TO OVERTHROW GOVERNMENT OF PORTUGAL

London Hears of Supreme Effort to Be Made This Month

(Canadian Press)

London, Feb. 2.—The news asserts that a supreme effort has been arranged for the month of February to overthrow the Portuguese republic. The coup is to be made over the northern and eastern Spanish frontiers, with the intention of a dash towards the capital. Large sums of money have been spent in the last few months for this purpose.

It is reported that the Spanish authorities some time ago allowed Portuguese royalists hands under command of General Gouveia to use Spanish territory as a base for their incursions into north Portugal. The Portuguese government, on its side, according to the story, has been almost openly organizing a republican movement in Spain.

The movement, which has for its object the uniting of Spain and Portugal in a single Iberian republic, has met with considerable success. The immediate struggle in Portugal is, therefore, as likely to involve Spain as it is to restore the Portuguese monarchy.

It is reported that at a meeting in Dover on Tuesday, between King Manuel and the Portuguese president, Dom Miguel de Braganza, the latter voluntarily offered to help in every way in his power to restore Manuel to the Portuguese throne.

King Manuel's private secretary confirms the report of this meeting, and adds that a reconciliation between the two branches of the royal house of Braganza, was effected. Amid a flood of accusations and charges which this has given rise, an interesting item is the suggestion that the reconciliation of the Manuelists and Miguelists will be cemented by the marriage of King Manuel, to one of King Miguel's daughters, whose age ranges from twelve to fifteen years.

The District of Columbia is entitled to as many alternates as its number of delegates.

An Interesting Scene in Trial of Bert Connors in Connection With Dynamiting in Los Angeles

(Canadian Press)

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 2.—Bert H. Connors, on trial here for conspiracy to dynamite the Hall of Records building, was led up and down in front of the jury box yesterday, with the hand of G. Roy Horton, deputy district attorney, pulling his lips away from his teeth, as the teeth of the jury box.

Horton grasped the prisoner's jaw, pulling the lower lip away from the teeth, calling attention to the fact that Connors' teeth are far apart. When he had finished and released the prisoner, he passed the dynamiting caps into the jury box, declaring they bore the marks of the teeth, the jurors had just seen.

CAVALRY AND FIELD ARTILLERY ARE NOT UP TO THE MARK

Washington, Feb. 2.—Serious concern in the war department over the scarcity of cavalry and field artillery organizations in the national guard has led to a formal announcement that it is the policy of the department to encourage these branches and that unutilized funds from federal military maintenance appropriations will be used for that purpose.

The state militia is top-heavy with infantry probably because it is so much easier and cheaper to organize and maintain. The attention of the department, also, has been directed to the fact that state infantry regiments are not fully manned. This is regarded as false, as the same number of magazine officers created for a regiment of eight companies as for one with the full quota. Consequently the militia division has issued a circular warning state authorities against utilizing any additional infantry regiments until those already in existence are complete as to organization, arms, and equipment.

JUDGE AND COUNSEL IN A CASE OF TODAY

An Interesting Moment in Hearing of Matter in County Court Chambers

The case of McMackin vs. Lemon was before Judge Forbes in chambers this morning. It is a review from a judgment of Magistrate Ritchie delivered in December last for goods sold and delivered. It was stated that Mr. Lemon was in the habit of sending his son to the McMackin store for goods for which he subsequently paid. Finally he discovered that his son was ordering goods on his own account for a motor boat, and for these he refused to pay.

Mr. McMackin brought action against Mr. Lemon on the account. Mr. Lemon pleaded that he had notified the plaintiff McMackin that he was buying a motor boat on his own account. McMackin contended that the goods were supplied before he received notice that as he had paid for previous purchases by the boy he was liable. Magistrate Ritchie gave judgment for the plaintiff.

On review this morning His Honor Judge Forbes said in his opinion an agency between father and son had not been established. The goods had not been produced to show that the goods had been changed to the father which it was the duty of the plaintiff to do.

A. A. Wilson, counsel for the plaintiff, contended that a case had been made out that it was the duty of the defendant to order the goods produced if they wanted them. The plaintiff had sworn to certain statements which had not been contradicted by the defendant.

A lively discussion here ensued between Mr. Wilson and His Honor.

