LISTER ELECTION.

BELFAST, May 26. H. M. Pollock, prospective Ulster Chancellor of the Exchequer, was elected on the second day in South Belfast, as was Sir Crawford McCullagh, former Lord Mayor, in East Belfast. Sir Dawson Bates, who is likely to be Home Secretary in the new Parliament, and Capt. Dixon, a friend of Sir James Craig, Premier designate of Ulster, were elected on the first day. Mrs. Julia McMerdo window of a former Lord Mayor of Belfast, also was elected in South Belfast. Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member of the British House of Commons, was elected with three Unionists in the "west" division, known as the cockpit of Belfast politics. Devlin also is running in County Antrim. The Unionists have done better in the elections than they anticipated. Sinn Fein is more than their prospects predicted and Nationalists no more than they looked for. Unionists are therefore the only party in Ulster to-day as disappointed. All, however, are celebrating, the Unionists because they have won, the Nationalists and Sinn Fein because they have made the protest against the partition of Ireland, and believe the protest will have its effect on the minds of the people of the world. Unionists expected to win 35 of 52 seats including those for the university which will be decided on Saturday. They will probably win 40 seats. Daniel McCann, Chief Lieutenant in Belfast of Joseph Devlin the Nationalist leader, had hoped for 14 seats but did not really believe that more than 12 Nationalists and Sinn Fein would be returned and he proved a good prophet.

ALLEYBY MAY ACT.

CAIRO, May 26. Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, British High Commissioner in Egypt, issued a statement to-day, referring to recent disorders, in which he says he is loath to intervene in party politics, but that in the last resort the responsibility for law and order devolves upon him.

A DANGEROUS ALLIANCE.

ATHENS, May 26. Soviet Russia and the Turkish Nationalist Government have agreed to a treaty, based upon mutual aid for the " emancipation of all peoples of the East and the absolute right of self-determination." It is announced here. The treaty denounces all pacts or conventions imposed by force upon Turkey. The Soviet Government has released Turkey from all economic engagements entered into by that country with Russia during the Czar's regime.

AN INADEQUATE SENTENCE.

LEIPZIG, May 26. Sergeant Heyne, accused of having ill treated British soldiers who were prisoners of war at the prison camp at Horne, Westphalia, was sentenced to ten months imprisonment by the High Court here to-day. He was the first German soldier to be tried on criminal charges arising from the conduct of the war.

BOLSHEVISTS IN PERSIA.

TIFLIS, May 26. Troops of Bolshevik agents and troops are swarming through Persia and other parts of the Middle East, where they are setting up Soviet rule. The movement is partly a hunt for food, although large estates are being divided. Good order prevails under the Bolshevik regime and foreign firms are well treated.

NFLD. STUDENTS SUCCESS.

MONTREAL, May 26. Among 27 students of Macdonald College who will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science in agriculture granted by McGill University on Friday afternoon, is H. A. Butler, Kelligrews, Newfoundland.

DUBLIN HISTORIC CUSTOM HOUSE.

DUBLIN, May 26. Smoking ruins marked to-day the site of the historic Customs House of Dublin, which was burned yesterday afternoon by a raiding party of civilians. Fifty men, arrested by Crown forces after a pitched battle in and about the building, spent the night in various prisons, and the bodies of upwards of a dozen killed reposed in the morgues. The Custom House was completed in 1781 and was one of the chief architectural ornaments of the city. The building housed the local Government, Board of Trade and Public Works and other local bodies. Archives of almost priceless character were destroyed in the flames. It was said here to-day that the destruction of no other building in the city, not even Dublin Castle, would have caused as great a loss to Crown officials. "It is not merely a blow to Irish pride and commerce," said the Irish Times this morning, "but it is a blow to all our prospects of peace. Its political effect on Great Britain will be to still further discredit Republican demands, but the effect in Ireland will be to increase the difficulties of any form of National settlement." The Freeman's Journal said, "it may be noble to rise to higher things on stepping stones of our dead selves, but when the stepping stones are the corpses of our countrymen, the achievement is not noble."

AN INDUSTRIOUS CLOCK.

DUBLIN, May 26. At noon to-day Custom House was still burning. All the interior had been destroyed, but the main walls were standing as was the dome. The clock was keeping time.

STRIKE IN CAIRO.

CAIRO, May 26. Arsenal workers and employees of railway shops here have struck and a general railway walkout is threatened.

BRITISH TROOPS FOR SILESIA.

LONDON, May 26. Four battalions of British troops on the Rhine began their advance to Upper Silesia to-day, to reinforce the Allied troops there. It was semi-officially announced that the reinforcement of four British battalions will be sent to the disturbed area.

TO-DAY'S COAL CONFERENCE.

LONDON, May 26. In summoning a conference of coal operators and miners for to-morrow, the Government has not laid down conditions of any kind, nor has it given a sign that it has any definite

West States the Good It Did Him Is Beyond Money

No Amount Could Buy What Tanlac Did For Him, Declares Winnipeg Man.

"You couldn't pile up money enough around me to buy the good Tanlac has done me," said Harry West, 1013 1/2 Notre Dame Avenue, Winnipeg. "I had indigestion so bad I was really afraid to eat on account of the awful pains after meals. Why, they nearly drew me double. I was so nervous that, honestly, I had about forgotten how it felt to get a good night's sleep. But my worst trouble was rheumatism, for my whole body ached from head to foot. "I couldn't bend my knees, in fact my legs were as stiff as a board. My arms were practically useless, for I couldn't even fasten my collar and tie, and I had an awful time every morning getting my clothes on. These troubles bothered me for several years, and it seemed to me I tried everything in the drugstore, but nothing ever helped me. "Well, I got Tanlac thinking it might give me an appetite and put my stomach in good shape, and it certainly did, for I have been eating like a horse ever since and have gained eight pounds in weight. I sleep like a boy, and in fact I haven't a trace of nervousness or indigestion left. "Well, Tanlac didn't stop at that either, for it has knocked out my rheumatism completely, something I never dreamed it would do. I can bend my knees, use my arms and get around in every way as well as I ever could. It has been three months since I finished my last bottle of Tanlac, and I haven't felt a pain in all that time. In fact, the medicine has put me on my feet, feeling like a brand new man. It certainly is great."

plan of its own to propose. It is, however, believed that the Premier would not have taken this step unless he had reason to believe that neither side would hold out stiffly for its extreme claims.

CHILD MURDERERS.

SOFIA, May 26. A bomb was thrown from the window of a house near the Royal Palace to-day, as King Boris stood on the balcony reviewing a procession of school children. Ten of the boy paraders were killed by an explosion. Attributing the outrage to the Communists, the mob ransacked the Communist Club and set the building on fire.

At the Yarmouth Y.M.C.A. Boys' Camp, held at Tusket Falls in August, I found MINARD'S LIMENT most beneficial for sunburn, an immediate relief for colic and toothache.

ALFRED STOKES, General Sec'y.

Popular Lodgeman Leaves.

Among the passengers outward by s.s. Rosalind yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. George Hanks left for their home country. Mr. Hanks having been transferred to the United States. During the five years Mr. Hanks has been in Newfoundland, first as Assistant Superintendent and latterly as Superintendent of the Imperial Tobacco Factory here he has won golden opinions both from his fellow-officials, and from those who worked under him. His knowledge of the tobacco manufacturing business in all its branches has never been surpassed in this country, and his management of the works has been most successful. Mr. Hanks was keenly interested in sport of all kinds, and baseball and the regatta will by his going, lose an enthusiastic supporter. A member of the I.O.O.F. and of Avalon Lodge, and Shannon Chapter, A.F. & A.M., he was nearly always in his place in Lodge and Chapter Room. Mrs. Hanks, like her husband a Virginian, spent as much time in this northern climate as her health would allow. Both leave Newfoundland with the regrets of many real friends, all of whom hope some time to see both back among us again, if only for a short stay.—Com.

WHY GOLFEES ARE DIFFERENT.

He never made the major league when he was playing ball. He couldn't make his college team, but didn't grieve at all; When he was young and supple and had strength to spend and spare, He'd strike out with the bases full, but didn't rave and swear; And he didn't fling his bat away or sit around and sob Because he couldn't steal a base or hit like Ty Cobb.

When he was playing tennis, his wife was not a topnotch game. His play was ordinary, but it pleased him just the same. He was happy and contented if he conquered now and then. And never dreamed of ranking with the leading tennis men; He played the game for pleasure and he didn't fuss or fret. Every time he missed in service or his ball went in the net.

