PUNISHMENT
IS TOO MILD

Foreign Envoys Will Not Accept the Imperial Edict.

Sentencing Prince Tuan and His Bloodthirsty Colleagues.

The Emperor Has No Strong Advisers
—Russian Bombast.

London, Nov. 20. — Official advices received at Paris from the commander of the French troops in China, announce that international columns are occupying the tombs east and south-west of Peking. He reports small engagements with Boxers, in which they lost three hundred killed, the foreign troops sustaining no casualties.

EDICT TOO EASY.
The Morning Post's Peking correspondent, writing Sunday, says: "The edict inflicting punishment is milder than the first report suggested. Prince Tuan and Prince Chwang are only banished, and not imprisoned. Duke Lan is merely dismissed. The foreign envoys cannot accept the edict, owing to the inadequacy of the punishments."

Li Hung Chang submits it as the final punishment the court is able to inflict, and repeats the stereotyped plea of all Chinese plenipotentiaries, namely, that the emperor threatens himself and Prince Ching with severe punishment if they fail to induce the envoys to accept the edict. The edict strengthens the ministers in their determination to demand the death penalty. The Chinese plenipotentiaries are illusive. Prince Tuan is merely banished from his own home, and others undergo nominal lowering of rank. Perpetual imprisonment means a life of honored retirement.

DAUER AHEAD YET.
London, Nov. 20.—"It is rumored," says the Peking correspondent of the Morning Post, "that a special expedition to Sian Fu is already being discussed, as the outcome of the peace negotiations. Emperor Kwang Shu is helpless, as he lacks the aid of a strong and progressive adviser, all such officials having been beheaded."

Gen. Tung Fu Hsiang, master of the military forces, is dreaded even by Chinese officials. The new cabinet minister, Lu Chuan Lin, is reported to be another Kang Yi. The danger, therefore, that terms accepted by the Chinese plenipotentiaries in Peking will be rejected at Sian Fu.

"Should the court proceed to further resistance, it would be necessary for the allies to declare war, but to discriminate between the court and China's officials. The United States and Russia will probably refuse to take part in such measures."

"Since the occupation of Peking the German commander has shot more than a hundred guilty Boxers. Gen.
Chun's orders do not provide for dealing with the Chinese plenipotentiaries committed before the relief of the legations. The American plan is to leave nothing to the Chinese, which means nothing."

RUSSIAN BOMBAST.
The St. Petersburg correspondent of the London Times gives the text of Gen. Gribsky's proclamation threatening to wipe out whole towns of Manchuria if any resistance is made to the Russian annexation of the province. There is a portion of it:
"A month ago you committed the insolent absurdity of attacking Biagovostchensk and the Russian inhabitants, forgetting how terribly strong is the great Russian czar in land, people and guns."

"For that you have been severely punished."
The town of Aigun and the villages along the banks of the Amur, the inhabitants of which dared not fall upon the Russians, have been burned.

"Your troops are destroyed, and the water of the Amur is polluted by the dead bodies of Manchuria."
The Russians are soon enter all your towns and villages, and this is my solemn word.

"Do not fire upon us or cause harm to our troops or to peaceful workmen engaged on the railway, but we believe anyone who dares to shoot at or otherwise injure a Russian."
His village or town shall be burned to the ground, and not one of its inhabitants left alive.

"Turn a deaf ear to evil counselors who urge you to fight with us. They are your enemies, and will bring you to ruin and death."
"Woe be unto you if you do otherwise than as we command you!"

BITS OF CHINA.
Count Waldersee claims to have suppressed looting and restored peace in Chi Li.

The Taoist Sheng denies that Prince Tuan and Gen. Tung Fu Hsi have joined the Mohammedan rebellion.

A telegram received at Peking from the German headquarters in Peking says Col. York's column on Nov. 14 reached Tsha Tau, on the Great Wall, northwest of the capital. A large force of Chinese cavalry had just evacuated the place.

A Shanghai dispatch, dated Saturday, says: As the outcome of the protest by Great Britain against the transfer of Yu Chang to the government of Wu Chang, this official will be replaced by a governor who is pro-foreign in his sympathies.

In the German reichstag, on the occasion of the presentation of the supplementary credit for China, Chancelor Von Buelow emphatically denied the assertion frequently made abroad that the Chinese imbroglio was traceable to the German occupation of Kiao Chow. This statement was greeted by the Social Democrats with loud cries of "It is quite true." The chancellor declared Germany had adhered to the aims and policy outlined in the circular to the allied governments.

THE COURT'S
TIME WASTED

Justice Meredith Scores Dilatory
Witnesses and Lawyers.

The Long-Pending and Somewhat
Famous Taylor-Davis Will Case
Under Way.

At the sitting this morning of the non-jury assizes, the attention of the court was occupied by the hearing of the Taylor-Davis will case, which for over a year has been pending trial. It was nearly 11:45 before the case was opened, as Mr. Justice Meredith had to rise twice in order to allow Mr. A.
B. Aylesworth, Q. C., counsel for the plaintiffs, to arrive from Toronto. The judge expressed himself strongly as to the way in which the court's time is wasted by dilatory witnesses or lawyers, and threatened to dismiss the case should not the parties be ready to go on by a certain time.

The parties in the will case mentioned are Helen Taylor and Isabella Smith, vs. Rev. Evans Davis, Robert
Grant Fisher, Llewellyn Davis, Evans
G. Davis, Gwendoline Davis, Llanarth
William Davis, Isabella Trinder and Hannah Dickey, by original writ; and Sarah A. Keffer, Rev. Evans Davis, personally, the Diocese of Algoma, and the bishop thereof, representing the mission fund of the diocese, and the Incorporated Synod of the Diocese of Huron, representing the mission fund thereof, added party defendants, by order.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Helen Taylor, of Pickering, Ontario county, and the plaintiff, Mrs. Isabella Smith, of Amadore, Sanilac county, Michigan, are suing to set aside a will claimed by the defendants to have been made by the plaintiff's sister, the late Margaret A.
Burkholder, who died in this city on Aug. 30, 1899, leaving an estate of $5,- 500, consisting for the most part of a cash bank deposit.

This will named the defendants, Rev.
Evans Davis and R. G. Fisher, barrister, as executors, and left the bulk of deceased's property to the four infant children of the first-named defendant. The plaintiffs allege that the will was not executed by Margaret Burkholder, or, if it was executed by her, she was of an advanced age and in a state of extreme mental and physical weakness, and was not possessed of sufficient understanding to make execute the will. The plaintiffs also allege that for months previous to the execution of this will, the defendants, Rev. Evans Davis, was in constant communication with the deceased as her spiritual adviser, and in that capacity acquired such an influence over her that she was not capable of exercising her own free will and opinion, and for these reasons they ask that the
will be set aside.

The defendant, Mrs. Isabella Trinder, of Orillia, Ont., and the defendant, Hannah Dickey, of Stayner, Ont., are nieces of the plaintiffs and the decessated, and they are added as defendants in order that in event of an inter-tacy being declared, their rights might be determined by the court.

In the statement of defense, filed at the time of the first opening of the case, Mrs. Dickey claimed a share in the estate, and asked to have her share apportioned by the court; while Mrs.
Trinder disclaimed and share in the estate, and asked to have the case assessed against her dismissed with costs. Both the defendants Mrs. Trinder and Mrs.
Dickey now ask to have their share apportioned by the court in the event of the will being set aside, as they would then be next of kin.

The parties are represented by the following legal gentlemen: A. B. Aylesworth, Q. C., Toronto, and R. M. C.
Tooth for plaintiffs Helen Taylor and Isabella Smith; T. G. Meredith for defendant Archdeacon Davis; J. C. Jud for defendant R. G. Fisher; Hume Cronyn for John Hoskin, official guardian; J. M. McEvoy for Hannah Dickey; one of the next of kin in the event of the setting aside of the will,
W. Cook, Toronto, for Sarah A. Keffer.

This case was first entered for trial at the spring assizes in March last, and was postponed till the non-jury sittings in April. At that court the trial judge postponed the case till the present court, in order that the beneficiaries under a previous will might be made parties to the case. These beneficiaries were the mission funds of the Dioceses of Algoma and Huron.
Sarah A. Keffer, a niece of the deceased, and Rev. Evans Davis.

The first witness, Wm. Taylor, husband of the plaintiff, Helen Taylor, deposed that there was insanity in the family of his wife and her sister, Mrs.
Burkholder. Their father was deranged for ten or twelve years previous to his death; their brother Andrew was also insane, and committed suicide. Witness said his wife's memory had failed, but otherwise she seemed to be in fair mental health.

