Mr. Kizer Thinks Electric Commissioners Will Not Counter Proposal of Cost Railway Has Been Unfairly Dealt With

Say Aldermen Will Block Extension to Lake Erie in the Spring if They Oo Not Grant Concessions

Mr. Kizer, Sr., of Towanda, Penn. me of the men who provided considerable capital towards the estab lishing of the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Electric Railway, left yesterday for his home, having spent few days in the city, conferring with the City Council in an attempt to arrive at some satisfactory understanding in reference to the Third street bridge question, and on gen-

The result of his conference with ome of the aldermen has been very iscouraging and unsatisfactory to Mr. Kizer, and he is quite bitter in his expression of what he terms the unfair treatment received by the company from the hands of the Council. Speaking to a Planet reporter yesterday Mr. Kizer said:

"I think it is about time the true facts of the matter were revealed. The public are ignorant of the harsh, and unduly strict, manner in which the Council have treated us over the many questions that have arisen since the line was started.

many questions that have arisen since the line was started.

"The money was mostly brought here by myself and one or two others, although local capital has been invested to a considerable extent. I have financed the thing from the beginning, worked hard to get local and outside money into the railway, and have done my best to further the work for the public's sake as much as for my own interests.

"We are perfectly willing to work hand in hand with any company which may offer to complete the line, or, will entertain any fair proposition from the Council over any matter. Only resterday a gentleman who had offered to advance us a large sum backed down because he heard of the bridge affair when the fire hose was turned on our employes. Something must be done right away if we are to go on with the work in April, and unless the Council take prompt action in the matter of allowing us the use of the bridge and paying us the bonus due, the line will stop just where it is, no extension or improvement being possible for tack of capital.

"I am disappointed by the conduct of the Council and will not do another thing in the way of furnishing capital.

"In the matter of the bridge the

"In the matter of the bridge the "In the matter of the bridge the Council passed a by-law which allowed us to run passenger cars over it providing it was strengthened. We willingly did this and have run cars according to our promise, but now that the question of heavy goods traffic has been brought up, we are handicapped, for the Council will not allow us to strengthen the bridge still more in order to render a heavier service possible, nor will they meet us half way on the matter of building a new bridge altogether. We offer to build a new bridge providing the Council will continue." ter of building a new bridge altogether. We offer to build a new bridge providing the Council will pay half of the total cost, the same to be paid in credit, yet not only do they refuse us co-operation on this point, but they will not pay us the bonus of $35,000 which was promised us when we completed our track from here to Wallaceburg.

"There is no use in disguising the true state of the company at the present moment. They have no more money left to carry the line to the Lake Shore nor can they raise capital in the States. The reports of the Councils' many boycotits have got into the papers on the other side and financiers are scared to invest in the concern."

Grant Rebates on Account of Defective Plumbing

Busy Meeting of Water Coms. Last Evening - They Will Add Improvements to Plant

Last night was rebate night at the meeting of the Water Commission ers. Applications were received from four residents asking for rebates, four residents asking for rebates, owing to excessive charges on the last quarter. All of the water was not used in each case, but it went through the meter and must have passed through leaks in the pipes caused by defective plumbing.

"This is not the place to come with these complaints," said Mr. Sheldon. "People should not be called upon to pay for more water than they use, but the Commissioners should be paid for the water that passes through the meter. It costs money to pump the water that has been wasted. The people with these grievances should come on the plumbers, whose fault it is, and make them pay for it."

water. The people with these grievances should come on the plumbers, whose fault it is, and make them pay for it."

"When the plumbers take out their licenses they agree to indemnify the city and customers against any loss through defective work on their part," remarked Secretary Weir.

"However, we have made a practice of going half way on the first case, but if a person asks for a rebate more than once their only course is to go to the plumbers the second time," continued Mr. Sheldon.

"People should watch their meters and see that they are not using any more water than the reading on the meter shows. If the meter reads too high then there must be a leak in the pipes and it is time to send for a plumber. It seems a funny thing that a man can have a big leak in his pipes and never know it.

"What I would advocate for Chatham is a plumber inspector—a man to go around and inspect, and pass every job of plumbing before it is accepted. The plumbers here are robbing the people every day by putting in defective plumbing and that is why we hear of so many broken and frozen pipes."

The following accounts were reduced owing to leakages in water pipes: Geo. Stephens & Co., from $40.69 to $4.00; Judge Fell, from $20 to $5. A. MeKay allowed rebate of $2.40; Mrs. Ryan, from $6 to $2.

