IGREAT CONCLAVE OF EPISCOPALIANS

Primate of England to Attend.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 4.—What is considered by the leading bishops and lay deputies as the most important conclave of Episcopalians ever held in America will be formally opened in this city tomorrow, when the triennial general convention will assemble in Emmanuel Church. Before the opening session a service will be held in Trinity Church, at which the Archbishop of Canterbury and prelates from four continents will be present. It is expected that nearly 100 bishops will be in the solemn procession which precedes the services. The Archbishop of Canterbury arrived here on a special train this afternoon, accompanied by his chaplains, Mrs. Davidson and J. Pierpont Morgan. The primate was welcomed by Bishop Lawrence, of the Massachusetts Diocese, who will entertain Dr. Davidson during his stay. Tonight a banquet was tendered to the English bishop at the Tuilleries. Plates were laid for 40 persons. Bishop Lawrence and other leading churchmen of this diocese were among the guests. A number of matters of first importance are to be passed upon, including the question of changing the name of the church; that of altering the diocese canon to prevent the remarriage of any person whose partner is still living; a proposition to group the diocese into provinces, with a primate at the head of each proposed district; the question of adopting the English system of the electing bishops suffragan to assist in

 TWICE TRIED TO TAKE HER LIFE

Such Is Alleged of Lizzie Walters, Who Is Now in Custody.

Although less than 21 years, Lizzie Walters, a wayword girl, appeared in the police court this morning on a charge of attempting to commit suicide. She elected trial by Magistrate Love and was remanded until Monday next. The story of the girl is a sad one. Unhealthy associations wrought her downfall, and so desperate did she become over her disgrace that about a year ago she attempted to drown herself in the Thames at the foot of Riverview avenue, Only a month age and that the consideration child to which she is said to be greatly candidate of its own in sight to cheer for, can only throw cheap sneers at Mr.

The member for London is one of the busiest of public men. During the late session he was chairman of the redistribution committee, presided over the railway committee of the House of Commons, and toward the end took over the administration of the public works department, while Mr. Suther land was in search of better health These manifold duties have left Mr. Hyman little time for his home and private affairs, and none at all for horse races and pink teas, if he had heen so inclined. While private members have been free to join their families at intervals, and even enjoy the pleasures of the Woodbine, Mr. Hyman has been slaving at his desk, inspecting the various public works under his temporary charge, and economizing time by attending to his heavy correspondence while on his travels. If he had been less conscientious and had shirked his public duties, he might have seen more of his constituents and given more attention to his private business.

Our contemporary is not well-advised in jeering at Mr. Hyman for his ener getic habits. These have won him rapid advancement in the public service, and the appreciation of the citizens of Lon. don without regard to party. Were it not for the appearance of the thing and its moral effect upon the country, many of the leading Conservatives of the city would favor his re-election by acclamation. They have no stomach for a fight which they know to be hopeless-with an opponent whom they respect and admire. The Free Press is trying to inject personal bitterness into the campaign, but no such feeling can be There is nothing picayune or revengeful in Mr. Hyman; he has always main. tained cordial relations with his political opponents, and been a fellow-citizen first and a partisan afterwards.

Laurier's English ideals. Hamilton OPENING SHOTS are just now in a quandary over the choice of a candidate to oppose him, but Liberals can apreciate their difficulty, and have no wish to add to it by taunts ference on trade matters. Why no and sneers. Loyalty to party is a invite the Canadian Manufacturers praiseworthy sentiment, and it demands that someone shall bear the Conservative standard at considerable self-sacrifice. Whoever he may be, it is to be hoped the campaign will be free from personalities, and will be fought out on the broad issues before the public.

Laurier's "English Ideals."

Le Journal, of Montreal, the Conservative organ, declares that Sir Wilfrid Laurier failed to make an impression upon his audience at Sorel. failure due to the absence of warmth in his language, which Le Journal attributes to his "English associations and English ideals."

This is a variant of Sir Charles Tupper's famous verdict (rendered in Quebec): "Laurier is too British for me." It is the sort of thing Laurier had to contend with in his own province in the last two general elections and will have to contend with again. While the Francophobe journals in this Province accuse the Premier of appealing to the race consciousness of his compatriots, the leader of the Quebec wing of the Conservative party. Bleu newspapers complain that the interests and the influence of Quebec the national councils have been subordinated by the Premier in his street," growled the suitor anxiety to placate the English-speaking people. Verily the way of the peacemaker is hard.

Sir Wilfrid is strong in his own province because of his personality and because of his lineage. The French-Canadians are naturally proud of him as one of themselves, but he is as a special favor if the fellow who is not in their minds an expression of race aspirations which are at variance would like to get some of the same with national unity. The irrefutable kind so that she will come home to be frid has triumphed over appeals to sectarian prejudice in his own province. novement among the French-Canadians it would not be behind Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose life work has been a bride of statuesque pose, gowned in Aukams gave up $2,800, taking a mortgage on the three lots.

Building operations were to be commenced immediately. Weeks went by, and nothing being done with the prop and, nothing being done with the property, Aukams demanded that Rohter make a start. Finally ground was broken for the cellar of one of the buildings. The disappearance of Rohter followed. Aukams learned, he says, his experience was subsequent to sev-

A PROGRESSIVE SCHOOL

An enthusiastic and well-attended meeting of the Wellington Street Methodist Sunday school was held last evening. Rev. Mr. Livingston, the pastor, presided, and a number of the teachers were present. Tributes were paid to the efficiency of Mr. William Jeffrey, who has been superintendent of the school for the last seventeen years, and he was reappointed to that Board of Education Makes a meeting would be held later to appoint a committee in connection with the project of building a bigger schoolroom the present one being crowded with its average attendance of 400. Mr. Jeffrey announced that he would speak on Frilay afternoons, in future, to the Metholist students who are in attendance at the Normal School. The election of other officers resulted as follows: Assistant superintendent, Mr. W. J. Halladay; secretary, Mr. Joseph Merritt; treasurer, Mr. Robert Gray. ELOPED TO CALIFORNIA

Collegiate Cadet Corps Is Soon To Be Revived

Grant To It—Record Month at Collegiate.

A very praiseworthy step was taken at last night's meeting of the board of education, when that body made a decisive step towards aiding the Collegiate Institute Cadets, an organization which has been defunct for the past year. Without a word of opposition a substantial sum of money was voted to the corps, and it seems assured that the latter will now be able to attain a far better position than it did before its twelve months' slumber The meeting was, otherwise, unmarked by anything of interest, although considerable routine business was trans-

FEEDING A DOCTOR

His Body Changed by a Change in

A convincing bit of testimony to show what a simple change of food can sometimes do to end apparently incurable disease is told in the following article by a Chicago physician: "The case is my own.
