Clothes— and the man

Clothes may not make the man, but they do make an impression.

Ever and anon you meet a man who is the picture of ease and serenity—the sort of a man who engages your attention at once—he is a pleasing figure, sure of himself, with an air that puts new charm and distinction into the meaning of self confidence, because he becomes his clothes and his clothes become him. He is pleasantly habited from his well-fitting suit to his immaculate collar and polished shoes. That our showing in Men's Suits is remarkable, you will readily agree when you see the "College Brand" values achieved through long and careful planning in close co-operation with the high-grade manufacturer.

The popular styles embrace types adaptable to slender and average figures in young men's suits single as well as double-breasted. There are models for young stout men, and many in conservative types. 10 HOUR DAY DECIDED ON BY MILL OWNERS

A meeting of the lumbermen and millowners on the Miramichi was held in the Miramichi Hotel, Newcastle, on Tuesday April 12th, at 2 p. m. The following were among those present: J. W. Brankley, W. B. Snowball, R. A. Snowball, James Robinson, W. G. Thurber, J. W. Maloney, Wm. Sinclair, Wm. Sullivan, Lee Buckley, A. J. Ritchie, Donald Fraser, L. J. O'Brien, and D. Ritchie. The matter of operating the mills on the basis of the 10 hour day for the coming season was discussed, and it was unanimously decided to run three mills on the 10 hour day for the coming season. Some of the operators present announced that they did not intend to run their mills this year, but most of the millowners say that they expect to operate providing there is an early settlement of the dispute with the mill men.

(An extraordinary Special Production by Vitagraph of the famous story by Gouverneur Morris, the motion picture version edited and embellished by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester; visualized with an all star cast headed by Wallace MacDonald and Marguerite De La Motte, directed by Tom Terris).

Wild adventure, danger, Love—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Human hog courts dainty dove—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Glances pass 'twixt man and maid,
Yet their meeting's long delayed;
Bitter price for treasure paid—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Road of Rock leads on to wealth
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Flight from vice wins life and health—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Road of Mud and shining star,
Path of Roses winds afar—
Where the thorny thickets are—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Road of Rock and Rosy Lane—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Cross and wind away again;
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Dainty maid is in despair,
Finds no comfort anywhere;
Plans to die by plunge from air—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Airplane wrecked in thunder-storm—
"TRUMPET ISLAND."
Death of Hog in human form—

Hearts with hope and courage beat,
E'er on all fear, defy defeat;
Lovers live and life is sweet—
Stirring tale from Morris' pen—

Sure to make a hit, we'll say—

DISTURBANCE AT FRASER'S MILL

There was a slight disturbance in labor circles Saturday night as the result of about 75 men marching over to Fraser's mill and invading it. Some nine or ten men were working in the mill doing repair work. The Union men, it is alleged, interfered with them and made a slight demonstration, telling the men they should not work ten hours a day. In threatening language, it is said, they tried to get the men to agree to the nine hour day. Mr. Donald Fraser was in the mill at the time and the Union men asked him if he would grant a nine hour day. He told them that the mill owners had decided upon a ten hour day and that must go. There was some warm talk and the Chief of Police was sent for. After the arrival of the Chief considerable discussion followed and then the men dispersed.

A man who was hauling wood for himself with a company horse, was interfered with. The horse was taken from him and put in the barn.

It is stated that some of the Union men affected by the strike are showing signs of wanting to return to work as they are feeling the pinch of being without employment.

J. S. MARTIN M.P.P. SPOKE TO MILLMEN

John S. Martin, M.P.P. for Northumberland County and president of the International Longshoremen's Association of Chatham addressed the Fredericton branch of the International Timber Workers Union at Victoria Mill Thursday evening.

Mr. Martin spoke of the organization and its work along the North Shore and the special problems which at present confronted its chief, of which was the demand on the part of the mill operators that the ten hour days be re-instated and the wage reduced.

