Special Gravity Cast Over Devotional Exercises by Dark War Clouds

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

Country Unites in Observance of Great Holiday of National Moment

WAR MEASURES UP

Washington, May 30.—War clouds cast a special gravity today over Memorial Day exercises here in which President Wilson and many other high Government officials participated.

Down Pennsylvania avenue and across the Potomac to Arlington National Cemetery marched veterans of the past two wars at the head of a column of National Guardsmen and regulars who may see service in France within a year.

President Wilson arranged to attend the exercises at Arlington this afternoon, but did not count on making an address.

Both houses of Congress adjourned for the day and all Government departments were closed.

War Bills
Washington, May 30.—Congress was not in session today, both houses having adjourned over the holiday, but leaders took the opportunity to survey progress on war measures.

Chairman Simmons of the Senate finance committee, in a conference with Treasury officials, pointed out that the principal questions of the war revenue bill yet to be determined relate to the Administration's proposed automobile license taxes, excise taxes on coffee and tea, higher second class postal rates and taxes on public utilities.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo is urging the committee to report out a bill carrying about $1,800,000,000 as provided in the House measure, but committee sentiment apparently is in favor of reducing it to around $1,500,000,000 the difference to be raised by short term bonds.

Conferees of the Senate and House on the $42,000,000 war budget bill to-day still had further changes to consider, notably the provision to regulate the acquisition of an American merchant marine, for which $750,000,000 is authorized.

The administration's food survey and production bill will be taken up in the Senate again tomorrow and its early passage is looked for. The bill is the House substitute for the measure of the Senate has been considering.

Berlin Banned
Berlin, Wis., May 30.—A movement to change the name of this town is expected to assume definite form tomorrow when steps are to be taken to place the question before the voters in the near future.

MUSICIANS OF GERMANY BOYCOTT U.S.

Strive to Prevent Singers From Accepting American Engagements

Copenhagen, via London, May 30.—The German Stage League will this week pass upon the so-called American treaty pledging the German operatic stage to boycott for five years any singer who leaves Germany to accept a more profitable engagement in the United States.

The boycott is fathered by Count von Seebach, director of the Royal Theatres, which have been particularly unfortunate in losing stars not only to America but also to other German theatres which pay better salaries.

Advocates of the boycott hope that it will have a deterrent effect through causing singers to lose profitable engagements before and after the American season.

The singer would also face the responsibility of being stranded if he or she failed to win American favor.

Emperor Calls Upon God of Armies for Blessings in War

DECISION VERY NEAR

Kaiser Urges His Troops to Save Future of Fatherland

Amsterdam, via London, May 30.—According to the Deutsche Tageszeitung, Emperor Wilhelm concluded his recent speech to the soldiers on the Arras front with the following words:

"We will continue to fight until we secure a complete victory against those who have attacked us. May the God of armies give us blessing in the war which has been forced upon us that our children and grandchildren may live free in the German Fatherland."

Addressed Delegations
Copenhagen, via London, May 30.—The correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt on the western front reports that Emperor Wilhelm during his recent visit to the Arras line addressed delegations of the troops fighting on the Aisne. He thanked them with evident emotion for their heroism in meeting French attacks and said in part:

"The decision lies near at hand. You will turn it in our favor as you have on every previous occasion, because you realize what you are fighting for—the future of your children and grandchildren, the future of the beloved Fatherland of us all."

ASKS ALLIES TO REASSURE RUSS ARMY

Fighters Desire to Feel Certainty That Allies' Aims Are Theirs

Paris, May 30.—Mercee Cashin, one of the Russian Socialist delegates attending the meeting of the National Council of the French Socialist party writing in The Parisian says:

"Sure from now onward that the objects of the Russian republican government are the same as its own, the Russian army wishes to feel the same certainty as regards the allied governments. Premier Ribot's speech in the Chamber of Deputies will be very useful from this point of view, but more must be done. It will be necessary for the combined allied powers, in complete agreement to express themselves in the same way."

U. S. COLORS DEPOSITED

Flags of American Battalions in Canadian Forces Placed in St. Paul's

London, May 30.—At St. Paul's today the colors of the American Legion in the Canadian contingents were placed beside the altar to remain there until after the war. There were five flags, one from each battalion, the 97th, 211th, 212th, 213th and 237th. They were escorted to the Cathedral by 500 Canadian soldiers.

As the troops passed up the central aisle, the crowd which filled the edifice sang "My eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord," and later "Onward Christian Soldiers." At the conclusion of the service "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung, followed by "God Save the King."

The service was attended by Ambassador Page, Consul-General Skinner, high officers of the Canadian forces and physicians and nurses from the Red Cross units which have arrived here most recently.

VEGETABLES RESTRICTED IN BRITAIN

Imported Cheese Requisitioned, and Prices on Vegetables Fixed

London, May 30.—Bacon Devonport, the food controller, beginning to-day, ordered all cheese imported from Canada, Australia and the United States requisitioned and henceforth will control all dealings in it. Cheese will be put on the market at a price enabling retailers to sell it at sixteen pence per pound.

Automatic Reductions.
The food controller has also fixed the retail prices on all beans, peas and pulse and arranged an automatic reduction in the price of beans, averaging two cents a pound in July, with a similar reduction in August.

London May 30.—A Stockholm despatch to Reuter's says that the German Government has announced that Swedish and Norwegian steamers now in British ports will have a safe passage home from July 1.

Amsterdam, May 30.—via London—According to news received from the Dutch delegates at Stockholm, the Socialist conference has been postponed until July 15 or possibly later. Everything depends on the date of the arrival of the French and Italian delegations.

APPEAL OF SOLDIERS' DELEGATES

Take Every Measure to End as Soon as Possible International Carnage

PROTECTION NEEDED

Claim the Russians Have Fought Under Worse Conditions Than Others

Petrograd, via London, May 30.—The Congress of Delegates from the front after a debate on the war, has unanimously voted the following resolutions:

First, the army in the trenches declares that it is indispensable to take every measure to put an end as quickly as possible to the international carnage and conclude without annexations or indemnities, on the basis of the right of all nations to dispose of themselves, proclaiming at the same time, the watchword, "whoever wishes for peace must prepare for war"; second, the army pointing out that the Russian soldiers have been fighting hitherto under conditions infinitely worse than those of the allies, that the Russian second line has had to march almost unprotected against the enemy's bullets and break with bare arms the barbed entanglements, which the allies and the enemy pass freely after artillery preparation, declares that the Russian front must be provided with munitions and everything necessary to maintain the principle, "the more metal, the less gun fodder."

In conclusion, the congress declares that the army appeals to all to whom free Russia is dear to rally around the Council of Soldiers and Workmen's Delegates and the provisional government and not to permit "adventurers to let the army become manure for foreign fields."

Amsterdam, via London, May 30.—George Bernhard in the Vossische Zeitung tries hard to prove to the Russians that England is really Russia's enemy and that an equally weakened Russia and Germany would best suit England's book. He continues:

"The United States has consistently supported England's standpoint. On various occasions we personally discussed peace aims in detail with Ambassador Gerard, the last time shortly before his departure. He emphasized to us, not once but repeatedly, that President Wilson felt the greatest interest in the restoration of Belgium, but that the United States would raise no objection to German annexation in the east."

