

Terms—16 shillings per annum.

"Nec Reges, Nec Populo, sed utroque."

[12s. 6d. if paid in advance

Vol. V.

SAINT JOHN, (N. B.) FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1840.

No. 7.

The Chronicle, published every Friday afternoon, by Lewis W. Denker & Co. Their Office in Mr. D. McMillan's building, corner William Street.

Weekly Almanac table with columns for day, date, and weather.

Public Institutions. Bank of New-Brunswick. Discount Days. Tuesday and Friday.

Bank of Halifax North America. Discount Days. Tuesday and Friday.

SAINT JOHN HOTEL. The Subscribers having leased the above named Establishment from the Company, and put the whole in a thorough state of repair.

NOTICE. All Persons having any legal demands against the Estate of DANIEL BURNHAM, late of Carleton, City of Saint John, N. B. deceased, are requested to present their accounts, duly attested, within Twelve Months from the date hereof.

ESSENCE OF SMOKE. For the Smoking of Hams, Bacon, Fish, &c.

THE Subscriber begs respectfully to announce to the Public, that the Essence of Smoke has been extensively used throughout the Province during the past season, and that all those who have given it a fair trial, are now recommending it as the best mode of smoking fish and meat.

Per Sophia. 198 CENTS. The above are now landing on the subscriber's wharf, and will be sold low if applied for immediately.

Run and Lard Sugar. 150 P. BUNS. Jamaica, Demerara, St. Kitts and St. Croix RUM; 30 Hums. and Tinned Lard SUGAR. For sale by W. H. STREET.

Beals Wanted. The Subscriber requires about 200 M feet Service Beals, half of which must be bright, the remainder may be red.

IRON AND COALS. The subscriber is now landing as follows: 7093 BALES and 200 bundles common.

VESSLS FOR SALE. THREE Vessels now on the stocks at Truro, Nova Scotia, of the following Tonnage, and Description.

Per "Friends" from Liverpool. 25th August, 1840. ACHORS MACHREE, of 200 Tons, 21 cwt. in cargo.

New Lunch House. JAMES SORLEY respectfully informs the respectable portion of this community, that he has opened a Lunch House in Princess Street.

LANDING, ex Glasgow, 5 Double Double bleached Linen Canvas, for sale by J. MALCOLM.

On Consignment, per "Edwin". 66 COILS of London made CORDAGE.

New Landing. LIX Bales from Liverpool—100 Bags (1 cwt. each) fine Rose Nails, 44 to 50M; 30 cwt. (200 lbs. each) ditto ditto; 20 cwt. Horse and C. Nails; 5 bales Seythles; 1 ditto Sickle; 1 cask spikes; 1 ditto shaw Thread; 9 bundles Spades; for sale low on application to WILLARD, BUCHANAN & CO.

Very Cheap Room Paper. THE Subscriber has just received per Elizabeth, from Boston, 2500 Pieces ROOM PAPER, from 10d. upwards; with 200 pieces BORDER, to match.

Received. Mary Fishers, from Quebec, and for sale by the Subscribers.

69 BLS. Prime PORK; 10 BLS. prime 40 Barrel Prime BEEF; 10 Do. No. 2. Mess Do. WILLARD, BUCHANAN & CO. June 5, 1840.

THE SUBSCRIBER. BEGS leave to inform his Friends and the Public, that he has removed his establishment from Prince William street to No. 1, Brick Row.

Quebec Pork. 100 B ARRELS. Received per schooner sail while landing, by JOHN ROBERTSON, 28th Aug. 1840.

ACHORA MACHREE. (From the Weekly Telegraph.) Achora Machree "when I think of the hour when we parted for a bright bosom of the moon."

IRON AND COALS. 7093 BALES and 200 bundles common follow: Round, from 4 to 5 inches; Square, from 4 to 5 inches; Flat, from 1 inch to 4 by 3; Do 1 to 5 by 3; Do 1 to 4 by 3; Do 3 to 4 by 1; Do 2 to 4 by 3; Do 3 to 4 by 1; 50 Tons Coals—Which will be sold low while landing, to save storage.

VESSLS FOR SALE. THREE Vessels now on the stocks at Truro, Nova Scotia, of the following Tonnage, and Description.

Per "Friends" from Liverpool. 25th August, 1840. ACHORS MACHREE, of 200 Tons, 21 cwt. in cargo.

New Lunch House. JAMES SORLEY respectfully informs the respectable portion of this community, that he has opened a Lunch House in Princess Street.

LANDING, ex Glasgow, 5 Double Double bleached Linen Canvas, for sale by J. MALCOLM.

On Consignment, per "Edwin". 66 COILS of London made CORDAGE.

New Landing. LIX Bales from Liverpool—100 Bags (1 cwt. each) fine Rose Nails, 44 to 50M; 30 cwt. (200 lbs. each) ditto ditto; 20 cwt. Horse and C. Nails; 5 bales Seythles; 1 ditto Sickle; 1 cask spikes; 1 ditto shaw Thread; 9 bundles Spades; for sale low on application to WILLARD, BUCHANAN & CO.

Very Cheap Room Paper. THE Subscriber has just received per Elizabeth, from Boston, 2500 Pieces ROOM PAPER, from 10d. upwards; with 200 pieces BORDER, to match.

Received. Mary Fishers, from Quebec, and for sale by the Subscribers.

69 BLS. Prime PORK; 10 BLS. prime 40 Barrel Prime BEEF; 10 Do. No. 2. Mess Do. WILLARD, BUCHANAN & CO. June 5, 1840.

THE SUBSCRIBER. BEGS leave to inform his Friends and the Public, that he has removed his establishment from Prince William street to No. 1, Brick Row.