But to-day he's fat and forty and his stomach's in the way. And he's lashed with the golfer's and there is ache upon his shoulders, and there's stiffness in his bones. But he wants the pro to teach him how to drive like Bobby Jones. And Alex Boss can't tell him, when his brow with sweat is damp, In a way that is convincing, that he'll never be a "champ."

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

ENEMIES, BUT ACQUAINTANCES.

"Too bad," I said one day to a friend, "that the S's, and the J's, and the J's, have fallen out. They seemed to enjoy each other so much. I shouldn't wonder if they would find it missed each other pretty badly."

"Missed each other!" she said. "Why should they miss each other? The J's were over to the S's last night for Sunday supper, and Mary S. told me they were all going to a dance to-morrow night together."

What They Said About Each Other.

"What do you mean?" I said. "Surely you must have misunderstood. Why, I met Mary last week for the first time since I got back, and she couldn't say enough about the mean way Elinor and Richard had treated them. It was about some real estate deal that Richard got them into, and they didn't think he had treated them fairly. It was one of those times when it would be interesting to hear the other side of the story, but it certainly did seem as if Richard had been pretty sharp. She said some perfectly awful things about him and boy mistaken they had been in him. I was sure

It looked at her astounded. It seemed inconceivable. From the way Mary had talked I had supposed all was over between them forever. And behold, they still remained friends, at least to the extent of going around together.

He Refused to Loosen Up.

"And if you think what Mary says is anything," she went on, "you just ought to hear Elinor talk. She says Harry is the meanest, closest thing, says he'd let his wife take in backstairs to wash before he would loosen up."

And yet when one stops to think of it, not such an unusual one in its essential details, is it?

It is not at all unusual to hear a woman say quite dreadful things about some other woman, to picture them as deadly enemies and then to find that they act like bosom friends when they are together.

I don't think men are so apt to do this sort of thing. When men get to the state when they think such things of each other, they don't have anything to do with each other.

Men Wouldn't Do It.

A man once told me he simply couldn't understand how his wife and her sister could say such terrible things to each other that you would think they would be enemies for life, and then a few days later they were planning to go to a bridge together.

"Why, if my brother and I ever got so mad with each other that we said things like that it would be months before we made it up, if we ever did," he said.

Perhaps women meanless what they say than men, and therefore each discounts what the other says.

have great aerodrome installation with extensive grounds attached to them, and such facilities cannot be provided in the middle of a large town. They must of necessity be at some distance, and the intending travellers has to reach them before he can begin his flight.

"But with a heavier-than-air machine which can fly straight up all this will be changed. The helicopter which can rise from, or land in, space smaller than a London square solves one of the few remaining problems of commercial aviation and military observation. There is hardly any limit to the possibilities it presents."

"The machine, invented by Lieutenant Stefan von Petrosky, of the Austrian Army Balloon Corps, is acknowledged officially to be the first helicopter in the world which, after making an ascent, has remained for any time hovering in the air," says Mr. Harry Harper. "The distance it has risen from the ground and its manoeuvring while aloft have been controlled, so far, by a series of cables attached to the machine. It has, one might say, gone straight up under its own power, like a sort of aerial lift chamber, or cabin, fitted to the top of it."

"Below this metal 'turret,' as it is called, are two air-screws, something like 20 ft. in diameter, and revolving in opposite directions. Driven by three Le Rhône motors of 120-horsepower each, these screws exercise such an upward pull, when turning at about 600 revolutions a minute, that the machine is capable not only of raising itself vertically into the air, but of bearing aloft also the weight of as many as four men."

The Aftermath of the Fish Regulations.

Not so very long ago, Mr. Coaker was fond of announcing via the Advocate and for the benefit and information of the people North, that Mr. George C. Harris, manager of the firm of Samuel Harris, Ltd., Grand Bank, and also of the subsidiary companies of that house, was one of the strongest supporters of the Fish Regulations in Newfoundland, and believed absolutely in their usefulness and assistance to exporters of fish. Time and again this was repeated. The Advocate also gravely announced at various times, and challenged contradiction, that not a licensed exporter on the West Coast had lost a dollar on fish cargoes, nor had any cargoes been shipped from that section under any other terms than outright sales. How utterly false and malicious were these statements, manufactured for F.P.U. consumption, and with the design of hoodwinking the North, everybody now knows. The first firm to dispute this contention, and to deny it convincingly was John Penny & Sons, of Ramea, whose story of the "Edith Cavell" and her cargo revealed many things unknown and unthought of. Mr. George Penny, manager of this company was never an upholder of the Regulations as they applied to the West Coast, neither was he advertised by Mr. Coaker or the Advocate as such.

But Mr. Geo. C. Harris was one of the gentlemen immortalized in the columns of the Coaker organ as the one man who consistently upheld the operation of the Regulations at home and abroad. Mr. Harris did not take the trouble to deny that statement, knowing how unfounded and incorrect it was, therefore his condemnation of Mr. Coaker's pet policy, and the havoc it made with the business of Harris, Limited, comes with startling force in the form of a petition to the House of Assembly asking for Government assistance to aid in carrying on the business of the firm, which has been practically brought to disaster and ruin by those very Fish Regulations of which Mr. Coaker claimed and heralded. Mr. Harris as one of the strongest supporters. Here is how Mr. Harris answers the Minister of Marine and Fisheries and shows how contemptibly misleading is the statement made by the latter.

"The present unfortunate position in which your petitioners are placed is due entirely to the fact that owing to the Fishery Regulations having been enforced since November, 1919, the conduct of their business was taken out of their control and thereby hampered and losses on both 1919 and 1920 voyages sustained by them because of these regulations, which otherwise would not have been incurred."

Needs there any greater categorical denial of Mr. Coaker's assertion that Geo. C. Harris was friendly disposed toward the Fish Regulations? Needs there any stronger indictment of the financial ruin wrought by the said Regulations than the paragraph of the petition from which we have quoted, and which further enlarges the case of Messrs. Harris in these words:

"Your petitioners estimate that in the case of the businesses conducted by them these losses would aggregate a sum of over one million dollars."

The four firms conducted by Harris, Ltd., alone lost one million dollars in less than two years, because of Mr. Coaker's tinkering with established methods of trade. On four cargoes only a loss of nearly two hundred thousand dollars was incurred, and yet the people of Newfoundland have been told over and over again with the most sublime and unblushing inveracity that the Fish Regulations were the salvation of the country. Let the petition of Harris, Ltd., be the first challenge to this barefaced assertion.

Sugar Prices Advanced.

Yesterday, in the city grocery stores there was a great demand for sugar, caused by a rumor that the new tariff came into effect. The advance seemed to get ahead of the rumor, however, as the sugar was sold at 13 cents per lb. in many of the stores, although the increased duty did not become effective until this day. There is a rumor about it but sugar speculators have taken advantage of the advance information given by the Prime Minister in the Budget.

Hit by Motor Car.

BOY SLIGHTLY INJURED. A boy named Patrick Bird, seven years of age, is now in hospital suffering from injuries received through being hit by a motor car at the junction of Hutchings' and New Gower Streets last night. The boy was playing in the street and suddenly ran in front of a car, driven by Mr. James Colford. Before the latter could stop, Bird was hit by one of the front wheels and was thrown into the street. Mr. Colford immediately picked the boy up and drove him to Dr. Bird's surgery, where he was taken to the hospital. His injuries are fortunately slight and he will be about again shortly. According to the coroner, no blame can be attached to the driver of the car.

The Habeas Corpus Act.

On May 27, 1920, the forty-first year of the reign of Charles the Second, King of Great Britain and Ireland, when the royal power was so great that the King could detain in custody at the sole discretion of the Sovereign, an Act of Parliament was passed, that was named in Latin "Habeas Corpus," which means in English "Thou mayest have the body." This required the person having custody of a prisoner to bring him before the Lord Chancellor, the Lord Keeper, or any one of the Judges of the court mentioned in this writ, and to state the cause of the imprisonment, unless the writ was issued on felony plainly expressed in the warrant, and such an authority could set him at liberty, or if liberty, or if not, to produce within the strictest limits all imprisonment of persons not convicted of any criminal offence, though in troublesome times they have occasionally been suspended for short periods, as during the Great War, when D.G.B.A. superseded the operation of Habeas Corpus on many occasions.

