O. A. C. Alumni Want Western Ontario Experimental Station

Several questions of vital importance to the farming districts of southwestern Ontario were thoroughly discussed Friday night at the annual meeting of the Western O. A. C. Alumni Association in the offices of the department of agriculture, this city. To bring certain recommendations and resolutions before the Provincial House, a committee of three was appointed to act if possible in conjunction with representatives of other interested associations in that part of the country.

The most important of the problems taken up was that of a proposed experimental and demonstration station for the southwestern portion of the province. After considerable discussion the following resolution was passed unanimously:

Petition Government.
That the Western O. A. C. Alumni Association petition the Hon. Mr. Drury, premier of Ontario, and the Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, with the object of having an experimental and demonstration station established in a central place in the southwestern portion of the province, where specialized crops are grown, and that a committee of three be appointed to report upon and present this report to the above mentioned ministers.

That it is the opinion of the association that the experimental station, in order that it might best serve the purpose of the farmers of the district, that it be operated by the Provincial Department of Agriculture.
To present this resolution before the Government the following well appointed committee: A. McKenney, Essex; R. H. Abraham, Kent, and L. H. Hamilton, Ashtabula. Because it was the belief of the meeting that the matter should be taken up directly with Hon. Mr. Doherty, it was decided to approach the Government after the return of the minister from England, probably some time after March 18.

This committee was also instructed by the members of the association to urge the Government to appoint a corn specialist in that portion of the province in the near future. It was believed that a man thoroughly conversant with the growing of corn should be appointed immediately to assist the farmers.

Embodied in the preamble of the resolution concerning the establishment of the experimental station were many reasons why this step should be taken. It was believed that because certain specialized crops such as corn, beans, sugar beets, onions, early tomatoes and tobacco could be grown only in a climate and on soils such as were to be found in that district, proper experiments in those crops could not be carried on at the Ontario Agriculture College.

Tobacco Growers Interested.
It was also claimed that the corn growers were asking that experiments be made for the purpose of eliminating scrub varieties of corn, and that tobacco growers were also asking for experiments to bring out more remunerative strains of tobacco.

$185,000 SCHOOL IS RECOMMENDED BY NO. 2 COMMITTEE

After considerable discussion, which was very much a repetition of what has been heard time and time again in connection with the question of Victoria School, No. 2 committee of the board of education yesterday afternoon adopted a motion by Trustee Mrs. Hunt, seconded by Trustee Wright, recommending to the board that it proceed with the erection of a complete new fourteenth-room school at an estimated cost of not more than $185,000, rather than with the piecemeal proposal of erecting four class rooms and assembly hall at an approximate cost of $120,000 to $132,000. It gave authority for the calling for tenders for such a school, and that it ask the city council for the necessary money.

In accordance with instructions given by No. 2 committee, following the opening of tenders for the four rooms on Tuesday last, Architect L. E. Carrothers laid before the committee, tentative plans along with an estimate of the cost of the larger scheme, which he stated in reply to the chairman of the committee, Trustee Wright, could be built at a cost not exceeding $185,000 or a matter of only $60,000 the smaller program.

A Saving Possible.
During the discussion it was remarked that certain contractors had claimed that they could do the work at lower figures if some of the frills were cut out, and they were allowed to install plumbing and heating equipment which they have in stock instead of the standard of goods called for by the architects' specifications.

"What are the frills referred to?" asked one of the trustees, and Mr. Hayman replied that among them was the requirement for the use of glazed brick on the interior walls of the school rooms, but this, he claimed, was more a decided advantage than a frill, and the additional cost of the brick was saved, he said, in the doing away with the need of plastering the walls and floors for the skirting boards.

In regard to the plumbing equipment, Mr. Carrothers questioned whether the claim that the goods in stock could be shown to be "as good" as those specified by him. In one case at least it would mean increased height and a third roof, so that any saving in the equipment would be used up in additional work. He also pointed out that the equipment needs cannot be purchased in Canadian-made goods. He admitted that British-made goods could be got that would meet the requirements, but that at the present time there are none of these goods in Canada. Several of the trustees strongly supported this view, and at least imparted more variety and originality to his remarks than is customary with the "little Welshman."

Complete Knollwood School.
The committee decided to recommend to the board that the city council be asked for the $40,000 necessary to complete the work at the Knollwood school. The original contract for the work had been $15,000, the intention being to build only two rooms, but after the work had been started it was deemed advisable to make the school a four-roomed one, and the additional rooms were added, the total cost being $15,000, thereby creating a deficit of $4,000.

A number of prizes and surprises lent variety to the evening's proceedings, the former being distributed to the ladies in the shape of beautifully designed crystal dishes, and the latter springing up at every turn and causing restrained hilarity, owing to their skillful engineering.

Several unique stunts were staged at appropriate intervals, one of these being a balloon-blowing contest, and another a vocal quartet which almost literally brought down the house. So many bouquets were thrown at the "singers" that they had to adopt the facial armor of a baseball catcher.

A more serious interlude was the address of Rev. James Tompkins, who intimated that the committee which had been appointed to formulate a main objective for the club had decided that no better object could be found than to look after the welfare of the "unprivileged" boys and girls of the city.

Credit Due Committee.
President Alf Mitchell filled the chair with credit and distinction, and he is to be congratulated on the combination of which he is the head.

More than a passing word of praise is due to the committee who carried out the arrangements with such splendid success. These were Harry Morgan (chairman), Edwin Smith, Ed. Crawford, J. E. Hickey, and Marley, Harry McCallum, Bert Heaman and George Dicks.

In the course of the evening Kiwanian Joe Hickey, who recently joined the ranks of the benefactors, was together with his bride, presented with a lovely silver tea set.

HE SUFFERED FOR A YEAR WITH HIS BACK

Now John Bowers Sings the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Severn Bridge Man Looks on the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills, as a Blessing Sent From Above.

SEVERN BRIDGE, Ont., Feb. 25.—(Special)—Sincere indeed is the tribute Mr. John J. W. Bowers, a well-known resident here, pays to the benefit he has received from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I had been suffering for a year with a bad back," Mr. Bowers states. "Sometimes I could not walk, with the pain. Six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills took the pain all out and I feel like a new man."

"I highly recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to everyone suffering with pain in the back and I say that the pills are a blessing from God sent into the world." One of the earliest symptoms of kidney trouble is pain in the back. It is itself is the cause of a great deal of suffering. But kidney trouble, unless given prompt attention, frequently develops into much more serious forms such as urinary troubles, rheumatism, dropsy, numbness, diabetes and heart disease.

To be assured of good health the kidneys must be kept in good working order all the time. At the first sign of trouble use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for sick kidneys.

"LADIES' NIGHT" WITH K.W.O.'S CLUB IS A BRILLIANT AFFAIR

Banquet and Entertainment of Mirth and Novel Surprises Staged.

To describe the London Kiwanis Club's night as a brilliant affair is doing it no more than justice. It was a conspicuous success in every detail.
The spacious dining hall of the Teacup House was filled to capacity by one of the smartest and jolliest assemblies ever drawn together in this city. There was not only a "feast of reason and a feast of words" but it was a genuine enjoyment in all its moods and tones.

The room was gorgeously but artistically embellished with flags and ribbons of many hues and devices, and the effect was picturesque in the extreme, the richness of the color scheme being enhanced by the rainbow headgear of the Kiwanians and their fair guests.

Julie Brazil, from Toronto, who was accompanied by Mrs. Brazil, was the star entertainer, and she certainly made things go with a bang, not only contributing largely to the music and merriment of the evening, but acting in a brilliant manner as the "ladies' everything-else" of the festive occasion.

After a repeat, for which even the most unimpaired connoisseurs among the ladies had nothing but praise, the King's health was drunk with patriotic fervor.
In the toast list which followed, "The Ladies" as a matter of course, occupied the most prominent place. It was given by Vice-President Arthur Ford, who was followed by Sam Rowed.

Lovely Woman.
Kiwanian Ford, by a happy inspiration, submitted his eulogy of "lovely woman" in the form of an acrostic, namely, "Love, affection, discourse, ire, eyes and smiles." The initial letter of these words, be it observed, spelling out the subject of the toast.

Sam Rowed's eloquence was somewhat marred by his demonstrations of what was called the "jazz" instrument with which the company was supplied, but which he means as the "jazz" instrument in his tribute to the "lovely woman."
The toast of "London Kiwanis Club" was, according to the program, in the hands of Lloyd Greer, but that distinguished statesman, for reasons which were not elucidated by cable or otherwise, was not present, and his place was efficiently filled by Jules Brazil himself, who, if he did not come up to the oratorical standard of the British premier, at least imparted more variety and originality to his remarks than is customary with the "little Welshman."

As for Ernie Dennis, Demosthenes would have turned green with envy had that Greek pangen heard him with him in the shape of a star in general, and what London Kiwanians had as their policy in particular.

Mrs. Brazil appeared with her versatile husband in a vocal selection from "Floradora" and, as an encore, "The Belle of New York." Both were enthusiastically applauded.

FRENCH PLANT UNDER RED FLAG

PARIS, Feb. 25.—The first attempt to Sovietize a large plant in France when the red flag was raised today over a big electrical works under construction at Gennevilliers, ended in dismal failure, according to the police and military authorities. On the other hand, the leaders of the Communists claim that it was a complete success. The police and military draw their conclusions from the fact that not a single man is at work on the plant, while the leaders in the Soviet movement point out that the red flag is flying over the building as a token of victory.

The trouble had its origin when the workmen refused to quit the place in spite of a lockout declared by the company, which had reduced wages because the employees had slackened off in their work. Louis Loucheur, the minister of liberal regions, is interested in the company.

An "armed peace" is the situation tonight with hundreds of gendarmes and Republican guards under Lieutenant Dubois and Police Commissioner Gerardin, patrolling the plant at Gennevilliers, which is just to the north of Paris, in the department of the Seine-et-Marne. The plant is a department of the Seine-et-Marne. The plant is a department of the Seine-et-Marne. The plant is a department of the Seine-et-Marne.

At dusk this evening the workmen made a concerted attempt to cross the bridge over the Seine, shouting "Down with the police." The police easily repelled the attempted invasion after they brought down a few of the manifestants with their sabres. None was seriously injured.

The officers of the General Electric Society, the builders of the plant, are advertising for other help. They say that they intend to resume work Tuesday, discharging all the workmen who had accepted payment of wages this morning. These officials explain the presence of the red flag over the building as due to the absence of a stepladder among the police or Republican guards able to climb the high pole over the plant where the flag is flying.

