Border Police Arrest Alleged Bank Robbers

NEARLY $250,000 CHANGES HANDS IN RECENT PROPERTY TRANSFERS MADE IN CITY

Largest Deal Involved Sale of London Cold Storage Building and Land On Bathurst Street For $60,000 — Richmond Street Cafe Property Included in $35,000 Deal—Former Bank of Montreal Site Fetches $50,000.

Property transfers listed during the past few weeks show several important real estate deals here. Considerations involved totalling approximately one-quarter million dollars.

The largest sale is that of the London Cold Storage and Warehousing Company building on Bathurst street, by that firm to George A. and W. L. Phinn, for $60,000. This property is situated at 78-90 Bathurst street, on the north side, between Talbot and Ridout streets. A portion of the land and buildings is listed as later transferred to Phinn and Henry for a consideration of $25,000.

E. L. Guillemont has sold the property known as lot 10, south Queen's avenue (which is the site of and includes Wong's Cafe on Richmond street), to Morris White for $24,000. According to the transfer list of ten days later the purchaser in turn has sold this land and buildings thereon to Henry and Philip Kestis, restaurateurs, for $35,000, the $11,000 profit on the deal being acquired by Morris White.

The Bank of Montreal property at the corner of Fullarton and Richmond streets, upon which the main branch of the bank, now dismantled, formerly stood, has been purchased by Benson-Hines Company for $50,000. The Bank of Montreal is named vendor in this transfer, and the proposed new million dollar hotel for London is to occupy this site and adjoining lands upon which the Merchants Bank now stands.

William Morrison has purchased the store at 123 Dundas street, from the Verschoyle Cronyn estate, for $29,500. The purchaser will utilize the premises as a shoe store.

E. A. and J. Towe have purchased buildings and lands on the north side of Dundas street, a few doors east of Richmond street, from Maria McBride, for $28,750. These buildings include stores on the ground floor and office buildings above.

Dr. George McNeill has purchased the terrace dwelling, 244-248 Queen's avenue, situated between the building formerly occupied by the Great War Veterans' Association and the Masonic Temple. He has announced that he will remodel the building to be used as his office in the near future. The building and property was purchased from Thomas H. English of this city, and the price was not made public.

ALLEGED AUTO THIEVES CHANGE PLEA TO GUILTY

Two Young Men Must Face Second Charge With Companions.

SENTENCE RESERVED

Magistrate Must Impose a Prison Term, Under Recent Amendment to Act.

George Langridge and Orville Restorick, who a week ago in police court pleaded not guilty to a charge of auto thefts, changed their plea this morning to one of guilty. They were remanded until Wednesday for sentence on this offence. According to a recent amendment of the criminal code, Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett cannot suspend sentence on these two young men or fine them, but must commit them to jail.

The theft took place more than a week ago, a car owned by James Lucas being stolen from the market square and recovered by the police on a side-road east of the city, stripped of tires and accessories.

To Face Second Charge.

This afternoon these same two men are on trial at the court house before Squire W. H. Chittick, along with Geo. Grant, Clarence Greason and Chester Roe, three of their companions on another charge of auto theft. This second theft is alleged to have taken place in Westminster Township.

Auto stealing has been very prevalent in the city this year, and a gang of five juveniles were sent to the Industrial School for two years just a week ago.

FALSE ALARM OF DROWNING MIGHT HAVE BEEN SERIOUS

Only One Pulmotor in City, Kept at Fire Hall.

Thursday afternoon Fire Chief John Aitken received a telephone call from a resident on Egerton street, to the effect that a small boy was reported to have been drowned in the vicinity of Vauxhall bridge.

The chief went to the scene of the supposed drowning with the pulmotor, but was met by the woman who sent in the call, and told there was nothing to the report. She added she had sent her son down to the river to render first aid, but he was met by a number of young lads who laughed at him for his trouble.

The chief drove down to the river and met the boy who sent in the call for help. On being questioned the boy informed the chief that "one boy tried to swim across the river there" and this was the only answer available.

A Serious Matter.

While the lads may not realize the seriousness of their prank, and just look at it in the light of "having some fun" at someone's expense, the chief remarked it was a very serious occurrence as there is only one pulmotor available in the city for accidents, such as this might have been, and if there had been a call received from some other part of the city during his absence it would probably have been to no avail as this point is in the extreme eastern section and by the time the pulmotor could have reached another point it would be too late.

BATHERS STUNG BY "STINGAREE"

Boston, Mass., July 29.—More than 150 bathers were treated at a hospital, and thousands more were driven from Nantasket and adjoining beaches yesterday, when a school of red jellyfish drifted inshore and severely stung all who came in contact with their tentacles.

This species of red jellyfish is commonly called the "stingaree," and sometimes the "Australian stingaree," because it is commonly found in the Australian waters. The feelers exude a poisonous substance, which infects the skin and causes swelling and pain.

Capt. William C. Sparrow of the coastguard station at Hull said that never before in a lifetime spent on New England shores had he seen red jellyfish along this coast. He attributes their presence to the unusually hot weather.

Hospital physicians asserted last night that none of those stung would suffer more than twelve hours.

KING GEORGE SAYS NORTHCLIFFE STORY BUT A FABRICATION

Words Attributed to British Sovereign Were Never Uttered.

London, July 29. — Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons today read a statement authorized by King George, declaring words attributed to the King concerning the Government's Irish policy in a reported interview in the United States by Lord Northcliffe, who controls the London Times, are "a complete fabrication."

Many New York School Children Found Defective

New York, July 29.—Two out of three New York children of first-year school age are physically defective, according to results of a study of 1,057 prospective entrants into Manhattan public schools, made public today by the department of health. Of 506 boys and 551 girls examined, 66.7 per cent had physical defects.

Defective teeth were found in 72.6 per cent of the cases studied.

SIR LOUIS DAVIES NOW ADMINISTRATOR OF GOVERNMENT

Quebec, July 29.—An interesting and quite unusual ceremony took place on the Empress of Britain yesterday when the Right Hon. Sir Louis Davies, who has just returned from England, was sworn in as administrator of the Government of Canada until the arrival of the new governor-general. The ceremony took place in the smoking-room.

The oath was administered by G. R. Kezar, assistant clerk of the privy council. Sir Louis immediately afterward signed the usual proclamation.

M. O. H. REFUSES ACTION AGAINST RAT COLONIES

Dr. W. S. Downham Absolves Rodents of Disease-Carrying Charge.

PIED PIPER OF HAMELIN

Only Cure For Conditions at City Dumps, Doctor Claims.

Following complaints received relative to colonies of rats overrunning a dump on Cheapside street, The Advertiser this morning interviewed Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, who informed the reporter that in his opinion there is no remedy for the nuisance.

"We received complaints regarding this dump some time ago," he stated, "and further placing of garbage and refuse there has been prohibited. This applies to all dumps in the city, and the garbage people have ceased dumping on these sites. Once in a while, however, some private party sneaks in a load.

"As for the rats, they are present in almost every dump, and we cannot do anything. A Pied Piper of Hamelin is about the only cure that I know of at present."

The reporter suggested posting a sentry on each dump, with a .22-calibre rifle to finish off the rodents, but Dr. Downham, who declares that these pests are not instrumental in this part of America in spreading disease, refused to recommend such procedure. He pointed out that rats are blamed for spreading the bubonic plague in the Southern States, and serious diseases in the Far East, none of which are known to exist in Canada.

One complainant, who objects to the Cheapside street dump, informed The Advertiser, that the rats in that vicinity, as a result of continual rushing about among tin cans, have patches of hair scratched off their bodies, and are covered with sores. He jocularly threatened to report the matter to the Humane Society, in an effort to prevent such cruelty to dumb animals.

TILLSONBURG TO GIVE KING A REAL WELCOME

Liberal Leader to Arrive in Early Evening.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Tillsonburg, July 29.—Tillsonburg plans a royal welcome for Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King tonight, when the Liberal leader will address the annual meeting of the South Oxford Reform Association in the Opera House. Other speakers will include J. A. Robb, M. P., Huntington, Quebec, Liberal party whip, who is accompanying Mr. King on this tour. J. A. Hayden of Ottawa, general secretary of the Reform Association of Canada, and W. J. Comiskey of Ingersoll, president of the South Oxford Association. C. H. Denton, secretary, states that there is no doubt whatever that a Liberal candidate contesting the riding at the next Dominion election, which it is anticipated locally will be held at an early date. While the United Farmers have several would-be candidates, it is uncertain whether they will actually put a candidate in the field. Throughout the riding everywhere an unusual interest is being taken in Mr. King's appearance here tonight, and a crowded meeting is assured. Election of new officers for the association and general business will be features of the meeting. There will be an executive meeting at 8:30 p.m. The Liberal leader arrives from Toronto at 6:50 p.m., and will be met at the station by the Tillsonburg brass band and escorted with a procession of decorated autos through the principal streets.

FIGHT FANS MUST GO TO MONTREAL TO SEE THE FILMS

"Montreal train from second platform. This way for the big fight." Those who were unable to attend the actual contest in Jersey City between the world's champeen" and near champion, will now have to journey down to the province to the immediate east of this one, should they desire to witness the Dempsey-Carpentier battle, as depicted on the screen.

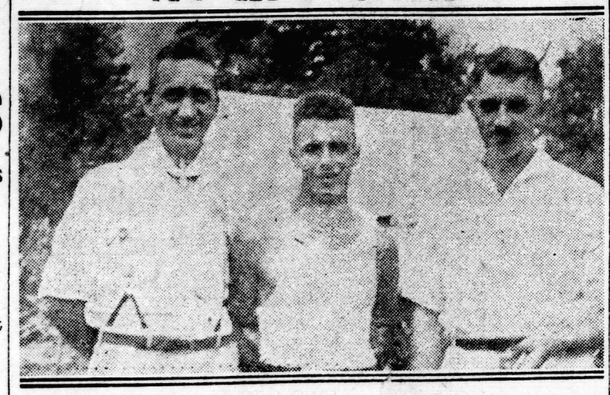

T. D. McCullough, secretary of the Social Service Council, received a communication from Toronto this morning, announcing that the picture entitled "The Fight of the Ages," six smashing reels of the recent ring encounter, has been definitely barred by the Ontario board of censors.

The local secretary offered no comment upon the decision, other than such result was rather expected by the members of the council.

"Irish Republican Parliament" Will Assemble Shortly

All Members of Dail Eireann Now in Prison Likely To Be Released at an Early Date—Officials Optimistic That Negotiations Will Result in Permanent Irish Peace.

Dublin, July 29.—It now seems certain that the summoning of the "Irish Republican Parliament" to consider the British terms will be one of the very next steps to be taken in connection with the peace negotiations. Although the calling of the Dail Eireann for this purpose is not likely to occur immediately, no date having yet been fixed, the apparent fact that such a session has been decided upon encourages the hope here that the negotiations will prove fruitful.

No application has as yet been made for the release of those members who are still in prison, but the freeing of these men is declared to be certain once the date of the meeting is fixed.

The general disposition of the civil authorities is to facilitate release from prison of all Dail Eireann members necessary to secure a responsible decision by the entire Sinn Fein representation.

Stanley St. and Ridout Bridge Area To Have New Sanitary Sewer Systems

City Engineer Announces Low Level Interceptor to Proceed Along Ridout, Horton, Thames and Intersecting Streets Across River to Link Up With London West System — Work Authorized to Start at Once at Cost of $50,000.

City Engineer H. A. Brazier announced this morning that sanitary sewers are to be constructed at once on Thames street, Bathurst street and Horton streets west; Ridout street, from Bathurst street to Ingleside Place, and Stanley street for two blocks east of the river, estimated to cost approximately $50,000. This system is to be known as a low-level interceptor, and will be linked up with the London West sewage pumping station via Thames street across the river Thames and along Dundas street west to Wilson avenue.

The city engineer exhibited plans (by request), showing this new system serving an important central area of the city this morning, and stated that work on it will be commenced in the near future. The interceptor system from London West will proceed as above to the river, which it will cross near Dundas street bridge.

Main Trunk Lines.

Pipes will be laid one block east of Thames street on Bathurst and York streets, serving property owners here. The main trunk line will proceed down Thames street to Horton street, and along the latter throughfare to Ridout street, with a branch proceedings up the Horton street hill to Talbot street, with a similar tributary coming down Ridout street from Bathurst to Horton streets.

The main trunk will continue south on Ridout street to Ingleside Place, where it will receive its sewage most distant from the pumping station. An important branch from Stanley street is planned to link up with the main trunk at Thames street, near York. The present pipes on Stanley street, which drain into the river, will be tapped for this purpose, thus eliminating the necessity of tearing up the new pavement. This tapping will be made at the west side of the York street bridge.

Lay Pipes on Boulevard.

The city engineer announces that in all cases where this sewer is to be laid, whenever possible, the pipes will be laid on the boulevard, thus preserving pavements and good dirt roads.

This area is too lok to drain into the general sewer system of the city, and at the same time have the pipes fulfil their purpose in regard to cellar draining for citizens resident therein. However, by inking up with the West London system, a real sanitary sewer service is provided instead of having houses connected with sewers draining in the River Thames, as is now in vogue in this district.

The West London sewerage system, which will drain every portion of that district, will cost approximately $500,000, inclusive of the sewers planned for the central area, as outlined above.

The West London system and the central low level interceptor will be constructed simutaneousy according to the city engineer.

PULP PLANT DESTROYED.

St. Johns, Nfld., July 29.—The pulp plant of the A. E. Rex Company at Bishop's Falls, Nfld., was totally destroyed by fire yesterday, with a loss of many thousands of dollars, partially covered by insurance.

NO UNWRITTEN LAW, DECLARES CITY TREASURER

Claim of Assessor Martin O'Sullivan Not Accepted at City Hall.

PROMISES EXPLANATION

Assessment Commissioner Grant Asserts Whole Thing Will Come Out.

Although Martin O'Sullivan, city assessor for 21 years, blamed by some officials at the city hall, and Ald. Harley for neglecting to place the names of four local priests on the rolls as liable for statute labor tax, declares in explanation that "an unwritten law," in vogue for years, exempt the clergy from such taxation, officials at the city hall deny any knowledge of such procedure.

"It is the first I have heard of this unwritten law," said City Treasurer James Bell, who collects the tax from lists furnished by the assessment department, "and I have been around here a few years. I know that there is a written law which says that every male resident of the city between the ages of 21 and 60 years, not otherwise assessed, should be assessed for statute labor tax."

Dangerous Things.

"Unwritten laws are dangerous things to go by," commented Ald. F. E. Harley, acting mayor, today, who has interested himself in the muddle.

"I have the explanation of the whole thing in my mitt," Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant informed The Advertiser. "A court of revision years ago made a general decision covering such cases to the effect that priests and other members of the clergy are to be assessed 'as tenants.'"

Never Thought of It.

"Why did you not mention that before, and save trouble?" queried the reporter.

"I never thought of it," replied Mr. Grant. When it was pointed out to him that one of the priests admitted liability to tax and willingness to pay it if assessed, and that four men in one residence cannot very well all be assessed as tenants, Mr. Grant became reticent and said, "Wait until the investigation and that will all come out."

"I do not see why there should be an unwritten law to exempt the clergy of any denomination, when they made me pay this tax within a week of my return to this city, after two years' absence," a Londoner complained to City Treasurer Bell Thursday.

"Oh we got you, and we will get all the others liable," retorted City Treasurer Bell. "There are no unwritten laws in this thing, and we are not through with it yet."

MELVIN BURGESS IS SENTENCED TO FIVE-YEAR PRISON TERM

Pleaded Guilty To Passing of Forged Check.

CONNECTED WITH GANG

Numerous Ontario Cities and Towns Have Been "Worked."

St. Thomas, July 29.—Pleading guilty to the passing of a forged check for $19.75, purporting to be issued by the department of militia and defence, and which was cashed by a local grocer a week ago, Melvin T. Burgess, aged 20, Toronto, was sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary this morning by Magistrate Maxwell. Burgess confessed to having signed the remainder of the dozen checks passed on St. Thomas merchants. The accused in a rambling story told of purchasing a number of such checks at $2 each from a party whom he met in the Orde restaurant, Toronto. Bundles of checks were prepared at that city and distributed among confederates, who negotiated the paper at Collingwood, Barrie, Clinton, Brantford, Hamilton, Welland, Stratford, Windsor, Owen Sound and smaller places. He and a confederate, John Roberts, who escaped pursuit of the police at St. Thomas by jumping the high fence at the L. and P. S. station, traveled together, and did an extensive business. Burgess acknowledged cleaning up over $100 in St. Thomas and similar amounts at other centers. Posing as a returned soldier with a certificate of discharge from a Toronto regiment, and offering a check with all the earmthk of the department of militia and defence, he had little trouble in convincing his dupes that he was a hard-up veteran and the notes were beyond question. Burgess has a wife in Toronto. He claims his father is a wealthy contractor in that city.

RUSSIAN BLACKSMITH IS HELD FOLLOWING DISCOVERY OF MONEY IN HIS ROOM

Sam Bodnersky, According to Essex County Police Officials, Has Admitted Complicity in the Petite Cote Robbery of July 20—Arrests of Others Expected at Any Hour.

Windsor, July 29.—Eight days of a dogged search for the bandits who looted the Merchants Bank at Petite Cote of nearly $20,000 in cash in a daylight holdup on Wednesday, July 20, brought results for Walkerville and provincial police officers Thursday when they succeeded in placing under arrest a Russian blacksmith, who, police say, has admitted complicity in the crime. The man is Sam Bodnersky, aged 27. He operated a blacksmith shop on the eighth concession Base Line road, Sandwich south, a short distance from the Walker road, Walkerville. A search of his room in a boarding house failed to reward the officers until a picture on the wall was moved. A shower of United States and Merchants Bank bills, said to be a portion of the loot, fell at the officers' feet. There was $3,074 in all.

Chief J. P. Smith of the Walkerville police stated this afternoon that further developments in connection with the robbery are expected to take place within the next 48 hours. The arrest of at least four of the other men who pulled off the robbery is expected at any moment.

Would Not Favor Juvenile Court If It Meant a Big Expenditure, Says Ald. Harley

Secretary Ed. Lance Resents "Soft Job" Insinuations of Opponents of Scheme—Secretary of Children's Aid and Secretary of Soldiers' Aid Automatically Become Probation Officers.

"There is yet considerable talk about the alleged great expenditure that will be involved in maintaining a juvenile court in London," commented Ald. Frank E. Harley today, "but that is not so. As I have stated before, if I actually knew that there would be a big expense to the court I would not support it. But expense is to be practically eliminated. In the first place there would be no need to pay a great sum for a building. I proposed that we use the city hall. There is ample space there, and such would only be required for perhaps an hour or so, two or three days in the week.

"Then, again, it has been repeatedly stated that the court would simply mean the establishment of four or five nice soft berths at big salaries for certain people. Who are they I am sure that no one will entertain for a moment the proposal that Police Magistrate Graydon is job hunting. He has already intimated that he would undertake the duties as juvenile court judge as outlined by our scheme with no remuneration attached.

Not Seeking Soft Job.

"A statement like that appears rather unfair," commented Edward H. Lance, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, today. "I do not know who is seeking a nice berth, as has been suggested recently. I know that I have no one to place on the job. And as to the expense in the requirement of probation officials such will also be eliminated. With the establishment of the juvenile court, W. E. Kelly of the Children's Aid Society and myself automatically become probation officers under the act."

Extracts from the statutes pertaining to probation officers reads as follows:

"Every agent of a Children's Aid Society formed under the children's protection act, shall be a probation officer within the meaning of the juvenile delinquents' act. 10 Edw. VII, C. 96, S. 3.

"The soldiers' Aid Commission shall have and may exercise and perform all rights, powers and duties of a children's aid society as provided by the children's protection act." (From the soldiers' children's protection act of 1920.)

Petty Politics.

"It is unfortunate," continued Mr. Lance, "that at this moment, in a movement of such import, calling, as it does, for free and unbiased consideration from the citizens, that the element of personal ambition or political desire should be allowed to creep into the question. That petty politics have unconsciously, or with premeditation, been quietly introduced to a lamentable extent, so that many apparently full-hearted supporters of Ald. Harley's juvenile court scheme are gradually assuming an opposite view. This is to be greatly regretted, when the future of hundreds of youngsters probably hangs in the balance."

Sees Improved Conditions Soon

New York, July 29.—Howard Elliott, chairman of the Northern Pacific Railway, was optimistic today on his return from a 6,000-mile tour of the Pacific Northwest of Canada.

"Everywhere I went," he said, "there was a feeling of hope and belief that conditions would be better, and in few places did I vnd any feeling of pessimism. The outlook for agricultural production is good."

HAS NARROW ESCAPE WHEN FAST EXPRESS TRAIN HITS WAGON

J. D. Horseman of Ingersoll Is Slightly Bruised.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ingersoll, July 29.—J. D. Horseman, a farmer residing a few miles from here, had a narrow escape from death this morning, when the fast G. T. R. express from London struck his wagon as it was crossing the tracks at the first concession west of here. The wagon, loaded with gravel, was cut in two, the contents falling over the train in a shower. Horseman was only slightly bruised. The team escaped unhurt.

Natural Product May Bring Down High Gas Rates

Special Gas Committee Will Open Negotiations With City Gas Company With Idea of Supplying Londoners With Cheaper Fuel.

Following a consultation with officials of the Progressive Gas and Oil Company, who hold natural gas wells about four miles east of the city near Crumlin, members of the special gas committee, representing the city council and the chamber of commerce, decided to place the company's proposition before the City Gas Company, with a view to having natural gas distributed in the latter's mains, thus lowering the price of gas in this city.

It is likely that should the City Gas Company, which at present is prohibited from distriubting natural gas in city mains, refuse to entertain the proposition, the Progressive Gas and Oil Company will be allowed to open negotiations with the city to distribute its product in certain city districts. The company, with a contract signed, agrees to pipe the gas to London and install a distributing centre in selected local districts if the gas company refuses to distribute.

500,000 Feet Daily.

The report of E. S. Estlin, late gas commissioner of Ontario, who tested the wells recently, was read by Ald. W. A. Wilson, who presided at the meeting. This report stated that 500,000 cubic feet of gas daily are available from the wells, which is one-half the amount at present consumed by Londoners.

However, officials of the Progressive Gas and Oil Company pointed out at the consultaition that natural gas is almost double the strength of the artificial product, burning with nine-tenths air, in contrast to one-tenth air consumed by artificial gas. Representatives of the company quoted a price to the committee, conditional that it be regarded as confidential.

Want To Sell It.

"We have the gas for sale, and you have the control as far as the city is concerned," President George L. Goodrow of the Hamilton Company informed the committee. "We want to sell our gas."

"London being the most natural market for our gas, we came to you first," said Victor A. Sinclair, solicitor of the committee. "We drilled our first well in 1916."

"This 500,000 gallons daily is double the strength of artificial gas, and therefore is double that capacity," declared Ald. W. A. Wilson.

"We have a commodity which we wish to turn into revenue," said the president. "The city has no money to expend on it."

"The City Gas Company has no right to distribute natural gas until the franchise is amended," advised Solicitor Sinclair.

"They can get that right if they will give the citizens any benefit," opined the chairman.

"It is a good thing for somebody, but the question is will the wells stand up?" asked J. J. Foote, representing the local chamber of commerce.

Would Cost $13,000.

"It will cost $13,000 to bring it into London, and we want a contract before piping," said President Goodrow.

"What we want to know is a definite price on it," said Ald. Wenige.

"We cannot tell you what the City Gas Company will charge to distribute it," declared Solicitor Sinclair.

Ald. Wenige: "We are starting at the wrong end. Both gas companies should get together and give the city their price. Then if we wish to give them the right to distribute natural gas we can and know where we are getting."

"Will you give us the right to distribute natural gas in the city?" asked the solicitor. "The City Gas Company has not the exclusive right in London."

Reliable Report.

"This report of Mr. Estlin's is a very good one and reliable, but will the wells stand up for an open test for a certain length of time?" repeated J. J. Foote. "A test will prove it to the citizens and everybody now skeptical."

President Goodrow informed the committee that one well is now supplying 75,000 to 100,000 cubic feet daily with good pressure. He contended that the city had nothing to lose.

"It is up to us to do the best we can to drive a bargain and reduce the price of gas here," replied Ald. W. A. Wilson.

Pointing out that the City Gas Company can only charge the present price of $1.25 per thousand feet until January 1, 1922. Ald. J. C. Wilson said. "The price will go up or down then. The only solution to me is that it is up to the council to make arrangements to get the gas.

"If the City Gas Company will not allow the gas to be distributed by their mains there are other means. If natural gas is no good we can wash our hands of it. The company guarantees no amount of gas whatever. What we want to know is your price and amount to be supplied."

Will Hold Conference.

Ald. Wenige then moved that the City Gas Company officials be consulted by member of the committee with a view to making arrangements for reception of the natural gas, if such action is decided. Officials of the Hamilton company, on this motion being passed, pointed out that the supply would be measured and charged at the city limits.

President Goodrow stated that 10,000 acres of land for drilling purposes have been leased near Crumlin and that many offers had been received for the natural gas. However, he said, London is the natural field in which this gas should be consumed.

Members of the gas committee present at the consultation were Ald. W. A. Wilson, Ald. Cameron Wilson, Ald. G. A. Wenige and J. J. Foote, representing the chamber of commerce. The Progressive Gas and Oil Company of Hamilton was represented by President Geo. L. Goodrow, Secretary-Treasurer F. L. Snively, Solicitor Victor A. Sinclair and J. F. Green.

C. P. R. EMPLOYEES OF DIVISION PICNIC AT SPRINGBANK PARK

Transportation and Refreshments Provided For 3,000 by Company.

From every point within a radius of more than 100 miles of this city the employees of the C. P. R., their wives, families and many friends gathered in Springbank Park on Thursday to celebrate the annual picnic of the London division of that road. While perhaps the crowd was not as large as that of last year, the outing as a whole was much more successful, for the long list of sports was run off with a smoothness that spoke of a splendid organization, and then, too, the weatherman was in his kindliest mood.

Many Special Trains.

It is estimated that fully 3,000 people had gathered in the green open place in front of the pavilion while the afternoon was still young. Two trains from the east, both carrying extra equipment, brought many hundreds to the city from points between this city and Toronto, the eastern limit of this division, and from north to Goderich and south to Port Burwell. The trains, arriving within a few minutes of each other, were met by special street cars, which bore the picnickers direct to the park.

The employees from the west did not arrive until 1:15 in the afternoon. No. 634, from Detroit was loaded to capacity when it pulled into the local station. It, too, was met by a special car, which made a fast run to Springbank.

Free Transportation.

Every employee of the road who could possibly be spared from his duties attended the outing. Free transportation was supplied to all the employees and their families who resided at points outside of the city. The generosity of the company did not stop there, however, for on the grounds the employees were given refreshment tickets, which were accepted as cash at all booths.

Officials Present.

Several officials of the company were present, arriving during the morning. Among them were General Superintendent H. C. Grout of Toronto, who attended last year's outing, and W. B. Howard, the district passenger agent, also of Toronto. The visitors were accompanied to the ground by Superintendent R. McKillop of the local division. Unfortunately, Mr. Grout was forced to leave early.