Mr. Wilson: "It makes no difference, Your Honor, what we can show. You have sworn against the goods being produced by the defendant."

His Honor: "I won't put up with such talk. It is my duty as a judge of the court to look into the matter and if the judgment is wrong I will upset it, Ritchie or Mr. Ritchie, the plaintiff, with costs." A. A. Wilson, K.C. was for the plaintiff and Geo. H. V. Belyea for the defendant.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE 62ND REGIMENT

At the annual meeting of the officers of the 62nd Regiment last evening, there was an interesting discussion on the new regulation requiring the regiment to go into camp at Sussex for five days this summer. They will probably go to Sussex on a Friday night or Saturday morning during the latter part of June or the first of July.

It was thought that the regiment should be able to make a fairly complete turnout for the camp. Satisfactory reports were submitted by the committee on the band, the drum and bugle band and the regimental staff.

INSURANCE $800,000.

Halifax, N. S., Feb. 2.—The total insurance on the Acadia Sugar Refinery is estimated at $800,000.

It does not appear to be as much liquidation in it, and it responded to the rally with more vigor than others. The rally is liable to go further, but we do not see title that is encouraging in the situation and expect to see lower prices eventually.

There is a great deal of trouble with the eastern roads and their men owing to demands for increased wages from the engineers and firemen. We cannot believe that this will, in the end, amount to much, but it is a further sign of the general unrest in the country. We consider stocks a sale on the rally for a long pull, but it would not surprise us to see the market grow dull once more after the rally.

New York, Feb. 2.—Wide open demand for flour this morning, also near big demand for wheat, exporters taking all they can get and bidding up for it.

ACCOMMODATION NOT KEEPING PACE WITH GROWING OF GRAIN

Duluth, Minn., Feb. 2.—Present prospects are that there will be 60,000,000 bushels of grain in the Duluth and Superior and the Port Arthur and Fort William elevators at the opening of navigation next spring, counting the amount in vessel storage in the latter ports. This is said to be unprecedented.

Winnipeg estimates that the volume of Canadian grain of the present crop to be sent east via the American head of the lakes for next spring will range from ten to fifteen million bushels. It would seem, therefore, that the elevators of the West and the Port Arthur and Fort William elevators are being developed more rapidly than are the facilities for storing and shipping. Elevator construction in Canada promises to be large during the year.

Nice Takings of Fort Fairfield Farmer in Potatoes Alone

The Fort Fairfield Review says:—"A certain Fort Fairfield farmer, who is not by any means the largest in the town, some two weeks ago sold 1,500 barrels of potatoes for $3,000. In a few days afterwards another thousand for $4,100, and followed the whole up a few days after that by selling 1,000 barrels more for $3,300 again. He has only 900 barrels left, too, and, as these are worth around $3 a barrel any body can see that he is in a pretty bad fix. "The farm that these potatoes were raised on would bring in an ordinary way $15,000 to $18,000, although perhaps the owner would not take these figures even then, and certainly would not do so now. When the Aroostook farmer strikes it right, he makes some money, doesn't he? As many farmers will tell you it costs, during the average year like the last, about seventy-five cents a barrel to raise potatoes, any body can figure out that there is about $24,000 profit in the operations of this farmer for this year, in potatoes alone. Does anybody stop to consider how long a man would have to sell cream and milk in southern Maine on peddling carts of corn and other garden truck in other parts of New England to clean up $24,000 real profit?"

THEY MUST BE SAVED

The Standard wonders if the Times has in mind "five citizens who would be willing to sacrifice themselves (as commissioners) for the consideration of $3,000 a year."

Without relieving the great anxiety of the Standard on this point, it may at least be observed that in that journal's list of candidates there are the names of a number of gentlemen whom their fellow citizens will not permit to sacrifice themselves for the $3,000 in question.

The good government forces received a check in Montreal yesterday. Five men who were bitterly denounced by the citizens' Association were elected members of the city council.

The Home Rule bill, as outlined by the London Chronicle, does not appear to be such a document as should invite anybody to rebellion. The rights of all the people appear to be safeguarded by its provisions.

The joint boards of trade of St. John and Fredericton have set themselves vigorously to the task of securing a large and representative attendance at the immigration conference in Fredericton. Other boards will doubtless co-operate heartily, and if as one of the results of this movement there should be organized a New Brunswick board of trade it would be of great benefit in the general forward movement of the next decade.