YOUNG FARMER DIES OF HEART FAILURE
 Woodstock, Feb. 25.—Death came very suddenly to Henry Neeb, a young farmer living near Tavistock. He went to the barn to do some chores, and was returning in a reasonable time when he found him sitting on a box in a stall as if asleep, but life was extinct. Heart failure caused death. He was 42 years old, had been in excellent health, and had worked all yesterday in the bush. He is survived by his wife and two sons and one daughter. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Neeb.

Piles Cured Permanently Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause.
 Mr. A. N. Steele, Cupar, Sask., writes: "I had been troubled with my stomach, Piles and Constipation for years until I had become very thin and looked 20 years older. A leading doctor in Regina told me that the main cause was badly ulcerated. I gradually became worse, until one day, when purchasing a threatening outfit from Mr. Russell of Regina, Mr. Russell noticed my condition and said: 'I can cure you. Get a J. B. L. Cascade. Well, I did so, and the first night I used it I slept all night for the first time in weeks, and in a short time felt quite myself again. It also cured my piles, which had troubled me for years.'
 If you are troubled with constipation, don't drug yourself. Internal bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade is the only permanent cure. This wonderful appliance is the invention of Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, New York. It is pleasant and easy to use, and will save the whole family. It should be in every home. See J. B. L. Cascade at the Canadian Drug Company, London, where it will be shown and explained to you. Ask for 25-page booklet all about internal bathing. OPPOSITION BANKS PROTEST DOHERTY'S EMBARGO JOURNEY

Major J.C. Tolmie Introduces Embargo Subject in Legislature by Declaring Minister of Agriculture's Intended Participation in Controversy in England Was Dangerous to Canada's Interests.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
 TORONTO, Feb. 25.—Two entirely unforeseen controversies occupied the whole of the time of the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon, an eleventh hour protest from Opposition benches as to the propriety of Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, leaving for London, England, in regard to the cattle embargo, and a vigorous charge levelled by T. H. Flanagan, K.C., Conservative member for North York, to the effect that Attorney-General Raney was displaying favoritism to J. W. Curry, K.C., Liberal member for Southeast Toronto when Mr. Curry applied for remission of fines imposed on clients for B. O. T. A.

Introduced Topic.
 Major J. C. Tolmie, member for Windsor, introduced the embargo topic by saying that in his opinion the minister of agriculture's intended participation in the controversy in England was a dangerous thing. He said he was against which he felt called upon to protest. Hon. G. H. Ferguson took up the issue.

where the member for Windsor dropped it and declared that Hon. Mr. Doherty's action constituted not only an affront to the authorities at Ottawa, but was "an unwarranted interference in British politics."

Impending By-Election.
 "Had I known he said, of an impending by-election in England when the prime minister spoke to me about Hon. Mr. Doherty's trip I might have given a very different answer. Perhaps there is a little politics behind all this. It seems to me to be an unprecedented procedure."

Hon. Thomas Crawford, a big livestock shipper, thought there was an international aspect to the question. If Britain removed the embargo on Canadian cattle alone the United States, he feared, would institute tariff retaliation. Premier Doherty explained that Hon. Mr. Doherty was going to London as a private citizen, and not as minister of agriculture for Ontario. If the Embargo bill passed the United States House, he said, Canada would be deprived of her United States market for cattle, and it was vital, therefore, that the British market be made available.

Gas Conferences Postponed Pending Changes in the Act

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 25.—The adjourned conference at Dutton today between the representatives of the western municipalities and the Southern Ontario Gas Company, over the unsatisfactory service reaching all points of the territory covered by the distribution, was abruptly ended after General Manager H. B. Davis of the gas company had addressed the gathering. Further hearings were postponed indefinitely, as amended legislation will be considered by the House the second week in March. But this situation was only reached on the assurance that the company will provide and maintain the pressure on all the complaining municipalities which has been existing for the past ten days.

THEFT IN BANK BALKS SLEUTHS

Detectives Fail To Unravel Mysterious Robbery in Toronto.

Toronto, Feb. 25.—The theft of $11,200 in cash and two legal tenders of $5,000 each, representing mutilated currency taken from the cage of George Wright, paying teller of the Toronto head office of the Bank of Montreal yesterday, is still unsolved today. It is one of the most mystifying cases the Toronto police have handled in years. Sergeant Hart Cronin spent fifteen hours in the bank yesterday, never leaving it from the time he was assigned to the case till 10 o'clock last night, and today went back to the bank to carry on further investigation.

An interesting feature of the case is that three armed messengers sat within ten feet of Mr. Wright's cage, guarding a strong box. They were waiting for the bank automobile. These guards are positive in their story to the police that no one entered the cage. Auditors have checked up the books of the four tellers, and they have been unable to find any discrepancies. "The money has not been found," stated Graeme G. Adam, general manager of the Toronto branch. "It will be a loss, but happily not a serious one." One of the rules of the bank was broken when the two girl tellers put money into Mr. Wright's cage without signing for the deposit of it, and without Mr. Wright being present.

BILL IS REFERRED BACK TO COMMITTEE

St. Thomas, Feb. 25.—The proposed bill to vest St. Andrew's market in the council, with the rider that it may be used for park or factory purposes, was before the House today, and was referred back to the committee for reconsideration. An appeal from the west and residents was received by several of the members of the committee that the bill should not pass in its present shape, and before it may be again considered, that the words "factory sites" be eliminated from the proposed legislative measure. The property owners living in the vicinity of the old market site will combat any movement of the bill that would lower the value of their buildings by many thousands of dollars.

Favor a Park.
 General expression of the ratepayers in all parts of the city is that the area should be turned over for park purposes, or made a playground for the children.

May Operate Dining-Rooms.
 The Union News Company is negotiating for lunch and dining-room privileges at the local M. C. R. depot. The dining-room is now under the direct control of the railway company.

A local motorcycleist was fined $15 today for exceeding the speed limit.

R. fireman, residing at 81 Woodworth avenue, fell off the running board of his engine at Ingersoll today, and broke his arm, dislocated his shoulder and suffered other serious injuries. He was removed to the hospital here and is in a serious condition. Mrs. Cox is at present in England.

Reduced Values.
 The court revision allowed a reduction of $2,623 on the property of J. D. Lamont, Elm street, and $3,500 on the premises of the Harding Company, St. Catharines street.

Died From Diphtheria.

DECLARES SARNIA WILL GET FACTORY

Sarnia, Feb. 25.—"It may be a year, or it may be less, but we will be in Sarnia," stated C. Harold Willis of the Willis-Lea Automobile Corporation, in an interview today during the reception and dinner by the chamber of commerce in honor of the builders of Marysville and their associates. "One big task we have to accomplish," said Mr. Willis, "is the completion of Marysville and our product there, and then it will be on the Canadian side of the St. Clair River." In Canada he stated that he and his associates would be Canadian builders of Canada for Canada, and that in all work in the Dominion, Canadian men would be given the preference both in the building of the automobile plant and the manufacture of the cars in the Canadian branch of the industry. C. Harold Willis had a business conference today with J. R. L. Starr, C. E. Calvert, Col. William McLean of Toronto, and J. J. Mahon of New York.

GOUGH FEAR CRIME RELAPSE

New York, Feb. 25.—Fear that New York's recent crime wave might be breaking out afresh was expressed this afternoon when shortly after the Ratkoff robbery had been reported auto bandits held up three men in a building on West Twenty-eighth street and escaped with cash and jewelry valued at between $5,000 and $10,000.

Seven bandits had up the office of the Connecticut Screen Company on West Twenty-eighth street and escaped with $35,000.

 Earlier in the day the watchman of a Bowery theatre located a short distance from a police station was found slain in the dressing-room after evidence of having engaged in a pistol battle.

THIEVES GET $20,000.

New York, Feb. 25.—Two well-dressed men today entered the jewelry shop of Ratkoff Bros. & Co., on the ninth floor of a Broadway office building near the city hall, below the famous "dead-line" for crooks, knocked Joseph Maforano, a member of the firm, unconscious with the butt of a revolver, and escaped with $20,000 worth of jewelry.

PLEADS GUILTY TO SERIOUS CHARGES

Windsor, Feb. 25.—Vincent Masse, a Windsor youth, pleaded guilty today at the spring assizes at Sandwich on three charges, shooting with intent to commit murder, assault with intent to rob, and attempted robbery. Sentence was deferred by the court until the young man's mother appeared to make a plea for her son.

The first charge arose out of the shooting of a man named Sigmond Simoni, on December 26. The second charge laid by the crown was made on the information of Alfonso Bell, who informed the police that Masse had assaulted him and attempted to rob him on December 26. The last charge was laid by the crown on the information of Thomas H. Elliott, who claimed Masse attempted to rob him of a sum of money. This also occurred on December 26.

RONDEAU PARK.

N. H. Stevens of Chatham, president of the Canada Milling Company, has sent the following letter to Mr. Drury, the premier of Ontario:

"Dear Mr. Drury—The people here are wild over the rumor that your Government is about to turn the Provincial Rondeau Park over to a commission, and that the commissioners are to make the park self-sustaining, by cutting and selling timber. The people are entirely opposed to cutting timber in this park."

"The people want the timber, animals and birds preserved in its wild state. There is no other such park in the Dominion. The land is nearly surrounded by the water of Rondeau harbor and Lake Erie. The woods consist of splendid specimens of walnut, butternut, hickory, white-oak, several kinds of oak, beech, maple, pine, birch, ash and elm, with several other varieties of wood, and the woods and marsh lands are well stocked with deer, groundhogs, coon, squirrel, beaver, mink, muskrat, in birds, wild turkey, geese, duck, partridge, pheasant, quail, and really a bird's paradise." It has taken many years to produce the trees.

"Nothing could be more unpopular than to turn this park over to a commission to make it self-sustaining by cutting the timber. We want the park to remain a 'primeval forest,' with the animals and birds preserved, that a child born one or five hundred years from now may see this primeval forest as it was when their forefathers' pioneers settled the country."

"Please keep the park under the control of the Government, and make such grants as will keep the park in its present state of beauty, and the people will be well pleased and thankful. Yours sincerely, (Signed), N. H. STEVENS."

Mr. Stevens makes out a good case. It would be very wrong to destroy the slightest extent Rondeau Park. It is in the class of Niagara Falls, the Prince's Gardens in Edinburgh, and many other places in which the public interest is very great. The people want the grandeur of Niagara Falls retained. It is one of the seven wonders of the world. Rondeau Park, with its variety of trees, should be kept for its educational value. It exhibits, as Mr. Stevens points out, splendid specimens of walnut, butternut, hickory, white-oak, several kinds of oak, beech, maple, pine, birch, ash and elm, with several other varieties of wood." He says: "There is no other such park in the Dominion."

And add to these the varieties of birds and animals, including deer. The original forest should be preserved. Mr. Stevens is doing a great public service in pointing out the great wrong it would be to the public to have any of the timber cut on the park destroyed or injured in any way. It is not at all likely that the Government, when the wrong is pointed out, will fail not only to preserve, but to obtain the greatest possible benefit out of Rondeau Park.

