First Annual Banquet of New Class at First Baptist Church.

The first annual banquet of the Golden Circle Philanthropic Class was held last evening in the Sunday school hall of the First Baptist church and was one of the best of its kind in the history of the Sunday school. Miss Best, the efficient teacher of the class, presided over the banquet and did honor to the chair. The menu was inviting, and the tables were daintily arranged. The members of the Helping Hand Class served the members and the guests of the evening to a very choice supper consisting of roast chicken, mashed potatoes, French peas, olives, celery, salted peanuts, vanilla ice cream, assorted cakes and coffee.

Miss Best in introducing the program for the evening outlined the work of the class and told of the origin of the Baraca and Philanthropic organized class movements. The retiring officers had done great service and she felt that the success of the class was largely due to their untiring efforts and to the assistance Mrs. George Goodwin had rendered the class in its organization and work ever since its inception.

The toasts of the evening were interspersed with excellent music. Misses Mary Peirce and friend piano duet; Mr. V. O'Neill of Woodstock, sang in splendid voice. "Absent," Miss C. Wright also sang a very sweet song. Miss Gould and Mrs. D. L. Wright entertained the audience by humorous readings. The following toasts were given and responded to:

"Canada" proposed by Miss May Gardener, responded to by Mr. F. Schultz; "Our Guests," proposed by Miss Eva Lister, the retiring president of the class and responded to by Mr. D. L. Wright and Mr. Fred Chalcraft; "Our Class," proposed by Miss Margaret Williams, responded to by Miss Danlop; "Our Sunday School" proposed by Mr. Will Lemmon, responded to by Mr. J. W. Widup; "The Ladies" proposed by Mr. George Goodwin, responded to by Miss Pearl Eile; "The Gentlemen," proposed by Miss Carrie Wright, responded to by the pastor, Rev. Llewellyn Brown; "God Save the King," brought a delightful evening to a close.

The new officers of the class are as follows: Teacher, Miss Best; president, Elysie Graham; vice-president, Ruby Gardner; secretary and treasurer, Margaret Williams; chairman social committee, Eva Lister; chairman Devotional committee, Nettie Briggan; chairman Membership committee, Emma Foster.

It Takes a Lot OF WATCHES

To watch-please all the people. Some men's work requires absolute watch accuracy. We have Watches for these men at $25.00 up.

Others can get along with a watch that runs relatively true. These are cheaper—say $5.00 or more.

Some want large models, others prefer small sizes.

But no matter what you wish in Watches, it's here for men, women, boys and girls.

It's here, too, at the most for the money.

Nuptial Notes

CAMERON—SHULTIS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Shultis, 60 William street, Brantford, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, Oct. 29th, when Margaret, sister of Mr. Adam Shultis, was united in marriage to Mr. Colin Cameron of Rockwood. Rev. A. E. Lavell officiated. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her brother and look charming in a white French embroidered gown with real lace trimming; bridal veil made in bonhoir cap effect, caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The wedding march was played by Miss Velma Shultis niece of the bride. During the signing of the register, Miss Al-dah Shultis sang very sweetly "Oh, Love Divine." The house was tastefully decorated with ferns and palms and chrysanthemums, the color scheme being yellow and white throughout. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served, about forty guests being present. The customary toasts followed. The gifts which were many and costly indicated how highly the couple are esteemed by their many friends.

The bride travelled in a handsome suit of pearl grey with hat to match. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti and good wishes for Buffalo and other eastern cities.

The Slater Shoe

One of the striking improvements in the new Slater Shoe line is the Thermo-Sole Shoe for men—a NEW idea. This shoe is made with a special layer of light Asbestos material inserted between the inner and outer soles. This THERMO-SOLE acts as an insulator. It is a scientific non-conductor and excluder of heat, cold and damp. Just as the Thermos bottle keeps its contents at an exact degree of temperature, regardless of weather, so this Thermo intersole protects your feet from the temperature of the ground, keeps them normal in Summer heat and Winter cold.

This insulation feature is NEW in shoe making. It is a distinct advance for foot comfort and is found only in the Slater Thermo-Sole shoe. 42 styles. Button or lace, Black, Tan and Gun Metal uppers. Light, medium, or heavy soles.

A SPLENDID APPOINTMENT

The appointment of Mr. George Ryerson as Bursar at the School for the Blind, in succession to the late Mr. W. N. Hossie, will meet with universal approval. As before-related, officers for that institution are not chosen locally, but from the entire province, and it is known that strong bids were in for the post from other riders.

As before-related, officers for that institution are not chosen locally, but from the entire province, and it is known that strong bids were in for the post from other riders. However, Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P., backed by Mr. J. Westbrook, M.P.P., of North Brant, succeeded in having the claims of this county pushed to a successful issue.

Mr. Ryerson comes of good Conservative stock—none better anywhere—and he has held all positions in the gift of his party up to that of president of the Brantford Conservative Association. In the ranks or anywhere else he, like all the Ryerson connection, has always done yeoman Tory service.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The Borden Club has decided to add to its membership, and what the Borden Club goes after it gets. There are no better or more roomy quarters possessed by any Conservative organization in any other portion of the province, with billiard and pool tables, sports teams, a room for car-pooling, and other healthy and innocent diversions which prove so acceptable to many during the winter evenings.

The fee is only one dollar per annum, and the advantages are certainly worth many times that amount. In addition, many enjoyable programs are offered. The Guelph Club, as the outcome of a recent campaign, is over fifteen hundred strong, and the Brantford Club is going to emulate that number, and perhaps more so.

If you are a Conservative—and there are quite a few of us in this good burgh and county—you should become a member—if an active one, all the better, but a member anyway. When approached join with alacrity and a sweet smile, plus the cash. Remember, we have the four Brants. Had to have 'em, got 'em, going to keep 'em.

ONE WE LOSE

South Bruce has been lost to the Conservative party, and there is no need to squeal "bribery," as the Liberal papers have been doing with regard to every Conservative success since 1911.

Hand to Mouth

By Walt Mason

So many blow in every penny, and when the rainy day is here they're needing coin, but haven't any, and so they shed the scalding tear. "Big Business grinds the poor man's faces," I've heard them murmur once or twice; "our government a rank disgrace" is when worthy men can't raise the price. The rich men by their chauffeurs driven, regard the poor with haughty glance; the poor may have a show in heaven—on earth they surely have no chance.

The poor man has his chance, however; it's better now than it ever was, unless the fruits of his endeavor, he blows in wildly at the store; unless he burns his hard earned wages the quickest way that he knows how, he never had, in all the ages, a better chance than he has now. When luck is good and skies are sunny, and well paid jobs are running loose, a man should salt away his money where it will keep for winter use. However small the sum he picksles, 'twill cheer him when he's unemployed; I'd rather have a dozen nickels than nothing but an aching void.

St. Basil's Club Opening. On Wednesday evening next the young men of St. Basil's club will open their beautiful new club room on Brown street, with a social evening. The club rooms which were formerly the old Separate School, have been completely renovated; the partitions have been torn down, the walls and ceiling replastered and painted; a beautiful stage, new electric and gas fixtures installed, and a new hardwood floor laid. The rooms present a beautiful appearance which reflects great credit on the young men who in the course of two years have built the club up from a membership of ten to nearly 200, and it has always been self-sustaining. Invitations have been issued for the social evening on Nov. 5th, and a large attendance is looked for.

Notes and Comments. Who said South Bruce? Where in thunder is the riding, anyway? Truax certainly made a clean blow of it. Join the Borden Club and enter into the full joy of living. It is to be hoped when Truax reaches Ottawa he will not come into personal contact with Loggie, member from New Brunswick. The Liberals lost Chateaugay, and the Conservatives have lost Bruce, so that with regard to party strength it's a case of "As you were."

Breathes there a Tory, soul so dead, Who never to himself hath said, "The Borden Club I'm going to join. Put down my name and take the coin." It's so many months since our friends the enemy have had a chance to cheer that when it did come the noise resembled very much a rusty creak. The loss of that Quebec seat meant a whole lot more to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party than the loss of Bruce means to Premier Borden and his side.

