

The Toronto World

Telephone-private exchange connecting all... Telephone News Service published every day in the year.

Subscription rates in advance... One year, Daily, Sunday included...

These rates include postage all over Canada, United States or Great Britain.

Special terms to agents and wholesale rates to newspapers on application.

THE WORLD, Toronto, Canada. Hamilton Office, Royal Corner, James Street North, Telephone No. 955.

FOREIGN AGENCIES... Advertisement and subscriptions are received through any responsible advertising agency in England, France, Australia, Germany, etc.

Readers of The World will confer a favor if they will notify the publishers regarding any irregularities or lateness in delivery.

SIR WILFRID MUST COMPLETE HIS CABINET.

There is a vacancy in the Dominion house of commons caused by the death of the late James Sutherland, who sat for North Oxford.

The same event makes a vacancy in the Laurier cabinet, the portfolio of public works. Both of these vacancies ought to be filled forthwith.

If Hon. Mr. Hyman, who has been acting minister of public works, is given the position for good, he must go back to some constituency for election.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

Or Sir Wilfrid could ask Mr. Aylesworth or some one else to take Mr. Sutherland's place in the cabinet, and to run for North Oxford. In that case Mr. Hyman would continue as he was member of the cabinet without portfolio.

The government, he is represented by... The Toronto World

It is a fact that the country will not be long delayed and it has been noted that the premier is undertaking no parliamentary business which cannot be wound up by the end of the month.

Whether this is so or not, it can hardly be doubted that the two leaders are acting in concert in so conspicuously singling out the Irish question and sounding so markedly the anti-home rule note.

That Mr. Chamberlain will be found in the fighting line is, however, uncertain at the moment. During his Birmingham speech he was evidently struggling against physical conditions, ascribed by one report to a headache and by others to a recurrence of the malady from which he sought relief in Egypt last year.

But it is daily becoming clearer that the present position is impossible and that nothing can clarify the political atmosphere but a reference to the voice of the country.

That their abstention from even the semblance of attack is part of a deliberate plan may be taken for granted. It cannot have resulted from lack of information regarding the position and movements of the Russian vessels, for so complete are the Japanese methods that they probably know more about these than any but the immediate participants. At the very least they could not have less than the critics who found in reports to hand sufficient ground for forecasting clashes at various points along the coast.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

outflow. That opportunity is the solution of the question of street railway franchise and radial entrance by the one act of municipalizing the street railway system.

Since Admiral Rojestvensky and his conglomerate Armada reached eastern waters there has been a daily expectation of news, either of some great general engagement involving the supremacy of the sea, or at least of a series of daring torpedo and cruiser attacks upon the advancing flotilla. But nothing has happened. The Japanese have exceeded their best previous record in the way of concealing any data from which their plan of campaign can be surmised. A fine field has thus been left for hypothesis and from their infinite variety it would not be surprising if one turned out to be tolerably accurate. To say which of them, however, would be to violate the original problem itself.

That their abstention from even the semblance of attack is part of a deliberate plan may be taken for granted. It cannot have resulted from lack of information regarding the position and movements of the Russian vessels, for so complete are the Japanese methods that they probably know more about these than any but the immediate participants. At the very least they could not have less than the critics who found in reports to hand sufficient ground for forecasting clashes at various points along the coast.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

STATE OF NEW YORK... ORGANIZATION OF LABOR

Only Three Foreign Countries Have as Many and They Are Behind in Proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

Albany, May 7.—Statistics recently received by the state department of commerce show that only three foreign countries have as many and they are behind in proportion.

THE HOME SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

In business as a Savings Bank and Loan Company since 1854.

HEAD OFFICE: 78 Church St., Toronto

BRANCH "A": 522 Queen St. W., Cor. Hackney

Assets $3,000,000

3 1/2% Interest allowed on Deposits from Twenty Cents upwards.

Withdrawable by Cheques.

Office Hours: 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturdays 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

OPEN EVERY SATURDAY NIGHT 7 to 9 o'clock.

JAMES MASON, Managing Director

IN THE SUNDAY WORLD.

Full account of the political situation in North Oxford.

Apparently authentic rumor that Laurier cabinet member for Levee.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished. It is not already accomplished.

BEARS TRIBBLE TO OXFORD SON'S WORTH

Thousands Attend Funeral of Hon. James Sutherland, The Rain Was Incessant.