United Mine Workers Demand a Ful Settlement or None-May Result in Strike of Organized Labor

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 2.—Rejection of the counter proposal of the coal operators of the central competitive district by an almost unanimous vote of the national convention of the United Mine Workers, and the adoption of a resolution offered by Secretary W. D. Ryan of Illinois, placing the miners on record as a unit on refusing to sign an agreement for any district until an agreement was signed for all districts under the jurisdiction of the United Mine Workers, yesterday created a situation which, in the opinion of the officers of the miners' organization, will result in a disruption of the joint agreement and possibly a great strike of organized labor throughout the country.

Immediately following the rejection of the eperator's proposal, the miners' convention set about providing means for accumulating a strike fund of $6,500,000, in addition to a like amount now on deposit in international district and sub-district treasuries of the miners' organizations.

Then, as if to seal their position, the Toronto, Feb. 2.—S. C. Biggs, K. He acted as representative of the Government in obtaining the assignment of the policies.

"I say," declares Mr. Biggs, "that no arrangement was made, and no understanding was come to by or with my knowledge or consent, as alleged in the affidavit of Mary McDougall and Mary G. M. McDougall, to the effect that criminal proceedings should not be taken.

MR. FISHER'S APPARENT INDIS-CRETION

At the last colonial conference, Sir Wilfrid Laurier distinctly stated that Canada would increase the preferen tial rate to Great Eritain in return for tariff favors from the mother country. Mr. Fielding has repeatedly, in his budget speeches, held out to parliament the hope that Great Britain would sometime show her appre ciation of the preferential tariff by reciprocating. In his latest budget speech the finance minister hinted that the time for reciprocity in favors had arrived and made a veiled threat that unless some movement of that sort were made the Canadian preference might be modified or withdrawn. In a speech delivered last autumn Sir Wilfrid Laurier said:

"My vindication of the preference policy was given in the heart of the empire at London at the colonial conference, when I declared that I and my colleagues were ready to make a trade treaty. We said, 'We are ready to discuss with you articles on which we can give you a preference and articles on which you can give us a preference. We are ready to make with you a treaty of trade."

In the face of these declarations the Hon. Sydney Fisher, a member of the Laurier cabinet, now confesses to his joy that the British people have declared against imperial preferential trade, and to his satisfaction that "the Chamberlain bubble has been pricked."

It is hardly probable that the promier has changed his opinion so suddenly as to now share those of Mr. Fisher. It is still more improbable that Mr. Fielding's views have undergone so sudden a change that, although in the last session of parliament he said that the Canadian Gov ernment and people regarded Mr Chamberlain's propaganda with sym pathy, he now rejoices with Mr. Fisher over the "pricking" of the "Chamberlain bubble,"

But it is, of course, just possible that these changes of opinion have occurred. If they have, then Mr. Fisher doubtless spoke with the consent and concurrance of his colleagues. If Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Fielding still think as they did last year, Mr. Fisher should resign. As the Herald said yesterday, Mr. Tarte was dismissed from the cabinet for indiscretion less glaring than Mr. Fisher's appears to be.-Hamilton Herald.

The Russian Elections.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 1.—The pre-election activity has reached an acute stage. Candidates of various parties daily are coming into the open and all factions in public life are taking an active interest in the campaign. The only effective boycott of the preparations seems to be that which is due to the apathy of the commercial classes and other conservative and unprogressive elements.

OF HEART DISEASE.

How frequently does a head line similar to the above greet us in the newspapers. The rush, push and strenuous-mess of the American people has a strong tendency to lead up to valvular and other affections of the heart, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

antections of the near, attended by irregular action, palpitation, dizziness, smothered sensations and other distressing symptoms.

Three of the prominent ingredients of which Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made are recommended by some of the leading writers on Materia Medical Control of the cure of just such cases. Golden Seal root, for instance, is said by the UNITED STATES DISFENSATORY, a standard authority, "to impart tone and increased power to the heart's action." Numerous other leading authorities represent Golden Seal as an unsurpassed tonic for the muscular system in general, and as the heart is almost wholly composed of muscular tissue, it naturally follows that it must be greatly strengthened by this superb, general tonic. But probably the most important ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery." so far as its marvelous cures of valvular and other affections of the heart are concerned, is Stone root, or Collissonia Can., Prof. Wm. Paine, author of Paine's Epitomy of Medicine, says of fit:

"I. not long since, had a patient who was so much oppressed with valvular disease of the heart that his friends were obliged to carry him upstairs. He, however, gradually recovered under the influence of Collissonia Control and principle extracted from Stone root, and the principle extracted from Stone roots and and you will them it carry that the family warned the afflicted that death was near at hand. Collinsonia unquestionably affords relief in such cases, and in most instances effects a cure."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for such cases, and in most instances effects a cura."