LIFE'S OPEN SESAME.

In a period like the present, alive with every form of activity, youth eagerly scans his horizon for opportunities of material advancement, lest, perchance,

"Omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries; And we must take the current when it serves, Or lose our venture."

The Bard of Avon, incomparable mirror of mankind, thus presents one mood or concept of the way of life, and George Eliot offers the responsibility.

OTHERS' VIEWS

BUYING IN CANADA.

(Vancouver Sun.) The people of British Columbia buy Canadian-made goods always and all the time, loyalty to Canadian trade amounts to a controlling belief in this province; a control by a real national spirit.

We have none of the bitter antagonism to the tariff which is felt in the Prairie provinces, and which is even finding a stronger foothold in rural Ontario.

British Columbians believe in a tariff which will produce Federal revenue and give reasonable protection to Canadian industries and Canadian producers. They stand for a continuance of the Laurier tariff policy under which Canada made its great industrial and its great agricultural expansion.

The Melgren tariff policy is entirely different; it is radically unjust to British Columbia producers.

Mr. Melgren's Ontario speeches are direct appeals to greed. When he says buy in Canada, the context restricts it to buying in Ontario.

AS OLD AS THEY FEEL.

(London Daily Mail.) The secret of success at every age is "to work on and keep the passion fresh," and there are abundant examples by doing this. Some of the years have placed themselves in advancing years among the immortals. Mr. Hardy, for example, disappointed by the criticisms on his novels, turned to writing his great poem, "The Dynasts," the first part of which he published at 63. He died at 83, when he began to compose the music which has made his fame. Mr. Clemenceau, who lived at 83, died at 83, when he began to compose the music which has made his fame.

NATURAL QUEVRY.

(Vancouver Province.) A woman's journal, wants to know why men should have anything to say about what women wear, when it took them 300 years to find that they could sew the "day down" into the "night down" of their shirts and put them on like a coat instead of pulling them over their heads.

WHAT YOU COULD DO, IF—

(Calgary Albertan.) We all think in terms of three dimensions—length, width, and depth, by which we measure rooms, objects, distance, space.

But mathematicians claim that a fourth dimension exists. If you mastered it, you could not be locked in a room, for a room has only three dimensions and you could escape through the fourth.

What is the fourth dimension? Time is the fourth dimension, answers Einstein.

EVERYTHING

UNREST. (Abigail W. Cresson.)

The trees and the wind are weaving lace On the silver loom of the sky, And I am set in the tower to watch While the weary clouds go by. In the sad, grey tower where the snow sifts through And the ghosts Of dear dreams lie. Always to watch, but never to weave— Their beauty is beauty yet, But he who would and cannot create Solid rock, rising from 125 to 250 feet above the water.

THE LAST VOYAGE. (Nancy Eyrd Turner.) Some silver night this barque, my soul, Will spread a sudden sail, When the worn anchor gives at last And the old moorings fall.

Without a word, without a cry, Wide-winged, elate and free, No doubt or fear for friends or pals, Will put to the open sea.

I shall not mind me if my prow Be pointed north or south, So there are wild winds on my brow And salt spray on my mouth.

I shall not reckon how the miles Go flinging down my wake, If, brittle on my questing prow, The pungent brine shall break.

So shall I sail and sail and sail Till, in the whirling foam, The sea's God and my soul's shall say, Good mariner, put home!

Then, through the gate of some gold dawn, Strong helmed and straightly driven, hip shall make that ancient port, The happiness of heaven!

THE AIRWAYS.

(Harold A. Danne.) Highway and byway, dusty and muddy Using and wearing out youth and old age, Alleyway pathway, rough and forbidding, Wearing and tearing our lives in their rage.

But oh! the clean Airways, kind guiding stairways, Gentle, soft Airways, they serve us for aye.

Subway and railway, dark, damp and dismal, Gasping and roaring, in nerve-racking storm; Streamway and seaway, restless, complaining Rising in threatening, menacing form.

But oh! the great Airways, unyielding stairways, Their soft eager bowoms upbear us for aye.

Trolley and tramway, clanging, mechanical, Arid and sordid, belching with dust Creek and canals, muddy, deserted Destruction lurking, worthless of trust.

But oh! the long Airways, the lasting road stairways, They bear us for aye.

DUTY. (Richmond Times-Dispatch.) Could I but do one worthy deed, Of write one living line— To fill the measure of my need— Could I but sow one faithful seed, Then were contentment mine.

Could I but sing one living song To banish mortal pain; Could I but right one crying wrong, Or help one living soul along, I had not lived in vain.

So vast the universe, so cold The peaks to which we climb, So grey the skies, the stars so old, So many sheep strayed from the fold, And so swiftly fleeting time! Alas to I may, somehow it seems That each succeeding sun Finds me yet distant from my dreams On paths rock-strewn, with swollen streams.

And no day's journey done! Yet I must carry on the fight, Still I must do my best, So when I pass from the Night Into the Day, into the Light, My weary soul may rest!

THE TURN OF THE ROAD.

Soft grey buds on the willow, Most modest winds from the bay, Seagulls out on the sandy beach, And a road my eager feet would reach, That leads to the far away.

Dust on the wayside flower, The meadow lark's luring tone Is silent now, from the grasses tipped With dew at the dawn, the pearls have slipped— Far have I fared alone.

And then, by the alder thicket, The turn of the road—and you! 'Tis the earth life white in the noonday heat, Or the swift storm follow our hurrying feet, What do we care—we two?

THE JOY OF BEING. (John Kendrick Bangs.) Whether my deed is leading me, Or my deed is not leading me, But, Oh, the path is fair to see, And sweet the winds that blow! In sun or storm, by day or night, If skies are lowering or bright, The highroad holds so much delight I run with heart aglow.

The lanes may thorny be, and lead To steep heart-breaking high: The forests wild with bush and weed, My strength may mortify; Yet, with resolve to do and dare, I hold within my soul small care For pathways spread o'er pathways where The goals worth winning lie.

It is enough to live and plan, To joy in earth and sea; To do what things a mortal can, With spirit blithe and free; To prove one's strength of soul, and will To meet and overcome the ill, And in the end to gain the thrill Of manful mastery!

WARNING. (Louise Driscoll.) I heard the snow in my garden— It sang a melting song, It spoke to some one I cannot see And said "It will not be long— It will not be very long."

I looked out over my garden And saw a red chickadee Baiting the purple berries On a dark green tree— A friendly card tree.

I thought he seemed to listen, And like the dripping sound The melting snow was making,

Why Do Women Fail To Heed Nature's Warnings Of Iron Starvation Of The Blood

In so many cases, UNTIL THE CRASH IS UPON THEM, and their nerves are all played out, their health impaired and their strength and energy gone!

What DO YOU THINK OF THE WOMAN IN THE PICTURE BELOW?

She hears the BLOWING OF THE LOCOMOTIVE WHISTLE, the FRANTIC RINGING OF THE ENGINEER'S BELL, the GRINDING OF THE WHEELS, still she will not move from the track, —she says: "There is time enough yet! I'm all right now," until at last DOWN SHE GOES CRUSHED and writhing beneath the ruthless iron horse.

I almost hear you say THIS WOMAN WAS A "FOOL." SHE HAD NO IDEA OF THE DANGERS OF IRON STARVATION, which in many cases are just as plain as those given by the fast approaching locomotive.

For example, in iron starvation of your blood, Nature may loudly ring the bell of SHORTNESS OF BREATH or HEART PALPITATION; she blows the whistle of WEAKNESS, NERVOUSNESS and PALENESS with a long, sharp, shrill sound; you hear the grinding wheels of HEADACHES, PAINS ACROSS THE BACK, DISTURBED DIGESTION, etc., but you go right on until at last you often collapse with a bad case of NERVOUS PROSTRATION or perhaps pernicious anaemia may sink its claws into your vitals, or in your WEAKENED, WORNOUT CONDITION you contract some serious illness, like pneumonia, fever, or kidney trouble.

It is the iron in your blood that helps it take nourishment from your food and change it into LIVING CELLS AND TISSUE. Without iron, your food merely passes along without doing you any particular good. In fact, SOMETIMES THE MORE YOU EAT THE MORE YOU STARVE, as your digestive organs cannot handle much food when the iron in your blood runs low and you often think you have stomach trouble, when it isn't that at all—simply eat less and take iron.

It is the iron in your blood that PUTS COLOR INTO YOUR CHEEKS and gives you the strength and vigor that MAKES YOUR EYES BRIGHT AND SPARKLING. Without iron in your blood a woman soon commences to look PALE, OLD AND HAGGARD and loses that FRESHNESS OF GIRLHOOD BEAUTY.

Indoor life, over-study and modern methods of cooking are sapping the iron from the blood of hundreds of thousands of women. Our forefathers, to whom history refers as a NATION OF RED BLOODED AMERICANS, ate the husks of grains and the skins and peels of vegetables and other coarse foods, rich in strength giving organic iron, which the modern woman does not get. This helped make our ancestors strong, sturdy men and women of "blood and iron" who could stand hardships and face dangers which would quickly kill most modern people.

To make up for the great loss of iron caused by the life woman is compelled to lead she should eat more such iron-containing vegetables and fruits, like spinach and baked apples and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron from time to time to help enrich her blood. But be sure the iron you take is organic Nuxated Iron and not metallic iron which people usually take, and which is made merely by the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Organic Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach and apples.

Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in much a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Nuxated Iron also contains a product which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force for FEEDING THE NERVES, so that it might be said to be both a blood and a NERVE FOOD. This remarkable nerve force product was brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Dr. Bouchard. It not only quickly helps revitalize weak, tired, worn-out, exhausted nerves, but it undoubtedly increases the efficiency of the nervous system.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth, does not disturb the stomach, it often increases bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance of weak nervous "run-down" folks in two weeks time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Always look for the word "NUXATED" on every package and the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

Need of Artificial Ice Arena Never More Patent Than Now, Finds Fans Eager To Share in Putting It Over

Any Campaign Instituted Now To Give London Much Needed Structure, Would See Citizens a Unit On Plan—It Represents a Business Proposition First and City Benefit Next.

The demand for an artificial ice arena for London, which kept up in a persistent murmur of the fans all winter, has about reached the proportion of a roar since the hockey season was abruptly closed by Galt's win over the London Alerts.

The thousand and one reasons why it is a need for London, when all the smaller places about the city can build and undertake even bigger projects than that considered for London, need not be gone into. They have been repeated countless times, but the reasons why an arena should be an entertaining business proposition now are just as abundant as the need of the structure is obvious.