Compromise Possible

The men realize that wages must go down and that the workers will not suffer if they do but the return to the ten hour day is not acceptable to them especially since other trades are still quitting after eight hour work. They will agree to a compromise and split the difference with lumber operators making it nine hours from whistle to whistle and accept the proposed reduction. This means to be only a temporary arrangement and meant to be used only for the present period of depression in the lumber business.

To Decide Tonight

Thursday night's meeting was held to give the men an opportunity of hearing Mr. Martin since he was unable to stay for the regular meeting which was held Friday night. At its definite action was to be taken by the men on the announcement by Frasers Companies Ltd., that when the Victoria mill starts wages would be cut twenty per cent and the day lengthened to ten hours.

THREE ARRESTS MADE

FOR STORE BREAKING
The store of Joseph Salome was broken into between 2 and 3 o'clock Saturday morning and the proprietor reported that he lost 4 watches, 3 rings, 2 razors, and several pairs of boots and pants. Sometime during Saturday it was learned that a young man Roderick LeBretin (age about 21, had sold a ring on the street for 25 cents. The Chief of Police obtained the ring and Mr. Salome identified it as one that had been stolen. This led to LeBretin's arrest. He first claimed he was innocent, but later on confessed that he had broken into the store, by breaking in the back window. In his room were found 2 watches, 2 rings, a razor and some soap. The prisoner first alleged that he had been alone, but after spending a night in jail he implicated two other young fellows, named Hugh Wood, aged 15, and Wm. McCafferty, aged about 21, both of whom were also arrested.

No Model Farm For North Shore

Fredericton, N. B., April 14—The committee on agriculture met this morning. Harvey Mitchell, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, appeared and at the request of the chairman, spoke on a number of subjects including the demonstration work and the activities of the district representatives and other officials of the department who went through the province for instruction purposes. Discussion upon the value of such instructional work followed, opinion of members of the committee varying considerably. A resolution passed by the New Brunswick farmers' and dairymen's association at its last annual meeting, to the effect that the Federal Government should be requested to establish an experimental station on the North Shore, was placed before the committee. The general opinion was that such an experimental station was not necessary, but that greater attention should be devoted elementary agricultural education, particularly school gardens.

Not Granting School
On motion of Mr. Young, the committee passed a resolution to the effect that the committee did not concur in the resolution of the farmers' and dairymen's association, but was of the opinion that demonstration farms should be established throughout the province, and that more attention should be devoted to school gardens.

Expect Election In Manitoba Very Soon

Winnipeg, April 13—Possibilities for a general election in Manitoba during the coming summer were never brighter than today, says the Winnipeg Free Press this afternoon in a news story on the authority of "general opinion at the parliament buildings." The division in the legislature yesterday when by the deciding vote of the Speaker, the government was saved from defeat on a resolution which called for its resignation and the reconstruction of the Cabinet to represent all groups, is said to have "placed the government in the position where it feels that an appeal to the people is almost imminent."

An Appreciation Of A. Bonar Law

(By an Old Parliamentary Friend in the London Times)

Seldom in the history of Parliament, and never within the recollection of the present House of Commons, has there been witnessed so moving a spectacle as that which took place when the Prime Minister announced the resignation of Mr. Bonar Law. Members appeared to find it difficult to believe that the familiar figure who had won his way into the respect and affection of every one had vanished, possibly for ever, certainly for a considerable time.

Mr. Bonar Law has none of the attributes of genius. He has the outward and visible sign of his fellow man, the inward and invisible signs of real statesmanship, coupled with a high sense of duty to his country. When the skein of debate, r-cane tangled it was he who unravelled the threads. He was essentially a House of Commons man, but that is not all. In the Council Chamber his place may be best summed up in the words of a distinguished friend with whom he sometimes differed: "The annoying thing about Bonar is that he is usually right."

Of necessity his best work was negative in character. It was rather those things which he prevented being done than those which he did for which the country must be grateful. This fact, coupled with an innate dread of publicity, has kept him out of the limelight. The least masterful of men, his mastery of debate and of the House of Commons sprang from his perfect hands and innate sympathy with the horse he rode, and above all things, from his unerring judgment.