MINDARD'S LINALMANT RELIEVES NEURALGIA.

Labor Asks For Bread. Squires Offers a Committee

Yesterday afternoon the men engaged at relief work, who had gone on strike in the morning because the pay had been reduced by about 23 cents per day, assembled on the Parade Ground and to the number of over 1,000 paraded in the Assembly. For the purpose of laying their grievances before the Prime Minister, Parliament did not open at the usual hour, but in the meantime a conference of the Chairman of the unemployed committee and the Prime Minister was held in the Speaker's Room. At about 4.30 the unemployed committee, amongst whom were Mrs. Julia Satter Earle and George Ayre entered the Assembly and advanced to the Bar of the House. A large number of the men on strike had in the meantime been admitted to the galleries. All the police force available including the full Detective branch had been ordered to the scene, but the great crowd was kept orderly. At the Bar of the House the Chairman of the unemployed committee, Mr. W. H. Whitty, as soon as the opportunity presented itself, stated to the Session that they had not come for this, the third time, to enbarras the Government, but they had come that something may be done to clear up a somewhat complicated position. Since they had last been in the House, the Prime Minister had informed him that $150,000 had been placed at the disposal of the Municipal Council, and he understood that the sum of $40,000 had so far been expended. Yesterday they were notified by the Municipal Council that the wages had been cut 25% per cent. Their mission at the Bar of the House was to find out why this had happened. He also wanted to know what would be done in another week, as by that time the Council would have all the money expended. Mr. Whitty then referred to an interview with the Commissioners the previous evening, and he also read from the House, the communication from the Council notifying the workmen of the reduction in wages. He then appealed personally to the Premier for a satisfactory message to bring to the people waiting outside the House. An outburst of applause here greeted the speaker, after which he asked the Premier was the $150,000 given to the Council to provide, labor, or was it to purchase materials.

The Prime Minister explained that the loan was raised on Government guarantee, and this money was the property of the Municipality. Mr. Whitty—"Then the Government has not contributed anything to help the poor people." The Prime Minister explained that amounts from the East and West End District grants had been allocated to open up roads. The speaker particularly to one in the West End. Mr. Whitty—"Well, somebody has started at the wrong end, especially as regards the cut in wages. We came here not two weeks ago for assistance from you and we are still without it." (Here one of the visitors in the lobby became noisy and shouted at the Premier: "Get out and let some one else help us!") The unemployed men present returned order, after which Mr. Robbins apologized for the interruption, explaining that it was not caused by one of their men. Continuing, he said: "Where is the man inside that bar who will help the workman; where is the man who will take the man of my class out of the mire. We want the man that can help us, and nothing but a written guarantee will satisfy us." By request of the Premier, she spoke a few words. She told the House that it was no laughing matter that had brought the workmen to the House of Assembly, as with the wages cut from two or six weeks to be faced with starvation. At the conclusion of Mrs. Earle's speech, Mr. Whitty again addressed the Premier and asked the Premier could not do more for them than he had done. The Premier replied and stated that he had advised the Government, and he had carried out the disposal of the Council, so that there was no delay in having the works opened up during the past week. He suggested that the question of rent was on him in the morning, as it was impossible to discuss the situation in the House.

The members for the Districts of St. John's East and West spoke on the matter also. A report of their speeches will be found in the House of Assembly proceedings. After several suggestions had been made by members, the Prime Minister promised that he would undertake to guarantee the Chief Justice Horwood of the Municipal Council. Chairman Whitty thanking the House for its attention, withdrew with his committee and went outside the House to address the waiting crowd. He told them to start work again in the morning and they would receive their $8.80 per day. The members of the committee who were dissatisfied with the answers given in the House, announced to the men that he was faithful to the committee and that he had fallen away from their job, and had not received the satisfaction which the workmen had expected. He was joined by another committee man and eventually by a large number of the workmen, some of whom were for going back to the Bar of the House for a definite answer to the question of rent has to be received. The remainder of the committee gathered the crowd in groups and discussed the situation, and the Premier put his own suit of this morning's conference.

One Hundred Per Cent. Tax on Sugar.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—Mr. Dempster's letter in this morning's paper has no doubt will prove interesting-reading to the general public, and his suggestion that Brown Sugar should be taxed "less than the other sugars" will be quite evident to all consumers of this article. Mr. Dempster asks "why does not our 'business Government' consult with their business friends instead of making hasty changes which can only lead to loss of revenue?" Presumably the reason our "business Government" does not consult with their business friends is because they have no business friends left, unless it be our curling enthusiast, A. H. Salter of the Royal Stores Statistical Department.

House Rents.

Dear Sir—If you will spare me a little space, I would like to say a few words with reference to house rents. It is indeed time that something was done to check the "Rent hungry landlords", for there seems to be no limit to the outrageous rents being asked by landlords, not all of them, of course, but some of them, who are taking advantage of the present housing problem. Everybody knows how difficult it is at present to obtain a rented house or even rooms. One has to get under the first roof that offers itself in the West End asking a rent, which is a mere able man than a rent, which does not come down at the same pace. Why not have a Housing Board or a Housing Committee created to protect the tenant, to investigate rents paid and to bring in landlords who are asking extortionate rents. It is done and the authorities would be glad to locate any homes or said that one has to get under the first roof that offers and I would like to add, that in doing so, in a good many cases, whether houses or rooms, tenants are forced to go into a house that is anything but clean and healthy. Here again this board or committee could do some good work in making the landlord put his house in tenable order before the next tenant moves in.

Cars Collide.

Asking Mayor in Motor Accident. At about 10.30 p.m. yesterday a collision occurred at the junction of Water and Harris Streets, between two motor cars owned by Messrs. A. V. Duffy and J. J. McKay. None of the occupants of either car were injured, although both the cars were damaged. Mr. Duffy's car was going toward Water St. and Mr. McKay's car came from Park Street to turn west on Water Street. The collision occurred at the intersection of the two streets. Mr. Duffy's car was damaged and the impact was such as to start Mr. Duffy's car. In Mr. Duffy's car were Mrs. Duffy, Asking Mayor Mullally and his daughter. In Mr. McKay's car was the chauffeur and himself. Miss Mullally suffered from shock as a consequence of the accident, but has recovered.

Getting back to the question of rents and living in reconstruction period and it is about time that the authorities get busy and get the rents down. I sincerely hope that a more able man than mine will take up this very important matter, but just to prove my own experience, I would quote you a case of a landlord in the West End asking $88.00 per month for two rooms and an get it, but not from yours truly. Thanking you in anticipation, Mr. Editor, for space. Yours sincerely, FENNANT. May 25, 1921.

Daily Star Apologizes to Mr. Morine.

RETRACTS STATEMENTS MADE. In last evening's issue of the "Daily Star" there appeared the following apology for explanation in reference to a leading article printed in its issue of May 5th, and for which Mr. Morine entered action in the Supreme Court for defamation of character: THE APOLOGY.

In the Star on the 5th inst., in an editorial article, it was asked if A. H. Morine had not allowed R. G. Reid to import goods without paying duty. Mr. Morine, who was Minister of Finance and Customs in 1898 and 1899, conceived this to be an imputation upon his conduct as such Minister, and brought a libel suit against the Star and its editor. On the 10th inst. The Star editor-in-chief commented on the report that Mr. Morine intended to bring suit, and in that comment he stated: (1) A Finance Minister in the Winter Government had in 1899 allowed the Nova Scotia Company to import goods free of duty. (2) That Reid & Miller & Co. had been improperly allowed to import machinery free of duty, and (3) That the sum of $8,000 had been improperly taken from the Treasury (of the Colony) in 1897 and 1898. Mr. Morine being Receiver General at the time. It was suggested by The Star that Mr. Morine knew all about these several matters. A motion was made by Mr. Morine to have the editor of The Star committed for contempt of court, upon the ground that The Star's comments on the 10th inst. were calculated to prejudice the fair trial of the libel action for the remarks made on the 5th inst., and the motion has been argued and judgment reserved. Mr. Morine has also intimated his intention of taking a libel suit in respect of The Star's remarks on the 10th inst. It was not in fact the Star's intention to refer to Mr. Morine's discharge of his duties as a Minister, but in consequence of remarks made in court, in the course of the argument since made by Mr. Gibbs into the matter referred to, The Star now wishes to say that it wholeheartedly withdraws any imputation whatever upon Mr. Morine's conduct as such Minister in relation to each and all of the four matters referred to above and complained of by Mr. Morine, and in consequence of the withdrawal of any imputation, and apologizes for its unintentional error.

