Recently Deceased Cardinals.

CARDINAL OREGLIA.

Rome, Dec. 6.—The Pope was deeply grieved when told this morning that Cardinal Luigi Oreglia di Santo Stefano Aliphan, Dean of the Sacred College, had passed away last night. Although the aged Cardinal's death had been expected, the Pope suffered a shock when Mgr. Giovanni Basso informed him as cautiously as possible of the occurrence.

The Pontiff had always felt toward Cardinal Oreglia a sentiment of great respect and appreciation of the energy with which he had conducted the affairs of the Vatican during the interregnum between the death of Pope Leo XIII. and his own election when Cardinal Oreglia was Chamberlain of the Pontiff.

The death of Cardinal Oreglia removed the last of the Cardinals created by Pius IX.

Luigi Oreglia was born on July 9, 1828, at Bode Vaghenas, in Piedmont. At an early age two brothers of Oreglia joined the Society of Jesus, the elder of whom, well known in Rome for many years as Father Joseph, died in 1895. He had long been a scholarly contributor to the Opuscolo Cattolico, which had been founded by him and other prelates in 1878. The younger brother, Father Frederick, is attached to the Church of St. Ignatius, in Rome.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

Mariano Rampolla del Tindaro belonged to a noble Sicilian family. He was born at Polizzi, in the diocese of Cefalu, August 17, 1843, and was raised to the Sacred College by Leo XIII. in 1887, with the title of Santa Cecilia. He was also Secretary of State to His Holiness, prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Loreto and president of the commission of cardinals for the administration of cardinals for the administration of cardinals, both foreign and Italian.

In 1887 he was nominated Secretary of the Propaganda for matters connected with the Orient.

To Catholics as well as to people of other religious denominations one of the most remarkable spectacles in the Church history was that of Leo XIII. acting as arbitrator in a purely mundane controversy between a power that had always been regarded as a principal stronghold of Catholicism and one that occupied an analogous position with regard to the Protestant Church.

The Pope was invited to assume his role not by the King of Spain, but by the Lutheran Emperor William and his Chancellor, Prince Bismarck. The idea of the Pope sitting in judgment on the two great powers at his feet was one calculated to raise the prestige of the Papacy to a bright unknown in recent times, and served to cement the ties that during the pontificate of Leo XIII. the Holy See had lost little of its incalculable influence over the various nations of Europe.

It was to Cardinal Rampolla that the Pope was mainly indebted for the request to arbitrate the conflict between Germany and Spain on the subject of the possession of the Caroline Islands. Realizing, as did Premier Canovas, that it would be preferable for the invitation to come from Berlin, instead of from the Spanish government, Cardinal Rampolla availed himself of his friendship with the German Crown Prince to intimate that were Emperor William to appeal to the Pope to act as arbitrator King Alfonso would gladly abide by the decision.

keep around him to the last an ardent circle of worshippers. It has been said that if ever there was a man fitted to fill the blank in Carlyle's gallery of world's heroes Rampolla would find a place there in the capacity of Hero as Priest. He was called, on authority, "the best understood man in Europe."

Famous Bells.

The enthusiasm of the collector extends itself on subjects of many kinds; but few collections are so interesting as that of Mr. Frank Miller, of Riverside, California, who has spent a great many years and a great deal of energy in getting together his remarkable collection of over 300 bells.

Every quarter of the globe, every oddity of shape and material, almost every historical era is represented. There are bells from the United States, Mexico, England, Scotland, Russia, Sweden, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, France, Spain, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Turkey, Egypt, Arabia, India, Ceylon, Tibet, Borneo, Burma, China, Manchuria, Japan, the Philippines, Alaska, and the Hawaiian Islands.

There is a cowbell with the name and family arms of Pope Paul III. who excommunicated Henry VIII. It was used on the bell cow of the Vatican herd that day. A huge bell from Avignon was once part of the city clock in the town of the Pope. A ship's bell once tolled the watches on one of the vessels that carried the unhappy Academics from their homes, as Longfellow's poem of "Evangeline" tells.

