C.N.R. CLEAN UP FREIGHT

Great Activity on the Whole Western System—Six Hundred Cars From Regina

The Canadian Northern have cleaned up the yards here and in the last twenty days have hauled out over 600 cars. This activity has also been applied to the main line with even more satisfactory results. They have twenty first class eighty ton engines on that line and haul enormous loads. The roadbed is in good shape and notwithstanding that the shipping is very brisk they are gaining on the work which got so much ahead of them during the winter. Much of the freight was shipped early in the winter, so even in December and there is more or less confusion resulting from the long delay. Things, however, are coming around all right and before the wheat is ready to move the freight traffic will be under control. Freight crews realize that the company is up against a big business rush that will take unusual efforts to handle and they are doing everything possible to help things out. A crew of four with a heavy local freight were thirty hours on duty from Humboldt to Battleford and they were tired out after the trip. They would not attempt to undergo such hardship except for the fact that the work has got so far behind and they are willing to make the sacrifice for the interests of the company and its patrons. The Canadian Northern is to the north part of the province what the C.P.R. is to the south and there is no doubt from appearances at present that with proper organization even after the knocks of the past winter, they will yet make good.

MODERN BATTLEFORD

Old Historic Town Awakened—Waterworks, Sewerage and Electric Lights—Twin Cities

Battleford, Sask., May 14.—The historic town of Battleford which at one time was the capital of the Northwest Territories is experiencing a wonderful growth and this is due to the fact that the town has facilities that accompany progress and prosperity. The old town debentures for waterworks, sewerage and electric light plant will soon be sold and already the council have well underway the preliminaries of improvements which will place us among the up-to-date communities. On Friday last representatives of the various contracting firms met the council and discussed the different schemes submitted. The complete works will be installed this season.

The construction of the new traffic bridge will bring the two towns less than three miles apart and they will be the St. Paul and Minneapolis of Saskatchewan. The townsite property handed over by the Dominion government, together with the local public improvements carried on by the provincial government amount to a million dollars. This town is not experiencing any boom but there is a steady growth that is attracting wide attention. Settlers are pouring into this country and the land offices on both sides of the river are crowded all the time. Many are going south to the new C.N.R. and G.T.P. lines. The latter company have been busy on construction work this winter, working twelve horses on each plow. Their head quarters for supplies and equipment is just west of the town at the junction of the main line and spur of the C.N.R. The whole north country is in a state of rapid transition, and in another few years will be wealthy and populous.

DOINGS AT THE DIAMOND

Warman is Having Many Industrial Improvements—C.N.R. Facilities

Warman, Sask., May 14.—There'll be doings at the diamond this summer. The C.N.R. is putting in another side track and the material is on the ground for the extension to the station and for the new freight sheds. All the space between the tracks main line and spur off the branch will be planked. The Messers Harris Co., the Prince Albert Lumber Co. and other large concerns are to erect large transfer houses here this season, and there is no doubt that the population of the town will be doubled before fall. The town put down a well and after going 125 feet struck an inexhaustible supply of soft water, which is giving the best of satisfaction. Situated at the junction of the roads on the C.N.R.

system and with the immense distributing business transferred here, Warman has bright prospects and offers promising opportunities for the investment of capital.

The fact that Hugh Sutherland, E. A. James and other C.N.R. officials hold blocks of property in the town shows that the railway company does not intend to pass us up, and their property is not on the market.

DOUKHOBORS NATURALIZE

Mr. Justice Johnstone Makes two Hundred British Subjects—Some Won't Comply

Mr. Justice Johnstone returned from Yorkton on Saturday where he held court and naturalized two hundred Doukhobors. The Department of the Interior recently issued an order that these people would have to become naturalized and go on their land or their rights would be cancelled. Many Doukhobors have accepted the conditions, and are becoming British subjects. Others adhere to their former beliefs and are determined to live in communities and refuse to become citizens. All who do not comply will have no further rights under the agreement entered into when they came to the country. The Doukhobor question has caused the government a lot of worry, but Mr. Oliver has taken hold of the situation with a firm hand and he is meeting with a fair measure of success.

The Colony at Langham have asked the government to exchange land there for land at Yorkton but this has been refused, and they are likely to prove stubborn.

OLD TIMER SEEKS CHANGE

Capt. Andrews Who Sailed the Saskatchewan in Early Days Goes to Coast

Captain Andrews and family of Saskatoon, came in from the north on Saturday en route to Victoria where they will reside for the summer at least and possibly for the future.