Herr Bernhard advances the foregoing as clear proof of the complete indifference of Russia's allies to her interests and hopes that Russia will realize this fact. He adds:

"American financial interests are already getting their firm and octopus-like grip on Russia's economic body. Instead of developing the national popular economic system so ardently desired by Russians, their country will soon be like a lemon squeezed dry by the Americans. It is Germany alone that can save Russia from such financial serfdom."

Liberty Loan.
Petrograd, via London, May 30.—The executive committee of the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates has issued a stirring appeal to peasants, workmen and other citizens to subscribe to the "liberty loan." The support of the loan is urged as a means of strengthening the confidence of the provisional government.

ARTILLERY BATTLE RAGING ON ST. QUENTIN LINE, FRENCH FRONT

Violent Fighting Occurred Last Night Without Gains for Foe; German Attempt Upon French Trenches Repulsed With Losses; British Also Repulsed Foe Attacks

By Courier Leased Wire
Paris, May 30.—Noon—Violent artillery firing occurred on the French front south of St. Quentin during the night, according to an official statement issued by the French war office this morning.

A German attack at Monte Blond in Champagne was repulsed, the Germans leaving dead and wounded on the field.

The statement follows:
"Violent artillery fighting and patrol encounters occurred south of St. Quentin. In the Champagne a German attack, delivered by special units in an attempt to approach our trenches south of Mont Blond, was repulsed. Driven back by the violence of our fire, the enemy abandoned dead and wounded. We took prisoners and also captured one machine gun and a flame-projecting device."

"On the left bank of the Meuse we attacked the German lines at Hill 304, destroying important defense works, and bringing back ten prisoners. Elsewhere the night was calm."

"Two German airplanes were brought down by our pilots yesterday. It is learned that a German machine was sent to earth on Sunday in the region of Flain."

BRITISH OFFICIAL
London, May 30.—12.35 p.m.—Hostile raiding parties were repulsed last night in the neighborhood of Fontaine-les-Croisilles and west of Lens," says to-day's war office report. South of Neuve Chapelle our patrols entered the enemy's trenches and inflicted casualties.

"Nothing else of special interest occurred."

FRESH PHASE IN WAR MAY BE FORECAST BY PAUSE IN BATTLE

Operations on Western Front Have Dwindled in Magnitude, Although Cadorna Continues His Sweeping Advance Against the Austrians; Renewal of Franco-British Drive Anticipated

By Courier Leased Wire
There has come such a pronounced pause in the major activities of the great war as to give the impression that preparations for a new phase in the development may be in progress.

Only on the Austro-Italian front, where General Cadorna is determinedly pushing his campaign for Trieste is any sustained offensive movement going on. The great battles which developed last month on the front in northern France have come to a halt. Even counter-attacks by the Germans have virtually ceased along the British front, while on the French front they have lessened in number and violence.

The recent pronounced aerial activity also has subsided. The Italian front is the only one where the next blow is to be delivered can only be surmised. Indications are multiplying that the Germans are looking for some new development. They have mentioned the Russo-Romanian front as the place of expected attacks. The trend of the news from the Entente side of that front, however, has not been such as to lead to the belief that an effective stroke could be delivered upon the Teutonic lines there at present.

Emperor William has been addressing his troops on the front in northern France recently, exhorting them to stand fast in the decisive time he pictured "near at hand." Apparently, thus a renewal of the Franco-British attack, possibly on a large scale than ever, is anticipated.

As for some time recently the fighting on the western front yesterday and last night was of a local character. London reports only trench raids. Paris announces the repulse of a German attack on a narrow front near Mont Blond, in the Champagne, and an important raid by the French at the famous Hill 304 in the Verdun region.

Rome, May 30.—via London—Further gains by the Italians on the Trieste front are announced in today's official statement. The Italian lines have been extended west of Medeazza.

The statement reads:
"The artillery was not so active yesterday on the Trentino front in Carnia, but was very heavy on the Julian front, particularly in the sector from Mount Cucco to Mount Vodice and east of Gorizia. The enemy again persisted in his attacks upon our trenches on Hill 652. Three successive attacks after distinct artillery fire failed completely. We captured some 30 prisoners."

"On the Carso the work of strengthening our lines is proceeding actively. An enemy assault attempted east of Bescomano was broken by our battery fire."

"Between Jamiano and the coast we extended by local offensive actions our occupation of ground west of Medeazza."

"On Monday afternoon one enemy airplane was brought down in severe air fights east of Mount San Marco."

Teuton Official
Berlin, via London, May 30.—The German official announcement today follows:
"Western front: During the day the artillery activity was lively only in the Wytschotte sector. In the evening the firing increased at other places."

"British reconnoitering advances on the Artois front were repulsed, as were similar activities by the French on the Chemin-des-Dames. Patrol engagements southwest of St. Quentin resulted in the capture of a number of prisoners by us."

"Eastern front:
"The situation is unchanged."
"Macedonian front:
"There were no important developments."

American Men Between Ages of 21 and 30 liable for War Draft

Anti Conscription Propaganda Spread Through Various Cities

ARRESTS IN CHICAGO

By Courier Leased Wire
Washington, May 30.—Despite anti-conscription in many cities in which department of justice suspect as German propaganda, the department expects virtually all men between the ages of 21 and 30, inclusive to register for the war draft next Tuesday.

To insure this, further steps were taken to-day, looking to the prosecution of persons seeking to hinder registration plans and to the detection of those who may avoid registering. Criminal action is likely to be taken against slackers, and United States Marshals and Attorneys have instructions to watch closely for indications of anti-registration conspiracies and to assure the protection of registrars.

Chicago, May 30.—More than 30 persons, including several women suspected of conspiring to interfere with army registration next Tuesday, were taken to the federal building last night and questioned and many others are expected to be taken into custody to-day by Government operatives.

Thorton G. Clabaugh, head of the bureau of investigation of the Department of Justice has been in Wisconsin, but is expected to return here to-day when it is said that he will ask United States District Attorney Clyne to issue warrants for a number of persons arrested during the last few days on charges of attempting to thwart army registration.

London, May 30.—The weekly report of the British merchant vessels sunk by submarines will again show a favorable total when it is issued to-night. Warmer weather and the long days favor warfare on the submarines, and the admiralty is taking full advantage of these conditions. It is the belief of naval men that as long as these conditions prevail there is little likelihood that the submarines will make any better showing than in past months.

GERMAN CAPTIVES SAY BRUSILOFF IS HECTOR M'DONALD

Russ Leader, Noted For Strategy, and Daring, is Said to be Scottish General OLD STORY REVIVED

Whispered That McDonald Did Not Die by His Own Hand HISTORIC EXAMPLES

Other Parallel Cases of Disappearances of Noted Characters From the New York Sun: There is one Russian officer the Germans fear and hate more than any other, it is said, and he is General Alexis A. Brusiloff, quite as well known as the Grand Duke Nicholas as a strategist and fighter. And why is he hated? Because German officers and soldiers believe he is a Scotchman, formerly a well-known officer in the British army, and that Brusiloff is not his name.

In April a speech of his was reported from a banquet given to three deputies of the duma who were visiting his army. In this he said: "We of the active army are devoted wholeheartedly to Russia and the new government and are all equally prepared to lay down our lives to save Russia and make her happy."

"Until we defeat the enemy and destroy German imperialism and militarism there can be no glorious and powerful Russia. Those who think that the war can now be ended or that the country can be saved without going ahead are mistaken. To beat the enemy we must go ahead, for he who advances wins. More the Germans occupy a large area of our country and all this must be won back."

