THE LONDONDERRY TIMES

SATURDAY, MAY 12, 1888.

Police Force.

A meeting was called some time ago to consider the best way to reduce the sale and drinking of liquor in this town. A large number obeyed the summons, and Temperance Hall was crowded to its utmost capacity. Most earnest appeals were made to those present by some of the resident clergy and by others who took part in the meeting. It was thought by all that there was a great deal too much noise and disturbance on our streets during the week of the March pay, and in order to prevent a repetition of the disorderly conduct of some, it was considered practical to make some provision for a police force. In a very short time very nearly fifty dollars were subscribed for the purpose. Accordingly five men were on the "beat" pay night and the two following nights, and as a result the April pay was one of the quietest in the history of the place. This is a strong argument for the permanent establishment of a regular police force. We firmly believe that Acadia Mines should have, at least, one good policeman, who shall devote his whole time to the preservation of peace and good order in our town. We do not, for any moment, believe that we have within our borders a worse class of men than other places, but to the contrary we believe that it would be difficult to find a more civil and intelligent class of workmen anywhere. Remove the temptation and Acadia Mines will be a model town. Close the rumshops and this will be a most desirable place to live. But while the town is willing to support the rum-sellers, who are responsible for all the noise and rowdiness that we have here, it should also be willing to support some one to put down the disturbance.

While liquor is sold here on our property, our homes and our families demand protection from its ravages. Let the town either stop the business or furnish the funds to keep a policeman.

"The Guardian" says that THE LONDONDERRY TIMES is densely ignorant, like its predecessor, "The Week's Doings." We appreciate the compliment very much. If the initial issue of our paper is worthy a position beside the paper lately published here, we feel greatly encouraged. We hardly expected such a compliment so soon. When we remember that every discussion in which the "Week's Doings" participated, the form or always was more than a match for the latter; or, as we call it to mind the occasion on which an astute lawyer of Truro attempted to measure pens with the editor of "The Week's Doings" on the iron question and gladly withdrew from the discussion, we must say that the "Guardian's" remarks are most flattering.

If dense ignorance win in the discussion of public questions then let us be ignorant. If dense ignorance, with facts and figures, can dispose of the sophistries of a learned lawyer so triumphantly as did our predecessor, then we too would be ignorant. If dense ignorance consist in a thorough acquaintance with the leading industries of our county and battling for them, then let all be densely ignorant. Acadia, the man is to be pitied who thinks that he knows every thing and that every one else knows nothing. The testimony of all the most learned men of all ages has been that it was when they knew the least that they professed to know the most, and the more they learned the less they thought they knew. The college freshman generally feels as though he could teach the professors a great deal, while the senior realizes that he knows very little. And so it is in every department of life. The greater, the more he persists in calling all other men rogues. The more one is addicted to making false statements the more apt is he to accuse others of the same faulting. The less one knows the more ready is he to call others ignorant. So the "Guardian's" shouting about dense ignorance is no argument, that the editor of that paper possesses any more knowledge than his fellows.

Extortion.

We notice in going our rounds a great deal of anxiety felt and expressed by a number of merchants and landlords in Acadia Mines and vicinity, with regard to the difficulties and general dissatisfaction which appear to exist between the men and the Londonderry Iron Co. We would like to say a few words and give a little advice, if heeded no doubt would prove beneficial to all concerned in the welfare and prosperity of Acadia Mines. At a meeting held in St. Bridget's Hall last Monday evening the workman spoke to Mr. Patterson in reference to recovering the advance of 15 per cent which was taken off them some three or four years ago. Mr. Patterson, in reply, stated that under the present existing circumstances it would be impossible to recover it, or could he hold out any inducement in the near future, whereby their request could be granted. We also hear the men pretty severely criticised for the action taken in demanding the advance so soon after the new company taking hold, and expending a large amount of capital on the extension of the works and increased facilities. But we fail to ever hear one word of rebuke or blame attributed to these blood-sucking landlords, who are almost wholly responsible for all the trouble. They know quite well that houses are scarce and are taking advantage of the men, and are determined to make the best of it. During the past month they have increased their rents from 30 to 70 per cent. Can any man, with reason or a sense of justice, wonder at men asking an advance under such circumstances. Why increase the rent without increasing wages in the same proportion? We know Acadia Mines is booming, that it is employing double the number of hands it was a year ago; but men are not receiving one cent more wages than they were three years ago, and if this kind of thing continues the men will have to demand the advance asked for, and if refused, as Mr. Patterson distinctly stated that it would be, they would have to close up if it were. What would these shells or houses, as they call them, be worth in that case? We think if property-holders are wise to their own interests as they appear to be, they will let the rents remain as they are for the present at least.

For our part we think it would be advisable and to the interest of the company if they would take this matter in their own hands and provide suitable dwellings for men in their employ, letting employers have them at a nominal figure, thereby making living as cheap and comfortable as circumstances would permit, by so doing it will tend to lessen the dissatisfaction which appears so general.

As we stated in our last issue the majority of these landlords are non-residents of this place, and positively refuse to even contribute a small proportion to the support of our schools by way of taxes, and are the very worst suckers the mechanic has to deal with. But if the company undertake what we have proposed, we may see these non-resident landlords having their houses loaded up and placed "to let" for one dollar per month, for which they are now extracting from six dollars to eight dollars per month. We sincerely hope it may be so.