Captain Andrews is an "old sea dog" who came west in the early days from the Maritime provinces. He owned a stern wheeler named the May Queen on the Saskatchewan and sailed from Medicine Hat to Prince Albert, having a very interesting but not very profitable voyage. He abandoned the freighting on the river and took up a homestead near Saskatoon. During the rebellion he had charge of the ferries under Gen. Middleton to whom he became closely attached through the proficient service he rendered at that time.

When the industrial development struck Saskatoon Capt. Andrews, who lived close to the city sold his farm at a handsome figure and is now able to take life easier. He will go into the steamboat business at the coast, if, after spending the summer there, he decides to remain. Speaking of the industrial development around Saskatoon the Capt. said that last year he saw land sell for $125 per acre which in the early days was sold for forty dollars taxes.

Mountain Lumber Dealers Make Another Advance—Consumers are up Against it—Retailers Can't Help it

The mountain mills recently advanced the prices of lumber on an average of two dollars per thousand and the retail dealers must make a corresponding increase to maintain their margin of profit. This action of the mills following so closely the report of the investigation at Ottawa is regarded in some quarters as a direct defiance to parliament and the consumers. This latest advance will seriously handicap building operations throughout the west, but there does not appear to be any remedy unless parliament takes action. The timber limits of British Columbia are now in the hands of men who fix the lumber prices, and direct interference seems improbable. The statement is made by retail dealers that notwithstanding the advance in wholesale prices, the consumer would not feel a burden if the railway companies were to be more reasonable in their freight charges. It is said that the bigger end of the retailers bill is in freight charges on a shipment of lumber. The retailers are no doubt in the hands of the wholesalers and they must make every advance the mills dictate. The situation is very serious as the prices now almost make building prohibitive.

DEATH OF FORD JONES

Well Known Lawyer and Citizen Passes Away at Saranac Lake—Death Unexpected

After a long and heroic fight with throat trouble from which he had been suffering for some years, Ford Jones of the law firm of Jones, Gordon & Bryant, and a popular Regina citizen, passed away at Saranac Lake, N.Y. on Monday last surrounded by his wife and children. The body has been taken to the old home at Brockville for interment.

Deceased had only crossed the meridian of life and was comparatively a young man. He has been very successful in law and built up a large and lucrative business in the city. He was a prominent member of the legal fraternity in this city. Deceased graduated from Trinity college and took his three year law course at Osgoode Hall. Coming to Regina he entered into partnership with T. C. (now Mr. Justice) Johnson and afterwards with the late Caley Hamilton. Lately he has been the senior member of the firm of Jones, Gordon & Bryant. About the middle of September deceased went to the Adirondacks to regain his failing health and his condition gave evidence of improving. Notwithstanding that his partner, A. L. Gordon called on him recently and wrote hopefully of his condition, but a few days after the death summons came, and the Regina friends received the sad intelligence that our popular citizen had crossed the bourne. The family have the sincere sympathy of their many friends and acquaintances.

The Regina Bar met Tuesday and arranged to send a floral wreath.

DROWNING AND INQUEST

A farmer named Le Flein who lives about eight miles north, was drowned in Boggy Creek while crossing with a team and wagon. Deceased was a married man and leaves a wife and family.

Owing to the circumstances attending the death of Le Flein, Coroner Thomson thinks it necessary to hold an inquest. It appears that the deceased was in the city on Saturday in company with Oliver Leveraux and left after dark for home. They no doubt missed the bridge at Boggy Creek and then tried to cross the creek at Grant's bridge. The family got word of the accident from Leveraux who called at six o'clock on Sunday morning and asked if Mr. Le Flein was home. He told where they had got into trouble the night before and the son of the deceased followed the ravine till he came upon the horses and wagon under which was the father lying dead but in only a few inches of water. One of the horses died on being released from the wagon.

Further particulars will no doubt come out at the inquest.

An anniversary supper and entertainment was held in the Rae street Methodist church on Monday evening. There was a good program. The proceeds amounted to $55.

"ALL IS WELL"

Notwithstanding that at the middle of May not more than fifty per cent of the wheat seeding in this province has been done, to the question, "What is the outlook?" the old timers answer, "All is well."

