To Lecture Here

Linus Pauling, distinguished nuclear chemist, who is giving annual Bryan Priestman Memorial Lecture.

A Nobel Prize winning scientist and one of the world's outstanding chemists will deliver this year's series of Bryan Priestman Memorial Lectures at the University of New Brunswick.

Professor Linus Pauling, Director of the Gates and Crellin Laboratories, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, California, will present the first of three lectures Monday October 21, at 8:30 P.M. in the lecture theatre of the new Chemistry Building. At that time his topic will be "Molecules in Relation to Disease".

The second of the Priestman Lectures on the subject "The Structure of Proteins" will be delivered Tuesday at 8:30 P.M. also in the new Chemistry Building. On Wednesday, again at 8:30 (Continued on Page 5)

NFCUS National Holds Conference

"As the crisis of Canadian Education will become more and more acute, students will have to hold a great part of the responsibility". President Gabriel Gagnon told the 21st National Congress of NFCUS which began in Quebec city on Monday, Oct. 14.

During the conference representatives of twenty-five Universities speaking for 50,000 Canadian University Students studied such problems as the schism between English and French speaking Canadian University students, results of the NFCUS chartered plane trips to Europe during the past summer, the proposal to set up a Canadian University Travel Service to serve the entire Canadian academic community, and studies on national and international programmes of the organization.

During the first meeting it was revealed that Auditors were not yet ready to authorize the NFCUS books. They wrote, "Due to the incomplete condition of the books and records and supporting data we are unable to satisfy ourselves that the statements as set forth above are true and correct in every respect."

In reply to this Mr. James Pickett, who was executive secretary until his appointment as full-time travel director in early summer, said the accounts kept were accurate but rudimentary. "We were understaffed" he said. "We couldn't keep up with the bills."

Biggest issue during the four-day conference was the search for rapprochement with French-speaking delegates who want NFCUS completely bi-lingual. Berbard Lesage of Laval, Quebec regional vice-president, reported that Quebec students want the group to hire two executive secretaries, one French and the other English.

Walter Tarnopolsky of the University of Saskatchewan, former International Affairs Vice-President, headed a seminar on the national group's relations with foreign students. Delegates were asked such questions as "Do you want the international student conference to pass political judg- (Continued on Page 5)

FESTIVAL PLAY

Journey's End by R. C. Sherriff will be the University of New Brunswick Drama Society's entry in the New Brunswick Regional Drama Festival this year.

Recognized as one of the greatest of all modern war plays, Journey's End shows the effect of war on a small group of young officers. Amid gunfire and explosions, the action of the play takes place in a dugout in France during the first world war. By clever use of tragedy, pathos and humour the author provides the audience with a moving and entertaining piece of theatre. Unlike past productions of the U.N.B. Drama Society, Journey's End is very easy to understand.

The play will be produced in the renovated Memorial Hall Theatre on November 23, 25 and 26 at 8:15 P.M. A second production, scheduled for 1958 has also been announced. It will be the Seven Year Itch by George Axelrod.

$700 FOR YOU . . .

Have you ever taken any pictures? You do not have to be a shutterbug, just the owner of a few pictures to earn yourself some money. John LaBatt and Co. is sponsoring a NFCUS photography competition with seven hundred dollars worth of prizes.

All types of pictures on all subjects are eligible. If you were isolated in the bush all summer with a camera and the blackflies; if you took a trip to Europe and took pictures of a cute kid or a gorgeous bigger one; or if you spent your summer rocking on the empty ocean, then this is your chance to profit from your summer.

Last year Dave Quinton from Newfoundland, one of our forestry students, received honorable mention for a shot of breaking waves. A lucky shot that proved worth while.

NFCUS is continually accused of doing nothing for students but here is a chance to benefit by the organization of universities into a federation. Western University is handling the contest and details may be found on the bulletin boards or by contacting Herb Shepard, NFCUS chairman, at 9004.

SKI CLUB

The first meeting of the Ski Club will be held in the All Purpose room of the Student's Centre on Monday, Oct. 21 at 7:00 p.m.

On the agenda will be elections for the social committee, transportation committee, publicity committee and Meet Committee.