The outing was marked by an unusual feature. After the luncheon had been served and just before dusk, dancing on the green was held. To the sweet music from a splendid orchestra couples waltzed on the grass. The experiment proved delightfully popular.

Boxing Bouts.

Since the championship fight between Carpentier and Dempsey was fought in Jersey City a few weeks ago boxing bouts have become a favorite pastime at outings. Two splendid bouts were staged during the afternoon, while hundreds of fans pressed close to the ring. The first bout was announced "Carpentier and Dempsey, four rounds." H. Hunter appeared as Carpentier and T. Hunter was Dempsey. Dempsey had the edge on Carpentier and drew first blood, but Carpentier, true to his namesake, was game. The fight went almost four rounds, when someone cried, "Officer, do your duty!" and then everyone gasped as a policeman stepped into the ring and gruffly said, "Come with me!" They went.

The interference of the arm of the law, however, did not prevent the second bout, which was a hard-fought, slugging battle, with R. V. Allgrove as Herman, the new champion, doing most of the slugging. On the receiving end was Bert Parker as Jimmy Wilde. The fight lasted two rounds.

Baby Show.

Before the long list of sports was run a baby show was held. Among a large number of entries Bernard Hall was picked as the finest boy of one year or younger. The finest baby girl of the same age was the little daughter of Mrs. Huntley of this city. Little curly headed Audrey Pike of 972 Princess avenue was chosen as the most beautiful baby on the grounds. The prizes for the babies were donated by Mr. Wright, the company's storekeeper.

Officials' Race.

The races were all well run and closely contested by a large number of entries. The official race stirred up much interest. It was a handicap, with Superintendent McKillop getting most of it. Mr. McKillop's splendid running of last year was remembered, and so he was started yards behind the others, but nevertheless he secured third place. P. Coakley, roadmaster, was first, and W. Shipman, locomotive foreman at Goderich, was second. The married ladies' chicken race was highly amusing.

Baseball Game.

Immediately after the sports a baseball game between two teams composed of women was played. The results were censored.

The following are the winners of the different sporting events:

PROPOSES CONCERTS AND MUSICALS TO BUILD BAND STAND

E. V. Buchanan Suggests Plan To Meet Needs At Victoria Park.

OVERCOME OBJECTIONS

Whole Cost Could Be Met by the Lovers of Music.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the public utilities commission, has a scheme whereby it is possible for London to acquire a new bandstand in Victoria Park to replace the dilapidated structure which now attempts to serve that purpose. This scheme will not throw any extra taxation upon the ratepayers of the city, but funds will be provided by lovers of music here, if carried into effect successfully.

"My scheme is to have a series of concerts and musicales staged in Victoria Park by local talent, volunteering services gratis," Mr. Buchanan informed The Advertiser. "A collection could be taken up each time, and before long funds would be provided for the new stand."

"I have heard it said that a city of the size of London should vote sufficient money to build a modern bandstand. But all Londoners are not lovers of music, to such an extent that they would stand for their tax rate to be increased for a bandstand in Victoria Park without protest. With lovers of music attending these concerts, and getting their money's worth, and lovers of music providing the series at cost, the improvement could be provided indirectly.

"A citizen residing in East London might possibly object to paying taxes for a new bandstand in Victoria Park. However, if he appreciated good music he would come down to the park to hear a treat, and be willing to pay for it. A few concerts would soon accumulate the necessary funds, if musicians of the city would get together and work out this plan.

"Mr. Jordan, of the Institute of Musical Art, might be prevailed upon to stage a musicale in the park on a big scale, as one of the series. Mr. Slatter might stage a concert with his band. Mr. Roselle Pococke do likewise with the Grand War Veterans, Royal Canadian Regiment, Marconi and other bands taking a turn in the series.

"Sufficient local talent could be obtained to stage two or three concerts, with local orchestras included in the series of concerts. By these means I feel confident that before long the cost of a new bandstand, which can range according to what is desired from $5,000 to $10,000, would be met. The idea is worth taking up."

EMIGRANTS WARNED NOT TO SELL HOMES

British Citizens Seeking Canadian Homes Given Good Advice.

Ottawa, July 28.—Intending emigrants to Canada from Britain are being urged not to sell their homes and other property until they are assured that they can comply with the Canadian immigration regulations, says the department of immigration today.

EXPECT TO EFFECT SPURGIN'S ARREST IN A SHORT TIME

Chicago, July 29.—With the trial of Warren C. Spurgin, missing president of the closed Michigan Avenue Trust Company, apparently leading to the vicinity of Mobile, Ala., and authorities predicting his speedy apprehension, state's attorneys and investigators today continued their delving into affairs of the defunct institution and its president.

James McShane, assistant state attorney, said today that Spurgin, another man and two women made a visit to the bank on Sunday, July 17. Before it had been believed Spurgin left Chicago on July 15.

Clarence Beutel, cashier of the bank, today intimated that the loss would be in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, and that depositors might expect to retrieve 55 cents on the dollar.

LACK OF FUNDS WILL KEEP MANY MEN FROM WEST

Railway and Employment Officials Report Prospects of Big Trek.

"Not good enough, eh? Well, what do you know about that?" questioned a disgruntled worker, standing outside the employment bureau this morning, after reading a dispatch from Winnipeg that farmers of Manitoba were experiencing the utmost difficulty in getting out-of-works to bestir themselves and "take on" at five dollars a day, and everything found for harvest work in that district. Sixty dollars a month, it is further advised, is the ruling figure for steady work on Manitoba farms.

It is intimated that crowds of unemployed in the western city are refusing to accept work until they are paid seven and eight dollars a day, and are guaranteed 30 days' work. The farmers, it is explained, are as a result anxiously awaiting the arrival of the annual excursionists from Ontario and the east.

Many Londoners Going.

Increasing inquiries as to dates of departure, and other particulars indicate, railway and employment agencies affirm, that the London quota for the prairie provinces will be substantial. Quite a number, however, as in other centers, explain that as they have been without work for many months, it will be only with the greatest effort that they will be able to secure the necessary finances for the trip. The Government obviously will make no effort to act upon the suggestion of the executives of certain returned soldier bodies to grant free passage.

Those enlisting for the trip through the local employment bureau are advised that the agent in the bureau of their chosen destination will be acquainted of their departure here, and will be amply prepared with waiting farmers to take them in charge immediately and have them at work without undue loss of time.

TWO MONUMENTS AND INDIVIDUAL CROSSES FOR SOLDIERS' GRAVES

Permanent Crosses to Replace Wooden Ones Now in Use.

Military authorities of Military District No. 1 expect word any day to the effect that the crosses for soldiers' graves in the local cemeteries will be ready for shipment from Ottawa to London. They will be erected in the soldiers' plots in place of the wooden crosses now being used.

Major W. T. Lawless, A. A. G., M. D. No. 1, stated that there would probably be two large monuments erected, one in one of the Protestant cemeteries, probably Mount Pleasant, and one in the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

While it is expected that the individual crosses will be available in a short time, it is not thought that the erection of the monuments will take place until the fall.

If you require a messenger boy, don't put a card in your window, but use an advertisement in The London Advertiser. An advertisement of fifteen words will only cost 30 cents.

The outgoing mails due for dispatch after 12 o'clock, noon, will be closed at that hour. The night mails will be dispatched as usual.

BOY SCOUTS TO HOLD SERVICE ON VILLAGE SQUARE AT BAYFIELD

London Troop Will Be Joined by Several District Troops.

As the time draws near for the closing of the Boy Scouts' camp at Bayfield, great interest is being taken in the service to be held on Sunday afternoon on the village square. All the London boys will participate, and many more scout troops, with their leaders, from the surrounding district, will also take part. The choir boys of the Church of St. John the Evangelist will assist with the musical service, which will be under the direction of a Goderich orchestra. Many hundreds will visit Bayfield for the service, and with the large number of summer visitors now at the lakeshore, a large attendance is looked for.

During the past week the boys in camp have been holding long hikes, being sent out under sealed orders, which were opened at a designated point, the place usually being the home of some hospitable resident, who assisted greatly in giving the boys a royal welcome. Signal drill has also been a feature of the work, and a number of the scouts are passing their signal tests successfully. The health of the camp has been excellent, sunburn being the only "epidemic," which cases were carefully attended to by the medical officer, Mr. Watson. "Tiny," the corpulent and good-natured chef, has become a great favorite with the boys on account of the many delicacies which he has furnished the campers, even plum pudding being on the menu. And the "flapjacks" he produces—about two feet in diameter—have made many of the boys forget the dainty, pink-tea affairs they have been in the habit of obtaining at home.

Campfire stories, some of which are remarkable for their apparent attempt at reality, are told each night, followed by short prayers and a singsong conducted by Rev. A. S. H. Cree and S. McKegney. Rev. Carew Hallowell makes scout work a special feature, in which he is ably assisted by T. K. Wright, a London divinity student.

On Monday the Girl Guides will go into camp on the same site, and will remain for ten days. Rev. A. L. G. Clerke, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, is at present in the city arranging for the homeward transportation of the boys on that day, and a number of the parents of the boys will be visitors over the week-end. Altogether the venture has been a success in every way, and gives much encouragement to the endeavor now being made to make the camp an annual affair, with a much increased attendance.

LONDON LAUNDRY WORKERS BEST PAID IN ONTARIO

Wages Paid in Other Places Reported Below New Minimum.

Laundry workers of London, according to the official report of the Ontario minimum wage board sitting in Toronto, appear to be in a better position comparatively than their fellow workers throughout the province. At Thursday evening's meeting of that body it was pointed out that in several instances the minimum scale now agreed upon by both employers and employees of Ontario is far below the actual scale now in existence and London was singled out as a notable example in this respect. It was suggested that the new orders governing female laundry workers in all communities outside Toronto, be put in effect on September 1. This date was acceptable, it is advised, to the representatives of the employees themselves.

"That is quite right," commented Roy W. Williams, manager of the Parisian Steam Laundry, today, "conditions in London are very good in this respect. We have had this scale in effect for a considerable period, and our employees appear to be well satisfied. When we have them remaining on our payroll for long periods, it is a fairly good sign, is it not? Why, we have one employee who has been with us for 30 years now."

Seven dollars is the minimum under the new ruling for the first six months for an inexperienced person employed in a laundry, under 18 years of age. After the stipulated length of employment the worker is accordingly raised in accordance with the scale as laid down by the act.

LOCAL FIRM MAY GET CONTRACT FOR SCHOOL BOILERS

Members of No. 2 committee of the board of education in session this afternoon will in all probability recommend the contract for boilers for the new Victoria School, now under construction. While the committee is understood to unanimously favor the water tube type of boiler, as seen by members on a recent visit to Montreal, it is pointed out that any firm can construct this boiler according to specifications laid down, and under these circumstances, if conditions warrant same, a local firm will likely be awarded the contract.

In addition to this item on the agenda, replacement of beams which have rotted at the Simcoe street public school, will also be considered at the meeting.

MORE BATHING SUITS DONATED; STILL MORE, HOWEVER, ARE NEEDED

In response to the appeal for bathing suits to be utilized by local kiddies picnicking at the north end bathing camp, Secretary E. H. Lance of the soldiers' aid commission has handed 27 children's bathing suits and 9 suitable for adults to the public utilities for use at "the valley." These suits were in service at the soldiers' aid commission camp at Port Stanley last year.

This donation makes a total of 60 suits given to the city for the bathing camp. The suits are furnished free of charge to the youngsters of all parts of the city attending the bi-weekly picnics at the north end camp, but the attendance is so great at these outings, that late coming youngsters are denied a bathing suit, and a cooling dip in the Thames.

Any public-spirited citizen desirous of donating bathing suits in any size or quality may do so, by getting in touch with General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, or G. Mel Brock, chief supervisor of public playgrounds.

CONVICTION IS QUASHED.

Toronto, July 29.—Judge Morson today quashed the conviction of the $1,000 fine of W. P. Fraser, secretary-treasurer of the Ontario Jockey Club, made by Magistrate Cohen in police court for having liquor for sale on the premises of the Jockey Club.

Judge Morson says that it was not pretended either in police court or before him that Fraser or the Jockey Club kept liquor for sale.

"The language of section 53 is not, in my opinion, very clear, and I prefer to assume that the Legislature, in the absence of direct enactment, never intended that an innocent person should suffer for the guilt of another."

The judge declares that the conviction is bad for want of sufficient evidence.

NOVEL DEFENCE BY MAN ACCUSED OF VIOLATING HEALTH ACT

No Death in Block in Seven Years, He Claims.

Leslie Weller, when charged in police court today with violating the public health act, and on being told that his yard was a public nuisance and might probably be the means of spreading disease in his district, declared: "Your worship, I lived there for seven years and there hasn't been no funerals in the block for seven years."

Sanitary Inspector Richard Sanders claimed that chickens had been killed in the yard and that the premises were littered with feathers and blood, and that Weller's dog had been sleeping in the feathers.

"I'm not a rabbi. I don't kill chickens," protested the defendant.

Weller has since moved from the premises at 201 Horton street, which were complained of. He claimed that the only things dirty about the place were some bags, which he brought out of the cellar to dry after the recent storm.

As he has since cleaned up the place, he was allowed to go.

Rose Tisdale, charged by George J. Carty with damaging property, failed to appear. The case was adjourned until Saturday.

Tony Rispoli, Edward Wells and Edward Dolan, three men charged with vagrancy, were remanded until Friday.

MISSING MAN FOUND BY MEANS OF STORY IN THE ADVERTISER

Mother Locates William Blanchard, Working On Farm Near Wallacetown.

William Blanchard of Wellington street, who had been missing from home for three weeks, has been located, through a picture and story concerning him which ran in The Advertiser a few days ago.

He is working on the farm of Alex. Watson, R. R. No. 1, Wallacetown. His mother received information that he was there, and telephoned to the farm. He explained to her that he had written her a letter, but was at a loss to account for its failing to rach her.

On July 4 Blanchard went to St. Thomas looking for work, and lost some his clothes. He returned to London and disappeared the following day.

SERVICES START TONIGHT.—Commencing this evening, Isaac Finestone, of the Toronto Jewish Mission will conduct services each night this week at the City Mission. On Friday evening he will address an additional meeting on the market square. The Toronto mission worker is engaged in revival work among the Jews.

HIT BY HEAVY PRESS. — Thomas Salisbury, 18 Adelaide street, was seriously injured when he was struck on the head by a 40-pound press while at work at the Richards-Wilcox Company's plant, at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The press made a gash in his head. The police ambulance was called, and removed him to Victoria Hospital in an unconscious condition.

DISORDERLY AT SPRINGBANK.—J. Wefer appeared before Squire W. H. Chittick this morning and was fined $2 and costs with the alternative of a term of several days in jail for being disorderly at Springbank Park. The information was laid by Police Constable E. J. Dawson, who is in the employ of the public utilities commission.

C. OF C. DIRECTORS AT LUNCH.—Several important questions were discussed at a meeting of the directors of the local chamber of commerce at luncheon in the Tecumseh House yesterday. Among other things the legislation enacted to control the sale of stock within the province was dealt with, and it is quite probable that recommendations for certain amendments will be made.

ALLEGED TO HAVE STOLEN WATCH.—James Briene and Joseph Lieppe, both claiming Windsor as their home, are on remand at the county jail until next Thursday when they will appear before Squire W. H. Chittick to answer a charge of stealing a watch, valued at $20 from the home of Joseph Blaney, London Township. They were arrested while lying at the side of a road near Ingersoll, County Constables Byron Dawson and Arthur Corsaut taking them into custody. Both men had bicycles with them.

DELIGHTFUL GARDEN PARTY.—The most successful garden party held in connection with the Church of the Epiphany was held on Wednesday evening. A program of exceptional merit had been arranged under the direction of W. J. Bugler, when the following artists added much to the evening's entertainment: Mrs. Hudson (vocalist), Miss A. Richmond (elocutionist), Miss Peggy Finney (dancer), W. Finney, Harold and Donald Payne (comic). J. W. McLaughlin gave an interesting exhibition of moving pictures, which were much enjoyed by old and young. Mrs. and Miss Ackert and Mrs. Scaldwell dispensed "sweet things," and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKerlie found no dull moments whilst "dishing" out ice cream. During the evening, Mr. Heathcote, the lay reader in charge, gave a short outline of the object of the garden party, and later on called for three cheers for the artists and other willing workers from the Progressive Club, which were given most heartily with the usual "tiger," by the large gathering, among whom were noticed many "well-wishers" of the little mission from the city.

SOCIAL SERVICE WILL NOT ACT AS POLICE OR SPOTTERS

T. D. McCullough, Local Secretary, So Declares—"Friends" of Prohibition Will Be Protected.

"Yes, there is a vast amount of work that we can accomplish, but, of course, we are not out on active work such as done by policemen or so-called 'spotters'," explained T. D. McCullough, secretary of the London Branch of the Social Service Council, today, discussing Thursday's announcement from Toronto that the headquarters of that body in the Queen City will be a clearing house for "ideas, complaints, and general information pertaining to prohibition" received from "our friends" throughout the province.

"Letters from the committee on legislation and law enforcement of the O. T. A. have been sent out lately," he continued, "explaining that this committee will receive all complaints and in due course forward them to the Government. This means that any suggestions, advice or complaints of bootlegging, rum running, etc., may be placed at the disposal of this special committee."

The report of the Toronto executive advises that "sources of information" will be protected. It is further explained that this means that those who wish to aid the authorities in this respect can send in their information or suspicions and so forth without fear of having their names made public.

MOTORISTS ARE IN ARMS OVER PRICE OF GAS

Dealer's Arguments Are Overridden by the Irate Owners of Cars.

CLAIM 25 CENTS ENOUGH

Whole Blame For High Figures Is Passed On to Company.

Motorists of London are seemingly in accord in the belief that the price of gasoline in this city is much too high if the amount of grumbling to be heard at the different service stations and garages can be taken as a criterion. Almost without exception car owners who stop to fill their cars with gas pass some caustic remark as they grudgingly pay out $1.85 for the conventional five gallons which sells throughout Ontario at 37 cents per.

It is only since Thursday, however, that the complaints have become so general, according to the dispensers of the all-important gasoline. The unrest is due almost totally to a little story which innocently found its way through the Canadian press late on Tuesday to the effect that gas was selling in Detroit at 19 cents a gallon retail. The fact soon became the topic of conversation among automobile owners in London, who long have suffered under the oppression of almost prohibitive prices.

Have Many Excuses.

Vainly the local dealers and garage owners remind the dissatisfied ones that the Canadian gallon is much larger than the American measure. The argument usually is of little avail, when the car owners reply that because a Canadian gallon is one-fifth larger than the gallon of the United States is no reason why the price should be just twice as much.

Then the dealers as a last resort point to the difference in exchange, the freight charges on long hauls, and to the government tax. All this is admitted by the irate purchasers, but they claim that after all this is taken into consideration gasoline could be sold at a profit in Canada at 25 cents a gallon.

Controlled by One Family.

In his rounds to the different service stations, the reporter discovered one honest-looking dealer, who tried no vain arguments, but nevertheless washed his hands of any responsibility for keeping up the price of gasoline. The situation in Canada, he claimed, was controlled absolutely by the Imeprial Oil Company, and he said that no reduction would be made in Canada until ordered by that company.

"In Detroit, for instance," he said, "the Standard Oil Company is continually in competition. When a price war is waged between these companies the public, of course, benefits. That is the reason why gas sells comparatively cheaply in the United States.

"In Canada," he continued, "there is but one company of any great consequence, and therefore there is practically no competition. With no price-cutting the public is forced to pay."

The retail dealers in Canada, he asserted, were certainly not to blame because no one would like to see lower prices more than they. All dealers, however, must abide by the ruling of the company which supplies them, both in the wholesale price and in the price which the public is called upon to pay.

Hold Out Little Hope.

Local officials of the Imperial Oil Company stated this morning, when interviewed by The Advertiser, that they could not say the price will be lowered in Canada. The company, they claimed, did not consult them in the matter, and ordered reductions without warning. As a rule, when a reduction is ordered, the local representatives of the company are notified by wire only the night before.

The price in Canada, they claimed, was sometimes governed by reductions in the United States, but often this was not the case. A few weeks ago, the price was cut in Detroit by the Standard Oil Company, but no reducion followed in Canada. They believed that while the price is controlled somewhat by competition, the stock on hand was the greater factor in fixing the price.

STRATFORD FINDS JUVENILE COURT A GREAT BOON

Hugh Ferguson Declares That Ald. Harley's Scheme Is Workable.

NO EXPENSE

Stratford Men Give Free Service to the Cause of Kiddies.

"The scheme as outlined by your aldermen is practically the same as has been maintained in Stratford for some years," declared Hugh Ferguson, director of the Children's Aid Society of that city, when discussing London's juvenile court problem with The Advertiser this afternoon.

"The expense in one instance is next to nothing," he advised further. "The judge gives his time voluntarily. We use a room at the Children's Aid whenever we have need for a hearing, and James Torrence, of the customs department here, comes after his own duties are completed, and devotes what time is necessary to handle the cases as they arise from time to time. He asks nothing for his services. I see that you are suggesting an almost identical plan."

"Then, again, there is no added expense arising over the appointment of a probation officer. The latter office is covered automatically in accordance with the act, by the Children's Aid. We also do this voluntarily. Most of this work naturally is accomplished by officers of the society in any event. You can readily and clearly understand that expense is practically nil."

"I feel safe in saying that from my own personal eperience that 98 per cent of cases handled by the Stratford juvenile court have proved satisfactory and necessitated no other means of consideration. Proclaimed and gazetted as a Dominion act, the juvenile delinquents act treats the child as a victim of certain circumstances, and emphasizes strongly that it shall not be treated as a criminal under the meaning of the enactment. Kindliness, careful judgment and the guiding hand are among the different methods of handling the children by the Stratford juvenile court."

MANY STRANGE RELIGIOUS CULTS HAVE FOLLOWERS AMONG LONDON RESIDENTS

Koreshans, Vedanta, Bahaism Amongst the Least Known—London One of Earliest Locations in Canada of Salvation Army—Congregational Church Established Here Nearly Century Ago—Latter Day Saints Set Example During the Influenza Epidemic.

In a recently published article dealing with the different religious denominations represented in London, space, time and accident conspired to an inadvertent oversight of several religions which for many years have contributed actively to the moral welfare of London. Among these were the Congregational Church, the Salvation Army and the Latter Day Saints. Pioneers of liberalism and religious liberty, the Congregationalists have contributed much of what has been most progressive in Anglo-Saxon thought for centuries, while in the earnestness of the Salvation Army have the leading Protestant denominations found the example and inspiration for their evangelical zeal and social service work manifested in recent years.

Whatever one may think about the Latter Day Saints, one is bound to admit that they have given to the world a distinctly American religion. Eastern religions there are in plenty. It remained for Joseph Smith, saint, fanatic, religious genius, or whatever one may choose to call him, to give to the world a distinctly western religion.

Nearly a Century.

Nearly a century ago, the Congregational faith was established in London, with the founding of the First Congregational Church, which is still located on Dundas street, the present pastor being Rev. Matthew Kelly. Although the denomination has never been numerically very large in London, it did develop to the stage where another church was needed, and the Southern Congregational Church on Horton street was opened. The present pastor is Rev. W. H. A. Clais, who has shepherded the little flock in the Southern Church for many years. While Congregationalism in Canada, is predominantly orthodox, in contrast with its deflexion in New England towards Unitarianism or Latitudinaranism, it has firmly stood for the principle of congregational-autonomy, and in its proposed union with Methodism and Presbyterianism, will necessarily count with far more than mere numerical strength in the broadening of the new union church and in the deepening of the new ideal of brotherhood which is permeating all the churches of today.

Faced Persecution.

London was one of the first center of activity in America selected by the Salvation Army. Persecution and ridicule were faced at first by those who dared to follow the banner of "fire and blood" in London which was not always the centre of religious freedom which it is today. The right to hold street meetings and to police protection was not granted readily nor willingly to the Salvation Army by Londoners of three or four decades ago. Today in addition to the Clarence Street Citadel, which is the centre of district or provincial as well as local headquarters, there are attractive barracks in both South and East London, and the good works of the Salvation Army in the city are appreciatively recognized by citizens of every creed or cult. Bethesda Hospital in South London, the Army Hostel for Young Women, and other institutions housed in substantial buildings also tangibly indicate the growth of the Salvation Army in London.

The biblical injunction, "By their fruits, ye shall know them," has proven the genuineness of the Salvation Army.

Without Bands

Without bands or street meetings, the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, on Maitland street, grew without the advantage or disadvantage of much attention in its early history. From time to time some Protestant minister might take a covert slam at "Mormonism," but the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints loudly repudiated its connection with the old Mormon or Utah Church, and its members were never subjected to any severe persecution, such as that at first endured by the Salvationists. After many years came the day of testing for the Latter Day Saints in London, and they were not found wanting. The influenza epidemic swept over the city and its fleet attendants, Fear and Panic, went before and after it. An object lesson in practical Christianity was set all other churches, when the Latter Day Saints' Church was equipped as an emergency hospital, and as many of its members as were needed volunteered their services as nurses and attendants.

Mission Center.

Nearly two years ago missionaries of the old Mormon Church came to London from their headquarters in Utah, where the great Mormon Temple, one of the world's architectural wonders stands in Salt Lake City. A Canadian temple nas lately been erected in Cardston, Alberta, but the Canadian missionary headquarters are in Toronto. Whatever one may think about Mormonism, one has got to admit that a Mormon mission is worth more commercially to a city than a lot of the over-estimated new factories that London is always trying to secure. Lots of loudly-trumpeted new industries after finally locating in a town, do not employ steadily more than five or six men. An average number of that many Mormon missionaries have been maintained in London for the past two years. They do not take collections at their meetings in their hall on Richmond street, and they sell practically no literature, although they give a great deal away. Their expenses are paid in London by their own relatives back in Utah or Idaho, for it is the ideal of every Mormon family to give one son to the church, the rest of the family working to keep him supplied with money for the spreading of the Mormon faith. They have made only a few converts, but they are still in the field.

The Mormons in London appear to the casual observer to be unusually tolerant. Some critics say they are not so tolerant in Utah. But then some critics accuse other denominations of intolerance in Ontario. And probably those who are loudest in criticizing the Mormons for alleged favoritism to their own members in the state where they are largely in majority, most often point to Utah as a shining example of progressiveness in her intolerance towards cigarette-smoking.

Many Other Sects.

London was at one time an active centre of the Holiness movement. There is no church of this denomination here now. The members have been assimilated chiefly by the Christian Workers and the Pentecostalites. At one time there were two Christian Workers' churches in London, but some years ago the old church on King street was abandoned, and the congregation united with what was then known as the Second Christian Workers' Church on Ottaway avenue. Ardently evangelical, this little church for a long time has been doing a good work in its own way.

Many other sects, cults and denominations in London have come and gone. The Unitarians and Universalists once had churches here. Their few former members still in London, most probably may be found now attending the Theosophical Society. A Russian Baptist mission and an Italian Pentecostal mission have suspended operations in recent years. A Jewish Christian Mission was recently organized. A "Brethren's" meeting is held in the Gospel Hall on Richmond street, where formerly was a Jewish synagogue. Two other Gospel Halls are occupied by the Plymouth Brethren on Hamilton road and Egerton street.