There is an iron bell from the temple in Mukden, taken by Japanese soldiers in the Russian war. The very bell which hung in the chapel of Molokai, where Father Damien ministered to the lepers, is there. One bell comes from a monastery near Lhasa, and another is a Chinese stone bell, probably over 2,000 years old.

Perhaps the most interesting of all is one that was cast for a church in Valencia, Spain, in 1237. At that time King James of Aragon had just added Valencia to his dominions, and was establishing Christian churches all over the province. The inscription cast on the bell bears the name of the Blessed Virgin, to whom the church was dedicated, of Jesus, of the King of Aragon, and of the bell founder, Quintana and Salvador, as well as the year in which the bell was cast.

The special value of this bell lies in the fact that it is the oldest dated bell in existence. Until Mr. Miller found it in the scrap heap in a London bell-founder's shop, that distinction was held by a bell in Fribourg, Germany, which bears the date of 1258. How this fine old bell got to London can only be conjectured.

It may have got there as a ship's bell on one of the ill-fated Armadas, or as a Papal present to an English monastery, or as booty from some of the daring raids of Sir Francis Drake on the coast cities of Spain.

However, it got there, no one suspected its value, or indeed its existence, until Mr. Miller unearthed it. One found, it was not so easily got out of England, for the British Museum learned of the discovery and made every effort to prevent its being carried to America. But Mr. Miller had bought and paid for it, and after negotiations that lasted almost a year, he was permitted to take it home with him.

To Suffer From Headaches

MAKES LIFE MISERABLE.

It takes a person who has had and is subject to headache to describe the suffering which attends it. The dull throbbing, the intense pain, sometimes in one part of the head, sometimes in another, and then again over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, purely indicates that there is something amiss with the system. The fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches the seat of the trouble is due to its success in relieving and permanently curing the cause of the headache.

Mrs. Anderson, 418 First Ave. East, Calgary, Alta., writes: "For three years I was troubled all the time with such headaches and suffered also with constipation, and sleeplessness and in general was on my face. I tried everything all at last I found that Burdock Blood Bitters. I took two bottles, and my skin is as clear and pure as a baby's, and I have never been troubled with the headaches since."

Could Not Straighten Up For Lame Back.

Women are coming to understand that which they suffer are due to wrong action of the kidneys. The kidneys are overtaxed—given more work than they can do, and when the back aches and pains it is almost impossible to do her housework, for every move first turn around pain.

On the first sign of any weakness in the back, Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken, and thus do away with any suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. A. J. Lalonde, Kingston, Ont., writes: "I am writing to tell you what a wonderful cure Doan's Kidney Pills did for me. I was suffering with a lame back, and for about seven days could hardly straighten up for the pain. I had used quite a few other kinds of pills, and received no relief. Just then my sister came and told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, and what they had done for her, so I decided to try them. I used three boxes, and I am completely cured, and I do not hesitate to recommend them."

Price, 50c. per box, 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Jubilee of Confederation.

In the Legislative Council Chamber in this city, last evening, a large and representative meeting of citizens assembled for the purpose of taking into consideration the celebration of the jubilee of the inception of Confederation. As is well known, the first conference of the promoters, the fathers, of Canadian Confederation was held in this city and in the very Council Chamber of our Provincial Building, where last night's meeting assembled. Of all those from the different sections of Canada who assembled on that occasion, as delegates, only Sir Charles Tupper survives.

Premier Matheson opened the proceedings by a review of what had been accomplished in and for Canada since that first conference. He pointed out particularly how our Province had fared in consequence of her entrance into the union. He showed that it was quite true we had not, for a long time, been accorded our due by the Federal authorities. This was true especially in a financial sense and in the matter of transportation facilities with the Mainland. But now these things had been attended to by the present Federal Government, and perhaps it was worth while to have waited and battled so long since these things were coming about in the jubilee year. One thing yet remained to be set right by the Federal authorities, that is the restoration of our original representation in the House of Commons; but he hoped that this, too, would be accorded us as a jubilee gift.