What used to be campus "humour" seems to be sadly lacking. No longer do we hear of successful raids on either Men's or Women's residences . . . no longer does the campus awaken to find a fresh coat of paint — usually maroon and yellow — decorating many of the buildings . . . but instead we have pep rallies, club meetings, choral groups, band practices and one of the newest and little explored by most students . . . the growing drama society. Apparently as time passes the campus grows, we slowly mature. This general trend which is not as flamboyant and does not produce as many notorious "wheels" will, be believe, be much more rewarding to individual students.

A nasty rumour has it that a UNB coach is required to produce a winning team at all cost. The penalty for failure is the loss of his position. We feel that this defeats the whole purpose of university athletics. The source of pressure is unknown but we feel that responsible individuals should take steps to eradicate this tension which is demoralizing the teams as well as coaches.

Breakfast foods grow odder and odder and it's a wise child that knows it's fodder.

Are you in the know? in the swing? are you one of the popular ones? In the forthcoming elections perhaps the student body will consider not the popularity and genial characteristics of the candidates but their qualities of leadership, conscientiousness, and ideas of responsibility to future students. It might also be brought to the attention of S.R.C. members both present and future that contrary to "popular" opinion these meetings are not social gatherings but that they, the members, are elected to represent truly the individual students. History has proved that those who abuse the privilege of self-government — lose it. Let's avoid that.

A Wise Choice

The choice of Lester B. Pearson, Ex-Minister of External Affairs in the Liberal administration, as Nobel Peace Prize Winner for 1957 is a happy and wise one. With diligent and intelligent foresight, Mr. Pearson represented his country in the United Nations. Backed by the now deposed Cabinet of Mr. St. Laurent, he brought honor and fame to Canada in international deliberations.

The development of the United Nations Emergency Force and judicious representation of Canada during the hectic Suez Crisis are among Mr. Pearson's most commendable accomplishments. In a time when the world was confused, when the imminency of Soviet interference was near and when Canadians were caught between sentimental Empire ties and practical political considerations, Mr. Pearson led Canada down a wise but novel road.

It will be difficult for any government to find as able a Minister of External Affairs as Lester B. Pearson. In a time when Liberal leadership is at stake, consideration of such an able and distinguished man might bring huge rewards to a party which might soon again lead this country.

Bravo Mr. Pearson!

Distinguished Chemistry Seminar

Next week, the University of New Brunswick plays host to two notable events — The Bryan Priestman Memorial Lectures and the Chemistry Seminar. Both of these are annual events.

Never before held during the academic year, the UNB Chemistry Seminar features well known and distinguished chemists from all over the North American Continent. Reckoned as one of the continent's most interesting and valuable meetings, this, the ninth seminar will give scientists an opportunity to hear papers by some of today's most brilliant organic chemists.

Attending the seminar will be many representatives of industry as well as students and faculty from other universities.

The Bryan Priestman Memorial Lectures, named after a head of the physics dept. who lost his life in an heroic bid to save a boy's life in 1945, feature famous men of science. Speakers as Harlow Shapley and Gamow, have given both public and private lectures in the many years this series has been instituted.

This year's lecturer, Dr. Linus Pauling should need no introduction. Well known in connection with the atom bomb and renowned as a scientist the world over, Dr. Pauling led 2000 top American scientists in a plea for the abolition of the Atom and hydrogen bombs last summer.

Students will find his a stimulating and interesting lecture. The University is indeed lucky to host two such events which attract persons from all over North America!

They Did Well Anyway!

A word of cheer to the Bombers who put up a creditable fight in Sackville Saturday. The first half of the game was an even match. The second half unfortunately belonged to the Marsh rats. The first 30 illustrated something, though. UNB has a hard-working line, which stopped Mt. A. more than once.

Although not there in large numbers, UNB supporters gave enthusiastic notice to the Bombers that someone was on their side. Man for man, we got hoarse twice as fast as Mt. A. Fans. But then, maybe that's because Mt. Allison's by and large, have had more practise talking.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH OUR ORGANIZATION?

News from the NFCUS conference, while as yet incomplete, is somewhat surprising. To begin with, the official auditors have refused to authorize Federation accounts. This does not sound as if all was well with our organization. It does not seem too much to ask that our money receive the care and respect with which we would treat it. Mr. James Pickett commented that "he couldn't keep up with the bills." We sympathize. But then, its Mr. Pickett's job to "keep up". In connection with Mr. Pickett also are veiled allegations concerning his alleged "mal-handling" of Scots. Whether or not this is true, we can not vouch.