Visionary fans find it easy to picture arenas with vast crowds surging through the doors and a busy box-office, with dryloads of money going away from the ticket-box doors. But the men who put money into projects that bring these visions into realities of iron and concrete, even if they do it from the best sportsmanship possible, and not so much from the investment angle, want to be assured that the money thus tied up will sustain itself, and not be a magnet to steadily attract and drain away still more dollars.

That assurance can be given now, in the light of the past two years' experience with hockey in London, when it was shown, despite many handicaps, that hockey could be made to pay better than it has ever paid in this city, where the game has always been a money-maker. Not only do London teams now draw the city fans, but from the surrounding towns, east, west and south, the past season, each game saw application for blocks of 25, 50 and 75 seats, with little hopes of the applications being granted. The last game of the season 2,000 people crowded into the Lyle street rink, though only a small proportion of those people knew they would get a full view of the game, the vast majority paying their money for periodical peeps at portions of the play. Twice that number of Londoners would turn out if they knew they were going to see the game in an arena where they could sit in comfort and be sure of seeing everything, unless big hats came back or the lights went out.

There seems little in the way of starting off the project. It is understood that two sets of plans are now out for an arena, to be erected on the one logical site in the city, Tecumseh Park. The least involved in money is $150,000. With very little work, some amount over $30,000 was subscribed by citizens who wished to see the project go through last year, it is understood.

But $125,000 is a lot of money to raise in sizeable blocks amongst public spirited citizens, and this is where Mr. Fan, in the mass and individually, comes in, and where his little roar is more or less justified.

"Why not put the project into business-like shape, and let Mr. Fan do his share, even if the shares of stock were made as low as $25 each, or even $10?" would probably be Mr. Fan's summing up of the situation.

Why not?

MIDGETS COMPLETE KITCHENER O.H.A. EXIT

8—0 Score in Game That Makes Union Jacks Look Juvenile.

Georgetown, Feb. 25.—Playing brilliant hockey with a team that worked perfectly for a full 60 minutes, Stratford Midgets made the Kitchener Juniors look like a very ordinary juvenile team here tonight in the sudden death game for group honors, the replay made necessary owing to the suspension of two Stratford players. The score at the end of the hostilities was 8 to 0, and the figure indicates the comparison in the two teams.

Seaforth Kids Meet Sudden Death Winners At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 25.—The management of the local arena received word tonight that the winners of the Kitchener-Stratford Junior O. H. A. game would meet Seaforth Juniors here Monday in a sudden death game.

WI THE STANES.

London curlers expect a bigger bonspiel even than usual this afternoon in the usual week-end event, for which the draw will be made at 2 o'clock and play commence at 2:30.

There are five fine sheets of ice out at the east-end rink, and with the season getting even more uncertain than it has been, few will miss the opportunity of probably curling a game that might be a season farewell.

Honus Was 47 Yesterday

The great old veteran passed the 47th milestone Wednesday, and friends in the hard coal region and Pittsburgh gave a dinner for Wagner in the Smoky City to celebrate the event. Judge Landis was unable to attend, but Rabbit Maranville, who will attempt to fill the "old man's" shoes, was there with a lot of the Dutchman's contemporaries.

STRATFORD BUMPS PAN DRIES OUT

Losers Had Three Men Injured—Score 9-4.

Tilsonburg, Feb. 25.—Playing against the heaviest odds, with three men injured, two seriously, the Pan-Drieds were eliminated in the Northern League senior semi-finals here tonight by Stratford by the score of 9 to 4. In Stratford on Tuesday evening, Tilsonburg held the victors to a one-goal lead, but the odds were heavily against them tonight. Five minutes after play, Snell, the star defence man, was carried from the ice bleeding profusely over the left eye, and putting him out of the game for the season. The visitors opened the scoring the first period, adding 2 goals, with Malone in goal stopping an avalanche of shots.

INGERSOLL AND WOODSTOCK CURLERS DIVIDE HONORS

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 25.—The annual curling match between Woodstock and Ingersoll clubs was finished last night. Five rinks of Ingersoll curlers played here, while four local rinks played in Ingersoll. The outcome of the games was a win on both ice. At Woodstock the Ingersoll rinks were 29 up, while in Ingersoll the home curlers had a majority of 40 shots.

SOCCER KICK-OFFS

Clubs entering the London and District Football Association are reminded that Monday, February 28, is the last day for entries to be forwarded to the secretary, R. G. Sim, 573 York street.

An executive meeting of the L. and D. F. A. has been called for a week from today, at which a constitution for the new association will be drafted. Schedules will also be arranged, or rather the grounds.

The new rule books have been forwarded, but contain very few changes to the 1920 rules. The off-side rule is slightly changed and reads:

"When a player plays the ball any player on the same side, who, at such time, is nearer to his opponent's goal line, is out of play and may not touch the ball himself nor in any way whatever interfere with an opponent with play until the ball has been again played. Unless there are at such moment of playing at least three of his opponents near his own goal line, a player is not out of play when the ball is kicked off from goal, when a corner kick or a throw-in is taken, when the ball has been last played by an opponent, or when he himself is within his own half of the field of play at the moment the ball is played or thrown in from out of play by a player of the same side."

Formerly the player who was off-side, even though he did not make a movement either to obstruct an opponent or take part in play, was penalized for his position.

Mike Smith of Woodstock Beat Chapman in Six Rounds

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 25.—In a fast six-round bout here tonight Mike Smith of Woodstock beat Chapman of MacPherson of Waterloo at the big boxing tournament at the armories. The local scrapper had an edge in each round, but Chapman showed lots of ring generalship and was not far behind. In the preliminaries Young Carroll of Kitchener and Irish Davis of Woodstock fought the decision over Hamilton furnished the feature, Carroll winning easily in three rounds. Billy Carroll of Hamilton refereed, and the big crowd was well pleased with the evening's program.

Cubs Laid Down Most Suicidal Bunts Last Year

Reds Popped Up the Most Sacrificial Flies—Many Won Games.

SACRIFICING IN THE NATIONAL, 1920.
Club Records.
Sacrifice bunts—Cubs made the most, 171; Giants the least, 82.
Sacrifice flies—Reds made the most, 165; Cardinals the fewest, 46.

Individual Records.
Sacrifice bunts—Charles Deal and Zebulon Terry, Cubs, made most, 30.
Sacrifice flies—George Cutshaw, Pirates, made most, 13.

The Cubs, on bunts, and the Reds, on flies, were the club leaders in sacrifice hitting in the National last year, 1920, of the suicides in the Heydler organization being of the land type, and 374 of the air variety. Charles Deal and Zebulon Terry of the Cubs were the pitchers who adopted tactics purposeful offense, while George Cutshaw of the Pirates was the athlete who released the greatest number of flies that brought runners in from third. The Pittsburghers scored 13 men in this fashion, and was the one National League team to have a record of double figures. The record for all time in sacrifice flies in the senior organization is 16, made by J. Faverham Tinker, now a Florida State League manager, when he was a high private under Frank Loney Chance in Chicago in 1912.

The longest sacrifice fly of 1920 in the National was poked by Lee King of the Giants in the sixth inning of the game of July 20 with the Pirates. Billy Southworth, who caught the ball, couldn't get it back to the plate before two McGrawites—Roe Young, who was on third, and Frank Frisch, who was on second, had scored. The Giants' air attack in this contest was remarkable, four of their five runs off Wilbur Cooper resulting from outfield suicides. This year's National League record and equals an American League record.

National Leaguers who raised two sacrifice flies in one game were O'Neill of Boston, against Philadelphia; Terry of Chicago, against Brooklyn; Barber of Chicago, against Philadelphia; Konechky of Boston, against Philadelphia; Terry of Cincinnati, against Brooklyn; Wingo of Cincinnati, against Boston; Meusel of Philadelphia, against Chicago, and Carey of Pittsburgh, against Chicago. Back in 1909 Harry Steinfield of the Cubs had three aerial sacrifices in a game with the Reds, and ten years later Ed Konechky of the Superbas raised three sacrifice flies in three successive times at bat in a double-header.

Carey Had Thirteen. Club leaders in sacrifice flies were Carey, for Pittsburgh, with 13; Duncan, for Cincinnati, with 9; Myers, for Brooklyn, with 3; Meusel, for Philadelphia, with 3; Stock, for St. Louis, with 8; Barber, for Chicago, with 8; Cruise, for Boston, with 6; and Kelly, for New York, with 6.

The Pirates received good dividends from their sacrifice flies, winning eight games in this way. The Braves got the winning run seven times over the air line, and so did the Reds, Giants and Phillies. Six contests were won by the Cardinals on outfield sacrifices, five by the Cubs and four by the Robins—a total for the league of 51.

Twenty-one more shut-outs would have been recorded but for sacrifice flies, Pittsburgh stepping five kalamintings, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Mather, 110 (Hunt), 8 to 1, 3 to 1, 1 to 3, won; Black Thong, 105 (Eames), 7 to 1, 3 to 1, 2 to 1, second; Penelope, 94 (Burns), out, third. Time 1:13. Helen Atkin and Belle of Elizabethtown ran.

Sixth race, mile and 50 yards, four-year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Mather, 110 (Hunt), 8 to 1, 3 to 1, 1 to 3, won; Black Thong, 105 (Eames), 7 to 1, 3 to 1, 2 to 1, second; Penelope, 94 (Burns), out, third. Time 1:43 1/2. Discussion, Dolph, Byrne and Hocin ran.

Seventh race, mile and 50 yards, four-year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Mather, 110 (Hunt), 8 to 1, 3 to 1, 1 to 3, won; Black Thong, 105 (Eames), 7 to 1, 3 to 1, 2 to 1, second; Penelope, 94 (Burns), out, third. Time 1:43 1/2. Discussion, Dolph, Byrne and Hocin ran.

Eighth race, mile and 50 yards, four-year-olds and up, claiming, purse $500—Mather, 110 (Hunt), 8 to 1, 3 to 1, 1 to 3, won; Black Thong, 105 (Eames), 7 to 1, 3 to 1, 2 to 1, second; Penelope, 94 (Burns), out, third. Time 1:43 1/2. Discussion, Dolph, Byrne and Hocin ran.

Cruise's sacrifice fly in ninth off Haines, scoring Maranville, brought in winning run. Was pinch hitting for Oeschger.

July 21—Boston, 6; Pittsburgh, 1. Cruise's sacrifice fly in third, off Hamilton, scoring Powell, brought in winning run.

August 21—Boston, 3; Cincinnati, 1. Cruise's sacrifice fly in tenth off Eller, scoring Boeckel, brought in winning run.

September 11—Boston, 2; Cincinnati, 0. Cruise's sacrifice fly in sixth off Fisher, scoring Oeschger, brought in winning run.