Still a Mystery.

Rumor has been going the rounds to the effect that human bones had been found among the ruins of the Stone house, burnt at Child's Point last summer, and it was surmised that a young man named John Young, who lived with Mr. Stone one or two years, had been the victim. A trunk identified to belong to Young, has been at the railway station since last summer, having arrived there about the time of the fire, from Sydney, where Young had been working the previous winter. And it was therefore thought he had gone to the house to spend the night and that the fire had resulted from a lighted match thrown down or ashes from his pipe. We have made enquiry and learn that investigation made by George Stone this spring failed to locate any bones or to bring to light anything to solve the mystery of the burning of the house. Stowaways Gave Trouble.

The three Newfoundland stowaways George Fader, Thomas Johnstone and James Kennedy, who made their way to Cape Breton on the s.s. Winona last week and were later taken in charge by Sydney officers, arrived here Saturday evening in charge of immigration officers Young and Scott. They were locked up in the women's room in the immigration shed at the terminus wharf where they were kept for a couple of hours before the sailing of the steamer Sagona. When the steamer blew her first whistle the immigration squad entered the strong room just in time to see one of the trio disappear through a window leading to the eastern side of the pier. His two companions were also half way through the window, but were caught outside of which had been torn from their fastenings. Before the pair had time to wriggle through the small aperture, however, they were caught by the officials and placed on board the Sagona. The third chap, named Foster, made good his escape.—North Sydney Herald, May 25.

Nfld. Skippers Make Bet.

A schooner race that is going to attract a good deal of interest among local mariners, says the North Sydney Herald of May 23, is the one between the tern schooners Cape Pine, commanded by Capt. Burke, and the Marion II, in command of Capt. W. V. Davis. Both vessels are lying in the stream at present, each with a coal cargo aboard. The skippers have put up a bet of $200 that they will be the first to reach St. John's. They are only waiting for favorable conditions to sail, and if the weather is favorable to-morrow both ships expect to get away within a few minutes of each other. There is an old rivalry existing between these two genial skippers when they entered in a race from St. John's to Ferrymouth two years ago. At that time Capt. Doyle was in command of a barquentine, while Capt. Burke had at his command a new three-masted schooner. Capt. Burke was the first to sail from St. John's and he only arrived at Ferrymouth in time to get the first prize. The present race is attracting quite a lot of attention and the skippers are confident that they will be successful.

Railway Men Have Miraculous Escape.

Both engineer Dicks and fireman Alexander, of Engine 124, had a miraculous escape with their lives on Friday morning when their engine jumped the track at Crow Gulch and went down the precipice into the water below. The engine had been despatched from Humbermouth to come to Curling for the doctor and was running tender first. When about six poles east of mile post 405 the tender jumped the track and fell into the water. The driver managed to get clear of the engine before she reached the scene of the wreck and was so fortunate. Both men got away without shaking up but sustained no serious injury. The engine was so badly damaged that it will be some time before she can again be placed on the road. Roadmaster Keefe was soon at the scene of the wreck and had the track repaired in time for that day's run. 2 express to pass over without delay.—Western Star.

House of Assembly.

THURSDAY, May 26.
NO BUSINESS DONE.

The House met at 3:45 p.m. Sir Michael Cashin was informed by the Prime Minister that the needy of Ferryland would be relieved on a similar basis to the relief given in Placentia and St. Mary's.

Mr. Higgins presented petitions from St. John's East.

Notices of question were given by Sir Michael Cashin, Mr. Sinnott, Mr. Moore.

Mr. Bennett drew the Prime Minister's attention to the sugar question and said the duty might as well have gone on to-day as on the following day as all the wholesalers had added the extra tax. The Act Respecting Venereal Diseases was given its first reading. The Prime Minister informed Sir Michael Cashin that Mr. George Hawes was not to be appointed as Newfoundland's representative in European countries. All the Trade Commissioners had been recalled. No financial statement was furnished when the recent loan was raised in New York. Mr. J. S. Keating, Deputy Minister of Finance, went to New York to sign the interim bond in connection with the loan. At this juncture a deputation of unemployed advanced to the Bar of the House and Mr. E. J. Wiltly addressed the members on their behalf.

The Prime Minister explained the matter of the loan to the Council the members of which had asked for a loan of from $25,000 to $100,000 for pipes for the new water and sewerage works. He had suggested that they get $150,000 and apply some of it to adjust the labour difficulties.

Mr. Wiltly replied to the Prime Minister and Mr. Robins and Mrs. Julia Salter Earle also spoke.

The Prime Minister said the matter was purely a Municipal one. He had made an arrangement with the members for St. John's East and West, and the Council, whereby certain road work was opened so that more men might be employed. The rates paid the men were the same as those paid for similar work by the Council. He suggested a conference between the members for St. John's East and a delegation of five from the unemployed so that steps could be taken in the matter.

Mr. Bennett next spoke. He expressed his sympathy with the unemployed. His connection with the matter ceased the night he had been in conference with the other members for St. John's and the Council. It was futile for him to attend a further conference for since the last one, he had been treated with indifference and he did not want this to occur again. No matter what way the Prime Minister wished to assist the unemployed, it had his approval even if it were intended to use the district grants. He had not previously been consulted by the Prime Minister in connection with matters in his district and why should he be called into consultation now?

Mr. Higgins said he was pleased to be able to say that there was no conflict with the authorities in St. John's East. The work had been kept clear of the tinge of partisanship. He was gratified to find an entire absence of disorder in the methods used by the delegation in approaching the House.

The way to appropriate this was to lend a ready ear to their requirements. The Council had more than enough money to cover a week's work. He was under the impression that $150,000 had been allocated to the Council for relief work. There were two troubles. The unemployed had been led to believe that the water works money was apart from the $150,000 and that the proposition of a reduced wage had been put across them. The influence of the Government over the Council ought to be enough to fix matters up. A wage discrimination would be unfair. He suggested that the water loan should be made a separate matter. He would give the Prime Minister every assistance.

Mr. Fox endorsed Mr. Higgins' statements. He was glad to understand why the plans arranged had not been carried out. He was ready to support the Government but it was a task they must handle themselves. Deputation was abroad in the city. It was now time for action. He congratulated the leaders of the unemployed on the spirit of co-operation which was amongst them. He appealed to them to continue in the same orderly manner and to look on the Government as a body doing its best to help them over their difficulties.

Mr. Bennett corroborated the position which the members for St. John's East. He accused the Government of giving work. In one case four men from one family and house had been given work where men in worse circumstances and with large families had been turned down. He read a letter verifying his statements.

The Prime Minister arranged a conference for 10 a.m. this morning in his office and the delegation withdrew in an orderly manner. A few minutes later the House adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Acting Mayor Murtaly and Councillors Morris, Ayre, Vincombe and Peet were present. After the preliminary business of the meeting the following matters were disposed of:

Information asked by Supt. Morris of the Reid Nhd. Co. in the matter of lights, was ordered forwarded.

S. P. Calver's application for sewerage extension, Newtown Road, will be inquired into.

The Secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association asked the usual permission to hold Memorial Services in Bannerman Park. This was accepted.

Residents of Hamilton Street asked that attention be given the bridge situated near the Methodist Orphanage. Same will be given consideration.

A communication from the Manager of the Eastern Trust Co., regarding Sudbury property, was ordered to stand over.

Application of Thos. Hilliard, to erect stable, Belvedere Street, was referred to the Health Officer.

William for survey of 5 tons of lead was awarded to T. J. Kennedy.

The following plans were passed, subject to the approval of the City Engineer: B. Bowden (garage), Merrymeeting Road; A. Williams (dwelling), Forest Road; E. P. Moore (coachhouse), Hamilton Avenue.

City Health Officer reported five cases diphtheria during the past week.

Reports of City Engineer and other departments were read; pay rolls and bills ordered paid, after which the meeting adjourned.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—In yesterday morning's Daily News I saw a synopsis of the Budget Speech delivered by the Prime Minister and among the resolutions briefly stated is:

5. Governor, Judges of the Supreme Court and Central District Courts and all Clergymen to be relieved of income tax.

In my opinion that is a mistake. If my reading is correct it was something similar to that which caused the French Revolution. That appears to me to be class legislation of the worst type.