Referring to the change of government at Ottawa, the Halifax Chronicle says: "What have the people gained by the change? Let them ask themselves, now that the excitement has subsided. What has Canada gained? In what has the Empire been advantaged? What benefits have come, or can come, to the rank and file of the Conservative Party?"

Is it all worth while? What great principle have they vindicated? What promising theory have they established? Almost every Conservative, capable of consecutive thought, must do know in his heart that reciprocity would have done much good to Canada. Yet it was defeated, for no reason at all, by means of discreditable partisan cries and wild appeals to race, religion and national passions.

The farmers who are members of the Grange in Ontario are of the opinion that reciprocity is not dead. They want larger markets and a lower tariff. They have been stirred to greater activity by the result of the late elections, and will pursue a more vigorous policy. The Toronto Globe, in some comments on the meeting of the Dominion Grange says it was recognized that the only way to make the demands of the agricultural community felt was to maintain an organization strong enough to force its views upon both political parties. But organization was only a means to an end. These farmers are opposed to the renewal of the iron and steel bounties, and in favor of free agricultural implements. They want a lowering of the tariff on British goods and the enforcing of the law against combine.

The breaking down of the artificial barriers which impede freedom of commerce across a frontier running athwart this continent we hold to be the greatest economic need of the farmers of this country. This need is all the more imperative in the case of Ontario farmers, whose land lies alongside states which are forced to rely on some outside source of supply for 60 per cent of the foods they consume. In some way and at some time the advantages promised under the reciprocity agreement must be secured unless we are to suffer a further movement towards that rural depopulation which has already caused so much alarm.

Commenting on the meeting of the Toronto Globe says: "The Dominion Grange, at its annual meeting in Toronto last week, discussed many matters of great interest to Canadian farmers, manufacturers and consumers generally. The great discrepancies between the prices which the farmer gets for what he has to sell and what the consumer pays to the retailer for these articles were keenly debated, and the retiring president's suggestions for more and better organization among the farmers, and co-operation in the sale of farm products, so as to avoid giving the middleman a big rake-off, were favorably received. The members of the Grange are staunchly loyal to reciprocity and the general lowering of tariffs was evident throughout all the sessions. The Grange movement is evidently taking on a new lease of life and activity."

At about the same time the annual convention of the Manitoba Grain Growers' Association was being held in Brandon, and the president in his address said: "The channel through which our trade has to be forced is entirely too narrow for the volume of business we are attempting to put through it. A blind, short-sighted policy on the part of some, and an exceedingly selfish one on the part of others has brought about a state of affairs which at the present time is well nigh intolerable. Channels of trade must be opened. The Hudson Bay route must be a realization in the least possible time. Access to the markets of the south of us (almost at our door) must be had."

All of which seems to indicate that when Mr. Ames and others buried closer trade relations with the United States they failed to produce the "dead one."

Who is the Simonds farmer described by the Standard as combining his whickers with a stable fork?

Mr. Boran is confronted by the troubles he invited when he made his alliance with the Nationalists.

St. John matters were discussed in parliament yesterday, but Mr. Hazen did not seize the opportunity to make any reference to Courtney Bay.

Writing under date of Oct. 26, 1911, Mayor Chisholm, of Salsabon, says: "We have made the first step toward the assessment of land only this year, by reducing the assessment on improvements by 30 per cent. It is our intention to continue

THE CHOIR INVISIBLE (By George Eliot.) Mrs. Mary Ann Evans, celebrated English novelist, known in literature as "George Eliot," was born at Arbury Farm, Warwickshire, Eng., Nov. 22, 1819, and died at London, Dec. 22, 1880. She was educated at Nuneaton and Coventry and in 1851 became assistant editor of "The Westminster Review," relating that position until 1855. On May 6, 1880, she married John Walter Cross, who four years after her death, published the story of her life.

O may I join the choir invisible! Of those immortal dead who live again In minds made better by their presence, live

In pulses stirred to generosity, In deeds of daring rectitude, in scorn Of miserable aims that end with self, In thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars, And with their mild persistence urge man's search for wiser issues.

So to live is heaven; To make undying music in the world, Breathing as beatific ocean that controls the growth of the growing life of man.