Woodstock, May 7.—(Special).—Not in the history of Woodstock has there been such an outpouring of grief as was witnessed during the burial of Hon. James Sutherland, minister of public works, in the Dominion cabinet, on Saturday afternoon. The rain was incessant through the day, thousands of citizens stood on the streets for two hours waiting for the solemn procession from "Aldford" to pass, and many went out to the Presbyterian cemetery to witness the last sad rites.

A special train bearing Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his cabinet and about 20 members of parliament, as well as officials of the public works department, came in by C.P.R. in the morning. Representatives of the political, business and social world from many points arrived by the regular trains, and hundreds drove in from the country roundabout. Business was suspended in the city from 2 to 4, and nearly every store on Dundas-street displayed a picture of the late representative, appropriately draped, while the funeral train at half past ten, and the solemn tolling of church bells indicated the sorrow of Woodstock for the loss of her foremost son.

At the magnificent Sutherland home in the outskirts a sad scene was enacted at 20 when Rev. Dr. McCullough of Knox Church began the service for the dead. Around the casket were placed the floral tributes of a sorrowing people. In the room were Mr. Sutherland's closest friends, but the chief of none was more poignant than that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. His affection for "Jim" Sutherland was the affection of a brother and those who know the premier say he has lost a colleague who was closer to him than any other. Sir Wilfrid's grief was uncontrollable, and he sobbed through the ceremony.

The Service. Rev. Dr. McCullough of Knox Church had charge of the services, and was assisted by Rev. G. C. Patterson, Embro. Dr. McCullough said Mr. Sutherland was an eminently successful life, judged by all the standards men ordinarily apply. By a series of well-planned and carefully executed ventures he amassed wealth, and at the solicitations of his friends he entered politics. Life and rose in favor with all with whom he was associated. It was with proud satisfaction that Mr. Sutherland regarded the possession of "Aldford," because within its walls 48 years ago King Edward VII. was entertained at luncheon and Mr. Sutherland, then a small boy, was one of the guests. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the ungrudging sympathy he extended to many. After saying the press have been pronouncing the systems as follows: President, Edward has gone, Dr. McCullough said now was more sensible than himself of the duties of his office. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the ungrudging sympathy he extended to many. After saying the press have been pronouncing the systems as follows: President, Edward has gone, Dr. McCullough said now was more sensible than himself of the duties of his office. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the ungrudging sympathy he extended to many. After saying the press have been pronouncing the systems as follows: President, Edward has gone, Dr. McCullough said now was more sensible than himself of the duties of his office. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the ungrudging sympathy he extended to many. After saying the press have been pronouncing the systems as follows: President, Edward has gone, Dr. McCullough said now was more sensible than himself of the duties of his office. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the ungrudging sympathy he extended to many. After saying the press have been pronouncing the systems as follows: President, Edward has gone, Dr. McCullough said now was more sensible than himself of the duties of his office. He had the honor to pay the ovation of enthusiastic loyalty to the future monarch of the empire. The real success of Mr. Sutherland's life, the preacher said, must be found in the helping hand and the un

The Best Hot Weather Medicine

SALE TEN MILLION BOXES A YEAR
CANDY CATHARTIC
30c 25c 50c
THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP
PREVENT ALL SUMMER BOWEL TROUBLES

EVA BOOTH VISITS TOMBS BELIEVES NAN IS INNOCENT

What Good Women Think of Accused Actress—Dr. O'Hanlon Also Admits His Testimony Now.

New York, May 6.—Miss Eva Booth, head of the Salvation Army in the United States, called at the prison today and had a long conference with Nan Patterson.

After the interview had ended, Miss Booth said: "I do not believe that girl is a murderer. She is built from much better material than is usually found in persons who commit such crimes. I certainly believe her innocent of the murder of Chester Young."

Margaret E. Sangster, the authoress, once editor of Harper's Bazaar, and whose books and novels point a moral to a true and noble home life, also interviewed Nan, and says:

"She strikes me, indeed, as a creature without much depth of thought, feeling or purpose—some one who would not serve her in an emergency; just one of those inconsequent women who are at the mercy of any impulse. She probably has no deep convictions about virtue or vice, or if she had them, they have gone down under the weight of her life. But she does not seem one who need always go wrong or be wrong. She seems so childish that one does not despair of her salvation. Yet, whatever life may be before her, she can never emerge from the obliquity, nor the recollection of the dreary eleven months that the law's wheel has compelled her to pass."