James Smith, of 450 Dufferin avenue, had known Mrs. Burkholder intimately for over 31 years, she having been for some years an inmate of his house.
He would not say she was insane, but she was very peculiar. Her memory failed greatly before her death, and she could not remember old acquaintances, but she remembered her relatives. Mrs. Burkholder had told witness that Rev. Mr. Davis had wanted her to leave her money to missions, and had told her she wanted $2,000 to educate his two sons, telling her that this was mission work. Mrs. Burkholder told witness that she didn't think it was mission work; that she had worked hard for her money, and

Mr. Davis would not get any of it.
Witness said Mrs. Burkholder went to church regularly, but he did not consider her charitable. She had told witness that Mr. Davis had wanted to take her bankbook and take care of her money for her. Mrs. Davis, she said, had once asked her how much money she had in the house, and when she told him $30, he said it was too much for her to keep there.

Miss Margaret Smith, sister of the previous witness, told of the stay at her home of Mrs. Burkholder, and of circumstances connected therewith.
She gave instances showing Mrs. Burkholder's loss of memory. Mrs. Burkholder frequently spoke to witness of her intended disposition of her property, but each time she seemed undecided, and often changed her intentions.

Miss Smith's evidence was followed by that of Mrs. Locke, of London, who, at whose house Mrs. Burkholder was a resident for some time.

KITCHENER HAS CONTROL

Will Devise and Direct Movements in South Africa.

The Country Suffering Terribly From the Devastation Caused by War.

London, Nov. 19.—Lord Kitchener is now for the first time unhampered in carrying on the South African war, and it promises to be widely different than under Lord Roberts. The latter will continue to sign the official dispatches until his departure, but the campaign will be devised and directed by Lord Kitchener alone. He has faced the grim fact that the enemy means the entire population, and has greatly tightened the censorship, while he finds it necessary to carry out certain military police acts more rigorously than under Lord Roberts' regime.

EFFECTS OF WAR.
The Transvaal and the Orange Free State are now opening the second season since a crop was sown, and it is fourteen months since normal imports of foodstuffs ceased. The railways are still broken for several days weekly. These things combined make the feeding of the occupants of the two republics a work of great difficulty, which is increased by the filling of the towns with stores under garrison. These garrisons the inhabitants betray to the commands, who thereby easily replenish their stores, thus making the starving out of the fighting burghers impossible. Lord Kitchener's alternative is the depopulation of the towns, moving every non-military inhabitant toward the coast, where they will be more easily fed, while freeing the army's hands. This movement will involve great time, and it is doubtful if it is feasible.

Lord Kitchener's movements show the fearful desolation to which the war has reduced the countries. The

Any Boys?

If there are boys in the house, or girls either, then croup, coughs, catarrh, bronchitis, and sore throat are sure to be there, too, sooner or later. Don't crowd their stomachs with medicine, just have them breathe in the vapor of Vapo-Cresolene; they'll like it, and it will give immediate relief. In this way you put the medicine right on the place that needs it. For whooping-cough it's the perfect cure.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. The Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a lifetime, and a bottle of Vapo-Cresolene complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Vapo-Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. only hopeful sign is the coming of the Transvaal winter, when the heat will make the tropical visit unbearable. The northernmost commands will have to trek towards the south, where they will meet the British. This will bring Gen. Delany shortly into range of severe fighting. Gen. Dewet has not been heard of, and it is believed that he is advancing toward Ficksburg, which the Boers held.

The people will forgive anything which will bring the fighting to an end and release the great part of the troops. Instead of that, however, the Inniskilling Fusiliers, who returned to England from Natal a few months ago, have been ordered to re-embark for the Cape.

MORE INVALIDS.
The steamer Vancouver brought the following invalided Canadians, who left Halifax for their homes Monday: Sgt. A. J. Winnett, A Company, first contingent, formerly of R. C. D. Pte. A. Gilmore, of D Company, formerly of the 43rd Ottawa and Carleton Rifles; Pte. C. McCulloch, of the G. G. F. G., Ottawa, and Dr. Jay.

ILL AND WOUNDED.
Frederickstadt, Nov. 10.—All Strathcona-Sergeant Watt, R. C. A., is dangerously ill at Watervlaal; Nov. 11, 185, J. Kensely, reported missing, is severely wounded.

Sir Alfred Milner cables from Cape Town, Nov. 18, that Sgt. Duncan, of the Northwest Mounted Police, had his leg broken by a fall from a horse and that No. 33, Treiston, is severely wounded; 132, Read, missing.

CHATHAM WELCOMES PTE. GORRIE.

Chatham welcomed home on Monday one of its sons who fought for the empire. Pte. W. B. Gorrie enlisted in the first contingent and returned home on Monday after having gone through the whole campaign. His reception was enthusiastic, and the citizens participated right royally. Pte. Gorrie was met at the G. T. R. station and escorted by the city council in carriages to the opera house, followed by the city band and the High School Cadets. Through the drizzling rain the procession marched to the opera house, where Acting Mayor Sultman read an address on behalf of the council, and an address was given by Major Rankin. At the Rankin House a company luncheon was tendered by the council, and a purse from the Red Cross Society of the city was presented to the returned hero.

KILLED IN THEIR BLANKETS.
London, Nov. 20.—A correspondent of the Standard writes to that paper that some very erroneous reports of the fight which took place at Faber's Pits, on May 20, have been published. The facts are:

The column under Sir Charles Warren, on the evening of the 26th May, arrived at Faber's Pits, when the men bivouacked. The force consisted of 12 Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, under Major Ogilvie; 23rd and 24th companies, Imperial Yeomanry, which two Colt guns, under Col. Crawley; four companies and Maxim gun detachments of the Duke of Edinburgh's Own Volunteer Rifles, under Col. Spencer; a detachment of Cape Police and Warner's Scouts, under Col. Hughes, and a water supply detachment of the Royal Engineers—a total of about 750.

On the evening of May 29 the pickets and guards were posted as usual, and the whole of the column slept under arms. During the night the enemy, 600 or 700 strong, planned a daring attack on our camp. They picked their horses about half a mile out, and crept up silently into the garden immediately facing the Yeomanry position and Canadian guns, some having taken off their boots to avoid being heard by the Yeomanry pickets, when they unfortunately took prisoners, thus enabling them to remain in that position until the signal of attack was given. A few of these got inside a building alongside the garden, and barricaded and loop-holed the windows under the very nose of the Yeomanry.

SURPRISED THE BRITISH.
About 6 a.m. on the 30th the enemy opened fire on the British camp, their position from the garden and adjoining building enabling them to concentrate a heavy fire on the Yeomanry and Canadians at short range, killing several in their blankets. The Yeomanry horses stampeded, thus harassing their movements. The Canadians bravely attempted to open fire with their guns, but as fast as they tried to serve No. 1 gun they were shot down, five out of six failing to the enemy's fire. The Yeomanry gun section also did their utmost to bring their Colt guns into action; several were killed and wounded in the attempt. Lieut. Brecklebank, commander of the guns, made a last and gallant attempt, but after firing a few shots his gun became jammed, and, therefore useless. At this critical moment the fire of the Duke of Edinburgh's Maxim gun, under Sgt.-Major Pearson, poured a hail of lead into the foremost of the enemy, causing them to vacate the garden. The gunners were then able to bring their guns into action on the now retreating enemy.

FOUGHT BRAVELY.
During this part of the fight the four companies of the Duke of Edinburgh's Rifles held their positions in a courageous manner. Fifty men of the Duke's, supported by another company, under Col. Spence, advanced in skirmishing order and attacked a strong position in the rear of the farm house, forcing the enemy to retire. At this stage Col. Spence fell mortally wounded. This most popular officer was killed when victory was certain. Several others of the Duke of Edinburgh's Rifles fell with him. The command of the infantry now fell upon Major Lewis, who gained the admiration of all his men by the calm

The fight, which lasted a little more than an hour, ended in the complete defeat of the enemy, who had to retire with heavy loss. Excellent work was done by B Company of the Cape Medical Staff Corps, Sgt.-Major Newdick being killed and several men wounded.

A QUEBEC CONTEST.

Lumbago Driven Out Promptly by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec, Nov. 19.—Although Quebec is called "the Gibraltar of America," and well deserves the name, it is no means impregnable against the assaults of Kidney Disease. Fortunately the inhabitants have an ally in Dodd's Kidney Pills that succeeds in driving the enemy out every time it gains an entry.