The Governor and Judges are the paid servants of the people. They pay them as much as the country can afford, but subject them to the same taxation as other people. Everyone is treated alike and no one has cause for complaint. If the income tax reduces their salaries, then add on to their salaries the amount that the income tax would reduce them and so neither the Governor nor the Judges suffer.

The clergymen are paid by their congregations and not many of them have salaries or stipends which are much affected by the income tax, and that is where the injustice would be so far as they are concerned. If I were a millionaire and wished to give or leave my son a large amount of money and did not want him to be subjected to the income tax, all I should have to do would be to make him a Governor, a Judge or a clergyman. A Governor, a Judge or a clergyman may be a wealthy man clear of his salary or stipend. If so why should either of them be exempt from the income tax?

There is another point. Everybody subject to the income tax has to make a report of his income. Exempt the Governor, Judges and clergy and no one knows about their incomes. That is unfair.

In my opinion there should be one law for the rich and the poor. Everybody treated alike. We are all helping to build up this country and no matter what our station in life, no matter what is our calling, profession, trade or employment, we should all be subjected to the same treatment. Every person should be equal in the eye of the law.

Yours sincerely,
GEO. W. B. AYRE

LOOKING FOR IT.

The man who always looks for grief is sure to find the gods he seeks; his search is, peradventure, brief, or it may last for seven weeks. But when he finds his grief, he's prone to wish he'd sought for other things, and he puts up a bitter groan, while the Wise Man smiles and says: "The man who doesn't pay his bills hunts grief, and he will run it down; the course he follows always kills a fellow's standing in the town. And when he runs for county clerk, or tries to follow other plans, his creditors get in their work, and he is with the also rans. The scandal monger's hunting woe, and he is close upon its heels; some ugly tale he whippers low will reach the man with whom it deals. Then there will be a frightful scene of violence, the moon beneath; and Mr. Scandalman will lean against a fence and spit out teeth. If grief's invited to your home, it's sure to come, with its valise, and it will tarrow your old dome; and never give you any peace. It's better far to hunt for joy, and ask it to your cheap abode; say kindly things and don't annoy the other jays along the road. Be honest a the day is long and earn the kopecks in your purse; then life will be a grand sweet song, a chorus after every verse."

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.

PARIS, May 26. The Chamber of Deputies, this evening, gave a vote of confidence to Premier Briand's Government. The vote was 310 to 162, and was taken on a question of the Government's stand with regard to Silesia and generally concerning its attitude toward Germany.

NORTH IRELAND ELECTIONS.

BELFAST, May 26.

H. M. Pollock, prospective Ulster Chancellor of the Exchequer, was elected on a second count in South Belfast, as was Sir Crawford McCullough, former Lord Mayor, in East Belfast. Sir Dawson Bates, who is likely to be Home Secretary in the new parliament, and Capt. Dixon, a friend of Sir James Craig, Premier designate for Ulster, were elected on the first count. Mrs. Julia Momerde, widow of a former Lord Mayor of Belfast, also was elected in South Belfast. Joseph Devlin, Nationalist member of the British House of Commons, was elected with three Unionists in the West division known as the cockpit in Belfast politics. Devlin also is running strongly in County Antrim. Unionists have done better in the elections than they anticipated; Sinn Feiners worse than their prospects predicted, and Nationalists no more than they looked for. Unionists are therefore the only party in Ulster to-day not disappointed. All however are celebrating, Unionists because they have won, Nationalists and Sinn Feiners because they have made their protest against the partition of Ireland, and believe their protest will have its effect on the minds of the people of the world. Unionists expected to win 35 of 52 seats, including those for the University, which will be decided Saturday. They will probably get nearer 40 seats. Daniel McCann, Chief Lieutenant in Belfast of Joseph Devlin, Nationalist Leader, had hoped for 14 seats, but did not really believe that more than 12 Nationalists and Sinn Feiners could be returned, and he proved a good prophet. The counting of ballots will not be completed probably until the end of the week, but so far as the news so far shows that Unionists made their greatest gains in Belfast, where it is expected they will have fifteen or sixteen seats. Joseph Devlin is the only Nationalist or Sinn Feiner who will have a seat for Belfast in the new parliament, if he decides to sit there, and even he has been beaten in his own stronghold for first place on the poll by his Unionist opponent, T. P. Burns. His colleague, Alderman Byrne, was at the bottom of the list with only 133 votes or 10,000 fewer than his leader. This was due to Nationalists giving all their first votes to Devlin. Sinn Feiners did better than Byrne, but on the first ballot they were well behind Unionists, and as apparently neither Nationalists nor Sinn Feiners kept their pact to give their second votes for each other's candidates, there was little hope for them in the second ballot. Socialists here, as in other constituencies, lost their deposit, which they have to forfeit if they do not receive a certain number of votes. In Antrim things are going about as expected, Unionists this evening being pretty certain of six or seven seats, others going to Devlin, Louis Walsh, Sinn Feiner, who was allowed out of detention camp to take part in the election, and who headed the poll in the County Council election, is now nearer the bottom of poll although there are a large number of Sinn Feiners in North Antrim and the Glens of Antrim. Unionist barbour headed the list with some 7000, as compared with Walsh who has less than 5000. Derry comes out as the Unionists predicted. They elected their three candidates, all they had nominated, thus leaving all the other two seats to Professor John MacNeil, Sinn Feiner, and his Nationalist running mate, in County Down, where Sir Jas. Craig, Ulster Premier designate, and Eamon De Valera, Republican Leader, were opponents, and where both will be elected, the seats will be divided equally between the two sides, two and two.

DEPRECATION.

LONDON, May 26.

Commenting on the destruction of Dublin Custom House the correspondent of the London Times says "It is possible this wretched business may have a good result. The whole country is shocked by the outrage, and Irishmen of all parties are demanding that the reign of chaos and destruction give way to some kind of reason and order. Moderate Sinn Feiners do not conceal their disgust and there is a general readiness to acquit accredited leaders of the Republican party of any charge of this wanton attack on the beauty and dignity of Ireland."

C. IN C. MAY BE DEFEATED.

BELFAST, May 26.

Late to-night it was reported that Sir James Craig had a good lead in County Down, with Eamon de Valera and J. M. Andrews running close for second place. The Unionist candidate was leading in Armagh, with Michael Collins, Commander of Irish Republican Army, second. Belfast was as excited to-night as at any time since the opening of the election campaign. The streets were crowded with processions marched to and fro accompanied by police and armoured cars. Soldiers were under a severe nervous strain, and only the cautious action of well trained police in inducing people to

BRITAIN DID IT.

LONDON, May 26.

Rear Admiral Wm. Sims, who commanded U.S. Naval Forces in the war zone during the last two years of the year, told Admiral Beatty, Commander of the British Grand Fleet, and a distinguished assemblage of British and United States naval men, and other prominent persons to-day, that the British had been disposed to give too much credit to the U.S. Navy for the part it played in the Allied victory. "The British fleet was the keystone in the arch of the Allies, without which you in this country would be speaking German with a strong English accent," Sims said. He waved aside personal tributes from Admiral Beatty and Lord Desborough.

MANY DEFECTIONS.

NOVO ROSSISK, May 26.

There have been important defections from the Soviet army of General Budenny, sent to put down rebellious Kuban bands, according to reports received here from the Caucasus. The brigade of the fourth division revolted, and the second division sent to round up mutineers joined them, it is said. The rebels are said to have scored signal victories at towns in the Caspian Region.

Daniel.

The name "Daniel" means "God is my Judge."

Daniel, one of the best known of the world's heroes was chosen, with three other Jewish youths, Hananiah, Mishael and Azariah, of noble family, by Nebuchadnezzar, from among the Jewish exiles in Babylon for Royal service.

For three years they received a special training and education in the language and learning of the Chaldeans and as was probably the custom with those set apart for the King's service, Daniel received a new name—Belteshazzar.

At the end of the three years the King found that the four Jewish boys were superior to all of his astrologers and magicians. Daniel in particular being distinguished from the rest by his power of interpreting visions and dreams.

Nebuchadnezzar, the greatest of the kings of Babylon and the founder of the Babylonian Empire, ascended his throne in 605 B.C. He is remembered also as the creator of the hanging gardens of Babylon, which were built to please Nitocris, his bride.