"The state might be in better shape than to engage in crushing a butterfly like this beneath the wheels of its great judgment. It would never be possible to convict her of the crime of which she has been accused. She is herself the best refutation of the charge against her."

Dr. O'Hanlon, the coroner's physician who testified for the prosecution in all three of the trials, in the presence of clerks and several other persons in the coroner's office today, said:

"Now that the trial is over, I feel free to say that all along I believed that the revolver which fired the bullet was in the hands of Young. My reason is from the powder marks I found on one of Young's fingers on the day he was killed."

CUBAN-BRITISH TREATY SIGNED.

Favored-Nation Clause Not Included, Owing to Senate's Opposition

Havana, May 6.—The effort of Great Britain to secure a favored nation treaty with Cuba has ended by State Secretary O'Farrell and Minister Carden signing a treaty of friendship and commerce, from which a favored nation clause offered by Great Britain has been expunged.

The treaty has been pending for more than a year. It is known that Senator Ortiz, the former secretary of state, strongly favored adopting the British proposition, but President Palma was unwilling to grant Great Britain a position of relationship to Cuba that might give Great Britain future advantages in Cuba trade similar in any degree to those enjoyed by the United States. The clause which Great Britain proposed expressly excepted the United States in its present reciprocal relations to Cuba. The Cuban government wished to remain perfectly free to enter into any reciprocal trade or other relations with the United States and to avoid such relationship with other powers.

LITTLE GIRL FALLS FIVE FEET INTO MAN'S OUTSTRETCHED ARMS

New York, May 7.—Five-year-old Irene Rickett, who lives with her parents on the fifth floor of the flat at 48 West Fifty-third street, fell four stories through the well of a fire escape at the rear of the house yesterday afternoon.

John Hayes, living at a window on the first floor, with his arm stretched out, caught the child as she fell. The child hit squarely on his arm and bounded over against his body, without a scratch on her.

The little girl's grandmother was ironing up in the Rickett flat. In her excitement she dropped the iron down well, and it missed Hayes' head by a fraction of an inch.

ONE JAIL HOLDS TEN BANKERS.

Columbus, Ohio, May 7.—A. B. Spear, late cashier of the Oberlin Bank, which Cassie Chadwick absconded, was received at the penitentiary yesterday morning to enter upon his seventh year's term. Spear took his imprisonment with rare good humor and laughed and joked with the officials. Because there are now ten bankers in the penitentiary, all of whom have been assigned to clerical work, it is not likely that Spear will get an easy task at once.

CHARGE WAS WITHDRAWN.

The charge against L. W. Moorehouse of Montreal of alleged misappropriation of funds belonging to the "Women of the World" was withdrawn in the police court today. It was shown that there was no intention of wrong-doing on the part of Moorehouse.

CONGRESS MUST DRAW UP ALONG RECIPROcity LINES

Altho U.S. is in Immediate Danger of Diminished Trade, According to Governor Cummins.

Chicago, May 6.—Governor Cummins of Iowa, at a luncheon given by the Chicago Commercial Association, in honor of foreign consuls today, discussed at some length the tariff question in several of his phases.

In speaking of the need for better reciprocity treaties between the United States and foreign countries, Governor Cummins pointed out what he considered dangers of a diminished trade for America, if treaties are not effected.

"Canada," he said, "has been knocking at our doors for years for fair trade, and we have blindly rejected her advances. It is now too late to make an opportunity is forever closed. A few years ago the most distinguished diplomat and economist of the United States, a citizen of Iowa, under the appointment and guidance of Logan McKim, negotiated a series of treaties, the sole purpose of which was to help us to make a market for our agricultural surplus. These treaties went to the senate with the approval of the president, whose broad vision it is to perceive the fundamental truth that we could not permanently sell everything and buy nothing. And we have been in vain ever since."

"We are now threatened with entire exclusion from the markets of Germany unless we take up the subject of reciprocal trade and make some fair bargain with that nation."

"As I am composed of this time, congress is unalterably, inflexibly and indignantly opposed to any change whatsoever. Hereby, if you desire an opportunity to hold a reasonable conference with respect to a change in the law, you must substitute men who will do something for men who are determined to do nothing."