These laudable sentiments alone will not explain why the German fear and hate of Brusiloff persist even in prison camps in France and with fresh batches of prisoners among them. The explanation lies in the fact that Brusiloff is not a Russian, as they know him, but a Scotchman. Brusiloff is intensely anti-German, and intensely democratic; he is an English type, and might not pass for a Russian unless he is labelled. It is said he speaks several languages, chief among them English, with perfection and fluency. During his victories in Galicia in 1914 and in the siberian front in 1915 he persisted with the German forces opposed to him, and was brought back as gossip, to allied battlefields. The myth may be founded on no other solid evidence than his character and appearance, but it is said to be given credence in Berlin and to be discussed as a possibility in London.

Sir Hector Macdonald was an officer of the late '90s who rose through the non-commissioned ranks by sheer force of merit and was granted a title by King Edward VII. His military career had been a long and splendidly brave one. He fought with Kitchener in the Sudan campaign; in the Boer war he commanded a Division under Roberts; subsequently, he was sent to Ceylon as a commander-in-chief, and there rose to the pinnacle of his ability and power.

But his success was beclouded when, in 1903, he was recalled to Europe to face a court-martial on a charge of desertion. The circumstance was treated with that silence and secrecy peculiar to the British public in cases of immorality. Macdonald, it was whispered later in London, had been in the hands of the Germans and smoking rooms, had committed suicide in an obscure hotel in Paris rather than bear the disgrace of trial and certain punishment. His death was passed over with scarcely a line, and nothing further was ever written of that or of the charge against him; his former friends disclaimed any knowledge of where he died or where he was buried.

His name has come down to us as that of a man who, like Oscar Wilde and others, wished to have the world think him dead that he might drop completely out of sight and rise again among a people who knew nothing of his existence. The story of Wilde is facetiously declared to have been written by different persons in France, tramping, living and writing engaged in carteen work at a base near the French front. For years Englishmen sought to recognize in obscure reports of him the man who had been dropped into the open and established him in his proper place with the military forces. The German Macdonald to appear among his rural population, take root and grow there, draw him into the open and established him in his proper place with the military forces. When the Japanese took Port Arthur in the Russo-Japanese war it was whispered that there was an English officer masquerading as a Jap with the victorious mikado's forces and that he was called Nogi! Later, when Gen. Perkins committed hara-kiri, it was said his mission was done and that he had to disappear in order that Macdonald might rise again, later his own name as rumour or claim. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary Miss Gladys Smith.

Trieste Itself is Only Ten Miles From the Guns of Cadorna GERMANS CAPTURED Austrian Forces Strengthened by Numerous Companies of Prussians BIG GUNS CAPTURED Heroism of the Italian Advance Described by a Correspondent

London, May 30.—Describing recent fighting, the Times correspondent at Italian headquarters writes: "The Carso is different from all other battlefields. This huge sea of rocks, whose troughs and swells offer the advancing troops neither shelter nor concealment, has taken weeks to burrow into its ugly crust. The Carso is different from all other battlefields. This huge sea of rocks, whose troughs and swells offer the advancing troops neither shelter nor concealment, has taken weeks to burrow into its ugly crust.

Montefalcone breathes again. The last hill of the Carso is in Italian hands. The Carso has been penetrated to a depth of two or three miles. Trieste itself is only 10 miles from the Italian guns. The Italian artillery fire is precise and overwhelming. The Italian infantry exceeded every demand. Last night I met a division commander still under the spell of his day's success. "Since I was a boy," he said, "I have not seen artillery galloping into action with infantry, nor captains obliged to threaten troops with punishment if they did not restrain their advance. All this has been under enemy artillery fire twice as heavy as the Austrians were able to accumulate in 1916."

Battle North of Gorizia. On the southern end of the line near the head of the Gulf of Trieste in the Austro-Italian theatre, the Italians for the moment have carried their heroic effort to push forward to Trieste, and heavy fighting again is in progress to the north around Gorizia, Piava and the Vodice. The Austrians attempt to carry the offensive to the north, but the artillery of King Victor Emmanuel's men stopped the assaults, and in the last named sector they also were the first to break through the Austrian lines. The Austrians were driven back and lost one hundred men made prisoner. Around San Giobanni and Duino at the lower end of the line the Austrians were driven back and lost one hundred men made prisoner.

THE SITUATION.

The story of Italian gains still continues. The last Carso Hill has been taken and the big guns are getting nearer to Trieste. A description of the ground over which Cardona's forces are fighting adds still further to the remarkable nature of their offensive. To date over twenty-three thousand prisoners have been taken and a number of guns, including thirteen of the heaviest calibre.

The Russian situation is still disquieting. To add to the other disintegrating features is the announcement that the drinking of vodka has again broken out. Arthur Henderson, the British labor leader, who has a seat in the Lloyd George Cabinet, is heading a mission to Petrograd, which it is to be hoped will meet with good results.

There is still a lull on the British front and artillery fighting in the Champagne district is the only word from France.

An Allied conference has just been concluded in London, with the announcement that complete agreement was reached with regard to a number of important matters.

The British have successfully resumed fighting in East Africa, and have taken Major Wintgens, chief of the main German army.

There has naturally grown up in the Old Country, a demand for some form of reprisal with reference to the recent air attack on Folkestone, when such a number of non-combatants were killed. The brutal and inhuman treatment of British prisoners of war is also adding fuel to the flame. It seems to be generally recognized that the Huns in their desperation have determined to make their part in the struggle even more devilish than heretofore. Dr. Hill, former Ambassador to Germany, during the course of an address yesterday in New York, declared that the German people were ardently behind the Kaiser, and that it was a mistake to suppose that the Hohenzollerns alone were responsible for the desire of world dominion.

It is announced that an abundant Australian wheat crop will permit of the export of 5,000,000 tons over the home demand.

THE FREE TRADE FADDISTS

Free everything and let the rest of the Dominion go hang, is the slogan of many Western agitators. Hon. Frank Oliver is one of the leaders of the movement and in the Dominion House yesterday, he introduced an amendment for a general step towards Free Trade.

Among other things he asked that all farm implements be put on the free list.

Such a step, if adopted, would spell curtailment and in some instances ruin for many of the large industrial establishments of Ontario. Brantford, in particular, would be hard hit. With the barriers down the large concerns across the border would make a dumping ground of the Dominion and when their big trusts had worked the necessary havoc, prices would be higher than ever. Meanwhile Canadian workers would be thrown out of employment and the home market of the farmers largely smashed. Laurier put binder twine on the free list with what result?

Every Canadian factory was put out of business save one and the farmer has not been getting his twine one whit cheaper. The incident is illuminative as to what would happen all round if Cochrane and other faddists had their way.

Meanwhile it is very evident that the Liberal ranks still contain a number of men who are willing to play ducks and drakes with everything if they think thereby they can evolve a catch cry for office. The sober sense of the people, however, will prevent them from ever putting into effect their disastrous designs.

AFFAIRS AT OTTAWA.

Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier have been in conference at Ottawa, but as a matter of course each has kept his own counsel as to what transpired. All attempts to speculate what happened, may be classed as pure moonshine.

would seem to be that the Premier for patriotic reasons, is most anxious if possible to have the air cleared of petty party manoeuvring. There should be no time or place for such in connection with Canada's clear path of duty with reference to the present Empire crisis.

Mr. Balfour while at Ottawa attended a council meeting of the Borden government, presumably to advise its members as to the best course to pursue in the present crisis. As a member of a win-the-war administration at Westminster, it would be interesting to hear what he would have to say of the determined efforts of that government to conduct Canada's affairs at this time by a hit-and-miss band of partisans gotten together for political purposes.

