked over his bent form and then went to work. They massaged his back and even baked it under an electric heater. They compelled him to undergo exercises until he winced at the pain of muscles and tendons put into play that had been useless for years. The crooked spine became supple. With a supreme effort he could straighten his back while in bed. When he sat up or walked, however, he slouched into the same old stoop-shouldered posture.

Physically Impossible.

"It's no use; I can't do it," he pleaded, when a physical director told him to straighten up and go through a certain series of exercises. And apparently he couldn't. But the experts of this new department had another card to play. They began to teach him self-confidence. Before another week ended they had proved to his own satisfaction that he could straighten those shoulders.

To eliminate further detail it is merely necessary to relate that he is now ready to go back to his company—not for a camp job, nor even for the new United States guards, but as fit for a first line unit. The orthopedic experts actually have inverted that lump on his back, and have made it bulge out his chest. He carries his head erect, his shoulders are thrown back, and he walks with a confident, easy stride, for they have straightened by special exercises the arches of his feet and have given him special shoes to correct any threatening pedal defects.

Betters the Mind.

Marvelous as has been the physical change in the man, it can scarcely be compared with his improved mental condition. He was inclined to be dull, listless and careless. The straightening of his body seems to have given him a higher, brighter outlook on life, and there is a snappiness even in his conversation that is impressive. The doctors have made a better citizen as well as a good soldier.

The story of this recruit is one of many cases in which really wonderful results have been obtained in this new branch of the army hospital service, which has been made the experimental centre for this science, which aims, figuratively and actually, to "put a man on his feet again."

The treatment does not, however, confine itself merely to correction of foot defects. It covers the subject of joints in any part of the body. A knee, a stiff shoulder, and a distodged vertebrae, all come under ministrations.

Foot troubles, of course, send the greatest number of patients to the army doctors. Some estimate that as high as 95 per cent of negroes and 49 per cent of whites called in the draft have foot defects of one kind or another, a considerable percentage of which are likely to become acute under the stress of continued marching.

Other Valuable Services.

A year ago the flat-footed recruit was rejected for military service. Today he is accepted and eventually lands in the orthopedic hospital for a course of treatment that it would be almost impossible for him to procure in civil life. One of the patients recently discharged as cured was the son of a wealthy physician, who had been unable to obtain for the boy the very special treatment which he received free as one of Uncle Sam's soldier nephews.

So-called broken arches are built up by massage, various prescribed exercises, development of self-confidence, and last but not least the equipment of the patient with shoes specially built to overcome any pedal defects from which he may be suffering. A special cobbler's shop has been opened in the main ward. Former cobblers among the patients sent to the hospital are now doing the work, and, incidentally, are learning a special branch of their trade that will enable them to demand big wages when they leave the army.

War doctors do another important service for the army in that they can quickly spot the man who may be "stalling" in the hope of getting out of the service. A few of the tests they have devised make the fakir quickly convict himself. At the same time they discover many instances of real debility in cases that have aroused the suspicion of others.

Occupation is playing a big part in hastening cures among the more serious cases in these camps. The army physicians have found that a patient is much benefited physically and mentally when he can be given some definite work to offset the monotony of hospital days. Hence some knit socks on bedside looms, others weave baskets, make checker boards and other games, or do other work that their condition will permit.

Answers to Health Questions

J. C.: Q.—What shall I do for piles?
2. What shall I do for constipation?

A.—The only cure for piles is an operation, but relief can be obtained by using ointments or creosote suppositories.

2. One of the best ways to do away with constipation is to drink two glasses of water before meals. Also take ten grains of calcined magnesia in water before meals, and drink a wineglassful of olive oil about one-half hour after eating. Eat lots of fresh vegetables, such as spinach, carrots, kale, lettuce, oranges, apples, prunes and tomatoes. Oatmeal is a laxative to some persons, but not to all. Indeed, there are few things which answer for everyone. You should have a fixed hour each day for attention to the demands of the intestines. This is preferably immediately after breakfast and supper. Massage of the abdomen in a circular motion five to fifteen minutes three times a day is also very good.

J. T. K.: Q.—Kindly tell me what I can do for corns, bunions and a calloused skin.

A.—After the feet have been soaked well in soap and hot water each night try a few drops of the following lotion on your corns:

Sodium bicarbonate....15 grains
Salicylic acid..... 1 dram
Extract cannabis indica 5 grains
Collodion ..... 1 ounce

Cover the bunions and callous with absorbent cotton to keep the shoe from pressing on them. Keep them covered with vaseline to reduce any inflammatory condition:

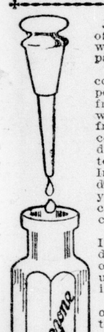

G. R., London, Ont.: Q. Please give me something for brown spots on my daughter's body.

A.—There are several kinds of brown spots that appear on the body. One, on the outer surface, due to skin mole or fungus, which may be cured by using carbolated soaps and a stiff brush; another, due to bile or jaundice, which calsl for a special diet; the third is due to an eruption on the skin, the cause of which is not definitely known.

A Drop On a Touchy Corn

Instant relief! Then corn or callus lifts off with fingers.

Just think! You can lift off any corn or callus without one twinge of pain.

A Cincinnati man discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Any druggist will sell a tiny bottle of freezone for very little cost. You apply a few drops directly upon a tender corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears, then shortly you will find the corn or callus so loose that you can lift it right off.

Freezone is wonderful! It dries instantly. It doesn't eat away the corn or callus, but shrivels it up without even irritating the skin.

Hard corns, soft corns, or corns between the toes, as well as painful calluses, lift right off. There is no pain before or afterwards. No soreness or smarting. Women should keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle, sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear, soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

NO STOMACH PAIN, GAS, INDIGESTION IN FIVE MINUTES

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the best antacid and stomach regulator known.

"Really does" put upset stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness due to acid fermentation in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach antacid and regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments and turns sour, you belch gas and eructate undigested food or water; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin is worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest antacid for the stomach in the world.

A Fall Tailored Suit Hint.

The smart sweep of some of the advance model suits for fall suggest something of the directoire period. The type here shown illustrates one of the smartest costumes. It is of beige velour, and is semi-tailored with a smart double skirt. The skirt is narrow, but the overskirt of tete-de-negre antique satin is generously draped at one side. The coat is shorter in back and has a long, cutaway effect in front that gives a vest-like suggestion to the upper part of the coat. The coat is buttoned high in the neck and has two large directoire pockets. Broad beaver collar and cuffs of the same fur serve as trimming.