That this is an exceedingly backward spring and that business, consequently is a little sluggish, everyone knows, but there is no necessity for getting the "blues" for by the end of this week the wheat crop will be well in, and it will take more than the prognostications of a Foster or a citation from a Hudson's Bay diary (a hundred years old) to convince the men who have made successful farmers in this country, that the seedtime and harvest prophesy will fall this year.

It is only reasonable to presume, however, that the wheat area of the whole west as well as that of the northern States will be much less than last year, and there will be a corresponding increase in the acreage of coarse grain.

The conditions which prevailed throughout the winter were spread almost over this entire continent and at present backward weather extends from Northern Saskatchewan to the middle States. In fact, in the wheat States to the south of us, they have had much snow during the last month and this has kept the air loaded with cold moisture, so that instead of getting balmy breezes from the south we get the tail end of snow storms.

It is a fact that a hundred miles north of Regina there is more seeding done and it is much more summer-like than it is a hundred miles to the south. Of course in the deep gullies along the valley of the Saskatchewan and the Qu'Appelle there is lots of snow yet, and the ice in the northern Saskatchewan a few days ago would carry a heavy load, and this helps to keep the air chilly in that vicinity, yet along the northern part of the Prince Albert branch and the C.N.R. main line west of the branch, farmers are making good headway.

The new settlers are, however, not favorably impressed with the weather conditions and the heavy immigration this year is into the north country. Families who have to drive from thirty to sixty miles with oxen endure a great deal of hardship and find conditions somewhat inconsistent with the reports of the warm sunshine on the prairies. There is no use minimizing the fact that the new comers are getting "cold feet" and the government and people of the country should make things as easy for the settlers as possible till they see the brighter side of farm life in the Canadian West.

At the present time the topic is general that mixed farming throughout the country would eliminate any apprehensions as to the crop prospects, and if the department of agriculture were to undertake a vigorous campaign along those lines at present it would have good results among the new comers without injuring the reputation of the country as the "bread basket of the world."

It cannot be denied that this is a peculiar spring following an exceedingly bad winter and there is much guessing as to the outcome, but the

Immigration to Other Provinces Removes Reason for Retention of Saskatchewan Lands--Mr. Lake Moves Resolution but Laurier Objects

In the House of commons during the session which has just closed, Mr. Lake, member for Qu'Appelle, moved an amendment to the resolution respecting the financial arrangements, and this amendment consisted of a resolution passed by the provincial Rights convention. Sir Wilfrid, however, rose to a point of order, and only a portion of that resolution appears in Hansard. The ground, for Mr. Lake's amendment was the settlement with Saskatchewan in lieu of lands was made because the government deemed it advisable to retain the lands for immigration purposes, and as the report of the Interior Department showed that the bulk of immigration goes to eastern Canada, the arrangements with the provinces should be amended to provide that the lands in Saskatchewan be transferred to the control of the provincial government. The Hansard report of Mr. Lake's speech is as follows:

London, March 25, p. 5380.)
Mr. R. S. Lake (Qu'Appelle).—Mr. Speaker, I have another amendment to move to the resolution which is before the House. It has reference to the public lands of the new provinces and the compensation that is being paid therefor, and is therefore, I presume, relevant to the question before the House. This is a question that has been very much debated in this House during the last two years one which was discussed at full length in connection with the bills which were passed regarding the new western provinces. I do not, therefore, intend to detain the House more than a few moments at this late hour. I do not think as a matter of fact, that there is one member in this House who will deny that it would be in accordance with the spirit of our constitution that every province of the Dominion should have the full ownership and control of the lands lying within its boundaries. During the discussion of the autonomy acts in the House, almost every gentleman who spoke on the other side of the House, has said that the spirit as well as the letter of the constitution should be observed in passing legislation in regard to the new provinces.

That was urged over and over again with regard to nearly all the very knotty points which have been decided. But there was one noticeable exception, and that was with regard to the public lands of the provinces. In the case of the public lands the spirit of the constitution was entirely departed from. All the arguments adduced were to the effect of proving that this parliament would have the right if it choose to withhold the public domain from the new provinces. The spirit of the constitution having been cast aside, the main argument turned upon the expediency of the case. Some strong arguments were put up on this side, notably by my hon. friend from Jacques Cartier (Mr. Monk) to the effect that it was not only contrary to the spirit of the constitution, but the actual letter of the British North America act, that these lands should be withheld from the new provinces. No argument, so far as I can find out, was put up to disprove the arguments made from this side of the House except in one case of the then minister of justice (Mr. Fitzpatrick). But while the minister quoted one of the reports of the committee of the privy council, he rested most of his case upon the precedent of Manitoba. He said that this House should consider not only the terms of the British North America act, but the written constitution together with the unwritten constitution which has grown up by practice and usage. It was mainly that point on which he based his argument. It would be unnecessary to point out to the government that they need not have gone so far in their search of a precedent. They need not go back to 1869 when some of these lands, which come under exactly the same category as those out of which the new provinces were composed, were handed over to the province of Quebec, and given into the absolute possession of that province. But while the question of expediency was the chief question which was discussed on the other side, there was one member of the government who went a great deal further than any of his colleagues. That was the