So we inherit that sweet purity For which we struggled, failed and agonized.

With widening retrospect that bred despair, Rebellious flesh that would not be subdued, A vicious parent shaming still its child, Poor, anxious penitence is quick dissolved; Its discords quenched by nesting harmonies.

Die in the large and charitable air; And all our rancor, better, truer, sell, That sobbed religiously in yearning song, That watched to ease the burden of the Laboriously tracing what must be, And what may yet be better—saw within A weaker man for the secretary, And shaped it forth before the multitude, Divinely human raising worship so To higher reverence more fixed with love— That better self shall live till human Time Shall fold its eyelids, and the human sky Be galloped like a scowl within the tomb Unread forever.

This is life to come, Which married men have made more glorious, For who strive to follow, May I reach That purest heaven, be to other souls The most-esteemed in some great story, Enkindle generous ardor, feed pure love, Beget the smiles that have no cruelty, Be the sweet presence of a good diffused, And in diffusion ever more intense! So shall I join the choir invisible, Whose music is the gladness of the world.

IN LIGHTER VEIN HALF TRUE, ANYWAY. Dentist—I am sorry to say, Mr. Dorkins, there's a cavity also in that upper bicuspid. Man in Chair—Go ahead and fill it, doctor. I believe the latter part of your statement, —Chicago Tribune.

WHY THE SLEEPING DRAUGHT FAILED. Diagnosed Patient—"Your sleeping draught wasn't a bit of good. The beastly things wouldn't touch it." Amused Doctor—"What thing?" Patient: "The cats that keep me awake."

"Do you keep hockey requisites here?" asked a gloomy-browed young man the other day as he entered Jones' store. "Yes, sir; everything in that line." "Then you may wrap me up a bottle of arnis, a paper of court plaster and an arm sling. I am going to play in a match this afternoon."

THE TIPPER. He traveled 'round the country and he tipped wherever he went. And he was nearly always "broke" or else was badly bent. He tipped the hotel porter and the boy who lugged his grip; In fact, there wasn't anyone whom this man didn't tip. He tipped the old hack driver who took him to the hotel, He tipped the hotel porter each time he touched the bell. He tipped the bellboy handsomely because he knew he must. He knew that he was up against the tip receivers' trust. He tipped the cab driver and he tipped the man who carried the water and all his merrily crew. The leader of the orchestra and all his merry crew. He tipped the car conductor and he tipped the corner cop. He'd get the tipping habit so he really couldn't stop. He tipped the auto scorcher who ran over him one day. They took him in a basket to the hospital straightway. Before the operation he produced his friendly purse. He thought he simply had to tip the doctor and the nurse. When he had reached the other shore his terror; it was great; He had no coin with which to tip St. Peter at the gate. —Brooklyn Eagle.

CENTENARY OF THE RETREAT FROM MOSCOW Russia Will Celebrate and Borrow Relics of Napoleon Paris, Feb. 2.—Russia contemplates celebrating this year the 100th anniversary of the French invasion and the retreat from Moscow. The government of the Czar has asked the French government to co-operate to the extent of lending to Russia, for the occasion, some of the more celebrated relics of the Emperor Napoleon. The French foreign office, after consulting the minister of war, has consented, and as a preliminary it has offered the Napoleon of Ingres' celebrated painting of Napoleon which, executed in 1806, now hangs on a wall of the apartment of General Nois, commander of the Invalides. The picture represents the emperor seated on the throne clad in imperial robes. On his head is a laurel crown and his right hand grasps a sceptre which is surmounted by the imperial eagle.

ESTIMATES FOR NEW BRUNSWICK REDUCED

Talk in Parliament About St. John Wharf for Government Steamers

Ottawa, Feb. 1.—Parliament discussed the grain bill during the afternoon, and the postmaster-general said Canada's population was so small and the area was so large that a parcel post on the English basis would swamp the department under deficits.

Mr. Monk promised to call the attention of the minister of railways to the matter. New Brunswick estimates were taken up at 1 o'clock in the evening. Hon. Dr. Pugsley and Mr. Turgeon complained because a vote for Bathurst had been dropped from the estimates.

An item of $100,000 for Chatham and votes for wharves on the St. John river, and $20,000 for a wharf for government steamers at St. John, had been dropped. The general vote for New Brunswick had thus been practically cut in two.