LUCKY OCEAN :: :: By Juanita Hamel

And HE who sits ashore and gazes with adoring eyes—taking note of the tribute the startled fish leaps to pay her—is all admiration and envy, "LUCKY ocean."

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

What Happened When Betty Faced Harry Underwood, Then Left Him With Madge.

My suspicion—born of our telephone conversation—that Harry Underwood had been drinking, was confirmed when in exactly the quarter of an hour he had named Betty ushered him into the living-room.

His face was flushed, his eyes brilliant with excitement, his gait the elaborately careful one which he always adopts to conceal the unsteadiness he prides himself upon never betraying. As Betty, her head held high, announced stiffly and icily, "Mr. Underwood, Miss Madge," and turned to go, he stepped ponderously in front of her, barring her path, and made a low, mocking obeisance.

"Betty, Betty," he chided. "Why this cruelty to one of your most ardent admirers?"

The old colored woman put her hands on her hips and regarded him steadily for a long moment before answering him.

"Mistah Harry Underwood," she said at last, rolling each word out to its full utterance, "while you lived in this house I stood for your fool talk so as not to hurt Miss Lillian's feelin's, though my tongue just itched to ache to tell her you wasn't fit for her to wipe her shoes on. But praise de Lawd, you hain't here no more, you hain't got no right here, an' just let me tell you, man, don't you provoke me none. I'se got some tempah when I'se riled, believe me, and the way I feels just now I'd just admire to put my initials on your bad, black heart."

She turned her back upon him and spoke to me protectingly.

"Miss Madge, honey, you keep an eye on that man. An' if you needs me, just you let out one yelp. I'll be right on the job, believe me."

She stalked out of the room, her head held high. I didn't dare to look at Mr. Underwood, for while the old woman's whole tirade had been laugh-provoking, yet I knew she had said things which couldn't help but sting the man opposite me.

Underwood's Pain Is Plain——

That they had stung him, even though only the mouthings of an old colored servant, I realized when I heard the laughter in which he indulged as soon as Betty had left the room. Once he would have greeted one of the old woman's outbursts with hearty laughter, genuine amusement, but the sounds that came from his lips were raucous, unmirthful. They would have deceived no one.

"Betty certainly has it in for yours truly," he said after a moment or two, and then he added with an uneasy note in his voice: "I hope she hasn't made you hate me more than ever, Lady Fair."

I smothered the quick impulse to tell him exactly what I thought of him, remembering that Lillian counted upon my obtaining from him all information possible concerning the plans of the gang headed by Grace Draper.

"Why should you think that I hate you at all?" I asked softly, and hated myself for the hypocrisy of the tone and the question. But I knew this was no time for qualms.

I heard a quick, sibilant breath, then he stepped to my side, and before I could fathom his intention, put his hand under my chin, and lifting my face, stared down at me quizzically, a lurking devil of skeptical laughter in his eyes.

"I Don't Hate You."

"Now, I wonder just what you're up to," he said reflectively. "Of course, you're—well—let's call it stretching the truth a bit—but why? That's the question."

His skeptical, mirthful, cocksureness piqued me. If I had needed any spur to play the game Lillian had outlined he had just provided it. I twisted my face out of his hand, walked coolly to the nearest chair, and sat down in it.

"Mr. Underwood, will you let me tell you something without interruption?" I asked quietly.

He had advanced a step toward me, a mischievous, teasing light in his eyes. But at my question he stopped short, looked at me, then bowed gravely in the rather flamboyant fashion which he affected.

"I'm absolutely at your command, Lady Fair," he said.

"Then please sit down," I returned.

He obediently dropped into the seat nearest him, then drew it around facing me.

"In the first place," I began slowly, "I want you to believe that I don't hate you. I have never hated you. I have been very angry with you because of Lillian, but I have come to the conclusion lately that the differences between you are in no way connected with me, and therefore ought not to be any concern of mine. No, Mr. Underwood, the emotion which you evoke in me is far from being hatred."

I don't think Harry Underwood himself was more surprised at my little speech than I was myself. For I found that the words I had begun in wilful deception were the real truthful message from my soul to him. There was no hate in me for this man who had crossed my path so frequently.

Contempt to a certain degree, yes, but the feeling which swept me as I looked at the handsome, masterful man opposite me was pity, deep and sincere, that so powerful a personality should have thrown away—worse than bartered—the magnificent resources of his body and mind.

KITCHEN ECONOMIES

BY ISOBEL BRANDS
OF THE APPLECROFT EXPERIMENT STATION.

Ways to Lighten Work With the Right Knives and Cutters.

The right kind of a knife or cutter is one of the best helps in the campaign for reducing housework. Many otherwise well equipped kitchens are sorely deficient in the quantity and quality of kitchen knives. There is no provision for keeping knives sharpened; they are carelessly banged in drawers, and one or two knives are expected to serve every purpose. And, naturally, knives get used up much more quickly if there is an inadequate supply.

If you will take an inventory of your knife supply and fill out the gaps with the right kind of good quality, well sharpened knives you will be surprised how much time you can save, yourself in the preparation of meals.

First, every kitchen should have the long, round-bladed, fruit knife. Its cost is small compared to the amount of service it will give, and carefully kept it will last for many years. The bread knife should not be slammed into a drawer, but should be hung up on the kitchen wall or kept nearest the place where bread is usually cut. You can put a little screw eye in the handle and keep it suspended on a cup hook.

Varieties of Knives.

A set of three sharp-edged, triangular knives is also a kitchen necessity. They come in several sizes, the longest ones for carving up meats in the kitchen or for chopping, the two smaller sizes are useful in cutting up and paring vegetables.

For cutting fruits there are a number of devices that will save time, make fruit preparation easy, and also spare the housewife the ugly fruit stains which discolor the hands.

There is a large glass knife which costs about 50 cents, and which is one of the best fruit knives available. It serves many purposes, for you can cut, peel or core many varieties of fruits, acid and otherwise, without discoloring the fruit or the hands. The acid fruits should not be cut with a steel knife, for they often blacken the fruit and make the knives difficult to clean afterward. This glass knife, however, is sanitary, easy to clean, and does not contaminate the fruit with any foreign flavor as some of the metal knives will.