One morning Nebuchadnezzar being much troubled by a dream, the substance of which he had forgotten, called together the wise men and ordered them to tell him first the dream itself and then the interpretation of it, promising them large rewards, if they succeeded and death for failure.

Their reply naturally enough, was that if the King would tell them the dream they would try to interpret it, but that it was impossible for any magician, however skilled in science, to tell the King the dream itself.

But the King persisted in his demands, alleging that he had forgotten the dream, and adding that unless they obeyed within a stipulated time, they should be put to death.

The poor magicians were in despair when Daniel came to their rescue by undertaking to discover the dream and its interpretation.

After earnest prayer in which his three friends joined, Daniel went before the King and told him both the dream and its meaning. As a reward, Nebuchadnezzar appointed him chief of the wise men and ruler of the whole province of Babylon, and his three companions were also promoted to positions of high honor.

Shortly after this, Nebuchadnezzar had an image erected and ordered all of his subjects to bow down and worship it.

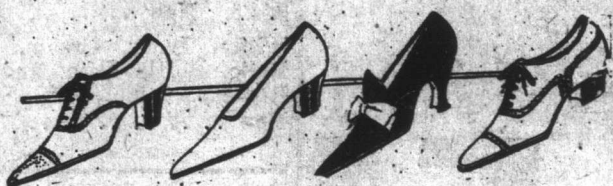

Daniel was most likely away at the time, but his three Jewish companions absolutely refusing to obey the King's order, were cast into a fiery furnace which was heated to such a degree that the stokers were burned to death. The three young men, however, were unhurt, only the cords that had bound them being burned, and there was seen with them in the furnace a fourth, the form of whom was like the son of God.

Nebuchadnezzar astonished at what he saw, commanded them to come out of the fire, and gave an order that no one should from henceforth say anything amiss of the God of the Hebrews.

During many years Daniel governed Babylon, while Nebuchadnezzar, one of the world's conquerors, made war with Egyptians and others. The King also built many temples and palaces, notably one in Babylon, which was built and furnished in fifteen days from its commencement.

Towards the end of his reign, Nebuchadnezzar, who eventually became quite mad was again terrified by a dream. At once he sent for Daniel who interpreted the dream, and at the same time prayed that it should not come true. He also counselled the King to abandon his sins. According to the dream Nebuchadnezzar was to be driven from men, to live with the beasts of the field and to feed as they did for seven years. After a year the dream came true and for seven years Nebuchadnezzar lived among the beasts of the field, before his reason returned to him.

Nothing is told us of Daniel during the reign of Nebuchadnezzar's successors till the time of Belshazzar under whom he held office, but in not so exalted a position as that of Governor of Babylon.

In the last year of Belshazzar's reign, Daniel showed himself superior to the other wise men by reading and explaining mysterious handwriting on a palace wall, which announced the fall and overthrow of the Kingdom.

Under Darius the Mede, who conquered and succeeded Belshazzar, who, no doubt, heard of Daniel's reading of the fateful handwriting, our hero was promoted to a most distinguished post in the Government, but his colleagues and subordinates moved with envy plotted to ruin him. They first persuaded the King to decree immutably that no one should make a prayer to any God, excepting to the King, who was himself worshipped as a God.

As they had hoped and expected Daniel disregarded the decree and to the great grief of the King himself, Daniel was forthwith condemned to be thrown into a den of lions.

These Parliaments shall have power to make laws for the peace, order and good government of England, Scotland and Wales, respectively, subject to the limitations that they shall not have power to do so except in respect of matters exclusively relating to the portion of the United Kingdom within their jurisdiction, and that shall not have power in respect of the following among other matters:

The Crown or Succession;
The making of peace or war;
The Navy, Army, Air Force, Territorial Force, or Defence of the Realm;

As all our children know, Daniel was safely delivered from the lion's den and Darius joined him in magnifying the name of the Lord.

Although Daniel prayed incessantly for the restoration of the Jewish dynasty he did not return to Palestine, if, as seems likely, he had the opportunity to do so, and in the third year of the reign of Cyrus, when he was over seventy years old, Daniel died. There is no intimation of his death, but it probably took place in Babylon, where tradition says his ashes rest, to this day.

The text has been issued of the Home Rule All Round Bill to "Provide for the relief of the Parliament of the United Kingdom by establishing subordinate Parliaments in England, Scotland, and Wales, by making provision with regard to the exercise of executive or judicial authority, and for other matters relating thereto." It is presented by Mr. Murray Macdonald, and supported, amongst others, by Mr. Acland, Sir Ryland Adkins, Mr. C. R. Thomas, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, Mr. John Wilson, Mr. Clynes and Mr. Tyson Wilson.

The measure seeks to provide that, on and after the appointed day—to be fixed by Order-in-Council, being not less than six nor more than eight months after the day on which the Act is passed—there shall be established in England, Scotland, and Wales local national Parliaments, consisting in each case of the King and two Chambers, subject to the supreme authority of the Parliament of the United Kingdom.

These Parliaments shall have power to make laws for the peace, order and good government of England, Scotland and Wales, respectively, subject to the limitations that they shall not have power to do so except in respect of matters exclusively relating to the portion of the United Kingdom within their jurisdiction, and that shall not have power in respect of the following among other matters:

The Crown or Succession;
The making of peace or war;

Worse Than the Cavell Murder.

(Toronto Mail and Empire)
Perhaps the most horrible crime that has been committed in Ireland since the Sinn Feiners began their murder campaign was the killing of Kitty MacCarron, as reported by cable a few days ago. The woman was dragged from her home at midnight, and taken to a nearby river bank where she was shot to death by masked men, soldiers in the Sinn Fein army. Her body was left there with a card pinned to it announcing that the woman had been "tried, convicted, and executed by the Irish Republican army" as a spy. The crime is even more horrible than the execution of Edith Cavell, which shocked the whole world. Miss Cavell, at least was given a chance to defend herself. She was permitted to go through some form of hearing though it was before a court that had already prejudged her. Kitty MacCarron was given no opportunity to dispute that she was a spy against the murderers who call themselves the "Irish Republican army." If she was indeed a spy, she was not formally accused of it until a few minutes before her execution. Yet the Sinn Feiners boast that they have courts which are functioning throughout the whole South and West of Ireland.

Another incident reported recently, reveals the methods employed by Sinn Feiners to manufacture propaganda against Britain. Some police auxiliaries were employed in searching incoming vessels for arms and suspects. They were set upon by a band of Sinn Feiners who used firearms, grenades and gas bombs to drive them from their quarters. Under the imperative orders of the commander of the auxiliaries, Lieutenant-Commander T. P. Ryan who has had a long experience in the police force, they were not permitted immediately to return fire. Had they done so, they probably would have killed and wounded many innocent men, for as soon as the Sinn Feiners delivered their attack they mingled with a procession of men marching to their work at the docks. There is the same cold-blooded murderous spirit observable here as in the assassination of Kitty MacCarron. The Sinn Feiners not only planned the death of the police, but who were going to their work in order that outside opinion might be influenced against England. Did ever in the history of the world a people win its independence by employing such methods as the Sinn Feiners?

"To-Night's the Night." Football League Meeting

That all interested in athletics will be present at the Casino to-night goes without saying, and in this respect one has to admire the thorough and steadfast manner with which Mr. George Ayre has kept before the Sporting Fraternity, the matter of acquiring the Parade Ground. Now, the fact may not be generally known, or perhaps I should say fully appreciated, that we are playing our games on St. George's Field on sufferance. To briefly explain the situation, I should say that the Football and Baseball Leagues have to relinquish their lease at 6 months' notice from the owner of this property, who I understand is the Diocesan Synod. It is understood that any time now the erection of the proposed new C. of E. buildings will be begun, and in this event what is to become of our leagues and our various sport days?

Last night the deferred meeting of the Newfoundland Football League was held in the office of the President, Mr. W. J. Higgins, and several important matters were discussed. A delegation from the Baseball League attended the meeting and the matter of the use of the field was fully discussed, with the result that special evenings will be appointed for the League Football fixtures. These dates will be announced later, as will also those of the League Football fixtures. The first League game will be played on Monday, June 1st, but it is not known what teams will meet in this match. It was decided that no game could be postponed without the consent of the official referee, who must be consulted half an hour before the game is set to begin. By the unanimous vote of the meeting, Mr. Ern Churchill was appointed official referee. The report of the Field Committee was received and there being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

McMurdo's Store News.