WAR SERVICES

To his services the country during the war history will, no doubt, give their true value. The letter which, in conjunction with Lord Lansdowne, he wrote without consultation with his colleagues on August 2, 1914, to Mr. Asquith will always remain a landmark in British history. On the formation of the first Coalition, although he had not before occupied one of the high offices of State, he rose to the full height of his responsibility, and it is an open secret that it was due largely to his unerring instinct and to the energy with which he pursued it that the abandonment of the tragic enterprise in Gallipoli was due.

On the fall of the first Coalition he had the courage to refuse the highest office in the State because he thought that the present Prime Minister possessed in a higher degree than he that peculiar magnetic quality which is essential to a democratic leader in a time of national crisis. On the formation of the second Coalition the burden which was placed on his shoulders was almost superhuman, and for the two last and most critical years of the war he bore it uncomplainingly and untiringly. His first duty, on becoming Chancellor of the Exchequer was the raising of the Victory Loan of over £1,000,000,000. It was during this time that he suffered the loss in action of his eldest son, whose younger brother had fallen at Gaza twelve months before.

It was no unusual occurrence for Mr. Bonar Law to be working in the early hours of the morning in his room long after the House had risen. Perhaps an idea of the strain of his work can best be given by relating that after a particularly long and arduous day in Parliament, followed next morning by a spell of official work in Downing Street he motored to Hendon, flew to Paris by aeroplane, and attended the same afternoon an Inter-Allied conference by no means as a spectator, and the next day flew back in time to take his place as Leader of the House of Commons.

After the Armistice came the Peace Conference in Paris, on which he served as one of the British plenipotentiaries, while at home he led the House through two of the most strenuous Sessions in the history of Parliament.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good. Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives.' 'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

In the House of Commons to-day, in the overwhelming sense of personal loss which is felt by every member, the predominant feeling is one of thankfulness that Mr. Bonar Law has laid down the burden of office before he has suffered irreparable damage, coupled with a fervent hope that before long, after a complete rest, his familiar figure may once again be welcomed within the precincts of the Palace of Westminster.

Local medical attendants have had in consultation, Dr. Abramson, provincial pathologist, St. John, who is of the opinion that it is a genuine case of sleeping sickness.

"Municipal And Real Estate Finance In Canada"

The pamphlet entitled "Municipal and Real Estate Finance in Canada" just issued by the Commission of Conservation touches upon some of Canada's most difficult financial problems. It is a clear and convincing statement by Mr. Thos. Adams, Town Planning Adviser to the Commission, regarding housing land speculation and high taxation, resulting from municipal waste and mismanagement.

No national problem in Canada is of greater importance than that which has to do with the conservation of human and financial resources in our cities and towns. This publication emphasizes the fact that until we employ saner methods in developing our community life any efforts being made to conserve our natural resources must be nullified as a result of the careless way in which the wealth derived from these resources is dissipated by bad forms of land development.

This pamphlet may be obtained free on application to the Commission of Conservation, Ottawa.

"Hasn't An Equal" Says Mrs. Lewis

St. John Woman Tells Of Good Tanlac Did Her For The Benefit of Others.

"For the sake of others who may be suffering from the after effects of influenza, I am glad to tell of my experience with Tanlac," said Mrs. Lewis Gilliland, of 96 Sea Street, St. John, N. B.

"Ever since I had the influenza year before last, I had been in a badly run-down condition. I had no appetite, never dared eat rich foods of any kind and, no matter what I ate, I suffered terribly from indigestion. I also suffered from constipation, had blinding headaches and almost unbearable pains in my back.

"The noises of the children playing almost set me wild, and my nervousness kept me awake so much every night that I felt as tired in the mornings as if I hadn't gone to bed at all. To add to my misery, I was badly crippled up with rheumatism, which caused me intense suffering.