The pre-eminent position of the Gourelay Pianos in the estimation of our best musicians and music-lovers has been attained and is maintained by an unswerving adherence to the principle of NOTHING BUT THE BEST.

Beyond even this we have the disposition never to be content with "well enough"—we are the severest critics of our own product, assuring the purchaser the highest degree of permanent satisfaction.

As an instance of the high esteem in which the Gourelay Piano is held by musicians, we print the following letter from Mr. G. D. Atkinson, piano teacher and organist and choir-master of Wesley Methodist Church, Toronto:

Messrs Gourelay, Winter & Leeming,
188 Yonge Street, Toronto.

"It affords me a great deal of pleasure to add my word of appreciation of your Gourelay Piano. Having had two of them in use for nearly two years, I have had abundant opportunity of proving their excellent qualities. Without attempting to enumerate those in detail, I would simply say that in your piano I feel that you have been particularly happy in combining those mechanical and artistic qualities which make up the ideal instrument. I wish you every possible success."

Yours very truly,
G. D. ATKINSON.

WRITE FOR BOOKLET
We Ship on Approval Anywhere in Canada.

GOURLAY, WINTER & LEEMING
188 YONGE STREET TORONTO
Hamilton: 66 King Street West

Otis-Fensom Elevator Co. Limited

MANUFACTURERS OF
OTIS STANDARD ELEVATORS
HYDRAULIC ELEVATORS
ELECTRIC ELEVATORS
STEAM ELEVATORS
HAND ELEVATORS

HEAD OFFICE:
CONFEDERATION LIFE BUILDING
TORONTO, ONT.

HOSPITAL JAIL FOR DRUNKS.

New York, May 6.—Magistrate Pool received a message from Albany last night informing him that the legislature had passed the bill he had introduced providing for the establishment of a hospital in this city to which a city magistrate or supreme court justice may commit for treatment of males or females who are habitually intoxicated or who are made incompetent or dangerous from the use of opium, chloral, cocaine or other narcotic or drugs.

DESERTED TO VISIT MOTHER'S GRAVE.

Battle Creek, Mich., May 6.—A. B. Van Stine, aged 30, half starved, surrendered to the police today as a deserter from the United States warship Albatross.

While Van Stine was in the service his mother died. Hearing of her death two years afterwards the young man had been in charge of Stratford, Ont., to visit his mother's grave.

He had been knocking about aimlessly since, taking the police to task and not care what the authorities did with him.

PROUD FATHER'S REWARD.

Paris, May 7.—After many years' effort, Senator Pflot, apostle of the reformation in France, has scored a diplomatic success. He has just obtained the tobacco's license for a road near the city of Lyons. The license was given by M. Rouvier, the premier and minister of finance.

The step is important in view of the fact that such licenses constitute government patronage, and the number of applications from officers and widows and others is enormous.

Russian Spy is Fined $250.

Singapore, Straits Settlements, May 6.—Vladimir Antonovich, the alleged Russian spy who carried a passport from London, and who was arrested on the island of Brunei and arraigned in Singapore April 25 on the charge of being an agent of the Russian government, was sentenced today to three months' imprisonment for trespassing and was fined $250 for being found in possession of sketching materials in a fortified place. Antonovich has given notice of an appeal.

Paris Shivers in May.

Paris, May 7.—"The merry month of May" sadly belies its name in Paris this year. Rain, gales and storms make it more like November. The sun is brilliant enough when it deigns to shine, but this has been at rare intervals. Damp weather and low temperature have given no inducement for a display of light dresses, and furs are again to be seen. Outdoor functions, naturally, have suffered, but the two fine art exhibitions have been well patronized.

In the country farmers complain of crops and vines jeopardized unless dry, warm weather soon returns.

Value of French Art Treasures.

London, May 7.—The French prefects have received instructions to make inventories of the art treasures of all the prefectures. The exact value of these is unknown, but it is immense, and has been computed at $400,000,000, reckoning only the reliquaries, pictures, tapestries and things of like kind. If the statues, altars, stained glass windows, etc., are included, it is estimated that the figure will reach $1,200,000,000.