Dear Sirs,—After having had the opportunity of trying the "New Scale Williams" Piano, I do not hesitate to declare it perfectly satisfactory in every respect in the beauty of tone, etc. The mechanism is perfect. inexpedient to depart from the recognized policy of the British empire, that lands within the boundaries of any colony should be vested in the crown in the right of that colony. I would point out that the argument for retaining control of the provincial lands at Ottawa is on a level with those used in the old days for controlling the lands of a colony from London. The British government attempted to enforce that control with results certainly detrimental to the best interests of the empire. And I would say that so long as the Dominion attempted to enforce the control of the lands of the western provinces from Ottawa, so long will there be friction in the west.

If I were to argue the question of expediency again, I would say that it is highly inexpedient that some provinces should exist on an inferior plane to others. I would argue that it is expedient that all the provinces should have equal rights; and I would contend that confederation can never be a permanent structure unless it is founded on the basis of equal rights and privileges to one and all. I would argue that it is expedient that all business in connection with the public domain in these western provinces should be conducted from a point so far distant from them as Ottawa. Such an arrangement must as the main argument. That was the clause which began by stating that another consideration had considerable weight with the members of the privy council in bringing them to form a conclusion. That consideration was that it was necessary, in order to maintain the immigration policy of this country, that the control of the lands should be in the hands of the same authority as was controlling the immigration. I wish to point out that the condition that now completely changed, and that the last reports brought down by the minister of the Interior (Mr. Oliver) show that the larger portion of the immigration is now going to the provinces in the east. Therefore, the reason adduced by the government on that date can no longer have any weight. I think anybody who went through these debates will agree with me that the government apparently recognise the fact that they had no constitutional argument to advance for the holding of the ownership of these lands from the various provinces—at any rate no argument which they considered of any weight—and based the whole of their plea practically on the matter of expediency. But, as I have pointed out, the expediency no longer exists as the conditions have changed. If I were to argue the question from the view of expediency, I would say it is

DROWNED WHILE DRUNK

Coroner's Jury says Le Flem Died from Drowning while Intoxicated—The Evidence

Drowned while drunk, is in effect, the finding of the coroner's jury in the case of William Le Flem who met his death in Boggy Creek on Saturday evening while driving home from the city with Oliver Levertault who was also intoxicated and who was probably driving when the horses plunged into the river. The latter, who was arrested after the accident, was charged with vagrancy, and sentenced to ten days. This was done to retain him as a witness. Levertault comes from Somerset, Man.

The coroner's jury sat in Wright Bros. establishment on Wednesday afternoon, the first witness being Louis Lafayette, a colored farmer living north of the city, who testified that on Saturday evening about seven o'clock a wagon team drove up to his house and almost put the neckyoke through the window. One man was driving and another was lying in the bottom of the wagon. One of the horses fell while turning and the driver got out and kicked the animal in the head. Witness got the man away from the horses and started the team on the road towards the north. Witness could not identify the man who was driving, but he thought it was the fellow in custody.

Doctor's Evidence Dr. Nyblet who made a post mortem testified that drowning was the probable cause of death.

Farmer Awakened John Dalgleish, who lives near Boggy Creek, was awakened about eight o'clock Sunday morning by a man whom he identified as the prisoner. The fellow said he was wet and cold and wanted to be taken in. When asked where he came from prisoner said that a farmer named Le Flem asked him to drive him home from Regina and the horses got into the creek. Witness sent the fellow over to Le Flem's to see if he got home.

Got Drink at Von's A Von Fetter bartender at Von's hotel testified that the prisoner got some drinks at their house on Saturday, but he could not identify the deceased. The prisoner was not badly intoxicated.