Some time ago Mr. John Ball of No. 57 Little Champlain street was attacked with Lumbago. He suffered for two years without getting relief from any of the medicines he used. Then he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the first box he used helped him. He used only three boxes, and is now well and strong in every way.

PRO WISES OF PROSPERITY

Characterize the First Meeting of St. Andrew's Society.

Unexampled Success of the Opening Gathering.

Splendid Addresses by Rev. W. J. Clark, T. H. Purdom, Q.C., John Campbell and Others—Gratifying Attendance—Election of Officers.

The Ladies' Aid ye welcomes a', Baith auld and young and big and sma',
Our butt and ben we baith may ca'
Your auld and young and big and sma'.

But let us hint, ere we begin,
We really wish to raise the win',
And houp ye'll think there is nae sin
In this our plan,
We only gather in the tin
To gie't to man.

Let the purport of these verses be applied, in the imagination of the reader, to St. Andrew's Society, and they will convey most excellent understanding of the kindly good-fellowship that was so characteristic of last night's meeting and of this organization's aims, for, taken all in all, there is no society of those that are in London that offers more attractions for membership, that extends more cordial welcome to the newcomer, that takes his hand with warmer grip, than does St. Andrew's, nor is there any that lives closer to the plan of existence suggested in the stanza above. St. Andrew's certainly does "wish to raise the win'," not merely to have a balance, for theirs is generally a small one, nor is it with a desire to spend it in selfish pleasure-seeking, unless as it is because of the existence of this underlying love of country, of pride in the land of birth and forebears, that the society is now flourishing with a prosperity that is unrivaled in its history. No better proof of this vigor could be afforded than last night's meeting, which was probably the most largely attended of any in the society's history. The old leaders who had upheld the society for so many years never gave better proof of the possession of the long heads that Scotsmen are credited with than they did in recognizing that the time had come when the younger men should be given a chance to share in the work. The infusion of young blood and young energy has had its customary effect. The harvest of all Scotsmen, "baith auld and young and big and sma'," was aroused last night—another year was begun with unprecedented success, surely a happy augury for the new century. The presence of a number of young men was especially noticeable. The programme was of a character such as would tempt them to attend all future meetings. It consisted not only of the regular election of officers and consideration of other business, but also of a number of capital speeches and songs. If such gatherings are continued through the winter months, as the intention is, greater interest in things Scottish will assuredly be aroused.

A few of those present were: W. Wanless, president; J. W. Jones, treasurer; J. B. McKillop, vice-president; R. E. McKenzie, secretary. Rev. W. J. Clark, John Cameron, Andrew Templeton, Col. Macbeth, George Angus, M. Armstrong, G. W. Armstrong, George Taylor, J. W. McCallum, John Campbell, Robert Henderson, John T. G. Campbell, John Thom, Duncan, J. W. Martin, Police Magistrate Love, J. THE ANNUAL BANQUET.

It is decided that St. Andrew's day, Friday, November 24th, will be celebrated in the old-fashioned way by having a banquet at the City Hotel. The advisability of engaging Jessie Macgillivray, the Scottish prima donna, to sing on the occasion, was due to the Burns anniversary, was left to the discretion of the entertainment committee.

THE SPEECHES.

During the remainder of the evening the chair was occupied by Mr. Magistrate Love, who first asked Rev. W. J. Clark to speak. He was pleased, he said, at seeing so many at the meeting, and in the success of the Burns anniversary, was left to the discretion of the entertainment committee.

Irish and English intermingled, and the French thrown in also, the product would be a nation greater than the original ones. Canada was bound to grow up into a first-class country. Its foundations were well laid and its future greater than anyone could imagine.

Mr. Walter Fairbairn expressed a few of his reminiscences aroused by the gathering, and he sincerely congratulated St. Andrew's upon the splendid position in which it now is.

Mr. John Cameron suggested that meetings analogous to this one be held every month. If they could hear Scottish songs, were sung by Mr. J. W. McIntosh and Mr. Andrew Templeton, and one unsurpassed in the Dominion.

President-elect McKillop urged the co-operation of both officers and members in making the society prosper. He seconded Mr. Campbell's motion, which carried unanimously. A vote of thanks was also tendered Rev. Mr. Clark.

Much pleasure was given those present during the evening by the Scotch songs, which were sung by Mr. J. W. McIntosh and Mr. Andrew Templeton.

Capt. G. A. Fedman, who assisted in the capture of Jefferson Davis, the Confederate president, is dead in Ohio.

Martin Irons, who directed the great Missouri Pacific strike in the eighties, is dead in Bruceville, Tex.

Rev. D. E. Stuart, who is wanted by the police of Wyoming, Pa., in connection with the death of his wife, was arrested Monday night at Philadelphia.

Peter O. Johnson killed himself and his 8-year-old son George with carbolic acid in Chicago, because his divorced wife had obtained the custody of the boy.

Millie Fawkes, a 16-year-old girl, residing with her parents at 33 Louise street, Toronto, was awakened Sunday morning by a burglar in her room. She screamed, the burglar made for the door and stunned the girl's father, who had come to her aid. Then the fellow, who proved to be a big negro, was nabbed by a policeman.

A huge reservoir on the top of Unger Bros' jewelry establishment in New York City burst. The water smashed through the roof and deluged every floor. The 200 employees at work when the break occurred became panic-stricken and made a rush for the exits. All were thoroughly drenched, but no one was injured.

The majority of intelligent people know that rich, pure and highly vitified blood alone can give health and build up the tissues that have been worn out. New and fresh blood carries the materials for restoring wasted and worn-out parts of the body and gives to the brain other materials for making nerve matter.

Pain's Celery Compound cleanses and purifies the blood and furnishes appropriate food for every part of the system. It increases the appetite, perfects digestion, gives nervous energy and increased strength.

If your blood is impure, if the skin has spots and eruptions, if you have an unhealthy pallor or yellow appearance, and if the eyes are showing yellowish whites, you should use Pain's Celery Compound without delay to cleanse the blood and regulate the liver and kidneys of the strain that is brought upon them whenever impure blood pours through their sphincters.

Mr. M. D. Arthur, Chelmsford, Ont., writes as follows: "I was laid up with sores all over my face and neck, the result of blood poisoning. While in that condition I could not sleep at night, had no appetite, and could not attend to my work. The doctors in my district and their medicines did not benefit me. My aunt advised me to use Pain's Celery Compound. In two weeks I was so much better that I could go out, and in three weeks I was able to work again. I bless the day I commenced with Pain's Celery Compound."

A long face is very apt to be in partnership with a long conscience. DIFFERENCES OF OPINION regarding the popular internal and external remedy, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—do not, so far as known, exist. The testimony is positive and concurrent that the article relieves physical pain, cures lameness, checks a cough, is an excellent remedy for pains and rheumatic complaints, and it has no nauseating or other unpleasant effect when taken internally.

The Unrest in France.

During the last thirty years France has had many times of difficulty and unrest, and there have been times when it has looked as if the Republic would not last another day. Still it has held on its way, and appeared to grow stronger. The timbers of the ship have creaked, but it has outlived several fierce storms. One thing seems to be clear, and that is the influence of Paris is less, and that a mob raising a row in the streets of the capital city will not be able to do as much damage as in the olden time. In these days of quick-firing guns, the business of barricade building is more dangerous. There is, then, less likelihood of a mob gathering in Paris and less chance of it upsetting the Republic if it does gather. Still, there is plenty of inflammable material, which may cause much trouble to the present Government. One point just now which the agitators are trying to make is that the Government has not properly guarded the military secrets; that America by unfair means has got to know all about the new quick-firing gun; that there is another Dreyfus somewhere about. One would have thought that the people were by this time very sick of the Dreyfus business, and that they would not have anything more of that kind for some time to come. However, those who want to rouse ill-feeling know how to play upon those prejudices and force agitation. This is a miserable affair, this constant watching of each other by the nations for fear that one gets the slightest military advantage. It would be well if they were as fully bent on learning from each other the noblest things in education, art and political life. But we can scarcely think our American cousins would be guilty of this kind of stealing, especially as they are the equals of any nation in invention. The Government of France is not likely to be forced into trouble with America by the gutter press of Paris.