H. G. of L. Messrs Brewster and Heyd, city solicitors have received acknowledgements from the Dominion and Provincial Premiers for receipt of this report of the local committee which this winter conducted an investigation into the high cost of living. Sir Robert Jordan, through the medium of the department of the under secretary of state assures the solicitors that the report is being considered and will be brought to the attention of the Government. Sir William Hearst states that the observations of the committee have been noted with interest especially those in connection with more efficient marketing, the organization of farmers, and the cold storage problem. He assures the city solicitors that the department of agriculture and the department of all times to assist along educational lines in any way possible.

INCOME TAX. Purely as a test case, the city solicitor has been instructed to take action against Mr. W. G. Raymond, the local Postmaster to secure an authoritative decision in this county as to whether Dominion Government officials are liable for payment of income tax. In the past, Government officials have been exempt from paying this tax, and the city fathers are of the opinion that this privilege should not exist. A similar test case was tried before Judge McGilivray of Toronto, and a verdict was handed down in favor of the municipality. Acting under instructions from Mayor Bowdler, the local Postmaster A. K. Bunnell communicated with Mr. W. G. Raymond explaining the situation to him and asking him to confer with the other Government employees in the city and ascertain their attitude. If they decided to pay the tax voluntarily, nothing more would be done, but otherwise it would be necessary to institute friendly proceedings, entirely impersonal, of course, as a test case.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL PLANS GROWING Arrangements for Monster Celebration of Dominion Jubilee Well Under Way

An encouraging meeting of the members of the executive of the Semi-Centennial Association was held in the Public Library last night, when the reports submitted by the various committees of the association were clearly indicated that nothing that will ensure a successful celebration has been omitted. The musical and entertainment committees have their work well in hand, and the finances of the organization are on a sound basis.

Finance Committee The report of this committee was read by Mr. George Ward and contained the prices for admission that had been decided upon for the entertainment that is to be held in Agricultural Park. The prices will be: children under twelve years, 15c; general admission 25c; automobiles 25c; bleacher seats, 15c; covered grandstand seats 25c. The committee also recommended that a guarantee list be circulated and that those who signed for certain amount would only be called on to contribute in the event of a deficit, or to pay such proportion of their guarantee as might be required. Should the weather be favorable, and the response as large as are expected, private subscriptions would not be called for. The report was adopted.

Entertainment Committee Chairman Mr. J. G. Liddell reported that negotiations had been in progress for securing one or more bands and that this feature of the entertainment would be definitely decided upon before the end of the week. The citizens who were to portray the principal characters are now being selected, and the costumes have been arranged for.

Music Committee A thorough and comprehensive summary of the work of this committee as drafted by Mr. Clifford Higgin, was read by Mr. Blain in the absence of the chairman, who was unable to be present. The hymns for the Sunday service have been selected by a sub-committee of the Ministerial Alliance. It is proposed to have a Confederation service in the churches of the city in the morning, while in the evening, the programme will be of a choral nature. A great Sunday School rally will be held in the afternoon at four o'clock, the Sunday schools of the city being grouped in different districts, and will gather at the Court House, Agricultural Park, O.S.B. Grounds, Recreation Park, and Tutela Park. A conductor and accompanist have been selected to take charge of the musical programme at each of these centers. The afternoon service will consist of addresses and the singing of familiar hymns. Hymn sheets are being printed and will be distributed among the different churches.

Vote of Sympathy A resolution, expressing the sympathy of the Association to Mr. S. P. Pitcher, the chairman, in the recent loss of his son at the front, was passed by a standing vote. A resolution expressing regret at the illness of Mr. J. A. Powell, and pleasure at his recovery, was also passed. Those present were I. S. Armstrong, chairman, F. S. Blain, secretary, John Hill, George Ward, George D. Watt, M. MacBride, D. J. Leary, S. A. Burnier, J. J. Clements, J. G. Liddell, A. T. Whittaker, Wm. Lane and T. E. C. Kilmer.

SPLENDID PRESENTATION OF HANDELS MARTIAL ORATORIO

By the Brantford Choral Society—Judas Maccabaeus Receives a Most Notable Rendering—Soloists and Chorus Alike Did Capital Work

Handel was sixty-one years old when in 1746, or five years after his masterpiece "The Messiah he composed Judas Maccabaeus. The author of the libretto was the celebrated Rev. Thomas Morell, D.D., who supplied Handel with seven such oratorio librettos. The first performance took place at Covent Garden, on April 1, 1747. No notice was taken of the initial production by the newspapers of the day, but the success was so instantaneous and complete that it was repeated on April 8, and given six times during the season. That the noble music gained the affections of the people is proved by the fact that Handel conducted the work no fewer than thirty-eight times during the remaining twelve years of his life. On the thirtieth occasion the receipts amounted to £300, in those days a very large sum. Jehudah Makkabi was the subject of the production. He still remains one of the glories of the Jews and is annually remembered at the Feast of the Restoration, or Lights. He was the third son of Mattathias, who thought only a priest, became the founder of the Maccabean Dynasty. It was he who made the stand against the persecution of the Jewish nation, and their religion, by the King of Syria. The Oratorio is in three parts. In the first the Israelites are lamenting the afflictions of captive Judah and the death of Mattathias. The Divine favor is invoked for a leader in order to bring about deliverance and Judas Maccabaeus is pointed out as the man. Then the tone of the opening chorus "Mourn, Ye Afflicted Children," becomes changed to songs of confidence in God and the receipt of liberty. The second part opens with peans of victory only in the midst of the rejoicings was given a splendid interpretation, and "See the Conquering Hero Comes" and "We never will bow down" conveyed the martial spirit with magnificent tonal force. The closing number "Hallelujah, Amen" was a tour de force.

Mr. J. Schofield, not only took the basso solos quite satisfactorily, but he also wielded the baton in a masterly manner. It was an onerous double responsibility remarkably achieved. Mr. Schofield has brought together a very fine band of vocalists, and his exceptional ability and musically power, have served to attain results with regard to which all

MR. SCHOFIELD Conductor

MR. PICKERING The energetic and efficient secretary to have a messenger arrive, announcing that war has been declared. "Ah, Wretched Israel," and "The Lord Worketh Wonders, are of the numbers in this play. Then Judas again calls the brave to muster around him and once more achieves a victory. The third part commences with the dedication of the recovered Temple at Jerusalem and praise to the Almighty. Such in brief, is an outline of the story told.

A Fine Performance The presentation of this work, as given last evening by the Brantford Choral Society in the Wellington St. Methodist church, was in every way satisfactory. The choir loft and platform, prettily faced with flowers, were filled to such an extent with the members, that there was an overflow into the overlooking gallery.

The Soloists Mrs. Reaman of Woodstock, the chief soprano, scored a triumph. She is the possessor of a most liquid voice of fine quality and maintained the sustained passages with remarkable ease. She was throughout thoroughly at home in her interpretation, and her tonal effects were delightful. She was especially effective in the recitative "To Heaven's Almighty King we kneel" and the air "O Liberty thou choicest treasure." Also the recit "O let eternal honors Crown His name" and air "From Mighty Kings." However it is a reality difficult to discriminate with regard to a performance of such all round evenness.