The "Church of God" has in recent years held camp meetings in West London, but its doctrines are too much akin to those of the Pentecostalites for it to gather impetus from any novelty or reputed novelty of service. For the same reason, the Mormons probably suffer through the Reorganized Latter Day Saints being first in the field.

The Sons and Daughters of Rehoboam appeared for a brief space of time in South London, and then withdrew to their headquarters in Chicago. The elopement of a citizen's wife with the head of the cult was a newspaper story of but a day, and was soon forgotten.

Koreshans, Vedanta, Etc.

One or two representatives of the Koreshans, that strange cult which believes the earth to be a hollow globe, may perhaps be found.

A Vedanta Circle might be discovered with careful searching, masquerading under the name of a Yoga class. Vedanta is a reformed Hinduism. It is the "New Thought" of India. It is a latter-day protest against Brahimism, just as Buddhism was an older-day protest.

There is a Bahai Circle here, but its membership is not very large. Although Bahaism is in a sense a revolt against Mohammedanism in Persia and Palestine, yet the London Mohammedans all speak kindly of the new religion which aims to unite all religions, establish the League of Nations, make Esperanto a world language, and all men brothers.

So far as can be ascertained there are no Zoroastrians, Parsees or Sufis in London, nor has there ever been formally organized an Omar Kahayam cult, such as disbanded in Manitoba the other day.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, July 29—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Gains of 1 to 2 points by active issues at the opening of today's stock market indicated that shorts were anticipating their customary week-end covering of contracts. General Electric, Bethlehem Steel and American Locomotive, which were among yesterday's heaviest features, led the rally. General Electric, however, soon cancelled more than half its gain. Rails and oils were mixed, showing fractional advances and declines. Shippings, tobaccos and chemicals were inclined to ease. Demand exchange on London was quoted at $3 56, but no business was reported at that figure.

1:30 p.m.—Mercantile Marine preferred recovered part of its decline in the light dealings of the noon hour, and Crucible Steel made up its 2 points loss. Elsewhere, notably equipments, oils, rails and food specialties underwent further short covering and better prices occurred.

INSPECTOR DENIES RUMOR THAT PUPILS PURPOSELY PLUCKED

Declares That the Examiners Have No Object To Turn Back Entrance Candidates.

Prior to leaving for his vacation, Public School Inspector V. K. Greer "nailed" rumors current in this city to the effect that deliberate plucking of entrance candidates was the procedure of the board of examiners, in order to prevent overcrowding of the collegiate institute at the opening of the fall term on September 1st.

"The examiners have been accused of purposely plucking entrance candidates, but the accusation has not been an open one," he informed The Advertiser. "I am one of the examiners, and you can be sure that the public school inspector wants as many to advance to high school as possible, as it takes pupils from the public schools, lessening his work, and also reflects more credit upon the public school teaching staff in his inspectorate."

"It is the principal of the Collegiate Institute who wants his prospective pupils to be good stuff and pass a fairly standard rigid examination. There were 72 entrance failures here, 36.5 per cent of the candidates being successful, which does not look as if deliberate plucking were in vogue."

FORMER LONDONER IS HONORED BY FRANCE

Dr. Russell MacRobert Decorated for Service to French Soldiers and Sailors.

A recent issue of the Journal of the America Medical Association has the following:

"The Presse Medicale for June 29 gives a list of Belgians and others to whom the silver medal de la Reconnaissance Francaise has recently been awarded. The list contains the names of three American physicians: Dr. Carroll Bull, a collaborator of Carrel. The medal is awarded, it is said, for his "immense services in scientific research and as assistant to Carrel." The other recipients are Dr. J. P. Hoguet and Dr. MacRobert, physicians to the French Hospital in New York, where they are said to have rendered "signal aid to French soldiers and marines on service in New York, and to other persons of French nationality during the war." One medal was awarded to Dr. Max Jessurum of Harlem, the Netherlands. He is said to have been the moving spirit in the Harlem committee which provided free hospital care for French children and free medical care of the French refugees in Harlem during the war, and helping to ameliorate conditions for them.

Dr. Russell MacRobert mentioned in the above news dispatch, is a son of the late E. J. MacRobert of this city. Dr. MacRobert is a graduate of Western and Toronto universities, and took post-graduate courses in England and Germany. He is associate physician to the Neurological Institute of New York. He has been practicing in New York for some years.

WAGE REDUCTIONS TO STAND.

Montreal, July 29. — The conference Between Canadian railway officials and general chairmen of the four running trades were concluded here today. The conference brought no agreement from the railways to waive tentative wage reductions while an arbitration board was investigating conditions. It was announced today that the reductions made effective July 16 will continue in force pending final negotiations. Detailed consideration of all matters affecting labor and wages is expected to be taken up in another conference early in the fall. Both parties will assemble data in order that the actual conferences may be expedited.

LAW AND ORDER.

The outrages committed in the County of Elgin by bandits in search of liquor form a strange commentary on the situation created by the enforcement of the prohibition act, and of the trend of things generally. Such happenings are usually associated in the minds of the ordinary individual with the bad old times when pirates, smugglers, highwaymen and footpads of all sorts and conditions were in the habit of terrorizing respectable people both by land and sea, and enriching themselves at their expense. But Dick Turpin was a gentleman and—to go farther back—Robin Hood was a king of robbers compared to the degenerates who terrorize helpless women and maltreat and frequently murder unarmed and unsuspecting men, and the question arises whether the present machinery of law and order is adequate to deal with the situation.

There are those who maintain that so far as the country districts are concerned, our police system, if it can be called a system, is inadequate, obsolete and antiquated; that it is reminiscent of the remote days of the "Charleys" or watchmen who did duty in the old country before the police system was reformed and reorganized by Sir Robert Peel, and that it ought to be consigned to the scrap-heap, stock, lock and barrel, and a modernized system, approximating to the lines of the city police departments, be substituted in its place.

Today the only police organization in the Dominion worthy of the name, outside of the cities, is that splendid body of men, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Wherever the sphere of their operations extends the law is respected; but, on the other hand, it is becoming more evident every day that the motor bandit and the youthful degenerate who shoots men down in cold blood have a supreme contempt for what we are pleased to call county constables.

What is wanted is a trained and uniformed force who receive a stated amount of pay, and have not to depend on results for the amount of their compensation. The system is pernicious and bad to the last degree, and leaves the way open to many abuses. If trained, disciplined and salaried policemen are good for the cities, they are still more desirable for the counties. There ought to be a police station in every town and village of consequence, with telephonic communication, so that they would be in touch not only with the police departments of the cities, but with the other stations throughout the country. It is only in this way, by organizing the county police on the British model, just as the city police are organized, that the safety of the lives and belongings of the inhabitants can be secured.

Of course, the matter of expense must be looked at, but going on the principle, exemplified by the "Mounties," that one trained and disciplined man is worth half a dozen who are not, and in view of the amount of money that is wasted at the present time in abortive efforts to enforce the law, there should not be so very much difference in the cost.

Disarmament is an excellent thing, but it will not do where the law is concerned. The needs of the present day all point to increased efficiency in safeguarding the safety and freedom of the citizens. Lawlessness is the most terrible evil that can overtake any country, and soon gives that country a bad name, and, therefore, its eradication ought to be the first concern of good government.

We cannot blame immigrants from Britain and the continent of Europe who, after reading of the outrages in any particular locality, come to this country armed with revolvers and knives, after having formed the impression that if they don't do so they run the risk of being murdered in their beds. Those strangers acquire exaggerated impressions of these things which are hard to eradicate.

There is no doubt that the alcoholic maniacs and their jackals, the bootleggers, will stick at nothing to procure the stuff which legislation has placed beyond their reach, and it is therefore all the more urgent that the officers of the law should be alert and competent, and that their efforts should not be handicapped by a system which Dickens would have found a congenial theme for one of his satirical novels.

MALIGNANT INFLUENCES.

"The industrial and, to a considerable extent also, the social life of Canada, lies enthralled under the subtle and malignant influences of combined autocratic and political control." In these words the Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, summed up the present situation in Canada, in the course of his speech at Aurora. He characterized the attitude of the Meighen Government as that of reaction when one of reconstruction was needed. Few will dispute Mr. King's pronouncement. So far as post-war reconstruction is concerned there has been practically none. Agriculture, the stable industry of the country, and in which about 50 per cent of its population are engaged, has received so many severe kicks from the Dominion Government that it is vigorously kicking back. With prices of cattle and other farm products at a low level, and the prices of farming implements at war rates, the farmer has concluded that he has got the worst of the deal.

The amount of unemployment in the cities is appalling, and in place of getting at the bottom of things and finding a remedy, the Government does a little bit of pruning here and tinkering there, without in the slightest degree lessening the burden which now presses upon the people. While Mr. Meighen is busily engaged on the other side of the Atlantic trying to set the universe to rights, the people of Canada, disgusted by the injustice and incompetency of his administration, are preparing to cast it into the scrap-heap.

In the matter of tariff revision which was to have constituted the chief legislation of the recent session, all that was done was to attempt to fool the consumer with illusory manipulation of his already heavy load. The people of Canada are at heart Liberal and democratic; it is the essence and nature of this country to be progressive, and the reactionary methods of the present Government are repulsive to its instincts and antagonistic to its ideals.

The people feel that in allowing themselves to be carried away by the plausible pleading of the Bordenites in 1917 they have been the victims of the confidence trick. If the Borden Government slipped into power under cover of a screen created by their smoke bombs, the Meighen combination have retained that power entirely under false pretences. The word "Union" had a seductive sound about it which appealed to the ears of those who had sincerely at heart the winning of the war, but now that the war is won the Tory bones of this strange creation are sticking through its Union hide.

Of the nine Liberals who originally belonged to the Union cabinet, five have resigned, and one has died, leaving only three to act as batmen in the Tory camp. But the trick which has been played on the nation has lost its power to deceive, and the last line of the defence of this ramshackle regime—the delaying of by-elections and the postponement of the general election—must soon fall to pieces.

WORK AND PLEASURE.

When Macaulay said that the Puritans condemned bear-baiting not because of the pain given to the bear, but because of the pleasure taken by the spectators, this was a shrewd thrust at the Puritans and their like. But was not such pleasure really worse than even the pain of the bear?

Nowadays we prohibit cock-fighting, bear-baiting, bull-fights, etc., partly at least because of the degrading influence of such spectacles on those present. Horse-races that enrich betting clubs run precious close to such banned "amusements." Some pleasures certainly come under a censure not merely Puritan.

Of course, Macaulay meant to insinuate that pleasure as such was suspect to the old round-head. He was an ascetic type, excellently described in Milton's line as one that "scorned delights and lived laborious days." The proverb has it that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. But is there not some everlasting truth in the position of the Puritan or ascetic that makes this type as permanent as human nature? The pursuit of pleasure, as such, even artistic and intellectual pleasure, seems to get in the way of prolonged, purposeful, constructive work on a large scale. Especially thought and effort of a spiritual character, on the part of an individual or a community, is likely to be sapped by an epicurean course however refined.

In our ideas of work we are commonly torn between conflicting sentiments. We praise work as the way of salvation. "WORK! WORK!!" thunder prophets, and the leaders of industry to the toilers under their direction, especially after a great, exhausting strike or a period of shirking relaxation. Gordon Bottomley's "Tower of Babel," a poem allegorizing modern industry, represents Nimrod as a huge, shaggy, managing director, driving his spear through a carpenter who stopped to carve a figure, for fun, instead of "getting on with his work." But not all the exhorters are working seriously nine hours a day themselves. Some sit as patrons of professional sport. Some argue that civilization has its basis in a leisured class. So some should work and others play or dream.

In the beginning Adam and Eve had to work as a curse on them. Perhaps Cain was the rude father of the leisured and cultured class, the coping-stone of civilization. In modern times machinery has been generally hailed as delivering humanity from the primal curse or blessing, according as you look at it, of work. Machinery would shorten our hours and deliver us to doing as we like. This promise has been largely fulfilled, though the machine hours are tedious and hated. In the last seven years, however it may be with wages, the workers have certainly all over the world secured shorter hours. Everyone seems to be doing the same, working fewer hours, one set driving a motor day and night, another set idling and amusing themselves in less expensive ways.

Dancing, bathing, motoring and picnicking, are these pleasures eating into the serious and spiritual endeavor of the world? Can nothing more valuable be done with the leisure hours created by machinery? To be intrigued evermore in the physical and sensuous, even the artistic, must be a peril to intellectual and spiritual development. The flesh and the world are good enough, but they become the devil if they preclude or occlude the spiritual life. Ideas and sympathies should not be a sacrifice under the juggernaut of pleasure.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The only thing about the Scotsmen's picnic that could be beaten was the drum.

The Hon. Howard Ferguson's collection of mares' nests is considered the finest in Canada.

There will be no reduction in the wages of bricklayers. Is this why the mayor of Toronto has joined the union?

The bootlegging bandits of Ontario are getting bolder and will have to be taught a severe lesson. Cowardly outrages on innocent people should be put down with a strong hand.

Some people are convinced that because katydids are unusually numerous there will be a frost within six weeks. A little chunk of this frost, if properly controlled, would be welcome just now.

An army veteran has resigned his post as liquor inspector on the ground that having only one leg the job is too much for him. It would require a centipede to keep up with the bootleggers these days.

London, Ont., ought to be thankful that is has an abundance of good wholesome water. The water supply of Old London, which is drawn from the upper reaches of the Thames, has been depleted on account of a severe drought. For the time being Old London has gone dry.

OTHERS' VIEWS

BELGIUM'S HERO KING.

[London Morning Post.]

London recently had the privilege and pleasure of welcoming their Majesties the King and Queen of the Belgians. The invasion of Belgium is the key to the meaning of the Great War—the key to the material and spiritual forces unchained on those fateful days of August, 1914, and working themselves out after infinite suffering to the victories of 1918, to the armistice of Compiegne and the peace of Versailles. In the arbitrament of the great issue, Belgium played a glorious part, and the defiance and heroism of Belgium were inspired and guided by a heroic king and queen. King Albert, indeed, is an honor and testimony to the noble and enduring institution of kingship.

THE BEAUTIFUL WORKING GIRL.

[Philadelphia Record.]

The whole trouble over "the beautiful working girl," of course, is that she will not submerge her feminine prerogatives in the business office, and that even if she should be willing to do so some of her male associates would not be willing to let her. The eternal sex problem will not down. It will not do to say that the worker is to be considered solely as a worker, regardless of the accidental difference of birth. As long as the beautiful working girl can convince herself that her looks count much in business preferment—and no woman will admit even to her mirror that she is lacking in attraction—she will insist that any regulation of her fashions is an infringement of personal liberty.

TROUBLE AT HOME.

[Washington Post.]

The plenipotentiaries in the disarmament conference may discover in the domestic politics of their respective nations a formidable obstacle to the easy adjustment of international questions. The only practicable method of procedure, apparently, is to seek by alternative proposals a method whereby each nation will obtain either its original objective or an advantage equally great. Profound knowledge and ability of the highest order are required for the invention and elaboration of subsidies for conflicting national desires; but the forthcoming conference will be composed of men who possess first-hand knowledge and proved ability. They may accomplish wonderful things by mutual stimulation of minds; but in the long run their agreements will be proposals, which must meet the aproval of the peoples' concerned before they will be the rule of nations.

THE CHOICE OF CANDIDATES.

[L'Action Catholique.]

Far be it from us to pretend that the people alone are fit to choose the party candidates. On the contrary, the people are the least prepared to make such a choice, because they are unable to view the conditions of the country as a whole, and appreciate the country's needs, and the intellectual and moral value of the men who would seek their suffrages. Unfortunately, democracy has for a fundamental principle that of professing that it is the people who ought to choose "their" candidates, give them "their" instructions, and recall them to their duty. The parcelling of the parties into groups, more and more restricted, is the logical conclusion of that principle, and the day will come when each country and each village will want to have a representative of its choice. In order to get this, the different classes of electors will form associations where the individual voice of its members will have greater weight. That is the reason why the United Farmers' organization has succeeded so well. Before long, other classes will organize themselves on the same basis, because the community of interests, the restricted field of ambitions, and the larger liberty of little groups will give them a better faculty to choose their own candidates."

THE FARMER AND THE TARIFF.

[Topeka State Journal.]

Whoever heard of any considerable body of farmers asking for a protective tariff? They know who it is that pays the duty. Because a high tariff is an obstruction to free competition in commerce between nations, it also operates to prevent honest competition within the country that establishes it. In the end, therefore, it serves to inflate prices, build up huge fortunes at the expense of the average man, and protect only the few established interests that need no protection.

BRITISH HOUSE IS PATRIOTIC

Members Reject Railroad Passes, Raise in Pay, Right To Escape Income Tax.

LONDON, July 28.—I seem to remember having read, when I was a good deal younger than I am today, about American congressmen or members of some American legislature who refused to increase their own salaries. I hope the memory is accurate, for that is just what has been done by British members of parliament, and I hope we in America saw it first.

Furthermore, the British House of Commons members have decided that they will not exempt themselves from income tax, a feat which they might easily perform without criticism of any serious nature.

London Is Surprised.

There is legislative self-abnegation, an dthat in the past the morale of the British members has not been greater than that of our own lawmakers, my old friends of the days before I had sought London fog and lived in Washington heat at this time of the year, is indicated by the fact that all these sacrificial ceremonies have caused intense astonishment.

London gasped. One newspaper suggests that perhaps the nation may feel not quite safe, with its lawmaking power in the hands of men so different from those known to Westminster in days gone by.

But wait. I haven't told the whole amazing story. At almost the same time that M. P.s scorned income tax exemption and refused to increase their own salaries, they also refused to accept free railway transportation in the future.

Some Needed Passes.

For a considerable length of time members have been getting railway passes in the form of little coupon books, and there is not the slightest doubt that some among them have been very glad to get them. There are rich members of parliament but it is doubtful if the American House of Representatives ever had among its honorable members any poorer men than some of the lawmaking Britishers—and these poor men are not all representatives of Labor constituencies, either.

The United Kingdom is a little spot upon the map, without the possibility of long journeys, so this sacrifiice is by no means as great as a similar sacrifice would be on the part of American congressmen, some of whom have to travel thousands of miles to reach the national capital.

But it is estimated that during the coming year of self-denial, British M. P.s, if they travel fiirst class, will spend out of their meagre salaries no less than £75,000, or, at normal exchange, about $375,000. At first class (and by no means all M. P.s travel thus, or want to, it being said that only lords, Americans and fools travel first class in Britain in these days), the fares of the members for a full year are estimated to total £130,000, or $650,000 at normal exchange.

Hot Word Fight Results.

All this was not done calmly, sedately, in a quiet session in which the members sat about, looking like male British angels of mixed ages and divorse heights, girths and hair-loss. Not exactly thus. No, indeed; there was the very dickens of a word-fight, and during its progression distinctly unparliamentary language flew, undovelike, through the storied halls of Westminster. Some of these verbal wanderers through sacred space were shocking commonisms, such as "dirty dog" and "dirty humbug." Imagine that! In England! And in parliamentt!

But there were some real gems in the word-fight. Sir John Butcher, for example, aristocrat though his title indicates him to be, declared:

"As one who travels 50,000 miles a year, I have considerable interest in railway expenses. When traveling during the day, I always go third class, because the company is better. When one travels first class one meets principally war profiteers or government officials with war bonuses."

Another suggestion which caused gay excitement while the great debate was in progression was that the government, instead of paying £400 a year to get certain men in parliament, might much better pay them a like or even greater sum to stay away.

IRISH PEOPLE LEARN SILENCE

Sinn Fein War Has Taught Natives To Be Careful of Their Conversations.

CORK, Ireland, July 28.—When peace comes to Ireland—the pessimists always add at this point "if ever"—it is going to find a lot of new characteristics in the Irish people. One that will surprise the tourist when he begins coming again is the extreme tacticurnity of the natives.

The weather is the only safe topic of conversation in Ireland, and it is overworked in a way that must be bitterly trying to a people naturally versatile and talkative.

Have Learned To Keep "Mum."

I remember when a crowd of people in a railway compartment would discuss everything from Ireland's wrongs to the merits of the newest racehorse, and discuss them entertainingly. Now people sit and eye each other in grim silence, or if somebody does break the silence—like Tara's harp—his remarks run like this:

"Sure, and it's a hot day—"

"Ah, that it is, but it's meself that likes the heat—"

"Do ye now! Give me tne cold every time."

Such conversation might do in England, but coming from the Irish it marks an epoch. The rebellion has not only strengthened the will of tne people, as the Sinn Feiners claim, but it has taught them to hold their tongues.

Use "Eyebrow" Language.

The Irish have developed a sort of facial language among themselves that defies detection by secret agents of any side. You might arrest a man for saying the Black and Tans were the "divil's" own, but you could hardly arrest him for raising his eyebrows.

"I see," says an Irishman, "they've been at it again."

"Ah," replied his friend, raising his eyebrows. That means, good luck to them, but a Government agent could hardly prove it.

A certain inflection of that "ah" means. "Up the Rebels." Another inflection, accompanied by a subtle expression of the eyes means, "God Save the King." It's a language that has to be learned by watching it in operation.

Sightseers Don't Stay.

Ireland is full of people who have come over to see for themselves. When they do see for themselves they don't stay long. Like the Englishman who was in two ambuscades, barely escaped being rounded up for a rebel, had his hat shot off by a sentry when he didn't halt, and, worst of all, had to get up in the middle of a dinner in order to get back to his hotel before curfew.

The "made in Ireland" movement is showing remarkable development in spite of obstacles. A recent Irish magazine contained advertisements for Irish stationery, Irish shoes, Irish cloth, Irish-made jewelry, Irish candy and Irish cocoa, soap, umbrellas, optical lenses, ground in Dublin, an Erin fire extinguisher, and Irish bottles made by American machinery, linen, "Irish to the last thread," and Irish butter.

THE SILVER LINING

By Fullerton Waldo.

THE MASS OF MANKIND.

Did you ever stop to think of the things that "different" folk of earth are doing in the same moment?

On the slope of Ararat a Kurdish horseman picks a stony pathway; at the edge of Greenland's ice sheet an Eskimo builds his igloo; a baby in the Congo forest cries for the glitter of glass beads; an old man in France piles firewood on a donkey; in a chill pass of the Andes a blanket-wrapped Indian prods a laden llama; in South Africa a Kaffir separates a diamond from blue clay; India, America, Asia at top speed or with the unchanging deliberation that is the rooted habit of the centuries, are earning a living or taking a pleasure, are fighting a battle or damming a river, or herding cattle or garnering the increase of the field, or moiling in factories and foundries.

There are so many of us—and we are so different, yet singularly the same.

Language is a barrier—yet at one glance or by a hand clasp the barrier is pierced, and man knows brother-man. Religion is a barrier—yet the truth in all religion speaks from the heart to the heart. We are moved by the like emotions, and we share a universal destiny. A caravan of pilgrims making for the same high goal, it is our business to help our sisters and our brethren on the long, long road.

AT CUPID'S CALL

XXXVIII.—Interrogation.

"And so, Mary, you care about that fellow?" Carrington Belliars, still suave, nodded after Dick's vanished figure when the door had closed.

"I—I—you haven't got the right to ask," faltered the girl, surprised over the unexpectedness of the attack.

"No—I know I haven't—beyond the right that caring for you gives!"

"Mr. Bellairs, I told you it was all impossible! I told you not to speak about that sort of thing again."

"You made it harder for me, Miss Drew. You don't understand how a girl like yourself gradually twines about a man's heart, as well as about his business. You may think I'm a hard man—but, oh! how you could change me—"

The clock struck half-past nine. Mary stooped down and gathered up Dick's roses. Their perfume rose to her senses like some sweet narcotic, wafting her off to those enchanted lands where Dick and she would live and love.

"Mr. Bellairs, I hope that you'll excuse me! But I must get early off to bed, to be fit for a long day's work tomorrow. No—I'm in earnest—I want you to find me at my desk quite early. So—if you don't mind—"

"Of course, I'll go," he agreed suavely. "It was an unpardonably late hour at which to call—you must forgive me! But, when your landlady told me that you were upstairs, I couldn't resist the temptation of a glimpse of you."

He took Mary's hand and held it for a moment, looking into her pretty smoke-blue eyes.

What he saw there was so remote, so far-off, that instantly he realized that now was no propitious time for furthering his "suit." At a moment such as this his business acumen came to his rescue.

"Good night! Sweet dreams! If you don't feel better tomorrow just call up the office. We'll do our best to struggle along alone."

He released her hand. One minute later he was walking from the house.

. . . . . .

The following afternoon Eve Rochester—before the mirror of her bedroom—arrayed herself like unto the lilies of the field.

The simile actually occurred to her as she contemplated her own chic image in the glass.

"They toil not—neither do they spin'—well, that's my own case." She made a petulant little face at her reflection.

"After all, if one has looks, and clothes, and style, and a modicum of brains, why should one worry"

People who did hard, grinding work were surely commonplace. Living by one's wits might be hazardous—but it was infinitely more amusing.

To be "amused" was the outstanding principle of Miss Eve's code.

She hated to be dull. The country, for instance, bored her enormously. Unless, of course, one had a house-party crammed with interesting men.

She laughed her artificial little laugh, dexterously applying the hare's-foot to her cheeks. Julian Vandaveer was someone to be "captured"—she must look her best.

"There's a man I could care for—if it's in me really to care for anyone, beyond myself!" she candidly remarked. It amused her to be frank—when quite alone! "He's hard—I admire that quality—ruthless—with a dynamo of energy hidden somewhere in his mechanism. Oh, he'll get on! He'll 'use' the other fellow every time. He'd beat me at my own games, if he desired to do so. He isn't the soft, old-fashioned, chivalrous sort."

She dusted some scented powder over her carefully made-up cheeks.

And then she applied some black stuff to her lashes, penciling her eyebrows carefully.

A small, coquettish hat was adjusted at a fascinating angle on Eve's blonde head, with a floating veil suspended from behind.

She wandered out, hailed a passing taxi and was soon rattling merrily up Fifth avenue.

This was the sort of life she loved. Perpetual noise, excitement. Well-dressed men and women—traffic—shops—enchanting little tearooms, where one could indulge in discreet, but none the less delightful flirtations, to one's heart's content.

At half-past four the taxi deposited Eve Rochester outside an ultra-modern tearoom. She got out, paid the driver and walked into the vestibule.

There Julian Vandaveer—immaculately dressed—awaited her.

"Miss Eve—as beautiful as ever!" His eyes narrowed as he looked at her. Yes, she was the type that certainly repaid good dressing. Expensive, though. "I've reserved a table for us—come along." He pressed her arm. "I'm longing for a talk with you, my dear."

ESSENTIALS IN THE DIETARY.

No matter what the particular meals we have on any given day, we know that the family dietary should include certain essential kinds of food every day. It will help us to plan our meals wisely if we make of these essentials a general list and put it where it will remind us constantly of what we ought to give the family to eat, in comparison with what we are giving them.