"Well, I have only taken two bottles of Tanlac so far, but I haven't had a headache since I began taking it and I believe my rheumatism is gone completely, for I never feel a touch of it. My appetite is just splendid and I can eat anything I want and never suffer any afterwards. My constipation and nervousness have left me, and I just feel fine all the time. For those who suffer as I did, I don't believe there is anything in the world equal to Tanlac."

THE NEW TYRANNY

Students with hearts, are deeply concerned about the present unrest religiously, socially and politically, which is disturbing almost every rationality under the sun.

Just at present social disturbance, seems to have the sway, and the so-called working men, seem to have conspired for a world wide attack upon anything and everything, which would not yield to their demands. They would, if they could, grasp power of national extent, and exercise Government with utter disregard to the feelings and capabilities of others, and complete unconcern as to whether any body else, the general public, and Governmental rulers, like it or not. They obey rather the dictates of their labor leaders than the dictates of common sense the actual requirements of production, and the necessity for financial fairness, as a principal upon which both Employers and Employer can live and let live.

Unionism has reached such a stage in world history, that it is fast becoming a world curse. It is raising a feeling of antagonism in the hearts of those, who wish for the well being of all men, and are against the exploiting of the community at large. It should be borne in mind that taking the membership of all the Unions, or Trade Unions of the world, combined, they form a very small share of the world's population, and it does not require much of a prophetic spirit, to foresee, that a time is approaching, when Union tyranny will not be allowed, and when either the vast majority of the people nor Parliaments, will submit to be dictated to, in the selfish, arrogant tone which some would be Labor Czars and leaders adopt at the present time.

Let us look across at the Motherland, and note what we see there. About two million Union men trying to hold up the entire country, and its industries, robbing a vastly greater number of millions of national requirements, and defiantly disregarding any settlement not suited to their sweet will. It is a bold attempt of a small minority to rule the vast majority of the people. The United States, has had quite a dose of this New Tyranny, and the courts and Government of that country, have justly sent some of their leaders and chiefs of the clan, to their proper quarters in jail and penitentiary. The people, as they should in every free country, are calling for the "Open Shop," where every man can make his own bargains and terms, accept or reject, just as he pleases, and not run the risk of being insulted and howled at on the streets, or being the victim of mob law, and riot ammunition of all sorts.

The writer knows for a fact that in the membership of Unions, men can be found against whom no word can be said personally. They have a character as law abiding, and generally good citizens, husbands and fathers. When at work, these men use their utmost effort to produce all they can, and give a full and fair days work for their wages. It would be an easy matter to prove that lots of the Union men, have no such good character, or as Bishop Fulton, one of the ablest Roman Catholic prelates in Canada, said the other day, they want a full days pay, but are not very particular about giving a full days work for it; or words to that effect. Go into any Union Shop you like, and if possessed of common sense and power of observation, it is easy to see men who bend every energy to their work, and lots of them mere schemers and dilly dalliers, who do as little as they can to fill in the day. This latter class, are mostly the greatest growlers and grumblers, every one of them having something to say about workmens rights, shorter hours, more pay, and all the rest of their creed. Many of them can be found round street corners or up alley ways, with a whiskey bottle, for inspiration, and a glib tongue to orate their so-called wrongs.

As hinted already, it is only right to say, that all Union men are not of a worthless class. Yet even they have to submit to this New Tyranny. In conversation with one a few days ago, himself a member in full standing; he declared bitterly, "I look upon these Unions, as a curse to the country: Being asked why he remained a member, his reply showed the compulsion over him. "I must live somehow, I cannot get work in that shop, unless I am a member of the cursed Union. I don't want to be called a scab, and otherwise abused. There are fellows in there not worth their salt, but they are union men so they are backed up, and get as good pay as a man worth every cent he earns. It is not a fair deal for the Company, but what can I do, or a few like me? I want to live respectable, I have a wife and family to keep, we cant live on the wind, I must work and I cannot get work there, unless I am a union man. His last sentence was remarkable "I thought this was a free country. I am out idle today, because I dare not go against the Union. If I do, it is hard to say what they are capable of doing. A lot of our men are all right, but there is a set of loudmouthed agitators got among them, who seem to ride over everything, so men who would otherwise work, are forced to idleness.