The first of September 1864 was the date of the first meeting of the Conference in Charlottetown, and on September first, 1914, fifty years shall have elapsed. How to celebrate this memorable event most fittingly was the question up for consideration last night. The first move was to organize and this was initiated by the Premier by nominating Judge Hazard as permanent Chairman of the Jubilee Committee. This nomination was unanimously ratified. An organization committee was then appointed, who reported a plan of organization. The committee's report provided for a jubilee committee, embracing the permanent chairman and two vice-chairmen for the city and a vice-chairman for King's and Prince County; all the Island Senators and members of the House of Commons; the members of the Provincial Legislature; the Mayor of Charlottetown and the Mayors of other incorporated towns, and sixteen others from different parts of the Province. The report also provided for a permanent Secretary and a Treasurer to be appointed by the Government.

The report of the committee was adopted and the committee was appointed. After some brief addresses by different members of the committee the meeting adjourned. The issue in London of the Grand Trunk Pacific notes to the amount of £2,000,000 seven years at five per cent offered at 97 has met with a very satisfactory response. Nearly 70 per cent. was applied for by the investors, the underwriters taking up only 32 per cent. of the issue.

A Protest From Mexico.

From time to time an installment of truth regarding the conduct of Americans in connection with the Mexican rebellion, finds its way to the public. No one with any knowledge of the Mexican situation could doubt that the rebels in that country were assisted by the Americans. Nor could one have any doubt that the reports of battles appearing in the newspapers were exaggerated and sensational. It is a remarkable fact that every report of rebel success has been paraded in the daily papers, even here in Charlottetown, in large headlines, while any suggestion attending the Federal troops has been merely mentioned in some obscure corner. What is the animus behind facts of this kind?

The following intelligence from Mexico city, under date of the 27th inst., serves to bear out the contention that the rebels are assisted from the United States side of the line: "Mexico has forwarded a protest to its representative at Washington which, it is announced, will be presented to the State Department, against alleged assistance given by Americans to the rebels at Tampico and Mazatlan. The complaint is based on representations made by the governor of Tamiulapas and the Federal authorities at Mazatlan to the Department of the Interior. The governor alleges that Clarence A. Miller, the American Consul at Tampico, helped the rebels to obtain arms and made adverse comments against the Federals. He further alleges that the rebels used launches flying the American flag to communicate with the forces along the river, and that during the attack against Tampico, provisions were furnished to the rebels in these launches. The authorities at Mazatlan, in their complaint, asserted that American vessels along the coast were in constant communication with the rebels and furnished them with war material. These complaints were taken under consideration immediately by the Mexican Foreign Office, and a protest was prepared. El Diario official also carried a warning to foreign correspondents that they would be deported as undesirable aliens if they sent out of Mexico alarming or false stories."

Will the authorities at Washington give the matter any serious consideration; or will they simply wink at this scandalous conduct and allow it to proceed?

The toll of death from industrial accidents throughout Canada last year cost the lives of no less than 1,220 workmen, while 5,780 received serious injuries. Thus 7,000 workers in Canada's industrial army met with fatal or serious accidents while in the discharge of their duty during the twelve months. An analysis of the records of accidents as made by the Labor Department shows that the railway services and the metal trades are by far the most hazardous employments.

Montreal has been suffering from a "water famine" since Christmas Day, when a break 60 feet long, occurred in the aqueduct leading from the intake pipe to the main pump house. The ordinary daily consumption of water for the city is 42,000,000 and since the accident, still undergoing repairs, only 14,000,000 are available from a private concern. The hospitals and other public institutions, as well as private people have suffered extremely. But the most anxious and dangerous phase of the matter is the liability of fire. As a consequence of this last mentioned dread the fire brigade has been constantly on duty. A fire did break out on Monday and it was reported that millions of dollars worth of property was undergoing destruction; but the report was exaggerated. A couple of buildings and some 40 automobiles were destroyed, the loss amounting to about $250,000. A half-mile of hose was stretched; but even then little could be done by water. The fire was arrested by using dynamite to destroy a couple of buildings right in its track. Another fire has occurred since then; but not over serious. There is nothing but anxiety and danger until permanent repairs are effected.