It is announced that there is over ten million dollars invested in Prince Edward Island for raising silver foxes. In the rest of the Dominion there are also a number of foxes who raise silver, and, he jaspers, hang onto it.

Mr. George Ryerson enjoys the unique distinction of having been asked to take a Government position, with nary a kick from anyone when he accepted. Any man who can attain a public post under such circumstances is entitled to pat himself on the back.

The Toronto Globe rises to remark that as the result of the South Bruce contest "There will be no thirty-five million dollar emergency contribution." Bosh! The outcome was based, not on the navy issue as such, but on a race appeal to the German voters of the riding. That's all there is to it, and the thirty-five millions will go to John Bull according to promise.

MILITANT WAR IS NOW ON! (Continued from Page 1) Why is it that boarders should pay for gas and water rates, other than board and membership fees, for the small amount some of us may use in the laundry? Why, according to rates charged is it not a self-supporting institution. Upon what is the money expended that is subscribed annually by the prominent business men? Why does it take three to do the work of two? E. O. on good authority, it is said that there are between eight hundred and one thousand working girls in the city, and not one tenth are boarding at the Y. W. What is the reason? We would like an intelligent answer to these questions. All things come to those who wait—some of us have waited for years. Signed, L. Sellers, E. Morden, O. Thompson, M. Cheyne, E. Wolf, G.

GRAFT CHARGES TO BE PROBED

Murphy, Tammany Boss, Will Be One of the Chief Witnesses.

[Canadian Press Despatch] NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, was among the witnesses cited to appear at the so-called John Doe proceedings into the charges of corruption against Tammany made by John A. Hennessy, in recent speeches on behalf of the fusion ticket in the majority campaign. The hearing set for late this afternoon before Chief Magistrate McAdoo, will contain mainly the allegations as to campaign contributions.

Hennessy, it was thought, would be the first witness. Just when Mr. Murphy would be called depended on developments. "Every person whose name has been mentioned by Mr. Hennessy," said the district attorney to-day, "is apt to be called. Mr. Hennessy's little black book will also be put in evidence. The investigation will be thorough." "Hennessy, it is understood, has given the district attorney a list of about fifty names. Among them, it was said were those of Arthur A. McLean, treasurer of the Democratic state committee, and a prominent New York hotelkeeper. They will be asked about contributions which Hennessy says were made for campaign purposes, but never officially reported.

A statement was expected late to-day from Stephen J. Stillwell, the convict state senator in Sing Sing—excepts from whose alleged confession have been handled about during the campaign. In a statement issued last night he said he had never made charges against Murphy, and he added that this evening he would issue a sworn statement as to just what occurred when he had conferences with Hennessy and others. ### UNIONIST M. P. TO RESIGN.

Mr. W. Boyle, Unionist M. P. for Mid-Norfolk, has given notice of his retirement from Parliament at the next dissolution, having been hard hit by a transaction in Cuban Port shares.

Mr. Boyle, won Mid-Norfolk, a Liberal seat, in January, 1910, but in December, 1910 his majority was 37. He is a grandson of the late vice-admiral the Hon. Sir Courtenay Boyle, who was a son of the seventh Earl of Cork and Orre-y.

The Cuban Ports company was formed under a concession granted by the Cuban Government from February, 1911, for thirty years, and its bonds and shares were issued in London. Two or three months ago the President of Cuba issued a decree cancelling the concession on the ground, as he alleged, that it had been improperly obtained from a previous government. The bonds of the company, which at one time stood at 100, are now 65, and the stock which at one time stood at 29, is now at 8.

Local News

Will Play Here

The St. Patrick's club of Hamilton and the R. C. I. Rugby team will play at Agricultural Park to-morrow afternoon.

Hydro Notes.

The contractors have the brick work on the new power house for the Hydro Electric commission on Greenwich street, almost completed, and the roof will be put on next week.

God Bless our Home.

Some boys evidently possessed with the mischievous Halloween spirit, put the following motto on the City Hall:—"God Bless our Home."

Contribution.

The Courier acknowledges the receipt of $200 from Mr. John Main for the Hadaway building fund. There is now quite a sum awaiting at this office and the Secretary is requested to call and get same.

Officially Notified

Principal Gardiner of the Ontario School for the Blind this morning received the official notification from the Ontario Educational Department of the appointment of Mr. George Ryerson as a member of the staff.

Voters Lists

A number of the voters lists for 1914 have been delivered to the city clerk and may be seen in his office. All appeals against same must be filed with him on or before the 20th day of November.

Coat Missing

Mrs. D. Webster, one of the ladies assisting at the rummage sale, laid aside her new silk lined coat, and one of the other ladies either sold the same, thinking it one of the articles offered for purchase or else it was purloined. An effort is being made to trace the missing article.

He Impressed Beak

A man from Brantford who said he had never been in police court before got too much liquor here last night and was arrested in a helpless condition at the G. T. R. station early this morning. He impressed the magistrate favorably and was allowed to go on suspended sentence—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

At Bethel Hall.

An appreciative audience listened to the doctor's expository Bible study on the 8th chapter of John's Gospel. He spoke on the Duty of Jesus the Christ of God. He pointed out at great length the argumentative questions of the Lord to substantiate his claims for the duty that He is "equal with God" and the four witnesses who testify thereto. Dr. Weichimer will speak to-night on "The great Secret."

Successful Bazaar.

The Mission Band of Sydenham Street Methodist church held a most successful bazaar at 153 Sydenham street yesterday afternoon and evening. The affair was entirely in the hands of the boys and girls under the splendid leadership of Mrs. Ern. Alderson. The rooms had been fitted up in an attractive way with booths and decorations, and all manner of articles were for sale. The children had made a splendid display of fancy work, and these, together with articles given by friends made up a fine array. The candy counter and grocery and toilet articles section also did a thriving business. Tea was also served to a great many and altogether the affair was highly delightful. A tidy sum was realized for missionary purposes. Mrs. Alderson was assisted by Mrs. I. D. Scruton and Mrs. Wm. Escott.

Fine Time

Large Audience at Wesley Church Applaud Clever Entertainers.

The concert given in Wesley Methodist Church last night under the auspices of the choir by Messrs Rogers and Grilley, was of a high class order and the committee are to be congratulated for having secured such excellent talent for their concert. The entertainers are far above the average, their work being of the high class order and they won the hearts of their audience and should they return to the city in the future would be heartily welcomed.

Rogers and Grilley provided a varied and excellent programme and the numbers were all well received. They were forced many times to give encores. Mr. V. Rogers is a skilled harpist while his partner, Mr. C. T. Grilley is an exceedingly clever entertainer and character impersonator.

Dr. Robinson made a short address in which he announced that the Chicago Glee Club would provide the entertainment for the next concert, which will take place early in January.

Mr. Rogers opened the programme with a selection on the harp. For an encore gave Annie Laurie.

Gregory Brewster, a descriptive piece was Mr. Grilley's first number and it was his best number. He impersonated a British veteran of the Scots Guards, who had won a medal for bravery. His closing scene, in which he pictured the old warrior's death, was one of the finest pieces of work ever heard in Brantford. Mr. Grilley was loudly applauded for his work. His encore number, The House to House canvasser was very amusing.

During the course of the program Mr. Rogers played many classical selections on the harp and also gave such familiar numbers as Old Black Joe, My Old Kentucky Home, Home Sweet Home. The old time songs were perhaps appreciated more than the others.

Mr. Grilley's closing number, "In the Fall" was also a fine piece of work, and the audience one and all, regretted when the entertainment was brought to a close.

After the concert a reception for the entertainers was held in the basement of the church by the choir. Light refreshments were served after which the entertainers gave a few more selections.

Fell 400 Feet

German Aviator is Badly Bruised But is Not Killed.