If this is freedom in a free country I cant see it. It is tyranny and all I can say is—If ever the Canadian Government gets into the hands of that class of Laborites, God Help Canada! They are not fit to govern and should leave it to better men.

Enough for the present Mr. Editor. The writer has worked for his living, ever since he was able to work, and proud of the fact. I am equally proud, that I was never a Union Member, but a free and manly.

It is not a fair deal for the Company, but what can I do, or a few like me? I want to live respectable, I have a wife and family to keep, we cant live on the wind, I must work and I cannot get work there, unless I am a union man. His last sentence was remarkable "I thought this was a free country. I am out idle today, because I dare not go against the Union. If I do, it is hard to say what they are capable of doing. A lot of our men are all right, but there is a set of loudmouthed agitators got among them, who seem to ride over everything, so men who would otherwise work, are forced to idleness.

If this is freedom in a free country I cant see it. It is tyranny and all I can say is—If ever the Canadian Government gets into the hands of that class of Laborites, God Help Canada! They are not fit to govern and should leave it to better men.

Enough for the present Mr. Editor. The writer has worked for his living, ever since he was able to work, and proud of the fact. I am equally proud, that I was never a Union Member, but a free and manly.

Sprouting And Planting Potatoes

When the margin of profit in potato growing is narrow, as it was in some places during the past year, it is important to adopt any method which will increase the profits, and the sprouting of potatoes before planting, particularly where it is intended to dig potatoes for an early market, should be much more general in Canada than it has been.

In 1920 Irish Cobbler potatoes not sprouted yielded at the rate of 418 bushels per acre, while those which had been sprouted yielded 506 bushels per acre, or a difference of 88 bushels. In this case potatoes were laid out for sprouting on April 21st and planted on May 19th, or for but four weeks. It is usually best to allow six weeks for sprouting. Not only is the yield greater when potatoes are sprouted, but the crop reaches a marketable size earlier in the season. The sooner early potatoes are on the market after they are marketable the more money will be made out of them as a rule.

To "sprout" potatoes, medium sized tubers are selected before they have sprouted to any extent in the cellar, and are either placed in shallow boxes or trays, preferably with the seed end up, or spread shallow on the floor of a room where there is bright light. Either method will give almost equally good results. At first the temperature should be cool enough to prevent sprouting. The skin will soon turn green and become rather tough. The temperature is now raised enough for the tubers to sprout, and when treated as described two or three strong sprouts will develop from the seed end, the other eyes remaining dormant. Growth will thus be concentrated in these few shoots and, as a rule, there will be a larger proportion of marketable potatoes where there are a few good shoots than where there are many. If the potatoes are given plenty of light and the place where they are kept is fairly cool, the sprouts will become very sturdy and strongly attached to the tuber, will be green in colour, and will not be broken-off in

They are easily taken; always work well and though I have given quite a few to my baby they seem to work as well now as at first, which is something other laxatives seldom do." handling unless very carefully used. Thus given a start before planting they will usually come along rapidly and tubers will develop more quickly from sprouts which have grown in a dark place, the latter, moreover, usually breaking off at the time of planting. Sprouts should be about two inches in length at the time of planting.

The warmest and best drained soil that is available should be used for extra early potatoes, and the sets should be planted shallower than for the main crop so that they will get the advantage of the heat from the surface soil. In Great Britain the potatoes are planted whole when sprouted, growth being more vigorous when this method is followed, but this is not necessary in order to get an increase in yield. It has been found that, taking one year with another, the earlier potatoes are planted in most places in Canada after the ground is dry enough to work and danger of very severe frosts are over the larger the crop will be.