Lee King of New York, George Cutshaw of Pittsburgh and Jack Miller of Philadelphia each won three games with sacrifice, and Ed Konechky of Brooklyn, Fred Merkle of Chicago, Pat Duncan and Larry Kopf of Cincinnati, Larry Doyle of New York and Max Carey of Pittsburgh each won two.

Sacrifice Saved Games. Walter Maranville of the Braves and Joe Schultz of the Cardinals each twice saved their teams from being blanked by raising sacrifice flies.

Sacrifice flies costed Ben Grimes of Brooklyn three defeats and Rube Marquard, one of his associates, the same number of slouts.

These players made up the best sacrifice fly hitting team in the National last year:

Catcher—Wingo, Cincinnati, or Clemens, St. Louis.

SEWER "GAS."

A recent outbreak, in which the ancient fallacy of disease from sewer "gas" was revived, makes this curious relic of the past again of momentary interest. The subject has been so thoroughly, even wearisomely, threshed out in the last 30 years or so, that one would suppose no modern citizen who had his eyes open could have grown to manhood without knowing what has been discovered; but it seems that there are such individuals, after all.

Sewer "gas," as a matter of fact, is, to begin with, a mistaken term, for there is no one "gas" peculiar to sewage or sewers. Sewer AIR is the proper term, for the "gas" from sewers is always made up of ordinary air chiefly, with, ordinarily, a very small percentage, indeed, of other gases, more or less odoriferous, and therefore impressive, but in exceedingly small proportions.

WHAT IS SEWAGE? Sewage is a modern city is simply the water which is supplied to the citizens fresh and clean from the water supply, but after it has received such additions to it as the citizens' daily life requires. The citizen uses some of the water for drinking purposes, but this is a very small proportion of the total water—much less than 1 per cent. Some of us use the water for bathing; some of us use it for washing dishes, washing laundry, sprinkling the lawn, locomotives, and other steam engines use it for their boilers; many industries require water in their processes or products. We have in London about 100 gallons a day apiece to use as we like, or 500 gallons per family. We waste a tremendous lot of water, of course, probably nearly half of it. But nearly all of it sooner or later, and by devious paths, gets finally into the sewers, thus making just about the same 100 gallons a day apiece of sewage, composed of the same water, dirtied now, that was the clean, fresh water from the taps. Thus London receives about 6,000,000 gallons of water a day, uses it, and passes it on again as about 6,000,000 gallons of sewage.

WHAT MAKES SEWAGE DANGEROUS?

On the average, every citizen adds to the sewage every day about an ounce or so of solid matter, in the form of bowel discharges. The water in the urine, or, in fact, in any of the discharges, should not be counted as an addition, because that water came chiefly from the water supply in the first place, and is merely returned to it when the water supply has reached the sewage stage.

FOREIGN MATTER IN SEWAGE VERY SMALL.

Thus, the one ounce or so of solid discharge per person is mixed in the sewage with 100 gallons of water—or one part of such solids to about 16,000 parts water. Most people have a general idea that sewage is "very strong" in such discharges, while as a matter of fact it is very weak, indeed, in this kind of matter. We ourselves carry about in our intestines all the time the very essence of sewage, 16,000 times as "strong" as the city sewage. Victor Hugo, the great writer of novels, is responsible in part for this mistaken idea of the strength of sewage. He became so impressed with it that he urged the city of Paris not to waste the millions of money (as he thought) thrown into the River Seine every day in the form of sewage, but to use its rich material for fertilizing the soil, thus converting the waste matter back into valuable food material. But after long years of experiment it was found that sewage really contains so little fertilizing material in proportion to its bulk that its direct use as fertilizer is not economical at all, and these plans had to be abandoned.

DISCHARGES SOMETIMES DANGEROUS.

These discharges of the human body, small as they are in proportion to the sewage, nevertheless sometimes produce disease, that is, when the discharges contain the germs of disease. The danger consists, however, not in smelling such sewage, but in drinking it. Our ancestors had an indiscriminate notion that there was something bad about sewage and they jumped to the conclusion that it was the quite open and obvious smell. They overlooked the odorless, sinister, slippery methods by which the sewage stole quietly and unobtrusively back into the water supply, and so produced typhoid, dysentery, cholera and other intestinal epidemics. Therefore our forefathers, while innocently drinking the sewage itself, made a great uproar about the smells, fussed about the plumbing—and had great epidemics of typhoid at the same time! They were doing the same old very human trick of mistaking the cause, and therefore applying the wrong remedy.

WHY DON'T WE HAVE TYPHOID FEVER NOW?

Not because of our splendid plumbing. If the plumbers are to be believed, a great deal of what we have is better and we are wiser than one-half our population—our rural friends—have hardly any plumbing. Yet they have no more typhoid or dysentery or cholera than the rest of us. Moreover, we in London have 4,000 outdoor toilets still, which means that 4,000 of our city population—has no plumbing at all.

Why don't we have typhoid fever and dysentery and cholera and so on from the smell, then? First, because smells don't cause disease; second, because our water supplies ARE supervised to exclude the real danger, SEWAGE, not the fictitious one, SEWER "GAS."

SEWER "GAS" AN EXPLODED BOGEY.

If ordinary sewer "gas" were dangerous, then sanitary engineers, dealing with sewage plants and sewers, ought to show a high percentage of disease and a high mortality, compared with ordinary citizens. So, also, sanitary engineers, their assistants and helpers, dealing with sewage, examining it, smelling it, analyzing it, ought to be in constant bad health. Sewer employees working about sewers and sewer plants, and plumbers themselves, all ought to be a very sickly lot. As a matter of fact, the great cities—London, Paris, New York—have thousands of sewer employees, many of whom spend their whole working day right in the immense sewers of those cities, cleaning them, repairing them, extending them, etc. These men are just as healthy as any similar set of workmen engaged in ordinary outdoor occupations. Of course, there encounter, as miners and tunnelers do, dangerous conditions from sulphuretted hydrogen and carbon monoxide and dioxide. These are the exceptions, not the rules, however.

INSURANCE AND SEWER "GAS."

The insurance companies are particular enough about their policyholders—they reject or condition applicants who are overweight, underweight, show a high blood pressure, etc., and especially are they careful about applicants engaged in any dangerous or unhealthy trade or occupation. But they welcome sewage experts and sewer employees, and on the same basis as the farmer or the milkman or the postman or any other ordinary citizen, and they may depend upon it that if sewer "gas" was one-tenth as dangerous as it is painted by some out-of-date old fogies, the insurance companies would have everyone exposed to it in their daily lives heavily handicapped in seeking insurance. Plumbers suffer sometimes from lead and brass poisoning, and occasionally from illuminating gas, which they encounter in connection with leaking gas mains, but not from sewer "gas" in the usual sense.

SEWER "GAS" PURER THAN STREET AIR.

So far as germs are concerned, it is an absolute fact that sewer "gas," the air from sewers—containing the much-abused smelly bacteria that come from manholes, and sometimes give bad smells in houses—is almost free of germs, or bacteria, and much purer than "fresh air" of our city streets. Indeed, most of the few germs or bacteria found in sewer "gas" COME FROM THE CITY AIR—not from the sewage at all! How can this be? Did not someone say the other day that sewer "gas" was a mass of germs? But how could a GAS be a MASS of ANYTHING solid—germs or otherwise?

Quite seriously, and as a matter of scientific demonstration, the germs in a sewer are in the SEWAGE by the million, but not in the sewer AIR at all, practically speaking—and for the very simple reason that the many millions of sewage germs in the sewage are necessarily wet and necessarily stay in the sewage because they are wet—it is not until they are dry, and very dry, indeed, that they can be caught up and carried about by sewer gas or air to any extent; and a sewer is a very poor place to dry anything in—much less to dry germs!

PLUMBING NOT A PUBLIC HEALTH PROPOSITION.

Perhaps no more conclusive proof of the non-importance of plumbing in public health can be offered than the general disappearance of the subject from the standard textbooks on public health. Years ago a large proportion of the public health textbooks or public health dealt with plumbing at great length. But in the modern Rose's (1917-1918, 374 pages) the word plumbing does not occur in the index at all. He does say with regard to it that the influence of the old beliefs "still pervades the antique plumbing regulations in many places." Park (1920, the latest of all the big ones) has no word of text on plumbing and two of pictures, making about two-thirds of 1 per cent of the total part, with the statement: "Sewer gas, once a hygienic bugaboo, is not now seriously regarded by the sanitarians." Plumbing is like sewerage, lighting, heating, electricity, good foundations, and all other details of house or city construction, a matter for a thoroughly good engineering department, not for a board of health. Boards of health are concerned in dealing with reduction in death and disease, not with preventing smells. Boards of health now have full powers to correct any cause of disease or death they may find in connection with sewage. There is no reason why their proper functions should be diverted to plumbing any more than to house-painting or removing snow from sidewalks—both very good things in their way, as are all well-paved streets, and readable street names. All such comforts are matters for the city to attend to, certainly—but because the city should do them does not mean that the board of health should do them. If everything to do with comfort or decency were put under the board of health, there would be nothing from city markets to issuing debentures, including hold-ups and sites for schoolhouses, that could not be handled as board of health work. But boards of health are short-handed, and short of funds—they are not accomplishing one-half what they could do in reducing death and disease. Why distract them still further by loading them up with plumbing inspection, which has no effect on death or disease at all?

HEARTBURN
LIVER TROUBLE

When the liver becomes torpid and inflamed, it cannot furnish sufficient bile to the bowels, thus causing them to become constipated.

The stomach is also affected. In the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, vomiting often occurs; and what is thrown up, is sour and sometimes bitter.

Other liver trouble symptoms are pain under the right shoulder, yellowness of the skin and eyes, itching specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, foul breath, water brash, jaundice, constipation, etc.

Keep your liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles. Being purely vegetable they do not grip, weaken or sicken like the old-fashioned purgatives generally do.

Mrs. Mary Strome, Glazevine, Sask., writes: "I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of heartburn and liver trouble. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine, and I can highly recommend them."

'MACBETH' PRESENTED IN SETTINGS FROM
GREENWICH VILLAGELionel Barrymore and Julia
Arthur Star in Futuristic Version.

THE SCENERY'S THE THING

Much Is Left to Imagination;
Futurists of Stage Believe in Mere "Suggestive."

BY BEN DEACON

(Canadian Press Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—New York has seen some weird things done in the name of art, but the limit was probably reached this week, when a Shakespearean play produced a shock to the modern classic playwright, tore it loose from its foundation of tradition, and presented it in a Greenwich Village setting.