FRIDAY, May 27. McMurdo's Milk of Magnesia has many uses. It is very useful where mild laxative is required in cases of Dyspepsia, six headache and disorders of the digestive system, which are the result of acid stomach, and some cases of constipation. It will arrest nausea, belching of gases from the stomach, or diarrhoea due to intestinal fermentation. It is one of the best preparations to use to keep the mouth and teeth from collecting acid deposits, and so favors the health of the teeth and gums. It may be given to children, as it is perfectly harmless, and being nearly tasteless, they will take it easily. Eight ounce bottle, price 50c.

SUSU SAILS NORTH.—S.S. Susu sailed at 10 a.m. for ports of call as far North as Fogo. She took the following passengers:—Mr. Lewis Harding, Miss Martha Harding, Harold and Emily Harding, Inspector Lawlor, S. Lewis, Mr. Newbold, W. B. Perry, Rev. Mr. Kennel, C. J. House.

While on this subject, I think that Mr. P. E. Outebribe's letter in your paper last evening was timely and very much to the point, and while I would not like to see to-night's meeting run on the very formal lines he proposes, still, without wishing to take from him any of the credit due to the suggestion, wouldn't it be considered worthy of us were we to perpetuate the memory of those gallant lads, dead and living, who "played the game" so manfully and well, not only on St. George's Field, but on the plains of Gallipoli and in Flanders Fields by erecting this playground in their name and to their everlasting glory. "PEEGEE."

DIED AT HALIFAX.—We regret to learn of the passing of Mr. James Duff, of Carbonear, which took place at Halifax, N.S., on Wednesday, May 25th. The deceased was at one time manager of the Imperial Oil Co.'s business in this city. He leaves a wife and three children to whom the Telegram extends sympathy.

"Listen, Mother" HERE is a letter from Bessie, and she says she is feeling fine again after using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. "I knew it was just what she needed to build up her system after baby's coming. "She says she is sorry she did not take your advice long ago instead of worrying along as a semi-invalid for so many weeks. "What else does she say?" "I will read you the rest. She says: 'My nerves got so upset that I could not sleep scarcely at all. Digestion was bad and I had palpitation of the heart. Baby got cross and irritable, and at times I got terribly discouraged. "When I got mother's letter urging me to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was about ready to give up, and decided to give the Nerve Food a trial on the strength of what it had done for her. "I cannot begin to tell you how thankful I am for that advice, for I am now well and happy, baby is doing fine and I know that the credit is entirely due to the use of the Nerve Food." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto. The portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., are on every box of the genuine.

Delegates Besiege Premier.

The Prime Minister's office was besieged this morning with delegations from various parts of the country, seeking what action the Government intends taking in regard to helping the fishermen to get at their vocations. One of the first delegations to arrive was headed by Capt. Jas. Winsor, from Westleyville. He, with others of a Committee, had come to the city to seek an answer to a message sent the Premier on the 19th inst. On this latter date a large meeting was held at Westleyville and a ninety word message sent to the Premier. Through some mistake the Premier's reply referring the matter to the Members of the District, was not received by the Committee. This morning they could not gain admittance to the Prime Minister, owing to the latter being engaged in a conference with the Committee of the Unemployed of St. John's.

The Coaker Canal; Another Scheme.

It is stated that the Minister of Marine and Fisheries has started another mad scheme, viz. that of building a canal from the salt water to Old Day's Pond, Bonaville, for the purpose of obtaining shelter in the latter for motor fishing boats. The cost of the undertaking is estimated to be about $85,000, but it is estimated that the sum of $200,000 would have to be expended before this canal would be of service. In the House of Assembly, a few days ago, Mr. Coaker offered to take the "Lobelia" out of St. John's Harbor and it may be his intention to have this warship anchored in Old Day's Pond. At any rate the canal has been undertaken and a large expenditure has to be met, while the civil service salaries, in many cases not adequate, is to be severely pruned.

Train Notes.

Yesterday's outgoing express arrived at Bishop's Falls at 6.45 a.m. The incoming express with the Kyle's mails and passengers, left duePort aux Basques at 6.30 a.m. and is due here to-morrow afternoon. The Carbonear rail arrived at 12.45 p.m. The Tremassey train left at 10.30 a.m. The weather along the line this morning was calm and dull. The temperature ranged from 35 to 45 degrees.

Conditions in Greenspond.

From a gentleman who recently arrived from Greenspond, we learn that conditions there are anything but good, and the outlook for the future is gloomy indeed, unless something is done to enable the residents to engage at the fishery. There is absolute need of Government aid in this direction, and the people are petitioning for assistance. Regarding the roads, the same gentleman informs us they were never in such a condition. The Public Wharf is in bad state and it would require about $2,000 to put it in repair. There are about 100 men in the place with no prospects for the summer in sight, unless they can get to the fishery. These men had formerly worked at Grand Falls and other places, which at present are closed down.

A Clipper Fishing Schooner.

Capt. M. Brazg, of the schr. Reginald B. Green, may well feel proud of his vessel, which, locally built, has proved herself a clipper. The vessel built at one of the yards in Bonaville Bay, has proven herself a very fast sailer. On Tuesday morning at 2.30 sail was set in Greenspond, and at 2 p.m. the same day the vessel was at anchor near Bowings premises on the Southside. This, we think, is a record that has never been beaten.

"REG'LAR FELLERS"

Conference With Premier.

At 10 o'clock this morning a delegation of the committee of unemployed consisting of Messrs. B. J. Walby, C. Robbins, P. Kavanagh, John Power and George Ayre, as Solicitor, waited on the Prime Minister at his office, in relation to the wages reduction as announced by the Municipal Commission. A two-hour conference was held, the Premier promising the delegation to do everything in his power to have this grievance removed and the wages revert to the previous scale. He also promised that he would enable the Council to raise another sum of $80,000 on the same conditions as the $150,000 loan. The Premier said he was not responsible for the cut in pay, as he, with the members of the Districts of St. John's East and West, and the Municipal Council, had agreed on a fixed scale of wages. Regarding the Council's position he promised to take the matter up with Mayor Gosling on his arrival here next week, and if possible have a satisfactory arrangement made by pay day, which is Thursday.

Moderate Prohibition.

On Monday night there will be a public meeting of the Moderate Prohibitionists held in the Casino Theatre when the report of the Committee will be submitted and resolutions introduced demanding immediate action by the Legislature with regard to modification. The meeting will be a test of public opinion, as many of the Moderate Committee contend that the public have lost interest in the movement. It is rumored that the Prohibition Commission are sending in a report to the Government advocating an allowance on a three months basis, with doctors retaining their scripts privileges. On the other hand it is said that some of the leading medical practitioners are expressing dissatisfaction with the script system and are memorializing the Government to that effect.

The Speed of Animals.

Recently (says "Everyday Science") naturalists have made attempts to measure the speed of animals by means of the motor car, and of birds by the aeroplane. These experiments were carried out on the Uintah Desert, in the State of Utah, a flat table land smooth enough for a car to follow a running animal closely and to time it by the speedometer and the stopwatch. A coyote "put up" by the car registered 45 miles an hour for 2 1/4 miles; a prairie wolf kept up 38 miles an hour for 3 miles; a mule deer 47 miles an hour for 1 1/2 miles; an elk 32 miles an hour for 3 miles; while an antelope did 62 miles an hour for 2 1/2 miles. The aeroplane tests for birds recorded 48 miles an hour for 10 miles by the American eagle, and 50 miles an hour for 4 miles by the wild duck. Pigeons, it is mentioned, have been timed to 55 miles an hour in this country, while tests have shown bees are still speedier travellers.

Horseshoes.

Simple as the idea of horseshoes seems to us, it is not as old an invention as might be thought. Credit for it appears to belong to the Gauls of Switzerland, from whom the Romans learnt it about the third century, though they did not adopt it as a general practice for a long time. The horses of neither classical Greece nor of Rome wore iron shoes; but they did on occasion wear socks. In Xenophon's day the Armenians tied bags on their horses' feet to keep them from sinking in snow, and camels and horses were sometimes provided with a sort of sandal of leather or broom when foot-sore. William the Conqueror is generally credited with introducing iron horseshoes into Britain, but some authorities state that they were known in Scotland before his day, and were possibly one of the "mysteries" of the Druids, who knew the craft of iron-working.

"WINDSOR PATENT"

makes WONDERFUL BREAD

A Frightful Discovery.