Suppose we have a family group consisting of adult man and woman, aged person, and five children ranging down from twelve to one year old. That covers most of the problems for the average family. Now what foods are essential for these people of different ages, and hence of different needs? A sample list is as follows: Milk for everybody, a quart apiece for the children, one quart for the three adults, making a minimum of six quarts; fruit juice for the baby and the grandparent, and fruit for the rest, making oranges or prunes or apples, dried or fresh, or some similar fruit necessary every day; cereal for everybody, in the form of gruel or strained cereal jelly, perhaps, for the baby or the grandparent or both; a mild green vegetable, such as spinach, asparagus, peas, squash, or stewed celery, for the two children next older than the baby, and a vegetable for all the rest; that is, two vegetables; eggs for the younger children, and some kind of protein, meat or meat substitute, for the others except the baby. Add bread and butter as staples, and, adding up the probable calory content of such a list, we have a total of about ninety-five hundred, a good average unless father and mother both do manual labor, when more protein is required. Only about eight hundred of these calories should be in the form of meat.

On Getting a Goat.

Dear Dr. Brady:

1. Is goat's milk generally laxative?

2. Would the use of one pint of goat's milk daily by a consumptive be apt to cause a slight temperature where there was usually no fever.

Nervous prostration, followed by an operation for appendicitis, left me . . . lasted four years, in spite of the efforts of digestive specialists in New York, Boston and other places. Last November in California I discovered The Goat. Since then, by the use of one quart of goat's milk per day, I have kept the bowels acting naturally, after a strike of four years.

Last summer pulmonary tuberculosis was discovered. By the use of goat's milk I have increased my weight from 104 to 141 pounds.

During a brief absence from The Goat, while motoring through the Mojave desert, I lost weight, which proves pretty fairly that the gain was due to The Goat.

Do you wonder that I want to canonize The Goat?

Am I justified in recommending goat's milk to friends who have tuberculosis or chronic constipation, or is it only by chance that The Goat did such wonders for me? (MRS. C. F.)

Many morals may be drawn from the text of today's discourse. Let us consider them in order:

First, it is human nature to ascribe any change for the worse or better to the last remedy or treatment employed, although the remedy or treatment blamed or extolled may have nothing to do with the changed condition.

Goat's milk is richer in fat than any other kind of milk, and it is the fat in milk that produces any laxative effect, but goat's milk is scarcely to be considered a laxative food for one with chronic constipation. Most sufferers would probably note no different effect from goat's milk than they do from cow's milk. Cow's milk is neither laxative nor binding.

Secondly, many other factors are more reasonably responsible for the gain in weight than the use of goat's milk. The discovery of the lung tuberculosis probably led to some sort of treatment by rest, etc., which would favor gain in weight. It is not reasonable to imagine that any adult can gain 37 pounds in six months by merely taking a pint or a quart of even goat's milk daily, notwithstanding the fact that goat's milk is probably the most wholesome and nutritious milk one can drink. The goat is more nearly immune to tuberculosis than any other domestic animal; some physicians have suggested that goat's milk may convey to the tuberculosis patient something that tends to increase resistance to tubercle-toxin, but this is conjecture merely.

It may be that the open air life made possible or rather more attractive to the patient—assuming she had the usual popular catching cold obsession— by the move to California from New York—contributed something toward the gain in weight.

Thirdly, it is human nature with a vengeance to "tell the world" to use the remedy or treatment I imagine has helped, may help, or is helping me. Our correspondent asks whether she is justified in recommending goat's milk to friends who have tuberculosis. She is not. Haven't her friends physicians to consult? It is cruelty to take that sort of a vengeance. If friends ask her opinion, advice or experience with goat's milk, she should tell them what they wish to know, but one swallow does not make a summer, and just because one goat has made a friend of this fair lady is no reason why all her invalid friends should get a goat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Rusty Notions.

You maintain that no harm comes from a wound made by a rusty nail, in so far as the rust is concerned, but that any poisonous effect is to be ascribed to germs that happen to be on the nail, be it rusty or new. I suppose professors and doctors can see these germs in the air which are invisible to ordinary mortal eyes. BALTIMORE.)

ANSWER—You nearly understand, I do not insist that the germs responsible for blood poisoning after a wound by a nail, bright or rusty, are necessarily present in the dirt or on the skin about the wounded surface, and the nail may simply push them into the wound. The germs are just as visible to ordinary eyes as to the eyes of professors or doctors—through a microscope. There are none so blind in this matter as those who never have had the opportunity of looking through a microscope at disease germs.

More Adhesions.

I had an operation for appendicitis five years ago and every year I have peritonitis. My physician claims I have adhesions which cause constant pain in my left side. Will you please explain adhesions and tell me whether there is any cure besides another operation? (MISS M. A. M.)

ANSWER—Infection, causing inflammation, in the chest cavity, in the abdominal cavity, in the pelvic cavity, may cause a sticking together of the opposing surfaces of organs or structures which are normally freely movable, by bands or cords of fibrous tissue which forms from the exudate or matter extruded by the inflamed surfaces. If you have peritonitis every year there must be a source of infection which should be eradicated. As a rule adhesions cause no trouble, and it is more likely that such pain as you describe is due to inflammation than to adhesions. Adhesions are not nearly so bad as they are painted.

SUMMERHOLM CAMP CONDITIONS ARE IDEAL

Choice of Bathing and Boating or Lounging and Larking for Tired City Girls.

Wide airy verandas, comfortably, sagging, lazily swinging hammocks, and a big cool sleeping porch protected from mosquitoes—all swept by the lake breezes—that's Summerholm, Port Stanley.

Ask any of the twenty-five girls who returned from the camp last week if they enjoyed the "eats!" Of course there was bathing and boating and swimming (for those who could) and everything that makes a summer camp a good place to be.

Miss Jennie Moore was the hostess last week and this week Mrs. Davidson, formerly Miss Proudfoot, who was the well-beloved president of the King street "Y," will hold that position.

For any girls who would like to spend the civic holiday at a camp, Summerholm, would be quite as suitable as for those who have a week or two in which to enjoy themselves.

CANVAS HOSPITAL A GREAT BLESSING

Down on the beach at Port Stanley, by the foot of the incline railway, stands a tent, very neatly labeled "London & Port Stanley Emergency Hospital."

This hospital is one of the best-equipped of its kind and is being constantly improved. Within its white walls are four wards, separated from the corridor by curtains, a waiting room, an operating room and the sleeping quarters of the two nurses, Miss Hedley and Miss Griffon. The wards each contain a comfortable cot, with a waterproof covering, which is added, owing to the fact that most of the accidents are those which happen to bathers.

The operating room is fully equipped with a formidable showing of instruments and first aid remedies and has a very business-like appearance.

Of course, few acidents are so serious as to require an operation or even the aid of a doctor, but occasionlly medical skill is called for as in the case of the little boy who, when he fell off the merry-go-round, cut his scalp so as to require seven stitches.

But as a general rule the cases are confined to sick headaches and fainting spells. Often the nurses' advice is required in the case of little babies, whose mothers eagerly seek the first aid tent for help.

Among the improvements for next year it is planned to add a special tent where the babies may be cared for and fresh milk supplied for them. It is also planned to add such details as may make it possible to keep the patients all night if necessary, which at the present time is impossible. These improvements will make the hospital of even greater value to the public than it is at present, and its present value is certainly not small.

One bather, who fainted in the water Wednesday, would assuredly have lost her life if it had not been for the prompt action of the emergency nurses in administering stimulants.

The tent itself is very cleverly made, having a double roof with an air space between which makes it cooler, while the side walls may be let down from the top to admit air. Screen doors have been made and are ready to be put on, which will greatly aid in keeping out flies and other insects.

The furniture of the tent is of a rustic character, well in keeping with the place. Everything is splendidly clean and shining, and the whole place is so very cool and inviting that it might seem worth while getting ill (but only slightly), so that one might spend an hour under the white canvas.

Dr. Spence and Dr. Jackson work in unison with the nurses if a case is brought in serious enough to require their aid. At other times the nurses' skill is quite sufficient and it is not long before the patient is feeling as well as ever, and is able to return to his home.

CLUB NEWS

The joint picnic of London and district Daughters of Rebekah was held at Springbank Wednesday afternoon. It was attended by about four hundred.

The following lodges: Victoria Rebekah, No. 1, and May Queen, No. 5, London; Mount Brydges, Ingersoll, Kerwood and Dorchester were represented, and everybody reported a good time.

A baseball game between picked teams was played in the afternoon, and was the big feature of the day.

Mrs. Wickware's team won out by 27 to 26, and won the prize of a mammoth box of chocolates. Bro. Hickman's beautiful (?) umpiring and Miss Brownlee's hitting enlivened the contest.

Lunch was served in the pavilion at 6 p.m. The races and sports were after tea and resulted as follows:

Girls, 8 years and under, 25 yards—Elsie Hemsworth, Eleanor Frank, Flora MacRoberts.

Girls, 14 and under, 50 yards—Phyllis Bock, Muriel Burridge, Mildred Hall.

Boys, 8 years and under, 50 yards—"Billie" Shaw, Fred Barnard, Roland Deacon.

THE BANDIT DOGS.

Part Six.

Riggles, the leader of the band, was the first to smell the roast beef from the kitchen of the cafe.

"I am tired of eating scraps and so are you all," he told his little band—how will it be if we start out on our bandit tricks by stealing that roast of beef?"

The other dogs agreed that that would be a very good start, indeed.

"Very well," the leader said. "You, Cha, are the smallest so you will peep your head around the kitchen door to see if the coast is clear, for it would never do to be caught the very first time we started out thieving."

Cha, his heart a tremble at his first adventure, peeped his head around the kitchen door.

"Scoot!" cried the cross voice of the huge cook, for just at that moment he had been standing at the doorway and so of course caught sight of Cha. You may be sure the little dog scampered away.

"So the cook is there," Riggles exclaimed, a bit amused. He saw their adventure was going to be more fun than he had expected. "Well, we'll have to do something to get him away. And then the plan was hatched.

It was just about noon and hungry office men were occupying most of the chairs at the tables in the front part of the cafe, when a terrible din reached their ears. "Yeouw, row, yeouw, oooo-ooohhhhhooooo!!!!!" came the most dreadful series of howls they had ever heard. Right into the cafe scrambled three dogs, all fighting and snarling. Of course they were the three bandits, Rolf, Tige and Sha. The two big dogs seemed to be picking on the little dog, though in reality they weren't at all, they were just pretending. Up jumped men, over went chairs, dishes crashed in the mix-up, so great was the hurry to stop what everyone thought was a dog fight. Waiters ran from everywhere, and then out from the kitchen dashed the fat cook, flourishing a rolling pin. That seemed to be the signal for the fight to stop, for the cook was no sooner in the room than the three dogs stopped their snarling and scampered away. The cook kept right on after them, but they were too quick for him. He had to content himself with waving a warning with a rolling pin as the dogs disappeared around the corner.

Foolish cook! No sooner had he left the kitchen than Riggles, the little black dog, had bounded in, jumped onto the table and snatched the large roast of beef and departed with it. What hunting and yelling there was when the cook came back—what could have become of the roast?

How stupid the cook was. Not so very far away four dogs, the bandit band, were enjoying the feast of their lives, and after they had had their fill they buried enough for another meal. How they laughed when they thought of the fat old cook and his rolling pin—but how lucky they were he didn't happen along, for there never was such an angry cook as that one was just then.

Carmen Holds Vehics To Four Hits, While Londoners Slug Way Through—Kuhn Drove In Malmquest With Homer.

FLINT, July 28.—London champions are still leading the Mint League. They kept their position by reason of beating Flint in the second game and also knotting the series. The count was 7 to 1.

While Lefty Carmen was turning back the Vehics with four scattered hits the Cockneys were straightening out Red Ainsworth's curves for nine blows. Two of the hits went for homers, the first one being good for two runs or enough to win.

Kuhn drove one far over the left field fence in the second frame with Malmquest on first base through a throw to centre. Stutz banged one over in the same spot in the eighth with no one on bases. It was Stutz's first four-base smash of the season.

The champions played nice ball, a field and a hit at the right time checked the short-winning streak of the Halligans. Currie led off the sixth with a single to left and Vandyke bunted, being safe on Rose's wide throw to the bag. Shay drove a double to left, scoring both runners. Kuhn circled in the seventh on his single to center. Briger's sacrifice and Carmen's base knock to left. Curry hit into a fast double play. Malmquest's second hit of the afternoon, a single to left, Kuhn's sacrifice and Carmen's second blow, a punch to midfield, added the final marker in the ninth. The only chance Flint had to score came in the first, and the Vehics seized the opportunity. Gray was hit in the back by a pitched ball, took second on Oakes' sacrifice, third on Emmer's field hit to Shaw and beat Curry's peg to the plate on Conway's fly.

JUST BETWEEN US

(BY SEE S. GEE)

This year's W. O. B. A. was a success as far as it went, but when it closed yesterday there must have been many, who have the aims of the big association at heart, convinced that if these are to be carried out, changes must be made in the competition, even if the whole nature of it is switched around.

The plan to divide Western Ontario into groups and have elimination contests in these groups with only the play-offs by group champions as the W. O. B. A. proper, seems a feasible one under the circumstances. It has many supporters.

The tournament with the number of entries that should be in, is too unwieldly considering present day bowling circumstances. If it were run along the lines of the Ontario Tankard play, this would mean that it could be made sufficiently attractive for all the groups of Western Ontario to send the best they have to compete, and it could be finished in two days of steady bowling. The standard of the W. O. B. A. has always been high, but this would at once put its competitions in the blue ribbon class. The winners of events in a case of this kind would have something of which to be proud—they would have beaten the best bowling talent this neck of the province produced.

The Meusel deal with the Phillies has aroused a storm of comment amongst the club owners, who view the deal as nothing more or less than an attempt on the part of McGraw to buy a National League bunting.

The Pirate fo'castle is filled full of peeved Buccaneers as the latest Giant strategy is discussed.

Yesterday the Giants were but eight points behind, and today, if they win, will be ahead. Trades at this stage of the league race should be illegal, but while making it so has been discussed often enough, nothing is ever legislated.

It would be rather funny if both New York teams should win their respective flags, and the world series were to be concentrated at the Polo Grounds. At first sight, it shouldn't make the club owners very happy, as a series of this sort would hardly draw the gates which would be drawn if different cities were playing.

The middleweight championship is in dispute. The referee's decision gives the fight to Wilson on the grounds that Downey hit him while he was down, whereas the Ohio State Boxing Commish and the Cleveland newspapers unanimously hail Downey as the new champion.

The champion was knocked down three times in the seventh round, and Timekeeper Artie Foote says that he was down 13 4-5 seconds the first time and 11 seconds the last.

Wilson is one of the most unsatisfactory champs except Al McCoy who has ever held the cruiser title.

CANADIAN SCHOONER WINS SECOND RACE

Beat Defender of George Cup Which Won On Wednesday.

HAMILTON, Ont., July 28.—Scrapper II., of Toronto, won the second of the George Cup races today by over a mile in distance and 9:10 seconds in time. Nirwana of Hamilton, the defender, was second, and Huskie of Watertown, N. Y., the United States' challenger, third, beaten by 25 seconds.

Yesterday Nirwana won by 25 seconds with Huskie second, while Scrapper II. well beaten and with her new Marconi rigging stretched all out of shape, was third.

The second round of today's course was just a parade as far as Scrapper II., the leader, was concerned.

It was different with the two trailers. On the run on the first leg of the second round, Huskie, third, overtook Nirwana, the second boat, but she did not stay second long. Nirwana was ahead of her at the first and second buoys and after a pretty battle on the three-mile to windward beat her 200 yards at the finish.

If Scrapper II. wins tomorrow and Nirwana is again second the Nirwana retains the cup with 7 points against Scrapper II.'s six. In other words Nirwana with one victory and two seconds wins over Scrapper II., Toronto, with two wins and "no finish." Scrapper II.'s only hope is to win tomorrow with Huskie second in which case she and Nirwana will be tied with six points each. If Nirwana is first or second tomorrow she retains the cup which she won at Cobourg last year.

GREAT VOLO WINS HIS MAIDEN RACE

Rain Again Interferes With Races At Columbus.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 28.—Another shower today after seven heats of the afternoon's grand circuit program had been raced, brought a delightful speed carnival to an abrupt close just after the final heat of the three-year-old colt trot had been raced and in which The Great Volo, a full brother of Peter Volo, 2:02, won his maiden race and trotted three miles close to 2:10.

In the feature race of the card Single G. easily won the first two heats, pacing the second one in 2:00¼, within a fraction of his best time made this year at Toledo. The final heat of this event went over to Friday.

The first two heats of the 2:08 trot, the Southern Hotel stakes, were completed, and their result was perplexing to the men who bet. The Toddler was the original favorite and justified his backing by winning the first heat in 2:04¼. Grey Worthy broke at the three-quarter pole and Great Britton, having gotten away badly at the wire, and laid up. In the second heat Great Britton went to the front at the three-quarter pole where Grey Worthy broke and had to relinquish the lead. Grey Worthy just got inside the flag after having trotted to the half in 1:01½. Great Britton won this heat in 2:04¼ and became favorite to win the race.

The fourth event, the 2:13 class pace, was untouched. The unfinished events and three other races will be offered Friday, and the week's meeting will not be completed until Saturday.

London Pairs Take Both Events of Scotch Doubles

Duncan and Heaman, Veteran Pair, Produced Thrill of Tourney Yesterday Morning.

It remained for a semi-final game in the Scotch doubles second event yesterday morning in the W. O. B. A. at the Thistle greens to provide the real thrill of the whole three days' play, when Duncan and Heaman, the septuagenarian pair, and then a few years on top, gave Gray and Nessor a real argument for 15 ends. Within two or three ends of the finish, the score was 14—9, only, for the winners, but in these last few ends they ran it up to a 22—9 count. The veterans, whose combined ages total 153 years, were bowling in splendid shape, and, after a hard day of it yesterday, showed remarkable stamina.

Although losers, their pluck was admired so much that they were the recipients of a special prize, presented before an interested gallery by Secretary Bluett. Both stated that they'd be on hand next year to give the youngsters a battle.

The veterans went into the semi-finals by default of McDougall and Weld of the L. R. C.

Father Forster and Shannon had put out Smith and Swift, and went into the finals with Gray and Nessor, deciding on a five-end issue, owing to the strenuous pace of the two days before. The former pair got the verdict here.

In the first event the Morris brothers stacked up against Kay and Horrocks, the Windsor pair, the Londoners taking the lead at first and keeping it throughout.

SOCCER KICK-OFFS

Public Utilities beat Grand Trunks 2 to 1 last night at Carling Heights, in one of the best games yet played in the City League. The Trunks held Utilities in leash throughout, but could not penetrate their defence successfully.

The W. O. R. football team will play the London Box eleven at Carling Heights on Saturday, the game to start at 3.

The following players are requested to be on hand: Taylor, Noble, Mitchell, Drakeley, Widdicombe, Tavernor, Fudge, McClanahan, Crinnan, Cambridge, Fairweather, Somers.

Brisco Cup Given Junior City Soccer League

Fine Trophy Hung Up For Titleholders—Rovers of St. Thomas Have It Half Won.

The Brisco Cup, offered for the championship of the Junior City Soccer League by the R. M. Brisco Company, Limited, sports goods store, has been accepted by the league officials under the usual conditions of three successive wins for permanent possession.

The St. Thomas Rovers won the first series, but are being given a good battle by the rest of the teams in the second series, now being played.

The league is now composed of seven teams, Grand Trunk Juniors having dropped out of the competition. The teams all strengthened up for the second series and much better football is being played.

At the end of the regular league season, exhibition games may be staged with outside teams, notably the champions of Lambton County, who have been clamoring for a match.

There is also every likelihood of a cup series. Another cup has been offered the league for competition and it will be in the nature of a challenge trophy. As it will be played under O. F. A. jurisdiction, it will be necessary for opponents to have O. F. A. affiliation before being eligible for this competition.

The Brisco Cup is a handsome trophy and will be on display in the Brisco store the next few days.

Thistles Will Hold Tournament Monday

Herewith I give the "Faithful" a supplementary list of horses worth watching, those slated to be taken out of the old vat during the coming meeting. In this respect I might add that such info is the result of the expenditure of hundreds of dollars.

I cite this so that you do not treat it as lightly put, Martian. Now this bird has been quietly prepared down east and shipped to Saratoga where the big doings are to take place. Unless your crown is solid ivory I suggest that you have your two megs riding right smack on the beezer.

Oceanic. One from the vat. Quite a considerable commission was planted in Pittsburg on this gee. These are exceptionally smart people. You have the answer in your sweet little duke.

Brocklesby. One to conjure with. I have a letter before me stating that the old "X horse mark" is loaded to the guards. Letter get yours, Bo, while the getting is good.

While on the subject I might also say that Oceanic is trained by the same chap, Feustel, who handled the great Man o' War. In an interview with one of my representatives he said: "Oceanic showed me more speed than Man o' War. I will send him to 'Town' at Saratoga." Now that kind of gab needs no bolstering, Wot?

Glengarry. Another "Melon" from the stable of the Gallagher boys. Now, prior to their shipping the stable from Latonia to Hamilton I gave you due warning what these "Hardboots" would do to the Canucks. Well it all happened. One peep at Kinburn's last three starts is a convincer. Glengarry is fast as a bullet.

Claymore. This bird, like others from this stable, had the "Roller shoes" on last time. Take it from me the "lid" is to be taken off at Hamilton. Go get yours in huge gobs. Same thing applies to Last One the stable's star pickler. Ye'wekkum.

BRITISH COLLEGIANS TIE YANK ATHLETES IN MEET

Britons Were Declared Winners At First, But Officials Reversed Their Decision.

TRAVERS' ISLAND, N. Y., July 28.—The international track meet between the Oxford-Cambridge teams of England and the Princeton-Cornell teams of the United States was officially declared a tie tonight, after a previous official decision declaring the Britons were the winners, had been reversed.

The sensation of the meet came in the three-mile event, when Foresman of Princeton, a mere stripling, ran Seagrove, star English distance man, off his feet no less than ten times during the run. Foresman and Seagrove alternated in the lead. In the last lap Foresman drew away to win by a good margin. In a desperate effort to overtake the Princeton lad Seagrove sprinted the last 50 yards and collapsed in the arms of a teammate, Nokes of Oxford.

Nokes set a new international intercollegiate record for the hammer throw, heaving the ball 160 feet 7 inches on his last attempt.

Abrahams of Cambridge was the individual star, winning the 100-yard dash and the broad jump. Rudd, captain of the English team, and 440-meter Olympic champion, was beaten in the 440-yard dash by Stevenson of Princeton.

Excitement in the crowd was highest when the athletes went to the mark in the last event, the half-mile. Rudd, by winning, caused a tie in the matter of first places, and Milligan, who ran second beating Johnson of Princeton less than six inches, gave the English athletes six second places.

HURONS FIND HAM'S LEAD TOO LONG TO OVERCOME

Saginaw Aces Trim Beavers 8--6 and Maintain Position.

SARNIA, July 28.—The Hurons were unable to overcome an early lead put up against them today, and Hamilton copped the first game of the series 7 to 6. Joe Reddy, loaned to O'Rourke's nine by Buffalo, topped the mound, and although hit freely, was effective with men on bases. McMillan also turned in a good game, but the breaks went against him. The visitors by virtue of four hits and a pass chalked up three tallies in the first chapter, and added two more each in the fifth and sixth. After getting two in the fourth, the Piercemen staged a rally in the sixth and netted three runs. Their final counter came in the seventh. Boyle made one of the most sensational catches ever seen at Watkin's Field, when he grabbed Corcoran's drive in the seventh and turned it into a double play. Umpire Goodman was accidentally hit on the back of the head by a thrown ball and was forced to retire.

GIANTS MOVE UP NOTCH BY WINNING FROM PITTSBURG

New York, July 29.—By winning their third straight game from the Pirates yesterday, the Giants edged a little closer to the National League leadership, only eight points separating the two clubs.

The battles for first position in both leagues are not only close, but very similar in figures. Pittsburg, the National circuit leaders, and Cleveland, on top in the American League, each have won 60 games and lost 34, with a percentage of .638. The Yankees, in second place in the American, and the Giants in the same berth in the senior organization, each have lost the same number of games, 34, but McGraw's team has won one more game than the Yankees. The National team's victories number 58, while the American club has won 57.

Both the Yankees and the Cleveland team won from their respective opponents yesterday. Manager Tris Speaker, center fielder, may be lost to the Cleveland team for several days, due to a fracture of a small bone in his ankle, suffered while turning first base in Boston yesterday.

The hard-hitting Harry Heilman of the Detroit Tigers, leading swatter in Ban Johnson's league, added two more homers to his 1921 string yesterday, his total to date being 14. Other "take four" hits were made by Dykes, Athletics; Shanks and Millan, Washington, and Sargent, Detroit.

WILL TRY TO REFUTE PLAYERS' TESTIMONY

Chicago, July 29.—The baseball trial resumed today with the state preparing a hasty list of rebuttal witnesses after the sudden move of the defence yesterday in resting its case with nearly a score of witnesses yet to be examined. State's attorneys intimated that several witnesses would be called today, these probably including Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis ball player, who was not used by the state in its direct examination.

The surprise action of the defence which followed testimony of White Sox players that tended to refute the statements of Bill Burns, star state's witness, concerning the former Sox players on trial for conspiring to throw the 1919 world's series, left future action on both sides a matter of conjecture, but seemed to assure ending of the trial with the case probably going to the jury Saturday night or Monday.

The state was expected today to make an effort to refute the testimony of White Sox players that all the Sox, including the defendants, practiced for two hours in the Cincinnati park the morning of the first game when Burns testified he met some of the defendants at a room in the Sinton Hotel.

The state also expected to try to show that the conference could have been held prior to the practice at the park. The state's rebuttal testimony was expected to take up most of today's session.

OFFERS KILBANE $25,000.

New Orleans, July 29.—Promoter Al Pillsbury has wired Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, an offer of $25,000 to meet Pete Herman, bantamweight champion, in a decision bout here next fall. Herman already has signified his willingness to meet Kilbane. The promoter hopes to stage the bout here in November when the races open.

Herman declared on his return here yesterday he was also ready to meet Joe Lynch again if the former champion wanted another bout.

"I will be ready to defend my title within 30 days," Herman said. "No legitimate bantamweight is barred. Let it be Joe Lynch or anyone. Lynch was sportsmanlike about giving me a return match; he can depend on my being just as sportsmanlike."

WHITE SOX PLAYERS TESTIFY AT FORMER TEAMMATES' TRIAL

Statements Tend To Disprove State's Evidence.

JURY MAY HAVE CASE

This Week or First Part of Next Week.

CHICAGO, July 28.—The defense in the baseball trial rested its case tonight. The action was taken after five Chicago White Sox players, forced by the law to abandon their team in the east and journey 900 miles to testify, had made statements from the witness stand which tended to disprove some of the most important points in the state's evidence against their former teammates, charged with conspiring to "throw" the 1919 world's series to Cincinnati.

Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk, Dick Kerr, Roy Wilkinson and Manager William Gleason of the White Sox testified at a night session of the court that the seven former players on trial were at Redland Field, Cincinnati, practicing from 10 to 12 a.m. the day before the first 1919 world's series game. Bill Burns had testified that it was on this day and at these hours that he completed the alleged deal with the defendants whereby they were to "throw" games in order desired, for $100,000, receiving $20,000 after each game thrown.

Tomorrow the state will begin its rebuttal testimony with indications that Judge Friend may order Saturday and night sessions of the court in the hope of getting the case to the jury this week or the first part of next week.

INTERNATIONAL RACES BEGIN.

London, July 29.—The international six-metre yacht races for the British-American cup will open at Ryde, Isle of Wight, today, when the first of a series of six races will be called.

The race will be between teams of four yachts, the trophy going to the team which makes the best record over a course of fifteen miles. The starting gun will be fired at 11:30 a.m., and the winner must finish by 8 p.m., or the race will be declared void.

Some of the foremost British designers have been employed to produce the British competitors. Charles E. Nicholson, designer of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV., produced three of the little vessels which will compete in this series. These are Jean V., Polly and Flya, which, with Victoria, owned by Sir Godfrey Collins and W. P. Burton, skipper of Shamrock IV., were chosen after tryouts by eleven yachts built to meet the American entries.

GIRLS' BASEBALL.

CAMLACHIE, July 28.—The "Old Maids" baseball team played the Lakeshore Girls' team on their ground on Tuesday, and lost by a score of 11 to 10. After the game the girls enjoyed a dip in Lake Huron.

The senior male baseball team won from London Road West on Tuesday evening by the score of 12 to 0 on the Blackwell grounds.

All Germany Takes Hand In Gambling, But "House" Is the Only Real Winner

BERLIN, July 28.—Gambling has become a prevalent vice in Germany, from the broker and wholesaler who drop in at their private club for a night of baccarat and "66" to the messenger boys who "play the horses" on mechanical wheels in shop corners along the Friedrichstrasse in Berlin.

Before the war there were but six gambling clubs in Berlin. Toward the end of the war there were sixty. At the high-water mark, just before the anti-gambling law in December, 1919, there were three hundred. Now, despite the law, there are almost as many clubs in Berlin as then, although many are so ephemeral that exact control is no longer possible over them.

Hard times and uncertain living conditions, instead of curing popular cravings for a game which is a sure thing—a sure loss—seem, on the contrary, to whet appetites. The police continue closing several clubs each week, the owners often land in jail, but other clubs crop up like mushrooms. When the owners have paid their fines or served a term they start business again at the old stand.

Must Remain All Night.

To visit gambling clubs in Berlin now is like finding a caravan moving across a desert. They rarely meet in the same place two successive nights. In various ways the ultimate destination is kept dark from the guests until they are actually at the door, and once inside they must remain throughout the night. Every possibility of a tip reaching the police must be avoided.

The owner of the club is a cautious person. He spreads the word only among trusted clients at the race tracks, at prize fights and in cafes. The chosen are told to assemble on some well-known square at a given hour. Here they are met by a guide and a line of taxis. Only the guide knows the ultimate destination of the cars, he leading the way. The cars then stop a block away from the club, and the guests from here creep stealthily along to the apartment designated.

Guests then find themselves practically imprisoned throughout the night. Should one insist on leaving or on starting discussion, strong-armed men are at hand to reason with him.

When a raid is made scouts at the street corners tip off the watchman below. He slips a key in the lock from the inside as a preliminary obstacle, and when the gambling police squad starts working the door with skeleton keys and jimmeys he warns the house upstairs.

Card boxes and green baize are hastily bundled together and tucked away in the attic or the cellar. In some places they have revolving tables. When the police come in they find a regular meeting of the Heroes of South Africa or of the Society for the Propagation of the German Diphthong Among Backward Peoples.

Unless the club is "caught with the goods," or unless the paraphernalia can be unearthed at once, the police cannot get a conviction. It sometimes happens that a loser notifies the police or gives the game away.

Last week there was a raid on a well-known club near the Bavarian Square in Berlin. In the midst of it, when the gamblers were being corralled below into trucks, along came a line of taxis, obviously carrying more guests to the club. When the guide in the first car saw the excitement he hastily shouted to the other taxi drivers to scatter. The crowd saw the anxious passengers urging their drivers to speed up, understood the game and shouted from joy.

I visited one of the largest clubs recently. It was in a luxurious apartment, furnished by the owner as though his one ambition were to pack it with objects of value. He now rents it to the club for several thousand marks a night, after himself having started in as a gambler a year before with fifteen millions and losing his "pile." For a time he had a run of luck, so he tells me. One night he won 2,000,000 marks. Then in two successive nights he lost 3,000,000, and this started him on the down grade.

Fortunes are made and lost in these clubs in a night. I asked the croupier about his guests. The croupier states that there are the "steadies" who have been coming for years. They continue to play, "but never with the same money—because," he added modestly, "of course the owner and we croupiers are the only ultimate winners.

"In addition there is the transient gambling public. Of these a new crop comes every six months. Money easily made is easily spent. They may have made a few millions smuggling or from speculations, and prefer throwing it away on pleasure to giving it out on taxes."

Taxes and Depreciation.

Thrift is penalized now in Germany. A man who puts his money in the bank knows that the mark is depreciating faster than his interest returns. He knows that what he puts aside will be half taken away by the Government in taxation. The war patriot who exchanged his gold chain at the nominal gold value for an iron chain sees those who hoarded their gold being paid many times the old rate at world market prices. Among the new crop gamblers are many tax dodgers who find the green baize table a more thrilling way to dispose of their riches.

In this gambling club I found the equipment to be of the very simplest—the green baize, and the card boxes for baccarat, ecartee, and "66." An elaborate buffet of cold meats was the one outlay for the occasion, and this was later more than recouped in excessive champagne prices.

The guests were an odd assortment. There was the inevitable majority of profiteers or "schiebers" as they are called here, a class to be found wherever money is to be spent or made. The word schieber means literally "pushing things over." The common type of schieber is recruited from the Galician and Russian Jews who settled in Germany. Many are short, bloated, heavily bejewelled individuals who are distinctly loud in spending their money. But they are clever and quick at cards.

A croupier tells me that playing with them is much more nerve racking than with the old conventional gentleman players who played with real or affected abstraction, and then pocketed their losses stoically. "These new money kings come determined to win," said the croupier; "they put their money on the baize and then try to slip it off if they see that the game is turning against them. They win noisily and make a racket when they finally lose. German stolidity does not show itself now at the gaming table."

At this table there was a Russian nobleman who was playing his last jewel. During the last two years many Russian exiles came here with diamonds and jewels, converted them into paper marks and lived hard and fast. But their money has fast been ebbing away. One of the last luxurious Russian gambling clubs, located Unter den Linden, recently failed, and was closed by the police for falling behind in paying the usual "rake off" to the members of the police gambling squad, I am told.

"These Russians have been a strain on our ingenuity," a croupier declared. "Their card morality is that 'anything goes.' In order to protect ourselves we have had to learn their tricks, and to use them, too, on occasion. Everyone here talks about honor. They give their words of honor to pay back debts tomorrow. This may mean next week or not at all. Of course, when we hold the bank in old conservative clubs we remain correct. But when we operate in these so-called wild clubs we do not hesitate to fix the cards to secure our gain."

Germans Seldom Suicide.

The path of the loser in Germany is not suicide, as is often the fate of gamblers in Monte Carlo, and in other Latin countries. The German, it seems, must suffer much greater misfortune before he loses his impassivity. Losers often disappear from sight and turn up a year or two later with more money again. Sometimes they themselves attempt to recoup their fortunes by turning their homes into clubs and trying on others what succeeded on them.

If they are foreigners who lose and have no profession in Germany, they find their way to the various internment camps. There are thousands of undesirables now in these camps, mostly eastern peoples, who, like moths, fluttered about the bright lights of Berlin, only to fall with their wings singed.

The gambling epidemic in Germany is a side of the social demoralization following the war. The craze reached its pinnacle about the middle of 1919, when the German people were still in the midst of their political upheaval and were trying to forget that they would have to bear the consequences of defeat. The gambling plague began to decline when people decided to go back to work and factory wheels started turning again. Gambling is now getting a new short lease of life through the new heavy taxation burdens, which irresponsible people now seek desperately to evade. None the less, there is a gradual decline in numbers and a real decrease in the amount of money wasted in this way. This indicates that there is less money being made now than there was a year ago, and consequently less to be thrown away. The ranks of the German proletariat are increasing.

This does not mean, however, that the gambling craze is dying out. On the contrary, the number of penny roulette wheels, race tracks and slot machines is larger than ever throughout Germany, but the Eldorado days of the gilded gambling dens are passing.

OSTEOPATHS OPPOSE HEALTH SECRETARY

Cabinet Post Would Give Old School a Monopoly.

ASK CONGRESS HANDS OFF

Cleveland Session Hears Development of "Seventh" Sense in Airmen.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Nearly 2,000 delegates and visitors, including 600 women, attended the opening of the twenty-fifth annual convention of the American Osteopathic Association, in session here.

Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald welcomed the delegates and Dr. Hugh W. Conklin of Battle Creek responded. Dr. William E. Waldo of Seattle, president of the association, delivered the opening address, declaring that the national osteopathic campaign of education against the wearing of high heels by women should be continued. It had met, he said, with a favorable response from most of the women's clubs throughout the country, including the Y. W .C. A.

Many Clinics.

Clinics will be held each afternoon by special sections of the convention. Dr. E. O. Jones of Evanston, Ill., today addressed the pediatrics section, presided over by Dr. Harry W. Sutton of Galt, Ont. Chairmen of other sections were Dr. Curtis H. Muncie, Brooklyn, N. Y., eye, ear, nose and throat section; Dr. Blanche M. Elfrink of Chicago, obstretries; Dr. Jenette Bolles of Denver, public health, and Dr. Thomas R. Thorburn of New York, laboratory diagnosis.

The convention will consider bills now before congress which osteopaths claim give the old school of medicine a monopoly.

Dr. Waldo in his presidential address touched on some of these, remarking that the osteopathic profession is opposed to the Owen bill because it creates a national department of health, with a secretary in the president's cabinet.

Demand a Voice.

"The people," he declared, "demand as large a voice in saying what system of healing they shall choose in case of distress as in religious matters, and will not tolerate the government's forcing one system of healing on them.

"We are opposed to the Kenyon-Fess bill," he continued, "because it goes even further and, like the Owen bill, creates state medicine and gives to one school of healing a monopoly. Monopoly has been found to be injurious in the business field and has had to be curbed. Monopoly in the healing art will be found to be even more irksome.

"House Bill No. 2366, introduced by Mr. Towner, is equally pernicious. All of these bills show the tendency of the people to pass laws to do for them what they ought to do for themselves, but they do not want to do it. We need more education and less legislation, and it is up to us as protectors of the public health to teach the people how to live."

Less Safe Than War.

Some traditions of medical science were thrown to the winds by Dr. E. O. Jones of Evanston, Ill., who declared that children's diseases are "entirely unnecessary." Correction of diet and elimination will prevent these so-called necessary diseases, said Dr. Jones.

"It is much safer to be an American soldier on the firing line in France than an American child at home," declared the speaker. "If you hate your child, cram him with dainties.

"When just out of infancy, many children are allowed to eat meats and sugar and too much syrup. These are eaten entirely too freely, while the remainder of the diet may consist of bread, butter, cereal and potatoes. Such eating habits fail to make the child develop normally.

"We have become so accustomed to see children whose physical development is distinctly below par that, as a rule, parents do not feel a sense of guilt for a condition in their children which is wholly the result of ignorance or indifference.

Is No Excuse.

"Ignorance of man-made laws does not excuse anyone; how much less should ignorance of natural laws excuse parents? It is high time that every mother should know as much about feeding her family as the thousands of successful farmers know about feeding live stock.

"The majority of mothers are giving large amount of thought and time as well as labor to solving the problems of dressing themselves and their children attractively, while leaving their physical development entirely to chance.

"It is true that growth and apparent health may take place on a diet of cereals, white flour, potatoes and meat, but only those diets that contain one or both of the so-called protective foods—that is, milk and leafy vegetables—have ever maintained animals in a state of nutrition which promotes vigor and sustains longevity."

Airmen Add to Man's "Five Senses."

The old "five senses" have been relegated to ancient history, and mankind really has seven senses, according to Dr. Glenn S. Moore of Chicago, who told of the discovery of two "new" senses in a technical paper which he read to the eye, ear, nose and throat section of the osteopaths.

"For centuries man has been credited with only five senses," said Dr. Moore. "Only recently has a sixth sense come to be recognized, that of 'muscle and joint sense,' by means of which the individual is able to perform co-ordinate acts automatically and unconsciously.

"Recent stulies of the internal ear have revealed the fact that the semi-circular canals constitute a seventh sense, which has been termed the 'kinetic static sense.'

"Really, there are seven special senses: sight, hearing, taste, smell, touch, muscle sense, kinetic static sense. Perfect equilibrium is maintained by these special senses working in unison.

"A wartime utilization of varieties of tests was adopted by the boards of examiners for the air service, in order to test the equilibrative powers of prospective aviators and their adaptability for flying.

Stimulates Canals.

"The tests consist in stimulating the semi-circular canals. This is accomplished by means of turning the person in a chair, especially prepared for the purpose, or by douching the ear with water, either hot or cold. Such stimulation produces definite phenomena, such as the dizziness known as 'vertigo.'

"Because of this vertigo a patient will fall in a definite direction and will be unable, with his eyes closed, to find an object which he has previously touched with his fingers or foot, but will reach to the right, left, above or below the object, depending upon the direction of the vertigo.

"The phenomena of falling and 'past-pointing' are always present in normal individuals and follow certain definite laws. For example, if the head is in the upright position, because it stimulates the vertical canals, douching the right ear with cold water causes a rotary eye-jerking to the left and a sensation of falling to the left, although actually falling to the right and 'past-pointing' to the right. Hot water causes exactly the opposite reaction."

Calls Osteopaths Aids to the Deaf.

That deaf mutes can be cured was announced at today's session by Dr. Curtis H. Muncie of Brooklyn.

"A boy 3 years old was brought to me," he said, "deaf from birth and therefore speechless. Examination of the Eustachian tubes showed that they had never fully developed and in their undeveloped state were closed. The drum membrane was badly retracted.

"The boy was operated upon, the tubes reconstructed to the bony canal. On his return nome there was a band of music playing. The boy looked in the direction of the music, put his hands to his ears and laughed and gave other signs that he could hear. Following this demonstration his mother put him tl rough many other tests which proved his hearing present.

"From this point on there was a gradual improvement in his hearing. He soon learned to talk and in six months' time his hearing was normal and speech improving fast. This little patient was always falling before the operation, due to the effect of his deafness upon his equilibrium. After the operation his balance became normal immediately.

"If osteopathic operative-constructive finger surgery were limited only to the cure of these little sufferers, who, without it, are destined to go through life shut in from the world, its value to humanity would be immeasurable, but when we consider its possibilities also of restoring hearing to those who have been deaf for years, we can rightly feel proud of this technique and show our enthusiasm because of its results."

GEO. M. COHAN HAS DROPPED MILLIONS

Financial Losses Due to His Retirement From Theatrical Business.

New York, July 28.—George M. Cohan stands to lose $1,000,000 by withdrawing from the theatre. That statement was made by Variety after carefully examining his properties. The sum is figured on the profits his attractions would net during the coming season. Mr. Cohan, in giving forth the figure, says his self-respect was worth more than that.

Theatrical circles continues to buzz with the Cohan retirement as the result of the "closed shop" action of the Actors' Equity Association against all managers and attractions not in the Producing Managers' Association. From all sides come expressions of admiration for the courage displayed in casting overboard so great organizations as the Cohan productions. Comment by dramatic editors all over the United States laments the submersion of so great a force in the American theatre, and criticize the "Equity Shop" as responsible for it.

Estimates of the loss accepted by Mr. Cohan have been made by showmen, but missed the total by half a million on the figures of the manager himself. The loss to actors by the withdrawal of the Cohan attractions is estimated now at three times what the profits to the manager would have been. On a basis of 600 players in the shows called off, and counting in the choristers in the total number, the salary loss runs well over $2,000,000, and probably close to the $3,000,000 mark.

Mr. Cohan stated his new musical show, "The O'Brien Grl," now running in Boston, would have easily netted $500,000 next season. This brings the estimate of next season's profits to a conservative basis, for he has the "Mary" and "Tavern" companies besides several new properties highly regarded by him, to make up the balance. It is not sure that "The O'Brien Girl" will be continued on the road after September 1.

What disposition of the Cohan attractions will be is unsettled. For the protection of interested parties which really means the authors, composers and some players, it is possible that some of the productions will be disposed of by lease to other managers. While that may bring a certain revenue to Mr. Cohan it is not figured to total but a percentage of the profits which would have attained under his own management. Up to date none of the Cohan attractions has been sold or leased, nor has Mr. Cohan seriously considered any offers made.

Cohan regarded his executive organization as one of the finest in the theatrical field. His methods of handling attractions pointed his offerings to bigger winnings than might have ordinarily attained.

In cluded in the Cohan production program for next season were three attractions which he estimates are sure winners. One is an operetta called "Dream Girl," another is "The Bronx Express," which won fame in the Yiddish theatres, and "Husbands and Wives," a farce. These shows will probably be retained by the manager for possible productions in the future, though he stated he would not hold up any such scripts.

Mr. Cohan stated that while he might rent out some of his shows he would not permit his name to be used as presenting them, saying he was not "a dollar and cents man." That billing will hold his name in the case of the attractions pointed out, but is expected, but the name of the management will have to be carried, Cohan refusing to hide behind any other name. He admits the loss of full billing of the Cohan name may affect the business of the shows.

BRANT HIGHWAYS BEING IMPROVED

Big Steam Shovel Is Busy in the County.

BRANTFORD, July 28.—The big $10,000 steam shovel just purchased by the county has been put to work at Little Creek in the Township of Onondaga, where the road is below flood level, and the side of a hill is being scooped out to elevate the surface of the county highway. On the Cockshutt road, $65,000 of emergency work is being done and four deep cuts will be filled in by the big shovel this summer. The county has eleven gangs of men, numbering over 200 road-makers in all, at work in different parts of the district and a big program of work is on hand.

Had Purse Stolen.

Miss Edna Gignac of this city has returned to Montreal to identify a suspect who is alleged to have stolen her purse, containing valuables worth $200. Miss Gignac recently took a boat trip down the St. Lawrence and up the Saguenay rivers and it was while waiting for a train in Montreal her grip was stolen.

As a result of the inspection made of the Brant County house of refuge quarantines will be established until various matters in the interests of the health of the inmates are cleared up. The water mains from the city to the institution will be increased from the four to six-inch size.

Did Good Business.

That business in Brantford is better than was expected was shown today by the large crowds who attended bargain sales put on for "dollar day." The crowds, though perhaps not as great as in normal times, were nevertheless very encouraging and merchants report a good volume of business.

Rev. J. W. Schofield of Sydenham Methodist Church was presented with a purse of money by his congregation upon the occasion of his departure on a trip to England.

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS AT LONDON INSTITUTE MUSICAL ART

The results of the examinations in piano, singing, theory and elocution, held at the London Institute of Musical Art, are such as to reflect most favorably upon the members of the staff. When one contemplates the rigid requirements in the several grades demanded of candidates by the exacting standards of Toronto Conservatory of Music (with which the Institute is affiliated), and that out of a total of 80 candidates presenting themselves for examination, 16 secured first-class honors, 35 received honors, and 20 were successful in obtaining a sufficient percentage to pass, it is indeed an evidence of the high standard of instruction for which the Institute is becoming noted.

The teachers who were responsible for the instruction of the candidates are: Mrs. McHardy-Smith, Mrs. A. D. Jordan, Misses Edith Irvine, Minnie Raymond, Irene Foster, Nora Little, Doris Werner, Margery Talbot, Mabel Stevens, Alberta Tory, Jean Walker, George Winterbottom and Mr. A. D. Jordan.

Dale Replies To Criticism Of Inspector

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

Dear Sir,—The younger school inspector over in London seems quite dissatisfied with two things, it would appear from what he is alleged to have said to some reporter as given in your Saturday issue.

The second thing he doesn't like is that a St. Thomas teacher should pass 100 per cent of his class for three years in succession at the entrance examination. He thinks 90 per cent about the proper thing; that 100 per cent means "poor classification." He says: "It is possible to pass 90 per cent and have good classification." He says London passed 86.5 per cent, which I presume, is as near to the proper per cent as it is possible to get without immodesty.

When the younger inspector says my 100 per cent is due to poor classification, and that "it must mean there were other candidates who might have been given the opportunity to take the work in this class, and some of them might have been successful," he states what is not true, but we will say he is mistaken, because my class has invariably been composed as follows:

(a) Those who passed into the senior fourth class;

(b) Those who failed to pass into the senior fourth class;

(c) When there were not enough of classes "a" and "b" to fill the room, or when the newly-formed junior fourth class was too large for its room, pupils were taken from that class just fresh from the third class.

Passing 100 per cent has not been a recent thing with me. During the seven years I was principal of Grimsby public school I passed 100 per cent of my class every year, and my success was not due to "rigid classification." My room was composed of a senior fourth, a junior fourth and a senior third class. In the first year I sent up all of my fourth and passed 100 per cent; in the second year I sent up both, the senior and junior fourth classes, and passed every one of them, and during the subsequent years my junior fourth was my entrance class, and I passed them all at each examination. Commenting upon my work while in Grimsby, the Independent had this to say: "Mr. Dale has the unique record for the several years he was principal of our public schools of never having a pupil fail at the entrance examination, notwithstanding the fact that he invariably sent up his whole class every year for the examination." I hope this may not shock the junior inspector's modesty.

Then I taught in a village some years before this, in the famous Mount Pleasant school. This was a two-roomed school. We did everything in public school work and took the pupils over the ground for third-class certificates. I never had a pupil fail at any examination there, but, unfortunately, I have lost my records to establish this fact. I will give the testimony of Rev. A. G. Sinclair, M.A., Ph.D., D.D., one of the most scholarly ministers in the Presbyterian Church, who was a pupil of mine in the Mount Pleasant school, and that may suffice to show whether I was a 100 per cent man or an 86.5 per cent man such as the junior inspector wants me to be. This is part of the testimonial Dr. Sinclair sent me: "I can safely say there is no more successful teacher than Mr. J. A. Dale in Ontario. For myself, I can speak from experience, and can testify that I owe more to him than to any other teacher—not excepting the high school and the university." Dr. Sinclair sent me this certificate while studying at New College, Edinburgh, where he had gone through a traveling scholarship won at Toronto University.

The junior inspector says: "Much more than examination results should be taken into consideration when judging the success of a teacher or a school." He is quite right there, but how does he know that I, whom he has so wantonly attacked, have not taken other factors into consideration? Here are one or two of perhaps a hundred striking examples where "much more than examination results" have been taken into consideration by me:

(a) A boy was discouraged at school; not my school; was drifting with the tide. I taught him privately and got him through for a teacher. Today he is a leading clergyman—but Dr. Sinclair was not that boy.

(b) A boy was discouraged because he had failed in a lower form at school. At the request of his widowed mother I took him into my home, taught him his entrance work, and lent him money to go to high school. He is now an outstanding lawer.

I don't proclaim my virtues from the housetops, but I have done my share in "much more than examination" work.

With regard to this "much more than examination" business: This is an old "gag" used by teachers, unfortunately, when they are not a success at teaching. Perhaps with a few more years' experience as an inspector, Mr. Greer will know this.

Just while at this point I would like to refer to an editorial in the Brantford Expositor on the occasion of my resigning there as principal of the Central School. It says, in part: "Through the resignation of Mr. J. A. Dale, Brantford schools suffer a distinct loss. Few men engaged in teaching have made such a record as he. At the various departmental examinations, whether teaching in a country village or in our own schools, his pupils have always taken a most enviable place. When the fifth form was instituted in our schools, Mr. Dale was selected as its teacher, and all know what a phenomenal success it was. At the Collegiate Institute, at the university, at the counting house, behind the counter, or wherever his pupils are to be found, they bear the impress of the man. In them are seen the same energy and force of character which mark their teacher."

Dr. Kelly, late inspector of Brantford, says in part: "Mr. Dale, the head master of the Central School, has charge of the public school leaving form. He is an experienced, successful and popular teacher, an excellent manager and disciplinarian, maintaining order without apparent effort, and enlisting the sympathy and co-operation of his pupils. Mr. Dale may be intrusted with anything he undertakes for he knows no such word as 'fail'."

W. W. Ireland, M.A., late inspector of Lincoln County, says in a testimonial I have: "Mr. Dale is one of the most successful teachers I have known in a period of 25 years. He has had remarkable success in preparing pupils for the entrance examination. His teaching is forceful and dignified, and is based upon the best known principles that underlie the art of instruction."

Before coming to St. Thomas I taught one year as principal of the Newmarket public schools, and the following is taken from a testimonial given me by C. W. Mulloy, M.A., inspector of schools for North York:

"This certifies that Mr. John A. Dale has, for the past year, been principal of the Newmarket Public School. This is the largest and best public school in North York, and will compare favorably with the best schools of our province. Of Mr. Dale, as a teacher, a principal, and a scholarly gentleman, so many others have testified, and in such strong terms, that I feel I can say nothing that can add to his already high commendations. But I heartily indorse the great praise they have given him. As a teacher and a disciplinarian I believe he has no superiors. This is clearly shown by the remarkable record his class made at the recent entrance examinations. Mr. Dale's class was composed of the junior fourth and the senior fourth class, and he sent up the whole class—both seniors and juniors. This had not been done before. All the seniors passed, obtaining honors (75 per cent), and all the juniors passed, and eight of them obtained honors. A whole class of 31 pupils and every one passed, 22 obtaining honors. This record has never been equalled in North York, and I doubt if it can be matched in any entrance results."

I might say I had nothing to do with the organization of my classes in Newmarket, because that was done by my predecessor before I went there, yet I was so immodest as to pass 100 per cent, both of the junior fourth class, as well as the senior fourth class for the entrance examination!

Now, the only crime I have committed was in passing 100 per cent of my pupils, when I shouldn't have exceeded 90 per cent. I hardly think the parents of the other 10 per cent or the pupils themselves will condemn me for this immodesty.

I need not refer to my work in this city. That is known too well, but I am sorry the unwarranted attack upon my work by one who knew not whereof he spoke, has forced me to vindicate my professional character. I have taught long and faithfully, and have given the best that I had to give to my country in endeavoring to educate and develop the characters of the young with whom my life has been associated, and I have written this letter to refute the unwarranted and unsophisticated attack made unprovokedly upon my professional character. Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. DALE.

FRANCE MAY GIVE UP RHINELAND BARRIER

Viewpoint To Change If Germany Abandons Her Upper Silesian Policies.

NO PAY IF SHE PERSIST

Better Show in Doing Justice To War Criminals Important Factor.