Suggestion that NFCUS approach Iron Curtain student unions leaves us slightly puzzled. This comradely spirit does not fit well on NFCUS who in years past has publicly denied having anything to do with communist youth. Perhaps they were attracted by the "generous" message from the USSR!

However, all this is anticipatory. We haven't received final word from the "boys in Laval". Undoubtedly Bill Ray, SRC Vice-Prés. and Herb Shepherd, head man in the local committee will have much to tell us.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club recently marked the beginning of the year's activities with a well attended meeting at St. Dunstan's Hall.

During the course of the evening the officers were introduced. They are: President, John Reinsborough; Secretary, Mary Louise Hughes. A progressive programme for the coming year was outlined by the President.

The proposed visit by Bishop Leverman was discussed and it is expected that it will take place in the near future. For the past two years His Excellency, Bishop Leverman, of Saint John has been the guest of the Newman Club with the purpose of meeting the Catholic students attending UNB. Plans for the annual Spring Retreat and Newman Sunday were also formulated.

The Newman Club, founded on the principles of John Henry Cardinal Newman, has as its purpose to foster religious cultural, and social activities among Catholic students attending UNB.

Brunswickan Learns First From Beaverbrook

Peer Claims Teachers Best Interested, Enthusiastic

To Succeed You Must Conform Says Express Owner

Special to the Brunswickan: This interview contains Lord Beaverbrook's first published views on the recently launched Russian satellite. The statement, made last Friday a few days before UNB's chancellor left for New York, is made at a time when everyone is talking about this latest Russian move. Well known in political circles in Britain, Lord Beaverbrook's remarks can be said to reflect a definite segment of opinion in that country.

In a special interview with the Brunswickan recently, Lord Beaverbrook revealed for the first time his views on the recently launched Russian satellite. Speaking to editor Barry Toole, the Canadian born British peer said that Russia gained political, scientific and military advantage through their world first launching of a man-made planet.

Scientific

Already in keen competition with the West, Russia scientific reputation was further strengthened by beating the United States in the satellite race. Counting for a great deal in this modern

Militarily

Militarily, the effects are obvious. Armed with the knowledge that they are the only people to currently possess a man-made moon, the Russians will undoubtedly make much of their present advantage on the stage of world politics.

Speaking of his scholarship program, Lord Beaverbrook spoke highly of the Canadian teachers that attend British universities on Overseas Grants.

"They are", continued the chancellor, "the most enthusiastic and interested of all Beaverbrooks."

To the youth of today, Lord Beaverbrook had this to say: "You must conform to a certain degree in these days in order to succeed."

age, scientific discoveries of this magnitude have a pronounced effect on the peoples of the world.

Political

Interlocked with the west in a seemingly deathless struggle for political and economic control, The Soviet Union stands to gain much from this event. The widespread publicity given the launching and the concern with which Western scientists view the satellite are bound to have profound effect on the uncommitted countries of the far and middle east, the well known newspaper publisher commented.

last weekend. His statement was short: "From the conferences of this sort that I have attended in the last number of years this one has been the best organized. It was here that all matters of organization were taken out of the hands of the members, leaving them time to focus their attention on business pertaining to the World University of Canada. More business of this kind was done during this conference than at any previous conference that I attended."

UNB Maritime Golf Champs

Monday, Thanksgiving Day, the University of New Brunswick won the first officially-recognized Maritime Intercollegiate Golf Championship. The tournament, held at the Sackville Golf Club and hosted by Mount Allison University, saw the participation of four colleges—UNB, Mount Allison, Saint Francis Xavier, and Dalhousie.

Five-man teams from each of these universities played around the Sackville course, and the individual scores were totalled to determine the winning quintet. The Red and Black golfers captured the team honours with a combined aggregate of 418, just one stroke better than the Saint Francis Xavier sum of 419. Dalhousie and Mount A trailed behind with marks of 433 and 461 respectively.