Norton Griffiths dredge Leonard, sank last Wednesday morning at the entrance to Courtenay Bay, St. John, where she was dredging the Channel. It is supposed a raised old anchor and fluke tore a hole below her waterline. The 24 men aboard scrambled so safely to a Hopper scow along side and cast off.

The Feast of the Nativity, Christmas, was observed with solemnity in St. Dunstan's Cathedral. At 11 o'clock Solemn Pontifical Mass was celebrated by his Lordship Bishop O'Leary, assisted by Rev. Father Murphy as arch-priest; Rev. Fathers Duffy and Joseph Gallant as deacons of honor; Rev. Pius McDonald as canon of office; Rev. Father McQuaid, Sub-deacon and Rev. Dr. McLellan Master of Cereemonies. The sermon, an excellent appropriate discourse, was delivered by Rev. Dr. McLellan. At 7 o'clock p.m. his Lordship again officiated at Solemn Vespers and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, assisted by the same priests as at Mass.

The winter navigation of the Straits is now on. The Empress went over from Summerside to Point du Chene on Wednesday of last week; but owing to ice conditions and a blinding snow storm that came on in the evening she did not return that day. She came over Thursday morning and the mails reached here about noon. On Wednesday, also, the Northumberland did not get into this port from Pictou. She left in due time; but the storm was so bad and the weather so thick that she was obliged to stay outside the harbor all night, coming in about 4 o'clock in the morning, Christmas Day. The Empress went over to the Point Friday and returned Saturday calling at Summerside to land mails and passengers and then coming down to Charlottetown for the winter. The Northumberland made her last trip for the season also on Saturday. The Earl Grey started for Pictou Monday morning and is now making daily return trips between here and that port. The Minto, meantime runs between Summerside and Cape Tormentine.

The winter navigation of the Straits is now on. The Empress went over from Summerside to Point du Chene on Wednesday of last week; but owing to ice conditions and a blinding snow storm that came on in the evening she did not return that day. She came over Thursday morning and the mails reached here about noon. On Wednesday, also, the Northumberland did not get into this port from Pictou. She left in due time; but the storm was so bad and the weather so thick that she was obliged to stay outside the harbor all night, coming in about 4 o'clock in the morning, Christmas Day. The Empress went over to the Point Friday and returned Saturday calling at Summerside to land mails and passengers and then coming down to Charlottetown for the winter. The Northumberland made her last trip for the season also on Saturday. The Earl Grey started for Pictou Monday morning and is now making daily return trips between here and that port. The Minto, meantime runs between Summerside and Cape Tormentine.

As the end of the year 1913 is almost upon us, we desire to remind our friends that remittances for subscription to THE HERALD are now quite in order. We have fairly kept our part of the annual contract and have sent out the paper every week since the beginning of the year, and have not troubled our subscribers to any great extent, about money. But this is the time of year when these matters are usually attended to and we shall be pleased if those who have not already paid, will be so kind as to remit as soon as convenient.

Reasons Why The C. B. C. Is The Best

The Charlottetown Business College's claims of superiority are not based on hot air, bombast or broadside bragosity. The equipment of this college is complete in every respect. There are enough typewriters, forms, etc. for every student, and therefore none are kept back and none especially favored. The teachers are the best that can be secured and the location ideal—right in the heart of the business district—the courses plain, practical and full of "usable" knowledge. Students who graduate from this institution are QUALIFIED to cope with any problem that is placed before them in actual practice. This institution is the only one in the Province to turn out successful verbatim reporters. The courses cover bookkeeping, auditing, type writing, shorthand, brokerage, banking, business correspondence, navigation, engineering and Civil Service preparatory exams. Produce dealers in Toronto say for the first time in the century turkey is cheaper than beef. Sirloin roasts for Xmas were five cents dearer than turkey. Local prices for the best best cuts were the dearest of any market in the world and turkey cheaper than in other parts of Canada or States. On Christmas Eve turkeys cost 22 to 25c, chickens 18 to 22c, sirloin roasts 30c, rib roasts 25c.