Son of Deceased W. Le Flem son of deceased, gave evidence saying that his father left home on Saturday morning to go to Regina. He had five dollars on him. The father did not return at the usual hour and they wondered what came to the house and asked if his father were home, and said that witness ought to go down to the creek and see where the horses got in. Witness left on horseback and rode about three miles when he came upon the team and wagon. One horse was lying down dead, and he looked into the wagon and found his father's lifeless body. He tried to get the one horse up but before he could do so the animal had also died. His father's face was almost submerged. He was lying on his back. His father was not addicted to drink and when he took liquor he was generally sick next day. In the wagon with the body were some parcels worth about two dollars. His father had a $1.50 in his pocket.

Levertault Testifies The man who accompanied the deceased and the last person to see him alive was next put on oath. He had spent the winter at Pense working for a farmer and came to Regina about a week ago. He had no money and was sleeping wherever he could get a bed. After strolling around the east end hotels on Saturday he met deceased at Von's hotel, and they recognised each other as Frenchmen and talked and drank whisky and gin. About six o'clock Le Flem asked him to help hitch the horses and they went and got ready for home. Witness accompanied deceased to the mill where they were to get some chop but the place was closed. They then went and got a flask of whiskey and started. They took a few drinks on the road, and deceased got so drunk he fell out of the wagon. Witness helped him in again and they both sat in the bottom of the wagon. The horses were driving themselves very much of the time and went into La Fayette's. After leaving this farmers place witness lost his memory somewhat and remembered nothing till the horses hit the water. He realised that they were in danger and got out and unhitched the team but he could not get them up the bank. He noticed Le Flem lying in the wagon and tried to lift him up but he could not do it. He did not think that the fellow was dead. After remaining there about two hours witness wandered over to the first house he sighted. This was Dalgleish's. He then went to Le Flem and told of the accident. He considered that under the circumstances he did all he could to save the life of the deceased. They were both drunk and it was an accident for which he does not consider he was to blame.

Charge to Jury Coroner Thomson after hearing all the evidence charged the jury that there are too many cases like that before them. Men die suddenly from too much drinking, and the time has come for a coroner's jury to consider if it is their duty to make strong recommendations to the government regarding it.

Brief Finding After retiring the jury found that deceased met his death by drowning in Boggy Creek while in a state of intoxication.

The prisoner Levertault was taken to the barracks to serve ten days as a vag and it is probable that there will be no further charges laid against him.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house.

A Lazy Liver May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver, and a simple sweet fruit man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A simple sweet fruit indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in order and you will see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burden imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irritable bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," yawning or distress in stomach, or other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and well.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and attested by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

PRESS COMMENTS

(Butte News.)

An interesting and picturesque personality is that of Gen. Louis Botha the former Boer leader and present premier of the Transvaal. The son of a French army officer who migrated to South Africa and married a Dutch woman, he was initiated into the game of war in a battle with the Zulus before he was 20 years old. He entered public life at a time when the Uitlander question was fast becoming critical; his attitude toward the English speaking residents was more moderate than Oom Paul's. Botha was opposed to the course taken by the Transvaal government that made war inevitable, and although no one was more earnestly in support of the independence of the Transvaal, he was one of the few Boers who realised that a war would destroy the last vestige of Transvaal autonomy. Joubert too the same view, and hung back until some of the hot-heads called him a traitor. When the war burst over the country neither of them fought any the less bravely for his innermost conviction that it was a terrible mistake.

Beyond his single brush with the Zulus several years before, Botha knew nothing of war when he took the field, yet, at the age of 35, he was made commander-in-chief and placed in immediate command of the 13,000 Boers who had beleaguered Ladysmith. That he kept prisoner an army almost equal to his own in strength, and stood off a much larger army pressing to its relief, was a military feat that few men have accomplished. Finally when he was dislodged, he retreated in good order. The battles of Colenso and Spion Kop had established Botha firmly in his position, and had disarmed the covert hostility of some of the burghers, who had regarded his youth as a strong argument against his choice as commander. As the war went on Botha gradually came to his full growth in the estimation of his followers.

It was decided that he should be the next president of the Transvaal, and that his birthday should be a national holiday, in the event of ultimate success.

It is strange indeed, that he should attain by defeat what he must have contemplated as his sweetest fruit of victory. Botha attributes much of his political success to his wife, who, by the way, was a cillin from Erin's Isle.