Captain of the UNB squad, John Sears led the way to the victory for the boys from "Up the Hill". Sears, who was a member of the New Brunswick Willingdon Golf Cup team last summer and the first student of this University to enjoy such an honour, carded a creditable 76 over the tricky Sackville fairways and greens. He was edged out for individual honours by a sharpshooter from the host Mount Allison team, Eric Nicholson, who fired a seven-over-par total of 75, just one better than his rival from UNB.

A second member of the UNB contingent managed to nail down third spot in the individual standings. He was Ben Gray, a smooth swinging former Junior Champion from Edmundston, who finished with an eighteen hole final of 78. Other scorers for UNB were John Burns who carded an 85, Dave Petrie with an 87, and Roger Baird who rounded out the team effort with a 92.

Dr. Frank L. West, the vice-president of Mount Allison University presented the championship trophy to the winning team.

Following are the results for the four competing Universities:
UNB: John Sears, 76; Ben Gray, 78; John Burns, 85; Dave Petrie, 87; Roger Baird, 92; Team total: 418.

Saint F.X.: J. Conrad, 80; G. Tripp, 82; A. Arseneault, 85; B. Kennedy, 86; J. Comeau, 86; Team total: 419.

Dalhousie: D. Moone, 79; T. Nichols, 85; H. Gorham, 87; M. Lewis, 87; J. Mitchell, 93; Team total: 433.

Mount A: E. Nicholson, 75; B. Gorham, 81; J. MacLean, 100; B. Baillie, 100; J. Davis, 105; Team total: 461.

Sports Review

By RON MANZER

The victory for the golf team at Sackville on Monday was particularly satisfying for all UNB sports enthusiasts. This was the first Tournament of its kind that has been held and the UNB team has the honour of being the first Maritime Intercollegiate Golf Champions. In recent years the Nova Scotia universities have sponsored a tournament among themselves, but this competition had never received the official sanction of the MIAU. Now with the addition of the New Brunswick colleges, official blessing has been received, and the grand old game of golf has taken its place among the recognized Intercollegiate sports.

The Sackville course was reportedly not in the best of condition for the meet. The greens were hard and fast and the fairways poor; and, as a result, the scores over the par 68 layout were not as low as they might otherwise have been. Incidentally, John Sears and Ben Gray, who finished second and third respectively and were the low scorers for the UNB team, also finished one-two in the tourney for local intramural honours earlier this fall. Since Fredericton has a very good golf course, we shall look forward to UNB hosting this tournament either next fall or the year following.

The only sour note in recollections of the past weekend is the 46-13 drubbing which the Mount Allison Mounties handed to the Red Bombers on Saturday. The Red and Black managed to reform their forces, however, and Thanksgiving Day turned back a very game Saint Thomas squad. This was rather belated appeasement for most Bomber fans, and indeed the damage had been done. Impressed by the Mountie display of power, most sports commentators now rate the Garnet and Gold footballers the team to beat in the league. In fact the other contingents in the NCBFU are now scarcely being given even an outside chance to upset the Sackville squad.

There is no doubt that the Red Bombers, the only team in the league with the material to give Mount A. any trouble, have their backs against the wall. Only a supreme optimist would even bother

Co-Eds Win Tennis Crown

The University of New Brunswick duo of Ann Heard and Jo Ann Carr won the Maritime Intercollegiate Ladies Tennis Championship last Saturday when they defeated the Mount Allison team of Pam Reynolds and Elizabeth Brooks. Final scores in the match which was played on Fredericton's Wilmot Park Clay Courts were 6-3, 6-4.

The Red and Black singles entrant, Dorothy Armstrong, who is more renowned for her record-breaking track and field performances than for her tennis, was edged out of the Ladies Singles Championship by Judy MacDonald of Mount A, 6-4, 6-4.

In the men's division, Mount Allison and Saint Mary's University of Halifax shared the spoils. Terry Osborne and Mike Tingley of the Nova Scotia college teamed up to take the Men's Doubles crown back to the seaside city. Jerome Gonzales of the Mount A. aggregate was the victor in the Men's Single competition. He defeated Boetie Khovv, an Academic student from Pegal, Java, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1. The male entries from the University of New Brunswick and Saint Francis Xavier failed to place in the tourney.