90% of the People

use wooden shingles because their fathers used them, and their fathers used them because their grandfathers used them, and so on. The only way to get a safe and reliable protection by covering your buildings with made of iron, steel, brass, and other metals, and are fireproof and durable. They are easy to put on and are not expensive. Send for a sample and we will make you a free estimate. Write to the nearest agent or to the manufacturer, METAL SHINGLE & SIDING CO., PRESTON, ONTARIO.

"SAFE LOCK" SHINGLES

REGULATING RAILROAD RATES GOVERNMENT ABLE TO DO IT

Attorney General of United States Says Privilege is Constitutional—Courts However Can Arbitrate.

Washington, May 6.—In a long opinion on the question of railroad charges, given in response to a request by Senator Stephen B. Ekins, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, Attorney-General Moody considers the governmental power to regulate the operation of railroads, especially in the respect of fixing rates for transportation, by whom that power, so far as its extent in the national government may be exercised, constitutionally, and what limits to the power, if any, are prescribed by the constitution. The opinion, which is exhaustive, cites many cases dealing with railroad regulation from the limits of the matter was first treated, and quotes at length from the decisions of state and federal courts. Summing up, the attorney-general arrives at the following conclusions:

1. There is a governmental power to fix maximum future charges of carriers by railroad, vested in the legislative branch of the government, and to transportation exclusively within the States, and vested in congress with respect to other transportation.

2. A legislative power, properly speaking, cannot be delegated, the law-making body having conferred into law the standard of charges which shall control, may intrust to an administrative body not exercising in the true sense judicial power the duty to fix rates in conformity with that standard.

3. The rate-making power is not a judicial function and cannot be conferred constitutionally upon the courts of the United States either by way of original or appellate jurisdiction.

4. The courts, however, have the power to investigate any rate or rates fixed by legislative authority and to determine whether they are such as would be satisfactory to the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

5. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

6. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

7. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

8. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

9. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

10. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

11. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

12. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

13. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

14. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

15. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

16. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

17. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

18. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

19. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

20. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

21. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

22. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

23. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

24. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

25. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

26. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

27. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

28. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

29. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

30. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

31. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

32. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

33. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

34. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

35. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

36. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

37. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

38. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

39. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

40. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

41. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

42. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

43. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

44. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

45. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

46. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

47. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

48. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

49. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

50. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

51. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

52. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

53. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

54. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

55. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

56. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

57. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

58. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

59. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

60. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

61. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

62. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

63. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

64. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

65. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

66. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

67. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

68. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

69. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

70. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

71. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

72. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

73. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

74. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

75. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

76. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

77. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

78. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

79. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

80. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

81. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

82. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

83. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

84. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

85. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

86. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

87. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

88. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

89. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

90. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

91. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

92. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

93. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

94. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

95. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

96. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

97. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

98. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

99. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

100. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

101. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

102. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

103. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

104. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

105. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

106. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

107. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

108. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

109. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

110. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

111. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

112. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

113. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

114. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

115. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

116. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

117. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

118. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

119. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

120. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

121. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

122. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

123. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

124. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

125. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

126. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

127. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

128. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

129. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

130. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

131. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

132. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

133. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

134. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

135. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

136. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

137. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

138. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

139. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

140. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

141. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

142. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

143. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

144. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

145. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

146. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

147. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

148. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

149. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

150. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

151. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

152. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

153. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

154. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

155. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

156. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

157. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

158. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

159. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

160. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

161. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

162. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

163. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

164. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

165. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

166. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

167. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

168. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

169. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

170. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

171. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

172. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

173. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

174. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

175. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

176. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

177. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

178. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

179. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

180. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

181. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

182. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

183. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

184. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

185. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

186. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

187. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

188. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

189. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

190. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

191. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

192. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

193. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

194. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

195. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

196. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

197. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

198. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

199. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

200. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

201. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

202. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

203. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

204. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

205. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

206. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

207. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

208. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

209. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

210. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

211. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

212. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

213. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

214. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

215. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with his wares.

216. The prohibition of the property of the carrier, and if they are judicially found to be confiscatory in their effect, to restrain their enforcement.

217. Any law which attempts to deprive the courts of this power is unconstitutional.

218. Any regulation of land transportation, however exercised, would seem to be so indirect in its effect upon the ports that it could not constitute a preference between the ports of different states, within the meaning of article I, section 9, paragraph 6 of the constitution.

