AFTER TEN YEARS

The Times prints today a report on vocational training presented by Dr. Bridges to the St. John Board of School Trustees ten years ago, in which he describes such a school as he declared this city needed then, and for which there is very much greater need now, when the city hopes to enter upon a period of industrial expansion. It is worth while to read this report today, in the light of the recent educational survey, which revealed conditions that are a disgrace to St. John. Until as good provision is made for the education of the vast majority of children who go out into industry as for the few who go into the professions, we are robbing that majority of their rights. Their needs cannot be served by the present curriculum and the present school buildings. When Dr. Bridges was in England he visited vocational schools and was told by perhaps the greatest authority on the subject in London that separate buildings were essential to the success of vocational classes. The citizens of St. John should no longer disregard the rights of the many hundreds of children of school age who are out of school, or of those in school who are retarded one to four years, largely because the curriculum does not serve their needs and ability. We need both pre-vocational and vocational classes, as well as a thoroughly equipped plant for evening classes of working boys and girls and adults whose school training was deficient. There is now an opportunity to get a school building that would be one hundred per cent efficient and of which the government would pay 25 per cent of the cost, 50 per cent of the cost of equipment and 60 per cent of the salaries. It would be wasteful folly not to take the opportunity, the more so because we must soon have more school accommodation.

TWO VIEWS ON PROHIBITION

The Times heard yesterday the views of two gentlemen living in Ontario in relation to prohibition in that province. One was rather bitter. He said the conditions were disgraceful, and the government employed thugs, crooks and bad men generally to enforce the law, bringing it into such disrepute that many people had changed their views regarding it. Incidentally this gentleman referred to their personal liberty, and expressed to have some sympathy with their point of view.

The other gentleman told a very different story. He said the benefits of prohibition generally to the people of Ontario are so obvious, and growing more so all the time, that he is a far more pronounced prohibitionist than when the law was adopted. He said the government was making an honest effort to enforce the law, and the conditions were improving.

The first gentleman agreed that the bar would never come back, but he evidently favored an amended law that would enable those who wished to get a supply of liquor. The other gentleman referred to British Columbia as an illustration of what that would result in, and said he had information from that province which would make him resolutely oppose any such law for Ontario. The weight of the evidence is in support of this gentleman's views. The way is forward and not backward. Ontario will go on to better observance of the law, and British Columbia will grow weary of a system which is not in the best interests of its people. In New Brunswick, also, we shall presently wake up and discover that law enforcement is a duty, and failure to enforce is a dereliction unworthy of those who class themselves as leaders or as good citizens in a democratic country.

It will generally be admitted that prohibition of the liquor traffic has brought great benefits to the people of Ontario, says the annual report of the Board of License Commissioners of Ontario for 1921, which has just been issued. "Intoxicated men are rarely seen upon the streets of our cities, towns and villages, and countless families, whose bread-winners formerly wasted their earnings on drink, are now able to live in comfort. The province collected from fines during the year the sum of $811,067.56; the expenses of enforcing the act amounted to $233,857.24, leaving an excess of receipts over expenses of $577,210.32. Fines paid to municipalities at the same time amounted to $167,697.60."

When the Citizens' Committee went to Fredericton some years ago to protest against legislation which would recognize the watered stock of the New Brunswick Power Company, they were amazed to be met on the floors of the legislature by representatives of labor in St. John, who urged the legislators to give the power company what it wanted. It would be surprising in view of all that has transpired since, if any representative of labor should be found urging that the city give a value of $20,000,000 to the run down plant of the company at a time when it is facing competition, especially when the value was never there at any time.

THE HOTEL PROBLEM

The Ontario legislative committee which has been touring the province making an investigation of hotel conditions, visited Ottawa this week, and the Journal report says: "The imperative need of up-to-date hotel accommodation in Ontario, if the money expended upon good roads and publicity tending towards attracting tourists to the province is to be justified, was voiced unanimously by the speakers at the luncheon in the Chateau Laurier yesterday. The impression which prevailed towards the close of the round-table discussion appeared to be that the hotel business would eventually respond to the law of supply and demand, providing the province exercised more strict supervision in granting licenses and set a standard to be lived up to." It was said by one speaker that the abolition of the bar had eliminated the most profitable department of the hotel business, and one or two favored permitting the sale of five per cent beer, but the suggestion did not meet with general favor. It was said that the number of hotels in Ontario had declined from 1,800 in 1916 to 1,100 in 1922. The universal sentiment was that there must be an improvement in hotel accommodation. Chairman Watson, of the legislative committee is thus reported: "Canada, he said, was the playground of North America, and as a province Ontario had done little towards developing its resources in this line. The influx of tourist traffic was rapidly climbing to a position as one of the big incomes of the province. He felt that the tourist traffic should be given greater attention than in times past. The income from this source in 1920 was $87,000,000 in Canada."

A measure of provincial control was suggested by several speakers. The report of the committee, at the close of its tour, will be awaited with great interest, since other provinces are confronted with the same problem of insufficient and inadequate hotel accommodation. If tourists cannot be well housed and fed the good roads will not bring them a second time, unless as camping motorists, who form but a small percentage of the whole influx, for there are winter as well as summer visitors.