Dalhousie University, the defending champions in both the men's and women's divisions, were unable to compete in the meet because of transportation difficulties.

ments, as urged by African and South American Student Unions?" The question was also raised as to whether the delegates felt NFCUS should ignore international political schisms and try to sign up students unions behind the iron curtain to its memberships. It was suggested by President Gagnon that NFCUS should try making contact with individual student unions in iron curtain countries such as Poland and Hungary.

Bombers Split Holiday Tilts

At Sackville, Saturday, the University of New Brunswick "Red Bombers" suffered defeat at the hands of the Mount Allison "Mounties". The final score of the game was 46-13.

After a 60-yard drive into Mounty territory, the Bombers opened the scoring with a touchdown by Ed McLellan, which was converted by Mike O'Connor. The "Mounties" retaliated with a drive to the UNB three Steevens scored a touch-down. The convert brought the score to 7-7. Having been stopped twice at the "Red and Black" one yard line, the Mt. A. squad scored again when Harry Haukkala got a touchdown late in the half making the score at half-time 13-7.

UNB's defence faltered in the second half at the hands of Roberts, Peters, Haukkala and Bateman, each of whom scored a touch-down for Mount A. After a hard drive downfield, Bill Perry went over to score for the Bombers. In the last quarter of the game the Mounties dominated the play and two more Garnet and Gold touch-downs by Tsono and Peters completed the scoring in the game.

The Boys from "Up the Hill", cheered on by a good turnout of UNB supporters, racked up their third win of the season by defeating the St. Thomas "Tom-mies" 16 to 7 at Chatham last Monday, October 14.

UNB opened the scoring with a field goal by Mike O'Connor. Halfway through the first half Ed McLellan scored a touch-down for the Bombers making it 9-0 for UNB. Sonny Clarke followed up with another touch-down and in the closing minutes of the half Mike Schofield kicked a rouge increasing the score to 16-0. This completed the scoring by the Red Bombers.

During the last half, in which Butch Ryan scored a touchdown for St. Thomas, UNB Coach Don Nelson experimented with his second string offensive and defensive set-ups. Freshmen Bob Gooder, Hal Hicks and veteran quarter-back Pete Madorin played well, as did Jim Ross. Unfortunately Ben Stymiest's good performance was curtailed when he suffered an injured ankle, but it is hoped that he will be able to play against CMR tomorrow. Outstanding performances for the "Tom-mies" were by fullback Butch Ryan and quarter-back Jerry Gulliver.

Even though UNB got most of the breaks, Coach Nelson was appalled at the officiating and remarked "it was the worst I have ever seen, and showed complete lack of understanding of the rules." Yardage lost due to penalties, of which there were quite a few, was about equal for both teams.

P.M. Prof. Pauling will offer the public lecture which has become a feature of the series. It will be delivered in the auditorium of Teacher's College and will deal with Science in the Modern World. A general invitation is extended to the public to attend the final lecture.

A native of Portland, Oregon, Prof. Pauling was educated at Oregon State College and California Institute of Technology. Following Post Graduate work abroad, he returned to the latter institution in 1927 and ten years later he was appointed Head of the division of Chemistry and Chemical Engineering.

Prof. Pauling's contributions are generally regarded as having brought about the revolution in the entire field of chemistry. His book "The Nature of the Chemical Bond" is one of the classics of modern science. In 1954 he was awarded the Nobel Prize for Chemistry for his studies in the nature of the chemical bond and his work in unravelling the structure of complex molecules.

Prof. Pauling has received honorary degrees from a host of universities, including Chicago, Princeton, Cambridge, London, Yale, Oxford, Paris, Toulouse and Tampa. He has also held a number of important visiting professorships at various universities. He participated in the University of New Brunswick sesquicentennial celebrations in 1950, at which time he was awarded an honorary degree.

WUSC Assembly Great Success; Mackinnon On Colombo Plan

MONSEIGNEUR J. M. MacKINNON, Vice-President of St. F. X. University of Antigonish, N.S., gave the after dinner address entitled "The Colombo Plan and Canadian Universities." Father MacKinnon in his address stressed the fact that:

"The Colombo Plan is not primarily an aid programme. It is the sum of the development programmes of the Asian countries that are members of the plan and of the aid programme of the member countries or 'donors'. It is a co-operative plan. The major burden of economic development is borne by the Asian countries themselves. They have themselves embarked on programmes of economic development and are working very hard to improve their own conditions. THEY DO NEED HELP FROM THEIR FRIENDS, and this the Colombo Plan donor countries are giving. This aid is given only after consideration and consultation by the departments of governments concerned. This is the essential basis on which the plan rests." After explaining briefly the workings of the Colombo Plan, Father MacKinnon continued: "The main emphasis in the development programmes of the countries of South and South East Asia is on projects designed to increase agricultural production."