(Canadian Press Dispatch) VERSAILLES, France, Oct. 31.—Victor Stoeffler, the well known German aviator, was severely bruised and his mechanic sustained a broken leg when their aeroplane capsized and fell from a height of 400 feet, while they were flying over the Versailles Park at 3 o'clock this morning.

The aviators had just left the aerodrome at Villacoublay on the way to Warsaw, Russian Poland, in an attempt to break the record made by the French aviator, Marcel G. Brindstone Des Moulinais, who flew the distance of 933 miles at a speed of 93.3 miles an hour on June 10 this year.

It was also Stoeffler's intention to try for the prize of $25,000 offered by the German National Aviation fund to the German aviator completing the greatest distance in a day, the time limit for which expires at midnight.

VIEW OF CANADIAN PRESS

A Montreal View

The Daily Mail, Montreal, Independent Conservative, says: "Whatever the local conditions in South Bruce, a German vote hostile to the naval contribution—a Scottish vote by heredity hostile to the Conservatives—the result will make the Ottawa authorities 'sit up and take notice,' and this will do no harm. The federal will take place from her late residence, McGill Tract, on Sunday, Nov. 2nd, at 1:30, to Mt. Pleasant Cemetery."

Another Montreal View

The Montreal Daily Telegraph (Liberal) says: "There is this difference between South Bruce and Chateauguay—South Bruce is a party in public works and Chateauguay was the former could not be influenced, therefore, by the promise of large expenditure from the federal treasury as a reward for voting for the Government, but the latter could. In Chateauguay the Government avoided the great issues before the Canadian people. In South Bruce there was no alternative but to meet the opposition in open fight. There can be no doubt that the defeat of the government's candidate yesterday and the lowering of the Conservative majority in half in East Middlesex signify a reaction against the present administration."

St. John Standard

ST. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 31—The Standard (Con.) says the result in South Bruce is not altogether a surprise and aside from the fact that a very uncertain Ontario constituency which since 1908 was in the Conservative column is now represented by a Liberal member, is not of particular importance. It cannot be said by any means to express the feeling of Ontario. The Standard alleges that desirable appeals were made by Liberals to race pride and prejudice.

Montreal Herald

MONTREAL, Oct. 31—The Herald (Independent Conservative) says the fact that the South Bruce election was fought almost exclusively on the naval issue is the significant thing about it. In the Herald's judgment the Conservative party should not minimize the importance of the Liberal win, coming as it does on the heels of the serious diminution of the Conservative majority in East Middlesex. Both these counties are representative of the thought of rural Ontario. The government should take every opportunity of putting its case in the strongest possible light before the voters in the neighboring provinces."

Toronto Star

TORONTO, Oct. 31—The Toronto Star says: "South Bruce has not only reversed the judgment which it gave in 1911, but it has gone back virtually to the position which it occupied in 1904 when the Laurier Government was at the height of its power. The Star argues that Mr. Borden is paying the penalty of repudiating the 1909 agreement on a naval policy. 'He won Drummond and Arthurs-baska by that means and in the general election he was supplemented. But the obstinate actions of the Premier with regard to his permanent policy enables his opponents to indulge in all sorts of misrepresentation. What is needed is a clear-cut statement from the Premier, setting forth the character of the permanent naval policy which he proposes for Canada.'

Toronto News

TORONTO, Oct. 31—The News says: "The truth is that in a very close contest and in a very doubtful constituency the Opposition scored a victory. It was known to the government from the first that the seat was in danger. Perhaps it was unwise to create a vacancy. But there is no law that a government shall carry every bye-election and the Borden government is strong enough in the House of Commons. It may be that a small percentage of Liberals who opposed the trade agreement with Washington have renewed their old political connections. Even this is not clear, while it is certain that the government naval proposals have not been condemned."

Montreal Star

The election of the Liberal candidate in South Bruce was not unexpected. Local conditions and the industry and popularity of the opposition candidate had much to do with it. We are told that the large majority of the local electors are of German origin and were painted for them as a deliberate encouragement to the "Jingoes" of Britain. It is nothing of the sort. The uttermost object of the Borden policy is to protect the motherland. "If a willingness to accept the united testimony of the statesmen who are guiding the destinies of the empire as to the trend of European politics, is to cost supporters of the Borden policy constituencies in which we may count on German origin played upon by unscrupulous politicians we can only say that it is our opinion that the government can better afford to lose such seats than the opposition can afford to win them by the sort of tactics which Mackenzie King employed fruitlessly two years ago in Waterloo, and which, reported declares, were repeated in South Bruce."

Hydro-Electric power

Hydro-Electric power was formally inaugurated at Elmira by Hon. Adam Beck in a big celebration attended by large delegations from neighboring towns. Because of the competition of Baltic woods from Russia, and the poor equipment for handling lumber in the harbor of Montreal, the export trade of lumber from this country to Great Britain is decreasing.

Petition Has 100 More Signatures than is Necessary

—Other Notes.

(From our own Correspondent) PARIS, Oct. 31—The death took place Wednesday night of Mrs. Midgeley, after an illness of fourteen weeks at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Sinclair, Brantford, who had been a very highly esteemed resident of Paris Plains for nearly all her life, removed West a few years ago and during the present summer came back to Paris to visit her daughter, falling ill just after arriving here. She had lain between life and death for many weeks, and despite all that loving hands could do, death proved the victor. Besides the bereaved husband to whom she was married over fifty years ago, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Wm. Teller of New Brunswick, Mrs. A. Sinclair, Paris, and Miss A. J. Strachan, Alberta, and two sons, Weston and Melville of Strathclair, Alberta. The remains will be held for interment pending the arrival of the distant members of the family.

Mr. F. Louis Gerndt passed away at his residence on James street on Wednesday night, death coming as a release after years of illness. At the time, Mr. Gerndt was a familiar figure in Paris, where his kindly disposition won him a host of friends. The funeral will take place on Sunday to Paris cemetery.

The local option petition has now some four hundred signatures, over one hundred more than is necessary, and it will be presented to the town clerk to-day. It is expected that a special meeting of the council will be called for this week to deal with the matter.

The Umpires Will Like it Better Anyway

Next May we'll gather in the stands and welcome back the team—And watch the same old race begin upon the same old scheme. The same old fans will all be there, but let me tell you 'Bo', it will not be the same old league, the league we used to know.

It will not seem the same to us, who knew it in the past, Although the games will be as good and every bit as fast. And if you ponder on the cause, I'm sure you'll quickly see That it could hardly be the same without old Knotty Lee.

Guelph and Berlin evidently intend making a determined stand against being wiped off the baseball map.

Veteran ball players are taking to golf as a means of keeping in condition during the winter months, where golf is at all possible.

It is said that "Buck" Bowman, the point player of Preston, will make his debut in the professional ranks this Fall with a Toronto team.—Toronto Star.

This season too, it has been suggested that the projected inter-league games between the Welsh League (South Wales) and the North Wales Alliance should be regarded as trial matches.

In the Conservative Club rooms to-night East Ward hockey enthusiasts will meet and very likely organize for the purpose of placing a team in the City League senior series. East Ward boys do not intend to be "dead ones."

The meeting of the Canadian League held in Toronto this afternoon, no doubt proved to be quite a talk feast. The stand taken by Guelph and Berlin to stay in the Canadian League was one of the important matters to be dealt with.

The West Brantford Hockeyists will meet to-night at 8 o'clock in R. H. Welsh's store for the purpose of organizing and entering a team in the City League. The boys across the river are out for fame as are the majority of mortals who play hockey in the Telephone City.

The first of the two international soccer matches to be played by Wales in the principality this season takes place on Saturday, January 17, when Ireland will be the visitors. The general belief is that this match will be allocated to Wrexham, and that the English match on Monday, March 16, will be fixed for South Wales. Quite apart from other considerations the chief point is that the English match is the principal attraction of the season, and as South Wales was without a representative game last year it is felt that this game should be played at Cardiff. It may tend to foster the existing good feeling existing between North and South Wales to add that this is the view of several influential North Wales sportsmen.