Quebec Pork. 100 B ARRELS. Received per schooner sail while landing, by JOHN ROBERTSON, 28th Aug. 1840.

congregation, he saw light in the window and went in to surprise them with an evening visit. He knocked at the door, but it was not opened he lifted the latch and went up stairs, with his horror he found the farmer's daughter, aged fifteen, hanging to a beam. He instantly cut her down, and succeeded in recovering her. As soon as she had collected her wandering thoughts she pointed to her father's bed room, in which the priest discovered the farmer and his wife both dead, and the whole room engulfed with their blood. By this time the poor girl could utter a few words, and informed the priest that his own servant, accompanied by four others, had entered the house, and after murdering her father and mother, they completely sacked the house and left her hanging. The priest instantly went into his rectory, where he found his servant, who asked him with great composure, if he would take some supper. The priest was quietly replied that he was not hungry but would take a glass of some peculiar good wine, which the servant knew was in a bin in the cellar. The servant then went in search of the wine; he was, however, followed by the priest, who as soon as the servant entered the cellar, turned the key upon him, and then sallied forth for the police. As soon as he had procured assistance he was turned to his house, and the cellar door was opened, and therein were found concealed not only his servant, but also his four companions in guilt, two of whom, however, we are sorry to say, succeeded in making their escape. The only one secured, one of them, however, being the servant of the excellent and courageous old ecclesiastic.

A letter from Warsaw, in the Constitution, furnishes us with the following anecdote:—M. Prazyński, an artist of eminence, exhibited here, some time since, the portrait of a female of extraordinary beauty, which attracted the admiration of Marshal Paskevitch, who, after learning from the painter that it was the portrait of a lady in the country, agreed to give 200 ducats for it, on condition that he was made acquainted with the name and address of the original. Several generals arriving at the moment the marshal was conversing with the artist, he desired him to show the portrait to the general, and receive the money. Some good natured friend having informed the Princess Paskevitch of the bargain, this lady wrote a note to the painter, desiring him to bring the portrait to the left before the appointed time. The marshal, on being made acquainted with his disappointment, banished the artist from Warsaw, but the Princess has become his warm patroness.

PREPARED FOOD FOR CATTLE BY STEAM. The value of the food may be greatly improved by the introduction of STEAM TURMIPS, potatoes, carrots, mangel wurzel, crushed oats, bean-meal, clopped hay, straw, or chaff. The apparatus consists merely of a common boiler, with a cap and with a connecting pipe for carrying the steam to a barrel or barrels, which are filled alternately with any or all of the articles. The barrel must have two bottoms, on a whole, one over which the condensed steam flows through a spout into a trough in the middle near the bottom; and another above it perforated with holes to admit the escape of steam upwards. The progress of steaming should be carried on slowly; that every turmp, &c., may be dressed to the heart before the skin cracks. Any woman can easily wash the potatoes, turmps, &c., light the fire and carry on the process of steaming. The substitution of common straw or chaff for hay would very much economize the food for cattle.—Straw, weight for weight, cannot of course contain so much nutritive matter as long; but that it does contain much saccharine nourishment; every farmer who has wintered stock, and who gives straw to them is well aware of it.

A CASTLE BENEVOLE. LITERATURE.—Literary men in France are more prized by the fair sex than they are amongst us here. The best matches are at their disposal; and the enthusiasm even to the English resort time since, Alfred de Vigny married in a short time; and he was a great admirer of the lady's dying words.

DELAVEL, OR DORNEY: AN AUTOBIOGRAPHY. Tears of gratitude, when I recollect the long years of indulgence and affection that had marked the conduct of my uncle towards me, chased themselves down my cheeks and fell upon his letter as rain. "Yes," said I, "best of guardians and friends; you shall not want while I have life, a support for your declining years." I will hasten to you and my gentle Emily—she is worthy of my best devotion, and I feel that time will teach me to love her as she deserves.

Such was Francesca—such was the being that I loved—and, oh! tell me not of love at first sight being a delusion. After death our souls shall enter different habitations, prepared for the use of heavenly wisdom; I felt that that of Francesca was derived from the same source as mine, that nature, or some more potent power, had made us kindred beings. Yes, I no sooner saw than I loved her, and blessed thought as I then made, conscious it, she soon returned that love. "You have heard that name, my dear friend," said the Marchese, with a look of inquiry, as he did not expect to find me on hearing it. "Truly," I replied, "and even more; at the same time I was fortunate enough to render a slight service to him who bore it—the Count St. Maurice."

his criticisms, has had the good fortune to come in, quite as unexpectedly, for a patrimony of 200,000 francs. There are few, very few of our English literary men whose life is not one continual struggle with pecuniary difficulties.—London Magazine.

Such was Francesca—such was the being that I loved—and, oh! tell me not of love at first sight being a delusion. After death our souls shall enter different habitations, prepared for the use of heavenly wisdom; I felt that that of Francesca was derived from the same source as mine, that nature, or some more potent power, had made us kindred beings. Yes, I no sooner saw than I loved her, and blessed thought as I then made, conscious it, she soon returned that love.

"Oh, my dear Eugene," replied Francesca, pressing my hand to her heart; "do me entrance such a thought: these very walls but lately were adorned with a conception of that passion, which, alas! our souls, can never die—but passion, which in its most exalted form rules and governs the universe. Yes, Eugene, said the lovely and high-minded being, looking up to the stars heaven above, the decreedence of Nature may assert the power of love the forms of these we love, till time well-nigh has no end to be his creature."

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

And I there, then, nodding rest; I doan mean this parish sooner than his work? And are the feelings that so imperatively urge him—the emotions which agitate his soul, the passions which rend his nature—are they, too, confined to his mortal being? and do you and I, too, have a part in the destinies of those who are no more?