Hon. Mr. Monk said that very large provision had to be made for St. John this year, and there had to be economies in other directions. Because the items did not appear in the estimates this year it did not follow that the work would not go on from the general vote, or that the terms would appear later, renewing them. Hon. Mr. Hixon intimated that he had taken over the task of obtaining a wharf for government steamers at St. John. His officers informed him that they had the money and the authority, and were now engaged in looking for a suitable wharf. He thought $20,000 would not go far. Dr. Pugsley said it was quite true the amount might be small if rumors he had heard about certain options were true. However, there was a report in the public works department made when he was minister, which showed where an excellent property could be obtained for that price.

Trial Package Sent Free

Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble. But it is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders.

Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the Tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. H. Chutey, 138 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for older folk. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year-old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only to say 'Tablets' and she drops everything else and runs for them."

CZAR DOES NOT WANT THE MONEY TO BE GIVEN

Servians Not Unanimous in Voting Dowry to Princess Who Married Russian Noble

Vienna, Feb. 2.—There have been excited debates in the Servian assembly on the subject of the dowry of Princess Helene, who was married to Prince Johann of Russia some months ago. The princess was to have received $200,000, and the resolution granting the money has just been passed by a majority of three votes.

A telegram received from Belgrade says that the difficulties made by the assembly have reached the ears of the Czar. He immediately requested the Russian ambassador to ask an audience of King Peter, and said that it would be desirable if the king refused his consent to the motion of the parliament.

He also said he had understood it was the wish of the entire Servian folk to present to their princess the money, but that he quite understood that a poor people like the Servians could not afford to give so large a sum. He did not wish a relative of his to accept money that was not and could not be freely given on account of the poverty of the nation.

A FERRY STORY

I rested in a big arm chair when the work of the day was done, and I watched the shadows that flickered and danced in the rays of the setting sun.

And I planned the future and thought of the past as I cozily cuddled there, when my musings were interrupted by a rush of cold, wintry air.

And the room and the chair had vanished in the twinkling of an eye. I stood on the East Side ferry docks and watched the people throng by. There were the city aldermen, persons of high estate, who calmly disdained the turnstile and walked through the ferry gate; There was a Syrian peddler, bent with his heavy load, and woman shoppers of all degrees, each seeking her own shade.

can occasion so much distress? "It certainly is an item," cried a youth who had heard her speak.

"When you've got a wife and a baby and live on eight dollars a week." "Is another step to the poor-house," growled a man who was bent with age. "And I've tried to save for the future out of my meagre wage."

Then I said, "Do not cross the ferry, if what you have said is true; Do not pay them this added money, if it means so much to you." They greeted my words with mocking— they cried, "We must starve or pay." For between our homes and our labor we can travel no other way. As I gazed at the crowds of people, still passing before me there, I asked, "Please tell me the reason why they have increased the fare?" Said the man who had stopped to answer, (to a whisper his voice had sunk) "They need some extra money to prepare one boat for old junk."

FARM PRODUCE GOING UP

(Toronto Globe, Jan. 31) Rye, barley and wheat made consistent gains in Ontario last week, until quotations are now the highest of the season. There was a further advance in potatoes, which are selling at from $1.75 to $1.85 per bag, and 40 cents per peck, retail. There was also a continuation of the recently inaugurated upward movement in butter prices, and not only are Toronto quotations the highest in years, but prices at some outside points are on a par with those ruling locally.

Manitoba wheat and oats continued to rise, making new high prices almost daily. No. 1 northern now stands at $1.12 per bushel at Ontario bay ports, while No. 2 Manitoba oats are selling at 20 1/2c. Hay, and other produce has remained stationary.

THE FUNERAL MARCH FIFTY SEVEN TIMES

French Band Carries Out Strange Provisions of Will of Vicomtesse

TIMES' PARIS LETTER

D'Annunzio Did Not Score Heavily in French Capital—Anniversary of the Handkerchief—Moving Pictures of Pawn Shop Patrons Cause Trouble

(Times' Special Correspondent) Paris, Jan. 29.—Never until this week, probably, has a hand found itself one of the legacies in a will. And rarely have heirs had to work harder for their bequests than did the members of the band which belongs to the town of Gannet, for the money left them by the late Vicomtesse de Vaugelas.