Stone root is also recommended by Drs. Hale and Ellingwood, of Chicago, for valvular and other diseases of the heart. The latter says: "It is a heart tonic of direct and permanent influence."

"Golden Medical Discovery," not only eures serious heart affections, but is a most efficient general tonic and invigorator, strengthening the stomach, invigorating the liver, regulating the bowels and curing catarrhal affections in all parts of the system.

Dominion Government Sues Province of Ontario For $1,362,935.

Toronto, Feb. 1.—The Dominion Government is asking Justice Burbidge in the Exchequer Court to make an order compeling this province to pay $1,362,935.

The claim arises out of the Dominion's treaty with the Salteaux Indians in 1873, known as the Northwest Treaty No. 3. By it 41,000 square miles of land were bought from the Indians. It is situated between the watershed of Lake Superior and the northwest angle of the Lake of the Woods and the American border to the watershed of Hudson Bay.

or the Lake of the Woods and the American border to the watershed of Hudson Bay.

For this land the Indians were given $12 for each person belonging to the tribe; $1,500 per annum for the purchase of twine and ammunition for fishing and hunting, two hoes, a spade, one axe, one cross-cut saw, one hand saw and other articles for each family cultivating the soil and many other articles. Each chief was to receive $25 a year and each subordinate $15 a year and a suit of clothes every three years. An average of 2,471 Indians every year have been beneficiaries. The number within the territory cede to the Government and outside the province is 131. The Dominion Government are suing to recover the amount paid to the Indians within the province.

of Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 1.—The Free Press says it is the intention of the Grand Trunk to divert all its through traffic between the east and west by way of Detroit, and that the Detroit and Grand Haven division will be double-tracked to Durand, its junction with the main line between Chicago and Pert Huron; that its work will be completed by the time the Michigan Central tunnel is finished, when passenger trains between Chicago and the east and the bulk of the through treight trains will be handled via Detroit.

The St. Clair (Port Huron) tunnel is a single-track tunnel. Even with electrification complete, and the elimination of the through traffic, the St. Clair tunnel route will have about all that it WARNED THIEVES WERE COMING. Belleville Police Head Off a Gang of Professional Cracksmen.

Belleville, Feb. 1.—Tuesday evening the police notified the banks and mer-chants that a band of thieves was supchants that a band of thieves was supposed to be heading this way. When people came down to business yesterday morning they discovered that the gang had really arrived, and the wholesale grocery house of John Sloan & Co. had been broken into and completely ransacked during the night. The robbers got only about $4 or $5 in money, as owing to the police warning, the firm had removed its surplus wealth to a safer place. The police are now looking for three suspicious strangers.

Doctor Robs Canadian. Chicago, Feb. 1.—Dr. F. M. Steward Tuesday was found guilty of a charge of robbery in Judge Kersten's court. Charles Armstrong, an alleged accomplice, was found not guilty. The convicted defendant, through his attorney, made a motion for a new trial, and the victed defendant, through his attorney, made a motion for a new trial, and the court fixed bonds at $6,000. Felix Berard, a Canadian, in October caused the arrest of the physician and Armstrong on a charge that they had fraudulently obtained $110 from him. He had consulted Dr. Steward. The latter told him he was suffering from heart trouble and said $110 would be required to cure ed the physician in the deception. Another physician told Berard he was in good physical condition. Venexuelans to Fight.

New York, Jan. 31.—A Willemstadt, Curacao, despatch to The Herald, dated Monday, says: "A prominent Venezuelan, who has arrived here from Caracas, says that President Castro while supposed to be resting at Maracay, has been actively engaged in visiting the garrisons and preparing for an expected invasion by France.

"Governors of the states have been called to the capital for instructions, troops are mobilising and the impressement of the army has begun. The people are apathetic, but will be forced to fight, though they blame President Castro for going too far with M. Taigny.

"Conservative opinion is that President Castro is putting on a bold front at the last moment to save his Presidency from compliance with the expected demands from France for an apology and a salute to the flag.