The honors she achieved were shared to quite an extent by Mr. McKinley, organist of Wesley Church. He is the possessor of a tenor of great range, and his technique was exceptional. The recit "My arms" and air "Sound an Alarm" were especially given with inspiring vigor. Mrs. Dr. Nichol, contralto, as usual did most satisfactory work in solo passages, in the trio with Mrs. Reaman and Miss Hubbard, and notably so in the fine duet with Mrs. Reaman "O Lovely Peace."

Miss Hubbard, mezzo soprano, did excellently. The Chorus. Better choral work has never been heard in Brantford, and in some essentials none so good. Attack, expression, tone left nothing to be desired and the balance was very fine indeed. "We come in bright array"

MR. T. DARWEN Organist concerned have every reason to feel proud. The Organist. Mr. T. Darwen, by his skill, did much to obtain orchestral effect. He showed himself to be a master of the instrument and his work added very much to the combined success. His rendition of the march after the chorus, "See the Conquering Hero Comes" was a particularly notable effort and the audience manifested well deserved appreciation.

There was a large attendance of music lovers and soloists and chorists alike were accorded frequent applause. Altogether, a thoroughly delightful and satisfying evening and one which abundantly served to demonstrate that in the "Brantford Choral Society" the city possesses an organization not only of ambitious scope but also thoroughly well able to implement their aspirations.

LIVED SEVEN DAYS ON WATER

Extraordinary Instance of Vitality in Case of Canadian Soldier

(By Stewart Lyon, Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press) Canadian Army Headquarters in France, May 30.—An extraordinary instance of vitality is reported of a soldier who had been out on patrol when he was wounded in the side by a bullet which had passed through his leg. He crawled into a shell hole and lay there during the daylight hours for seven days. He suffered frantically from thirst. At night he was able to crawl out to where some Germans lay dead and obtained a little water from their bottles. This was the only thing that passed his lips for seven days, yet when found and brought in the bullet wounds were beginning to heal. Sgt. Douglas Haig, British command-in-chief, honored by his presence the great gathering of players in which the Canadian Corps players took part yesterday. He was greatly pleased at the smartness, evolutions performed and the excellent music played. The pipes were brought in from various parts of the front and were used to take part in the festivals. Seldom, if ever, even at the greatest of highland gatherings have so many pipes and drums been seen. The parade state of the pipe bands of the fourteen battalions present showed fifteen pipes and 102 drums, and 10 drummers. Thousands of soldiers were on the parade ground to hear the pipes and see the commander-in-chief. Sgt. Douglas inspected some of the war trophies.

There was a renewal of enemy artillery activity during the night, directed chiefly against our back areas, but no infantry encounters followed. Yesterday the enemy gun pits were made targets for our heavy writers and an explosion followed by a fire, took place. The enemy guns have not been heard from since in that particular locality.

FARM HELP CAMPAIGN

The Brantford Board of Trade for sometime have been co-operating with the Board of Trade and County Farmers have decided on using the same system, that has been found so successful in Hamilton and other cities. The farmers have received circulars which they are to fill out, stating the kind of help they require and when. The men working in the factories and stores in Brantford will be asked to "do their bit" on the farm this summer, especially those who receive holidays and are paid for same. For inexperienced help, the farmer will pay $1.10 per day and board.

This is the same as a soldier gets. If the help is experienced, the farmer will be asked to "do their bit" and do not get a blank, should call at the Board of Trade Chambers, Temple Building and sign up.

A TRAFFIC INNOVATION

Which is Being Introduced in Brantford

A measure for assistance in governing traffic that is an innovation insofar as Brantford is concerned, was introduced to the citizens yesterday, when for the first time, "silent policemen" were placed on corners of the city thoroughfares where the traffic is heaviest. The board of traffic first recommended the installation of these traffic guides, and after securing the consent of the city council, purchased them and placed them at the disposal of the police department. They are manufactured in Gloucester, Mass., and where they have been in operation in other cities in Canada and in the United States have proved quite satisfactory. There are two types, one for general use which stands about four or five feet high, and is surmounted by a green flag. On the upright column, there is the sentence, "Go to the Right," which is plainly visible from all directions. Six of this kind are available, and three have been placed, one at Dalhousie and George, one at Dalhousie and Market, and another at Dalhousie at Brant Avenue.

The other type are for use in districts near schools, and bear the caution, "Safety First and Always," on one side, and on the other side a notice indicating that a school is nearby. One will be placed at the corner of Brant Avenue and Richmond, and the other at Brant Ave. and Palace, and on the latter side a notice indicating that a school is nearby, and accidents have been narrowly averted in the past.

A LIBERAL AMENDMENT

Calling for Free Agricultural Machinery and Other Things

Is Voted Down in the Dominion House

Ottawa, May 29.—Hon. Frank Oliver's tariff amendment calling for free wheat products, free agricultural machinery and implements, free food, general tariff reductions on all other articles, and an increase in the British preference, was voted down by the Commons this afternoon. It was a straight party vote of 65 to 38, a Government majority of 27. The feature of the closing stages of the debate upon the amendment was the "bolt" by Hugh Guthrie, Liberal member for South Wellington, who declined to give his support to the section of the amendment calling for general tariff reduction and an increased British preference. Mr. Guthrie explained that he favored the other proposals, but rather than vote for a lower tariff he sidestepped the vote altogether. The rest of the Opposition lined up with the Western wing of the party in their demand for a big step toward free trade.

WAR MAKES OLD MAIDS SCARCE

(By Leonard Raines) The scarcity of wedding rings has reached such a stage in belligerent countries that if war continues much longer, bridal couples will have to adopt the aluminum bands made in the trenches, or do away with the regulation ring altogether.

In England the shops no longer sell the plain gold or silver ring because the merchants all have been sold out. The goldsmiths have been doing military service nearly three years, and women do not think it worth while to try to learn a trade which the men will take up as soon as they return home.

This is the time of year when the big salons used to be running at the Grand Palais. Quite different scenes are now going on in the Exposition building every day.

There are no longer any old maids in England," remarked an officer recently. He was an Englishman visiting in Paris. He added that the Tommy past 25 in his regiment who was not married was the exception.

had finery they would not have worn it.

"Our soldiers don't marry haphazard, even though they do make up their minds overnight. At least they wish to do some measure of good, and in marrying girls without means they are aiding their country as well.

"All the young soldiers have at least one sweetheart on the string, and it is probable she sends him an encouraging word occasionally. Like enough in one of his letters he mentions marriage, and then correspondence becomes brisk and the engagement is on.

This is the time of year when the big salons used to be running at the Grand Palais. Quite different scenes are now going on in the Exposition building every day.

Parisians this week have their attention called to the fact that art is not dead by the inauguration of a new exposition of works of art.

A month ago half a dozen discharged or unmobilized artists left for the front to spend some weeks visiting ruined or evacuated villages in the north.

PREMIER CONFERS WITH SIR WILFRID

Conscription Bill Not to be Introduced in House Until Tomorrow

Ottawa, May 29.—There was a conference between Sir Robert Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the latter's rooms at the Parliament building today. The two leaders were closeted together for nearly an hour, and the circumstance added a new rumor to those which have been circulating in the corridors.

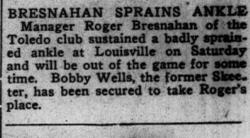

later transferred to canvas. These works will be viewed first at the Tulleries Palace, and later at the Luxembourg, that is, if the work is good enough to go to the Luxembourg, and it is probable some of them will be, as many of the men are ripe and talented.