A writer in the New York Evening Post tells this amusing story about Miss Murrell, the novelist, who died last week, and who wrote over the pen name of Charles Egbert Craddock: "It was an amusing moment when T. B. Aldrich, editor of the Atlantic, having invited Holmes and Howells to dine with Mr. Charles Egbert Craddock, found his guest appearing in skirts and not in trousers. But for the mistake there was more than one explanation. The late Miss Murrell had virility of style. It was not to be expected that a mere girl could cruise about the Tennessee mountains, knocking against the rough, lawless characters of the caves and crevices, and studying the difficult natural scenes. Charles Egbert Craddock knew a good deal about the law, too, and wrote in a bold, masculine hand, a supply of ink. Aldrich had once remarked: 'I wonder if Craddock has laid in his winter's ink yet; perhaps I can get a serial out of him.'"

A state approaching civil war exists in Italy. Today's cables tell of an attack by the Fascists on the Socialists in Bologna, and acts of violence are reported from many places. The trouble is due to the bitter strife of parties, and inability to form a stable administration. On one side are the Fascists, the Catholics, the Socialists and Communists, although this alignment is not at all fixed or stable. At one extreme stand the Communists and at the other the Fascists, and between these the other groups more or less in sympathy with one or the other. The Socialists are themselves divided into several groups. It may be necessary to hold a general election before a cabinet can be formed that would have any guarantee of permanency. At present the conditions appear to be going from bad to worse.

Today's cables report the loss of life by the typhoon at Swatow, China, on Aug. 2, at 28,000. The horrors of such a storm can hardly be imagined by people living in a climate where such visitations are unknown. The typhoon is no respecter of persons. Old and young, sick or well, who are found in its path, are involved in a common fate.

Halifax Chronicle: "It was a notable occasion at the Commercial Club when the guests of honor and the speakers of the day were the Admiral of the American squadrons and a distinguished public man from New Zealand. Their presence at the same board in a Canadian city was a token of that spirit of unity which links the English-speaking nations together."

Lesson No. 72

THE SINGLE CIRCUIT RECEIVER.

The tremendous interest in radio reception among the laymen due to the entrance of the radiophone broadcasting stations brought forth a demand for simple receiving sets. Perhaps the most popular and simplest circuit for all-round reception of radiophone broadcasts is the circuit shown in the diagram.

Single Circuit Receiver

The single circuit receiver consists essentially of an inductance coil inserted in the antenna circuit between the terminals of which are connected the detector and telephone circuits. The value of the inductance in circuit, hence the wave length of the system may be varied in a number of ways. A number of popular sets employ a variometer as indicated in the diagram, while others make use of a tapped coil with two or possibly only one switch. If a variometer is employed the condenser marked "FC" in the diagram may be a fixed condenser or may be omitted entirely if the antenna is not over 150 feet long. However, if the inductance coil is not fitted with switches and taps, or long. If a fine adjustment is desired, the condenser "FC" should be of the variable air type with a maximum capacity of about .001 microfarads.

A crystal detector may be employed in place of the vacuum tube detector shown in the diagram by connecting a pair of telephone receivers in series with a crystal detector across the terminals marked "1" and "2" instead of the vacuum tube. A small fixed condenser shunted across the telephone receivers will increase the efficiency of the set and improve the quality of the signals in the telephone.

The principle advantages of the single circuit receiver are its simplicity, moderate cost, and ease of operation. Practically all the tuning is done with a single adjustment, a feature which appeals particularly to the newcomer in radio with the single circuit receiver. This short-coming is particularly annoying when attempting to listen to a broadcasting station when a nearby amateur or commercial station is transmitting messages in the telegraphic code using spark or damped wave apparatus. In outlying districts, however, the single circuit receiver continues to give satisfaction.

Single circuit receivers employing the vacuum tube type of detector can be made regenerative, resulting in much stronger signals by the addition of a so-called tickler coil inserted in the plate circuit of the vacuum tube and placed near the inductance coil so as to feed back to the grid circuit. Careful adjustment of this tickler coil is necessary to avoid distortion of the incoming signal due to too much oscillation between the plate and grid circuits. By a gradual increase of tickler coupling the circuit can be made to oscillate and thus become a generator of continuous waves.

RADIO MAY ENABLE DEAF TO HEAR.

Recent experiments have demonstrated that the use of Radio waves properly amplified, may enable the deaf to hear. By means of the thermionic valves or vacuum tubes, as they are generally known, very weak signals may be built up into powerful ones, so that deaf persons who are unable to hear spoken words unless they are shouted.

It is reported in a London Medical Journal that a man, fifty years of age, practically deaf was enabled, through employment of several vacuum tubes in the amplification of sound, to receive clearly radio signals sent out from Paris. The delicate mechanism of the human ear in the average person does not respond to vibrations much in excess of 10,000 per second. Radio waves may have a frequency of several millions, and it is therefore necessary to reduce the high frequency oscillations to a lower frequency in order for them to be audible to the listener. The thermionic valve properly connected possesses the property of rendering the radio waves audible and in addition to greatly increase their intensity.

"THE TIME AND THE PLACE"

The trail cuts clean across the hills, It curls and dips and climbs again, The sky burns blue, the wind blows free, There's not a trace of town or sea!

Up, up, you craggy, soaring steep— Beyond the dipping purple moor— Blue deeps that rest and welcome me— The sky a tilted turquoise cup That shades to iridescent pearl; And the wind's wild, laughing lips, And clouds that race and swing and swirl.