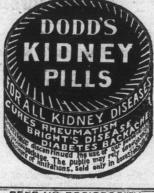

"Tresident Castro has sent an extremely violent note to France, and has personally appealed to the Kalser to intervene to save German interests in Yenexuela. He made the same request to England, but was refused on the ground of British cordinity with France.

Senator McMullen Has Conference With President Roosevelt Concerning Trade Between Two Countries.

Washington, D. C., Feb 1.-A discussion on commercial conditions between the United States and Canada was held at the White House yesterday be-tween the president and James Mc-Mullen, a member of the Canadian Senate, who was presented by Senator Warner of Missouri.

Warner of Missouri.

"A few years ago," said Senator McMullen, "a strong movement was started for reciprocity between the United States and Canada, but with us the subject now is scarcely mentioned. Our people are becoming convinced that they must look abroad for an outlet for their surplus products. Our producers are able now to lay down in Great Britain fruit, fresh meat and other perishable stuff in as good condition as we can put them into the United States. They are building up a fine export business and are very prosperous.

Hamlet.

Hamlet, prince of Denmark, is, of course, best known as the hero of one of Shakespeare's gretaest plays. The time when he lived is unknown, Some historians say 500 B.C., others say at 700 A. D., and there are some who say he never lived. Shakespeare's play was based on the Danish story of Amlet, whose history is recorded in Saxo-Grammaticus, twelfth century. Belle-Forest adopted the story in 1564, among a collection of novels he began at that time. From him the history of Hamlet was translated, the earliest edition bearing the date 1608. The characters of Laertes and Ophelia are wanting in the original. Some events that transpired in Shakespeare's time must have brought the old legend before the poet's mind. The murder of Darnley and the marriage of his widow, Mary Stuart, to Lord Bothwell furnishes a counterpart of some portions of Hamlet. The theme of tragedles generally at the close of the sixteenth century was revenge. The tragedy of Hamlet in Shakespearean form appeared in 1601-2. His grave is shown at Elsinore, the scene of the play, and there is a garden near by called "Hamlet's garden.

OIL FIELDS

Operations of Speculators in Kent Will Soon be Re-Commenced-Prospectors Here

The Kent oil find has by no means been abandoned, and we may yet find that there is an abundant supply in this district. The splendid results that have been got in Tilbury within the past ten days has given a fresh impetus to the operators and prospectors are again attracted to this district. To-day M. Egan, Lima, Ohio, a gentleman who has been operating extensively for the past twenty-five years, and R. L. Patterson, Buffalo, N. Y., arrived in the city with the intention of making several tests in Raleigh and Tilbury, and leases will be taken out during the next few days. It is the intention of these gentlemen to sink each well to the depth of fourteen hundred and fifty feet, as it has already been demonstrated that the wells sunk last year to a depth not exceeding seven hundred and fifty feet, are not productions of paying results. The cost for sinking such wells will be between twenty-five hundred and three thousand dollars.

To-morrow will be a big day at The 2 T's store. Everything in winter goods will be sold at a price satisfactory to all.

WILL RIVER BE DREDGED?

Local Shippers Will Present Chatham's Needs Before Hon. Mr. Hyman

feeting Held Last Evening When Matter was Fully Discussed-Citizens are After Uniform Depth of 15 Feet

For some time the people of Chatham, and especially the local shippers, have felt a severe loss owing to the fact that they have not got proper accommodation for water transportation. Several times representations have been made to the Dominion Government, but matters do not soom to inverse.

resentations have been made to the Dom'n'on Government, but matters do not seem to improve.

Last night a meeting of the prominent shippers of the city was held in Geo. Stephens' hardware store, when the present conditions were freely and informally discussed. Among those who were present at the meeting were Manson Campbell, Mayor Marshall, Robert Gray, W. R. Landon, W. Piggott, Chas. Hadley, W. Blight, Geo. Fielder, N. H. Stevens, Thos. Scullard, W. N. Warburton, W. M. Drader, Jas. Fleming, Frank Crow, and others.

It was decided to press the Government to dredge the mouth of the river and part of Lake St. Clair where the river empties into it, and also to dredge the river between Crow's 'dock and the city, making a uniform depth all the way through of 15 feet. If this work is done large sized boats will be enabled to come up to Chatham and the competition thus afforded will greatly radius.

The result of the meeting was that everyone saw the tremendous amount of benefit which would be derived by Chatham if this work were done, and a committee composed of N. H. S. evens, Chas. Hadley, W. Piggott and Thos. Scullard were appointed to interview Hon. Mr. Hyman, Minister of Public Works, who comes here to-morrow, and make strong representations to him, and urged the necessity of the Government taking up this matter at once. If possible, a visit from Mr. Hyman will be arranged for later, when he can meet the citizens of Cha ham and discuss the matter with them. with them.