The small, round-bladed, grapefruit knife is also a great time-saver. With it you can easily remove the seeds and neatly cut away the pulp from the fibrous wall of the fruit. Preparing grapefruit is a fussy job with ordinary knives but with this simple round-bladed knife it takes less than a minute to prepare the grapefruit for the table.

Caring for Them.

Another time-saver is the apple corer and cutter combined. This is composed of a round board on which the apple rests and a circular disc to fit. Sharp steel frames criss-cross the disc, so that by pressing it over the apple firmly it cores and cuts apples into eighths with one movement. For jelly-making and preserving of apples this device saves a great deal of time.

But it is not enough merely to equip your kitchen with these time-saving devices. It is true, they are not inexpensive, but they should last for many years provided they are given good care.

Knives should never be banged in a drawer; they should be hung up. If you have sufficient wall space it is easy to insert a screw-eye in the handle and suspend the knives on cup hooks within convenient reach. Otherwise one can buy or make a chamois or flannel bag, sewed into separate compartments, where each knife has its separate place and is carefully protected. Knives should not be allowed to remain dull. The longer the knife remains unsharpened the thicker its cutting edge becomes, so that when you finally have it sharpened a good part of the edge has to be honed away before a good cutting edge is obtained.

HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5.

The planetary positions for this day denote much activity and many interesting occurrences. It should be a prosperous day with increase of money and success in all enterprises. Those in employment are likewise under good aspects of the luminaries, and should push for favors, promotion and increase of salary. Alliances through all kinds of combinations, associations and agreements should prove advantageous, though to have any prospect of success these must be legitimate. In the domestic circle conditions are not so favorable, and so must be cherished and protected.

Those whose birthday it is may expect an active, interesting and prosperous year, but must guard the domestic circle. A child born on this day will be enterprising and generous, and successful in all affairs of life excepting those relating particularly to the opposite sex.

When cooking turnips add a teaspoonful of white sugar to the water; this greatly improves their flavor.

Blame the Nerves

When you cannot sleep and are easily irritated and worried you have reason to suspect that the nerves are below normal.

They are not getting proper nourishment from the food you eat and need a little special help. A few weeks' treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do wonders for anyone in this condition. Note your increase in weight while using this food cure.

Good Night Stories

By Blanche Silver

Illustrated by Gruelle

DAVID VISITS THE STARFISH FAMILY.

"I wonder," mused David, as he watched the silver stars dancing on the waves, "if the mermaids do steal the stars from heaven and make them into starfish."

"Oh, dear, no!" laughed a silvery-voice, and down the silvery moonbeams slid a tiny Moon Imp, who perched on the windowsill.

"They live in Waterland, down at the bottom of the ocean," and flapping his silver wings he began to sing this funny little song:

"Enie, meanie, minie mow,
Make David smaller grow,
Give to him a fish's set,
So his clothes won't get wet."

The queer, little song was hardly finished when David found himself standing on the bottom of the ocean, no larger than a minnow, wearing fins and a tail like a fish.

It was a wonderful place, this Waterland with its coral castles and its tall seaweeds waving like trees above his head. Beautiful fish of all the colors of the rainbow darted like birds through the blue sea sky. Walking all over the yellow sand were starfish of all colors, green, brown, grey, red, pink and some looking like crazy quilts their coats were of so many different shades.

Tiny Moon Imp.

"How do they walk?" asked David. "I don't see any feet."

"Oh, no!" laughed Moon Imp. "They haven't any feet. But down the centre of each little ray, or arm—we'll call them star points—is an opening, and along this opening tiny tubes grow very close together. With these tubes or blunt points Mr. Starfish crawls over the sands and clings to the rocks."

"Oh, look at the basket!" cried David, pointing to a starfish lying on its back with its points curled up.

"Why, that's Mamma Starfish taking care of her eggs," replied Moon Imp. "Just think, for 10 days she must lie that way without moving or eating until her eggs are hatched. Starfish are certainly a patient lot of little people."

"Indeed we are!" laughd Mamma Starfish, and as she spoke she began to unfold her points and a crowd of tiny starfish babies—looking more like tiny barrels, with hairy hoops and plumes of hair on one end, than they did like their mamma—floated away.

"Before long they'll grow better looking," said Mamma Starfish, and straightening out her arms she hurried away in search of food, for after her long fast she was very hungry.

"Why, when they're no larger than a flaxseed they look like grown-up starfish!" exclaimed Moon Imp. "Some day we'll come back to Waterland and visit others of the starfish family, but I think we'd better return home now."

Before David could blink his eyes he was sitting alone in the window watching the silver stars dancing on the face of the water.

"I'll bet anything that the first starfish was patterned from the stars in heaven," said David drowsily, as he tumbled into his little bed.

Germany Is Threatened With Trouble That May Rival Case of Russia

PARIS, Sept. 3.—A dispatch from Berne, Switzerland, to Le Matin, quotes a prominent Swiss citizen coming from Germany as declaring that in the past six weeks a formidable disillusionment has swept over Germany.

If the German military situation does not improve, the informant said, trouble that may surpas the acts of the Bolsheviki in Russia menaces the German Empire.

NAVAL DIVISION OF BRITISHERS OCCUPY TOWN OF QUEANT

Battalions From H.M.S. Anson, Hawke, Drake and Hood.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—(Canadian Press Dispatch From Reuter's, Limited.)—Describing the work of the naval division at the battle of the switchline, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters says the division was comprised of battalions from H. M. S. Anson, Hawke, Drake and Hood. They occupied Queant and subsequently advanced down the valley, with a view to rounding up prisoners and mopping up the triangle formed by the junction with the Hindenburg line.

The naval men pushed on, carrying their machine guns as they were told they were going to be engaged in open warfare away from artillery support.

The men from H. M. S. Drake took Pronville and after fighting all night long succeeded in getting astride the mouth of a deep little valley between Inchy-en-Artois. The naval men made great use of their machine guns, one team alone firing 30,000 rounds. They were not accompanied by tanks, and what they did was due entirely to their own initiative and resourcefulness.

BRITISH IN DRIVE TO THE NORTHEAST OF ARRAS HAVE TAKEN HAMBLAIN-LES-PRES

Haig's Forces Advance Beyond Newly Constructed Switch Line East of Drocourt—Teutons Throw in Crack Regiments in Effort to Break Allied Offensive.

London, Sept. 3.—Carrying their attack to the northeast of Arras, the British today captured the village of Hamblain-les-Pres, just to the south of the Scarpe, in the direction of Douai.