A Lazy Liver May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver, and a simple sweet fruit man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A simple sweet fruit indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in order and you will see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burden imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irritable bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," yawning or distress in stomach, or other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and well.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and attested by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

Mr. Lake—But the matter of these lands, of course, has a direct bearing on these payments which are made in lieu of these lands and which are referred to indirectly in the resolution before the house. The resolution passed.

Mr. Speaker—So far as I can gather the lands are an entirely different matter from this scheme of payments to the different provinces which is the question before the house. I do not think that the hon. gentleman (Mr. Lake) is in order, but I am prepared to hear the point discussed.

Mr. Sproule—I suppose you will dispose first with this point of order. Mr. Speaker) There is consideration given these provinces in lieu of their lands, and that is provided under the resolutions.

Mr. Fielding—No, there is nothing in these resolutions concerning compensations for lands.

Mr. Lake—I might point out that the amendment proposed by the prime minister (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) today had a distinct reference to the payment of any special grant hereafter made by the parliament of Canada, to any province for any special purpose in such grant expressed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier—This is simply to say that any special privilege given to any province by special act outside section 118 of the British North America act is not to be affected by the resolutions.

Mr. Speaker—It seems to me that the whole question involved in the motion is the scheme of payments to be made by Canada to the several provinces, and that the question dealing with the land, so far as the provinces are concerned is entirely out of order.

Mr. Lake—I must of course bow to your ruling, Mr. Speaker.

SHOOTS HIS FRIEND. St. Paul, May 9.—Harry Dresser, 33 years old, shot and killed Archie Riemer, 13 years old, at New Auburn, Minn., and then placed the barrel of a revolver in his own mouth and fired, dying from the effect of the shot in thirty minutes. They had been intimate friends and Dresser wanted young Riemer to go on a fishing expedition. The boy declined, saying that he had to attend school, whereas Dresser began to shoot. It is believed that Dresser's friends here that he was demoted at the time.

HOSPITAL AND GAS BY-LAWS

Class Meeting Discusses the By-Laws--Alderman Ball Presents Gas Case--Woods Against

A mass meeting was held in the city hall last evening to discuss the hospital and gas by-laws which are to be voted on in this city tomorrow. The chair was taken by Ald. Thomson, acting mayor.

Hospital Scheme C. E. D. Wood, vice-president of the hospital board next presented, on behalf of the board of managers the proposal to transfer the Victoria hospital to the city and operate a large municipal institution. The proposal is to raise $100,000 on debentures and supplement this by giving the city the present property which will net them about $50,000.

Wood and Gas. Speaking to the gas proposal C. E. D. Wood stated that as a ratepayer he was opposed to the Springer-Eaton franchise. His clients had made a proposition to the city because they thought, if the council was bound to grant a franchise, a local concern should get a look in, but they were not treated as they should have been in this matter. He believes that the city can put in a municipal plant and save money for the ratepayers. We have nearly a million dollars in assets and which at present are not producing revenue. The gas plant would be revenue producing and there would be as much money in the proposal for the city as for Springer and Eaton. Under any circumstances he considers that the Marshall-Young proposal has saved the city twenty-five cents a thousand feet as they brought down the Springer-Eaton that amount from their original price. He would like Regina to be in fact as well as in name a municipal ownership city.

Gas in Glasgow Mr. Summers spoke as a resident of Glasgow, the home of gas, and as a practical man. Inferior gas can be used for heating and gas will give satisfaction for light, heat and power.

Mr. Mytton's Views H. F. Mytton favored the proposed franchise. He stated that Mr. Wood came with a case prepared against the Springer-Eaton contract. Street improvements are an absolute necessity at present and must go ahead. Those who do not need gas do not have to use it if the price does not suit them, but if they do not use it intelligently before the ratepayers and he hoped they would vote on the by-laws in the best interests of the city.

Expert Evidence Dr. Charlton, bacteriologist, gave as his opinion that gas can not be used for heating profitably at $1.75 per thousand feet.

In Glasgow gas is produced at 25 cents, or equal to coal at 7 1/2 per ton. In his experiments as reported already in the West, Dr. Charlton found that coal from the Dirt Hills, south of Rouleau, the same as the Souris lignite, produces 8000 feet to the ton. The bi-product of this will produce cheap gas which can be used for heating purposes. There is coal in the mountains just as good for gas purposes as the Pittsburgh coal.