PARIS, July 28.—Although insisting that France cannot agree to relinquish the present sanctions embodied in the Rhineland customs barrier even if Germany pays off the first billion gold marks in reparations by the end of August, foreign office officials admitted to the New York Herald correspondent today that France's attitude on this point might be radically changed should Germany abandon her stiff-necked policy in Upper Silesia and show a better effort to exert justice in the trials of war criminals.

It is evident, as possibilities of a supreme council meeting either in Ostend, Paris or Boulogne before the end of this month increase, that the question of Upper Silesia is proving more and more thorny. France does not want to give the impression that she is holding out against Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, should the matter be settled by a supreme council vote, and has hailed joyfully the note from London that the French suggestion that a commission be sent to Silesia to study the complications on the ground had been accepted.

The French members of the Upper Silesian commission will be expected to stress the necessity of limiting Germany's power of recovery by giving a more substantial share of the industrial and mining communes to the Poles than the English Commissioner Percival recommended, or even the Italian mediation line provided.

But France is carefully not connecting Upper Silesia with the economic situation of either Germany or Poland, some foreign office experts now taking the line that if President Harding's disarmament program is to be effective it will have to take into consideration Upper Silesia, which the French contend is a potential arsenal for rejuvenated Germany.

Would Embargo Munitions.

It is even hoped that Washington will send instructions to Ambassador Harvey before the supreme council meets which will upset Germany's calculations by restricting German control over any industries allied to munition making even if Poland's territorial aspirations are not met.

If the German Government can be made to realize this, it is considered fairly certain that France will agree to remove the economic sanctions in the Ruhr Valley, at least temporarily, though always reserving the right to re-impose them should Berlin's reparations pledges lack of fulfilment. Philip Millet's editorial in the Paris Midi is considered highly significant that the French Government, or at least that part controlled by M. Loucheur, who is reputed to be in control of the Midi, is envisaging important concessions in the Rhineland economic situation.

M. Millet frankly points out that "if the German Government definitely accepts France's demands for reparations the suppression of these economic sanctions becomes imperative from the viewpoint of the French interest.

"While this is regrettable, it is a fact and we can do nothing. If we want Germany to pay we must renounce the Rhineland barrier which separates the Rhineland from the rest of Germany, but if we prefer to maintain the customs barrier and customs collectors we will have to give up hopes of being paid. The truth is that we are rapidly approaching the turning point where we will have to choose between a definite reparations policy and the maintenance of the Rhineland sanctions."

Cannot Perish and Also Pay.

M. Millet adds that this is the only sensible view and that he does not mean that other sanctions than those affecting Germany's economic restoration be given up. "It is absurd," he says, "to wish simultaneously that Germany perish and also pay. To tie her hands is all right, but if we do so, do not insist that she set to work and rebuild that which she has destroyed. Although still owing us under the Paris accord for what she has destroyed, Germany will be unable to pay these 132,000,000,000 francs if she is only able to use one portion of her economic force."

What part Dr. Rathenau's arguments served to bring about this change in the French arguments is not yet admitted, but it is likely to have a far reaching effect even in Germany, where it is believed here it would mean a possible drawing of the Stinnes-Ruhr interests into line with Dr. Rathenau's policy of conciliatory reparation.

In this connection the newspaper Aux Ecoutes declares that Dr. Rathenau seeks an outright entente with France in order to enable Germany to meet the eventual contest between the United States and Great Britain for the possession of European markets. Dr. Rathenau is said to have argued that "the war ended with two victors—the United States and England; and two nations defeated—Germany and France. Therefore a rapprochement is desirable. Together we may be called upon to battle against Anglo-Saxon imperialism. Moreover there is Russia now in a deplorable situation. But already the Bolshevist chiefs are relinquishing sovietism.

"If that great empire finds a new Peter the Great or a Catherine in fifty years she will have a quarter billion population and will provide a formidable danger for Western Europe."

The details of M. Loucheur's plan are still much in the dark, but it is declared that Dr. Rathenau has agreed that Germany's reparations in kind, as far as France is concerned, shall not exceed five-eighths of France's share of 52 per cent, according to the London figures.

BERLIN'S GOATS SPURN PEANUTS

Billy of the Mountain Now Is So Used To Black Bread He Wants Naught Else.

Berlin, July 28.—"Fate cannot harm me, I have dined today," lyrically warbled the gentleman in "Lucille."

"Fate cannot harm me. I have a black bread sandwich concealed somewhere about my person," is the way the average man would translate it today.

Germany seems to the casual observer now to be one vast out-of-doors dining-room. A girl sitting on top of a 'bus that goes careening down Unter den Linden, dreamily surveys the scenery and consumes black bread and cherries; a frock-coated man bustles down the same street in the middle of the morning munching a sandwich.

The motor driver steers with one hand, and the other holds a black bread sandwich; a mother pushes a baby buggy and administers bread and sausage to a none-too-enthusiastic infant; girls behind counters in department stores eat black bread sandwiches.

The dainty embroidered linen handbag of a shopping woman is seen, when she opens it at the restaurant table, to coontain black bread sandwiches.

A Sandwich Orgy.

Traveling is one large orgy of black bread sandwiches. Once a party is comfortably seated in a compartment—or is uncomfortably standing in the same compartment—from some bundle or bag or basket or brief case appear black bread sandwiches. They are dealt to the members of the party somewhat after the manner of cards, and are consumed with grave gusto. No opera or theatre party is complete without its addenda of chocolate or black bread sandwich.

An American man who went into the big Wertheim department store in Berlin said that it gave him the impression of being five large and busy rooms devoted to eating and drinking, entirely surrounded by departments full of things that people do not buy. This is not strictly true; it must nevertheless be admitted that the busiest section of a department store is that in which coffee, wines, liquors, beers and "limonade," which latter is any soft drink to a German, may be enjoyed, in company with the familiar black bread sandwich.

Goat Eats Sandwiches.

The little dogs in Berlin eat black bread sandwiches; the elephant in the Berlin Zoological Gardens does not eat peanuts, he eats pumpernickle, or bits of black bread sandwich. The mountain goat comes leaping down from his craggy height, and with vast enthusiasm eats black bread sandwiches. It is a matter for research, and I do not attempt to explain it, that last Sunday this goat refused, time and again, to partake of of bits of white bread offered by a generous and autocratic visitor and indulged, until the supply was exhausted, in the rye bread tendered him by the more proletarian among his admirers.

This universal enthusiasm for black bread and this never-ending interest in food is conspicuous all over Germany. It seems as though the people, long underfed, cannot see enough, or eat enough, or talk enough of food. They say that during the war a social gathering was simply an occasion for talking food—where it could be had, how much it cost, how it could be prepared to make it go far and taste possible.

"There'll Be Cake."

And this has not changed yet. Food is plentiful now, and a nurse in Berlin told me that she has never seen so many fat people in her life as she has since it is relatively easy to obtain, but eating has not yet grown to be entirely a matter of course. An invitation to afternoon coffee is invariably supplemented with the added lure: "There will be a cake." The woman with whom I am going to coffee next added as further bait: "There will be vanilla ice." It will be the first time in seven years that she has made it.

In a beer garden, the other day, the men and women gathered about one table were making valiant efforts to talk above the music; their heads were bent close together, and the subject might well have been one of international importance. The band, which was an enthusiastic and vehement one, stopped with unexpected suddenness and from the oldest and plumpest of the women rang magnificently through the silent place: "I cook mine with onions." That is fairly typical of the middle class Germany today.

POTATOES PROVE GOLD MINE FOR ESSEX FARMERS

Many Who Formerly Relied On Tobacco Do Well With Spuds.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, July 28.—Compelled to abandon tobacco growing, because of greatly decreased prices offered by manufacturers, many Essex County farmers have cropped their lands with potatoes, which are paying better dividends than ever derived from cultivating the weed.

One farmer, whose chief crop for years past has been tobacco will make himself at least $4,000 from eight acres of potatoes, now being marketed by him at $2 per bushel.

The few farmers who have refused to "go back" on tobacco report the best quality in many years.

Paving Is Completed.

Paving of Howard avenue, from the Canadian Pacific tracks to Devonshire Park race track was completed tonight. This section of the road will be open for travel, Saturday, when the first meeting of Western Racing Association opens at Devonshire. The remaining portion of the highway, north of the railway tracks and south of Tecumseh road will not be paved for another month. The tracks of the Windsor, Essex and Lake Shore Railway within the city limits will be moved from west side of the road to the centre.

May Erect Plant.

Although officials of the company have so far refused to give anything definite for publication, enough has been disclosed to warrant the statement that the proposed Canadian plant of Dodge Brothers will be located in the border cities. Incorporation of a Canadian Dodge company was arranged this month and a charter has been secured.

Pending the completion of arrangements and the erection of a factory somewhere in the border cities—rumor says in or near Sandwich—some assembling work is to be carried on on C. P. R. shipping property here. All parts available in Canada at present—tires, for instance—will be put on the machine here. This will have the effect of lowering the duty cost on the product as it is brought in from the United States.

ASHBY—O'NEIL.

ESSEX, July 28.—St. Mary's Church, Maidstone, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Monday when Margaret, eldest daughter of Mrs. Edward O'Neil of Jackson's Corners, became the bride of Donald Ashby of Dearborn, Michigan. The bride, who wore a gown of green organdy and hat to match, was attended by Miss Lela Dumouchelle, who wore pink organdy and hat to match. The groom was supported by Charles O'Neil, brother of the bride. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding dinner was served. The young couple will reside in Ojibway.

KENT ROADS ARE BEING IMPROVED

County Department Is Making Good Progress With the Work.

CHATHAM, July 28.—The Kent County roads department has been gravelling the roads in the southern part of the county and has made extensive improvements. Similar work will be undertaken shortly in the northern part of the county.

Taken to Guelph.

Provincial Bailiff J. Ryan took Stanley and William Hallam and Bill Bavin to the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph today to serve sentences for different offences.

The Hallams were convicted of robbery and assault against Theodore King, a farmer. Both were tried before Judge Stanworth at the June sessions of the county court because they had robbed and assaulted Theodore King last September, taking from the latter 77 cases of whiskey and gin under the authority of license inspector's badges, later selling the stuff in Detroit and splitting the proceeds $805 each among three other accomplices. Stanley, the older of the two, will serve the rest of his year's sentence, and William the balance of the six months which Judge Stanworth imposed upon him. Both have served more than a month in the county jail.

Broke His Parole.

Bill Bavin's home is in Windsor. Last year he got mixed up in a rum-running affair, breaking a parole that had been previously imposed on him. He goes back to serve out 14 months in the Reformatory.

Investigate Robbery.

High Constable George Peters and Provincial Officer Lowe were in Botany yesterday investigating a robbery reported by Dan Payne, a farmer, residing near the Botany Church. He claims that unknown parties entered his premises during his absence and got away with a cream separator, a quantity of twine and other goods. It is believed to have been the work of young men of the vicinity, but after a thorough investigation, the officers were unable to get sufficient evidence to effect arrests.

The matter is being followed up, and it is expected arrests will be made in a very short time.

Made Fast Getaway.

What looks like an attempt at a daring hold-up occurred in Harwich Township Tuesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. William Nichol of this city had an unpleasant experience at the hands of six men in an auto.

Mr. Nichol had driven to the home of a farmer in Harwich to make a purchase, carrying considerable money with him. He was unable to find the party with whom he intended to conduct the business, and while returning home was stopped on the road by six men who to all appearances were having difficulty with their car.

Made Him Stop.

One of the men planted himself in the middle of the road and ordered the Nichol car to stop. When the latter drew up alongside the apparently disabled auto, one of the men asked him if he knew anything about it. When he replied that he didn't the men insisted upon him attempting to help them, in none too courteous a manner.

Did Not Follow.

Mr. Nichol's suspicions were aroused as a result of the actions of the men, and noticing a car approaching he remarked he would have to pull out of the way to let it pass. He started up his engine, stepped on the accelerator and made a flying trip back to the city. The men seeing that their victim had outwitted them, gave up the pursuit. Mr. Nichol had several hundred dollars in his pocket at the time.

Magistrate Whittington of Blenheim and County Constable W. S. Sterling of Harwich were here today. The latter was in charge of William Knopp, a vagrant, whom the Blenheim magistrate had sentenced to a term of six months in the county jail for vagrancy.

Knopp, who came out of jail here only a few days ago, was found in a barn near the village of Raglan recently, and he was picked up by Constable Sterling, who found that he had matches in his possession and he was endangering the farmer's hay crop, which was stored in the barn. Having no visible means of support, he was taken before Magistrate Whittington, who sent him to jail again.

INGERSOLL CHRONICLE MAKES ASSIGNMENT

Proprietor Says He Failed To Receive the Support Promised.

INGERSOLL, July 28.—Publication of The Ingersoll Daily Chronicle, which was launched three months ago has ceased, and the proprietor, N. A. Willougby, has made an assignment. He gives as the principal reason for the failure of his project, lack of support from quarters where it had been promised at the time he decided to enter the daily field.

Farmers in Dorchester district are complaining bitterly of the depredations of thieves. One farmer recently had 60 small chickens taken at one time, while others missed small numbers, as well as turkeys. Calvin Petitt, who left a binder in the field overnight discovered the following morning that the twine, tools and nearly everything removable, had disappeared. Earl Hodges, residing near Nilestown, lost a gasoline engine.

SARNIA, July 28.—Mrs. John Everingham of East street today appealed to the police to assist her in locating her husband, who left home between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday night, and has not been seen or heard of since.

Leaving a 16-moths-old child in care of her husband, Mrs. Everingham departed for church. Upon her return at 9:30 the child was there, but her husband was missing. His continued absence is causing anxiety. The missing man is a victim of shell shock, and disappeared once before from the city of London, and was not located for four weeks, according to information given the police.

Constables Appointed.

The appointment of Russell Oke and Clarence McLean to the city police force to fill the existing vacancies caused by recent resignations was announced today. The former has already commenced his duties, and the latter will start August 1. Both are war veterans.

This record has also soared considerably during the last few days, and now amounts to $82,303, with fourteen houses and one store permit granted since the end of June.

DECLINES TO BE KING'S COUNSEL

W. D. Gregory Regards Title As Undemocratic and Undesirable.

TORONTO, July 28.—One of the 91 lawyers placed yesterday on the new list of king's counsel, has declined the honor. He is W. D. Gregory, whose home is in Halton County, but who has been in business in Toronto for many years. As chairman of the public service commission, Mr. Gregory recently presented to the Provincial Government a report recommending radical changes in the system of holding coroners' inquests. Writing to Attorney-General Raney, Mr. Gregory says in part:

"I see that my name is in the list of those whom the chief justice of Ontario, Sir William Mulock and Mr. John Hoskin, recommended to you for appointment of king's counsel. I have long felt that no more appointments of king's counsel should be made and I trust that in declining the appointment as I must do, I shall not seem guilty of any discourtesy to yourself or to the eminent men who have placed my name upon the list.

"No duties are attached to the office of king's counsel and it appears to me that no public interest requires the making of such appointments. There is no form of examination or test and no fixed standard for determining to whom the title should be given.

"I feel strongly that the practice of giving certain barristers precedence over others in the courts by making them king's coussel is undesirable and out of harmony with the democratic standards that generally prevail in Canada."

HAMILTON CLAIMS DRURY BROKE FAITH

HAMILTON, July 28.—The Hamilton Hydro Commission is said to be dissatisfied with the change which Premier Drury has made in the personnel of the provincial hydro-electric power commission by appointing Fred R. Miller to succeed Hon. I. B. Lucas. Willoughby Ellis, chairman of the local hydro commission, said that the premier declared a month ago there was no intention of replacing Mr. Lucas, and that in the event of a change any name suggested by the Hamilton commission for the appointment would be considered.

Police Make Serious Allegations Against Three Border Residents.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, July 28.—Stationed at Brock and Sandwich streets, Sandwich, early today, to warn automobile drivers that a high tension power cable had been blown down, Patrolmen Fitzgerald and Renaud arrested Samuel Rochleau, former town councillor, for alleged violation of Ontario temperance act.

According to the officers Rochleau was driving an auto in which there were ten cases of imported liquor. A. H. McConkey of Walkerville and J. E. Kennedy of Petite Cote, both of whom are alleged to have carried automatic pistols, were riding in the car.

Rochleau will be charged with violating liquor laws by being in illegal possession of liquor, while McConkey and Kennedy will face a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Recent Robbery At Petite Cote May Be Cleared Up Soon.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, July 28.—Through the arrest of several suspects within the last few days, the police hope to clear up, within the next 24 hours the robbery of more than $17,000 from the Petite Cote branch of the Merchants Bank of Canada.

This fact the police would neither deny or confirm. Chief of Police J. P. Smith of Walkerville, who is devoting most of his time to running down the bandits, tonight told The Advertiser that "something would be doing Friday night.

RATE FOR CALL MONEY FALLS TO 3 1-2 PER CENT

NEW YORK, July 28.—The rate for call money or demand loans fell to 3½ per cent today on the stock exchange. This is the lowest quotation for such accommodations in several years and reflects not only the easier bank position, but the light demand for money, due to extreme dullness in the market for securities.

Time money rates held at 5½ per cent to 6 per cent for the short maturities, the lower rate applying only to high-grade collateral.

FOREST FIRES RAZE HAMLET

Residents Almost Trapped by Swift Advance of the Flames.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 28.—Sweeping down on the coast under the impetus of a fresh southwesterly breeze, a gigantic forest fire this evening wiped out New Haven, a hamlet of 500 persons, and for several hours menaced with destruction the Village of Neil's Harbor, about 60 miles north of Sydney.

Latest information indicates that New Haven is a solid mass of flames, but that the fire is dying down and Neil's Harbor is believed to be no longer in danger. Some 400 persons, reported in the early advices to have been trapped between the burning forest and the sea, and to be suffering intensely from the smoke, have all escaped in motor boats or aboard the revenue cutter, Gribb, which, with other vessels, started to their rescue immediately upon receipt of the news of the fire.

The loss of their homes wil be a serious blow to the people of New Haven, a hamlet made up of fishermen and their families.

SIX-MILE SWATH.

OXFORD, N.S., July 28.—Forest fires cutting a swath six miles in length and one mile wide, threatened the Town of Oxford today. Thunder showers this afternoon helped to check the sweep of the conflagration and gave some relief to scores of men who were fighting for the preservation of the town and cut timber along railway sidings. At Oxford and Oxford Junction tonight men are on guard over seven billion feet of lumber piled for shipment.

DESTROYED HOUSES.

FREDERICTON, N.B., July 28. — A forest fire today destroyed several houses at Nelson, on the Miromichi River, and $1,000,000 worth of sawn lumber at the Fraser Company's mill. For a time the whole plant was threatened.

RESERVOIR WAS DRY SO VILLAGE BURNED

MONTREAL, July 28.—Fire, breaking out in a bakery and spreading rapidly on account of the municipal waterworks reservoir being empty owing to the drought, yesterday destroyed a good part of the village of St. Tite De Capps, 50 miles from here on the north shore of the River St. Lawrence.

ANXIOUS TO HEAR ABOUT SCHEDULE

Railway Employees Will Have a Conference With President Lee.

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—Arrangements are being made by the brotherhoods of railwaymen in the city to meet President Lee of the B. of R. T. on Tuesday afternoon. The president will arrive in St. Thomas Monday, and will be given a public reception in the engineers' auditorium that evening. Mr. Lee comes from Montreal, where he has been conferring with the railway companies in regard to the revised schedule of wages and working situation, which will be effective from July 16. Mr. Lee leaves for New York Tuesday evening.

Ten Cars of Soldiers' Bodies.

Two special trains of Elks from Chicago to New York went over the M. C. R. this evening, and a special of ten cars of American soldiers' bodies from France passed through last night over the G. T. R.-Wabash from New York to Chicago.

Hit By Falling Bricks.

Several bricks falling from a chimney on Maple street hit Edward Taylor, 24 Edward street, and knocked him off the ladder on which he was working. Mr. Taylor's head and shoulders were badly bruised and cut. His injuries were attended to at the house of a neighbor.

CONSTABLES ARE WITHOUT PHONES

Bandits Need Not Have Worried To Cut the Wires.

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—So far as the recently revised list of rural constables has enhanced the security of the farming community in Elgin County the results may be figured out from raids and robberies happening this week in the north and south sections of the Township of Yarmouth.

The nearest protective officer to the community in which the Hill family reside is in St. Thomas, High Constable Hopkins.

The disconnecting of the rural phones in the Hill and Gilbert homes did not matter much, if they were to be depended upon to reach the ear of the high constable. He has not, nor neither has the county provided him with a phone.

The council some years ago was appealed to from the rural telephone companies to give them a right to establish a line in the city so that officers located in St. Thomas would be in touch with all parts of the county. But the request was turned down.

The revision made of the rural constables at the meeting a month ago of the local magistrates has not improved the situation as it now exists in the county.

The attorney-general made some sort of a provision months past for the better and more efficient protection of the rural communities by the proposed appointment of experienced officers. So far none of them has yet reached Elgin County. Neither will the system now governing and regulating the conduct of the rural constables be of much account so long as the relic of a century ago remains on the statutes.

AMERICANS CORNER THE FUR MARKETS

Buyers From Toronto Are Unable To Make Any Purchases.

TORONTO, July 28.—Fur buyers who have been in Northern Ontario and other parts of Canada to make purchases for local firms, state that the supply has been cleared up by buyers from the United States, who have been paying good prices. Even the supplies of wolf skins, which were plentiful at Edmonton and Winnipeg until recently, are said to have been bought up for the United States. It is believed that United States concerns stepped lively and got the supply of skins across the border in advance of the new tariff. Undressed skins, which were on the free list, now become dutiable under the new schedule. Local fur merchants predict that prices will stiffen up before the end of the year.

BURGESS MAY HAVE WORKED IN WELLAND

Fake Check Is Sent To Police by Bank Manager.

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—Welland is the last place to hear from with reference to the signed forgeries of Melvin Burgess now awaiting sentence in the county jail. The manager of the Royal Bank there inclosed one of the militia and defence brand issued for $37.55 and seventeen others of a similar kind had been cashed by the Merchants of that city. The check sent up is as usual payable to ex-Private J. T. Anderson, and is signed by G. A. Fletcher, captain of M. D. No. 2, Toronto. Burgess will again be given an examination as to which pair of the firm of forgers are working in the Welland district. Burgess has already confessed that pairs of young men sent out by the head centre, Toronto, are working in many sections of the province.

It was announced that the True Blue Orphanage at Picton would be moved to a suitable site in North Toronto. The corner-stone will be laid shortly, and the building will cost about $90,000.

DETROIT MANAGER IS BRUTALLY MURDERED

Police Believe Two Killings Were Done by Same Party.

DETROIT, July 28.—Oscar Abrahams, night manager for the Yale Taxicab Company, was murdered last night under circumstances almost exactly similar to those attending the murder six months ago of his fellow employee, Louis Rezik.

His body was found this morning, naked except for underwear, in a corn field near Humpkin Hook road, between the seven and eight-mile roads.

The hands were tied behind the victim's back, a tourniquet was about his neck, and his face was badly mutilated, as though beaten. In a ditch nearby in a pool of blood lay his cap and shoes.

The last time Abrahams was seen, was 10 o'clock last night. At that time he received a telephone call from a person who hired a taxi sent to Division and Stanotine streets, where it was said a passenger would be waiting.

When he left Abrahams had $500 and a watch on his person. This is missing.

Louis Rezik also was a taxicab driver for the Yale Company and also was lured to his death by a call which came at 10:03 p.m. The next morning his body was found in a parking strip in a deserted spot on the east side. Three bullet wounds in the head caused death. The police believe one man may have committed both murders, robbery apparently being the motive.

WILL NOT ACCEPT ENGINEER'S FINDING

City Solicitor To Take Appeal Proceedings Regarding Highways.

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—St. Thomas will not accept the findings of the provincial engineers as to the designation of twelve miles or so of the provincial highway as provincial suburban roads, for which the municipality is liable for 30 per cent of the cost of maintenance.

The city solicitor has been ordered to take appeal proceedings before the end of the month, and have it determined what is the actual financial responsibility of the corporation. Notice was given to the city in June of the designation of twelve miles of roadways in this district, and 30 days allowed to appeal.

The engineers reported that 4½ miles of the St. George street road to London, and 7½ miles of the Talbot road from this city east would be the suburban limits. The designated roads, as expressed by a member of the city council, are apparently ordered to be maintained by a government of Farmers for the especial benefit of the agriculturalists.

NEW POWER LINE TO SERVE TECUMSEH

WINDSOR, July 28.—Construction of a hydro power line to Tecumseh on the Tecumseh road, supplying farmers with light and power en route was outlined at a meeting of farmers at Pillette Corners last night. E. R. Lawlor, engineer for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, was the principal speaker, assisted by M. J. McHenry, manager of the Walkerville Hydro, and by D. B. McColl, the assistant manager.

Arrangements for building the line have practically been completed. The meeting, with residents of Pillette Corners and the vicinity last night was to explain to them the plans of the hydro-electric, and to encourage them to use the power.

Construction of the line from Walkerville will be commenced before the end of the summer, and will be completed in time to give service this autumn. It will form a loop with the line which goes to Tecumseh via Riverside drive, and will serve approximately 150 customers.

BUCKET BRIGADE SAVED PEARCE SUMMER HOME

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—A bucket brigade made up of 25 bathers saved the summer cottage of A. W. Pierce at Port Bruce. The woodwork of the kitchen caught fire from an oil stove, but was gotten under control by the strenuous efforts of the couple of dozen male and female nymphs. The damage was nominal.

SAVED 22 FROM DROWNING.

HALIFAX, N. S., July 28.—Responding to the screams for help from the women passengers of a sinking motorboat the Halifax-Dartmouth ferry boat Chebucto rescued 22 persons from drowning in Halifax Harbor tonight.

RATEPAYERS TO TAKE VOTE ON STORM SEWERS

Board of Works Will Secure Estimates As Soon As Possible.

ST. THOMAS, July 28.—The board of works will submit a bylaw to the people to pass on an amount sufficient to construct a system of storm sewers throughout the city.

The resolution was passed by the board tonight, instructing the engineer to have an estimate prepared of the cost of a storm sewer, and that a bylaw be given the ratepayers at an early date to raise the required amount of its cost.

The unexpected direction of the board was influenced by a big deputation from the property owners on Wellington street between Ross and Lydia streets, who complained to the board of the overflow of water from the sewer into their cellars. Although there is a storm sewer on that part of the street its outlet is apparently not sufficient to meet the flowage, and the water backs up in the basements.

White Street Sewer.

Representatives from the separate school board headed by John Farrell asked for details of the proposed construction of a sewer on White street, and as to the liability of the school trustees. The engineer explained that the trustees were liable for 160 feet, the city assuming the remainder with Messrs. Griffin and Green. The cost to the trustees would be about $35 a year for 10 years.

Basements Flooded.

In response to a request made by City Engineer Miller to property owners who suffered from flooded cellars during the recent rainstorm about 50 ratepayers signed an acknowledgment that their basements had an overflow of water and did considerable damage. Several deputations were present, demanding relief from overflow sewers, and they were told the only remedy was a storm sewer, and it depended on the people to agree towards financing the proposition.