The other point of danger is the Kruger visit. Kruger, fleeing from his country with all the gold he could remove, does not seem to Britishers to be a very heroic figure, but the French seem inclined to make a hero of him. We cannot see that such proceedings will do either him or them much good, as it is merely an exhibition of ill temper towards their near neighbor. We have always regretted the folly of Kruger and the war party of the Transvaal, but we must say that if France had been in Britain's position there would probably have been an explosion much sooner. France and England are near neighbors; their commercial relationships are close and important; a quarrel between these two centers would be a bad thing for both; so we hope that English Journalists will not make too much of the present excitement, and will make it as easy as possible for the present cabinet to pull through the crisis. Mr. Kruger has surely managed to do sufficient damage; it would be a pity to allow him to do more. It is hopeless for any European Government to interfere now on behalf of the Boers. Whatever different opinions may have developed as to the details of this struggle, the credit of the Empire is staked on not allowing outside interference at this stage. So the best and worst wish we have for the ex-president of the Transvaal is that he will soon find a quiet haven and retire from international politics.

Elections Investigation.

Some of the Opposition contemporaries are now frantically objecting to the reassembling of the Judicial Election Commission. What is the use, they ask, seeing the elections proposed to be inquired into are long since past?

This is one way of trying to break away from responsibility for the charges which the leaders of the Conservative party on press and platform have made. They asserted that they had abundance of evidence to prove that, while their side had been pure as the driven snow, the Government supporters, in conducting elections within the last few years, had been most corrupt. The Prime Minister took them at their word, when they said they were ready to prove their case up to the hilt. He provided a commission of judges last midsummer, and asked the Opposition leaders to bring forward their accusations. The commission advertised for all and sundry who had accusations to make to come forward. A sitting was held months ago, but, despite the loud outcry of the Opposition, not a tittle of evidence against anyone did they lay before the judges charged with a full and complete inquiry. The judges had other work to do, and adjourned the meeting of the commission. Then the Opposition traduced their opponents became pot vantage, and charged that the Government was attempting to smother investigation till after the general election. The fact, however, was that the investigation was postponed because the accusers failed to bring forward any testimony in support of their charges. The judges could very well have declared then and there that there was nothing for them to do but report a clean sheet, as no one lodged any accusation. They, however, resolved to give the parties another chance, and adjourned the sitting till this month.

Now, when it is reported they are still ready for business, do we find the one time wholesale makers of charges of corruption ready with their evidence? On the contrary, we now find them inclined to tunk, and their organs making light of the inquiry, and calling it a "farce." If there is anything farcical about the proceedings, it is the conduct of these politicians who have for years been denouncing the Government and those elected to support it as corrupt, and then, when asked to prove their accusations under oath, where they can be held responsible for their statements, declaring their anxiety to get away from the whole matter as speedily as possible, and denouncing those as insincere who have so promptly provided them with a legal means of making good those charges which, under cover of parliamentary and legislative privilege, they so glibly made.

A Grave Situation.

The situation in the Province of Ontario is very grave, and the Liberal party must everywhere wake up to the condition of things that exists. The current is running so as to form political sentiments that are wholly out of keeping with our age, and which ought not to find a place in the minds of the electorate in any British colony in the last year of the nineteenth century. If we were living in an age in which the military aid of the Empire was invoked for the purpose of establishing Roman Catholic ascendancy, we could understand the spirit which pervades a portion of the electorate in some parts of the country; but, as it is, that spirit is wholly irrelevant to the important questions that require solution at the present time. In almost every district of the country the question has been put by agents of the Opposition, with great earnestness, "Are you alive to the dangers by which we are threatened? We have a prime minister who is of French origin and of Roman Catholic faith. Quebec is now in the ascendant, and there is danger to the empire and to the Protestant religion." And so both political and religious intolerance are appealed to, and the most has been doing in their ashes have been blown into a flame by men who had not the courage to openly defend the wrong in which they are engaged. What has happened in a number of the constituencies of this province goes to show that the Protestant feeling has been appealed to, and them out has been made of the fact that many are unable to distinguish between prejudice and patriotism. At the very time that the leaders of the Liberal party were maligning and misrepresented, furious demands were made upon them by the "Irish Canadian" and one or two other journals for appointments to public offices, with an intimation that if the goods demanded were not delivered there would be a union with those who were asking the electorate everywhere whether they were ready to give their support to a party whose leader was a Papist and whose race were the fiercest enemies of the British in all Europe.

The Reform party had indeed a most difficult road to travel. They were threatened from opposite quarters, and it remains to be seen whether the appeals to race and religion which have been secretly made with so much success will help the Tory party, which depends for success upon racial and religious prejudices that by assiduous cultivation are being developed into formidable proportions. It is to be hoped that fair minded men of both the Protestant and the Roman Catholic faith will discountenance so mischievous a policy and will not permit the question of creed to help or to hurt them in the public service.

The more that men of light and leading from Ontario and Quebec come to know one another, the better each is likely to appreciate the other. Ignorance of others is a prolific parent of prejudice. We would suggest that Ontario's public men should speak frequently in Quebec, and Quebec's public men speak frequently in Ontario, and what is true respecting intercourse between Ontario and Quebec, is equally true as regards all the Provinces.

Great Britain, during the past year, has obtained 3,020,000 gallons of petroleum from the United States and 2,540,000 gallons from Russia. When the shrewd Britisher found that the United States producer was inclined to charge him too much for his oil supply, he immediately turned his attention to Russia, and got possession of some of the best oil fields, with the result here stated. Britain's policy of trade freedom enables her to combat monopolies most successfully.

The London Free Press continues to pretend that the fact of Ontario having the one-man-one-vote system, while in Quebec a man may vote in as many constituencies as he qualifies, is "an injustice to Ontario." Could anything be sillier? Quebec would not be able to send to Parliament a man more if her every resident had twenty votes. The Free Press knows this well; it but seeks to work upon the ignorant among whom it worked the race cry. —Hamilton Times.

Our contemporary's race cry did not work in this city, though it was tried hard enough.

The Premier's Birthday.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier will be 59 years old next Saturday. The Prime Minister will be felicitated on the event by many thousands of friends throughout Canada. In the natural order of things, he has 20 years or more of good work for his country before him. He is 20 years the junior of Sir Charles Tupper, whom the electors have just forced out of public life, and if he takes reasonable care of his energies, as all patriots hope he will, we may expect to have him long spared to occupy the high and honorable position which the large majority of Canadians are so well pleased to have him fill.

The Scotland of Canada.

It has often been said that you can easily take all the Scotch Conservative members up to London in one first-class carriage (holding about six). This might with equal truth be said of Quebec. You could easily take all the Conservative members from Quebec to Ottawa in a first-class carriage.

A REGENCY FOR RUSSIA

Czar's Uncle May Run the Empire for a While.

Thirty-Seven Turks Drowned in the Black Sea—Germans Import Great Lots of Whisky.

Paris, Nov. 20.—The Dix-Neuvieme Siecle prints a special from St. Petersburg, saying that the physicians having announced that the illness of the czar will continue for some time, a regency is under consideration, to act until his complete recovery. The Grand Duke Vladimir, uncle of the czar, it is added, is mentioned as regent.

Livadia, Nov. 19.—The Czar continues to improve in health.

London, Nov. 20.—All the available news concerning the Emperor Nicholas continues favorable.

ONLY ONE SAVED.

London, Nov. 20.—The Daily Express publishes the following from Odessa: A party of 38 Turks, wishing to leave Russia, secretly sailed at the dead of night from Schursku to cross the Black Sea. A storm arose and the boat filled. First the baggage was thrown overboard, then the children, and finally the women were committed to the seas, but this did not prevent the vessel from foundering, and all perished save one lad, who clung to the mast and was washed ashore.

GERMANS WANT WHISKY.

According to the report of United States Commissioner of Internal Revenue Wilson, more distilled spirits are exported from the United States to Germany than to any other foreign country. For the year ending Jan. 30, 1900, 41,489 gallons of bourbon and 137,578 gallons of rye whisky were sent to the German empire. Africa buys more rum from the United States and leads the list in the importation of that article, having been supplied with 357,769 gallons. England ranks next in the consumption of American rum, with 303,324 gallons.

NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—One of the most cherished ideas of the Slavophile publicists is to detach Italy from the triple alliance, as a writer in the Rossiya, one of the newer of the St. Petersburg journals, proposes to accomplish this, and to overcome the influence of Austria in the Balkans at one stroke. He suggests that Russia shall put Italy in the way of securing a foothold or, perhaps, even dominant influence in Albania. The Rossiya thinks it sees indications of a possible reconstruction of the triple alliance with England in the place of Austria. The natural result would be that Russia would have much easier sailing in the Balkans.

DECORATION SCANDAL.

Paris, Nov. 20.—The alleged decorations scandal was discussed in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. The reactionary press has hinted for several days past the unpleasant exposure regarding trafficking in decorations. Finally it was said that M. Jean de Crais, son of the minister of the colonies, had been paid 2,000 francs

"Badly Crippled."