Southeast of Lagnicourt, the southernmost point at which the British have a hold on the Hindenburg line, the Germans today fruitlessly threw in what is believed to be reserve availables. Most of the reserve troops, however, have been worn out in the recent fighting, and put up a weak resistance. The Second Prussian Division, considered one of the enemy's best, was rushed up from Cambrai, but the men were so worn that they were easily pushed back.

Hundreds of prisoners were taken today, but probably not so many as yesterday.

Opinion here is that the Germans have few, if any, fresh reserves available on this front. It is not believed the line of the Sensee Canal can be strongly defended. If this is taken it will be possible effectually to shell Cambrai.

Two-Mile Advance.

Between Peronne and the Sensee River the British are continuing their successful advances against the Germans, according to Field Marshal Haig's communication issued tonight.

The British now have reached the general line of Ypres (south of Bertincourt), Beaumetz-lez-Cambrai, Baralle, Rumaucourt and Lecluse.

Field Marshal Haig's forces this afternoon captured Le Mesnil, which lies to the southeast of Le Transloy. This constituted a further two-mile advance on a six-mile front since this morning.

British East of Ytres.

South of the Sensee River the enemy is evacuating the ground west of the Canal-du-Nord. The British are east of Yters and hold Etricourt and Manancourt. There also has been a slight advance in the direction of Diussy.

Numerous fires have been observed at Bus and Bertincourt, southeast of Bapaume, and there are other indications that the enemy's retirement still continues.

In the Lys salient (Flanders), where the Germans are retreating, the British advanced today, and now hold the western outskirts of Neuve Chapelle. The British have captured Richebourg-St. Vaast.

Move Up In Lens.

The report of the German evacuation, and the British occupation of Lens, which was current here today, is not confirmed from any official sources, and seems at least to be premature. It is worthy of note that Field Marshal Haig's communication from British headquarters in France tonight mentions only a slight advance of the British outposts. French reports late this evening say that fighting is in progress in the suburbs.

The capture of the town of Queant, the southern support of the famous German switch line before Cambrai and Douai, was announced in an official statement from Field Marshal Haig today.

Along this line the enemy was heavily defeated in his prepared defences, and is retiring on virtually the whole battlefront.

Past New Switch Line.

A new switch line, behind the Drocourt-Queant to which the Germans were believed to be retiring to make a new stand, has been passed by the British forces. This line was recently completed. It runs from Brebieres, five miles southeast of Drocourt, southward to Moeuvres, and joins the Hindenburg line in the vicinity of Graincourt, three and a half miles northwest of Marcoing.

Baralle Rumaucourt and Lecluse, which Sir Douglas Haig tonight reports are within the British lines, are well to the east of a line drawn from Brebieres to Moeuvres.

Over 10,000 Prisoners.

More than 10,000 prisoners were taken by the British yesterday.

In their push beyond the Drocourt-Queant line the British at noon today had advanced to a point just to the west of Buissy, 2½ miles northeast of Queant, and occupied Pronville, a mile and a half southeast of Queant.

The British also were holding Doignies, Velu, Bertincourt and Rocquigny, representing an advance to a maximum depth of four miles on a 20-mile front effected this morning.

In Flanders the British forces had captured the town of Wulverghem, two miles southeast of Kemmel.

In heavy fighting last night beyond the Drocourt-Queant line the British are reported to have made further progress on a front of 13,000 yards. The villages of Saudemont and Recourt, more than a mile and a half beyond Dury, the capture of which was announced last night, were reported taken today.

The village of Etaing, two miles north of Drury, fell late yesterday at about the same time as the British further south were capturing Villers-les-Cagnicourt. These captures were effected after most bitter fighting.

Contrary to expectation, the enemy has not reacted heavily with a view to the recapture of the Queant-Drocourt line, but has left the British in undisturbed possession of it.

"The other battalion is being raised in the Maritime Provinces and the west, with component companies, one at Halifax and St. John, and one at Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Victoria.

Great Power Shovel Is Buried Beneath Avalanche of Clay

Landslide Will Delay Work on Hydro Canal Near Whirlpool.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 3.—Battered and broken by hundreds of tons of clay that crashed down upon it from the cut, the great Bucyrus shovel in the northern end of the hydro canal cutting the whirlpool is out of commission for some time to come.

Yesterday's rain was probably the cause of the slide. The cutting is about 90 feet deep and the stratum exposed is mostly of quicksand character. Above this is a great bed of red clay.

LABOR DAY EVENTS SUCCESS AT CLINTON

CLINTON, Sept. 3.—A very successful Labor Day celebration was held here yesterday, thanks to the Young Ladies' Patriotic Auxiliary, which managed the affair, and showed marked ability in leadership.

A procession, in which the tradesmen and others took part, in addition to a large number of decorated automobiles, started the afternoon program, and it was the universal opinion that it was the best procession that ever passed through the town.

Some 3,000 persons were gathered in the park for the afternoon, when group games were conducted, and a well contested baseball match between Brussels and Clinton was played.

In the evening J. A. Patterson, K.C., of Toronto, spoke in the interest of the Navy League, and R. C. Sidenius of the Y.M.C.A. addressed the young people who had been assisting on the farms during the summer, and also presented over 100 badges to the boys and girls.

As a result of the day, the young ladies will have about $500 to turn over to the treasurer of the Navy League.

FLAMES DEVOUR DAIRY; LOSS IS ABOUT $30,000

Boiler Explosion Said To Have Fired Plant of St. Thomas Pure Milk Company.

ST. THOMAS, Sept. 4.—Flames which started about midnight in the plant of the St. Thomas Pure Milk Company, on the gravel road, completely destroyed it. The damage will be about $30,000.

The building, which was known as the old brewery, had been occupied by the firm for about two years.

A loud report was said to have been heard about the time the fire broke out, and it is thought that a boiler used for sterilizing purposes exploded and caused the fire.

The building, which contained much valuable machinery, will be a total loss. The fire department soon had six or seven streams playing on it, but it was beyond control before the men arrived.

Five horses and four or five wagons were saved. The plant was under the management of Alexander Anderson.

The flames flared high into the air and attracted attention for many miles around. The reflection was plainly visible in London and caused much conjecture as to the cause.

BIG AMERICAN FORCE SOON MAY BE TESTED IN WAR OF MOVEMENT

British Critics Says Mopping-Up Time Approaches.