The referees this season have been notably lax in their interpretation of the rule regarding blocking of wings, etc. The rule is specific on the point. The use of the hands and holding is not permitted, but in every game it is a common thing to see players not in possession of the ball pulled down and thrown around in great style when attempting to follow up kicks. Under the circumstances there is every excuse for the player so handled to make use of his fists, and many of the battles on the field result from this cause.—Toronto News.

CON JONES WANTS THE FORFEIT MONEY.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Oct. 31.—Ald. Lynch has asked President Lynch to call a meeting of the British Columbia Lacrosse association to consider the lawyer's letters received by him in support of Con Jones' claim to the forfeit money which was extracted from the Vancouver management last season. The lawyers it is stated, are threatening to personally sue him and he would like the position made clear.

His Prayer.

The demon motorcycle racer was describing a thrilling race: "I gets off to a bad start," says he, "and for de foist two miles I was a trailin' de older guys a hundred yards in de rear. I shoots her more gas on de third mile but I ain't catchin' 'em none. Again I lets loose on de fourth mile. Two more laps and me trailin' 'em like a calliope in a circus process. Hully cats, it was rough—cheese. I wanted that race and wanted it bad. I creeps up and passes a couple of guys, and they was only one ahead of me on de last lap. I was closin' in on de turn and when I hit de stretch, believe me, I breathes a prayer.

"You prayed," interrupted the gushing young thing, "Oh, how lovely. And what did you pray?"

"Pray? Why I prays for that other gink to take a cramp in his machine, spill into the fence or blow a tire so's I could win." was the scornful reply.

The Montreal ball club has been notified by the Philadelphia Nationals that they cannot deliver Dr. Roy Miller, the outfielder in the trade for Catcher Burns, so the Royals have offered to take "Josh" Devore, formerly of the Giants. Dr. Miller's threat to quit the game rather than go to the International is looked upon as fishy.

GIANTS RELEASE COACH ROBINSON

Big Veteran is Slated to Lead Baltimore Federal League.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—The unconditional release by the New York National League team of Wilbert Robinson, the veteran coach, was announced last night in an official bulletin issued by President T. J. Lynch of the National League. Robinson, it was intimated, was negotiating with Federal League officials to become manager of the team to get placed in Baltimore next season.

Other releases announced by President Lynch are:—By Boston to Mobile—Fred V. Sitt and Bristol Lord; By Boston to Rochester—R. E. Myers and Guy Zinn. By Chicago to Terre Haute—George C. Schworn, By Cincinnati to St. Louis—George F. Suggs, under waiver rule. By New York to Chattanooga—Harry E. McCormick. By Philadelphia to Boston—Pitcher Beck.

TESREAU BEAT THE CHICAGO WHITE SOX.

BOHAN, Tex., Oct. 31.—The New York Giants won yesterday from the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 1. Local admirers of "Lefty" Russell presented him with a gold watch before the game. Score:—New York 4, Sox 1.

LINERS.

Manager Joe Tinker of the Cincinnati National League club yesterday signed a new contract for the season of 1914.

Some amusement was caused in London, Eng., by one of the illustrated London papers showing a picture of the crowds besieging the gates of the Polo Grounds in New York on the day of the first game of the world's baseball championship under the caption "Polo is popular in New York."

According to the physicians, Jack Coombs, pitcher of the Athletics, will be as good as new when the weights are removed from his spine to-day. After the dinner to the world's champions in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening, Coombs was almost smothered with flowers from his teammates.

Former Jones, Manager of the Chicago Americans when they won a world's championship in 1906, is a free agent at last. Jones retired from the leadership of Comiskey's team and from active baseball after the season of 1908, but every autumn up to this fall he was included in the list of players which the south side club reserved in the hope, it was said, that he might return to the game. The club did not include his name this year and he is now free to play ball wherever he wants to.

REALM OF SPORT.

It is Kingston's firm belief that the American rugby game will gradually be worked into the Canadian rules judging by the successful manner in which the McGill students are pulling off the interference game.

Galt will enter a junior O. H. A. team and probably an intermediate eleven. At a meeting the best held in years, the situation was thoroughly discussed and it was agreed that Galt could have two teams of more than ordinary strength this winter. A committee of T. J. Aikens, James Fraser, and Dr. Deans was appointed to look up the matter of available material and report back to a meeting of citizens to be called by the committee.

The Hamilton Tigers of 1913-14-5 had few superiors in the Canadian game. The champion Montreal team of 1907 was a first class squad but lacked the initiative and skillful and scientific attack of the old snap-back Tigers. In speaking of football teams Casey Baldwin's 1905 Varsity team should also come in for a share of honors when they are being distributed.

NO FUTURE FOR SOCCER ON ITS OWN

Must be Strictly Amateur to be Taken Up by Canadians, Says Ottawa Man

Ottawa Journal: "I am certainly not in favor of professionals and amateurs being allowed to compete with or against each other in either soccer or any other sport," says Mr. I. H. Hayes, Secretary-Treasurer of the champion Gas Works soccer team. "While I would favor a special dispensation being granted in the event of some of the big old country professional teams visiting Canada in order to allow people on this side to see the game at its best, I do not think the A. A. U. of C. should permit the mixing of amateurs and pros in soccer in our Canadian leagues."

Mr. Hayes points out that in time soccer is bound to be generally taken up by Canadians who will be interested in other sports, and that the soccer people cannot afford to break with the A. A. U. of C. If they did they would practically be limiting the game to newly-arrived old countrymen who play no other game and therefore do not care whether they are declared pros or not. "It could easily be arranged to allow the amateurs to play against pro. teams from England in exhibition games if the teams visit Canada," he pointed out, "and the players could retain their amateur status."

Mr. Hayes thinks the biggest mistake the D.F.A. could make would be to break with the A. A. U. of C. Soccer has a future if the soccer people remain in line with the governing amateur principles and may easily attract Canadians to the sport, but semi-professional and the ban of the A. A. U. of C. would surely limit the game to the old country players and would prevent its adoption as a Canadian sport.

ROYAL FOOTBALLER.

Prince Albert Picked for a Place in His Ship's Team.

Prince Albert, who is at present serving as a midshipman on H.M.S. Collingwood, took part at Portland in a football match between two teams from the ship.

The game was played to decide the eleven to meet H.M.S. Vanguard, and the Prince, who entered into the spirit of the game with much zest, was left half back, in which position he had to face a pair of stokers. So far from shirking a meeting with his opponents he was always "there" when wanted, and on one occasion succeeded in bringing both to earth with himself underneath.

The prince displayed a capital knowledge of the game, and was subsequently picked to represent his ship.

At the conclusion of the match he called the petty officer trainer of the team, and handing him some coins, said: "Here you are; take them into the canteen and give them all some tea—or beer if they like."

The Ottawa scribes organize and disband hockey leagues over night these days in the Capital.

CANADIAN LEAGUE CAN DROP TWO FRANCHISES

Membership of Any Club May be Terminated for Business Reasons on Majority Vote by Constitution.

HAMILTON, Oct. 31.—There has been a movement on foot in Canadian League circles for some time to drop the two weak members of the circuit, Guelph and Berlin, and either continue as a six-club circuit or take Niagara Falls and Erie, Pa., into the fold. This movement has met with considerable support, but the Guelph and Berlin clubs are strenuously opposed to any such move, and have come out flat-footed with the statement that they could not be dropped from the league membership unless they were willing to hand over their franchises or they violated league rules and were then deprived of their franchises. In making this claim the Berlin and Guelph owners may have been sincere, and may have believed that they were right, but if they will take time to look into the constitution of the Canadian League and read closely the paragraph headed "Termination of Membership" they will notice that there is a joker among the 13 reasons for depriving any club of its franchise. The joker comes in clause 13, which is as follows: "The membership of any club may be terminated for business reasons on a majority vote."

This alone is enough to enable the club owners to drop Berlin and Guelph if they so desire, although it is doubtful if they would go so far in cold-bloodedly throwing out the clubs without some compensation to the people concerned. The authority is there, however, and may be exercised if President Fitzgerald has rounded up better locations for the two franchise concerned.