It was Arthur Hopkins' production of "Macbeth," featuring Robert Edmund Jones. Robert Edmund Jones is a scenic artist of the futurist school, who has collaborated previously from Hopkins. The latter would appear to have selected "Macbeth" as a particularly suitable play for his new method of presentation. Mr. Jones gave high art a free rein with results that were evidently a surprise and a shock to the big audience which saw the premiere at the Apollo Theatre. Messrs. Jones and Hopkins have their own ideas on art, very advanced ideas. Unfortunately for the person whose ideas are not likewise "advanced," the Hopkins-Jones brand of art bears a strong family resemblance to "fash."

The critics were practically unanimous in condemning its freakishness. The futurist school of scenery makes it difficult to concentrate the mind upon the lines of William Shakespeare or appreciate the beauties of the play as presented by an excellent company led by Lionel Barrymore and Julia Arthur. But it is a question of "Macbeth" as a play, not as a production.

Mr. Jones' A series of curtains with various fantastic set pieces as adjuncts represent the scenes in which the action of the play takes place. Everything which might create a clear impression of time or place is carefully omitted. "Macbeth" as presented at the Apollo is a play of the future, not of the past. The stage is draped with heavy black curtains. Nothing even faintly suggests a health. Suspended in the centre are three masks which glare down at a ring around which are gathered the three figures which in the Shakespearean version are the three maidens who look as though they might have been recruited from some burlesque chorus. They wear robes of very pretty cerise hue and their faces are hidden in large bronze-colored masks which resemble the heads of birds. They drone their lines in girlish voices into these masks. The words are every bit as indistinguishable as the words of the opening chorus of a musical comedy.

Plain hanging backgrounds are used to "indicate" practically everything. The courtyard at Inverness is merely a curtain with an irregular screen resembling a decayed mold extracted from some giant's law. The audience room is a fantastic drapery with a couple of rude stone thrones. The futurists of the stage art believe in merely "suggesting" things. Sometimes they are rather too stingy even with suggestions. The audience is forced to put in an evening of very strenuous imagination.

This, of course, must be a great handicap to the players. Lionel Barrymore and Julia Arthur, who both rise to noble heights at times, but the futurism of Robert Edmund Jones frequently makes their best efforts seem futile.

Charles Gilpin, the colored actor, who has talent to be reckoned with, found but little outlet in a series of minor parts, suddenly shot up to stardom when he was given the leading role in "The Emperor Jones." This week he had a new leading role thrust upon him. He became the chief figure in a little drama called "Macbeth," which has caused a great deal of discussion and dissension in that organization, and has amused or annoyed the theatrical world generally.

Whereas in "The Emperor Jones," Gilpin has the only important speaking role, nearly all of the other actors doing heavy thinking parts, in this new drama Gilpin is the only one who is saying nothing while others are doing a great deal of talking.

Every year the members of the Drama League select by vote the ten persons considered to be the most distinguished contributors to dramatic art during the year, and these become the guests of honor at the league's annual dinner. An announcement to the effect that the ten "most distinguished" had not yet been chosen, as the vote would not be counted until tonight, and therefore no one knew whether Gilpin would be among the chosen. If he were, they asserted, they would not object to inviting him. The only question that had come up in regard to the matter was as to whether a rule of the hotel where the dinner was to take place might not prevent them placing Gilpin at their festive board, as this hotel draws the color line.

This apparently has neither pleased the anti-Gilpinites nor pleased the pro-Gilpinites. The rumour is still in progress, with righteous indignation on one side encountering a solid front of prejudice on the other.

While practically everyone else had been heard from it was not until late in the week that the bright idea occurred to someone to secure Gilpin's views upon the subject. It developed that he is probably the least interested person in New York. He was an actor, not an actor, he said, in effect, and he intimated tactfully and politely that he was not anxious to attend the dinner anyway.

Last year, Gilpin played the part of an old negro slave in Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln." His very excellent work in this attracted attention, and when the Provincetown Players produced Eugene O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones," Gilpin was selected for the leading role. The success of the O'Neill play is unquestionably a personal triumph for him. It is practically a monologue after the first scene—and its power is entirely dependent upon one character portrayed by Gilpin. An American negro to have committed murder and broken from prison in the United States, having been cast by chance upon an island where the natives are still in a densely ignorant and uncivilized state, succeeds in making himself their ruler. As the play opens his subjects have revolved in his mind the horrors of the past, and he is determined to conquer them and impose his law upon them.

Gradually he loses the air of bravado with which he started, and gradually the superstitions inherent in his race conquer him and impose his law upon them. He is shown in a series of eight scenes depicting different parts of a dense forest, the flight of the negro is shown. Gradually he loses the air of bravado with which he started, and gradually the superstitions inherent in his race conquer him and impose his law upon them.

There would seem to be no doubt that Gilpin is deserving the honor of dining with the Drama League—that is, if it really is honor. Meanwhile he is receiving a great deal of unsolicited publicity, and publicity is valuable to actors of every shade. So the Drama League is doing something for Gilpin, no matter what the final decision may be.

What the Press Agents Say About the Shows

AT THE GRAND.

"HELIOTROPE," AT GRAND TWICE
TODAY.

One of the best programs that has featured the Grand this season is that presented this week, and which will be seen for the last time today. The feature picture "Heliotrope," billed a successor to "Humoresque," surely lives up to the advertising, and is a real human interest drama, with a theme as big as the heart of the world. Miss Marjorie Pringle, that dainty and charming little soprano, has won her way into the hearts of London playgoers with her perfectly trained voice, her winsome smiles and charming personality. Miss Pringle presents a novel musical turn, assisted by a clever company of musicians, entitled "Moments Musical," and the special stage setting and effects used are worthy of special mention. There are many other added film features on the big program, including a Burton Holmes Travelogue, Paramount Magazine, and a Carter de Hasen Comic, entitled "Spring." Pathe Topics of the Day completes one of the best all-round picture and feature bills that has been offered at the Grand this current season.

CECIL B. DE MILLE'S GORGEOUS PRODUCTION OF "FORBIDDEN FRUIT," AT GRAND ALL NEXT WEEK.

"Cecil B. de Mille's superb Paramount picture, "Forbidden Fruit," which will be the feature at the Grand all next week, coming to London direct from a record-breaking engagement at the Regent Theatre, Toronto, where it has been turning away thousands daily, decidedly marks an era in motion picture production in this country. It is a stupendous photoplay of such excellence as to entitle it to be termed a masterpiece of which any producer might well be proud. The story is embellished by a vision of Cinderella in which De Mille's genius is displayed to the finest advantage. It is colorful, strongly effective, and produced on a scale of magnificence unexampled even in this day of stupendous productions. The story was written by that well-known author, Jeanie Macpherson, and is undoubtedly the greatest picture of the year.

De Mille has invested "Forbidden Fruit" with more lavish and beautiful scenery and settings than any other picture he has ever produced. The gowns worn by the female players are remarkable for their beauty, and the production is in every sense a feast for the eyes. It is undoubtedly a dramatic triumph and gives much food for thought.

The story of this masterpiece in brief follows—Mary, a pretty girl of a good Southern family, elopes with Steve Maddock while she is in boarding school. Steve turns out to be a rascal, who finally degenerates into a loafer and a tin-horn gambler. Mary's love for him dies. The Maddocks live in a tumble-down tenement and Mary works as a seamstress to support herself and her worthless husband. Among her patrons is Mrs. James Harrington Mallory, a social leader and wife of the great Mallory, oil king. Nelson Rogers, wealthy Western oil magnate, visits the Mallorys and Mrs. Mallory arranges for an elaborate dinner party with Rogers as the guest of honor. Mrs. Mallory's plans are disarranged when she learns that the beautiful debutante whom she has chosen to entertain is ill and cannot attend a party. Mary Maddock enters with a gown which she has completed for Mrs. Mallory. The rich woman is struck with the seamstress' beauty and evident refinement. Dressed and groomed properly she could pass for the debutante. Mrs. Mallory offers Mary $20 to spend an evening in New York's most exclusive society. Mary accepts and proves to be the most beautiful woman at the dinner. Nelson Rogers is at once attracted to her. Upon her arrival home Steve questions her about her absence and is suspicious. Rogers is determined to see Mary again and implores Mrs. Mallory's assistance. The latter sends a servant to Mary's home and requests her to spend a few days with the Mallorys as their guest. But Mary is afraid to accept. Steve changes Mary's decision. Her one solace is her cat, and she sends him to the bird disturbs Steve's sleep and he hurls a shoe at the cage knocking it out of the window and killing the bird. Mary then goes back to the Mallorys while Steve shuffles round the "social club" where he meets Pietro Giuseppe, a butler at the Mallory home and a crook. Pietro persuades Steve to attempt a robbery of the Mallory safe. Mary goes to the theatre with the Mallorys and Rogers and admits to Rogers that she loves him. Later in the night Steve comes to rob the safe. He flashes the light upon the occupant of the ornate bed; it is Mary his wife. Suddenly awakened Mary screams. Steve angrily demands that she dress and meet him outside. Steve starts downstairs, Rogers after a struggle captures him arousing the whole household. Steve explains that he merely called to see his wife. Mary denies this, but later when Rogers has left to summon the police, she confesses the truth to Mallory who smashes a window and tells Steve to go. On Rogers' return with the police, Mallory tells of a terrific struggle with Steve and his escape. Mary returns sadly to her tenement. Steve tries to blackmail Rogers. Rogers comes to the tenement with $10,000 telling Steve he must choose between the money and Mary. Steve chooses the money. Pietro his accomplice demands half of the money. Steve refuses and the two cast dice for the roll. Steve loses and attempts to seize the money. In the struggle Pietro kills him. Rogers returns and discovers Steve's body. He overpowers Pietro and turns him over to the police. The Mallorys take Mary to live with them and several months later, Rogers comes to claim his sweetheart.

MISS MARJORIE PRINGLE, BERT CALDWELL AND CLEVER COMPANY AT THE GRAND ALL NEXT WEEK.

Miss Marjorie Pringle, that charming little soprano who has delighted capacity audiences at the Grand all this week has been retained by Manager Minnick for another week and will present all next week in conjunction with the master De Mille production, "Forbidden Fruit," a novel picture titled "A Midnight Cabaret." One of the classic companies of entertainers seen on any stage this season will be in support of Miss Pringle. Bert Caldwell, who will be remembered for his delightful songs some weeks ago will assist Miss Pringle, as will several other local artists. Songs, dances, musical numbers and everything that makes a real cabaret will be featured.

TRY-OUT NIGHTS A NEW FEATURE AT THE GRAND ALL NEXT WEEK.