The brilliant sunshine makes walking fairly pleasant for the well clad, but the north-westerly winds are cold and biting in exposed places. The forecast for to-day is colder.

maybourne made an excuse and wenty into the house, leaving us together. Mackinnon had long since departed. When we were alone, Agnes leant a little forward in her chair and said:

"Are you pleased to see me, Gilbert?" "More pleased than I can tell you," I answered, truthfully. "But you must not ask me if I think you were wise

"I can see that you think I was not," she continued. "But how little you understand my motives. I could not Thinking that perhaps she had said too much, she checked herself suddenly, and for a little while did not speak again. When she did, it was only about the loneliness of my life on the mine, and such like trivial matters. Illogical as men are, though I had hoped, for both our sakes, that she would not venture again on such delicate ground as we had traversed before we said good-bye, I could not help a little sensation of disappointment when she acted up to my advice. I was still more piqued when a little later she stated that she felt tired, and holding out her hand, bade me "good-night," and went to her room. Here I can only give utterance to a remark which, I am told, is as old as the hills—and that is, how little we men understand the apposite sex. From that night forward, for the first three or four days of her visit, Agnes' warner towards me was as friendly from that hight forward, for the first three or four days of her visit, Agnes' manner towards me was as friendly as of old, but I noticed that she made but small difference between her treatment of Mackinnon and the way in which she behaved towards myself. This was more than I could bear, and in consequence my own behavior to-wards her changed. I found myself bringing every bit of ingenuity I pos-sessed to bear on an attempt to win sessed to bear on an attempt to was in vain! Whenever I found an opportunity, and hinted at my love for her, she invariably changed the conversation into such a channel that all my intentions were frustrated. In consequence, I exerted myself the more to please until my passion must have been plain to everyone about the place. Prudence, honor, everything that separated me from her was likely to be thrown to the winds. My infatuation for Agnes Maybourne had grown to such a pitch that without her I felt that I could not go on living. One day, a little more than a week after their arrival, it was my good fortune to accompany her on a riding excursion to a waterfall in the hills, distant some seven or eight miles from her back to the old state. But it was

than I could stand, and I determined, as soon as I could find a convenient opportunity, to test my fate and have it settled for good and all.

On reaching our destination, we tied our horses, by their reins, to a tree at the foot of the hill, and climbed at the foot of the fin, and ridden over to explore. After the first impression, created by the wild grandeur of the scene, had passed, I endeavored to make the opportunity I wanted.

"How strangely little circumstances recall the past. What place does that remind you of?" I asked, pointing to the rocky hill on the other side of the

"Of a good many," she answered, a little artfully, I'm afraid. "I cannot say that it reminds me of one more than another. All things considered, there is a great sameness in South African scenery Cleverly as she attempted to turn my question off, I was not to be balked so easily.

"Though the likeness has evidently not impressed you, it reminds me very much of Salvage Island," I said, drawing a step closer to her side. "Halfway up that hill one might well expect to find the plateau and the cave."

"Oh, why do you speak to me of that awful cave." she said, with a shudder; "though I try to forget it, it always gives me a nightmare."

"I am sorry I recalled it to your memory, then," I answered. "I think in spite of the way you have behaved towards me lately, Agnes, you are aware that I would not give you pain for anything. Do you know that?"

As I put this question to her, I looked into her face. She dropped her eyes and whispered "Yes."

Emboldened by my success I resolved to push my fate still further.

"Agnes," I said, "I have been thinking over what I am going to say to you now for some days past, and I believe I am doing right. I want to tell you the story of my life, and then to ask you a question that will decide the happiness of the rest of it. I want you to listen and, when I have done, answer me from the bottom of your heart. Whatever you say I will abide by."

She looked up at me with a startled expression on her face.

"I will listen," she said, "and whatever question you ask I will answer. But think first, Gilbert; do you really wish me to know your secret?"

"God knows I have as good reasons for wishing you to know as any man could have," I answered. "I can trust you as I can trust no one else in the world. I wish you to hear and judge me. Whatever you say, I will do and abide by it."

She put her little hand in mine, and having done so, seated herself on a boulder. Then, after a little pause, she bade me tell her all.