NO WAIVER CLAUSE IN CONSTITUTION

Wanderers Cannot Hold Up Ronan of Ottawa—Ridpath Resigns.

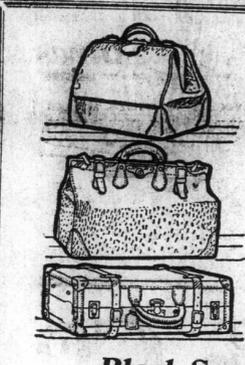

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—President Emmett Quinn of the National Hockey Association put a stop yesterday to the wrangle over the services of Skene Ronan, the Ottawa Hockey Club's forward. He stated that there was no waiver clause in the rules of the association and thus overruled the objection which the Wanderers had raised. When Joe Gorman put through the trade for the Patricks involving Carl Kendall in exchange for Ronan the Wanderer President came through with an objection on the ground that N.H.A. clubs had first call on the players, who were on the market. President Quinn, however, supports the contention of the Patricks of British Columbia, that they may exchange players without having the unanimous consent of the entire league in either case. Consequently Ronan becomes the property of the Patricks, while Kendall returns to Ottawa. It is said that Ottawa wished to get rid of Ronan because he was a "disturber and a trouble maker."

Ronan now states that he will not go to the coast, but it is likely that he will eventually decide to do so as his refusal would mean that he would have to remain out of the game.

President Lichtenhein, made an effort to purchase Jack Darragh, but the latter is not for sale. He said he had made a move to get Ronan because the latter had informed the Wanderer players that Ottawa had given him his unconditional release. The Wanderer President, however, stated that he would abide by President Quinn's ruling and let Ronan go west.

AMERICAN LEAGUE IS FASTER THAN NATIONAL

(By Tim, Murnane.)

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—I believe the American league as a whole was considerably stronger than the National league in playing strength this year. Last fall the post-season series at Cincinnati, Cleveland to Pittsburgh, New York and Boston sent well-matched teams to the field, but this season it was much different, for the American league representatives had much the best of it.

In the spring games at Philadelphia the Athletics had no trouble in taking the series from the Phillies, and this fall they made the National league champions look like second-raters. We will admit that the serious injury to several of the Giants' players was too big a handicap to carry when facing the Athletic machine, but that is the fortune of war. It simply shows that Connie Mack has developed athletes who can stand more work than McGraw's men.

Chicago fans were well satisfied during September that Johnny Evers' sluggers would easily take the series from the White Sox, but they were badly deceived, for Jimmy Callahan's boys won the series very handsomely.

The Pittsburg Pirates made a great stand against Cleveland, but the Naps won the seventh game at Pittsburg. Out in St. Louis there was a lively scrap between the two tail-end teams, and the honors were even. Take club for club down the line, and I figure the American league would win six of the eight series.

I was surprised to see clever baseball generals go so far astray in their daily predictions as to who would win during the last series. The Athletics opened on the Giants with their heavy guns and beat them to a frazzle at the Polo grounds. That night every one picked the Quakers for the money. Then Mathewson did some high class work the next day in Philadelphia, and the Quakers were beaten 3 to 0. Mathewson was saved by several great plays, any one of which might have lost him the day. That night while going from Philadelphia to New York I heard Ty Cobb, Jim Sheppard and other baseball men discussing the chances of the different teams for the series. Cobb felt bad over the loss of the game that day and said he rather favored the Giants, as he thought New York would have all the best of it in the way of pitchers. He asked me what I thought of it and was rather surprised when I picked the Athletics. Jim Sheppard chimed in by saying that the Athletics had no chance, as the Giants were a game lot of fighters and would surely win the series.

Sheppard's dope looked to me rather bold and insincere, and I answered that if the Athletics did not win in a walk I was willing to jump off the Brooklyn bridge. Thank goodness they won. Sheppard is now hiring in the coal country of Pennsylvania. I always figured J. Sheppard as a clever baseball man but changed my mind after that ride from Philadelphia to New York.

The same evening I had a talk with Hughie Jennings, who said that he thought the Giants were the real sure thing and gave me his reasons. But I could see that it was his sympathy for McGraw that made him think that way. There never was a move from start to finish after the bell rang that gave any indication that the Giants had a chance to ret the big end of the purse and no one knew this better than McGraw himself.

The night the series was over I joined a party of friends who were holding a consolation beer at one of the Broadway hotels. Besides Jennings, Joe Kelly and Germany Schaefer, there were a dozen of McGraw's personal friends present. McGraw himself, was the life of the party. He is as much as said that the second game in Philadelphia convinced him that his chances were slim. He had a good word to say for Larry McLean, in fact admitted that he could not have won the league championship except for the big catcher.

He did not play the cry baby with the men out of condition, but was rather inclined to praise his victorious opponents. McGraw said he thought Eddie Collins was the greatest player in the country, if not the greatest player that he ever saw. One of the guests remarked that Ty Cobb deserved the golden crown, and McGraw answered by saying, "I never had the pleasure of seeing Cobb in uniform but they tell me that he is a great player and I am willing to admit that he is the most valuable outfielder in the game, but there is a heap of difference between outfielders and infielders.

An outfielder may play a week without a difficult chance, while a man at second base is forced to make all sorts of plays and handle hard thrown balls with a man diving at his legs. You can get a hundred outfielders where you can pick up one second baseman, so I never believe in comparing the work of an in and out fielder. However, we will admit that Cobb is a shade stronger batter and run getter than Collins.

Now let me see what Collins stands for. He is a perfect athlete, with a long range, always in the game and immune from sprains and bruises, simply because he is an artist in the field and knows how to protect himself. His ground covering is wonderful, and he is in every play coaching the other men. His temperament is ideal for a ball player, for he is a man who works for his team first, last and always.

Before McGraw got through I could see by the expression on the faces of Jennings and Shafer that they agreed with the New York manager.

Both had been famous infielders and could fully appreciate the argument of the little Napoleon. I don't see how they could help doing otherwise, for I don't believe there is a question in the world but that Eddie Collins is a more valuable man than Ty Cobb. In fact, I was surprised to find that the little party almost to a man considered Tris Speaker a more valuable man than the "Georgia Peach."

I feel that McGraw was a philosopher and that his team was a shade better made up in his mind than the rest and think only of the fact that he is around the world with the Boston and White Sox. That day I saw an offer of $1500 to write a short series of articles from different points on the way by re-writing. I intend cutting out writing any more the papers as I am in need of a rest."

Joe Kelly told a pretty good story on how he met Connie Mack at the Polo grounds half an hour before the game started on the last day. He said, "Connie, you know I am against you, for I am for my old friend, McGraw. Mr. Mack grabbed him by the hand and said, 'I know you are Joe, but that's all right. Then the foxy Quaker manager took Mr. Kelly, his opponent's friend, to one side and told him he was going to pitch either Plank or Shawkey, and asked his opinion. Kelly was flabbergasted for a minute, but appreciated Connie Mack's apparent honesty, and told him that Shawkey would never go through against Mathewson. Mack thanked Kelly and started Plank.

Shawkey played in the International league before going to Philadelphia, so Joe Kelly knew all about him, and was just the man to give Connie the right dope.

WINNIPEG CURLERS WANTED IN LONDON

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The two rinks of Winnipeg curlers, who are to make an Ontario tour in January, will be invited to London by the Thistle Curling Club. President R. D. McDonald has undertaken to do everything in his power to secure a date in this city and the curlers are eagerly awaiting the acceptance of the invitation.

Berlin and Guelph evidently intend to make a determined stand against being wiped off the Canadian League map. To-day this matter will come up for discussion at the meeting in Toronto of the magnates.

JACK JOHNSON IS DOWN AND OUT IN GAY PAREE

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Charley Galvin, of Los Angeles, who for the past couple of years has been promoting ring events in Paris and the Continent of Europe, is here with the most tempting offer of a $20,000 purse for the battle to be decided in an arena he has engaged in London which will seat 15,000 people.