The vicomtesse, who died a few days ago, was highly eccentric, and her will proved a piece of work. She left $80,000 a year for the support of her pet dog. She also left a book of music which had belonged to Marie Antoinette, and the sum of $100,000 to her favorite town of Riom. And to the band of the neighboring town of Gannet, the vicomtesse left $200. The band was to earn it, however, by playing Chopin's funeral march all the way from the vicomtesse's chateau to the cemetery.

A codicil to her will expressed the lady's wish to be buried at Beaumont, which is exactly nineteen miles from the chateau. But the bandmen of Gannet were game. They wanted their legacy and they worked for it. They played the funeral march straight through fifty-seven times during the funeral procession.

D'Annunzio Signor Gabriele d'Annunzio, who has just left us and returned to Florence, can not be said to have scored heavily in Paris this time. As usual, the poet tried for a dramatic effect as often as possible, but alas, it seldom came off. He went away particularly crestfallen, it is said, from a lecture which he gave before a hall full of women, every seat being occupied by the cream of Paris society. Mothers of the naughty Flaubert, Ed. Gernon, and the literary elegant of the Avenue de Bois and the Champs Elysees were present. Before commencing his lecture D'Annunzio unbuttoned his gloves and, leisurely drawing them off, dropped one at the feet of a young girl. She bent forward, picked it up and handed it to him. "You may keep it," he said, emphasizing the great honor he was bestowing. But her reply was a cold douche for the poet. "For me," she said, "it is not my glove." So the gloves did not change ownership, though if D'Annunzio had used as many pairs as he is reputed to have (pyjamas (these in colors reflecting his various moods), socks and boots (the latter being said to number hundreds), he can afford to be prodigal with them.

In Italy his worshippers have remembered that D'Annunzio, who can never remember that he is not there. At a recent reception in Paris, he was reciting some of his mad verses. Suddenly he stopped in the middle of a line, and pointing to his hostess with his unfurling "Cigarette," he said: "Continue!" The hostess, who does not know M. D'Annunzio's verse by heart, is said to be still suffering from the shock. The poet's plumage must be ruffled with a vengeance if he knows that he has been introduced as a comic character, instead of several of the Paris "reverses."

The Anniversary of the Handkerchief Why are handkerchiefs square instead of any other shape, and how long have they been so? Probably few Americans could answer these questions, but most Parisians could, now a historical writer here having pointed out that we have just passed the one hundred and twenty-seventh anniversary of the handkerchief in its present shape. Formerly "kerchiefs" had been and the person who brought the change about was Marie Antoinette. One day this queen remarked to Louis XVI that it would be much wiser to use only square handkerchiefs. That was at the end of the year 1784. Louis XVI was a model husband and not long after, in January, 1785, to be exact, he issued an edict whereby the "length of handkerchiefs throughout the kingdom" was fixed at the length of the king's handkerchiefs, which, as is well known, has kept handkerchiefs the world over, square, to this day.

Rather Embarrassing Are you ever financially embarrassed and reluctantly compelled to "hook" your watch, and perhaps the chain, too? If so, you probably would object to having a moving picture taken, for exhibition in a gallery, of you in the act of hooking your watch. The first month of the year finds most Frenchmen "hooking"—in the month of rent-paying and many other involuntary disbursements, and the government pawnshop, or mont-de-piete, does a hand-office business. In France, by the way, the act of pawn-broking is not called going to one's "uncle," but to one's "saint."

Since the beginning of the year, the line of people waiting to get into the Mont-de-piete has resembled the pit-queue of a London theatre, and this week it occurred to one of the "moving picture" companies that the spectacle would make a lovely film, so a couple of men were sent round to photograph it. Naturally, as soon as they realized what was happening, the would-be pawn-brokers objected strenuously. The moving picture men were not to