He then came to the second and most important phase of the Colombo Plan. This is the Technical Assistance phase, which consists of the giving of help to the students of those Asian countries and the taking of their students to study at the Universities with post graduate schools in Canada. Those people, studying under the auspices of the Colombo Plan return to their own countries to submit the obtained knowledge to their people and better the country in this way. This, together with the exchange of students which gives an exchange of ideas, teaches Canadians and the people from Asia to understand each other. They learn of each other's religions, ideologies and problems. 50 years ago Canadians did not have this understanding and knowledge. Father MacKinnon continued with a brief survey of this history of the Colombo Plan. He also drew the attention of the audience to the workings of the Credit Union and the co-operative system which have aided so greatly in the making of modern Asia.

In speaking of the particular role of the Canadian Universities he praised those who are working in this field. "Universities can do something in the way of Technical Assistance and are doing it. This is a world of challenge, a world of ideas, a world of opposites. We cannot see direct results of the work, but sometime in the future we will be able to see it. A post graduate student of today may be the Nehru of tomorrow."

Father MacKinnon then made a plea for increase of the Colombo Plan if at all possible, but under no circumstance to decrease the aid now given. He stressed the challenge that exists for our people, the Canadians, to go out and work in Colombo Plan areas for two or more years. "No material wealth can be obtained by doing this, the sacrifice is 'great,' but it is of 'crucial importance' that it is done." He expressed the opinion that those people that would go would come from the midst of ardent supporters of such organizations as World University Service of Canada, where the understanding and desire for this work already exists and grows with each further contact. In closing he said:

"We are in need of experts on the job, but they must be good and humble men, diplomats, but above all humble persons who are willing to work."

What Did They Do

One of the most important decisions taken during last week-end's Assembly was that concerning the invitations to be extended to a group of Russian faculty members and students to visit Canada. Although further detailed plans will have to be worked out before the invitation can be sent, the assembly was favourably inclined towards the idea. The idea is not novel. During last year's Assembly in Montreal it was brought up. The proposal was then tabled since those present felt that the time had not yet come for such a move.

Other decisions of importance were those concerning the international programme of action. The Assembly set a target of $20,000 to be raised by local committees for support to universities in other parts of the world. Five projects were chosen for special preference: INDIA, JAPAN, HONG KONG, VIETNAM and SOUTH AFRICA.

The Assembly also recommended that the summer programme for 1958 should for preference take place in Yugoslavia, which country has sent an invitation to that extent.

An important decision was taken by one of our local members. Ron Pearsall, who built up the local organization as it now exists from nothing in the last two years, resigned from the local committee. Ron has done a tremendous job and has shown an organizational talent almost unmatched on this or any other campus. We congratulate Ron on a very difficult job well done.

SPORTS REVIEW

to figure their chances to win the title, and that is no exaggeration. Contests of an athletic nature, however, have an unusual habit of being completely unpredictable. Mount Allison is not invincible and must eventually suffer defeat. The Mountie back-field scores with a fast and powerful attack. If the Bombers stop this attack before it gets started, and with the advantage of home field and friendly fans, they would probably upset this highly touted marshlands crew. It must be remembered that UNB was ahead in that game at Sackville in the first quarter. Perhaps at College Field they will stay in front all the way. They might just do it.

Here are the standing for the NBCFU after last Monday's action. Mount Allison stands atop the league with a 3-0 record and six points to its credit. Saint John and UNB each have two points, but the former has two wins and a loss, compared with the Bomber's 1-1 showing. It should be noted that games between Saint John and Moncton, which holds down the cellar position, count only one point in the standings. In the N.B. Inter-collegiate which is figured separately from the NBCFU, UNB have a 2-1 record. They are followed by Mount A with 1-0, while STC have no wins in two starts.