The following is given as a general rule of guidance for planting potatoes in Canada for highest yields. Where the spring is early and autumn frosts early, plant early; where the spring is early and summers are dry, plant early; where the spring is late and autumn frosts late, early planting is not so important; where the spring is late and autumn frosts are early,

How Rheumatism Can Be Overcome
 Not by Rubbing, But by Enriching the Blood.
 Rheumatism is a disease of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up an inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather may start the tortures of rheumatism, but it is not the cause. The cause is in the blood. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood, which will shortly leave the victim pain-racked and helpless. Liniments, hot applications and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by enriching the blood. This new blood drives out the poisonous impurities, and the rheumatism disappears. If you are a sufferer from this painful malady, begin the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away. Among those who have benefited by the use of these pills is Mr. Freeman Irving, Baxter Harbor, N. S., who says: "Some time ago my blood was in a terrible condition, leaving me very much run down, and with boils breaking out on my body. To add to my misery rheumatism set in, and I not only suffered greatly from the pain, but could only get around with the greatest difficulty. After trying several medicines without much success, I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, as they had been warmly recommended to me. I think I used nine boxes altogether, but the results met my every expectation, as both the boils and the rheumatism disappeared. Naturally I feel that I cannot praise the pills too highly."
 You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"You Are Working Too Hard, John"

"WELL, I cannot help that. I am trying to figure out how the business is going to pull through and meet the liabilities with prices falling the way they have been lately."

"But, John, if anything happens to the business your health will be more necessary to you than ever, and you cannot afford to take chances of putting such a strain on your nerves. You are looking so worried and nervous, and you do not half sleep."

"What am I to do? You know I have got to keep plugging along and try to see things through."

"One thing you can do is to begin a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You know how well that brought me around when my nerves gave out and I was so miserable."

Mr. Charles E. How, R. R. No. 5, Aylmer, Ont., writes: "My system became generally run down, and I suffered from dull, heavy headaches. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and my muscles used to twitch. My appetite became poor. I had indigestion and weak spells. I consulted a doctor, who gave me a tonic, but it did no good. I used other remedies, too, before finally trying Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I found that this did me more good than anything I had ever taken."

Elements of Success In City Development

The success of a city or town depends on its manufactures and trade, and the average factors that contribute most to that success are the health and contentment of the citizens, the transportation and other facilities for transit of passengers and distribution of goods, the supply of power, and the absence of excessive burdens of taxation. All these things are dependent, in turn, on the proper development of the land and the absence of exploitation for purely speculative purposes of those who use it. The health and contentment of the individual are not so much determined by the amount of wage he receives as by the amount of goods he can purchase with his wages. In a community where proper living standards exist he will have to pay one-fourth to one-fifth of his income for shelter. If for that payment he can get a good home, with a pleasant environment, proper sanitary conditions and convenient means of transit, he will, or should, be satisfied. But in the average large city he cannot get such a home at a reasonable figure. If he lives in a central district he has to be content, invariably, with a crowded or insanitary dwelling. If in a suburban area, where a good house is available at a reasonable price or rent, he will probably have to put up with bad sanitary conditions and lack of facilities for travel. Urban land is not planned and subdivided to aid the worker to get a convenient and healthy home, nor to enable the city to obtain an economic system of development, but primarily to yield profit to the subdivider, without regard to other results, either to the purchaser or to the city.

No More Time For Liquor Dealers

Quebec, April 14—The provincial government will grant no delay to the liquor dealers of the province in disposing of their stocks, said Premier Taschereau, yesterday.

May 1 is the limit, according to the new law, when all liquor stocks must be disposed of.

Progress is reported by officials engaged to look after the collecting of signatures for the repeal of the Scott Act in Quebec. More than 10,000 names have been obtained, all qualified ratepayers. The Quebec liquor commission has given instructions to keep on getting signatures until tonight, when the lists will be closed and forwarded to the federal authorities.