And quiet—God—the joy of it! No changing horn nor rasping wheel! No fierce staccato hammer-beat, The ceaseless rattle of steel!

All night the swinging, silver stars, The moon that lies beside the sea, With restless flitting of the grass, Young Earth's embroidered canopy.

The scent of pine upon the wind, The chirping cricket's monologue, Then sleep, who weighs my eyelids down, Soft-fogged, smiling, stealing roguely.

For I had meant to be and watch The freely stars and the tall pine, To count each moment's toll of joy, Each wildwood, tangle beauty mine!

But sleep alphas down, and Night alphas, In and morning, tip-toe, laughing, lays Soft fingers on my eyelids, says: I wake and stare in swift amaze.

The sky is one great golden flame Above the sleeping sapphire sea, But oh, the longing you might share This sunrise miracle with me! Elizabeth Newport Hepburn in New York Times.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Brief Consultation. Doctor: "Good morning, what can I do for you?" Young Visitor: "I called, sir, to ask for the hand of your daughter."

"Humph! Appetite good?" "Not very." "How is your pulse?" "Very rapid, when—I am with her, very feeble when away." "Trouble with her?" "A wretched thing I think of."

"Take my daughter; you'll soon be cured. Five dollars, please."

Father Knows. "Now, Jimmy," said his Sunday school teacher, "I want you to memorize today's motto: 'It is more blessed to give than receive.'"

"Yes'm, but I know it now," replied Jimmy. "My father says he has always used that as his motto in his business."

"Oh, how noble of him!" said the teacher. "And what is your father's business?" "He's a prize-fighter, ma'am."

Fair Exchange. "Now, Clarence," said his mother as she handed him an apple, "you must divide honorably with your little sister Nettie."

"What's honorably, mamma?" he asked. "It means that the one that divides takes the smallest piece," was the reply. "Well," said the little diplomat, "then I will give it to Nettie and let her divide."

"PEACHY" AND MARY ELLEN.

(New York Times.)

Whoever has interest to spare for the Mary Ellen to whom most newspapers gave columns of space a few months ago is soon to have a chance—precious prize—to see in whatever glory her brief notoriety gives her. Several of the Nova Scotia papers announce, seemingly as a matter of appreciable importance, that they will send her affectionately termed "Peachy" Carroll, to take Mary Ellen on tour through the Atlantic States.

It is reported that a good many people went to hear Mr. Carroll lecture on the curious phenomena in the McDonald farmhouse that somehow were referred to Mary Ellen.

There were mysterious fires, it will be remembered, and the tails of the cows were found to be in a state of incalculable noise. In other words, "spirits."

A New York psychologist thought it worth while to investigate the phenomenon, but they all ceased on his arrival, and his conclusion was that, as in so many other like cases, it was Mary Ellen who had been playing tricks on the credulous relatives and neighbors.

This would seem to be a poor foundation for a "tour," but it has been given again as soon as the McDonalds moved back into their haunted house, and that finally they gave up in despair and moved away for good. Again Mary Ellen was not caught at any tricks and therefore she was innocent. At any rate, that is why she is expected to "draw."

Perhaps she will. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle did, and he only told about things no more wonderful than those that put Calcutta Mills on the map. It is not promised that the spirits are going to follow Mary Ellen about the two countries through which she is to peripatinate.

Those who visit her show will be rewarded only by the sight of her history and by hearing Mr. Carroll relate her story with eloquence and a fine semblance of faith.

"OUR WORLD" FOR AUGUST.

"Our World" for August maintains the high standard established in the four numbers which have previously appeared. Herbert S. Houston, the publisher, was in Berlin on the day that Dr. Walter S. Rathenau was murdered and he gives a graphic first-hand account of the tragic days which followed. The assassination, in Mr. Houston's view, threw into vivid relief the conflict which has been smoldering in Germany. Now two Germany's are definitely at war. On the one hand are the monarchists who, in Dr. Wirth's phrase, have resorted to a system of political murder in the attempt to upset the Republic; on the other are those who are determined to preserve the new government at any cost.

Another timely article is Charles R. Crane's own account of when he calls "the yow in Syria," which led to his being sentenced to twenty years in prison by the French government. The drastic sentence, which cannot be carried out, has not softened Mr. Crane's attitude toward France's action in Syria. Emile "Wool" said the little diplomat, "then I will give it to Nettie and let her divide."

BRIDE A SUICIDE, REBUKED FOR DRESS

Austrian Girl Shoots Herself When Father Forbids Her to Wed in Decollete Gown.

Geneva, Aug. 8.—The story of a wedding tragedy at Bregenz, Austria, is told by the Geneva newspapers.

A wealthy widower named Krauss was about to give his twenty-year-old daughter in marriage to a former Austrian officer. Krauss had made elaborate preparations for the ceremony, which was to take place at noon, and had given his daughter a large dowry.

When he first saw the girl's beautiful wedding dress, however, he declared that it was too much décollete, and told her he would not allow her to enter the church "half-naked." He locked her up in her bedroom, and related to her pleading only so far as to say that she might go to the church in another gown. The daughter refused. The hour for the ceremony arrived and passed.

Later the father heard a revolver shot, entered the room, and found his daughter's body lying across the bed, still clad in her bridal dress.