EXPECTATIONS ARE HIGH

German Press Reflects Anxiety Over Changed Situation.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—The strategical situation on the western front leaves to the Americans the duty of striking a mopping-up blow against the vast German hordes that are being pressed back by the other Allies, in the opinion of some of the British military experts.

Much is expected of the American forces, which are increasing with surprising rapidity. The British critics today expressed the belief that the Germans would not be able to hold the Sensee and Nord Canal, and, with the Germans losing more of the Hindenburg line every day, the experts fail to see where the Germans can make a strong stand, considering their recent heavy defeats and their lack of reserves.

GERMANS ARE WORRYING.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Germany's growing realization of what the Allied victories in France and Flanders mean continue to be reflected in the changed tone of the German press. An official dispatch quotes the following from the Cologne Gazette:

"The struggle going on on southern front becomes every day greater and more formidable. The greatest German offensive cannot even be compared to the present fights. Our staff must take the necessity dispositions to meet any painful eventualities."

DIES OF PARALYSIS.

AILSA CRAIG, Sept. 3.—The very sudden death of Mr. William McLurg occurred at his residence on Main street on Tuesday morning from a paralytic stroke, death following a few minutes after. The deceased was around as usual, although he had not been in good health for some time, and retired on Monday evening, taking ill during the night. Besides his widow he leaves three daughters, Mrs. B. Connors of Niagara Falls, Mrs. Reid of London, and Ethel at home, also two sons, Harold of Bay City, Mich., and Glover of this place.

TWO POUNDS SUGAR FOR NINETY MEALS IN PUBLIC PLACES

Record Must Be Kept of All Meals Served.

NEW REGULATIONS OUT

After Sept. 30 Restrictions Are To Be Tightened to Great Extent.

OTTAWA, Sept. 3.—New regulations governing the use of sugar in public eating places, and by manufacturers have been announced by the Canada food board, and are embodied in an order-in-council which has just been signed by the chairman, Henry B. Thomson.

The new restrictions, which, with the exceptions specificially noted below are now effective, prohibit the use of more than two pounds of sugar for every ninety meals served in public eating places, except in the case of soda fountains or ice cream parlors. The use of sugar in the latter establishments is already under regulation, and in addition, after September 30, such establishments will not be permitted to use more than twenty-five per cent of the average monthly amount of sugar used during the year 1917.

Baking Regulations.

Manufacturers of biscuits, fruit cake, pound cake, layer cake, wine cake, sponge or any like product must not use more than forty pounds of sugar to one hundred pounds of flour, and of this amount fifty per cent must be yellow or brown sugar. In the manufacture of sweet dough products and pastry only eight pounds of sugar (half of which must be yellow or brown) may legally be used to one hundred pounds of flour. Not more than forty per cent of sugar may be used in the manufacture of cocoanut macaroons or fancy almond macaroons. Not more than ten pounds of sugar may be used to sixty pounds of marshmallow. In the manufacture of bread and bread rolls only one-half pound of sugar may be used to one hundred pounds of flour, and all of this amount must be yellow or brown sugar.

Others Cut to Half.

Manufacturers of candy, chocolate, solid chocolate products, cocoa, cocoa products, chewing gum, desiccated cocoanut or tobacco are limited to fifty per cent of their monthly consumption of sugar during the year 1917.

Manufacturers of table syrups, compound honey, maple butter and maple syrup compounds, or such like products must not use more than fifty per cent of their average monthly consumption of sugar for the year 1917, and one-half of this quantity must be yellow or brown sugar.

Manufacturers of pharmaceutical syrups and medicinal preparations must not use more than seventy-five per cent of their average monthly consumption of sugar in 1917.

Manufacturers of beers, ales, fruit juices, soft drinks, fountain fruits, fruit syrups, dessert or jelly powders, or marshmallow powders, after September 30, must not use more than fifty per cent of the average monthly amount of sugar used by them during the year 1917.

Limit In Ice Cream.

The amount of sugar, which may be used in the manufacture of ice cream, has been reduced to a maximum of 5½ pounds of cane sugar to eight gallons of ice cream. The use of sugar in the manufacture of soap is prohibited.

Certificates for the purchase of sugar for the use in manufacture of products mentioned in the order will be issued on the basis of the percentage allowed, and supplementary certificates will be issued for sugar for the manufacture of bakery products within the conditions of the order on proof of increased output.

Public eating places are required to keep a record of all meals served, and if their allotment of sugar does not equal two pounds per ninety meals served, licensees may make written application for a further allotment.

A record must also be kept of the quantity of fruit preserved and the amount of sugar so used in public eating places.

BRAKES SLIP AND CAR IS SMASHED TO PIECES; DRIVER DIES

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 3.—As a result of a motor accident in which he received internal injuries, Alexander McKay of Embro, died today at the General Hospital.

This morning Mr. McKay was motoring to the village of Embro, and when coming down the hill about a mile south of the village, his brakes refused to work, and he crashed into the St. Marys train, which was going south. The car was smashed to atoms and was hurled six or seven rods along the track.

When picked up Mr. McKay was conscious and remained so until his death. He was about 44 years of age and is survived by his wife and two young children, a boy and girl.

GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Opening: Corn—September, $1 54½; October, $1 56⅞.
Oats—September, 70⅜c; October, 72¼c.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Forecasts of frosts in Wisconsin gave an appearance of strength at times today to the corn market. Trade, however, lacked volume. Accordingly, advances were not maintained, and a tendency to sag developed. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c off, with September at $1 54½@1 54⅝, and October at $1 54½@1 57¼, were followed by a material upturn all around, but then by declines that in September and October deliveries reached around yesterday's close.

Oats showed firmness, owing to an absence of selling pressure. Cash inquiry was good. After opening ⅛c off to ⅜c up, the market hardened, but later reacted somewhat.

Winnipeg, Sept. 4.—Oats opened ⅛c higher for October.
Flax opened 4c lower for October and 2c lower for December.
Inspections yesterday totaled 28 cars for all grains. Contract grades of wheat were 15 cars.

PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—Provisions were dull and irregular. Pork weakened, but lard and ribs had a firm tone.

OILS.

London, Sept. 4.—Calcutta Linseed—£29 15s.
Linseed Oil—58s.
Sperm Oil—£54s.
Petroleum — United States refined, 1s 10½d; spirits, 1s 11½d.
Turpentine Spirits—120s.
Rosin—Type G, 55s.

AMSTERDAM STOCK EXCHANGE.

Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—The favorable Entente Allied war news from the western front today caused a general advance in prices on the stock exchange here, with lively dealings in American securities. All Entente exchange rates were appreciably higher. The dollar has risen in three days from 1.92 to 2.03. The exchange rates of the central powers have declined.

MONEY.

London, Sept. 4.—Money was scarcer, owing to large treasury bill purchases. Discount rates were quiet.
Money, 3 per cent.
Discount rates—Short bills and three months, 3 17-32 per cent.
Bar silver, 49½d per ounce.

New York, Sept. 4.—Bar silver, $1 01⅛ per ounce.

WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 4—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Stocks were firm at the opening of today's market, but developed moderate reactionary tendencies before the end of the first half hour as a result of bearish aggressions. Rails were again the chief sustaining influence, especially the transcontinental group, which rose large fractions. United States Steel was virtually unchanged on its initial offering of 5,000 shares, but soon yielded half a point. Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker and the petroleums were especially strong, Texas Company gaining 3 points.

1:30 p.m.—Revival of speculative interest in steels, coppers and oils were observed in the afternoon, some of those issues rising over the best quotations of the morning. Tobaccos and other specialties also improved, but further selling of rails caused another setback.

Reports from the delegates who attended the Dominion convention of the Great War Veterans' Association were received at a meeting of the London branch of the Great War Veterans' Association held in the Masonic Temple Tuesday evening.

"We all know that the G. W. V. A. will be one of the largest and grandest organizations in Canada in a few years. We had a little trouble at the convention, but before the convention was ended everything was straightened out. The associate member question was one of the biggest matters brought before the convention," said Col. W. G. Coles, president of the local branch of the Great War Veterans' Association.

Much Greater Success.

Major Gordon Ingram, who was also one of the delegates to attend the Dominion convention, told of its success. "The Ontario convention was fine, but the Dominion convention was a much greater success. The convention at Toronto was the real start for the Great War Veterans' Association. I can assure you that the organization is on a strong footing, and we can see by the meeting tonight that the London branch is taking its stand in the association," said Major Gordon Ingram.

Secretary J. W. Cunliffe read a report of the convention, which was applauded by the members of the local branch. Comrade J. Moore was elected as a member of the executive committee.

The members of the association voted $50 to the Navy League campaign and $25 to the Catholic hut campaign.

Fair Board To Reconsider.

President Coles reported to the members that he had been talking to one of the members of the board of directors of the Western Fair, and that the fair board will reconsider the resolution recently passed permitting only the returned men in uniform to the grounds. All the returned soldiers discharged since last April were forced to turn in their uniforms, so that by the present resolution, only returned men discharged before last April could be admitted to the Western Fair free of charge.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to The London Advertiser for assisting the G. W. V. A. to secure records for its phonograph. A vote of thanks was passed to Brig.-Gen. L. W. Shannon for opening the clubrooms. A vote of thanks was also passed to the citizens of London who kindly gave donations for the new clubrooms.

It was decided to hold meetings once a month and during the winter months social gatherings will be held for the members of the association. A resolution was passed admitting the press to the meetings.

Rules for the new clubrooms were also adopted.

MRS. PANKHURST TO SPEAK IN LONDON ON SEPTEMBER 12

Will Give Her Views of Russia Under Auspices of the Canadian Clubs.

Mrs. Pankhurst is coming to London on September 12 to address a meeting in the Masonic Temple in the evening, on the subject of her views of Russia. The world's most famous leader of the militant wing in the suffragist movement prior to the outbreak of war is back in Canada after a recent visit to Russia. She is addressing a meeting in Toronto next week, and the local Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs have combined in a successful effort to bring her to London again to address the meeting on Thursday evening, September 12, under their joint auspices. Needless to predict the interest attached to her subject, combined with the fame of Mrs. Pankhurst and the wide appreciation of her ability in this city and district, will insure a large audience.

JEWISH SOLDIERS WILL BE BILLETTED DURING FESTIVAL

Celebration of the Jewish New Year begins at sundown on Friday, September 6, and continues all Saturday and on Sunday until sundown. According to custom, special services will be held in the local synagogues, and all Jewish soldiers in training here or located any place in the military district are cordially invited to participate in the celebration with the Jewish community in London.

Hospitality will be provided for the soldier guests in Jewish homes and all men in Khaki intending to take advantage of the invitation are requested to send their names immediately to Mr. Lastar, 300 Dundas street, who has charge of billetting. On former occasions of Jewish festivals, soldiers have usually waited till the last day before giving in their names, causing considerable difficulty at times for those arranging for their entertainment.

WOUNDED AUGUST 29TH

ACTING-MAJOR C. M. R. GRAHAM.

LIEUT.-COL. GRAHAM WOUNDED IN ACTION ON AUGUST 29TH

Brief Word To This Effect Received by Mrs. Graham Last Night.

Lieut.-Col. (Acting Major) C. M. R. Graham was wounded in France on August 29, according to word received by Mrs. Graham yesterday.

The telegram was the official brief one, and no further particulars are yet known here.

Lieut.-Col. Graham after going overseas in command of the 142nd (London's Own) Battalion, later reverted in rank to that of acting-major, and has been serving with a famous Western Ontario unit since April of this year.

Further information regarding his injury is being anxiously waited by his many friends in this city.

CITY COUNCIL MEETS TO ADJUST WOES OF MANY SORE HEADS

Numerous Charges Of and Against Officeholders Are Discussed.

The fire department muddle was given another twist last night. The city council had on hand a letter from President Joe Dean of the trades and labor council, stating that that body did not think it necessary to have Judge Macbeth hear its charges. The council referred the matter to No. 1 committee. The committee will meet two days before Friday, September 13, the date set by the judge, to continue the hearing. In referring the matter to the committee the members of the council gave it no power. In the meantime the charges stand, as the council has referred them to the judge, and its decision has not been rescinded.

To Deal With Charges.

This will likely mean that Judge Macbeth will convene his tribunal on the 13th to deal with the trades and labor charges, and as the trades and labor council considers that its grievances in the matter are being adjusted it will have no reason to go on. It is therefore likely that they will drop.

This will mean that the judge will have only the Tozer charges to consider. If Capt. Tozer is on hand to back them up they will go on. If not, their fate would be the same as those of the trades and labor council.

In the meantime little or nothing is heard of the firemen's grievances. They asked the council for a board of conciliation. They received no reply to their request.