CO-OPERATION

Very few big businesses today are run entirely by one man; they are mostly partnerships or corporations. As a rule, individual businesses are not very big affairs, but even where a business is owned and controlled by one man his success depends very largely upon the advice and support of the men he employs. A man may be ever so big and brainy, and he may not find another quite his equal yet he is always more or less dependent on some associate. His judgment may be ever so good but to act on it promptly and with proper courage he needs the moral support of another man. It so often happens that a man will outline what seems to him to be a splendid plan, but he lacks decision and courage to put it through, and a word from a partner is often sufficient to get the thing under way.

Without this advice, cooperation, and sympathy big business men would soon grow very tired; their ideas would not be put into action, and inactivity produces debility. It has been said that a man should be as particular in selecting his partner as selecting his wife.

It is hard to judge distances with one eye; it takes two eyes to get the angle. It is difficult to determine the direction of sound with one ear; so God gave us two eyes and two ears. It is difficult for a man to trust his judgement in sizing up a proposition or in determining the direction of influences from his single viewpoint. At home and in business men need cooperation and sympathy; even strong men must have some one to lean upon.

Suggestion Made To Premier Foster

FREDERICTON, April 15—Leaders of the opposition and Farmers' parties at noon today suggested in the legislature that Premier Foster should withdraw on Wednesday to provide for the superannuation of employees in the provincial civil service.

Opposition to the bill arose from various quarters and caused an extended debate, which evidently was quite unexpected in that drive that is under way to reach prorogation either late tonight or to-morrow morning.

John S. Martin, labor member of the legislature, of Chatham, was the principal speaker at the union meeting last night. He urged the men to fight a return to the ten hour day but told them when they were reaching decisions to always take secret ballots as an open vote often did not give the true feeling of the members of a union. Delegates, who attended a general meeting of timber workers and other unions affected by the proposed ten hour day at Chatham, this week, made their report at the meeting which was to the effect that the return to the ten hour day proposal of the employers would be fought to the end.

Open Season For Hunting Game

FREDERICTON, April 13—Premier Foster, after hearing a delegation from the N. B. Guides' Association, stated that the open season for hunting big game in the Province this year would remain as it has been, but that the Game Act will be amended so as to provide for the open season in 1922 commencing on October 1, instead of September 5.

HOW YOU CAN TELL GENUINE ASPIRIN
Only Tablets with "Bayer Cross" are Aspirin—No others!

There is only one Aspirin, that marked with the "Bayer Cross"—all other tablets are only acid imitations. Genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" have been prescribed by physicians for nineteen years and proved safe by millions for Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuritis. Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets—also larger "Bayer" packages, can be had at any drug store. Made in Canada. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company, Ltd., will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

Political Letter From Ottawa
Ottawa, April 11, 1921—The railway question continues to transcend all other political problems. It developed an acute stage this week when the Grand Trunk Railway, unable to do its own financing, yet persisting in keeping control of its road, practically in violation of an agreement with the Government, defaulted on its bonds and brought about a deadlock with the Government. Briefly, the position is this: Under the legislation providing for arbitration to determine the price which the Government should pay for the preferred and common stock of the railway, it was provided that the arbitrators should report within nine months, the railway meanwhile to remain under control of the Grand Trunk directors but operated by a board of management upon which the Government through the Canadian National Railways, would have representation.

Now nine months ought to have been ample time for both parties to the arbitration to submit their case, but despite the fact that the Government long since completed its case, the Grand Trunk has been guilty of what the Prime Minister characterized as "inexplicable dilatoriness". The result, as was inevitable, was that when the time specified to conclude the arbitration elapsed the Grand Trunk was still in the middle of its case, and pleading for more time. This was both unjust and, from the country's stand-point, calculated to prove injurious. It was unjust, because, as there was evidence to prove, the Grand Trunk was guilty of unjustifiable delay; and it was calculated to prove injurious because the Government, pressed hard financially and anxious for vital reasons, to get control of the Grand Trunk and coordinate it with the National System could not afford to grant more delay. Hence it said, in effect, to the Grand Trunk: "We cannot agree to prolong arbitration except on this condition: that you hand us over control of the railway, pending the arbitrators report, so that we may get to work in putting the system into shape; otherwise it is up to you to do your own financing."
The Grand Trunk's reply was evasive. It took the ground that it could not be expected to hand over its stock unless and until it knew what price it was to receive, and then, after being assured that it was not the stock which the Government wanted, but merely control of management, first accepted and then refused under cover of a legal technicality.