The painters in the trenches would create a renaissance of art, and would be the founders of a new school, if all reports are correct. Just what these men have in their bonnets no one knows.

The paintings promise to be unique, for no such presentations of war have ever been recorded in history.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE STAGE AND SCREEN

IMPORTED FROM INDIA
In speaking of a Keystone comedy one does not often lay stress on its scenic value, but in the case of "Oriental Love," the environs are an important factor of the picture.

For this is the first film from India, the film that braved the war, that dodged the submarines, that shocked the natives in the making, and gave Mack Sennett one of the surprises of his life when it was dug out of the sealed package at the studio, developed and shown in the projecting room.

Hindu temples, rajah's palaces, elephants—all the pomp and panoply of the eastern empire were revealed, with wonderful photographic effects. Even a harem is shown with a magnificent bath in which the rajah's wives revel.

VILLAINS AND VEGETARIANS
Gardening occupies the leisure time of Har S. Northrup on the days when Edwin Carewe, Metro director, does not require his services in Ethel Barrymore's new production "The Greatest Power." A Metro-Roite feature in which he is principal villain, Mr. Northrup is one of those who add to the beauty and utility of Long Island by growing both flowers and vegetables. He is a practical farmer, being familiar with soil conditions of both the east and west coasts of the United States.

HAS REALIZED AMBITIONS
Linda A. Griffith, wife of David Wark Griffith, who has written the powerful drama "Charity," which will be released through Mutual has developed her talent for writing the last few years. When she was with the old Biograph Company in the early days, writing was only a great ambition to be longed after but rarely ever accomplished. Of late years, Mrs. Griffith has done less screen work, but has realized her ambition to write. One of the most interesting stories of the early days of motion pictures in her series of articles published by the Leslie-Judge Company in "Film Fun," the picture magazine. Mrs. Griffith says she can write best in an artist's smock, but aside from that she has no disturbing evidence of temperament.

"FAUST."
The coming visit of the Boston English Opera Company to the Grand Opera House, has been scheduled for Monday, June 4th, when they will present Gounod's masterpiece, "Faust," which has proven the most popular offering of their repertoire on account of the extraordinary list of stars to whom this opera gives their best opportunity.

The average grand opera offers display for the talent of one or two leading artists with less advantageous roles in the background, but in "Faust," a veritable "all star array" finds roles in which they appear at their best.

Joseph F. Sheehan, whom all America has proclaimed "the ideal Faust," will share honors with Mlle. Nelli Gardini, the sensational French prima donna, whose "Marguerite" is conceded to be the greatest since Melba first set the musical world afire with her noted impersonation of Gounod's ill-fated heroine.

Vittorio Trevisan, whose "Metropolitan" has won for him fame in the great music centres of Italy, and France, will share honors with Arthur Deane, whose "Valentine" has for years been the pride of England with the Carl Rosa Company.

Miss Florentine St. Clair as Seibel, and Mr. Robert Evans as Wagner, round out a cast which is truly entitled to the title of "All Stars." The orchestra and chorus have also been increased in size and quality, and under the direction of the eminent conductor, Maestro Giacomo Spadoni, is proving one of the features of the tour.

WELL FORTIFIED
A water proof, weather proof, bomb-proof, and fool-proof vault is in the progress of construction at the Lasky studio. It will have a capacity equal to three years' supply at the present rate of production of the company. The vault will be of concrete construction, armor-plated, with water-tight and air-tight compartments, surrounded by several rows of picket fences and a half dozen 20-foot motor boats, and it will be guarded against aerial attacks by a captive balloon.

"THE WHIP"
"The Whip" heralded as the biggest of all motion picture plays will open a return engagement of three days commencing Saturday, June 2nd. This wonderful picture with its fish-ripping scenes is undisputed as the most remarkable photo play ever presented before the public. In one of the many thrilling scenes two fast express trains are shown running at a tremendous speed; the rear car is detached from the first train directly in the path of the following express. The latter crushes into the car and is shattered into a mighty wreck, lit up by the lurid flames and shrouded in a pall of steam from the burst boiler of the overturned locomotive.

GIRLS FROM 6 TO 68
Line Up Daily About the Big Motion Picture Studios

Girls from 6 to 68 line up every morning before the offices of the "studio mothers," looking for jobs as "extras" in the films. Perhaps you've read about it. Well, here is the picture from a new angle, told by one of these "mothers" (the employment agents of the motion picture concerns,) in the Saturday Evening Post:

"Notwithstanding that we have lists of eligible applicants come in droves, many of them thinking their personal appearance will help land a job for a few days' work. Every morning at 8 o'clock when I open my window I see a heart for the great refusal. The first, a little pale-faced woman, will read it in my eyes, and pass on without a word; next, a great big hundred-and-seventy-pound doll, cinched up so that she can breathe only from the face out, will want to know whether there is anything in 'soup and fish,' as she has some swell clothes. Nothing doing!

The Giggling Kid
"A giggling kid, with molasses-candy hair and a sport coat, splashes up with aggressive buoyancy. She has brought her grips and is ready to go right to work. Flashing a certificate from the Feature Photodramatic School of Bird Centre, she sitters: "Oh, Mrs. Baron, I'm so glad to see you at last! I've come all the way from Indiana to act in moving pictures. I have a letter to you from Mr. Filmmam, my dear teacher. I'm one of his best graduate expressionists, and he says I make lovely gestures."

"I'm sorry, dear but I never heard of Mr. Filmmam and human certificates are the only ones this studio honors. The fact is, I have over 150 girls of your type already registered; yet we rarely use them, because we have a preferred list of about 20 who work injury to the crack race-horse "The Whip" and to prevent her from entering the Saratoga handicap—is defeated through the appearance of a rescue party who remove "The Whip" from the stalled car just before the crash. This stirring incident is merely one of the many that make "The Whip" stand out and eclipse all its predecessors.

FOOLISH TALK.

'Twas in the state of Wis., a senator got his. He sprung a line of talk that gave the state a shock, disloyal, foolish stuff of which we've had enough. His fellow statesmen rose and seized him by the nose, and fired him from his place, all loaded with disgrace. His little course is run, his statesmanship is done; in outer darkness now he clasps his clammy brow, and doubtless wishes that he hadn't used his hat through which to speak a piece; his woe will never cease. And other folks whose jaws was heedlessly should pause. The man whose active tongue on roller bearings hung, upon the zephyrs flings unpatriotic things, may find himself some worn, disdained, a thing of scorn. Perhaps he means no wrong, by his opinions strong; but men are under strain, and foolish talk and vain may stir their souls to ire, to doings fierce and dire. And then the gabsmith sees that talk is a disease. While riding on a rail he lifts his bitter wall, and wishes he had canned the words at his command.

have first call on all pictures. "You had better not go to any other studios until you have consulted with Miss Kingdom, our city mother. She will advise and perhaps help you get work. Here, take this card."

Parasite Mothers
"Next come one of the parasitic mothers who live on their young. She exhibits a commonplace little child, all gooped up with paint and peroxide, who is to be started young; for the mother thinks, in the back of her poor little head, that the youngster will put the family on Easy street.

"We are using no children this week, madam."

"No, I'm afraid not." "But what's this looking up from the edge of her rakish lid? As I live, another vamp! And only 18 years old! How pale and white she looks! And see those sad and sinful eyes, sleeping in their sea-green sockets!"

"Child, I'd be afraid to turn you loose on the lot in that make-up. You might vamp the boss, and then the studio would close down and we'd all be out of jobs. Now run right home and wash your face. You'll never get anywhere with that one."