A sanitary sewer was petitioned for on Regent street between Devonshire Place and West avenue and allowed.

L. B. Mattis was given permission to erect and maintain a gasoline pipe over the sidewalk on Owaissa street.

The petition for a sanitary sewer on Centre between Stanley and Williams streets was granted.

E. A. Smith wrote and asked the board to pay Mrs. Hanley for cleaning the mud and filth out of her cellar at 10 Wawa street. Filed.

LEAMINGTON, July 28.—The members of the Lions Club of Windsor were joined at Seacliffe Park here this afternoon by several of the Chatham Lions, and a most enjoyable picnic was held. A splendid program of sports, including many water events, featured the afternoon.

Great interest is being taken in the Chautauqua course that is being held in a huge tent on the public school grounds this week. For several years these concerts and lectures have been given in Leamington, and each year the interest in them becomes greater. The first day's concert this year was one of the best ever held here. The Zedeler symphonic quintet gave high-class music both afternoon and evening—music that one has seldom an opportunity to hear in small towns. In the evening the lecture on "Family Remedies" by Herbert Leon Cope was most amusing.

LADYSMITH WINS FIRST.

WINNIPEG, July 28.—The Ladysmith soccer team, champions of British Columbia, this evening defeated the Regina Post eleven of Saskatchewan, by two goals to none in the first of a two-game series in the semi-final of the Connaught cup.

HARWICH OLD BOYS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

BLENHEIM, July 28.—The following officers were elected yesterday at the Old Boys of Blenheim and Harwich picnic, held at Government Park on the site of Log-Cabin Inn, which has been under the control of the old boys for some time: President, James McVittie; vice-president, Wm. T. Pegg; secretary, W. J. Baird, with Geo. Taylor, assistant; treasurer, W. R. Fellows, Jr.; finance committee, W. F. Fellows, E. G. Thompson and O. F. Anderson; committee to appoint standing committees, president, vice-president and H. Arnold.

The Old Boys went down to the park by auto, and about 100 sat down to dinner and enjoyed a great time together. After the dinner and general business had been disposed of, among other things discussing the future of the log cabin, the time was spent in games, sight-seeing about the park and bathing.

SPRINGBANK PICNICS

KING ST. PRESBYTERIAN CHOIR.

The members and friends of King Street Presbyterian Church choir held a very enjoyable outing in Springbank Park Wednesday afternoon. A shower of rain at the outset did not in any way dampen the enthusiasm of the party.

An excellent tea was provided by the ladies and after the good things had been disposed of an interesting and pleasing event took place around the tea table, when three presentations were made. Two lady members of the choir, Miss Mowat and Miss Bradley, were made the recipients of handsome umbrellas, while Mr. Roberts, the popular organist, was also presented with an umbrella.

Mr. Ames, president of the choir, in a neat little speech, referred to the valuable services rendered by Miss Mowat, Miss Bradley and Mr. Roberts, and the gifts were presented by Miss Ella Moote.

Rev. W. R. McIntosh, the minister, commented on the enthusiasm displayed by the choir during the past year. The leader, Mr. Roberts, replied on behalf of the ladies and himself.

A program of sports was engaged in, and the various members displayed a very high degree of efficiency in each of the events, all of which were keenly contested. The enthusiasm and harmony shown by all augurs well for the success of the choir when it resumes work after a vacation which will extend during the month of August.

MEETING POSTPONED.—The meeting of the Humane Society, which was to have been held Thursday evening, was postponed until a later date.

THEATRES

AT LOEW'S.

As a comedian of no little adaptability Buster Keaton equals all his previous efforts in "The Saphead," appearing at Loew's the last half of this week.

Although just a trifle tedious in developing, the plot pleasantly unwinds itself with the Saphead and his lover on top. Everything centers mostly about the many millions in the possession of the "Sap's" father, the Wall street plutocrat, and high finance wizard. There is also a beautiful daughter in the story, who has unknowingly married the villian. The wickedness of the latter seems more pronounced than the average, as cool and calculating he boldly attempts to defraud his own father-in-law. The Saphead himself is out of the usual run of heroes and does little more than the usual leading man would be expected to do. However "All's well that ends well." Altogether the picture is creditable and evidently pleases the patrons.

Leading the vaudeville is the De Mont pair, singers, dancers and conversationalists with a fairly good line of repartee well proportioned with a few dancing turns. They were well received as was Nita Johnson, singer and pianist. Eldridge, Barlow and Eldridge, the village constable and his two high kickers are a fitting completion on the offering. The former goes on to show, to the delight of his hearers that "they don't hang tin stars on country officers for nothing."

A laughable Sunshine Comedy and the weekly news budget rounds out the bill nicely.

AT THE ALLEN.

"Whispers," a feature dramatic film showing at the Allen Theatre the latter part of this week, in addition to decidedly clever treatment culminating in a delightful and reasonable denouement, is rich in human interest and sympathetic appeal. Even the scheming rich aunt in the story is a human sort of woman, quite a different and more wholesome character than the usual impoverished but blue-blooded dowager type in the New York plays produced in Los Angeles. The parasite scandal hound and the evil-purposed editor of the scandal sheet are fairly strong characters, while the reporter hero is a perfectly natural type. Even the villain decently refrains from overdoing his part. Few pictures released within the year have shown scenes in such a charmingly picturesque environment as Rockville, where the heroine's father publishes a weekly newspaper. Just why more pictures like "Whispers" are not produced is hard to understand. There are some picture-goers who enjoy a reasonably true-to-life picture such as this one, and surely they are entitled to consideration oftener than once in a blue moon.

"The Jewel of Sita," an episode in the Hope Diamond serial, is rich in the coloring and atmosphere of India, and shows some graphic scenes where a French adventurer, infatuated with a native maiden, recklessly dares to enter a Brahmin temple forbidden to unbelievers.

"Movie Mad" is unquestionably one of the best Christie comedies produced in a long time and clever Christie comedies are not so few or far between at that. This one ought to prove wholesome medicine for a lot of very young persons who take the movies and movie actors a bit too seriously at times.

ALLEGE CONTRACT WAS AWARDED TO U. S. FIRM

HAMILTON, July 28.—Awarding of the contract for the erection of the new unit of the Technical School to W. E. Wood Construction Company of Windsor will bring a protest from the local contractors, it was declared tonight. The complaint is that while the successful tenderers maintain an office in Windsor, the company is an out-and-out American one, and that it is not fair to local contractors to award a contract of such magnitude to a concern which does not contribute to the revenue of the country.

The tender of the W. E. Wood Construction Company was approximately $30,000 less than the next lowest bid, that of a Toronto company.

The boys dispersed and in the evening Fred Abbot, a resident of the neighborhood, noticing the coat, investigated and came upon the body. No inquest will be held. BLENHEIM DEFEATS DRESDEN NINE 7--1

BLENHEIM, July 28.—The most outstanding feature of the ball game here today was Will Riseborough's home run and scoring one other ahead of him thus winning another necktie from Constable Lowes. In the first game with Dresden in the second half of the Kent County League Series, Blenheim baseball team in a snappy game came out victors by a score of 7 to 1 on the home diamond yesterday afternoon.

Goldy Gray, Dresden pitcher, stood before the Blenheim batters for the first time, and while he pitched for the most part a splendid game, Blenheim batters found him for twelve lusty hits and went down before him in seven strike outs and got three bases on balls. Harry Gray, Blenheim's pitcher, pitched A1 ball holding Dresden to five single hits and got from them ten strike outs and allowed one base on balls. Several times he worked himself out of a most difficult position and had the best of support.

Blenheim's hard hitters were Wm. Riseborough, who made a home run with two on bases, Ken Rumble, a three bagger and two bagger, H. Riseborough, two two baggers, Dent, a two bagger, Crosby and Dent, each two hits in twice to bat. H. Riseborough got three hits in four times to bat. But for a wild throw of the catcher, following a balk by the pitcher with a man on second, who scored as a result, the game would have been a shut-out by Blenheim. Some nice pegging was done on bases in which the Dresden pitcher showed up well.

Score by innings:

Blenheim	000 520 00x—7
Dresden	001 000 000—1

Batteries: Harry Gray and Rumble; Goldy Grad and McFadden.

U. S. NOT RIVAL OF THE LEAGUE

Harding Shows No Desire To Create Separate Pact by Arms Parley.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—In inviting the principal allied and associated nations to a disarmament and far eastern conference in Washington next November, President Harding has not undertaken to set up a rival to the League of Nations, as some European statesmen have suspected.

It is true, nevertheless, that the plan for the Washington parley embraces virtually all that the president has in mind at the present time looking to an association of the United States with the nations of the world.

Association is Preferred.

Mr. Harding never has thought of organizing a competitor of the League of Nations. It was neither set forth in these dispatches, his idea has been for an association with the nations of the world instead of an association of nations. An association of nations would have to be organized under some sort of covenant of Versailles.

To place the United States in association with the other nations for specific purposes from time to time as occasion arises for that association is Mr. Harding's theory of the proper international role for the United States.

It is no part of the president's ambition to overthrow the existing League of Nations. It was neither in his heart nor his mind to aim a blow at the league when he sent out the first "feelers" for the disarmament conference. It is the president's view that the United States has no interest in the league. If the other nations of the world find comfort and convenience in it, the United States would not deprive them of one whit of solace or fancied security.

Up to Major Powers.

President Harding's idea of the way to get a thing done is to call together the persons capable of doing it and set them to their task. He believes that if the great powers invited to the Washington conference can agree upon terms of disarmament the rest of the world will quickly fall into line.

If these principal powers cannot agree upon satisfactory terms then the presence of all the other nations of the world at the conference could not change the result.

The call for the conference on disarmament was not the outgrowth of a sudden impulse by Mr. Harding nor was it superinduced by the Borah amendment to the naval bill requesting a conference with Great Britain and Japan.

President Harding has had in mind ever since the election the plan he has now placed in operation. He was rather annoyed that the matter should have come into controversy in the Senate, and it was because of his own plans on the subject that he suggested to the senators that they might well leave the matter in the hands of the executive.

Not a New Idea.

The plans the president was working out called for a conference of wider scope than the one contemplated by Senator Borah.

President Harding specifically outlined his own plans in his inaugural address a little more than four months ago. Washington, it must be admitted, has been slow in appreciating the true significance of what the chief executive then said. It was then that he made clear his idea of associating the United States with the other nations rather than going into an association of nations as a fixed and continuing organization. And the first fixed purpose of getting together with the other nations was to bring about disarmament. The president's inaugural words make interesting reading now in the light of subsequent events. The president has just turned his back for the third and last time on the League of Nations, and then he said:

"I am sure our own people will not misunderstand nor will the world misconstrue. We have no thought to impede the paths to closer relationship. We want to do our part in making offensive warfare so hateful that governments and peoples who resort to it must prove the righteousness of their cause or stand as outlaws before the bar of civilization.

Declares United States Ready.

"We are ready to associate ourselves with the nations of the world, great and small, for conference, for counsel, to seek the expressed views of world opinion, to recommend a way to approximate disarmament and relieve the crushing burdens of military and naval establishments.

"In expressing aspirations, in seeking practical plans, in translating humanity's new concept of righteousness and justice and its hatred of war into recommended action, we are ready most heartily to unite but every commitment must be made in the exercise of our national sovereignty."

President Harding has wanted the world to understand that the United States is ready and willing to take up its share of the legitimate burdens of civilization and is willing to consult with the other nations at any time a consultation is deemed necessary. He has wanted the world to know that the United States does not stand aloof and is not selfish. In fact he believes the unselfishness of the United States is a thing proved.

The president has emphasized time and time again that the United States would be willing to associate with the other nations for counsel. Despite these many statements there still exists the notion that he has had in mind the creation of an association of nations in opposition to the League of Nations, using the term association merely as a synonym for league. Europe during the last week has been trying to figure out if the disarmament conference was to be the beginning of this rival organization and some of the staunchest supporters of the league have looked somewhat askance at the proposition.

The disarmament conference is just what it purports to be and nothing else. It may result in a world understanding, it is true, but it will be an understanding that the United States fully realizes her paramount position in the world and has demonstrated her willingness to associate with the other nations for the advancement of the aspirations of humanity.

VETERANS TO PLAY IN CLEVELAND GAME

Cleveland, July 29.—One of the greatest gatherings of veteran baseball celebrities in the history of the dia- mond was scheduled here today for a game in which the old-timers were to meet a team of veteran sand-lotters as a feature of the 125th anniversary of Cleveland. It will be the first time in years that several of the aged heroes have appeared in a contest.

Nap Lajoie, the former second base- man, is managing the old-timers and will play his former position. Newball, hero of the first unassisted triple play in the major leagues, will be at short. Bill Bradley, who held the major league record of a home run a day for four consecutive days, until "Babe" Ruth broke it a few weeks ago, will take care of third base, and Cy Young, the only pitcher who ever won five hundred games, was one of those to occupy the mound.

Larry Twitchell, who once made six hits in six times at bat, was assigned to right field. Alternating with him will be "Bunk" Congalton. Terry Tur- ner will alternate with Bradley at third, and Heine Berger, Earl Moore and Frank Knauss will take turns in the pitchers' box.

Others in the line-up are: Jesse Bur- kett and Elmer Flick, left field; Charlie Hickman and Nick Altrock, first base; Harry Bay and Ollie Pickering, center field, and Bobby Woods, Fred Gatch and Paddy Livingston, catchers.

THE LAKE OF BAYS.

This lake of a thousand bays, reached through Huntsville, 145 miles north of Toronto, is one of the scenic gems of the Dominion of Canada. It has a shore- line indented in such a manner that it affords constant delights and surprises. On sites overlooking these bays have been erected charming cottage homes with, here and there, hotels that are in keeping with their setting of wistful waters and brooding woods. To spend a summer vacation here is to be near to nature in her most fascinating mood. An entire season may be spent in ex- ploring the Lake of Bays and her sis- ter lakes, and you may choose for your excursions, according to personal desire, canoe, sailing craft, motor-boat or steamer. There is also the widest choice of vacation pastimes—bathing, golfing, fishing, boating, bowling, tennis, etc. For illustrated descriptive literature, apply to any Grand Trunk Ticket Agent, or C. E. MUNICIPAL PROBLEMS DISCUSSED BY UNION

Many Reforms Traceable To Organization, Says President Roberts.

Ottawa, July 28.—(By Canadian Press).—A heavy day's work was ac- complished by delegates to the Union of Municipalities convention here today. Besides listening to the benefits of pro- portional representation as outlined by delegates from Winnipeg, where the system has been tried out, both in civic and provincial elections, the convention heard the presidential address from Ar- thur Roberts, K.C., of Bridgewater, N. S., a plea for good roads by A. W. Campbell, federal authority on high- ways, and a talk on the present status of the public service by C. R. Wood- ruff, president of the civic service com- mission in Philadelphia.

Many Reforms Made.

President Roberts claimed that largely through the work of the union, including the education of public opinion, reforms had been made and a better atmosphere created, so that there was not the same urgency in that part of their work. But careful watching and organized defence were still necessary in connection with proposed legislation as well as before the offshoots of Parliament in the shape of boards, commissions and otherwise. The recent successful fight of the union against increased telephone rates was cited as proof that the union as a fight- ing organization was necessary.

A Clearing House.

The union had also proved a clearing house for municipal experience and ideas. A still more important work it had before it was to constitute itself a medium for the cultivation and ex- pression of the high ideals of Canadian citizenship.

The president intimated that a per- manent whole time secretary with of- fice equipment was needed and system- atic propaganda. There was consid- erable apathy and indifference among municipalities as to their aims as a union.

CLOUDBURST WRECKS WYOMING VILLAGE

Two Drowned When Trapped in Canyon by the Flood.

Omaha, Neb., July 28. — Two persons were drowned in a cloudburst that prac- tically wiped out Beulah, Wyo., a vil- lage fourteen miles west of Spearfish, South Dakota, early today, according to advices reaching Omaha this evening.

The known dead are: Mrs. William Bower, Missouri Valley, Iowa, and John Bower, her grandson, Chadron, Neb. The two were members of a tourist party which had camped for the night in a canyon near the village.

A relief train has left Chadron. It will be several days before wire com- munication can be re-established, it is reported. Stragglers entering Spearfish told of destruction by flood waters which wiped out practically the entire village, consisting of about one hun- dred inhabitants. Loss in live stock on ranches along the Spearfish canyon will be great, reports stated.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

LAMB SKINS CHEAPER; OATS AGAIN ADVANCE

New Potato Crop Poor—Price of Old Spuds Firm.

Oats were the only feature that showed a change in price on the local market on Friday, advancing from $1 70 and $1 75 to $1 70 and $1 80 per cwt, and to 58c and 61c per bushel.

Old potatoes remain firm at $1 50 a bag wholesale and $1 75 retail. Farmers in districts west and north of London claim there is no sale for potatoes now, and they are using the old crop for fodder. The new crop in districts sur- rounding London is reported as very poor this year, and this accounts for the high prices on old stock.

The butter and egg market remains unchanged ,although there is not such a great demand for eggs as during the latter part of last and the beginning of this week.

Two loads of straw at $10, one load of new wheat at $1 25 per cwt, and several loads of hay at $15 to $18 were sold on the market this morning, but these prices are unchanged from last week's quotations.

The prices of hides remain the same, with the exception of lamb skins, which are quoted at 10c and 15c, a reduction from 15c and 20c. There is practically no sale for horse hides.

Wool is quoted at 6c to 7c per lb for coarse, 9c to 10c for medium, and 12c to 13c for fine. These prices are for unwashed wool.

EMBARGO INSTITUTED ON ENTIRELY FALSE CLAIM, SAID TOLMIE

Minister of Agriculture Asked British To Remove Aspersion On Cattle.

Ottawa, July 28.—"I think we have shown them in a most conclusive man- ner that there never has been and is not likely to be for many years any disease among Canadian cattle," was how Dr. S. E. Tolmie, federal minister of agri- culture, expressed himself to the Cana- dian Press tonight on his return from England, whither he went at the in- stance of the Canadian Government to testify before the British commission which recently heard evidence in regard to the question of removing the embargo on Canadian cattle going into England.

"It is impossible to make any state- ment at the present time as to the prob- able outcome of the work of the Lord Finlay commission," was all that Dr. Tolmie could say when asked if he thought his mission to the old coutnry would be successful.

Dr. Tolmie said he had made it per- fectly clear that the British embargo against Caandian cattle had been insti- tuted on an entirely false claim. The embargo was placed on the assumption that pleuro-pneumonia existed among Canadian cattle some thirty-seven years ago. After most thorough investigations this charge had been completely explod- ed. It rested with the British authori- ties as a matter of honor to take away this aspersion made against Canadian cattle. If the British authorities wanted to exclude Canadian cattle, all well and good; that was entirely their own busi- ness. But, if such a course was to be adopted, let it be made plain that it was not because of any taint of disease.

BIG DECLINE IN AMERICAN EXPORTS

Washington, D. C., July 29.—United States exports to Europe fell off nearly $1,500,000,000 while those to South America increased more than thirty mil- lion dollars during the fiscal year end- ing June 30 last, as compared with the previous year, commerce department figures disclosed today. In June there was a sharp decline in both directions compared to the same month a year ago.

MILLIONS OF POUNDS OF BUTTER NOW IN STORAGE

Ottawa, July 29.—Statistics issued today show that the butter in storage in Canada now amounts to 10,213,320 pounds of creamery and 525,647 pounds of dairy. Comparative figures show this to be an increase of 26.73 per cent in the case of creamery butter and 41.13 per cent in the case of dairy butter over the amounts held in storage on the corre- sponding date last year.

Oleomargarine stocks have decreased to 171,043 pounds, a decrease of 68.23 per cent from last year and 34.33 per cent from last month.

Cheese in storage amounts to 4,725,660 pounds, an in- crease of 70.26 per cent over last month, but a decrease of 47.02 per cent from last year.

Eggs in cold storage total 9,544,908 dozen; other than cold storage, 836,999 dozen, and frozen eggs, 776,822 pounds.

Pork stocks show a decrease in fresh frozen of 24.38 per cent from last month, and an increase of 2.30 per cent from last year. Decreases both as compared with last month and a year ago are shown in fresh, unfrozen, dry salted and sweet pickled. Fresh frozen beef has decreased 24.67 per cent from last month, but shows an increase of 23.48 per cent over last year.

Mutton and lamb stocks show a decrease over last month, but an increase over last year.

REVOLT IN CHINESE PROVINCES IS FEARED

Hunan Troops Invade Hupeh District.

Peking, July 29.—Fear of a general uprising along the Yangste-Kiang River is felt here as a result of hostili- ties between the provinces of Hunan and Hupeh, the former under control of the Canton or Southern Chinese Gov- ernment and the latter under jurisdic- tion of the Peking or duly constituted Chinese Government.

Troops from Hunan have invaded Hupeh with the evident intention of ousting Wang Chan-Yuen, inspecting commissioner of the two provinces, whose authority is not recognized by Hunan. Wang Chan-Yuen is one of the three "war lords" who met recently at Tien Tsin to impose their will upon the Peking Government, causing a re- organization of the cabinet.

URGED TO CO-OPERATE.

Canton, July 29.—The Constitutionalist Government here has issued instructions to the provinces of Hunan, Sze-Chuen, Kwan-Tung, Yunnan and Kwei-Chow to co-operate in efforts seeking to abolish the military domination of the Yangste-Kiang River territory by forces operating under the Peking Government.

BRITISH PLEASED AT JAPANESE ATTITUDE

Newspapers Consider Decision One of Vital Importance.

London, July 29.—Hearty approval is expressed by several London newspap- ers this morning over the Japanese Government's decision to accept Presi- dent Harding's invitation to discuss limitation of armaments and the Far Eastern question. The Times, in a lengthy editorial, says: "Japan's best friends knew that she would accept the invitation, but the fact that her ac- ceptance now is actually on record is a relief to all who realize the magni- tude of the issues with which the con- ference will be confronted."

Speaking of the constant temptation "politicians with narrow motives" will find to drag subsidiary questions before the conference "in order to make capital for themselves," the Times says, every precaution must be taken to guard against such proceedings in Washing- ton.

"From this viewpoint, Japan's desire to limit the scope of the agenda is to be approved," the newspaper declares.

The Daily Telegraph says that an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan that such a conference is desirable, is the best news which has gladdened the world since the guns ceased firing in Europe and it looks as though before long we shall not need to contemplate with misgiv- ings activities in the shipyards of the United States and Japan."

The Daily Mail says if the conference succeeds in limiting the great naval programs now in progress, it will ren- der a great service to all concerned, not the least of which will be to the Japanese people, on whom the enor- mous cost of armaments is beginning to weigh heavily.

MONTREAL VETERANS FLAY GOVERNMENT

Meeting of Returned Soldiers On City Corner.

Montreal, July 29.—Vigorous criticism of the Federal Government was voiced at an improvised meeting of returned soldiers here last night at the corner of St. Catharines street and City Hall avenue. Before the orators had finished the crowd of some 800 persons hedged about, but the whole affair passed in a very orderly manner, a few police- men dispersing the crowd after the last man had spoken.

WILL SEND UNION MINERS INTO FIELD UNTIL JAILS FILLED

Charleston, W. Va., July 29.—One hundred members of the United Mine Workers of America from the Cabin Creek and Paint Creek fields will start for Mingo County, according to C. F. Keeney, president of District No. 17. Mother Jones, labor organizer, is ex- pected to arrive here tonight, Keeney said, and also will leave for the Mingo fields immediately.

Decision to send the union men into the district which is under martial law was made, the miners' president said, after C. H. Workman, an organizer, was reported arrested in Mingo recently.

Keeney stated that if the organizers were arrested he would send more men into the district until every jail was filled.

POVERTY LEVELS GERMAN STUDENTS

Some Become Shoemakers and Bookbinders While Pursuing Studies.

Berlin, July 28.—German students held their second national convention at Erlangen, where they divided their time between discussing nationalism and the prospects of making a living. Just after the armistice the universities were hothouses of liberalism, which, however, nearly died as a result of the treaty of Versailles. Their professors attributed German poverty and disorganization to the Allies rather than placing the responsibility on the proper shoulders. Despite the poverty which reduced the monthly income of German students to $6, they remained mostly conservative.

The delegates to the Erlangen convention made violent political speeches. The real problem, however, was meeting the hard times. Would the students sacrifice patriotism sufficiently to accept relief from enemy countries? One zealot induced the students of Madeburg to abstain from making an appeal. When they left, however, the university unanimously appealed to the Quaker relief organization.

Although caste and fraternity lines are sharply drawn in German universities, poverty is now forcing the students to adopt more of a community life. They are forming co-operative lunch rooms, sanitariums and employment agencies. Three thousand cases of consumption show the effects of bad nourishment among them. The students have become shoemakers and bookbinders, and are working part time at various trades.

Many of the students are learning a trade while pursuing their studies, with the hope of earning a living in the outside world where learning is now the cheapest commodity and inducements to scholars most limited. There are 2,500 unemployed teachers in Germany, and half of those with positions are receiving less than living wages. The students came to the convention in old clothes, and many wore patched uniforms, showing how the present poverty has forced them into admitting an equality which they have always resisted.

After the Erlangen convention, Gen. Ludendorff, in addressing the municipal students, deplored the tendencies evinced at the convention. "We must train the men of Germany," he said, adding that if the students failed there was small hope for the nation. After the war veterans who are now studying have been graduated the quality of the German students would be greatly lowered, he added, and left no doubt that he looked pessimistically into the future.

HYDRO AND TORONTO WANT McKENZIE POWER

TORONTO, July 28.—The provincial hydro-electric power commission has not yet received a reply from the MacKenzie interests to the commission's letter requesting assurance of a continued supply of power to operate the Toronto Street Railway. In the event of the deal for the purchase of the MacKenzie power and radial properties falling through, the commission and the city are anxious to use MacKenzie power in operating the Toronto cars after September 1, until they can get the system linked up with hydro power. The cost of making the connection will be at least a million dollars and it could not be done under a month even working at high pressure, and less than five weeks now remain before the street car system is turned back to the city.

WINDSOR MUST PAY $40,875 TO COUNTY

TORONTO, July 28.—Judgment in favor of the County of Essex against the City of Windsor for $40,875.80 with interest, has been pronounced by Mr. Justice Kelly. The amount claimed as the city's share in expenditure on a road system under the highways act, for the years 1916, 1917 and 1918, including also the estimated expenditure for 1919.

The member for South Essex has informed his constituents that he will retire from political life at the next general election.

THE LOVE BIRDS

CHIEF KABONGO'S COUP MAY END CRISIS IN THE CONGO

Death of Mwata Yamvo, Fourteenth of His Line, Stirs Dusky Tribes To Vast Unrest.

London, July 28.—Who will be king of the Congo? Who will gain the beaded crown and dusky harem of the illustrious Mwata Yamvo, king of the Congo peoples, the fourteenth of his dynasty? Little else has been talked of in the cannibal villages of the Congo bush since that eventful day when the news of the great king's death came booming mournfully through the jungle, beaten out in code signals on the native drum telegraph from hill top to hill top and from tribe to tribe just as the news of Livingstone's approach was heralded nearly half a century ago by these same folk and as other jungle happenings have been announced since time immemorial.