FINED FOR BREACH OF PROHIBITION ACT

Frederickton, Aug. 7.—Guy Anderson was fined $200 and costs in the police court here this morning for violating the Prohibition Act in May, 1921, by having liquor in his possession illegally. Anderson was not present, being represented by counsel. He is understood to have gone to Maine, as soon as he was released on deposit last week.

WORK OF A NOTED ARTIST FOUND IN ENGLISH BARROOM

London, Aug. 8.—Three landscapes, part of a collection of old pictures hanging in the bar-parlor of the Red Lion, Bridge Road, Litherland, Liverpool, have been identified as the work of David Cox, a famous English landscape painter, who died in 1849.

The discovery was made by a commercial traveler who visited the inn and, after examination, offered to buy the paintings, which he believed to be the work of Cox, for $3,000. The offer was declined, as the pictures are the property of the owners of the inn, Messrs. Walker and Cain.

There are two small canvases, one of a cottage with a figure of a man on horseback to the left, and the other a landscape of rich tone of a Warwickshire scene.

The third picture is unnamed and is a considerably larger canvas with the signature "David Cox, 1834" in the left-hand corner. The subject, carting hay, and with a deep glow of sunshine over the field and the figures in the foreground, is one that was especially attractive to the artist, many of whose most famous paintings dealt with such simple studies.

HIGH BUILDING COSTS DETER GERMAN LOVERS

Berlin, July 19.—(A. P. by mail).—"Feathering one's nest" is a formidable proposition for the young German today who contemplates matrimony. Furniture and building costs have risen to such heights and wages relatively sunk to such depths that the strains of wedding marches fail to have much appeal for either "Hans" or "Gretchen."

Tradition has long decreed that the young man in Germany is expected to provide a house for his bride-to-be before marriage. The latter, for her part, should approach the altar with a dowry sufficient to furnish her new home with everything from brooms to bedstead. Silvers and special comforts for the household ordinarily are contributed by relatives or by guests attending the wedding ceremony.

However, there is little prospect of a German girl in the middle or lower classes living up to this custom today. Depending on earnings of a few hundred marks a week, she finds little to leave up for her dowry. On the other hand, the man of her choice—despairing in his search for a place to rent—is forced to consider breach of promise when confronted with present building expenses. After deciding to erect a brand new home for his bride, he finds the price of building materials are more than eighty-one times what they were before the war.

It cost 1,984.50 marks on July 1, 1914, to build a one-story cottage covering seventy square meters. On June 1, this year, building circles say, erection of such a dwelling entailed an expenditure of 129,200 marks. The costs rose 13.8 per cent. in May alone.

The stone required for a house of this sort in the summer of 1914 cost 700 marks, while now it demands an outlay of 60,784 marks. Cement and lime for it now cost $3,062.45 and $4,413.10, respectively, as against sixty and seventy-three marks before. Its roofing-tile costs have risen from 248.50 to 17,919.50, and those for beans from 264 to 24,850, while its flooring would come to 4,169.75 as compared with 55.50 marks in 1913.

SPEED IN CRIME TRIALS IS DOUBLED IN A YEAR.

Attorney Reports 4,170 Cases Disposed of in Seven Months—53 Homicide Convictions.

New York, Aug. 8.—Criminals have been tried nearly twice as fast so far this year as they were during the first seven months of the preceding year, according to figures made public yesterday by District Attorney Banton. Much of the speed was added during the extraordinary burst of activity at the Criminal Courts Building, which has been credited with putting an end to the crime wave last winter and spring, but the increase in the number and rapidity of trials has been steady.

In the first seven months of 1922, 4,170 cases were disposed of, as against 2,603 for the same period last year. During July of this year, 348 cases were disposed of, against 248 in the same month last year, when there were just as many parts of the court at work.

The number of cases on the trial calendar was reduced to 1,549, as against 2,377 cases on the calendar a year ago.

In the number of convictions in homicide cases, the proportion of gain was greater. Four persons were convicted of first degree murder this year, as against two in the same period last year. Ten were convicted of second degree murder, as against three last year, and thirty-four were convicted of manslaughter in the first degree, as against thirteen last year. The number convicted of manslaughter in the second degree is the same this year as last.

The total homicide convictions this year are fifty-three, as against twenty-three for the corresponding period last year.

Railroad Adopts Them to Attract Home-seekers to the Northwest.

He was taken to Beckman Street Hospital suffering from cuts on both hands and bruised forehead, nose and left leg.

THE DUNBAR A NEW AUTO.

Company Organized by David Dunbar Buick Will Market It.

(New York Times). A new automobile, to be known as a Dunbar, will soon be put on the market by a company organized by David Dunbar Buick, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Buick was the inventor or perfecter of the valve-in-the-head engine used in the first Buick car, which he brought out in 1903. He retired from the motor industry in 1909 on account of ill health.

The new Dunbar car will be ready for distribution next year. The factory location has not been determined, but negotiations are pending for the purchase of the old Fiat plant near Poughkeepsie. It is proposed to manufacture the Dunbar in five models—touring car, sedan, coupe, roadster and limousine. The company will be capitalized for $5,000,000. The engine of the Dunbar will be of the valve-in-head type.

German Girl, Returning to States, Seeks to Evade Detention by Immigration Officials.