"In the first place," I said, "I must make a confession that may surprise you My name is not Wrexford, as I have so long led you to suppose. It is Pennethorne, My father was Sir Anthony Pennethorne, of Polton-Penna, in. Cornwall. I was educated at Eton PLANET and Oxford; and, as you will now see, I got no good from either. After a college scrape, the blame for which was thrown upon me, my father turned me out of England with a portion of my inheritance. I went to Australia, where I tried my hand at all sorts of employment, gold mining among the number. Details of my life out there, with one exception, would not interest you; so I will get on to the great catastrophe, the results of which were taking me out of England when I first met you. Up to this time ill-luck had constantly pursued me, and I had even known the direct poverty. You may imagine, therefore, what You may imagine, therefore, what my feeling were when an old friend, a man with whom I had been partner on many goldfields, told me of a place which he had discovered where, he said, there were prospects of sufficient gold to make us both millionaires half gold to make us both millionaires nair a dozen times over. He, poor fellow, was dying at the time, but he left his secret to me, bidding me take immediate advantage of it. True to my promise, I intended to set off to the place he had found as soon as he was buried, and having discovered it, to apply to Government for right to mine there, but fate was against me, and I was taken seriously ill. For weeks I hovered between life and death. When I recovered I saddled my horse, and, dreaming of all I was going to accomplish with my wealth, when I had obtained it, made my way across country by the chart he had given me. When I arrived at the spot it was only to learn that my greatest enemy When I arrived at the spot it was only to learn that my greatest enemy in the world, a man who hated me as much as I did him, had filched my secret from me in my delirium, and had appropriated the mine. You cannot imagine my disappointment. I wanted money so badly, and I had counted so much on obtaining this, that I had almost come to believe my-self possessed of it. What need to tell the rest? He became enormously rich, and returned to England. In the meanthe rest? He became enormously rich, and returned to England. In the meantime my father had died, leaving me a sufficient sum, when carefully invested, to just keep me alive. With this to help me I followed my enemy home, resolved, if ever a chance arose, to revenge myself upon him When I arrived I saw his name everywhere. I found his wealth, his generosity, his uccess in life, extolled in every paper I picked up; while I, from whom he had stolen that which gave him his power, had barely sufficient to keep me out of the workhouse. You must understand that I had been seriously ill, for the second time, just before left Australia, and perhaps for this reason—but more so, I believe, on account of the great disappointment to which I had been subjected—I began to brood over my wrongs by day and night, and pine for revenge. I and night, and pine for revenge. I could not eat or sleep for it. Remember, I do not say this in any way to excuse myself, but simply to show you that my mind was undoubtedly not quite itself at the time. At any rate, duite itself at the time. At any face, to such a pitch of hatred did I at length work myself that it was as much as I could do to prevent myself from laying violent hands upon my enemy when I saw him in the public street. After I had been entertaining street. After I had been entertaining the devil in this fashion for longer than was good for me, he in return sent one of his satellites to complete my ruin. That man—such a man as you could not picture to yourself—put before me a scheme for getting even with my enemy, so devilish that at first I could hardly believe he was in earnest. So insiduously did he tempt me, playing upon my hatred and increasing my desire for revenge, that creasing my desire for revenge, that at last I fell into his net as complete at last I fell into his het as completely as he could wish. The means were immediately found for getting my victim into my clutches, and then nothing remained but to work out the hideous crime that had been planned for me." I stopped for a moment and looked at Agnes, who was cowering with her face in her hands. She did not speak, so I continued my gruesome tale.

"I need not tell you how I got the man in my power, nor in what manner it was arranged that I should kill him. I will content myself with telling you that when I had got him, and could have killed him by lifting my little finger, difficult as you may find it to believe it. I saw your face before and what I intended to do to him; after that I would have bidden him go, and have left him to his own conscience. But, to my horror, when I got down from my box—for I was driving him in a cab—I found that in some devilish fashion my work had been anticipated for me—the man was dead, killed by the same fatal agency that had been given to me to do the deed. Try for one moment to imagine my position. In one instant I stood in that quiet London street, stamped with the brand of cain. Never again could I be like my fellow men. Henceforth I must know myself for what I was—a murderer, whose proper end after that I would have bidden him go, forth I must know myself for what I was—a murderer, whose proper end should be the gallows. In an agony of terror I got rid of the body—left it in the street in fact—and fied for my very life. While the town was still abed and asleep I tramped away into the country, and at a suburban station caught the earliest train to South-ampton. On arrival there I booked my passage in the Fiji Princess for South Africa, and went on board. The rest you know. Now. Agnes, that you have heard my wretched story, you can see for yourself why I was so desirous of getting out of civilization as quickly as possible. You can judge for yourself whether I was right or wrong in refusing to allow you to say you loved me. God knows you cannot judge me more harshly than I judge myself.