The U. S. revenue cutter Miami on the 26th reported the rescue of the captain and seven of the crew of the British bark Emline Malwa abandoned at sea on the 25th. The Miami took the men to Key West. They had been transferred from the steamers Casfrin and Concho, which were nearby when the Malwa was abandoned. The Malwa was a vessel of 530 tons and sailed from Port of Spain Trinidad, December 23rd, for Gulfport, Miss.

While Father McQuaid was preaching at the high Mass in the pro Cathedral on Sunday last the sleeve of his surplice caught fire from an adjacent candle. The accident was observed by members of the congregation and by those in the sanctuary before the preacher himself noticed it. As soon as he saw it he quenched it with a stroke of his hand and continued his discourse without interruption.

At a Christmas tree celebration in Calumet Michigan Christmas night, when the large hall was crowded with men, women and children, some one shouted "fire," and there was a stampede for the exits. In the mad rush seventy two persons were tramped to death. It was a dreadful holocaust, and most of the victims were children. A strike has been in existence in the place for a long time among copper workers, and it was for the children of the strikers the entertainment was held. The miscreant who raised the false alarm should be lynched.

Twenty foot breakers tumbling in on the crest of the season's highest tide broke over bulkheads guarding the Strand at Osgood Park, California, on the 26th and nearly drowned between thirty and forty men and women who were breakfasting in the basement of a fashionable hotel. The combers swept over all barriers, smashing in the windows and fell upon the guests at the tables. Waiters and guests got out before the second wave dashed in, but a few minutes later there was several feet of water in the grill. Seven blocks of the cement shoreline bulkheads were washed out.

The Three Kings.

Three Kings came riding from far away, Melchior and Gaspar B. Isaac; Three Wise Men out of the East were they, And they travelled by night and they slept by day, For their guide was a beautiful, wonderful star. The star was so beautiful, large, and clear, That all the other stars of the sky became a white mist in the atmosphere. And by this they knew that the coming was near Of the Prince foretold in the prophecy; Three caskets they bore on their saddle bows, Three caskets of gold with golden keys; Their robes were of crimson silk with rows Of bells and pomegranates and furbelows, Their turbans like blossoming almond trees, And so the three Kings rode into the West, Through the dusk of night over hills and dells, And sometimes they nodded with head on breast, And sometimes talked, as they paced to rest, With the people they met at the wayside wells, Of the child that is born," said Baltasar, "Good people, I pray you, tell me the news; For we in the East have seen his star, And have ridden fast, and have ridden far, To find and worship the King of the Jews." And the people answered, "You ask in vain; We know of no king but Herod the Great!" They thought the Wise Men were men insane, As they spurred their horses across the plain, Like riders in haste who cannot wait, And when they came to Jerusalem, Herod the Great, who had heard this thing, Sent for the Wise Men and questioned them; And said, "Go down into Bethlehem, And bring me tidings of this new king." So they rode away and the star stood still, The only one in the grey of morn; Yes, it stopped, it stood still of its own free will, Right over Bethlehem on the hill, The city of David where Christ was born. And the three Kings rode through the gate and the gate, Through the silent street, till their horses turned, And neighed as they entered the great inn-yard; But the windows were closed, and the doors were barred, And only a light in the stable burned. And cradled there in the scented hay, In the air made sweet by the breath of kine, The little child in the manger lay, The child that would be King one day Of a kingdom not human but divine. His mother, Mary of Nazareth, Sat watching beside his place of rest, Watching the even flow of his breath, For the joy of life and the terror of death. Were mingled together in her breast. They laid their offerings at his feet, The gold was their tribute to a King, The frankincense, with its odour sweet, Was the Price of the Paraclete, The myrrh for the body's burying, And the mother wondered and bowed her head, And sat as still as a statue of stone; Her heart was troubled yet comforted, Remembering what the Angel had said Of an endless reign and of David's throne. Then the Kings rode out of the city gate, With a clatter of hoofs in proud array; But they went not back to Herod the Great, For they knew his malice and feared his hate, And returned to their homes another way.