Toronto, Aug. 8.—A New York special to the Mail and Empire says: Offering to marry any man who would step forward for the purpose, so that she would not be held up by immigration officials, Miss Rose Poch, a comely young woman, who had lived in New York for ten years, arrived today on the steamship Mount Clay, of the United American Lines, and is being detained at Ellis Island.

"Miss Poch, who was employed by the Hotel Pennsylvania and lived in this city at No. 100 West 89th street, had gone to Germany three months ago to visit relatives and friends, but before her departure had taken out only her first naturalization papers.

"Miss Poch made her offer of marriage after the ship arrived at quarantine and had been apprised of her certain detention. Several young men, among them one or two newspapermen, appeared deeply interested, but maintained a discreet silence."

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION CAUSED BURNING OF BARN

Ingersoll, Ont., Aug. 8.—Great interest was manifested by farmers of the district in an investigation conducted in the town hall by Fire Marshal E. P. Heaton of Toronto into the fire which, on July 19, destroyed the large barn and the season's hay crop on the farm of A. J. Fox of West Oxford. Incidentally much information was given to the farming community for the protection of their barns. Much importance attached to the evidence of Mr. Fox that part of the hay in the mow was not thoroughly cured. On this he was corroborated by the hired man, William Lee, and neighbors.

In summing up the case, Fire Marshal Heaton said that he had no doubt that the fire was caused by the hay bursting into flame of its own accord.

New York, Aug. 8.—Who ate the oysters, and did the Indians open the shells with a tomahawk, are questions which are being asked regarding three oyster shells and a tomahawk lead now in the American Museum of Natural History under examination by Dr. Clark Wissler, Curator of Anthropology.

They were found by a contractor laying the Fish Avenue sewer, 240 feet south of Folk Avenue, 55 feet below the surface, and taken to the museum by President Maurice E. Connelly of the Borough of Queens, to whom they were presented. The shells or oysters are thought to have been brought in by an underground stream. The tomahawk is apparently genuine.

Will Farnum Splendid in "Shackles of Gold," Strong, Entertaining Photoplay.

When William Farnum starts out to "get" his man you can be sure you are in for genuine thrills. Those who saw this noted star yesterday at the Queen square theatre in his new William Fox picture were indeed thrilled, and were enthusiastically with him in spirit when he began to wreck a certain old stock in order to ruin a man who had tempted his—Farnum's—wife. The process was swift, sure and highly exciting; and the audience, while glad, were sorry, too, because in bringing financial ruin on the man he also wrecked his own big fortune.

GHANDI IS SPENT FORCE IN INDIA

Non-Cooperative Movement Fizzled Out, Says Rustom Rustomjee, Indian Editor—New System Works Well.

(Montreal Gazette.) A much better state of affairs is seen in India by Rustom Rustomjee, Indian editor and publisher, who reached Montreal yesterday from Quebec, where he landed from the Empress of France. Mr. Rustomjee has spent a number of years in Canada and the United States, and recently went home for a six months' visit to get into personal touch with conditions in India.

LOYD GEORGE MAY WRITE HIS MEMOIRS

Of Greater Importance Than Average Battle, Says Daily Chronicle.

(Special Cable to the New York Times London, Aug. 7.—The Star's political correspondent writes: "Mr. Lloyd George has agreed to undertake the writing of his memoirs. Already he has begun to collect material for the opening chapters, but it is likely to be a very long time before he decides on a general election course, in which case he will not doubt have more spare time than he has at the moment. It has been suggested that if the memoirs could be concluded soon after the election he would be entitled to have only a small part to blame. Rumors to the effect that Mr. Lloyd George is to receive a sum running into six figures are dismissed as incredible in Coalition circles, but the opposition are of opinion that if the prime minister tells the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, his revelations would be priceless."

MOTOR HIGHWAYS BENEFIT CANADA

Tourists' Expenditures in 1921 are Estimated at $108,326,600.

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A remarkable increase in the volume of motor traffic into Canada in 1921 is shown by the returns compiled by the Department of Customs. According to their registrations, 617,288 automobiles entered Canada for touring purposes during the calendar year 1921. Of these 615,774 remained for less than one month (21.27 per cent) for a period of more than one month and less than six months. The total number for 1920 was only 592,000, an increase of 23,988 cars in one year. Allowing an average expenditure of $23 per day including gasoline, and an average length of stay of seven days, this traffic represents an expenditure of $107,000,000, while the second class revenue on the basis of an estimated expenditure of $20 per day for thirty days was worth approximately $1,020,000. This means that the motor highway revenue last year of $108,326,600, estimated on the basis of the second class improved roads is worth over two billion dollars to this country without taking into account the service they render to Canadians themselves.

Needed at Dances And the Sea Shore

(Aids to Beauty.) Here is a home treatment for removing blemishes that is quick, painless and inexpensive: With some powdered detanant and water make enough paste to thicken over the objectionable parts, apply and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be left soft, clear and hairless.

CO-OPERATION IS NEW WORLD IDEAL

Events at Genoa Showed Conflict With Old Standards.

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store and mix with water in the proportion of one part peroxide to three parts water. Sprinkle it over the blackheads and wash the parts and you will be surprised how they are removed. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Cause irritation, make large pores, and do not get the blackheads out after they become hard. The peroxide powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and their natural color restored. Anyone troubled by their unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.