Galvin has much to say about Jack Johnson. He says that the Reno battler is as corpulent as a prize porker, and it seems impossible for him to get into condition. He is sure that the first good man who will get him will beat him.

"Johnson weighs at least 280 lbs. now," said Galvin. "He fairly paddles as he walks. He has actually been signed by Theodore Vienne, the Paris promoter, to meet whoever Vienne names. And Johnson is not to get any fabulous $30,000 either. Jack is about down and out. He has little or nothing, and is so poor he can hardly pay his hotel board. Several times he has been seized in Paris for failure to pay his way, and only the fact that all he has is in his wife's name or in the name of his secretary, Levy, everything he owns would be taken from him. Johnson has consented to battle anybody on a 25 per cent. winning basis, and a 20 per cent. losing basis, the same as other fighters with lesser reputations.

"The big smoke was in Vienna, when I left, showing in some vaudeville house there. He is just a curiosity now, and doesn't draw any

A Statement Is Made Regarding the Brantford Motor Truck Co.

Mr. John S. Dowling, liquidator, today made the following statement to The Courier:

At a general meeting of the shareholders of the Brantford Motor Truck Company, Limited, duly called for the purpose of considering a resolution for the winding up of the company, and held at the offices of the company on the 27th instant, it was resolved that John S. Dowling be appointed liquidator for the purpose of winding up the affairs of the company and distributing its property. The company has on hand, according to its latest statement, parts of unmanufactured stock in trade to an extent considerably in excess of its total liabilities. The liquidator proposes to have a careful inventory taken, and if it is found feasible to have these goods manufactured so as to produce returns which may be reasonably expected to satisfy the company's liabilities, the liquidator will endeavor to do so as soon as information is at hand, will be fully advised of the exact position of the company.

SOUTH BRUCE ELECTION IS CARRIED BY THE LIBERALS

Reuben Truax Winner of the Fiercest Political Fight in the History of the Riding—Appeals to Race Prejudice and Misrepresentation of Borden Naval Policy Responsible.

WALKERTON, Oct. 31.—Reuben E. Truax was elected to represent South Bruce in the House of Commons yesterday after the fiercest political fight in the history of the riding. The Liberal candidate's majority over Mr. W. D. Cargill was placed at a late hour last night at 125. In 1911 Mr. J. J. Donnelly, whose elevation to the Senate occasioned the vacancy in the elective chamber at Ottawa, received a majority of 103 over Mr. Truax.

The result by majorities: Truax, Cargill Walkerton ..... 90 .....
Lucknow ..... 16 .....
Teeswater ..... 14 .....
Paisley ..... 22 .....
Elderslie ..... 19 .....
Culross ..... 145 .....
Kinloss ..... 78 .....
Brant ..... 3 .....
Greenock ..... 144 .....
Carrick ..... 10 .....
Huron ..... 49 .....
Majority for Truax, 125.
Large Vote Cast

Both parties used many automobiles to scout the countryside for electors. The votes were consequently recorded at an early hour. At Fortnora, for example, all had been polled by 3 o'clock, and at Walkerton all had been accounted for by four o'clock, an hour before the booths closed. The vote was one of the largest in the history of the riding. In Brant, Carrick, Culross and Elderslie Townships the Conservative losses were most severe. In Huron and Greenock Townships and in Chesley and Teeswater Mr. Cargill made notable gains, while in Kinloss and Greenock Townships and the towns of Paisley and Walkerton he suffered small losses. Chesley did well for the Conservative candidate, increasing the majority of 31 in 1911 to 53. Walkerton, too, did better for him than his opponents had anticipated. It was expected to roll up a huge vote for Mr. Truax, since it was his home town, but although the number of ballots cast was much larger than at the general election it only increased the majority of the Liberal candidate by 31.

Campaign of Misrepresentation. Brant, Culross and Carrick, where are the homes of the greatest number of the German-Canadian electors, were the scene of a persistent campaign on the part of Mr. Truax and his host of workers. There the voters were told by the canvassers, by speakers from the platform, by letters and by circulars sent out by the Liberal candidate that Mr. R. L. Borden's plan was to send ships over to Great Britain to attack Germany. Conservatives strove to correct this barefaced misrepresentation of the Government's policy, but it had been too widely disseminated. In addition to this endeavor to foment race prejudice there was a quiet creed appeal. At several places, Liberal speakers attempted to stir up feeling by discussion of the "Ne Temere" decree. From the outset the result in South Bruce was uncertain. By the tactics of the Liberal candidate and his assistants the situation was still further

DREADED EPILEPSY

A Case That Should Bring Hope to Other Sufferers. There are many cases of epilepsy incurable so far as present medical knowledge extends and the sufferer is doomed to go through life a victim to a disease which has stricken him suddenly and without warning, and with each recurring affects his mental powers. Taken in time, however, many cases of epilepsy have been permanently cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in cases where the disease has not reached an acute form this remedy is worth giving a fair trial. Among the cures we give the following. Mrs. Robert Stringer, New Liskeard, Ont., says: "I have long felt that we should write and let you know what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for our grandson, who was attacked with epilepsy. The trouble seemed to come on following an attack of whooping cough. His parents seemed to notice that his eyes seemed to bulge out and that he would be unconscious for a few seconds, and would go about his play as usual. The child was five years old at this time. The trouble seemed to be growing more severe and the attacks to come oftener, and as the local doctors were not helping him they sent him to the Children's Hospital in Toronto. He remained there for a short time when the doctors said his trouble was epilepsy, and they could do nothing for him. Time went on and the attacks grew worse and in the fall of 1908 my daughter wrote me that the little fellow was getting so bad that they wanted to send him back to the hospital. I asked her to send him to me for a time, and as one of his eyes had become crooked I took him to an oculist, who said this trouble could be cured but it had nothing to do with bringing on his other trouble. As I knew that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were a splendid medicine I decided to give them to him, in the hope that they might benefit him. We were very careful as to diet, and as to keeping the child from excitement. In about a month we noticed that the trouble was lessening, and at this time the little fellow returned home and his mother kept up the treatment. In a few months he seemed fully cured but during the holidays the trouble came back in a milder form and the Pink Pills were again resorted to and again the trouble disappeared and although more than a year has passed there has not since been any sign of it. We feel so deeply indebted for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for him that we hope this plain statement of our experience will benefit some other sufferer. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AS VIEWED AT OTTAWA

Campaign Not Fought on Merits of the Two Policies. OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The loss of South Bruce in the bye-election yesterday is less of a disappointment to the Conservative party here than it would have been had the Liberal campaign been conducted on a basis of honest representation and discussion of the political issues upon which the constituencies of Chateaugay and East Middlesex gave their judgment in support of the Government candidate. That the Laurier emissaries were not campaigning on any such basis as this has been well known here, as elsewhere since the opening of the contest.

The Liberal organization confined their efforts to a creation of an impression among the German residents of the riding that the Borden naval proposals were in some way designed as a menace to the country of their origin. This campaign began very early in the summer, soon after the elevation of the late member, Mr. I. J. Donnelly to the Senate. In the effort to create racial prejudice among the German electorate, first, as was made of the garbled report of the utterances of Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes in British Columbia in which he was quoted as having said that the German Empire must be taught a lesson. This report was repudiated months ago, but this repudiation was completely ignored in the campaign card issued by the Liberal organization and sent directly to the Ger-

Poverty Which Lead to Crime

Want of Food and Clothing Lead to Stealing a Fur.

A pitiable story of poverty which led to crime, was told when Louisa Taylor, thirty-six, artificial flower maker, Elizabeth Barry, laundress, and Elizabeth Guest, 27, laundress, were indicted at the Old Bailey on Saturday for being concerned together in stealing a fur stole, value six guineas, from a Cheapside furrier's. Taylor and Barry pleaded guilty. Mr. Parcell appeared for Guest who pleaded not guilty.