(Montreal Daily Star.) A Toronto physician claims to have discovered a preparation of ether that will "compel a person to tell the truth." He found it by accident and he says it never fails. Angels and ministers of grace defend us! Stop that man before he takes the first step towards making the formula public! Here is the gravest menace to society that human malignity has yet invented, a hellish vision beside which the reddest of red Bolshevism fades to the palest pink. Tell the truth, now, henceforth and forever, under every circumstance, and at whatever cost,—do this thing and uphold the eternal hills upon which the fabric of our civilization rests. Do this and set mankind most firmly by the ears. Tell the truth, the bold, bitter, naked truth about yourself and your neighbor, and become the victim of a sensational—and thoroughly justified—murder. "Tell the truth and shame the devil," they used to say, but we know better. His Majesty is a shameless person; you can't get under his skin that way. Tell the truth and start something from which the devil will most abundantly profit and the rumors of wars, envy, hatred and malice, and all uncharitableness, will be diminished. In other words, with the lie, but long live fact. This man Cotton's discovery is a frightful to contemplate. Let us get once fairly started on a career of unadulterated truth-telling and world would be no fit place to live.

Industry Nearly 5,000 Years Old

About 4,000 years ago, a fourteen-year-old Chinese Empress named Szu Chi, observed a little worm busily spinning fibre on the leaves of a mulberry tree. After she had watched this fascinating process with her curiosity satisfied, she began to exercise her ingenuity by trying to gather up and reel the fibre. She soon made a demonstration to the ladies of her court, and interested them in this new and absorbing amusement. Together the Empress and her ladies busied themselves with a task of weaving this fibre into silks and embroidering with it. The Empress delighted them.

The Emperor looked upon this absorbing hobby of his little consort with tolerant amusement. To him and to the wise men of his court was only a pretty game for leisure hours. But one day he was startled by the indifference when Szu Chi presented him with a beautiful garment made from the silken fibre. A garment of such a quality shewn had never before been seen at the court of China, and from that time on it became the fashion for all members of the court to wear clothes of this wonderful new fabric.

Silk became the Fashion. In this way the wearing of silk became the fashion throughout all the world. The culture of silk became a general industry. China grew rich through the export of silken fabrics to India, Persia, Arabia and other parts of Asia. So valuable was this industry to China that it preserved the secret of silk culture with jealous care and death was the penalty decreed for anybody found taking or sending out of China the silk-worm eggs or the secret of the white mulberry tree. And for centuries neighboring countries sought vainly to obtain from China the secret of silk.

It was about 350 B.C., however, that the secret was discovered by a man who won the love of a Chinese Princess. Together they slipped into India, and the Princess, in order that she might be able to enjoy her familiar occupation in her new home, carried with her some silkworm eggs and a few of the white mulberry tree. She smuggled them through by concealing them in her girdle. Not long afterwards she disappeared mysteriously from her husband's palace and never heard of again, but the secret she brought with her remained in India, and soon the courts of the East were alive with vari-colored silks and satins.

One Man on Island of Girls.
An ideal "select seminary" for young ladies, at least so the girls themselves would regard it, has been discovered on an island recently situated in the Pacific Ocean, in the island of Papeete, in the West Indies. Just north of the Fiji Islands, according to a Continental correspondent, only one man, a caretaker, lived on the island. But the caretaker was the only white person in the vicinity, and the "young ladies" were of chocolate hue. A school much of the same type as an English boarding school was conducted, according to Miss Jolliffe, who founded the institution. The curriculum, however, was adjusted to the tastes as the girls lived on fish they caught themselves, and on coconuts, which were plentiful on the island.

The Mystery Explained.
At last the mystery, if there was a mystery, regarding the death of Lord Curzon has been set at rest by the official publication by the German Admiralty of the facts in connection with the sinking of the Hampshire. The Germans assert that the vessel was not sunk by a submarine but by a torpedo or mine laid at the end of May, 1915, by Submarine U-75.

The Hampshire sailed on June 8th, although a chartered mine sweeper had been sunk in the same field on June 2nd, and the fact was reported to the British Admiralty, the latter ordered the Hampshire to follow a course west of the Orkneys on the assumption that German submarines were not operating that far north. As the German document shows, however, the submarine commander, Lieutenant Hart Beitzen, had laid a mine field in this well-known path of warships six days earlier.

Responsibility for the death of the Hampshire, therefore, is sought to be placed upon the British Admiralty. It will be recalled that it was originally intended that Premier Lloyd George should also sail on the Hampshire. Pressure of home affairs kept him in London, and undoubtedly saved his life. But it was a trick of fate—or was it by enemy suggestion?—that the Hampshire should have been directed into the only mine field laid in the whole northern sea area by the Germans. The British side of the story should be given.—Morning Chronicle.

Day of Battleships Past

SO DECLARES SIR PERCY SCOTT IN LETTER TO 'LONDON STAIN.' DAILY

The weapons to attack the battleship may only have been invented in 1924; they will, therefore, be four years ahead of battleship design; this must always be the case when weapons, which take a short time to make, are pitted against ships, that take a long time to build.

Then, again, I think we can take it for granted that all countries will adopt submarines, mines, aeroplanes, torpedo planes, dirigible torpedoes, poisonous gas, fast hydroplanes, boats carrying torpedoes and directional wireless, as means for defending their harbours, ports, coaling stations, docks, entrances to canals, and important coastal towns.

We can also take it for granted that by 1924 all countries will be fully equipped with these weapons, and that the battleships will not be able to approach until the defence is entirely destroyed. It will also be allowed that the country acting on the defensive will have a great advantage, as it will practically be operating from its base; the attacking battleship base may be a thousand miles away.

The statement that no modern battleship has been sunk by a torpedo has been much used as a strategical way of conveying to the taxpayer the fact that a modern battleship cannot be sunk by under-water attack. The public have over and over again been told that the fourteen battle and other ships that were sunk by under-water attack were only old ones. The implication in the statement is that the under-water protection of the modern battleship employed in the war was of such a nature that she was immune from under-water attack, but the world knows that is not in accordance with fact. Early in the war our most modern battleship, H.M.S. Audacious, was sunk by a mine or a torpedo—it does not signify which. I have demonstrated that practically they are the same, the only difference being that you bump the one and the other bumps you.

The next travesty we come across is "that during the war enemy submarines in no way interfered with the movements of our 'capital' ships in carrying out operations." This statement may be accepted by the public, but it naturally will not be accepted by any naval officers. We regard it as great a fable as the one I have just related. The world knows the Queen Elizabeth was hurried home as soon as German submarines appeared in the Mediterranean, and we thought it jolly lucky to get her back; the remainder of the battleships dispersed—some to the bottom of the ocean, some managed to get into port, and lashed merchant ships alongside them as a protection against submarines.

It is well known that the enemy submarine did most effectively interfere with the movements of our "capital" ships. Enemy submarines drove our Grand Fleet from Scapa Flow to Loch Swilly. Will the public be told that this interference with movement was because the Grand Fleet wanted change of air?

We are very backward, I believe, as regards guns in the air, but the Americans are making rapid strides in that direction. They already have (I am told) a 6-inch gun of the Davis pattern, and I do not see why they should not grow into a 12-inch. Such a gun 1,000 feet high firing 500-lb. bombs on to the deck of a battleship five miles off would create a very unpleasant sensation on board.

Footprints 130 Years Old.

Footprints, 130 years old, of a Hawaiian army that fled from the wrath of Pele, goddess of the active volcano of Kilauea, east here, are believed to have been discovered in the Kan Desert, south of the great crater, by Professor T. A. Jagger, Jr., in charge of the volcano observatory. Keona led an army of three divisions against King Kamehameha, who later united all the Hawaiian Islands under his sway, in the year 1790. This year also recorded the last explosive eruption of Kilauea. Hawaiian legend records the fact that some of Keona's warriors rolled stones into Kilauea crater to mark their desperate flight from the goddess of the molten lake. Whatever the reason for the submergence, Pele rose in her wrath and, with a terrific explosive eruption, totally wiped out the second division of Keona's army. The footprints found in the Kan Desert are believed to be those of men of the first division, who, seeing the destruction of their comrades in the rear, fled from the locality. The third division, coming up, saw the bodies of the annihilated second and halted. The area in which the footprints were discovered is part of the new Kilauea National Park, which will be dedicated this year, and steps have already been taken to inclose the tracks and preserve them.