TAILOR HELD FOR MURDER

Police Capture Man Ten Months After The Tragedy. New York, Aug. 8.—Detectives last night surrounded a tailoring establishment at 6,710 New Utrecht avenue, Brooklyn, and arrested Colangelo, a 35-year-old Italian, charged with the murder of Daniano, who is a tailor, was taken to police headquarters for questioning.

MUSIC IN WORSHIP

Committee Appointed by Archbishops of Canterbury and York. London, July 16.—(By Mail.)—In response to representations which have been received, part of a memorial from the members of the archbishops of Canterbury and York have appointed a committee on church music, with the following reference: "To consider and report upon the place of music in the worship of the church, and in particular the training of church musicians and the education of the clergy in the knowledge of music as a branch of liturgical study."

MEMORIES OF VISIT TO HOME OF MAN OF GENIUS

(Frank Velph in Halifax Chronicle) And to the Master of Beinn Bhreagh dead. Little did I think when visiting the home of Alexander Graham Bell at Baddeck scarcely more than a week ago, on the invitation of the Master, that the great scientist and inventor would be so soon the Master of Beinn Bhreagh. He was and although he had exceeded the allotted span of three-score years and ten. I had found my way to Baddeck more as a pilgrim to a shrine than a holiday traveler seeking out one of the most beautiful corners of Canada. One of the treasures of memories of youthful days is that of attending with my father the first experiments with the telephone in Bradford, when the inventor had the satisfaction of hearing for the first time human speech conveyed over the three miles of wire from his picturesque home on Tuttle Heights to a hall in the city. For part of the distance a telegraph line was used, and for the other half ordinary stoneware wire was strung from tree to tree. Bradford has ever since been known as the telephone city. We have grown used with wonder since then, and even the marvel of the transmission of sound without wires of fact way, but the little company who were privileged to listen to the first miracle of transmission of human speech over the wires. That was away back in the early seventies, and the fame of Alexander Graham Bell has largely and rightfully rested ever since on that great and revolutionary achievement. A King in the department of a great man judged by many standards.

Crashes Into Cellar, Tearing Water Pipes and Causing a Small Flood.

New York, Aug. 8.—With a snapping of the hemp cable, a two-ton press bed, being raised by a winding machine, fell through a fourth-story window of the Columbia Lithograph Company at 408 Broome street, crashing level at noon and collapsed in the cellar, fifteen feet below, tearing the waterpipes and causing a small flood. The accident, which interrupted the speech of Police Commissioner Enright, who had a black and white, was caused by a slip of the cable. Finding no one had been injured, the commissioner returned to his office, and was employed by the Max Rubin Trucking Company of 21 Cleveland Place, who was acting as expert. This makes a second time in a row that the press bed has crashed. The press bed was worth $5,000.

BADDECK HAS TWO FAMOUS NAMES.

It was Charles Dudley Warner, with his book "Baddeck and That Sort of Thing" who first made known to the world the name of the village. Indeed, on the north shore of the Bras d'Or Lakes. He told a good deal more about the place than he could say. Probably because there was so little to talk about the little hamlet—but he gave it a sort of fame that carried it along till Alexander Graham Bell went there to spend his summers in the huge stone castle or chateau which he built on a high, wooded point two or three miles away. The so-called lakes are not lakes at all, but an arm or extension of the sea, which, entering through a narrow passage, spreads out and gives to Cape Breton—which is not a cape, but an island—the shape of a South Pacific atoll. The scenery around the lakes is sufficiently beautiful to explain its charm to anybody else who sees it, but there is nothing at all exciting about it, and most people would be content with a brief stay.

Use the Want Ad. Way

Neither to get there nor to get away is exactly easy, for Baddeck is not on the way to anywhere else. Two routes are there, however, one by a small steamer from Halifax and another by rail to Hawkesbury. The quiet and the remoteness of the place must have suited Dr. Bell exactly, for there he went every summer, or almost every summer, for many, many years, and he died. There, too, he is to be buried. Baddeck—the name, like so many others in that part of the world, is a combination of two words, and means something of a "resort" of late years, and real hotels have replaced the few boarding houses of Warner's day. What the visitors find to do, except the things they could do as well in innumerable New England and Province villages, is to get away from it. It would be hard to say—so hard that perhaps it is the absence of anything in particular to do that attracts them.

Allison Fraser, who disappeared from Prefecture on July 23, is back in Devon. It was given out that he had suffered a loss of memory. Medical attention was summoned.

LOOK FOR ADVANCE IN PRICE OF SHOES Marked Increase in Leather May Force Rise in Footwear. (Toronto Mail and Empire.)

The Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Canada has issued a circular letter to its members, calling attention to the hide and leather market situations and pointing out the importance, before the manufacturers accept orders at present prices, of ensuring that they can obtain leather to make shoes at the prices quoted. The association states that hide prices have been moving upward for several months, and that a further sharp advance occurred last week. Heavy steers (pecker) hides, from which sole leather is made, sold in Chicago at twenty cents per pound, and light cowhides at 18 1/2 cents. These prices are from forty to fifty per cent. higher than those which obtained a year ago. Calfskins have advanced about twenty-five per cent. The hide market continues strong. Most of the tannery stocks are low, and there does not appear to be any surplus.