Rheumatism at its worst is a sort of living death. It chains a man to a chair or binds him to a bed, and metes out to him a daily martyrdom. At the best rheumatism is a painful malady, interfering alike with pleasure and business.

To cure rheumatism it is necessary to eliminate from the blood the acid poisons which are the cause of the disease. This is effectively done by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It carries out of the blood the corrupt and poisonous accumulations which breed and feed disease. It increases the activity of the blood-making glands and sends an increased supply of rich, pure blood through vein and artery to strengthen every organ of the body.

"I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed," writes Mr. R. J. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg Co., S. C. "I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me much good. The pain in my back, hips and legs and at times in my head, would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four vials of 'Felix's,' and today my health is good after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are powerful aids to the cleansing of the clogged system. By all dealers in medicine.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Multum in Parvo.

Ontario is Safe for Premier George W. Ross—The Recount in Bruce North.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M.P.P., Liberal whip in the legislature, expresses himself as perfectly undismayed as far as the provincial elections are concerned by the Ontario result. "Of course, we were disappointed," he said, "We had the best of the argument on every platform in the campaign. It never was so easy in Canada to speak in favor of a government and answer the charges brought against it. But the campaign of the opposition was a damnable one. They advanced the race cry with great energy, especially at the last. Their cry was 'Vote against Laurier and the pope,' and already there are symptoms that they regret the action. To gain a temporary advantage they did themselves permanent harm. They won't use that cry in an Ontario election. In 1878, the Liberal party was apparently swamped in Ontario as everywhere else. In 1879 Oliver Mowat obtained the large electoral majority had—32, only a ragged remnant of the Conservative party being left in the legislature for years. There is no reason for Ontario Liberals to be downcast. The gerrymander takes fifteen seats from us in the federal election and with work and an application of the lesson in vigilance we have just received, there can be only one result when the Ontario elections come on."

NOVA SCOTIA BYE-ELECTIONS.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 20.—Writes have been issued for the local bye-elections in Pictou, Halifax and Cape Breton counties. Nominations will be made on Dec. 5, and the polling will be held on Dec. 12.

NOTES.

The North Bruce recount held on Monday before Judge Klein resulted in a majority of one for McNeill, the Conservative candidate.

The recount in the Selkirk election commenced Monday. Ten polls increase McCreary's (Lib.) majority by one so far.

In the Rhineland bye-election for Manitoba Legislature (Man.), Winkler (Lib.) was elected by fourteen majority.

Besides Mr. Thornton's there are two other cases of making an election deposit by check instead of cash. Mr. Lang (Lib.), East Peterboro, and Mr. Cochrane (Con.), of East Northumberland, are affected.

Messrs. W. A. Gallier (Liberal), John MacKane (Conservative), and Chris. Foley (Labor), were nominated for the Commons for Yale-Cariboo.

AMERICAN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—A feature of today's board of trade session was the flurry in November corn. Fears of a corner in that option caused an advance at one time of 3 1/2c. The close was at 1 1/2c net advance. Leading futures in wheat and corn, though opening firm, were later affected by a big increase in the visible supply, and closed weak, December wheat 1/2c lower and December corn 1/2c lower. December wheat opened at 71 1/2c to 71 3/4c compared with Saturday's closing price of 70 1/2c. It sold at 71 1/2c, then declined irregularly to 70 1/2c, where it closed. Estimated receipts today: Wheat, 175 cars; corn, 900 cars; oats, 250 cars; hogs, 32,000 head.

The leading futures closed as follows: Wheat—Nov. 70 1/2c; Dec. 70 1/2c; Jan. 71 1/2c to 71 3/4c. Corn—No. 2, Nov. 21 1/2c; Dec. 21 1/2c to 21 3/4c. Oats—No. 2, Nov. 21 1/2c; Dec. 21 1/2c to 21 3/4c. Mess Pork, Nov. $10 50; Jan. $11 00; May, $11 50. Lard—Nov. $12 1/2c

Dec. $6 95; Jan. $6 85; May, $6 87 1/2. Short ribs—Nov. $7 62 1/2; Jan. $6 25; May, $6 27. Cash quotations: Flour, easy. No. 1 white wheat, 67c to 71 1/2c; No. 2 red, 71c to 74c. No. 2 corn, 40 1/2c to 40 3/4c; No. 2 yellow corn, 40 1/2c to 40 3/4c. No. 2 white oats, 25c to 25 1/2c. White, 23 1/2c to 25 1/2c. No. 2 rye, 46 1/2c in store. Good feeding barley, 45c to 50c; fair to choice making, 50c. No. 1 rye, $1 04 1/2 to $1 08 1/2. Northwestern, $1 04. Prime timothy seed, $4 20. Mess pork, $10 50 to $10 65 1/2. Lard, $7 17 1/2 to $7 20. Short, rib sides, $7 25 to $7 75. Dry salted shoulders, 55c to 57c. Short clear sides, $6 75 to $6 85. Sugar, unchanged. Clover, $10. Hops, 15c to 20c.

RECEIPTS.—Flour, 13,000 barrels; wheat, 131,000 bushels; corn, 337,000 bushels; oats, 187,000 bushels; rye, 4,000 bushels; barley, 55,000 bushels.

The mistake generally made in treating lung diseases is in treating the effects of the disease instead of the disease itself. Consumption is in the blood and the lungs are the natural organs for throwing off the poison. It is quite useless to merely stop the coughing or even to heal the lungs while the disease remains in the system because the relief is only temporary. Shiloh's Consumption Cure does away the coughing and soothes the irritated surfaces of the lungs, but it cures consumption because it gives to the blood the power to destroy and throw off the germs.

"Shiloh" is sold on the express condition that you may have your money back if it fails to produce satisfactory results. You can get "Shiloh" wherever medicine is sold. In Canada and United States 25c, and $1.00 a bottle. Great Britain 1s/6d, 2s/6d and 4s/6d.

SCENES IN THE REICHSTAG

The Chancellor Scored by Bebel and Lieber.

Von Gossler, Minister of War, Makes an Unfortunate Speech—Winter in Russia.

EMPEROR FREDERICK'S BIRTHDAY.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—The birthday of Emperor Frederick was quietly commemorated at Cronberg, Emperor William was present at the celebration.

WINTER AT HAND IN RUSSIA.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 20.—Ice has started to move down the Neva, and the movable bridges have been removed today. Another indication of the approach of winter is the opening of soup kitchens in Odessa.

THE KAISER'S ASSAILANT.
Berlin, Nov. 20.—The preliminary hearing in the case of the woman, Selma Schnapke, who recently made an attempt on the emperor's life at Breslau, resulted in the prisoner being ordered to be sent to an asylum for observation.

KING OSCAR'S CONDITION.
Berlin, Nov. 20.—A special dispatch to the Associated Press from Stockholm says it is rumored that King Oscar II. has had two slight paralytic strokes. His present condition, however, is not alarming. He drives daily and is out of doors considerably.

THE BRITISH WAR LOAN.

London, Nov. 20.—The Daily Telegraph makes the following announcement: "We learn that the government will not ask more than $50,000,000 of the war loan in December. The question of the full amount, and that of the Transvaal loan will be decided later."

BLAMED THE CUNARD.

London, Nov. 20.—The judgment of the admiralty court was rendered today in the action brought by the owners of the British bark Embleton, to recover damages for the sinking of that vessel by the Cunard liner steamer Campania in July last, during a heavy fog. The court found that the Campania's speed was excessive, and that the sinking of the Embleton and judgment was pronounced accordingly. The Cunard Company intends to make an appeal.

IN THE REICHSTAG.

Berlin, Nov. 20.—Yesterday's session of the reichstag was attended by a large crowd. The court and diplomatic guests were present. Count von Buelow's reception was decidedly cold; only once was there hearty applause, when the chancellor admitted that the government had asked indemnity from China. That name applause was remarkable. Herr Lieber, Centrist, and Herr Bebel, Socialist, both severely condemned the government for violation of the constitution, incurring the expenses in China without having first obtained the consent of the parliament, and for creating the China colonial army.

Herr Lieber sharply criticized the emperor for his "no pardon" speech, declaring a campaign of revenge, and saying that the emperor's action when he declared faulty the empire's constitution, which did not provide specific punishment for a chancellor who violated it. The constitution, he said, alone prevented the emperor's action. Herr Bebel also branded as inhuman the German methods of warfare in China, and read a score of letters from soldiers proving the charges made.

Gen. Von Gossler, minister of war, made a most unfortunate speech. He said the Huns once devastated Europe, and now was the time for historic retribution in China, and he called it a lucky circumstance that the army had a chance to avenge the war.