The trades and labor letter presented last night was as follows:

"In reply to your letter of today re the investigation of the fire department by County Judge Macbeth, would say that as some of the matters pertaining to the department which we thought warranted an investigation have been adjusted, and as steps are being taken to remedy others, insofar as we are concerned we believe that further action would be unnecessary."

Referred to No. 1.

City Clerk Baker's report that the judge had decided to start his probe on the 13th was also referred to No. 1 committee.

There were a few fireworks over the delay in demanding that the street railway live up to the order and direction bylaw recommended by the engineer.

Ald. Moorhead asked why the matter had not been reported on. He said there was a mistaken idea abroad that the company was being asked to put on more cars. It was not. It was being asked to replace the cars that it had taken off without notice to the city.

Ald. Harley said that the reason the matter had been laid over was that the company had said that there would be a better service during fair week and in September. Manager King asked for a chance for the company to show this.

Should Have Consideration.

Controller Merryfield asked if the council was after the "pound of flesh." He said that concessions had been given to other utilities, and he thought the railway should have some consideration. He pointed out that no matter what checks the engineer made, the service was always disrupted. He blamed the G. T. R. crossing.

Later Ald. Moorhead presented a motion that No. 1 committee be asked to report on the matter without delay. This would mean the next meeting, and Controller Merryfield presented a motion that the street railway officials be notified that the matter would be up before No. 1 committee at its next meeting.

PROCEEDS OF GARDEN PARTY WERE $35.50

DORCHESTER, Sept. 3.—A garden party was held on the lawn of E. McCann recently, under the auspices of the Mission Circle of the Methodist Church. A very pleasant time was spent. A graphophone furnished music for the program and there was a good demand for the cake and ice cream. The proceeds were $35.50.

Dorchester has certainly turned out her share of school teachers. Today about ten left the village to resume their duties in classrooms.

HEAVY YIELD OF GRAIN REPORTED

HYDE PARK, Sept. 3.—The farmers in this district are busy threshing. Not in years has there been such a heavy yield of all kinds of grain. The grain is exceptionally plump and spring wheat is very fine.

Cecil Tuckey, one of the Ford tractor machinists, who has been laid off work for some six weeks with a fractured arm, was able to resume his work this week.

Robert Wallace of the 8th concession of London Township, who has a large apiary, has started extracting honey this week. Mr. Wallace reports a fair crop only, but the honey is of excellent quality.

Rev. Mr. Gale, Presbyterian minister, is taking a three-weeks' holiday. Mr. Gale's father occupied the pulpit in his absence.

DR. WAUGH TO HEAR DISPUTE BETWEEN TEACHERS AND BOARD

Members of Education Body Refer It To Him.

CHAIRMAN BREAKS TIE

Some Favored Keeping Matter in Own Backyard; Other Want Higher Authority.

The dispute between the Teachers' Guild and the board of education goes to Dr. Waugh, chief provincial inspector of public schools. The board decided this yesterday after a rather warm debate and then only after the chairman had cast the deciding vote. The other members of the board were evenly devided, four being in favor of sending it to Dr. Waugh, and four others holding that the matter should be kept inside the board's own backyard.

The matter was laid before the board by Chairman John S. Barnard of No. 1 committee. He briefly outlined the serious situation that has arisen. He told of the refusal of five teachers to declare their position in regard to the attitude of defiance adopted by the Teachers' Guild. The committee had been unable to effect a settlement and decided that the matter should go to Dr. Waugh.

Trustee Strong Opposed.

Trustee W. T. Strong declared himself strongly opposed to the decision of the committee. If the thirteen men chosen by the people of the city to conduct their school affairs were not capable of dealing with the trivial matter in question then the sooner they resigned in a body the better. He considered it a reflection on the board to refer a matter like the one in hand to Toronto. He made a motion that the matter be left in the hands of Inspector Edwards for final disposal and that the recommendation of the committee be not entertained.

Trustee Smith seconded his motion, which was submitted as an amendment to the committee's report.

Trustee Coleridge said that if Mr. Edwards could handle the matter then the board could also, and he moved that the matter be dealt with by the board, but he got no seconder.

Mr. Strong asked that Mr. Barnard read a letter which was received from Miss Macklin, and this led the chairman to go over the whole case in detail. He did so in a manner that would have done credit to Ald. H. B. Ashplant, the council's record-breaking adjective-thrower. Mr. Barnard used adjectives quite freely in giving his opinion of the stand taken by the teachers.

Got Under Skin.

From what Mr. Barnard stated, the first occasion in which the teachers' action got under the skin of the members of the board was when the resolution of the Council of Women charging discrimination in favor of the men and against the women teachers was received. Members of the board did not think that the resolution was based on facts. They took the matter up with the guild. Here came stab No. 2. The guild told the board's committee that it would answer one of its letters if it could get permission from the Council of Women to do so. To another letter the board was told that it would get its answer in the public press. This, Mr. Barnard declared, was not the respect which the board had the right to expect from its women teachers. The next blow came when the committee learned something about what had been communicated to the council of women. They decided that the teachers had communicated things which they should not have and had not communicated things which they should have to have placed the position of the board in a proper light. This was stab No. 3.

Read Miss Macklin's Letter.

Mr. Barnard then read Miss Macklin's letter. She said that the matters placed before the Council of Women did not refer to this year's board. "That relieves us," said Mr. Barnard. Miss Macklin's letter also stated: "I feel I only was responsible." Meaning that she was responsible for what was laid before the Women's Council. Miss Macklin found later that statements she had made to the Women's Council were incorrect, and withdrew them and apologized.

"If the other teachers had shown the same respect the whole thing would have been dropped," said Mr. Barnard. Instead the committee received five letters, inspired by one mind, yet written by five hands. Their stand was not a proper one. It was only courtesy and civility to the board to answer the question. Instead, he said that while the letter was courteous enough, it was worse than the others. The teachers' attitude in the letter was the same as had characterized their attitude all through. They dealt with half the truth. This, he said, was proved by their remarks about the board's refusal to grant the teachers' requests for an increased minimum salary and also for $25 a year for new teachers with one year's successful teaching experience. The minimum the teachers said had been increased $50. Mr. Barnard said that by January all teachers were given $100 increase. The board had also agreed to pay experienced outside teachers $750.

Positive Affront.

"It was a positive affront to ask the committee to accept their statement," he declared.