219. Reasonable, just and impartial rates determined by legislative authority are always well pleased with

WE PAY INTEREST AT 3 1/2% ON EVERY FACILITY

ABSOLUTE SECURITY CANADA PERMANENT MORTGAGE CORPORATION. TORONTO STREET. TORONTO

RECOVERY SHOWN SECURITIES PRICES

A Week of Feverish Action Witnessed on Wall Street—Local Heavy and Dull.

World Office, Saturday Evening, May 6. The second drumming administered to the long interest in the New York market last week has impressed the current week's developments. Time is being allowed for recuperation of a few minutes before any further attempt is made to recover the confidence that the rather severe dip in prices has destroyed. The feverish condition of quotations around the bottom made last Saturday and Monday are essential to shake out purchases if it is the intention of the market leaders to keep up prices again. That this will be done there is not the slightest doubt. Bulling the market for the convenience of outside long accounts is an expensive operation at present, and it is to be had to means that would repay the profits paid out, with a good deal of addition for the accommodation rendered. The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The recent downward prices has had no satisfactory explanation, and a recovery will be accomplished on about as reasonable terms. It was stated that the market had been crushed. This excuse served as well as any other, but the market has shown a recovery of confidence, and the market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

When the market situation has improved to a point where it is possible to conduct business, the market will be held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

IMPERIAL BANK OF CANADA

Notice is hereby given that a Dividend of 5 Per Cent. for the half-year ending 31st March 1925, upon the capital stock of this Bank, has been declared and will be payable at this Bank on the 17th day of June next.

Table with columns for various financial metrics and company names, including S. P. H., S. S. M., and others.

At London. The Bank of England discount rate is 2 1/2 per cent. Money 2 1/2 per cent. Short bills, 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent. Last 100 days, 1 1/2 to 2 per cent. Call money at Toronto, 4 1/2 to 5 per cent.

Table of exchange rates for various locations including Montreal, Toronto, and others.

At New York. The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

Table of stock prices for various companies including Canadian Pacific, Canadian National, and others.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

GENERAL MARKET STEADY FUTURES ARE STILL DULL

Chicago crop report corroborates other recent reports—Liverpool quotations about unchanged.

Table of market prices for various commodities including wheat, corn, and other grains.

At London. The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

Table of market prices for various commodities including oil, sugar, and other goods.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

Table of market prices for various commodities including cotton, wool, and other fibers.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

The market has been held in check by several such minor measures before it really recovers to a more active and prolonged condition of activity.

Central Brick Dwelling For Sale

eleven rooms, bath, furnace, in good repair. This is an opportunity for someone to secure a home on easy terms. For full particulars apply to A. M. CAMPBELL.

NOTICE The bonus of 1000 shares Mexican Exploration & Development common stock, accompanying each $20 five-year 7 per cent. bond, will be withdrawn May 8, as practically sufficient funds have been raised for completion of the company's railway.

Unlisted Securities, Limited CONFEDERATION LIFE BUILDING Phone 21 1806 TORONTO

THE METROPOLITAN BANK Capital Paid Up $1,000,000 Reserve Fund $1,000,000

ENNIS & STOPPANI 28 Broad Street, New York. STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON

DOMINION COAL COMPANY, Limited $5,000,000 First Mortgage Five Per Cent. Thirty-five Year Sinking Fund Gold Coupon Bonds

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE, TORONTO, and Branches DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION, Limited, TORONTO

THE BANK OF MONTREAL The Canadian Bank of Commerce Messrs. Lee, Higginson & Co., of Boston

MEMBERS TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

OSLER & HAMMOND STOCK BROKERS AND FINANCIAL AGENTS 18 King St. West. Toronto

EMILIUS JARVIS & CO. BANKERS AND BROKERS 26 Toronto St.

MARSHALL, SPADER & CO. Represented in Canada by SPADER & PERKINS

MORTGAGE LOANS On Improved City Property At lowest current rates.

UNION TONOPAH AND GOLD-FIELDS MINES, LIMITED. During the past year the marvelous mining discoveries at Tonopah, Goldfield and other places, have started the mining and financial world.

ENNIS & STOPPANI 28 Broad Street, New York. STOCKS, BONDS, GRAIN, COTTON

DOMINION COAL COMPANY, Limited $5,000,000 First Mortgage Five Per Cent. Thirty-five Year Sinking Fund Gold Coupon Bonds

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE, TORONTO, and Branches DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION, Limited, TORONTO