Pains in the Back

Are symptoms of a weak, torpid or stagnant condition of the kidneys or liver, and are a warning of an extremely hazardous neglect, so important a healthy action of these organs. They are commonly attended by loss of energy, lack of courage, and sometimes by gloomy foreboding and despondency. "I was taken ill with kidney trouble, and became so weak I could scarcely get around; took medicine without benefit, and finally decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After the first bottle I felt so much better that I continued its use, and six bottles made me a new woman. When my little girl was a baby, she could not keep anything on her stomach, and we gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla which cured her." Mrs. Thomas, 15 St. Wallaceburg, Ont.

Cures kidney and liver troubles, relieves the back, and builds up the whole system.

A Christmas Carol.

From the Noel Bourguignon de Gui Bascail.
I hear along our street
Pass the mistle throng,
Hark! they play so sweet,
On their hard boys, Christmas songs!
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
In December ring
Every day the chiming;
Lead the gleemen sing
In the streets their merry rhymes.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
Shepherds at the grange,
Where the Babe was born
Sang, with many a change,
Christmas carole until morn.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
These good people sang
Songs devout and sweet
While the refectory rang
There they stood with freezing feet.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
Nans in frigid cells
At this holy tide,
For want of something else,
Christmas songs at times have tried.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
Washerwomen old,
To the sound they beat,
Sing by rivers cold,
With uncovered heads and feet.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!
Who by the fireside stands
Stamps his feet and sings;
But he who'll wear his hands
Not so gay a carol brings.
Let us by the fire
Ever higher
Sing them till the night expire!

The Sprig of Holly.

On a bright Christmas morning Lawrence Grey was walking to see early Mass. A clear blue sky, with the rising sun casting a tinge of gold on trees and bush and house-top—his first just outside the town, and was walking in—the air fresh, yet not unpleasantly cold, and the silver fringes of the morning's frost, all tended to invigorate and enliven those whom piety or pleasure had brought out of their houses at that early hour. Smiles were plentiful, and obsequious greetings incessant. The air seemed to be full of "Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas!" And Lawrence smiled, and nodded, and echoed "Merry Christmas" in reply to the greetings—though he was acquainted with but few of those whom he met—yet all the while he was thinking of other things, and was sad. Lawrence Grey had been started in life as an engineer. His parents had died while he was still young, and his guardian, after giving him a good education, sent him to a large engineering firm in the United States. Here he prospered. Several works of importance were entrusted to him, and he carried them out very successfully; and before long he had made for himself a name and a fortune. Some eight years before our story opens—it was just eight years to the day—Lawrence married a bright, warm-hearted Irish girl, whom he had met in one of his journeys through the States. By the following Christmas there was a wee, blue-eyed baby, the image, as Lawrence said, of his Maggie. And Lawrence thought that life was too happy to last. And so it proved. Another twelve-month passed, so swiftly because so happy, a twelve-month of life's summer, during which Lawrence basked in the warm love of the true-hearted, devoted, young wife, and thought nothing so soul-stirring as the merry little laugh or the crowing of pleasure of their little

Nerves Were Unstrung.