Lola's Secret,

A Romance.

"That is the face I remember," she cried. "Oh, mamma, it comes back to me so vividly! He had a soft, kind voice, too. I thought he was my father. I should know him in a moment if I saw him. What a handsome face it is, and how like Gertrude's. Why, mamma, anyone would know that Gertrude was Sir Karl's daughter."

But Gertrude gazed on in silence. "Mamma," she said at last, "a man with a face like that could not have done what you think papa has done. How could you doubt him? These eyes are clear, true and honest. They have never drooped with shame. What a noble face! Every line of it is full of goodness and honor. I pray heaven that I may see him! Oh, mamma, if I might but hope to see him, to hold his hand, to hear his voice!"

"You must remember, my dear," said Dolores, "that your father left us; we did not leave him." "I shall never believe anything of him, mamma," replied she. "Never, while I live! His disappearance was mysterious—I acknowledge that—but I am convinced that father's name is untarnished. Do not think so, Kathleen?"

"I always think as mamma thinks," answered Kathleen. I could not pretend to judge. Mamma knows best. "Mamma is a darling; but this time she has made a mistake," cried Gertrude. "And some day she will acknowledge it. I wish I had been grown up when the trouble came. I would have never left the place. I would have employed the cleverest detectives in England and France."

"My dearest Gertrude," said Dolores, "there was not a stone left unturned. My father and Lord Rhymsworth did everything that could be done." "I am not reproaching you, dearest," returned Gertrude. "You would have worked harder and longer if it had not been for that false, treacherous letter which made you believe your efforts in search of the truth when they were most needed."

But the girl began to see that not even her firm faith in her father could influence her mother. She was startled, but still unconvinced. Gertrude read that in her mother's face. It only strengthened her resolve that had changed her from a child to a woman. "Let me keep the portrait, mother," she said, "for a short time, will you? If ever the dream and hope of my life are realized, I will give it back to you framed in diamonds. One look at the pictured face will give me strength to do anything and everything."

So, far into the night, they sat talking of the same mystery which sixteen years before had thrilled all England. Gertrude, although full of hope and faith, had no satisfactory answer when Dolores asked:

"Where can he be? If he did not go away with her—at her request—where can he be? Ah, Gertrude, who shall answer my question?"

"I will, mamma. Some time or other before I die I will answer it without fail."

Then Gertrude kissed her mother and said they must all go to rest.

"Have you decided, mamma?" she asked. "Shall you see Lady Fielden tomorrow?"

"Yes, I think so. She was very kind to me, and I liked her very much; I cannot refuse to see her. And yet it will be a terrible trial to me."

You must not look at it in that way, mamma. You must believe that the hand of heaven has sent Lady Fielden hither, and that perhaps through her coming my father's innocence may be established."

So the girls and their mother parted, but not to sleep. Dolores was too excited. She trembled at the idea of seeing her friend again. She knew the rush of pain, the bitter burning memories that would come over her at the sight of the well-remembered face. Years before, when the blow had fallen on her, she had met it on her knees, praying for health and strength. So she prayed now. Heaven had taken pity on her, and would do so again. As for Gertrude, with flushed face and burning eyes she paced up and down her room, talking vehemently to Kathleen. Once she threw her white arms round Kathleen's neck.

"To think," she cried, "that after all we are only half-sisters! How strange it seems!"

"But we shall love each other just the same," returned Kathleen. "It will make no difference. We are both mamma's children, you know; and Gertrude, when I was little I loved your father very much indeed. I can remember him quite well, so that you must love me even more on that account."

"I do not think I could love you better," said Gertrude; and then she talked of her father, and of what she intended to do.

"I thought only last week, Kathleen, how pleased I should be when we went to more balls and parties, and saw more of life, and when I saw that handsome young Englishman today in the park, I felt as if I had found a lover—so young and handsome! Did you see his eyes, Kathleen? But now I shall never give a thought to anything of the kind again. I feel as if this one single night has changed me from a girl to a woman, with a great wrong to set right."

"But, Gertrude, you are not serious. You do not mean that you will give up your life to clear up a mystery which has puzzled older and wiser heads than yours?"

"My dear, I will. I shall live for it. Do you not love the memory of your father, Kathleen?"

"Yes; but I never saw him. I have only the instinctive love that I suppose every child has. I think—nay, I am quite sure—that I love your father best. But, Gertrude, darling, do not fix all your hopes on fathoming this mystery. Depend upon it, mamma knows best. It would be a pity to spoil your life. Remember, three have been ruined already; do not add yours to the number. What a strange story it is! And we have lived here sixteen years in happy ignorance of it all!"

"It is like a romance," said Gertrude. "But you must recollect something of it—the names and the faces. Do you remember Harry well?"

"Yes—him and your father best of all. And I remember a large house full of pleasures and with great trees all round it."

"If I had known Harry when I was four years old I should never have forgotten him," declared Gertrude. "Did he really love me so much when I was only a weak little baby? How good of him! Kathleen, how little we know what a day will bring! How little we know! When he started for the Pitt Palace, I thought all this would result from our visit! And mamma must have told us soon. We could not have lived here until we were old women. I do never complain; but in reality I am just a little bit tired of the monotony, sweet as it is, of the Villa Baira. Kathleen, what a dear English name that friend of yours, Harry, has! He is the ideal Englishman one reads about—fair, honest and true!"

"You take a great deal for granted, Gertrude," laughed Kathleen Rhymsworth, and Gertrude turned away with an impatient gesture.

SURPRISING RESULTS.

A Simple Internal Remedy Makes Remarkable Cures of Catarrh.

People who have used spray, inhalers, catarrh washes for catarrh and have found how useless and inconvenient they are, will be agreeably surprised at results following the use of a pleasant, internal remedy in tablet form, Dr. Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which they sell at 50 cents for full-sized treatment, is the most effective and popular of all catarrh remedies.

Nearly all cheap cough mixtures and throat lozenges contain opiates. These cheap medicines give a temporary relief, especially with little children, by destroying nerve sensation; the irritation in throat, which causes coughing, is temporarily removed, not by removing the cause, but by deadening the nerves of feeling, the irritation is not felt, although it is still there, and will promptly return.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is the best remedy to remove catarrhal secretion, whether in the nose, throat or stomach, because they are composed of wholesome antiseptics like Eucalyptol, Guaiacol, Sanguinaria and Hydrastin; when you use these tablets you know what you are putting into your system, and not taking chances with cocaine, opiates, or similar poisons, found in so many catarrh cures and cough medicines.

Dr. Ramsdell, in commenting on catarrh cures, says: "I can heartily recommend Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because they contain no cocaine nor other dangerous drug found in so many advertised catarrh cures. I have known of many cases of long standing catarrh of the head and throat completely cured by the daily use of these tablets for several weeks. On one case in particular, which I could not reach with an inhaler or spray, and where the catarrh caused daily headaches and a noticeable loss of hearing, was entirely cured by this harmless but effective remedy."

Dr. Wainwright says: "I never hesitate to prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for catarrhal headaches and catarrhal deafness, because I know them to be perfectly safe for child or adult and have seen more remarkable cures resulting from their regular daily use, because they are advertised and sold in drug stores in all reason why any good physician should not use them, because we should seize upon the cure wherever found."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are especially valuable for catarrhal colds in children, because they are pleasant to the taste, and may be used freely to break up severe colds and croup at the very beginning.

All druggists sell the remedy at 50 cents for full-sized package. A little book on cause and cure of catarrh mailed free by addressing the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

American League Magnates Hold An Important Meeting.

BASEBALL.
AMERICAN LEAGUE MAGNATES.
Chicago, Nov. 19.—The American League baseball headquarters were today the scene of an important meeting of the league magnates. Urged on by the recent rumors to the effect that Buffalo might be minus a franchise next season, President Franklin joined the anxious class. He spent the day with President J. C. Stebbins of the Pan-American Exposition, and dilating on the great baseball season. He already has secured several privileges for the big show, and contends that the advantages of his park practically give him a monopoly on the exposition baseball privileges. It now seems that Franklin's wishes may be respected, and that the Bisons will make the eighth club in the circuit. It is highly probable that this may result in the formation of another league, including Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Paul and Omaha or Des Moines in the west, and Louisville, Indianapolis, Toledo, Grand Rapids or Dayton in the east. This proposition is being urged by J. C. Stebbins, of Toledo, and might cause for the three cities dropped from the American organization.

FOOTBALL.
WILL PRACTICE TONIGHT.