Mr. Barnard said that he had asked Mr. Edwards to take the matter up, but the latter had expressed a desire not to do so, as his name had been mentioned by the teachers.

Mr. Barnard said that the matter as it stands was now one of who had the proper standard of conduct. 'Whose ethics are correct? It is not a question of salary. We may have an idea that we are right, but we cannot force our opinion or authority on the guild. It does not recognize our standard of ethics, so we must refer the matter to someone who has the authority to command its respect. It is astonishing that teachers who have been from 35 to 39 years in the board's employ should wind up their careers in this way."

Trustee Coleridge said that he thought that the guild should have been called up to explain and not the teachers. The board, he said, should dispose of the matter and not try and shift the responsibility on to someone else's shoulders.

Mr. Barnard said that the teachers were responsible to the board. The five letters were to his mind a covert insult.

Had Not Informed Her.

Secretary McElheran said that he had not informed Miss Macklin that Mr. Edwards had been granted a $250 increase in salary. What he had told her, he said, was that the report that Mr. Edwards had received such an increase was a devilish lie.

Trustee Manning was tempted to take the matter lightly. He quite plainly told the committee that it was taking the matter too seriously.

While it might not have been true that Mr. Edwards' grant of $250 for the upkeep of his auto was not a salary increase, yet it was money that he had not received before. He did not think that the matter in dispute should go out of the city. He had no censure to offer of the committee, though he believed that it had spent too much time on the matter. It had taken it too seriously. There were no better teachers than some of those involved, and if they made one mistake in 30 odd years' service the board should not object if they "got away with" this one. If the matter was sent out of the city he declared there was no telling where it would end. He spoke of Chairman Barnard as one of the best and most straightforward members of the board, but expressed the opinion that he was just straining a point a little. He could afford to be generous to the teachers. He expressed the opinion that the teachers were entitled to an increase at the first of the year, and when the board turned it down, it had done wrong. It was no wonder they had felt a little sore. "Be careful we don't go to the extreme," was his final warning.

On the amendment to refer the matter to Inspector Edwards, the vote was 5 to 3. Trustees Strong, Smith and Manning voted in favor, and Trustees Coleridge, Barnard, Rowe, Hayman and Shoebotham voting against.

On the vote to refer the matter to Inspector Waugh the nays of the first vote were the yeas, with the exception of Trustee Coleridge, who joined the nays, and Chairman Langford voted in favor of the yeas.

"GOOD TIMES!"

"The cereal crops in Britain and France are unusually large this year---fully 25% greater than last year.

"This increase, together with the large wheat yield on this continent, should make it unnecessary to increase the use of flour substitutes during the coming year."

BIGGEST HARVEST YET IN S. DELAWARE

SOUTH DELAWARE, Sept. 3.—Harvest days are over, and it has certainly been the greatest harvest this part of the country has ever experienced, both in quality and quantity. The weather could not have been better for getting the grain in the barns. All barns this year have been too small to hold the crops, and stacks are to be seen everywhere.

Threshing is now the order of the day. Wheat is turning out well to the straw, and the good quality oats are a bumper crop, and will be over the average in yield per acre. Some fields are running as high as 80 and 90 bushels per acre. Barley is turning out a first-class crop, both in yield and quality, some going as high as 60 bushels to the acre. Second growth of clover, which started well, has been somewhat checked by the drought. Water is getting very scarce.

Corn grew fast during August, and with favorable weather will be a great crop. Potatoes are not a uniform crop. The tubers so far are remarkably clean, but the drought has checked their growth. There are complaints of blight and other diseases, but there is remarkable freedom from rot.

Field roots are not so promising as early in the season, being much in need of rain. There will be a large acreage of fall wheat put in this fall. The ground is working up in good shape. Tractors are very busy, and have much work arranged ahead. The good weather has greatly eased the labor situation.

Prices paid for cattle sold to drovers range all the way from 10 cents to 15 cents a pound. Dairy cows have been in great demand.

The flow of milk has dropped off considerably. The price of bacon hogs has been keeping around $19 and $19.50 per hundred. Sheep are selling for high prices, and poultry prices are beginning to advance.

PATRICIA

Mrs. Vernon Castle, at The Patricia, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In spite of her recent bereavement, Irene Castle, the Pathe star, who comes to the Patricia Theatre for three days, starting Thursday, in her great screen success, "The First Law," remains the arbiter and leader of fashions in America. In a recent interview just before she sailed for France, where she is now entertaining the soldiers near the front, Mrs. Castle said that American women will be the style leaders more by reason of their manner of wearing clothes than the expense of their garments.

"The woman who wants to be well dressed, and this is the natural desire of every woman, must first of all learn to be honest with herself. She must see herself as she is, and not as she would like to be. If she is short and broad, she must not imagine herself tall and thin, and vice-versa. If she is angular and broad, she must not believe herself plump and rounded. And then, having seen herself honestly, as in a looking-glass, she should dress in a manner suitable to her own peculiar style.

Take the French women, for instance. They do not hesitate to admit their faults in face and figure, and this grand study of themselves leads them to the adoption of those patterns, fabrics, and adornments which lend distinction, individuality, and style to their appearance.

Go into a Parisian restaurant. You will never see, as in America, women of every height, weight, age and individuality all wearing clothes cut after the same design. American women are what one might call vogue crazy. They see a model, run across some particular style in a magazine worn by somebody or other, and are not happy until they get one like it. How much more sensible it would be to choose a style suitable to one's own self. Surely it is more comfortable and self-satisfying to be distinctive, individual, representative of yourself than to be merely one in a crowd, like a paper doll in a long row cut from one folded sheet. Regardless of patterns or fabric, the well-dressed woman is the woman whose gowns, suited to the occasion, best express herself.

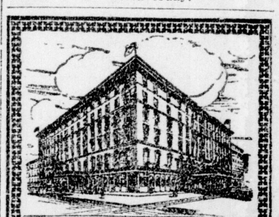

LITTLE BEN ALEXANDER IN "HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

The Majestic Theatre and all other theatre enterprises in Canada and the United States are under contract with the producer to adhere to this scale of prices.

AT THE UNIQUE.

"Lest We Forget," showing at the Unique Wednesday and Thursday, is the great spectacle which so long heralded, the screen representation of the great disaster that shook the world. It was transferred to the screen under the guidance of an eye-witness, the international star, beautiful Rita Jolivet, a survivor of the Lusitania massacre, who is seen in the leading part.

This picture is one of the big treats of the screen world today.