D. S. McCannel asked if the Springer-Eaton contract were not acted on in a year, what would be the result. Ald. Ball answered that the franchise would lapse. Ex-Ald. Balfour stated that this contract was nothing better than an option on a franchise for a year and the company would have that long to exploit this franchise.

C. C. Knight said that in his opinion that the company must go on with the work, is an obligation on them. Geo. Mollard thought there should be a cash deposit. D. A. McDonald favored the franchise. Mr. Allan criticised the wording of the contract, as also did Mr. Thomson. Ald. Wilkinson defended the proposal, not because the city is not able to go ahead with the work, but this is a good proposition to get work done, and after it is done to take it over at a fair valuation by which the city will make money on the project.

CONGRATULATIONS TO JUDGE JOHNSTONE

Yorkton, May 10.—On Tuesday morning Hon. Mr. Justice Johnstone of Regina, opened the last session of the supreme court of the North-West Territories in the Judicial District of Northern Saskatchewan here. When the next session of the court takes place this will have become the Yorkton Judicial District and the judge will be of the supreme court of Saskatchewan.

Before the session commenced, Mr. W. R. Parsons, senior member present of the Yorkton bar, congratulated his Lordship on his appointment to the position of judge of the supreme court and welcomed him on behalf of the members of the legal profession here. His Lordship made a suitable reply, thanking the members for their good wishes.

LAURIER MAKES GOOD

London, May 14.—The Imperial Conference at its closing session today adopted the motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in favor of an all-British subsidized steamship route from the United Kingdom to Australia by way of Canada. A committee is to be appointed to enquire into the cost of such a route and draw up a definite proposition on the subject. The motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is designed to bring about a reduction in freight charges, thus giving an indirect form of preference to the British colonies, reducing the time from England to Australia to twenty instead of thirty days and in the end diverting some of the traffic now going by way of New York.

KING vs. PRISCILLA LA FLEUR

Ottawa, May 14.—The exchequer court sat today to hear the case of the King vs. Priscilla LaFleur, et al. In these proceedings the attorney general of Canada informs the court that one George Archibald Montgomery, formerly of Johnson, Ont., died in the year 1903 at Regina, having previously disposed of a portion of his estate by will, but being intestate as to the residue.

The Crown claims the latter by way of escheat, alleging that Montgomery died unmarried and without next of kin. The defendant Priscilla LaFleur, was Montgomery's housekeeper for 17 years, and she claims the residue of the estate as executrix. The other defendants are claiming as next of kin.

Messrs. Latchford, K.C. and Dally appeared for the crown, and Messrs. French, K.C., Moss and Gordon for the defendants.

DEWDNEY PLACE

About Half a Mile from the Railway Station!

City of Regina

Dewdney Place

Offers Large Returns to the Early Investor

The incoming of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways demands the expansion of the City in the direction of Dewdney Place. Note the strategic position Dewdney Place occupies in this particular.

Dewdney Place Will become a centre of the railway development in REGINA CITY.

Network of Railways Make Dewdney Place REGINA Distributing Centre

Three great transcontinental lines make city important point on their western systems. Three new branch lines to enter city within the next eighteen months. The natural shipping centre for a vast area of most fertile country in the great American Wheat Belt. 225 Travellers make city their headquarters. Local freight rates give Regina wholesalers big advantage over Winnipeg and Eastern Houses.

Standing midway between Winnipeg and Calgary and in the centre of the richest portion of the great North American Wheat Belt, REGINA, with railways already radiating from it to the four points of the compass, occupies a position of exceptional commercial strength.

Regina's Liberal Track Site Policy Attracts Wholesale Firms & Manufacturers

Warehouses already planned for construction during present season aggregating over $300,000 in value as result of track site facilities offered by the city. Railway men pronounce Regina's comprehensive plan of spur tracks in wholesale centre as without an equal on the continent. Large implement and threshing machine and engine companies continue to make city their headquarters for Western Canada. Many factories employing large numbers of hands to build factories in industrial section of the city.

The Programme of Construction in this City for the Present Year

Is more comprehensive than that of any other community in the two new Provinces. It includes $3,000,000 worth of new buildings, made up of office blocks, stores, wholesale warehouses, factories, apartment blocks, municipal and government buildings, schools and a multitude of residences. In civic improvements Regina ranks with the greatest and most progressive communities on the American continent. The amount spent on municipal works will be $525,000 this year. It includes permanent roadways valued at $282,000, sidewalks $36,000, waterworks and sewer extensions $70,000, and about $135,000 in buildings. More convincing evidence of the permanence of the city's commercial standing could not be desired.