Every playing member of the London football club is requested to turn out for practice at the St. John's A. C. gymnasium at 8 o'clock sharp this (Tuesday) evening. The team needs some hard work to get into shape for the big game with Montreal next Saturday for the championship of Canada. It is assured that the team will go to the Royal City to play McGill for the highest honors in Canadian football. Already the Chatham and Glencoe teams have been liberal subscribers to, and today another effort will be made to raise sufficient funds to make it sure that the club can make the trip. There is little doubt that their efforts will be crowned with success.

RESULTED IN A DRAW.
Chatham, Nov. 17.—The Chatham and Glencoe Association football teams played a hotly-contested game here today. Chatham won by two goals to none. This made Chatham and Glencoe even in the result of the playing of the eastern schedule and both teams played half an hour longer, but neither side scored, and another game will be played, probably next week, in Detroit. The winners will play the Walkerville team, which holds the championship in the western district for this season. The successful club receives possession of the Walker trophy, which the Canadian team won in the spring series.

PISTIC WILL STOP BOXING.

Toronto, Nov. 19.—Wm. Davis, owner of the auditorium, Bijou Theater, has decreed that the Chatham Athletic Club shall hold no more boxing bouts in that building. Towards this end he has instructed his lawyer to give the club one week's notice to quit. The building was hired from Mr. Davis for the season on the understanding that either party could call off the contract at one week's notice. This action was taken at the instance of the General Ministerial Association, who represented to Mr. Davis that some citizens had taken offense at the Saturday night boxing bouts, and wished that steps be taken to prohibit them. Mr. Davis said that while he was not opposed to boxing for the development of mankind, he did not believe these fights tended to elevate the public morals.

EASY FOR THE AMERICAN.

London, Nov. 20.—At the National

Sporting Club last evening, what was to have been a 15-round contest took place between Billy Smith, of New York, and Bill Fielder, of London, the affair coming to an abrupt termination in the second round with an easy victory for the American. In the course of the evening Kid McCoy was introduced. He was well received, and announced that he intended to spend the winter in England.

HOCKEY.
WOODSTOCK CLUB ORGANIZED.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 19.—The Park Hockey Club organized tonight for the coming season. They have become affiliated with the Bohemian Club, of this town, and will hereafter be known by that name. The officers elected are: Patron, Hon. J. J. Langman; president, J. J. Langman; vice-president, G. W. McKee; secretary-treasurer, W. L. Kyle; manager, George W. Price. A delegate will be sent to the meeting of the O. H. A. in Toronto on Dec. 1.

THE TURF.
NEW YORK HORSE SHOW.

New York, Nov. 19.—The gates of Madison Square Garden were opened this forenoon, the flag bearing the National Horse Show Association colors, orange and black, was run up on the building, and Bugler Harry Wilcox blew a blast on a trumpet to announce the commencement of the sixteenth annual exhibition. As against 1,500 entries last year, there are nearly 1,500 this season.

In the afternoon 38 carriage horses, under class 45, were taken into the ring and lined up before the judges. These animals were driven to High Park carts or park wagons. They were hitched singly. In class 102, composed of 62 hunters or jumpers, the following were prize-winners: Heatherbloom, bay gelding, exhibited by the Gedney Farm, first prize, $150; Richmond, roan gelding, exhibited by Hart Bros., second prize, $75; Homplie, roan gelding, exhibited by Miss Mary Murchison, third prize, $35. In the group of 17 ponies under the saddle, Kitty, chestnut mare, exhibited by George D. Widener, first prize; E. V. Hunter's, allu got second prize; Thomas L. Lee's Gowan got third prize. Class 12, hunters and jumpers—First prize, Heatherbloom, bay gelding, exhibited by Gedney Farm, ridden by Donnelly; Class 80, ponies—First prize, Kitty, chestnut mare, exhibited and ridden by George D. Widener. Class 46, carriage horses, heavy-weight—First prize, Altomont, bay gelding, exhibited and driven by James W. Cooke. Class 72, saddle horses—First prize, Lady Constance, black mare, exhibited and ridden by Harry Peters. Class 113, twenty pairs of harness horses, open only to animals never having taken a prize—First prize, Fleetwood, bay mare, and Melrose, bay gelding, exhibited and driven by Joseph E. Widener. Class 58, four-hand teams, not under 14 hands, shown to coach, drag or body brake—First prize, Brandon, Belmar, Flaxwood and Belle, exhibited by the Gerkenfeld Farm, driven by Mr. Batony.

AT BENNING.
Washington, Nov. 19.—Springlike weather prevailed today, bringing out a large crowd to Benning. Four favorites won, in most cases without much effort.

First race, 5½ furlongs—Lady Contrary 1, Mordemo 2, Lexington Pirate 3.
Second race, 2-year-olds, 6 furlongs—Sadie S. 1, Queen Carnival 2, Gracious 3.
Third race, selling, 1 mile and 40 yards—Speedmas 1, Petit Maitre 2, Charawind 3.
Fourth race, 2-year-olds, selling, 6 furlongs—The Puritan 1, Lecturer 2, Novelty 3.
Fifth race, maidens, mile and 60 yards—Draughtsman 1, Perion 2, Old Tank 3.
Sixth race, selling, mile and 70 yards—Oneck Queen 1, Oread 2, Hardly 3.

TOONERVOUS TO SLEEP.

Many Pale, Weak Men and Women Find Themselves Daily Growing Weaker and Fast Approaching Nervous Collaps and Prostration—Their Only Hope Is In the Use of

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

In sleep and rest alone can nature repair the daily waste of the body and store up the energies required for the duties of the day following. If the nerve system is exhausted, and you lie awake, longing for morning to come, you know that you will arise tired and worn out, and one day nearer to nervous collapse, nervous prostration or paralysis.

Sleeplessness, irritability, headache, neuralgia, loss of energy and ambition, confusion of the mental powers, and feelings of lassitude and despondency are among the indications of an exhausted nervous system.

The first thought is to take some opiate to induce sleep, a grave error, indeed, against which many nervous and physical wreck could warn you. There is no rest, no restoration in sleep, or rather unconsciousness, produced by opiates, and the deadening effect on the nerves merely hastens paralysis or prostration.

The most natural and most thorough nerve restorative obtainable is that which is known as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills). It gets right down to the foundation of disease, and by forming new, red corpuscles in the blood, by rebuilding the vitality of the exhausted nerve cells, gradually and perfectly restores new life and vigor to the weak and run-down system.

There is no guesswork, no experimenting, no doubt, no faith, when you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills). It is composed of the elements of nature, which go to form new nerve tissue, and can no more fail than can the laws of nature.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills) is no miracle worker. Though many cures brought about by its use were truly miraculous, it was after the treatment for many weeks or months as the case required. You can be absolutely assured of a restored and revitalized nervous system if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food (pills) according to directions. The phenomenal growth in the sales of this great restorative are the strongest evidence of its wonderful merit. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Imitators do not dare to reproduce the portrait and signature of Dr. Chase, which are on every box of the genuine.

A LOCAL BUDGET.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Spettigue took place to Mount Pleasant Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

—Miss Gertrude Howey, No. 3 Surrey avenue, West London, is visiting friends at Alisa Craig and Parkhill.

—General Manager Hays and General Superintendent McGuigan, of the Grand Trunk Railway, went west through here yesterday.

—Tenders are in for the erection of a four-story building, an addition to the McCleary works. The dimensions of the new building will be about 50x80. A four-story story is to be put on to another building.

—Mr. Thomas W. Tracey died last night at St. Joseph's Hospital. He had been ill for several weeks with typhoid fever, but was supposed to be recovering, when he suffered a relapse. He was probably the best known barber in the city and had many friends. He leaves a widow and family of young children. Mr. Hugh Sharkey is a half-brother of deceased.

—The speaker at the remaining Sunday afternoon meetings at the Auditorium are: Joseph Gibson, postmaster, Ingersoll, "Essentials of Religion"; John P. Moore, New York City, special railroad service; W. G. Smith, Detroit, superintendent of the Canadian division American Express Company; Rev. Elmore Harris, Toronto, president Toronto Bible Training School; Rev. C. H. Yattman, New York City, "The Christian's Duty"; and Rev. Walter Russell, B.A., Bristol, Que.

—A writ has been issued in the high court of justice in an action against Leonard Brooks, lot 20, con. 1, London township, for the specific performance of an agreement to purchase some three acres of land situated a short distance west of West London. Mr. Walter Westby is the plaintiff, and the amount involved is $500. The agreement was made a year ago, and although it has been living on the land since, it is alleged that Brooks has paid nothing on the purchase price or as a rental. Mr. G. N. Weekes is acting for Mr. Westby.