She looked up at me with terror stricken eyes.

She looked up at me with terrorstricken eyes.
"But you did not mean to kill the man," she cried. "You repented—you said so just now yourself.
"If it had not been for me the man would not have died," I answered.
"No, no! Agnes, you cannot make me out innocent of his death, however hard you try."
A look of fresh life darted into her face. It was as if she had been struck by a brilliant idea that might mean my salvation.

my salvation.
"But how do you know that you killed the man?" she asked. "Are you quite certain that he was dead when you looked at hfm?"

The seer is naturally serious.

the wearer, as it is a doubtful thing to arrange the fold of a ten yard skirt on a dummy, the lines falling in such different places on a form. The knack of making these attachments is a nice one. The best dressmakers fasten the outer skirt to the "drop" with a long thread of buttonhole silk, and the stitch is well anchored to make it secure without being in the least tight. A full inch of double twist must be allowed between the two skirts.

ABOUT MONEY

W. H. Gonne and Judge Houston Re call the Days When Paper Money Unknown in Chatham

For over forty years Judge Hous-ton has practiced law in Chatham, and during that time he has had many experiences which, while they were considered very ordinary, and quite a matter of course at the time strike the people of this advanced age as being peculiar and laughable and, at the same time, quite interesting. The Judge enjoys recalling his early days in Chatham and he always finds an attentive audience when he talks over his experiences of olden

"I was much interested in your story which appeared in The Planet about the first hundred dollars you ever earned," remarked W. H. Gonne as he met the Judge in Harrison Hall gesterday morning. "When you told about getting your cheque cashed in silver and lugging it all home with you, it reminded me of a similar experience I had in '63.

"At that time I was a contractor in Chatham and was engaged to make certain repairs to the Baptist Church," continued Mr. Gonne when he saw the Judge was interested. "I was much interested in you he saw the Judge was interested. "When I got my obecque for $300 of course I wanted it cashed. There were, as you said, no bills at that time, so I had to take silver. I got the three hundred in quarters, put it in a large bag and carried it home hung over my shoulder. I had a large packing box in my house and I dumped the whole bag of quarters anto it, and whenever I wanted any money all I had to do was to make a trip to the packing box."

The scribe, who was standing near, was surprised to learn that there ever were so many quarters in circulation, and was just wondering where they could have all gone to, when Judge Houston, to whom the incident seemed quite commonplac, took up the thread of the conversation. "When you speak of keeping mon-ey in a packing 30x," said he, "it

The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held on Thurs-day afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Wilson. Mrs. A. Mrs. Wilson Taylor gave a Bible reading, and after the usual devotional exercises Mrs. Hall discussed the subject of Parliamentary cussed the subject of Parliamentary mage and an amusing "drill" brought out the advantages of a knowledge of parliamentary rules. Mrs. Blazdell and her little daughter gave an instrumental duett, which was well received. Several items of business were then brought ferward. The treasurer, Mrs. Hallman, presented a very satisfactory report, and the press superintendent was instructed to renew subscriptions for the papers which had been placed in Public Library. One name was proposed for membership. Much wegret was expressed that one valued member, Mrs. Hallman, would meet and work no more with us, but in her return to her former home she will have the good wishes and the prayers of these with whom she has been associated in this work. BATTER INTO A CHURCH

Desperate Resistance to Taking Inventories in Paris.

Firemen and Police Take by Storn Barricades Erected Inside Church-One Hundred and Fifty Members of the Congregation Were Arrested-Many Persons Injured on Both Sides-Government Sustained.

Feb. 2.-Everywhere in Paris, Feb. 2.—Everywhere in France the actual putting into operation of the clause of the church and state separation bill which provided for the making of inventories of the property of the church has aroused a storm of protest. In several provincial parishes Catholies have gathered in the churches and made such strong resistance that the Government commissioners were unable to enter.

sioners were unable to enter.

In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon Premier Rouvier's reply to an interpellation on the subject of socialist deputy, M. Allard, was given amid a great uproar. The Government, amid a great uproar. The Government, however, secured a vote of confidence by 384 against 166, after the Premier had assured the chamber that the Government was desirious of using tact and moderation in carrying out the law, but that it was fully determined to perform its duty.