Hox. Postmaster General McLellan, before concluding his reply to Sir Richard Cartwright's criticisms on the Budget Speech, made things quite warm for him, and had the opposition feeling rather uncomfortable. He rode rather shod over the Grit pessimist, handling him without gloves, knocking and scattering the flimsy arguments and false assertions of the opposition, as a child would so toy soldiers.

GENERAL NEWS.

A sad affair happened yesterday at Sydney Mines, 9th, whereby a young fellow named Corkney lost his life. It seems there was some ball and the deceased had some words with another lad named McDonald, of Sydney Mines. The latter took his hat and struck deceased across the stomach, which caused him to stagger with his arms flailing for a few feet and then dropped dead. An inquest will be held this afternoon.—(Chron.)

HIDDEN IN A CHIMNEY.—A curious discovery is reported from Harrisburg, Penn., on April 27, as workmen were clearing down an old building in McKeesport a few days ago. The house was built in 1838 by the late Orlando Grier, an eccentric citizen of the place. Built in with the brick of the chimney the workmen came upon a pint flask filled with whiskey. A label, giving the date of distillation of the liquor as 1828, was on the bottle. Near it was found a small tin box, containing written information that Grier had placed the flask in the chimney when the house was built, and a singular series of prophecies, the most remarkable of which were the following:

"Thirty-five years from this year slavery will not exist in this land, but it will have cost the lives of thousands to make the change. Men will converse from bench to bench of the ocean, and will drink and drink will overthrow the Bend run. The tallow candle will not even be used to grease boots. Men will touch the wall as Moses touched the rock for water, and light will dispel the darkness. Prohibition will be a battle cry. The first will fall, the latter prevail for a time, wax weak, and men will again court the cup. The flask of spirits which I place here with will rise in the midst of a conflict which will claim it as one of the principals.—(Boston Herald, Smith.)"

The Montreal cricket club reorganized on Tuesday night. Their talk of forming an athletic association "this summer" is that in St. John.

Jim Fell and Billy Gallego the "mystriculous boxer" are to fight to finish with two ounce gloves for $250 a side and a guaranteed purse of $500 a side of a week.

The race on the Parantia "river" between Hanlan and Kemp, was won by the latter, beating the Canadian champion five lengths.

Jack Dempsey is sparring a week's engagement at Grand Street, Montreal, Williamsburg, this week, and a purse is offered to anyone who will stand before him for four rounds.

Capt. James C. Dohy has challenged Prof. William Miller, the almond athlete, to a Grosse-R-man wrestling match, to be held in this town, for $250 a side and guaranteed receipts.

Sporting men in Philadelphia are gloomy over the fact that Arthur Chandler has been refused a license for his Champion's Rest. Arthur and Harry Hill can mingle tears in their cup of disappointment.

The Atlanta club's committee waited upon the Socials Wednesday evening for the purpose of arranging a series of ball games, but the latter were not prepared just then to confer. Another meeting will shortly be held.

Foran Athletic Club and the largest athletic club of the Pacific coast, is expected to reach New York city the latter part of June, and within a month after his arrival he will engage in a 10-round glove contest with Dominick McCaffrey for gate receipts.

The annual picnic and games of the Boston Cadet Club will be held on May 22, at some place as yet undecided. An effort is to be made to bring George Davidson, the noted athlete, to this country from Scotland to compete in the games.

Jack C. Magee says that he will fight Pete McCoy under any management outside that of the Crib Club of Boston, any way he wants it, 10 or 20 rounds or a finish, and any time that suits McCoy. All Jack wants is fight.

Immediately on receipt of the news of the defeat of Hanlan, Tenner issued a challenge to row Kemp for the championship of the world and $5,000, Tenner to be allowed $300 for expenses to go to Australia, or Kemp to receive $1,000 to come to America.

The Irish championship athletic meeting takes place at Ballsbridge, Dublin, May 21. One hundred and fifty entries have been received. The gold championship crosses, which are supposed, are on exhibition already. The meeting, it is thought, will be the most successful one ever held in Ireland.

The Shamrocks failing to get a match on with the Woodstockers telegraphed the Quodley Eastport, along a game for the Queen's birthday, and received a dispatch from H.V. Jones that the Quodley were not organized. The Atlanta of Halifax are organized, who will write friendly match on the 24th? George W. Atkinson, of the "Sporting Life," London, writes that Kilrain will make a match with John L. Sullivan for $5,000 a side, but that the whole strike must be put up at the time of the signing of articles of agreement, so that Sullivan will have to pay a large forfeit in case he fails to fight. Sullivan's manager, Harry Phillips, has expressed himself perfectly satisfied with this offer. Jake Kilrain, writing to a friend in Baltimore about Sullivan, says: "John L. is the biggest fighter you ever saw. As a times in the late fight Mitchell had him beaten several times. He started in to kill Charley in a round or two, but after 120 minutes fighting he was content to stand off and spar. Talk about a small ring, what he would have done, why, I saw him have Mitchell in a corner over twenty times and then never do anything dangerous. Several times he stood off and dared not go to close. After all his talk about me, he said he was my best friend, and that he always thought I could whip Smith."