"Good morning, Carrie. No, dear not to-day. Mr. Condon is starting a costume picture next week, and as he is partial to your type you probably can get on. I'll let you know."

"Ah, Carmelita! You got my message? Mr. Goodhue is starting a picture called "A Romance of the Mission," and he asked me to get him some pretty Spanish girls. Run along and find Josefa and Ynez and return."

"Mrs. Baron? Mrs. Baron, I've thought over my life from every angle and I've come to the positive conclusion that I have a moving picture soul. I want only a chance."

"Madame, I reply, 'you are suf-

THE MAELSTROM
 By Frank Froest
 Late Superintendent of the Criminal Investigation Department of New Scotland Yard. (Copyright)

(From Tuesday's Daily.)
 There are certain aspects that must be settled by specialists; there may be a thousand and one inquiries to make in rapid succession. Menzies had no idea of playing a lone hand.
 For a couple of hours a steady stream of officials and others descended on the house, and Linstone Terrace Gardens became the centre of such police activity as it had never dreamed of in its respectability and retirement.
 Men worked from house to house interviewing servants, masters, mistresses, cleaning such facts as could be obtained of the lonely, eccentric old man, his habits, his visitors, friends and relations.
 Inside the house the divisional surgeon had attended to Hallett. ("No serious injury; may come round any moment") and waited till flashlight photographs of the room had been taken from various angles ere examining the dead man.
 Draftsmen made plans to scale of the room and every article in it. A fingerprint expert peered round searchingly, scattering black or gray powder on things which the murderer might have touched. In the top-most rooms Congreve, Menzies's right-hand man, had begun a hasty search of the house, that would become more minute the next day.
 Menzies had occupied a morning room at the back of the house, and was deep in consultation with Sir Hilary Thornton, the grizzled assistant-commissioner, and Heldon Foyle, the square-shouldered, well-groomed superintendent of the criminal investigation department. There was little likeness between the three men, unless it lay in a certain hint of superiority in the eyes and a firmness of the mouth. A detective without a sense of humor is lost.
 Now and again Menzies broke off the conversation to issue an order or receive a report. Thornton observed for the first time the characters in which he made a few notes on the back of an envelope.
 "I didn't know you knew Greek, Menzies," he remarked.
 The chief inspector twiddled his pencil awkwardly. "I use it now and again, Sir Hilary. You see, if I should lose my notes by any chance it's odds against the finder reading them. I used to do them in shorthand, but I gave it up. There are too many people who understand it. Yes, what is it, Johnson?"
 The man who had entered held out a paper. "Addresses of the cook and housemaid, sir. One lives at Potters Bar, the other at Walthamstow."
 "Have them fetched by taxi," ordered Menzies curtly.
 "Couldn't you have statements taken from them?" asked Sir Hilary mildly. "It's rather a drag for women in the middle of the night."
 Menzies smoothed his mustache. "We don't know what may develop here, sir. We may want to put some questions quickly."
 While thus Menzies was straining every resource which a great organization possesses to gather together into his hands the ends of the case, Jimmie Hallett awoke once more. The throbbing in his head had gone, and he lay for a while with closed eyes, listlessly conscious of the murmur of low voices in the room.
 He sat up, and at once a dapper little man was by his side. "Ah, morning, he looked up. "Feeling better? Thats right. Drink this. We want you to pull yourself together for a little while."
 "Thanks. I'm all right," remarked Hallett mechanically. He drank something which the other held out to him in a tumbler, and a rush of new life thrilled through him. "Are you Mr. Menzies?"
 "No, I'm the police divisional surgeon. Mr. Menzies is in the next room. Think you're up to telling him what has happened? He's anxious to know the meaning of all this."
 "So am I," said Hallett grimly, and staggered to his feet. "Just a trifling groggy," he added as he swayed, and the little doctor with supporting shoulder under his arm.
 The three in the next room rose as Hallett was ushered in. It was Foyle who sprang up to assist Hallett and lifted him bodily on to the bed, where, which Menzies pushed under the chandelier, the doctor went out.
 "Quite comfortable, eh?" asked Foyle. "Let me make that cushion a bit easier for you. Now you're better. We won't worry you at present more than we can help, will we, Menzies?"
 Three great detectives, for all that their solicitude seemed solely for the comfort of the young man, were studying him keenly and unobtrusively. Already they had talked him over, but any suspicions that they might have held were quite indefinite.
 At the opening stage of a murder investigation every one is suspected. In that lies the difference between murder and professional crime. A burglar, a forger, is usually committed for one fixed motive, by a fixed class of criminal, and the search is narrowed from the start.
 A millionaire does not pick pockets, but he is quite as likely as any one else to kill an enemy. In a murder case no detective would say positively that any person is innocent until he is absolutely certain of the guilt of the real murderer.
 Hallett, whose brain was beginning to work swiftly, held out his hand to the chief inspector. "Pleased to meet you, Mr. Menzies. I've got a letter of introduction to you from Pinkerton. That's how I came to ring you up. My name's Hallett."
 Menzies shook hands. "Pleased to meet you, Mr. Hallett. This is Sir Hilary Thornton—Mr. Heldon Foyle."
 "And now," said Jimmie decisively, when the introductions were done, "do you people think I killed this man, Grey-Stratton?"
 The possibility had been in the minds of every one in the room, but they were taken aback by the abruptness of the question. Weir Menzies laughed, as though the idea were preposterous.
 "Not unless you've swallowed the pistol, Mr. Hallett. We've found no weapon of any kind. You were locked in, you know. Now tell us all about it. I couldn't hear a word you said on the telephone."
 They all listened thoughtfully until Hallett had finished. Thornton elevated his eyebrows in question at his own companions as the recital closed.
 "Where are those checks?" asked Foyle. "They may help us."
 Hallett patted his pockets in rapid succession. "They're gone!" he exclaimed. "They must have been taken off me when I was knocked out."
 "But the woman who was running after her, or the chap in the house?"
 "I haven't the vaguest idea of what the face of either of the men was like," said Hallett.
 "But the woman—the girl?" persisted Menzies.
 Hallett hesitated. "I—I think it possible that I might," he admitted. Then an impulse took him. "But I'm sure she's not the sort of person to be mixed up in—"
 The three detectives smiled openly. "In this kind of mess, you were going to say," finished Menzies. "There's only one flaw in your reasoning—she is."
 Wrung as dry of information as a squeezed sponge of water, Hallett was permitted to depart. The courtesy of Sir Hilary Thornton supplied him with a motor-car back to his hotel, the fore-thought of Menzies provided him with an escort in the shape of a detective sergeant. Hallett, who would have been less displeased had he known that the before-mentioned detective sergeant was to be relieved from all other duties for the specific purpose of keeping an eye upon him, kept Menzies at arms' length, and though his own impression of the young man had been favorable enough, he was taking no chances.
 All through that night Weir Menzies drove his allies hither and thither in the attempt to bring the end of the raveled threads of "my story" into his hand. No one knew better than he the importance of a first hot burst of pursuit. An hour in the initial stages of an investigation is worth a week later on.
 His irritation at being kept out of bed had all vanished now that he was on the warpath. He could think without regret of a committee meeting of the Church Restoration Fund, the following day, from which he would be forced to absent himself.
 Scores of messages had been sent over the private telegraph and telephone systems of the Metropolitan Police before, at seven o'clock in the morning, he took a respite. It was to an all-night Turkish bath in the neighborhood of Piccadilly Circus that he made his way.
 At nine o'clock, spruce and ruddy, showing no trace of his all-night work, beyond a slight tightening of the brows, he was in Heldon Foyle's office. The Superintendent nodded as he came in.
 "You look fine, Menzies. Got your man?"
 The other made a motion of his hand deprecatory of badinage.
 "None," he said, "but I've got a line on him."
 Foyle sat up and adjusted his pipe. "The deuce you have. Who is he?"
 "His name is Errol," said Menzies. "He's a stenographer of Grey-Stratton, and was pushed out of the country seven years ago."
 "Menzies," said Foyle, laying down his pipe-pan, "you ought to be in a book."