Violence in a Church.

Scenes of extreme violence were transpiring in the meanwhile at the Church of St. Clothilde, near the Chamber of Deputies.

M. Lepin, prefect of police, finally ordered the municipal guards and police to enter the church. Under a shower of broken chairs the officers broke down the railings in front of the entrance, while the crowd rained heavy blows upon them. Then the fire-men burst in the doors and the police and municipal guards entered the building. One of the principal-officers was severely wounded

IN THE DIVVY.

Paid Money to Keep Out of City Hall Contracts.

Toronto, Feb. 2.—The further examination of Joseph Wright, president of the Bennett and Wright plumbing firm, at the civic enquiry yesterday, had its interesting features. One of these was, the admission that Architect T. J. Lennox had received $8,300 from the firm instead of the $7,000 formerly mentioned. The name of a new concern was brought into the investigation, that of Worthington, Garrett and Armstrong. Mr. Drayton told Mr. Wright members of this company had stated they received payments from Bennett and Wright for allowing the latter to get the city hall plumbing contract.
Witness did not deny the existence of a "Big Seven" among the plumbers, but was not aware that this body had shared in the "divvy up" in which his firm supplied the funds. Bookkeeper Purdy was brought up by the judge with a short turn, during the time he was a witness, His Honor saying that witness had desired to mislead him, but hadn't succeeded.

HALIFAX TO SHAUGHNESSY.

Halifax, Feb. 2.—Sir Thomas Shaugh-nessy's statement that there is not a single port in Canada at which steam-ers of the proposed fast line class can land their mails and passenger with the requisite convenience is keenly re-sented in Halifax as unfair to this port, which the C. P. R. president has never It is pointed out that the big North Bremen, and the French liner La Champagne, have transferred passengers here and that the biggest steamers affoat (and there are several larger than the Empress boats of the C. P. The C. P. R. could, it is claimed, shorten the trip from Queenstown to Montreal to almost six days.

The length of the rail haul is doubt-

SULTAN'S SOVEREIGNTY

Direct Plucking of Morocco's Ruler's Wings Protested.

U. S. Ambassador White Leads, Is Followed by Ambassadors of France and Russia, But Withdraws When Movement Was Not Unanimous-Meanwhile the Moors Object to the Taxation Draft.

Algeciras, Feb. 2.—The Moroccan conference at its session yesterday adopted without modification the draft of the taxation project. The Moerish delegates raised a number of objections and will refer the proposals to the Sultan at Fez. The question of reforming the customs duties was not considered.

An American Protest.

committee on taxation reported lengthy plan, one of the features of which gave the foreign consuls right to retain a certain percentage of the taxes on foreigners to cover the expenses of collection. When this feature was reached, United States Ambassador White rose and remarked that there appeared to be some inconsistency in foreign officials collecting money for the Sultan and then retaining a portion of it. He made the point also that such retention of revenues designed for the Sultan might be construed as an infringement of his sovereignty. He therefore suggested a modification so that the retention of a portion of the tax by the consuls should not be a permanent feature of the system.

manent feature of the system.

M. Revoil, for France, and Count
Cassini, for Russia, promptly supported the American view and the approval became general with the exception of the Spanish delegates, who manifested strong dissent.

fested strong dissent.

Spain the Big Loser.

Senor Peres Cabellere spoke long and earnestly against the American suggestion, emphasizing that Spain would suffer the chief part of the loss if the consuls did not retain a portion of the tax, as Spain had the largest number of foreigners under taxation.

A running debate, often earnest but always good-natured, went on for an hour. Sir Arthur Nicolson, the head of the British mission, finally suggest ed that since Spain objected it might be desirable not to press the proposed modification. Mr. White immediately assented, saying that he considered unanimity essential and therefore he withdrew the proposed modification.

The conference thereupon adopted the committee's report, giving a general plan for taxes largely under the control of the diplomatic and consular body at Tangier and adjourned until Saturday.

Moors Discontented.

The Moorlah delegates are showing signs of discontent. They came expecting to take a leading part in the plan for the administration of their country, but thus far their influence has counted for little and they are only passive listeners to the plans formulated by the powers. This was noticeable in the discussion of the internal tax system, to which they withheld their assent, while the delegates of the other powers unanimously assented. The feature of the tax system by which the foreign ministers and consuls retain considerable control is consuis recain considerable control is con-strued as indicating the tendency of the conference toward the establishment of international authority which is one of the main Franco-German issues.