—Rev. J. H. Hector received sufficient assurance of his popularity among Londoners last night, when several hundred people assembled in the Auditorium to hear his lecture upon what he saw and heard in England during the year of the Queen's jubilee. His cleverly described the monster procession and a number of amusing incidental occurrences. His adventures on a bicycle trip in Ireland and his experiences at a great banquet at the Hotel de Ville, which child were described with much humor. The "Black Knight" is particularly happy in treating his subject, as he did last night, in a light, easy vein.

—High Constable McLeod is on the lookout for James C. McCullum, a boy who has been in the employ of James Bradt, of lot 3, con. 3, Delaware. Mr. and Mrs. Bradt came to this city on Saturday, and on arriving home in the afternoon they found that McCullum had left, taking with him a pair of overalls, a pair of long boots (felt lined), two pairs of mitts, one pair of socks, a pruning knife, and a razor, belonging to Mrs. Bradt. McCullum, 15 years old, had only been working a short time for Mr. Bradt, is of dark complexion, 5 feet 2 inches in height, and weighs 125 pounds. Any information concerning his whereabouts will be gladly received by High Constable McLeod.

—Messrs. Newton, Cosh & Co., who are erecting a most complete poultry plant at London, have decided to add Barred Plymouth Rocks to the breeds they intend to make a specialty of. A week or two ago they purchased Mr. George W. Miller's entire string of Barred Plymouth Rocks, including all his recent prize-winners, with the exception of two or three birds, which Mr. Miller had previously disposed of. During the past two years very many of the prizes on this breed at Toronto and London fairs, and the "Ontario."

CONSTIPATION

Permanently Cured and all its ill Effects Removed by Burdock Blood Bitters.

If you've suffered from constipation for years, tried all the remedies you ever heard of, and without getting more than the relief of the one dose of the medicine afforded—if you've been subject to all the miseries associated with constipation, such as sick headache, nausea, biliousness, pimples, eruptions, blood humors, blotches, piles, etc., wouldn't you consider it a blessing to be cured of your constipation so that it would stay cured?

Burdock Blood Bitters can cure you—cure so that the cure will be permanent. It has done so in thousands of cases during the past twenty years.

Just one statement to prove what we say is right.

Mrs. G. Gasby, Portage La Prairie, Man., writes: "For over two years I was troubled with sick headache and constipation. I tried many different pills and patent medicines, but they only gave me slight, temporary relief.

"A lady friend of mine induced me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and sent me half a bottle of it to start with. I derived so much benefit from that that I continued to use it, and took in all three bottles, which completely cured me.

"That was ten months ago, and as my health has been splendid ever since I have only my kind friend to thank who advised me to take B.B.B."

have been won by Mr. Miller, and the past year he made the unequalled record of winning sixteen out of a possible nineteen first prizes. At the last "Ontario" for the first time in the history of that show, he captured every red ticket offered. Mr. Cosh is an old and thoroughly experienced fancier, and in his hands there is no doubt this strain will maintain its high reputation in the show room and the breeding pen.—Canadian Poultry Review.

CAPTURED A BEAR CUB.

Mr. J. T. Stevenson returned yesterday from a two-weeks' shooting trip in Algoma. He brought with him a lusty black bear cub, about 7 months old, and weighing over 75 pounds. The animal was only captured after a hard struggle, his pursuers being aided by the depth of the snow, which was over two feet deep. In the struggle the cub tore the coat completely off one of his captors.

OUR FORMER CITY ENGINEER.

Lieut.-Col. T. H. Tracy, who was for some time city engineer, is again in the city on a visit. He is a native of the city and one of London's best Old Boys. There is one thing he did while city engineer, with the assistance of ex-Mayor Essery, for which he should be gratefully remembered. He established the waterworks park, which the commissioners are wisely extending. The time will come when that park will be one of the handsomest in Canada. It was a splendid idea.

WATER COMMISSIONERS.

A regular meeting of the water commissioners was held yesterday afternoon, all members being present with the exception of Supt. Moore. The Canadian Veneer and Lumber Company applied for extension of service and fire protection to their premises on Elm street. Mr. Supt. Baldwin asked for remission $10 fine imposed on him for damaging fire hydrants while taking water from them for street watering. The engineer will report on both matters. It was decided to ask Mr. Supt. Carr to furnish Mr. Jerry McLeod, the department turncock, with a pass on the street cars. Owing to Engineer Moore's absence several important matters were laid over. The usual reports were received, and a number of accounts were passed.

DEATH OF MRS. MULVANEY.

Word reached here yesterday of the death of Mrs. Mulvaney, wife of Mr. T. Mulvaney, now of Paisley, Ont. and for years a prominent merchant of Parkhill, Ont. Death took place on the 18th inst. at Paisley, the result of an attack of apoplexy. Mr. and Mrs. Mulvaney and family removed to Colorado about four years ago. Miss Minnie Mulvaney, of the Princess avenue public school teaching staff, a daughter of the deceased lady, remained here. The interment took place in Colorado, the family deeming it wise not to acquaint Miss Mulvaney of her loss until after the funeral.

EPWORTH LEAGUE RALLY.

At the Epworth League rally in Wesley Hall last night, all the leagues of the city were well represented. The programme comprised addresses by Miss Lewis, of Colborne Street Church, who spoke on "The Drawing Power of the League"; Mr. R. J. Watson, whose topic was "How to Raise Our Money"; and Rev. T. E. Harrison, of Empress Avenue Church, who discussed "The New Evangelism." Rev. J. J. Smith, of Detroit, who is conducting successful evangelistic services in the First Methodist Church, gave an earnest address, and subsequently presided over a consecration service. During the evening the Hill Street Male Quartet rendered several selections.

MARKS BROS.

Marks Bros.' No. 1 Company opened a two weeks' engagement at the opera house last night, with the production of a laughable farce entitled "The Sultan's Daughter." The play served as a setting for the excellent character delineations of Mr. Tom Marks, whose popularity here is proverbial. The supporting company is above the average. The specialties were extraordinarily good. Vaudeville performances fill up the time between the acts. After the second cinematographic pictures were introduced, presenting scenes of the war in South Africa, and portraits of the favorite generals and royalties, and of President McKinley, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Charles Tupper, each of which received great applause. Then came a representation of the play "Cinderella," which was highly entertaining and pleasing. In the company are Mr. Tom Marks, George Karson, Miss Esther Evans, Jake Willard, Miss Janie Wood, Ernest Marks, Chris C. Allen, and others. Miss Marie Bar-borka, Lee J. Kellam, Jimmie Roy, Roy D. Way.

HERE IN DECEMBER

London Commandery, No. 3, C. O. K. G., Preparing to Entertain the Supreme Gripmen Next Month—Business at the Monthly Meeting.

Commandery No. 3, Canadian Order Knights of the Grip, held their regular monthly meeting on Saturday night. The attendance was good, and the business satisfactorily disposed of. Four applications for membership were accepted.

Communication from Toronto Commandery, re proposed amendment of bylaws, was referred back for more explicit information concerning same.

A committee was appointed to meet a committee of the Western Ontario Commercial Travelers' Association to consider the framing of amendment to the bylaws governing the election of officers to the association. The joint committees meet on Saturday next.

The supreme commandery having decided to hold their next meeting in London, a letter was received from Supreme Gripmen W. M. Jackman, asking what date in December would be most suitable to the members of London. After fully discussing the matter, a resolution was carried instructing Secretary Gunther to advise the supreme gripmen that the last week of December would be most agreeable.

tion of the supreme commandery here been very busy in the family during the past year, as Mr. Laidlaw's wife predeceased him only a few months, while his mother and one sister died last spring within a few weeks of each other. Mr. Laidlaw's funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock to Pond Mills cemetery.

Middlesex.

The death of Mr. Matthew Dean, an old and respected resident of Glencoe, took place on Thursday evening. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon. Besides his wife, Mr. Dean leaves his daughters, Mrs. Alger and Mrs. Ed. Huston, and Miss Charlie, and two sons, Matthew and Charlie, at home. His age was 77.

Mr. C. Annett, who has lately returned from Alaska, visited Glencoe friends this week. He has spent the last five years at Juneau and Skagway.

THEY WAKE THE TORPID EN-

BIGUES—Machinery not properly supervised and left to run itself very soon shows fault in its working. It is the same with the digestive organs. Unregulated from time to time they are likely to become torpid and throw the whole system out of gear. Paralee's Vegetable Pills were made to meet such cases. They restore to the full the flagging faculties, and bring into order all parts of the mechanism.