In addition to the big feature, the big prologue and added features at the Grand next week, Manager Minnick will introduce for the first time in London, try-out nights. Many local aspirants for fame back of the footlights will be given a chance to show their wares. Valuable cash prizes have been hung up and the try-out nights will be open to dancers, singers, musicians, comedians, comedienne, acrobats, and all sorts of talent. The talent that will be entertained for patrons will be eligible to compete. The winners will be announced next Saturday. A competent staff of judges will be announced later, will criticize the turns, and the prizes will not be allotted according to the applause received from the audience, but the judges' awards will be taken as final. The winners will be given a week's engagement at the Grand at a salary to be announced later, will criticize the turns, and the prizes will not be allotted according to the applause received from the audience, but the judges' awards will be taken as final.

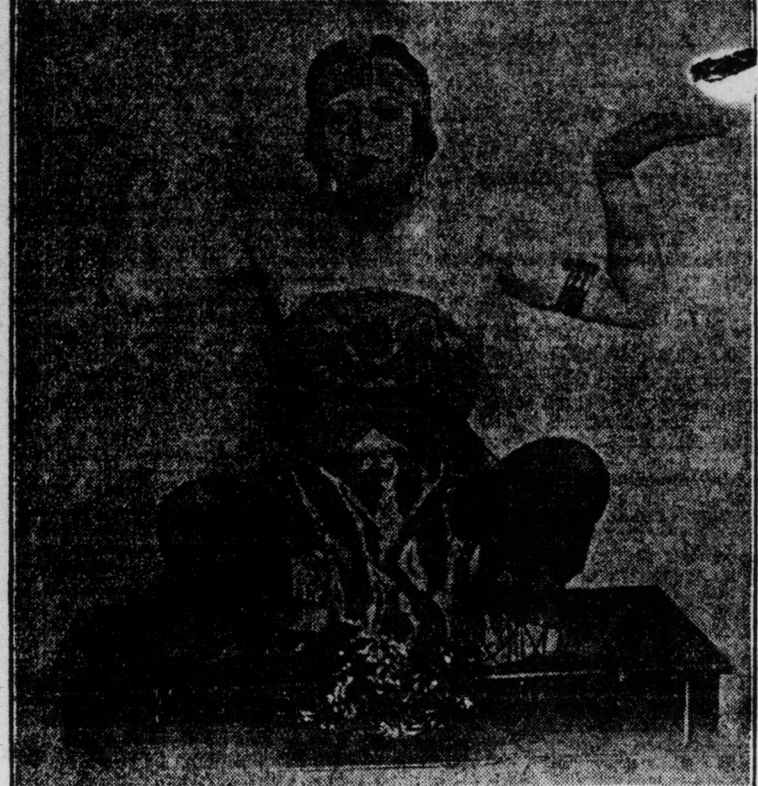

"THE MAPLE LEAF" AT THE GRAND ENTIRE WEEK MARCH 7.

An entertainment of a remarkable nature is promised at the Grand for the entire week of March 7, when the famous entertainment troupe of the Fourth Canadian Division, the Maple Leafers, will appear in their great overseas revue, entitled "Camouflage." This is the identical entertainment these soldier-actors gave behind the lines in France, after they had all seen active service at the front, and which they also presented in England before they came to Canada.

With a record of fifteen weeks of triumphant touring through Western Canada, breaking records in many cities, playing two weeks each in Vancouver and Winnipeg, and three weeks at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal, this brilliant organization will make its first appearance locally under the direction of Capt. M. W. Plunkett, who it will be remembered, has directed the productions of "The Dumbells" here.

The general consensus of opinion among the critics, who have enjoyed the advantage of comparison, is that the Maple Leafers are in every respect equal to the Dumbells, and in a number of features surpass that excellent organization.

Elaborate and colorful stage settings, brilliant costumes, original and striking feature acts, and individual merit make this show unique in the history of the Canadian stage, according to the press.

Ormond Perley, "dancer," in Oriental number of Maple Leafers' revue, "Camouflage," coming to the Grand entire week of March 7, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

ing to the verdict of the leading newspaper critics throughout the country. The engagement here will be under the direct patronage of Major-General Sir David Watson, K. C. M. G., D.S.O., commander of the Fourth Canadian Division at the front. Mail orders now being filled.

AT ALLEN'S.

VERA GORDON, MOTHER OF "HUMORESQUE," APPEARS AT ALLEN MONDAY IN "GREATEST LOVE," DE LUXE SUPER-SPECIAL.

You remember Vera Gordon and her exceptional talent as the mother in "Humoresque," and that although the part was not especially written for Miss Gordon, her remarkable genius brought that picture above the ordinary and created a character on the screen that will long be remembered. Can you conceive of the artistry of this wonderful star in a big de luxe production, a story specially written for her peculiar and endearing interpretation of motherhood, that is "Greatest Love," which critics say is more interesting than either "Humoresque" or "Madame X."

"The Greatest Love" is to be shown at Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, and it is through this picture that Miss Gordon has earned her title of the greatest mother the screen has ever shown. A vital, glowing drama of life itself, written in the universal language of humanity, a powerful, heart-gripping photoplay, lavishly staged and superbly acted, with a superlative cast supporting Miss Gordon, which includes Bobby Connolly, famous child actor, who has been before the public since he was twelve years of age.

"The Greatest Love" is a picture which makes you cry one moment and laugh the next, and at the finish have that grand and glorious feeling that poets talk about. Mothers, this picture is dedicated to you—don't miss it, and be sure all the family find an opportunity of seeing this, the greatest appreciation of motherhood ever created.

A host of added attractions, including Rolin comedy, Allen Canadian News, Chester Outing Pictures and an exceptional vaudeville offering will complete one of the finest programs of the year.

SCREEN'S MOST POPULAR YOUNG CHILD STARS, BOBBY CONNOLLY AND DOT WILLIAMS, APPEAR WITH VERA GORDON, IN "THE GREATEST LOVE."

Included in the supporting cast of the master production "The Greatest Love," starring Vera Gordon, which is to be shown at regular prices at the Allen Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will be the screen's two most popular young artists, Bobby Connolly, just twelve years of age, and dainty little Dot Williams, who is still younger.

Master Connolly has been before the public since he was three years of age, and has already a notable list of successes to his name, while Miss Williams is also a player of some considerable experience, although she has not yet seen her twelfth year. Their work in "The Greatest Love" is nothing less than a touch of genius, and many a time in different scenes they will touch your heart with their clever impersonation of the youngest of the family of Last-tina, of whose experience and adventures the story is written.

Children will especially enjoy the work of these two juvenile stars, and you should give them an opportunity of seeing the picture, which is destined to coming back again, and will headline the Loew program on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, which will be joyful news for a host of admirers in London. They are, without parallel vaudeville's classiest singing team. In Cardo and Noll the concert stage loses two of the best singers in America, and vaudeville boasts the two highest class songsters on tour, and to those who missed them on their previous visits, we say you have a rare musical treat in store, and to those who heard them before, their present engagement affords another opportunity to hear them. They will present an entirely new program.

Other star acts, a Buster Keaton Comic and Loew's Pictorial complete the bill for the first three days of the week.

MAJESTIC.

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY," ANOTHER MIRTH-PROVOKING BILL AT THE MAJESTIC THEATRE NEXT WEEK.

Manager William A. Grew of the Majestic Players announces for next week another mirth-provoking comedy in "The Private Secretary," by Charles Hawtree, author of "Charlie's Aunt," a treatable comedy which was presented some weeks ago by the popular players. "The Private Secretary" is a farcical comedy in three acts, and with a thousand and one laughs throughout the play. The story needs no telling here, as every book-lover and playgoer is conversant with the theme and plot, and Manager Grew has been successful in securing the latest script and yes, and the piece will be presented at the Majestic all next week in its newest dress.

The entire company will again be seen in the cast. Judging by the response to comedy offerings, London playgoers are keen for clean, wholesome comedies. The legitimate stage has had little or no comedy for the past two or three seasons. The big producers seemingly have gone in for elaborateness and dazzling scenic affairs, and the good old comedy plays have been wiped clean off the boards, but the demands for patrons, is busy securing the scripts for all comedies that are on the market, and with this week's bill, "Mary's Ankle," and "The Private Secretary" next week, Majestic patrons will have comedy in full measure.

The usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees, which have proven so popular with the female following at the Majestic, will be in vogue, and Monday night the usual "two for one" admission will be in force. Another bumper crowd will undoubtedly be in attendance Monday night to see the initial presentation of "The Private Secretary."

SCREEN LURES RICHMAN—FAMOUS ACTOR SUPPORTS DOROTHY DALTON IN "HALF AN HOUR" AT LOEW'S.

Charles Richman, one of the best-known actors of the screen, after an absence of more than a year, makes his return to pictures in Sir James M. Barrie's "Half an Hour," in which Dorothy Dalton will star at Loew's Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. As Richard Garson, a crude but wealthy art connoisseur, Mr. Richman is seen in "Half an Hour" in all his force and power. Garson actually buys Lady Lillian, daughter of the Earl of Westford, and when she can no longer endure his taunts and vulgarities she decides to run away with Hugh Paton. Hugh is killed before this step can be taken, and Lady Lillian's efforts to conceal her absence from her home and get dressed for dinner, all in a half hour's space, make one of the nearest and swiftest moving pictures seen in a long time.

FINANCIAL, MARKET AND COMMERCIAL SECTION

NEW YORK MARKET
PROSPECTS BETTER

Conditions Denote Moderate Improvement—Speculative Issues Suffer Pressure.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Conditions in the stock market today denoted moderate improvement in the sense that offerings of representative shares diminished visibly. This was neutralized, however, by renewed pressure against many of the volatile or speculative issues.

The status of the steel industry and largely into the calculations of traders because of the meeting here of the American Iron and Steel Institute. Assurances that the session bore no direct relation to prices or was scheduled caused hurried covering of short contracts.

Transportation conditions were unchanged, prospects indicating further curtailment of employment on the larger systems. The marine situation was threatened with fresh complications as a result of possible labor troubles at the expiration of the existing agreement between ship owners and unions.

Stocks manifested every disposition to improve in the last hour on call money's decline to 6 per cent, but the list became unsettled just before the close. When heavy selling of Vanadium and Republic Steels and Stromberg Carburizer set in.

Those issues suffered extreme declines of 3 1/2 to 6 1/2 points before supporting orders in Vanadium and Republic effected partial recovery. Stromberg was without support, however, making a net loss of 6 points. Sales of stocks amounted to $10,000,000.

Dealing in bonds were larger than at any previous session of the week, but the increased activity was mainly at the expense of Liberty bonds.