The situation, as a consequence is this: The Government simply said to the railway: The arbitration, as agreed, is over. If you want an extension, let us have the road. If you don't want to let us have the road, to keep its control, then do your own financing. We are tired of putting up money for other people's benefit. And so the Grand Trunk faces the alternative of climbing down from its high position and getting a fair arbitration award, or persisting in its present attitude and seeing the railway go under the hammer into liquidation.
Meanwhile, after futile attempts on the part of Mr. King to play politics, a committee has been appointed to look into the question of establishing a link between Parliament and the Management of the National Railways. Briefly, the duty of this committee will be to determine just how much of its business can the National Railway Board make public in Parliament without placing it at the mercy of its competitors and injuring the public interest. Manifestly, there are many matters which cannot be made public, seeing that the National Railways have a mighty competitor in the C. P. R., but, on the other hand, it is felt that Parliament, which is called upon to pay the shot, should have as much knowledge as is consistent with public safety in regard to just what it is that it is paying for. Mr. King as is his wont, demanded the impossible. He wanted a committee that would compel the national Railways to lay all of its cards on the table to divulge all facts and figures in its possession every time an Opposition member desired to go on a muckraking expedition or to satisfy a whim for an inquiry. Fortunately, the good sense of the House prevailed over this, and the Government's position was sustained by a substantial majority. As a result the new committee, composed of the best brains of the House, will be soon at work, charged with what is unquestionably the most important task that has been submitted to a parliamentary committee in many years.

Apart from the railway question, the session develops little of moment. Estimates are being voted, but, mainly owing to a great deal of haphazard, carping criticism on the Opposition's part, there is little progress. Thus for example, one member of the Opposition consumed no less than five hours of the public's time this week with a rambling discourse on the Canadian Merchant marine. The Budget threatens to be late. This, perhaps is not surprising, seeing that the financial situation shows little sign of improvement, and that the Government is probably considering special measures to deal with it.
In a little more than two months time the conference of Premiers opens in London, and Mr. Meighen will attend. As it is not likely that he will adjourn the House while in attendance or leave Canada before prorogation, the end of the session is looked for early in June. Cabinet reorganization is now almost sure to be delayed until after the Premiers' return.

HAPPY HOUR ON THURSDAY

Intense and sustained interest, suspense and astonishing spectacular situations combine in "Trumpet Island" to make the great Vitagraph special production a notable achievement in the motion picture world. The picture drama will be shown at the Happy Hour theater on Thursday.

The original story was written by Gouverneur Morris, and has been considered one of the best works of this popular author. The adaptation for motion picture purposes, by Rudolph de Cordova, was edited by Mr. and Mrs. George Randolph Chester, who devoted their well known talents to heightening the extraordinary effects attained. To do justice to such material, an all-star cast, headed by Marguerite de La Motte and Wallace MacDonald, was engaged and Thomas Terriss was assigned to direct the special production.

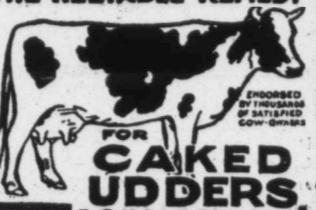

The surprisingly sensational feature of the production is the wrecking of an airplane bearing a bride and groom through a terrific electric storm and the crash of the shattered machine into a tree on lonely Trumpet Island. The flying is beyond anything attempted in the field of motion pictures in the past. The realism is flawless and the effect tremendous. With equal fidelity and artistic appeal, the entrancing symbolism of the three roads is presented, and even the little frogs, butterflies and volcanos appearing in the title cards on the screen add to the general effect of this wonderful production.

Cause of Early Old Age
The celebrated Dr. Michenerhoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused" by poisons generated in the "intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound. 10