Would almost go out of her mind. Many women become run down and worn out by household cares, and duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with shattered nerves and weak hearts. On the first sign of any weakness of the heart or nerves you should avail yourself of a perfect cure by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Mrs. Archie Gooding, Tully, N.B., writes:—"When I was troubled with my heart, two years ago, I was very bad. My nerves were so unstrung, sometimes I would almost be out of my mind. I doctored myself with everything I could get, until at last I got four boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and they have cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this wonderful remedy, and will recommend it to all sufferers." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

But the ship never reached England. A fierce storm arose when they were close to the end of the voyage; the vessel was driven out of her course on some rocks and foundered. Most of the crew and passengers were either drowned or perished through the cold and exposure; some few who had escaped in an open boat were picked up, after going through fearful hardships and privations, and taken to England. But Maggie was not one of these. Her name and that of her child were among those of the drowned. There was no hope of rescue; some of the survivors had seen her perish. And Lawrence in his anguish cried: "If she had to die, would to God she had died here; I should then have had at least my little one."

And now, some five years after, as he walks this bright Christmas day through the streets of a small seaside town in England, not far from the port where he had landed a few years before—no wonder that he thinks of what might have been, were his dear wife with him and the little Maggie by their side; and no wonder that he is sad. The church was reached in time for the service. It was a low Mass; but some hymns were sung by the children, and there was a five minutes' sermon in which the preacher with a few fervent words impressed upon his hearers the love of the Infant Jesus for men, and the love that each one ought, after His Saviour's example, to have for his fellow-men. Lawrence Grey was deeply moved by the earnest words; and following the train of his own mood and thought—for he was still occupied with his lost child—he recalled that, while he himself could have but little share in the joy of the season, he would gladden one home this Christmas by adopting some poor child.

Mass over, he went to the crib, where he offered and begged our Lord's blessing upon his resolution. While he was kneeling there, almost hidden behind a pillar, he heard a stealthy step, and looking up, saw a little girl coming cautiously to the crib, as if afraid of being seen. She held one hand tightly on her cloak as if concealing something underneath. Then kneeling just before the Bambino, and leaning over, she stretched quickly the hand inside her cloak and placed some thing that seemed to glitter in the dim candle-light, for the chapel where the Crib stood was darkened, on the arms of the little statue; Lawrence heard a halfeisper, "From little Winnie, dear child Jesus," then she ran off.

Reasons Why The C. B. C. Is The Best

The Charlottetown Business College's claims of superiority are not based on hot air, bombast or broadside bragging. The equipment of this college is complete in every respect. There are enough typewriters, forms, etc., for every student, and therefore none are kept back and none especially favored. The teachers are the best that can be secured and the location ideal—right in the heart of the business district—the courses plain, practical and full of "usable" knowledge. Students who graduate from this institution are QUALIFIED to cope with any problem that is placed before them in actual practice. This institution is the only one in the Province to turn out successful verbatim reporters. The courses cover bookkeeping, auditing, type writing, shorthand, brokerage, banking, business correspondence, navigation, engineering and Civil Service preparatory exams. A COLD Developed Into BRONCHITIS.

However slight a cold you have, you should never neglect it. In all probability, if you do not treat it in time it will develop into bronchitis, pneumonia, or some other serious throat or lung trouble. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is particularly adapted for all colds, coughs, bronchitis, pneumonia, asthma, whooping cough and all troubles of the throat and lungs. Three points in favour of Wood's Norway Pine Syrup are: 1. Its action is prompt. 2. It invigorates as well as heals, and soothes the throat and lungs. 3. It is pleasant, harmless and agreeable in taste. Mrs. Albert Vait, Brockville, Ont., writes:—"Just a line to let you know about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Our oldest little girl is now six years old. When she was four months old she got a cold which developed into Bronchitis, and we tried everything we could think of, and had two doctors attending her, but it was no good. One day I read in your almanac about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I tried it; and before she had finished one bottle of it, the dry hacking cough had nearly all gone. There is nothing so good to it, and we are never without it in the house." See that you get "Dr. Wood's" when you ask for it, as there are numerous imitations on the market. The genuine is manufactured by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price, 25c.; family size, 50c.