 MARRIED WOMEN IN BUSINESS

The man who sells is an important factor in any business. But not so important as the man who buys. At least so a business man told me recently.
 In the business of married life, in nine cases out of ten, the women are the buyers.
 One often hears married women complaining because their work is so monotonous and uninteresting and wishing they could go into business where they would have some chance to use their brains.
 Yet in the majority of cases these women are not using their brains in their share of the world's business.
 In fact the Small Income is The Hardest To Spend Wisely.
 To spend even a small income in the wisest, most efficient way is truly a task for all a woman has not only of brains but of character.
 Take the brain side of it first. A first class buyer, the kind who if she were a man would be offered positions by other houses, will know the value, not only the price, of all she buys. In the matter of food she will understand cuts of meat, she will know about the food values of various articles, she will see everything she buys instead of shopping by telephone.
 It is not the people who have the least money who will buy most carefully. A settlement worker told me of a woman who had six dollars a week to feed a family of five on and included in her budget a head of lettuce a day (ninety per cent water). The Woman Who Fills, Not Just Holds Her Job.
 In the matter of dry goods she will also be enough of a judge of materials not to be at the mercy of the clerk. She will know sleazy goods, she will be able to detect the shoddy, that so often lurks under the gloss of attractive styles. She will know at what shops each article can be bought at best advantage.
 These are a few—just a few—of the ways in which a woman who wants to fill her job of buyer, not merely hold it by virtue of the marriage agreement, will use her brains.
 Now as to character. The woman who buys to the best advantage must have self-restraint. She must know what she needs most and be able to resist a straight course towards it despite all temptations.
 She Just Went Out On A Spending Spree
 A dear little married friend of mine showed me a most attractive tea-table she had bought. It was a bargain, it was pretty, it was nice to have. But she needed so many things of every kind more! "My husband says I shouldn't have bought it. He's finding fault with what I buy," she pouted.
 Poor little lady! I know how it was. She has to scrimp and save all the time and she fell in love with this and knew it was a good value and she just went on a spree and bought it!
 And that's where character comes in.

BRITISH ENVOY GOES TO RUSSIA

Arthur Henderson Undertakes Important Mission to Petrograd

London, May 29.—It is officially announced that Arthur Henderson, member of the British Cabinet without portfolio and of the War Council, has undertaken an important Government mission to Russia, and that George Nicoll Barnes, Minister of Pensions, has been appointed a member of the War Cabinet without portfolio during Mr. Henderson's absence.
 Mr. Barnes, who now enters the War Cabinet as the representative of Labor in place of Mr. Henderson, has since August, 1914, been a strong advocate of the vigorous prosecution of the war, and has used his great influence with the workmen steadily in that direction. He lost one son in the war.
 Although, according to the official statement, he enters the Council temporarily, it is understood it will be necessary to appoint a new Pensions Minister, which may involve further Ministerial changes.
 Another event considered almost certain to be announced very shortly is the resignation of Lord Devonport, the position of Food Controller involves a daily increasing pressure of work and anxiety. Lord Devonport's health is far from satisfactory, and it is understood that he is very desirous of being relieved of the strain of office.

ORANGE MARMALADE
 Six Seville oranges, 2 lemons, 8 pounds of loaf sugar, 8 pints of water.
 Cut oranges and lemons very fine and put water on oranges and let stand 24 hours. Boil oranges until rinds are tender. Then add sugar and boil until syrup runs thick on plate. It is better to put a little water on pits and strain it in.

BAKED SWEET APPLES
 Very perfect apples are required for baking. Wash them but do not pare or core them. Put them into a baking pan with a little hot water in it. Bake in a hot oven. When taking them from the baking pan, be sure that each apple gets a coating of butter and raisins.
 Dip each apple in the beaten white of an egg, then in powdered sugar, and allow to stand in a cool oven until the icing is set.

ORANGE ICE
 One dozen Florida oranges, 1 quart water, 1 pint sugar.
 Peel the oranges, cut them in halves across the section, take out seeds and squeeze out the juice; add sugar and water, and when the sugar is dissolved strain and put in the can and freeze. Without the rind, it will have no bitter flavor.

LEMON SHERBERT
 Take a gallon of ice water, the juice of 20 lemons and 3 pints of sugar; place in freezer and freeze as ice cream.

STRAWBERRY CREAM
 One quart ripe strawberries rubbed through a hair sieve, mix with three pints of rich cream and sweetener. Whip to a froth; add 1-2 ounce dissolved gelatine. Serve in glasses. A very nice dessert for a warm day.

Good Night Stories
 By Charles Steward

METTA AND THE PRINCE
 Metta lived with her grandmother, and they were very poor. One morning, as Metta was on her way to market with a basket of eggs she felt something pulling her skirt, and turning she saw a poor little fellow reaching the stump Metta sat down and the hospital staff were safely transferred to other ships, and the crew were also saved, with the exception of six men, who are missing, and are feared to have been killed by the explosion.
 "His Majesty's armed mercantile cruiser Hilary, Acting Captain F. W. Dean, has been torpedoed and sunk in the North Sea. Four men were killed by the explosion."
ALGONQUIN PARK
 Get a copy of the Algonquin Park booklet and see what a beautiful spot this region is for a few days rest. Nearly 2,000 feet above the sea. Just the out-of-the-way place for a delightful change. The Highland Inn offers splendid accommodation. Good fishing. Through sleeping car from Toronto Thursday nights until June 24th. After which every week day. Write C. E. Horning, Union Station, Toronto.
SUNDAY BALL OPPOSED
 The proposal to play Sunday baseball in the big league parks of the eastern cities for the benefit of the military or Red Cross funds is likely to be strongly opposed by the authorities of both Philadelphia and Boston.
 Officials of the city Government in both communities have indicated that it would require a special legislative Act, which would be likely to meet considerable opposition.

HOSPITAL SHIP AND CRUISER ARE U-BOAT VICTIMS

Total Loss of Life on Two Torpedoed Vessels Not Over Ten

London, May 29.—The British hospital ship Dover Castle and the mercantile cruiser Hilary have been submerged in the Mediterranean and the North Sea respectively. It was announced to-day. Four of those aboard the Hilary were killed.
 The Hilary was evidently a converted cruiser, formerly the Booth liner of the same name. The Hilary was built in 1905, was a steel screw steamer, of 6,329 tons, and was registered at Liverpool.
 The text of the official announcement reads:
 "His Majesty's hospital ship Dover Castle was torpedoed without warning at 6.30 o'clock Saturday in the Mediterranean. At 8.30 she was again torpedoed and subsequently sank. The whole number of hospital patients and the hospital staff were safely transferred to other ships, and the crew were also saved, with the exception of six men, who are missing, and are feared to have been killed by the explosion."