FROM "BEAUTY PARLOR" TO INSANE ASYLUM

German Noblewoman's Experience in Trying to Have Nature's Deficiencies Supplied Berlin, Feb. 2.—A mad craving to become beautiful at all costs has resulted in a Berlin noblewoman, the wife of an officer, having to be taken to an insane asylum, and a woman who indulged her vanity to be spent in transforming $10,000 for a "vain road to beauty" has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment for fraud. A well-known Silesian woman recently opened a "beauty parlor" in Munich. Hearing of the Berlin noblewoman's passion to correct the deficiencies of her person, she was a victim at the hands of Mother Nature, the proprietress of the "beauty parlor" sent word that she had a friend, a masseuse, who could administer "cosmetic treatment" which was guaranteed to convert the homeliest features into a pretty face, and the most impossible figures into a form over which sculptors would rave. The owner of the "beauty parlor" received $15,000 in advance, agreed upon and proceeded to administer the "treatment," but before it had proceeded very far the fraud came to light in time for the police to seize the possession of the bulk of the money. The only effect of the treatment was to make the noblewoman's face with a distressing rash, while her figure retained its unattractive lines. Her relatives found it desirable to have the unhappy woman placed in an asylum. Nearly 1,500,000 families in Japan devote part of all of their time to skin culture; 1,000,000 persons are exclusively engaged in fisheries, while another 1,500,000 combine fishing with some other occupation.

GROWS HAIR ON BALD HEADS

Bald-headed People May Get New Chance to Live In these days when youth is the moving factor in business, when a man makes his mark at thirty-five and is ready to retire at the conventional time, a bald head is almost fatal to any man's hopes. The following must therefore prove interesting to people who are losing their hair or who desire to secure it. Research is one of the latest and most effective means discovered by Dr. J. P. Pileon, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its nutriment, and also creates a clean and healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the loss of new growth. Pileon is a well-known agent for removing the hair to its natural color, where the loss of color has been due to a disease of the scalp. Yet, it is not a coloring matter or dye. This combination of curative mixed with alcohol as a stimulant perfects a most effective remedy for hair and scalp troubles. The famous Reall "88" Hair Tonic is chiefly composed of Roserolin, Beta Naphthol, and Pileon. It helps to stimulate the follicles, where the hair is the scalp healthy, to nourish the hair, to stimulate the follicles, where the hair is already here, it enters the follicles, revitalizes the roots, supplies nutriment, and stimulates a new growth of hair. I want you to try a few bottles of Reall "88" Hair Tonic, on my personal guarantee. If it does not give you absolute satisfaction, I will refund to you the money in full. That's my promise. I know what I am talking about when I say that Reall "88" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except, of course, where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and the scalp is scalded. Remember, I am basing my statement upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Reall "88" Hair Tonic, and I have the right to assume that what it has done for hundreds of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on my liberal guarantee. Remember, you can get Reall Remedies in this country only at my store—The Retail Store, Chas. H. Watson, 10 King street.

SHOT MAN WHO RAN AWAY WITH HIS WIFE

Vienna Court Has Acquitted Lieutenant Bartel on Ground of Self-Defence Vienna, Feb. 2.—A Hungarian lieutenant, Robert Bartel, who last October shot his wife, was acquitted on the ground that he acted in self-defence. Lieutenant Bartel traced his wife, who had fled from the garrison town of Sautmar to a flat in Budapest, and then sent up from the street a summons to her to come out and speak with him. After a violent scene both officers drew their revolvers, but Bartel was the quicker and shot the other through the head. When the body was taken to the mortuary a revolver was found still clutched in the right hand and a photograph of the body was produced by the defence to prove this. Lieutenant Bartel informed the court that Lazar had obtained complete influence over his wife by hypnotizing her.

DISCUSSING CHANGES IN INDIA AFTER DURBAR

Some Difficulties Which Present Themselves in Establishing the New Capital Bombay, Feb. 2.—The more widespread and definite is the general acceptance of the great administrative changes announced at Delhi, the more freely, and indeed helpfully, are people turning now to a practical discussion of the material difficulties inherent to such great schemes. These may turn out to be greater than was at first realized. Owing to the necessity of secrecy, many technical considerations could not be examined with the aid of experts. In Eastern Bengal interest chiefly centred on the annual period of residence of the governor at Dacca, and it is strongly urged that the new seat should contain a statutory provision enjoining the governor, his executive council, and secretaries to reside at Dacca for several weeks annually. In Bihar intemperate objections may preclude the choice of Patna as capital of the new province. There is little room for expansion, and the locality is rather unhealthy. The matter is now being investigated, and possibly either Gaya or Ranchi may be chosen as the new provincial capital. With regard to Delhi, the site of the further camp may not, after all, prove to be the most suitable spot for the creation of the imperial capital. The area lies low and is liable to inundations in the rainy season. The cost of drainage, which must inevitably include some method of pumping, will be very great. Some experts hold that the best site for the new imperial capital may be found to the south of modern Delhi along the line from Indraprastha, the ancient Indraprastha, to Indraprastha, but taking in land between these ancient sites and the Jumna. The original estimate of $20,000,000 for the new capital was probably too low. While the predictions of the probable cost may be severely discounted, it seems clear that the expenditure likely to be involved will be greater than was first expected.