It is a matter still for speculation as to when our people will learn to believe that losses occasioned by fire are just as much waste as though the money involved were directly thrown in the stove. The loss in June was $126,000. If any one individual or group of individuals were to make a bonfire of such an amount in bills their folly and eccentricity would be heralded all over the continent. COSSAR FARM IN SCOTLAND. A special cable from the London correspondent of the Montreal Gazette to that newspaper says that a training farm for city-bred boys who desire to emigrate to Canada or any of the other dominions has been started near Glasgow by Dr. G. C. Cossar, who established the Cossar farm for boys in New Brunswick in 1919. Intensive vegetable growing on the French plan and cattle raising and pig raising will be taught at the Glasgow farm. Dr. Cossar is a well-known philanthropic worker in Glasgow. He has sent to his Canadian farm 500 Glasgow boys who have mostly done well in Canada.

Canada Baseball League. All games were postponed yesterday because of rain.

Fredericton, N. B., Aug. 8.—Thomas F. McCarthy of Boston, one of the best baseball players in the National League for many years, who died this week in Boston, had acted as agent for the Fredericton Baseball Club in signing players for the old three times champions of ten years ago. One of the first players sent to the local club was Larry Conley, now here with the touring Newburyport, Mass., club, while another notable player he secured was Ray Tift, former Brown University star who was with the New York Yankees before coming to Fredericton. McCarthy and Hugh Duffy, now manager of the Boston Red Sox, were known as "the heavenly twins" when playing in the outfield for the Boston National League Club, then known as the Boston Red Stockings. The team won consecutive championships from 1891 to 1893.

"Emmy" Rideout Successful. "Emmy" Rideout, the Springhill south-paw made his debut into professional baseball last week when he shut out the Northern A. A. team at Island Falls, while twirling for Houlton. It was once reported that Rideout would go to Fredericton.

Tom McCarthy Dead. Tom McCarthy, former league baseball star and scout for the Red Sox died at his home in Boston on Saturday, aged fifty-nine years.

The schedule was drawn up as follows:

ATHLETIC. Erin Smith's Performance. Erin Smith furnished the feature of the Dartmouth A. Smith's dash was made on a slow track, the rain of the night before making the going rather heavy and his performance is all the more remarkable on that account.

Next in importance and superior in the thrill furnished to the spectators, comes the win of Grant Holmes over Billy Mooney in the Quarter Mile Run. Holmes took the race from Mooney by about a yard after both runners had battled all the way around the circle. Mooney made the pace until the last twenty yards, but Holmes caught him and beat him to the tape.

New York, Aug. 8.—William Locks, a member of the Winchester Junior Rifle Corps, of Danville, Cal., recently scored 644 bullets in four and a half hours of shooting with a small bore rifle. This performance caused Eric Vance, who performed in Hillsboro, Ohio, to try for a record and he scored 1,022 consecutive bullets in nine hours, shooting from four positions, kneeling, standing, prone and sitting. Both of these marksmen are boys. Vance's performance was witnessed by members of the National Rifle Association.

PREMIER KING IN SPEECH TODAY

Address at Political Picnic in Ontario

Unwise at Present Time for the Federal Government to Take Hand in Coal Situation—Speaks of Wheat Board and West.

(Canadian Press.) Toronto, Aug. 8.—Premier King spent last night very little time in his private car en route to Leamington, where he will address a political picnic this afternoon. He indicated that in his speech he would confine himself largely to a resume of the work of the government during the last session, and to a running up of the present conditions in Canada. Any pronouncement that he had to make, he said, he would prefer to reserve until he spoke.

Speaking of the attitude of the federal government toward the coal situation, Mr. King said he believed that it would be unwise to take any action at present. He felt that this was primarily a matter for the individual, with the aid of the municipalities and the provincial governments. Should the federal government enter upon the business of buying and supplying coal, those whose legitimate business it was to do this might be object, as it would constitute a breach of the government's constitutional duty. But if it were a matter of transportation, such as a car or ship shortage, then there would be cause for action by the federal government. The premier confirmed a report that James Stewart and J. W. Riddle had declined to act upon the wheat board. Suggestions had been asked from the governments of Saskatchewan and Alberta, and as a result the federal government had received the names H. W. Wood and Cecil Rice-Jones. These men would be quite acceptable to the government, he said, as it was the government's policy to accede to a request of this nature that the western provinces might make. The matter was, after all, one that concerned the western provinces and any recommendation coming from there would be acted upon.

He had swallowed a good portion of water. Craig's action is being highly commended.

SOME HORSE THIS. Thirty-five Miles an Hour Says Patrolman in Cruelty Case.

Detroit, Aug. 8.—Abraham Hallburg had passed thirty-one pleasure cars and eleven trucks with his 860 horse harnessed to a buggy when a patrolman from Hunt street station overtook him, following a furious dash on his motorcycle in Russell street yesterday. The patrolman told the judge today that Hallburg drove at thirty-five miles an hour from Napoleon street to Alfred street.

"I bought the horse for $60 on Friday," Hallburg testified. "I was told he was a race horse, and I planned to enter him at Windsor. I just wanted to see what he could really do." The judge said he thought the horse was certainly worth $85 if it was worth a cent, and fined Hallburg $25. The charge was cruelty to animals.