Kabongo, paramount chieftain of the Luba cannibals to the eastward, is said to be gathering his black hordes about him for a sweep over the domain of the dead monarch to make himself king over the whole Congo. The black warriors of the bush where the white man is still but little known are worried now that the fourteenth Prince of Death, which is the meaning of Mwata Yamvo, has been gathered to the abode of happy kings presided over by the great god Nigassi, whose voice is the thunder of the rainy season.

Secret Ambition to Rule.

The present state of uncertainty as to the royal succession in the Congo was not unforeseen by the wily black nobles of the bush. Many a cunning subchief has secretly cherished the ambition to be lord over all of the black men from Lake Tanganyika to the boundaries of Loanda, and has pictured himself attired in the copious robes and beaded crown of the paramount chief.

The capital, which is the seat of native Congo Government is called Musumba on the map, but in Central Africa it goes under the impressive name of Musumba-wa-Mwata-Yamvo—City of the Prince of Death. There Mwata Yamvo XIV. lived and reigned for more than eighteen years. It is a large native town with quite a metropolitan atmosphere, all things considered, described by David Livingstone in his famous memoirs as being the most progressive in all Africa.

Mwata Yamvo came of a long line of mighty chiefs. In former days the Alunda peoples were the conquering race of Central Africa. They swept over the Congo in the twelfth century, historians say, and their kings became suzerain over all the tribes of the great inland basin of the Lualaba or Upper Congo River, where also live the Luba peoples, now governed by Kabongo.

The Mwata Yamvo dynasty was founded by one of the warrior chiefs of the Alunda peoples during this era of conquest. He led his warriors far and wide, extending his territory and levying tribute from all the peoples as far as the sea coast in what is now the Congo Francais. Then he established his domain along organized lines. He made one of his own sons—he had many by his numerous wives—prince over each of the provinces. They were his governors, and he administered the central government with Spartan severity. Under him the Alunda, or Lunda, people became great and prosperous. They owned herds of cattle, goats and chickens, and sold many slaves to the Arabs of the far north. Later the white slaving vessels appeared on the coast, and the Lunda people grew even richer with the white man's trade.

Succeeding Mwata Yamvos established their sons as governors as had Mwata Yamvo I, and many dynastic troubles arose. There were too many descendants of Mwata Yamvo. Of a score of sons in each generation only one could succeed to the throne, and the number of disgruntled cousins who had to take posts as obscure subchiefs multiplied. An African War of the Roses has been in progress for more than a century. It became quite the custom for a pretender to assassinate the reigning monarch, usurp the power and force his authority on the court and country with a few hundred fearless warriors armed with assegais and poisoned arrows.

In the opinion of the people it was all right for a descendant of Mwata Yamvo I to murder the one in power. The only disgrace that could befall the nation was some outside prince to get the power. None ever did.

Outsider Looms at Last.

But now it seems that Kabongo will be the dreaded outsider stepping in. The last Mwata Yamvo was not warlike. He was lazy. He liked the white man's whiskey and he preferred to sell the services of his thousands of subjects to the white men as carriers of rubber. The spirit of Mwata Yamvo I, who required the sacrifice of many human lives merely for his own grandeur, was no longer present with the people as in the brave days of old. Then the great chief himself, his six foot body clad entirely in feathers, marched at the head of his warriors into strange lands to conquer them. When Mwata Yamvo I wished to rise from his royal feast when on the march a warrior prostrated himself on either side of him and the king would thrust a spear through the body of each, and pull himself up nimbly by the shafts as the warriors writhed in their death agonies.

Mwata Yamvo XIV became sick a month too soon or there might be no dynastic disturbances in his domain today. The Methodists were sending a white doctor and equipment for an entire hospital to the mission station near Musumba. It is not known whether or not it was the "D. T.'s" which carried off the Prince of Death or not, but the white man's medicine would probably have saved the old king for another few years of periodic jags, at least so thinks Dr. Piper, who is building his hospital there now.

Kabongo, as paramount chieftain of the Luba cannibals, rules over a region once subject to the Mwata Yamvos. A crafty subchief, he managed to organize a hysteria for freedom from the tyrannies of the Alunda kings and engineered a secession movement with himself as dictator. By playing one powerful chief against another, he has kept the balance of power and ruled, like a feudal monarch of medieval Europe, on the crust of a figurative volcano, which, however, has never erupted. Now, with the possibilities of conquest recalling the days of the first migration of Bantu peoples a thousand years ago, the Luba chiefs may well support Kabongo in the effort to extend their own sway westward.

Royal Bath the Only One.

Kabongo has a harem as large as that of Mwata Yamvo and a palace of beautifully woven basket work, a bath and a garden of gods, all inclosed in a compound with an elaborately woven reed wall about it. The royal bath is a hole in the ground, but it is the only one used for the purpose in all the Luba territory. (And the rivers are infested with crocodiles!) His majesty gets down in the hole, and servants throw buckets of water at him from every direction at once. Then he climbs out with mud sticking to him and pronounces the ceremony a complete success, which it is not, according to the white man's standards.

A clay crocodile and some white pigeons are Kabongo's principal deities, and these he worships fitfully, mostly for political reasons.

Kabongo's cunning has made him the logical usurper of the throne of Mwata Yamvo in the minds of many subchiefs of the Congo. He always manages to turn up on top when seemingly about to lose out.

Once a Belgian official, traveling through his realm, lost eighteen carriers from his caravan in a single night, and cannibalistic feasts were held in the neighboring villages next night. The Belgian held Kabongo responsible, and it seemed as though the Luba chieftain, who had very dramatically reformed himself and tribe from active cannibalism a few years before, was about to suffer the consequences of the crime.

Just then a Methodist missionary came with a permit to establish a station at Kabongo's capital. Kabongo saw a way out of his dilemma. He sent his warriors down to the villages where the cannibal feasts had been held, and the festivities came to an abrupt end. His men stormed the stockades and brought the men in chains to Kabongo. With a great show of authority Kabongo gave these men orders to build a great temple for the white man's God, and the cannibal branch of the Methodist Episcopal Church came into being, with the Rev. Roger S. Guptill, U. S. A., as pastor, and a great crowd of curious, kinky headed cannibals as the potential congregation.

At Musumba-wa-Mwata Yamvo there will be a great palaver of chief and subchiefs. Every black potentate of the Congo will come with the secret hope of being chosen to succeed his great ancestor, Mwata Yamvo I. Much eloquence will be wasted on the air, and politics not much removed in method or motive from those of 1920 at Chicago and San Francisco will be in evidence. The heir apparent, favorite son of Mwata Yamvo XIV, will be present, bedecked in royal robes from his father's variegated wardrobe and a short native sword at his side.

A "smelling out" ceremony will be held in which the witch doctors will try to determine who caused the death of the king by witchcraft. If they finally accuse any one the accused, who is usually the enemy of some one in power, must prove his innocence by drinking a cup of the poisonous sassswood.

A genealogical court of inquiry will be held, and the various twigs and branches of the royal family tree will be discussed to the confusion of everybody. But somebody will be chosen as the fifteenth Prince of Death. Then the new king will have to spend a year's income to provide native liquor for the convention, and the whole aggregation of townspeople for a memorable drinking bout to last nearly a month.

But if old Kabongo of the Lubas appears at the strategic time with a band of picked warriors the election will have a few more thrills than otherwise. Wily sub-chiefs have told him he is the man, and excessive modesty is not one of Kabongo's shortcomings. At any rate, the new Mwata Yamvo will wear the crown upon the traditionally uneasy head.

According to returning missionaries, no Hapsburg ever faced a more delicately balanced political situation than will the new Mwato Yamvo of the Congo, whether he be Mutombo Makuta of Kapanga, Kimi of Lualaba, Kabongo of the Lubas, or any of a hundred other lesser aspirants. Whoever he is, he will be the most powerful savage potentate of his day.

CHARGES INSANITY TO BOOTLEG RUM

Alcohol Wrecking More Brains Since Prohibition Than War.

New York, July 28.—Dr. Perry M. Lichtenstein, resident physician at the Tombs, testifying yesterday before a commission in lunacy sitting to determine the condition of Philip Murtha, 28, of 541 West 141st street, aid that alcohol is causing more insanity since prohibition went into effect than was caused by shell shock and kindred influences during the World War.

He testified that Murtha was suffering from alcoholic insanity, and that his was one of many cases that had come to his attention since prohibition. Many steady drinkers, he added, are unable to give up intoxicating liquor, and will drink the poisonous substitutes now being offered for sale. He said this alcohol is absorbed through the lymphatic system and causes a toxic condition which deadens the nervous system and produces what is known to alienists as alcoholic psychosis.

Depends On Damage.

Whether a person was incurably insane, he said, depended upon how much damage was done to his nervous system before treatment began.

He admitted that some acute types recover following withdrawal of alcohol and general hygienic measures, but that others remained chronically insane, and that in one particular type definite alteration and destruction of the nerve cells and their processes are present.

Henry Riggers, the chauffeur who was arrested for the killing of one man and the maiming of another when a car which Riggers had "borrowed" from his employer crashed into a tree near East Huntington, L. I., was held in $10,000 bail by County Judge George H. Furman in Patchogue yesterday. The charge was manslaughter in the second degree.

A grand jury inquiry into the selling of liquor at Long Island roadhouses may result from the accident. The survivors of the wreck told the authorities that had bought a good many highballs at roadhouses.

District Attorney Leroy M. Young of Suffolk County said that the coroner's inquest tonight might develop facts which would justify the request for a grand jury investigation into liquor selling at roadhouses.

Up to Sheriff.

"It is up to the sheriff as the peace officer to investigate information concerning liquor sales," he said. "Sheriff John F. Kelly has already made a raid at Huntington Station and closed up several places."

Sheriff Kelly said: "If local officers do their duty there will be no general violation of the state prohibition act. I do not mean that the law should be enforced by the high-handed methods used in New York. Those practices are only camouflage. The law can be enforced in such a way as not to violate the constitutional rights of the citizens, and at the same time to stop such open selling as has apparently been the case there."

Izzy Einstein appeared in the Jamaica magistrate's court in the interest of Arthur Trotter, a chauffeur, summoned on Sunday afternoon, while alleged to have been speeding in Jamaica. In the car with Einstein and Trotter were a woman and several children.

When Patrolman Platt stopped the car Einstein was furious. "I am chasing an automobile filled with booze," he is alleged to have said.

Rebukes Agent.

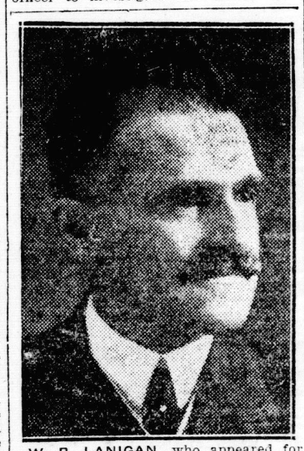

"You'll have to delay your chase a little while until I make out a ticket for the chauffeur," said Platt. In court the magistrate rebuked the prohibition agent for permitting the chauffeur to break the speed laws. "Fined $25," said the court. Einstein paid the fine.

It was reported yesterday that aeroplanes in charge of the coast guard were patrolling Long Island New Jersey waters on the lookout for liquor smugglers. The report was denied by Capt. Byron Reed, division commander of the United States coast guard from Delaware Breakwater to Montauk Point.

At the Rockaway Point naval air station it was said that no planes had been assigned to patrol the coast on the lookout for liquor ships.

On motion of District Attorney Leroy Ross of Brooklyn, Judge Garvin in the federal court rolle prossed the indictments against Samuel K. Saleeby, Edward G. Ware, William Woller and John Romanelli, who were arrested on December 29, 1919, charged with violating the Volstead act and causing the deaths of several persons in Massachusetts by shipping wood alcohol to New England.

In the state court Romanelli was convicted. Saleeby was tried twice, the first trial resulting in a disagreement and the second in an acquittal. The others were never brought to trial.

W. B. LANIGAN, who appeared for the C. P. R. at the meeting held in Ottawa to consider live stock transportation costs. Mr. Lanigan said that the condition of the live stock industry warranted an emergency reduction in the freight rates.

CHATHAM LAD IS DROWNED IN THAMES

Charles Pelceer Went Down in Deep Water While Bathing.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

CHATHAM, July 28.—Charles Pelcier, aged 8, a ward of the Children's Aid Society, was drowned while swimming in the Thames shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon. The lad was able to swim a little, but getting into deep water soon became exhausted and went down. The river crew of the fire department commenced dragging and recovered the remains about 9:30 this evening. Coroner Bray decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

INVITATION TO NORTHCLIFFE WITHDRAWN

Curzon Is Blamed by Thunderer Proprietor For Insult At Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 28.—Lord Northcliffe, the British publisher, now in the United States, in a statement issued here tonight, said that "for reasons of which he is not aware," invitations extended him to stop at the British embassy and to attend a dinner there tonight had been withdrawn.

"Knowing the methods in India of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary," the statement declared, "Lord Northcliffe is pretty certain that Lord Curzon has adopted those methods here."

Attacked Curzon.

The British publisher's statement conveyed the impression that the whole matter involved in the reported cancellation of invitations was an outgrowth of the recent controversy between Lord Northcliffe and Lord Curzon.

Soon after President Harding made his overtures for a disarmament conference, the London Times, the leading paper published by Northcliffe, opposed the suggestion that Lord Curzon be appointed one of the British delegates to the proposed conference, and attacked both the foreign secretary and Premier Lloyd George. This attack was followed by suspension, etc., with respect to news rights in the British foreign office. The Northcliffe newspapers recently attacked a statement by Lord Curzon, and this attack was followed by suspension of privilege rights enjoyed for years by the London Times, a Northcliffe paper, in the obtaining of news from the British foreign office. These developments have stirred England for several weeks.

Lord Northcliffe issued his statement tonight after questions had been asked him concerning current rumors that invitations extended him by the embassy had been withdrawn on instructions from London. The only comment obtainable from the embassy with respect to the reports was that they were "inaccurate."

Met The President.

It was established, however, that Lord Northcliffe was stopping at a local hotel and had gone there on his arrival in Washington early in the day from New York. The publisher visited the White House during the afternoon and spent an hour and twenty minutes with President Harding, discussing, as the visitor said, "newspapers." He was presented to Mr. Harding by H. Wickham Steed, editor of the London Times, but the failure of Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, to accompany the publisher was considered significant in that Lord Northcliffe on arriving in this country stressed that he was not on an official mission or is an official capacity.

The British Embassy was in semi-darkness tonight and inquiries from newspaper reporters as to the facts connected with the cancellation of Lord Northcliffe's visit elicited no response beyond the mere statement that there was nothing to be said in behalf of the embassy or the ambassador.

Extended by Geddes.

It was learned that the invitation to Lord Northcliffe to make his home at the British Embassy during his visit to Washington was extended by Ambassador Geddes several months ago and long before the publication of the criticisms of Lord Curzon in the London Times, which led the minister of foreign affairs to adopt punitive measures toward the great British journal.

As set out in Lord Northcliffe's statement tonight, he and Sir Auckland Geddes have been personal friends of long standing and it was understood that the extension of the hospitality of the embassy to Lord Northcliffe and his staff was on a purely personal footing.

Dinner Was Planned.

It was part of the program of entertainment of the visitor to give a dinner at the embassy tonight, to which would be bidden as guests many officials and prominent persons in Washington, whom Lord Northcliffe had met on previous visits to Washington or in London. So far as could be learned, however, while a tentative list of guests had been drawn up, the formal invitations never were finally issued, undoubtedly for the reason that the occurrence of the rupture between Lord Curzon and Lord Northcliffe and the London Times, occurring as it did, made it evidently impossible to carry out these plans. For it must be understood that the British embassy building in this capital with most of its furnishings is the property of the British Government—as much so as No. 10 Downing street, London, and while it is stated authoritatively that Ambassador Geddes did not receive any instructions from London in regard to the entertainment of Lord Northcliffe, the ambassador, of course, was fully aware of the impropriety of the use by him of the property of the British Government to entertain even a personal friend if that person had fallen under the ban of the foreign office.

Inasmuch as the clash between Lord Curzon and Lord Northcliffe occurred before the departure of the later from England July 16, it had been assumed by the embassy staff here that the visitor had given full consideration to the condition that would surround his visit to Washington.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

INNISFAIL, Alta., July 28.—J. J. Rutledge was committed for trial this afternoon on the charge of being responsible for the deaths of his wife and four children in a fire which destroyed their farmhouse on June 18.

MEIGHEN'S WILD SPENDING HITS POCKETS OF EVERYONE; MAKES LIVING COSTS HIGH

Liberal Leader Shows How People of Canada Have Been Imposed Upon and Their Money Squandered by Unprincipled Crowd At Ottawa.

BRAMPTON, July 28.—(Canadian Press.)—That the problems of taxation should be clearly understood by every woman in Canada, as well as every man, was insisted upon tonight by Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal Opposition. Mr. King accused the Federal Government of extravagant and unjustifiable expenditures, and made it clear to his hearers that in one way or another everyone in Canada has to dig down into his pocket and pay his share.

Reflects Contentment.

A nation's prosperity, said Mr. King, was a reflection of the contented condition of its people. If people are obliged to pay excessive prices for everything they need, for their enjoyments and their opportunities, their condition of life is rendered more difficult. If, out of their earnings they must hand over to the state an undue proportion, their freedom and chances of happiness were to that extent limited. Although certain people were exempt from direct taxation, nevertheless the expenses of government had to be extracted in the last analysis from the consumer.

Made No Effort.

"If there was one thing above another for which the Government in office during the war was to blame," asserted the speaker, "it was in not seeking to meet some of the war expense out of current revenue, in not seeking to get back from the state through taxation of war fortunes some of the vast sums of public money which were helping to make millionaires in one direction, while men were sacrificing their lives in another." Neither the Government of Sir Robert Borden prior to 1917, nor the Unionist Government since had made the slightest effort to tax war wealth, said Mr. King. Had such a course been followed the public debt of Canada today would not be what it is. Instead of relying upon the people to subscribe to war loans from patriotic rather than business motives, war bonds were issued exempt from taxation, thus depriving Canada of large revenues which she might now be enjoying.

Were Not Curtailed.

Loans and subsidies to the railways during the war should have been curtailed. The 100 to 200 millions expended in this direction, was, said Mr. King, most unwarranted. It was no use crying over spilt milk, he said, but it was of vital concern to this generation that some $2,000,000,000 had been borrowed by the Government and is still owing. Ten years ago, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier went to the country on the reciprocity issue, he had been charged with undue extravagance. It had been said that the public debt and the interest upon it had reached unjustifiable proportions. Yet the public debt was then in round figures $340,000,000, as against $2,350,000,000 of a Canadian public debt today. In the last year of the Laurier Government the total expenditure on all accounts was $123,000,000, the highest amount so far reached. Today, said Mr. King, the interest charges alone on the public debt would amount to over $140,000,000.

High-Handed Action.

Since 1911, said Mr. King, the Government of Canada had taken into its possession and control, without ever consulting the people, the entire railway system of the Dominion, excepting only the C. P. R., and the yearly deficit, ever increasing, would probably be over $100,000,000 this year. And notwithstanding the millions of dollars spent on the National Railways, the Government, the speaker charged, had consistently declined to give out such information as would enable the best course to be decided upon in this branch of public administration. Mr. King said he had again and again insisted upon the right of Parliament to scrutinize every dollar which was being spent out of the public treasury. He believed, he said, that the public debt and current taxation had been enormously increased by the Government's deliberate method of giving to a small circle of its friends an all but perfectly free hand in spending public moneys.

Denied Information.

"Though denied the information on the floor of Parliament," continued Mr. King, "one or two of the Liberal members of the House were able, in an investigation before a select committee of Parliament, to show how certain of the money was being spent. It was disclosed, for example, that insurance to an amount over $100,000,000 had been placed on the railroad property. Further investigation revealed the fact that one of the directors of the Canadian National Railways, an appointee of the Government, was also director of the insurance company through which practically the whole of this insurance had been placed.

No Jurisdiction.

Mr. King claimed that while the Canadian Merchant Marine project might have been justified at first by war emergencies, the $70,000,000, which had been spent in this direction since the war was without justification. Once the war was over it was "the height of stupidity" for the Government to proceed with its program. Contracts had been awarded, said Mr. King, without even calling for tenders, as required for by law. "The Government's friend had to be supported at all costs." The result, he said, was that Canada had on her hands a fleet of ships that threatened to become a public cost.

Heavy Expenditures.

Mr. King criticized the expenditures on militia, on the navy and the police. What justification could there possibly be for such large outlays, seeing that the war was fought and over? The sums spent on Dominion and Mounted Police in 1911 had amounted to some $770,000; today the amount was $3,500,000. Was the object of the Government to introduce a standing army into the country under the guise of police? he asked.

Clearly, said Mr. King, there was need for rigid economy and retrenchment if the country was ever to recover from its indebtedness. "The only auditor," he concluded, "who can be trusted with the balancing and revising of our national accounts is a new Parliament selected from the people, and composed of members in whom the people have expressed their confidence."

CULT OF OMAR HAS CEASED TO EXIST

THE PAS, July 28.—(Canadian Press.)—The Church of the Cult of Omar has expired. Founded on the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, the new religious organization was born in The Pas this spring. It sprang into sudden importance, and today only three of its original members would admit that they still held firm to their beliefs. The exodus from membership started when a new convert made the statement that the whole affair was arranged with the object of getting a government permit to purchase liquors from the Government store under the guise of its necessity for sacramental purposes. Officials of the cult deny that they had any such intention.

PRICES OF TOMATOES HIT THE TOBOGGAN

LEAMINGTON, July 28.—The price of tomatoes has again taken a severe slump. Eleven-quart baskets now bring but 75c. Many growers report that they do not intend picking them at this price, as the expense connected with the picking, packing, etc., would not warrant them doing so.

Sweet corn is now on the market and is selling at 20@25c a dozen. The corn is shipped to the bigger markets in bushel baskets and bags containing from 10 to 15 dozen ears each.

TURKS HAVE NOT ASKED FOR PEACE

Withdrawal in Recent Defeat Was Executed With Slight Loss.

LONDON, July 28.—The report that the Turks have approached the Allies with the purpose of obtaining a cessation of the hostilities between them and the Greeks is unfounded, according to information received in official circles here. This information substantiates the fact that there have been Greek victories in Asia Minor, but it minimizes the moral effect they have had upon the Turks.

It is said that the Turkish withdrawal was executed skillfully and with but small loss in men and supplies.

A dispatch from Constantinople to the Exchange Telegraph Company of London, on Wednesday, said Mustapha Kenfal Pasha, head of the Turkish Nationalist Government, had sent a telegram to Constantinople asking that the Central Government intervene with the Allies in an effort to obtain a cessation of hostilities.

ASKING GOVERNMENT TO GUARANTEE BONDS

Hydro Improvements At Border Will Cost About $700,000.

TORONTO, July 28.—The Provincial Hydro Commission, which is operating the Windsor-Amherstburg radial railway on behalf of the municipalities is asking the Ontario Government to guarantee $700,000 of bonds for betterments to the line. The money is wanted to provide twenty one-man cars and renew the rails.

The Government guaranteed the bonds for the purchase and some preliminary betterments to the extent of more than $2,000,000. Its attitude towards the latest application is favorable.

DEADLOCK IS FEARED OVER SILESIA ROW

Lloyd George and Premier Briand Are Taking Determined Stand.

PARIS, July 28.—The insistence of both Premier Briand of France and David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, on their divergent views as to the procedure to be adopted in settling the Upper Silesian question is being followed in political circles with intense interest. It has not, however, caused any apprehension on the part of the general public as to the serious consequences foreshadowed by the pessimists a week ago.

Near a Deadlock.

The mere fact that the question of procedure has become the subject of cabinet deliberations in both countries is taken in best informed circles as meaning that both sides consider the negotiations have almost reached a deadlock, and require competent direction to prevent a rupture.

The opinion being more and more freely expressed in circles not particularly pro-British is that the Entente has ceased to exist as originally planned; that British statesmen no longer recognize the danger to France from Germany. Hence, the original object of the Entente is eliminated in the British mind, while divergent interests make the maintenance of such an understanding difficult.

Are Optimistic.

Official circles do not encourage the idea, that a rupture of the Entente would be a matter of indifference to France. They maintain optimism with respect to Franco-British relations, on whose co-operation a solution of many peace problems is held to depend. A transformation or modification of the Entente, however, is foreshadowed by unofficial political critics.

PREMIERS ATTENDED.

LONDON, July 28.—The British cabinet held two conferences today on the Upper Silesian situation. Both were held in the official residence of Premier Lloyd George in Downing street—one this morning and the other late this afternoon. The Dominion premiers were present at the morning session, where the entire Silesian controversy was reviewed.

At the afternoon meeting the cabinet was said to have considered the policy which Lord Curzon, the secretary of state for foreign affairs, will outline for Silesia. It has been learned authoritatively that no change in the British policy was to be expected. It was said that Great Britain hoped that the French would not send troops to Upper Silesia until the supreme council had considered the question.

CHARGE CARD WITH CRIMINAL NEGLECT

Toronto Speeder Under Arrest On a Charge of Manslaughter.

TORONTO, July 28.—The coroner's jury which investigated the death of Joseph Burton, one of the recent victims of motor speeding in Toronto, found that he was killed by an auto driven by Bruce Card, and that Card had shown criminal negligence. He is already under arrest on a charge of manslaughter.

J. Dodds, who witnessed the accident and started in pursuit, testified that he drove his own car 48 miles an hour in order to catch up to Card. He estimated that Card was driving 44 miles an hour when he killed Burton.

SARNIA WITHDRAWS FROM CELEBRATION

Civic Holiday Will Be Observed in Imperial City On Monday.

SARNIA, July 28.—As a result of continued discussion concerning the civic holiday in Sarnia on Monday, and the International Holiday on August 12, it was officially anounced that the Sarnia committee so far as this was concerned, has called off the Canadian end of the proposed outing.

Acting-Mayor Dagan announced today that he had revoked Mayor Crawford's proclamation and that Monday, August 1, was declared civic holiday in Sarnia.

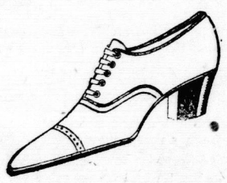

Many merchants and businessmen were against the calling off of Sarnia's end of the International Holiday, but it was decided, owing to opposition offered from certain quarters, it was best to call off the picnic, as it conflicted with the annual civic holiday on this side of the St. Clair River.

RUNNING STILLS AN EXPENSIVE PASTIME

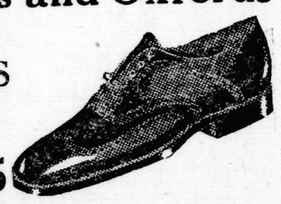

TORONTO, July 28.—Thomas Anderson, a prosperous farmer of Etobicoke Township, was fined $900 in the county police court here today, $500 of which was for "having liquor for sale" and $400 for "running a still."

County constables visited Mr. Anderson's farm, where, it is claimed, they found a plant, remarkable in point of efficiency, for the output of stuff with a kick, working away at full blast in an outhouse.