Deals were irregular, though mostly lower, as were also local transactions and their international group. Total sales (par value) $15,700,000.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO FORGERY CHARGE
 Frank Jardine Elects to Be Tried by Judge Without Jury.
 GODERICH, Feb. 25.—Frank Jardine appeared before Judge Dickson today, charged with forgery, and pleaded not guilty. Jardine elected to be tried by a judge without a jury, and as the crown was not ready to go on with the trial in the morning this session, and a March 7, when he will appear again before Judge Dickson.
 Goderich purposes entering a lacrosse team in the league this season, and a meeting is to be held February 28 to elect officers.
 Five writs have been issued against Louis Dalton and Elizabeth Dalton, his wife, and Joseph E. Dalton of Ashfield Township for damages for alleged slander. Louis Dalton is the young man, who was shot by an unknown party early in the morning of June 1, 1920, on his return from a big social event near Kintail as he was putting his horse into the stable. The writs are issued at the instance of James Bennett, Walter Dalton, Edmund Bennett, Joseph I. Sullivan and John P. Sullivan.

WORK IS LAID OVER.
 CHATHAM, Feb. 25.—As a result of a conference between the board of works, city officials and property owners affected, the proposal to construct a trunk sewer to relieve the drainage situation in the southern part of the city will not be undertaken at the present time, owing to the high cost of materials. The work, it is estimated, would cost $150,000, and would have to be done under the local improvement scheme. This would mean that the people benefited and those along the route of the sewer to the river would have to pay a cost of approximately $9 per foot frontage. The citizens say this price is prohibitive.

HELD FOR DESERTION.
 KITCHENER, Feb. 25.—James Harvey, wanted in Oshawa for alleged desertion, was arrested today by P. C. Kraft. The local police have been looking for Harvey for three days, and trace of him was obtained last night. Harvey will be held for the Oshawa authorities.

STOP FIGHTING IN NEAR EAST
 Solution Said To Provide For Inquiry Into Turk-Greek Claims.
 London, Feb. 25.—The solution of the Near East problem relating to Turkey, which will be reached by the allied supreme council, will be to send an allied commission of inquiry to the Near East to examine the claims of population claims of Greece and Turkey in the disputed provinces of Smyrna and Thrace. It was forecast in well-informed circles here today. Meantime a cessation of hostilities between the Turks and Greeks will be declared.

EFFORT TO KILL LIQUOR MEASURE
 Montreal Legal Move To Nullify Quebec Act Makes Taschereau Laugh.
 MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—Ernest Pelissier, K.C., and Paul St. Germain, K.C., this morning announced their intention of starting proceedings to have the provincial liquor law, which was finally passed at Quebec yesterday, declared by the courts of justice to be null and ultra vires. The names of the clients of Messrs. Pelissier and St. Germain have not been announced, but it is rumored they are certain liquor dealers of the province.

BECOMES LAW.
 QUEBEC, Feb. 25.—The Quebec alcoholic liquor act, which transfers the handling of all wines and spirits to the Provincial Government, became law this afternoon, when it was assented to by the lieutenant-governor, Sir Charles F. B. Macpherson. The act comes into force on May 1. Asked regarding the news from Montreal of an attempt to hold up the operation of the new liquor bill by injunction proceedings, Premier Taschereau this afternoon said that he was amused at the suggestion.
 "This is not April 1," he remarked, "and therefore I don't think we need to consider that matter seriously."
 It was pointed out that the act itself was made proof against hampering litigation while the permission of the attorney-general would have to be obtained for the launching of injunction proceedings against the province.

SAYS REFUSAL ARGUMENT FOR AMALGAMATION
 Windsor Alderman Favors Taking a Plebiscite On the Question.

WINDSOR, Feb. 25.—Commenting upon the refusal of the private bills committee of the Ontario Legislature to entertain Windsor's application for withdrawal from the Essex Border Utilities Commission, Ald. Sam Keyser said today that the proceedings before the committee at Toronto constituted an excellent argument for amalgamation of the border cities.
 "It would appear that we must remain in the commission if we desire or not," he said. "Under the circumstances I suggest that the utility companies should demand necessary power from the Provincial Government to go over the heads of the council of the border municipalities and submit a plebiscite upon the question of amalgamation. I believe the people are in favor of a union of the border municipalities, but the local politicians upon the municipal councils refuse to give them an opportunity to decide the issue."

NEW LICENSE INSPECTOR.
 SARNIA, Feb. 25.—High Constable William J. Coulter is the new license inspector for West Lambton. He was sworn in this afternoon by County Crown Attorney F. W. Wilkes and subsequently drafted and forwarded to Warden J. T. Sproule his resignation as chief of the county constabulary, requesting immediate acceptance so as to enable him to take over his new duties by March 1.
 By reason of previous experience in both city and county police work, the new appointee is admirably fitted for the task of enforcing the O. T. A. in this district. Following his appointment as high constable he was closely associated with the late license inspector, George Lucas.

MAY PURCHASE HOTEL.
 WOODSTOCK, Feb. 25.—Prospects are bright for the long-cherished desire of local Masons to own their own home. An option has been secured on the Buckingham Hotel building, and a committee is busy making a canvass of the members of the two local lodges with a view to forming a joint stock company to buy the building and make it over into a Masonic Temple second to none in Ontario. The Buckingham has been idle for the past two months.

PAYS FINE OF $400 FOR SELLING WHISKEY
 BRANTFORD, Feb. 25.—The second O. T. A. conviction in two days was entered in police court, when Joe Willette today paid a fine of $400 for selling whiskey. Willette was caught in a motor car exchange, which had a bad reputation with the police.
 Previous to her departure from the city Mrs. (Rev.) Robert White was presented by members of the Women's Mission Circle of Park Baptist Church with a wrist watch and several pieces of sterling silverware.
 Mrs. J. F. French, R. R. No. 1, Burford, reports that 50 chickens, including a valuable thoroughbred Barred Rock, worth $150, were stolen during the night.

SEED COMMISSIONER EMPHASIZES NEED OF CENTRAL MARKET
 Various Problems Discussed at Annual Brant County Seed Fair.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 25.—A noon-day luncheon featured the annual seed fair for Brant County today, with a large number of women present in addition to the men.
 J. Lockie Wilson, societies superintendent, and C. G. Clarke, Dominion Seed Commissioner, were the principal speakers, the former dealing largely with the work of societies under his jurisdiction, and also announcing that a ploverman's association would be formed in Brantford.
 G. H. Clarke, Dominion seed commissioner, after telling of the fine oat and barley seed secured in this district during an emergency, urged that the whole seed stock be reclaimed and fitted for consumption before being put on the market so that the producer would get the full benefit. He emphasized the need for a central marketing point for Ontario. Here the products of the farms could be received, sorted, graded, cleaned and distributed, bringing the highest possible price. Tonight the Brant County Junior farmers also had a successful banquet.

BULLET GRAZED HIS ABDOMEN
 WINGHAM, Feb. 25.—William Patterson, a local jeweler was placed under arrest early today following a shooting affray at his home, in which Albert E. Luttitt had his abdomen grazed by a bullet. Later Patterson was released in the sum of $2,000 bail, and will appear in court next Thursday charged with assault with intent to do bodily harm. This charge may be reduced, as the wound is extremely slight, being a mere scratch and in no way serious.
 Chief of Police Allen stated to The Advertiser that Patterson and Luttitt have been excellent friends for many years. He is convinced that the shooting was entirely accidental. Patterson's family was away, and Luttitt went over to visit with him. During the night, it is alleged, the men became intoxicated, and the shooting occurred accidentally.
 "I am satisfied," said Chief Allen, "that there was not the slightest ill-feeling between the men."
 Luttitt is a local butcher.

FARMERS URGED TO IMPROVE STOCK
 CLINTON, Feb. 25.—About 200 persons sat down to banquet tables in the town hall last night on the occasion of the annual social gathering of the Huron Central Agricultural Society. Huron County being one of the largest stock producing districts in Canada, and Clinton being "The Hub" of the county, much interest is always taken in these annual gatherings, as well as in the spring fairs conducted by this society, which are said to be among the best of their kind held outside the large cities.
 Mayor A. J. McMurray, who is also secretary of the society, acted acceptably as chairman and toastmaster. The principal toast was to "Agriculture," proposed by S. B. Stothers, Huron's district representative, and ably responded to by Professor G. E. Day of Guelph, who gave a splendid address on the improvement of live stock.
 For the first time in the history of these gatherings the women of the town and country were admitted to the banquet and took part in the program.

 TRY IT!

Advertiser readers have wonderful chance to turn some spare moments into solving the $2,500 Puzzle during the next three weeks. The $700 first prize is a fine award for a couple of hours' work, while the other capital prizes of $450, $400, $300 and $200 are not to be overlooked. Outside of these first five prizes there are forty-five more—all worth working for.

The problem requires effort and thought, it is interesting and not hard. There is nothing intricate about it and it is within the scope of each to work it out if they take the time and work with patience and accuracy.
 Subscribers of The Advertiser who desire to participate in this contest, may do so upon extending their subscriptions for as much as two years from the time they are already paid to. This extension does not involve any change in service. Where the paper is delivered by a carrier now, the same carrier will continue to serve it and will be notified just how far in advance to credit the subscription.

In order to determine how much you will be entitled to in the event of winning one of the larger prizes, it is necessary to make a payment on subscription when registering your solution of the puzzle. This you can readily understand by studying the prize list. Those who are not now subscribers, and desire to enter the contest, may do so under the same conditions.

The possibilities of The Advertiser's puzzle are shown by the great diversity in the solutions so far received, varying in no difference at all between the totals of the "odds" and "evens" to a very marked difference. The changes which the shifting of a few figures make are really surprising. Give it a trial and see what enjoyment you can derive out of solving this fascinating puzzle.

If you need charts to work on, ask Contest Manager at 110 Dundas for same or send stamp and they will be mailed to you. The Contest Office is open evenings from 7:30 to 9:30.

MOTOR SHOW DRAWS LARGE ATTENDANCE
 Visitors From All Over the District See Chatham Exhibits.

CHATHAM, Feb. 25.—The attendance at the motor show thus far has eclipsed that of last year, Manager M. M. Maxwell said tonight. Many visitors are here from all parts of the county and also from Western Ontario. Several dealers report sales as very satisfactory. The membership campaign of the Kent Motor Club is progressing satisfactorily, according to those in charge of the drive. The canvassers are now on the last lap of the thousand-member canvass, as the total is over 750.

The public utilities commission is opposed to the tax on hydro power, as proposed by the government, and will support the scheme suggested by Adam Beck.
 Irwin Smale, against whom a charge of stealing liquor from an express office in Wallaceburg several months ago was laid and who has spent about seven weeks in jail awaiting the final disposition of his case, was dismissed in the county court this afternoon.

A short time ago the retail price of Red Rose Tea (Crimson Label) was reduced 10 cents a pound.

Whenever conditions permit, the price will again be reduced, but never to such an extent as to lower the quality.

You will always find the quality of Red Rose Tea all you expect it to be—the same good tea for over 25 years.