On the evening of September 19th, Barry and Taylor entered the shop ostensibly to make a purchase. Whilst they were there a third woman entered and asked to be shown a hat, which she bought. The movements of the other two women aroused suspicion and Barry was carefully searched and a fur stole, from a hanger and put beneath her coat. They then left without making any purchase, but as they reached the street they were stopped and handed over to a police officer. The stolen fur was found in Barry's possession. A hat, which it was alleged, was purchased by the third woman, who disappeared, was found at Taylor's address in Crondall road, Hoxton.

Guest was a sister of Taylor. She was arrested a few days later. It was alleged that she was the third woman, and a confederate of the other woman. Several previous convictions were proved against Barry. Taylor had also been previously in trouble. Mr. Eustace Fulton, addressing the court in extenuation, said the case was a very sad one. Both Barry and Taylor were married women, and each had a family of six children. For some time past, they had been living in extreme poverty. Barry married at the age of seventeen, and shortly afterwards her husband was sent to ten years penal servitude. He was now in prison. Taylor's husband was a cripple and unable to work. As evidence of the poverty they were in, counsel produced a number of pawn tickets. The women had to keep their families upon the few shillings they carried.

Judge Rentoul sentenced Barry to three months hard labor, and Taylor, who was in a delicate state of health, to six weeks hard labor. Guest gave an emphatic denial to the allegations, and called evidence to support an alibi, but the jury found her guilty. Previous convictions were proved. Judge Rentoul passed a sentence of two months hard labor.

Year's Loss by Theft

"There is a regular conspiracy going on amongst the workmen of the Royal Edward," said Mr. Walter Cobbett, on Tuesday, at the Manchester Police Court, with reference to a case in which Frederick Higgins, of New Hall Street, Salford, a millwright earning 45 s. per week and employed by the British Westinghouse Company, was sent to prison for one month with hard labor. During the year the company had lost £1,000 in brass and copper that had been taken away. The trade was so profitable that it was no use imposing fines, and the magistrates were asked to deal with the men severely.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your crown. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked or looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By moving the gray hair disappears and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. Agent T. George Bowles. 611.

The Cash Intrigue

By George Randolph Chester
(Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Co.)

"To Forest Lakes!" Rensselaer exclaimed for at least the twentieth time. "Why, you old fox, you never said a word about ever having known Henry Breed or of ever having been to Forest Lakes!"

"I didn't dare," answered Phillip. "I didn't want my name to come on too soon, which it would have done had my connection with Breed been known."

"How did you happen to fall in with the old boy?" "I hunted him up!" said Phillip, with sudden fire. "As you know, this same crowd, of whom Pellman was at that time the head, let my father into a carefully prepared stock deal. It was as deliberate a pluck as any greenhorn ever got at the hands of a lot of confidence men, and it not only broke his purse, but it broke his heart. It left him without ambition, and when he died he left me absolutely penniless. Even as I now I planned to get even, but I knew I must wait. Down south the chance came. I made that oil strike, then luck paired in on me, and I began at last to make a fortune. One day about a year ago I read in a paper of Breed's anger against this same Wall Street crowd. I had formed some good acquaintances down there, and among them was a man who knew Breed personally. He gave me a letter of introduction. I then went to see Breed and proposed this plan. He returned an evasive answer, and I went back south. Shortly after I returned there, however, I discovered that Breed had put into operation the scheme by which I suggested he let the country of his currency. I discovered, too, that there were spies watching me and delving into my entire past history. I said nothing, but I made up my mind then that my time had come. Sure enough, Breed finally sent for me. He had employed other men for nearly a year to examine every instant of my career, and he was satisfied. I spent a week at Forest Lakes evolving the plan in detail, and you know the rest."

"It's a wonderful thing," declared Rensselaer, with a long breath. "It's a romance."

"There is more romance in modern business life than there was in the days of lance and shield," declared Phillip.

"They had now reached the stone wall that separated Forest Lakes and were admitted unchallenged at the door of Wilkins met Phillip, but he was no more than within when there was a rattle of silk in the hall and Lillian came eagerly forward to meet him.

"I understand," she said warmly, "that you are the conquering hero." "I have done what I was told to do." "But you have done it well. Now it is time that you came home to get your reward."

"I have been fairly well rewarded as it is," he replied. "By the way, I have brought with me an old friend of yours."

She turned and almost frowned as they were joined by young Rensselaer, who had stopped a moment to get something from the car.

"I will see you later, Bert," Kelvin called after him as he went up the stairs. Then to Lillian, "Where is Mr. Breed?"

"He is just trying to make the eighth hole out back of the stables, and I think he must be at about the hundredth stroke for it," she laughed. "I will go out and bring him while you remove the dust. Go right up to your old rooms; they have been waiting for you ever since you were here the other time. They were becoming very lonely some for you."

Sam passed them in the hall with the luggage. "When you get the luggage into Mr. Kelvin's room, Sam," directed Lillian, "you will find Lucy waiting for you in the kitchen."

Phillip turned into his apartments with a feeling of relief. He was very glad to rest for awhile from the turmoil of the financial crowd, to leave all the nervous tension of that tremendous tragedy behind him. Sam opened the luggage and put it away and had just gone down the back stairs when there came a timid knock at the door. Phillip opened it to a maid who had come with towels and stepped back in surprise.

"Elsie," he cried. "Why, Phillip?" exclaimed Elsie. "I didn't know you were to be here." "Nor I you," said he. "How does it come about?"

"That letter you gave to father," she explained. "I came with him, applied for a place as maid and got it. Father perfectly happy. He is to run and is perfectly happy. We are both doing very nicely. Don't Miss Lillian know that it was you who were to occupy these rooms?" "Why, certainly," replied Phillip. "I was here before." Elsie said nothing, but she wondered. Lillian had seen to Phillip's letter to her grandfather; in fact, Elsie had used it, after it had served its purpose for her father, as an introduction for herself, and she felt sure that it had secured her the place. Moreover, Lillian had constantly asked about Phillip, and Elsie had told her nothing; how good he was, yet Lillian had never mentioned that she knew him, and even now, when she told Elsie to bring the towels to this room, she did not mention Phillip's name. "Does she treat you nicely?" Phillip suddenly demanded. "Oh, yes; very nicely, indeed," she replied. And Phillip knew that she was not telling him all the truth. "We are all getting on well now," she said. "Grace has brought her children to live with us, and with what father and I earn we can do splendidly. We can even save a little money." "I am glad of that," he said and stopped, not knowing what else to say.

CHAPTER VII
It was while they were standing, Phillip, "Already you are embarrassing that pretty little maid whom you were accidentally kind enough to send to me."

"Has Mr. Breed come in?" asked Phillip, deliberately ignoring her accusation. "Now I know there is something in all this flirtation," she laughed, though still somewhat piqued. "Yes, Mr. Breed has come in, and he is waiting for you in the library." And with a cynicism that he would not see she led him downstairs to where Henry Breed received him with extreme cordiality. "Well done, my boy, well done!" said he, shaking hands with Phillip.

"Come back and look at my picture gallery now." In a room opening off the library to the right of the fireplace, where Breed now led him with the glee of a schoolboy, a row of photographs ran around the wall just above the wainscot. They were the photographs of all the more important men of Wall Street, but now upon each photograph there was an X shaped mark of red ink.

"I checked them off as they fell, one by one," said Breed, with infinite malice in his withered old face. "Five years ago, when they made that attack on me and beat down my cereal stocks to about nothing, I vowed that I would put them out of existence, and I have done it," and he rubbed his thin hands together. "With your help, my boy," he hastily added, "with your plan and your genius and your own hatred—and with my resources. We are a great team, my son. I have had reports about you. I know every move you made, what you did in every hour that you were in New York. How much money did you make of your own?"

Phillip drew a long breath. "Nearly half a million," he replied. "That is right," said Breed, nodding his head with emphasis. "It was in a good cause, eh, Lillian?"

"The girl laughed for answer. It was a good cause," she said. "It is all in a good cause," Breed continued, as if arguing against some accuser. "Business will be healthier. The Stock Exchange, instead of a mere clearing house for countless bucket shops, will become once more a place for the legitimate exchange of securities. It is a great work I have done for the country, but they won't realize it until I am dead. Your debts, Phillip? Is every one closed that could be closed?"