Dewdney Place

Is the closest Sub-Division and Industrial section of Regina that has been placed on the market during the last eighteen months and is in the midst of Great Railway Development

Regina stands second among the cities of the Dominion for the amount expended in building operations in 1906 per head of population.

The Regina and Calgary baseball teams will play in Railway Park on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The games start at 4.30.

Engineer Beame of the public works department is at Warman arranging for the replacing of the ferry across the river near Aberdeen.

Gen. Supt. Price, Frank Lee, division engineer, Supt. Brownlee and Bueth Sims, local engineer, were in the city yesterday to meet the city council respecting matters affecting both the company's and city's interests. The officials were taken for an automobile ride and saw the warehouse trackage proposed by the city. Mr. Price took objection to the proposal to cut through the C.P.R. garden for the purpose of straightening Hamilton street. He, however, favored the sub-way scheme for Albert street and the necessary steps to do this will be undertaken at once. The visitors went west from here but will return tomorrow to discuss water rates with the council and to look over their freight yards.

J. L. Poyart, one of the '82 settlers of the Regina district is at present a brakeman on the C.N.R. main line between Humboldt and Battleford. In conversation with The West lately Mr. Poyart told how he sowed three crops which were failures. He went to British Columbia where he remained until last year when he returned to this province. He was very much interested in the story of Regina's growth and rapid progress as an agricultural and industrial centre. He asked about the McCannel boys, the Eyoys and other old timers whom he knew in the early days.

The death of W. B. Pocklington at Brandon on Monday removes from the stage of life in the west one of our oldest and most interesting figures, he having been in the public service for a quarter of a century. Deceased was well known in Regina where during later years he had been license inspector. He came to Canada from England in 1874 and enlisted in the R.N.W.M.P. three years later. He left the force to accept the Indian agency on the Blood reserve at McLeod where he made the acquaintance of Hon. F. W. G. and Wilnot Haultain over twenty-three years ago and ever since they have been close friends. They passed through a period of history unique in western annals and those pioneers are gradually becoming few in number. Mr. Pocklington was unmarried and was 60 years old. Last winter the deceased suffered a paralytic stroke and since that time has been practically a physical wreck, and during the last few months has been quite unconscious. Death was to him a blessing but his friends are very sad over his demise. The body will be brought here for interment, the funeral arrangements being in charge of the Masonic order. Burial will take place tomorrow.

A Claim and the Proof

DO YOU KNOW whether the Paints you use are the best your money will buy? Have you anything to go by except the seller's say so?

It is easy enough to "claim" that a certain brand of Paints is the best. It is quite another proposition to "substantiate" the claim.

The basis of our claim for "ENGLISH" LIQUID HOUSE PAINTS is the fact that the only White Lead used in their manufacture is BRANDAM'S B. B. GENUINE, for close on to two centuries the world's standard WHITE LEAD.

Our customers have used these paints both for inside and outside use, and they keep on using them because they give perfect satisfaction, which fact further substantiates our claim.

"Rex Flintkote" Roofing

To-day the man who has a barn, house or shed to build does not go blindly to the carpenter and say, "Please, Mr. Carpenter, build me a barn," but looks carefully into all the materials, satisfying himself in regard to the quality and economy of just what he is going to use. Heretofore everyone put shingles on his roof. To-day no thinking man is using shingles on his buildings, especially on a farm, which is generally far removed from the town fire apparatus. Anyone who has had a building burn knows what heroic efforts were necessary to save the other buildings from burning, on account of the shingles catching from flying sparks. Another thing: To-day it is impossible to get the kind of shingles that grandfathers used to make, made of good, clear, well-seasoned cedar. Shingles that are for sale to-day are made from the odds and ends that cannot be used for any other purpose. Ask the lumber dealer in your town, and he will corroborate this statement.

Here is where we come in with Rex Flintkote Roofing. There is probably more of this roofing being put on farm buildings throughout the United States and Canada than any other form of roofing, because it is absolutely fire resisting, will not catch from burning brands and sparks; is more durable, costs less for the material, and less for the labor to put it on than shingles. It presents a neat appearance on the roof, and on account of its insulating properties resists the heat and cold, and makes a building warmer in winter and cooler in summer than any other roofing.

Cheaper than shingles and put on like carpet. This store has sole agency for "REX FLINTKOTE."