NOT ONE WOMAN IN TWENTY HAS A STRONG BACK.

THE KIDNEYS ARE TO BLAME NINE TIMES OUT OF TEN. Women are coming to understand that weak, lame and aching backs from which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys. The poisons that ought to be carried off are sent back into the blood, taking with them a multitude of aches and pains. There is no use of expecting relief until the kidneys are restored to health. Doan's Kidney Pills are the quickest and most reliable remedy. Mrs. Ed. Baxter, Upham, N.B., writes:—"I take a good deal of pleasure in telling you what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. I was troubled with my kidneys for a number of years, and my back was so lame I could not sweep the floor. A friend of mine advised me to try a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and after using three boxes I am as well as ever. I highly recommend them to anyone suffering from lame back or kidney trouble." Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millbrae Co., Limited, Toronto. When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

RECITAL A MARKED SUCCESS

The piano recital given in Centenary school-room last evening by Mrs. S. Kent, Sewell was a distinct success from every viewpoint, and was greatly enjoyed by a large gathering. She performed with her usual exquisite skill, and her selections were a musical treat of extraordinary interest to her hearers. In the concerto selections she was ably assisted by M. H. Emery, and the programme throughout was a source of keen delight to all present. The programme follows: Brahms—Concerto in D minor. (First movement only). Moderato assai. Chopin—Valses in A flat. Op. 62. MacDowell—To a Water Lily. Godard—En Courant. Grieg—Concerto in A minor. Allegro molto moderato—Adagio—Allegro moderato molto e marcato. Paderewski—Czardas-Fantastique. Mendelssohn—Concerto in G minor. Molto allegro con fuoco—Andante—Presto—Molto allegro e vivace. Mrs. Sewell looked charming in black net over white satin. She was twice called upon for encore and gracefully responded.

SLEIGH DRIVES

S. of St. George's street Baptist church drove out on the largest in any miles last night, and after enjoying themselves heartily in the manner returned to the schoolroom from a tasty supper was served. The Chinese colony at the University of Michigan is said to be the largest in any university or college in the United States. He was cut to pieces, and it is thought that fully seven cars passed over his body.

GROSS, SICK, FEVERISH CHILDREN NEED GENTLE BUT EFFECTIVE CASCARETS AT ONCE

Most of the ailments of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, lose weight, do not eat or sleep well and need a gentle, though thorough physic—don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little ones already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless and old-fashioned. MONTREAL AWAKE TO THE ST. JOHN BOOM

Colonel J. L. McAvity returned yesterday from Montreal where he had been on a brief visit. He said this morning that considerable interest was being evinced in that city in the St. John boom and real estate here was being sought. Several real estate men there had asked his views concerning the boom here and the prospects and he replied enthusiastically. The interest in St. John from a commercial standpoint, he said, seemed to be greatly on the increase.

Gun Club's New Quarters

The St. John Gun Club has completed its snug and comfortable club house on the Sandy Point Road, just beyond the Golf Club. The new structure is surrounded by a wide veranda, enclosed by glass on one side, so that members can command a view of the traps, and keep out of the cold and wind during the frosty weather.

THE EVANGELISTIC MEETINGS

Large numbers still continue to attend the Triple Alliance evangelistic meetings which are being held every night in the Waterloo street U. B. church, in connection with Brussels street, Emmanuel street and Waterloo street churches. Last night Rev. F. H. Wentworth, pastor of the Waterloo street church, preached from John 24. The speaker said that Nicodemus stumbled not at the doctrine Christ was teaching but its application to his own life, and that was where most people stumble. He emphasized the fact that every soul was conscious at some time of the inner voice of the spirit.