BEGIN THOUSAND MILE INSPECTION TRIP OF HIGHWAYS

B. M. Hill, Provincial Engineer, and Gordon Grant, of Canadian Highway Commission, Away This Morning.

A one thousand mile inspection trip over the roads of the province was commenced this morning by B. M. Hill, provincial road engineer, who is accompanied on this tour by Gordon Grant, chief engineer of the Highway Commission of Canada, with headquarters at Ottawa. Mr. Hill feels rather enthusiastic over this undertaking and is anxious to show his Upper Canadian visitor that the reports about the good roads in New Brunswick are no idle tales and to carry out his intentions to the letter, the whole journey will be made by automobile.

The party left the Royal Hotel this morning at ten o'clock for St. Stephen. From St. Stephen, the itinerary calls for a jump to Fredericton and from the capital the party will go over the road to Chatham. From there they will go to Bathurst, via Caraquet, and then back again. Mr. Hill estimates that it will take the best part of a week to accomplish the journey. The provincial road engineer declared that the roads of the province are in good shape despite recent rains and the floods during mid-summer. Hon. Peter J. Veniot, the capable minister of public works, has estimated the flood damage in the vicinity of $200,000 and Mr. Hill practically confirms this estimate. "It is between $175,000 and $200,000," he declared this morning. "Yet, despite that, I can say that the roads are in good condition for traffic."

Asked regarding the repairing of the Spruce Lake road, which was badly cut up during the laying of the new water main to the city, Mr. Hill said that the work should be completed within two months time. The New Brunswick Contracting Company have the contract for this work, he said, and he looked to see them complete it in record time. "I can also say that the Musquash and Lepreau roads will be ready for traffic by the first of September," he announced.

ST. JOHN GIRL IN HEALTH WORK

What is Being Done for Newton, Mass., Children

Miss Gertrude Melick, in Hope of Giving Some Ideas to Assist in Her Home City, Speaks of Methods Followed.

Miss E. Gertrude Melick, health teacher and social service worker in Newton, Mass., arrived in the city on Saturday to spend a month's vacation at her home, 24 Elliot row. When asked to speak of her work to the Times she willingly agreed in hope that something of benefit to the work in St. John might increase, but was very desirous that her name should not appear. This the newspaper feared would detract much from the value of the interview and for this reason consent was won.

Miss Melick said that great benefit was accruing to the children of Newton through systematic caring for the health of body and mind by means of educational talks and a close personal touch together with co-operation of those in the homes. The children are rated according to their weight and those who are ten per cent below the average weight for a child of a certain age and height are referred to Miss Melick for attention. This special class is held once a week and covers six districts, the classes being held in the school buildings. The general programme with regard to the health work among the school children consists in a physical examination by a doctor, measuring and weighing the children teaching the youngsters the relative values of different foods by means of crayons with which they draw and familiarize themselves with vegetables and food compositions and by songs set to some well known tunes easy for the children to remember. If any defects are found during the physical examination by the school doctor the case is referred to the family doctor.

The kiddies are taught to play health games representing the different vegetables. In the Newton schools each child has a half pint of milk and a small biscuit every morning. A small fee is charged for this and the results have been found to be very satisfactory. A scale of colored sections is maintained and a child is placed in one or another according to his weight. The children are thereby encouraged to keep well up in weight in order to get in the envied class. Each child reports what he or she has done during the week in playing the health games and is credited accordingly. A certain number of credit marks, indicated by stars, makes the child eligible for a health pin.

Miss Melick said she had received a great deal of valuable assistance from the churches and girls' clubs. The school board and the welfare bureau collaborate in looking after the health of the children and Miss Melick works in conjunction with them. Since December 1 she has been successful in clothing twenty-two children. She goes to the homes and teaches the mothers how to cook the foods and what is best for the care and nourishment of children. In her work with children she lays especial stress on the value of vegetables and fruits, urging them to eat apples or other fruits rather than candy. Children are examined every month and great care is taken to see that tonsils and adenoids are properly looked after and then the result of these check-ups is closely watched and checked up. Examinations are also conducted for evidence of tuberculosis and these children who need attention are sent away for treatment, the money being provided usually by generous friends.

Newton is considered much advanced in the matter of health work in the schools. In one year in which Miss Melick started a campaign for better care of the teeth she sold 1,650 tooth brushes. Free dental clinics are conducted. A special school is maintained for these children under normal mentality but the children do not know that they are being subjected to any extra observation. Mothers are urged to give their children a cup of milk every night before they go to bed and this practice is found to give very satisfactory results. Miss Melick will return to Newton about the end August to resume her work.

EFFECTS OF STORM

Considering the violent nature of the storm which struck the city and vicinity last night, very little damage was reported so far as the telephone and telegraph companies were concerned. The Brunswick Telephone Company reported several wires burned in the cables in various parts of the city, and service interrupted for a short time, but nothing serious occurred. The wire chief reported at noon that everything was working as usual this morning. He said that all lines appeared to have escaped without damage.

The New Brunswick Power Company reported that several transmission lines were put out of business for a short time, and their largest machine was also affected for a while. Both the Western Union and Canadian Pacific telegraph wire chiefs reported at noon that the lines under their direction were "O. K."

Superintendent Price of the city public works department said this morning that the heavy storm last night caused a large amount of damage to city streets. The rain fall, he said, was so heavy that in some instances regular rivulets were formed and they cut deeply into the road-bed, carrying away stone and stones were also carried out of people's yards to the sidewalks. As a result teams were engaged this morning removing this, and crews of men were set to work repairing the roads. It is estimated that the damage will exceed $3,000.