"Every one," returned Phillip with satisfaction. "In a few cases I could not secure stocks I wanted, but for the greater part I did. Those who could not pay had nothing to pay with."

"Right again!" and once more Henry Breed nodded his head vigorously. "The stocks were the main thing after we got back at our cash. Come! I will show you something that no one ever say but Lillian and myself. Where is Zephaniah?" He looked cautiously all round the room.

"He is out in the park," said Lillian. "I don't want him to see or to know. Come this way."

Back from this apartment was a bedroom, and in it was a closet hung neatly with clothes on hangers. Breed fumbled about for a moment at the neck of this closet, when suddenly the door flew open and a man in a dark suit and a top hat entered. "They passed through into a narrow passage connected between the stairways of the two rooms, and from his after swinging the door closed behind them the three passed down one long stairway and then another into a deep, semi-circular steel lined, a deposit vault, with four red-like passages, the heavy steel doors of which opened with a combination lock, treaded them slowly through, pushing advance electric buttons as he went.

HOME RULE IN IRELAND.

The Editor of the Courier,

Sir—I feel I am rather tardy in replying to the further letter of C. L. H., who I perceive signs himself as an Irish-Canadian Home Ruler and now admits that he is of Irish parentage and presumably he was born on Canadian soil. It is so far satisfactory to know this as his knowledge of Irish affairs is therefore limited to information he probably gleaned from his parents or from the perusal of newspapers or publications which bear on the history of Ireland and its social and political conditions from time to time and he possesses no personal experience in such matters.

Dealing with his second letter I can afford to pass over his reference to "Orange Loyalty" and "Treason" with contempt, except that I endorse his definition of the Orange motto, One King, One Flag. One Empire, with the addition of "One Parliament" and by that I mean a Parliament such as the English parliament guided by the dictates of justice, honesty and sound judgment, unclouded by any religious bigotry or intolerance such as would permeate the proposed Irish Parliament under Home Rule. With such a parliament I should be perfectly content as would be every sensible minded Or-angeman or Unionist all the world over. I have no doubt that Mr.
Winston Churchill would feel very flattered at C. L. H.'s friendly reference to "Churchill" (as if he was a bosom friend) in that "he has convictions and the courage of his convictions, etc." but I fear from the tone of his first letter that his convictions are few and his principle arguments more approaching "clap trap", to use a vulgar phrase and such as any paid "demagogue" would use and such as has been used in the vicinity of our palatial edifice known as the City Hall.

However, I have no wish to indulge in any facetious or long winded controversy with my friend or with his apparent colleague E. A.
Adams (whose letter I must deal with later) but to confine myself strictly to facts as they have been and now exist. I must however take exception to the statement as to the mission of the Rev. William McGuire, referred to as being somewhat distorted but lack of information at the moment deters me from dealing with this here in detail at the present moment.

Now I will deal with his first letter of C. L. H. I am not prepared to dispute his statement as to percentages of the various denominations of religion in Ireland, as it would mean looking up official statistics, which I personally cannot do, but for the "priest riddle" track it interests me but little, however important it may be to C. L. H. But I take strong issue with his statements as to equal rights and a square deal as practised by Orangemen and in particular Orange justice. Does he mean to in-sultate that protestant magistrates are so corrupt as to be biased in their judicial decisions as against Catholics because if so I throw the accusation back in his teeth. He has yet to prove that such a state of things is possible in this enlightened age and particularly in an intellectual and enlightened province, such as Ulster is at the present day. When I refer as I will shortly to the historical aspect of dealings between the Protestants and Catholics of Ireland, I am inclined to think that C.
L. H. will modify his views in this regard. For the moment I will deal with his incorrect and I think cowardly reference to the "sweat shops" of Belfast Orange-Unionist manufacturers. Is C. L. H. aware of the fact if not he should be told, that wages run in Belfast and other Ulster cities, 25 per cent to 30 per cent higher for skilled artisans from 25s. to £2 ($10.00) a week, while in Dublin and other parts of the country, wages run from 16s. to about £1 a week for the same labor. Then how does the sweating come in. These figures show a pretty good living wage for Ulster workers and is due to the wealthy and progressive men of Ulster that Ulster H. speaks of, men who have worked and worked hard from a poor start to make Ulster the rich thriving and prosperous province she now is. Let me ask C. L. H.

this question in passing, Why is it that this province of Ulster is so far ahead of other provinces, both in regard to agriculture and manufactures has reached this state prosperity?
Men of other provinces have had the same chances of success, the same fertility of soil and in many cases the soil is even more fertile—the same means of transport, the same opportunity of obtaining and utilizing English capital and yet forsooth, they are still, compared to Ulster, years and years behind, both in regard to prosperity, development of any enterprise and still keep on the same old groan of down-trodden Ireland. How is it that the name of that Ulster H.
contented and desiring to be peaceful and undisturbed, is to be tamely submitted to be dragged down to the same level or fight for her rights, and this all sensible-minded Orangemen intends to do, and will be prepared to

SHOT REVOLVER AT CROWD ON STREET

Two Are Dead as Result of Mad Escapade of,
An Unknown.

Big Crowd Was Making
Merry on Streets of Lancaster.

LANCASTER, Pa., Nov. 1.—The police are to-day seeking an unknown rider of a motor cycle who sped through Lancaster and Williamstown late last night discharging a revolver wildly among hallow'en crowds, and who is believed to be responsible for the killing of two persons.

One of the victims is sixteen year-old Ivan Graeff, who was with a crowd of other boys at Williamstown when the cyclist passed the group and without known provocation fired three shots from a revolver. One bullet struck Graeff in the temple and he died in a few minutes. The other victim was M. Collatta, an itinerant fruit merchant, whose body was found along the roadside near the southern limits of the city. It was first assumed that Collatta had fallen from his wagon and broken his neck, but an undertaker later discovered that the man had been shot in the right shoulder and that death had been caused by an internal hemorrhage. It is believed the shooting cyclist had passed along the same course as that on which the fruit merchant was presumably innocently driving.

May Go Free

Ortie McManigal Has But Six Days More of Jail Life.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Ortie E. McManigal, whose confession as an accomplice of the McNamara Brothers, figured in the trial at Indianapolis, of the union labor leaders whose appeal was taken under advisement yesterday afternoon after argument in the United States circuit court of appeals, may be a free man within six days. County authorities said to-day that with the decision on the appeals McManigal probably would be released from the Los Angeles county jail, where he has been a prisoner for two and a half years, having left it only for a few weeks to testify for the government at the Indianapolis trials last year.

Will Work Sunday Again

The Wright, Hazard and Cohen Co., have been granted permission to work to-morrow on the construction work at the foot of Jubilee Terrace in order that they may be able to complete same before the rough weather sets in. At present they have a night staff of eighty men and the day staff numbers about 85. A pump with a capacity of 6000 gallons a minute is kept constantly in motion with an auxiliary pump which also throws out 2,000 gallons a minute is also constantly at work and the contractors are doing their best to have the work completed at the earliest possible moment. Work on the retaining wall was commenced last night and 50 yards was laid and the contractors are in hopes that 100 yards will be laid to-day. With the retaining wall completed the contractors have nothing to fear, and the work will be rushed to completion.

A pass-book in his pocket probably prevented fatal injury to R. H. Clarke, electrician of Bobcaygeon when accidentally shot by a companion.

SONG.

Hear, sweet spirit; hear the spell,
Lest a blacker charm compel!
So shall the midnight breezes swell
With thy deep, long, lingering knell.

And at evening evermore,
In a chapel on the shore, Shall the chanter, sad and singly,
Yellow tapers burning faintly,
Doleful masses chant for thee—
Miserere Domine!

Hark, the cadences die away
On the quiet moonlight sea!
The boatmen rest their oars and sing,
"Miserere Domine!"
—Coleridge.
