The Young Housewife

is anxious to get good results from her first efforts in baking. She is eager for the admiring comments of her husband and her visitors. She knows that her bread and pastry will be subjected to close criticism, and realizes that in her nervous anxiety she is likely to make mistakes, by using too much of this or too little of that. Then again, the flour she uses is apt to vary in quality from time to time, unless she uses which takes a heavy burden of responsibility off the young wife's shoulders. It is a scrupulously exact blend of Manitoba Spring wheat and Ontario Fall wheat, so balanced as to provide an unvarying uniformity of superlative quality.

"Beaver" Flour

"BEAVER FLOUR" contains all the gluten—the bone and muscle forming element—of the Manitoba wheat and the qualities of the Ontario wheat that make bread light and white, and cakes and pastry tasty and flaky.

"BEAVER FLOUR" saves the trouble of keeping one flour for bread and another for pastry. It is a bread flour and a pastry flour too. It is reliable at all times and under all conditions. It is also economical, for it makes more loaves to the barrel than any other flour—loaves that are as good to look upon as they are tasty and nutritious. For biscuits, pies and pastry, "BEAVER FLOUR" has no equal. Don't take our word for it. Try it, and be convinced.

Your grocer has it, and will be proud to recommend it.

CHAPTER I.
"Can You Doubt It?"

(Concluded.)
"It was the pate, Will. There could have been no other reason. I was thinking of Miss Shepherd all the evening. What fool we mortals be, sleeping or waking."
"We may be fools, waking, Robert; but in sleep, we get very close to the truth about ourselves. One-fourth of our time is spent in sleeping and dreaming; is it likely, then, that the whole matter is of no consequence? Besides, our dreams are as individual as our thoughts."
"You could not prove such an assertion as that, Will."
"Oh, but I can! You told me last week one of your horrible dreams after vivisection; and at the very same hour I was dreaming of wandering in a great wood and listening to the green finches, who were laughing and talking back to each other. We are such stuff as our dreams are made of, Robert."

"All right. I see Horace Key is going to Congress. At least the Herald says so."
"And truth is absolute in the pages of the Herald. Why should Horace go to Congress? Such a gay-hearted fellow!"
"Congress is generally considered a good thing."
"But it is not a cheerful thing. Multitudes of people go to sleep there."
"All business is, I suppose, rather dull."
"I think so. If I call on Mr. Lenox, I feel the weight of his office on my heart for days afterwards—the files of big books, the desks of awful height, the bills and papers, the silent men writing, writing—are a kind of nightmare."
"And yet, what thought, decision and action are recorded in those dull books! Every line is the work of a considering brain and a patient hand. If one could read between the figures, what romance there are in those dull books! What records of adventure and hard labor!"
"You speak as if work was a man's highest condition."
"Is it not?"
"No. If you had listened to my theory of the millennium, you would understand that the great point of the labor question will be solved in it; that is, men and women will have time to work for their souls as well as their bodies. Work, for the sake of gold, is the superstition of an age infatuated with money. It kills every day. Look at Ambrose Shepherd. Are you going there this morning?"

"No."
"The negative was sharp and final in sound, and Robert Carter thought it expressed his fixed determination. He was in that depressed condition which often precedes some great change, and whose dominant symptom is a dread of change. To hold fast to life just as it was, in every petty detail, appeared to him at that hour the chief part of wisdom."
"But as the day went on and he began to take his part in his duty and struggle, the other worldiness was driven away, as the mist is driven away before the advancing sun. Then some pleasant thing happened, and he had the mental tonic necessary. About noon he called himself "oblivious" for running away from an obvious duty, because there was a woman in the way. So that he finally rang the Shepherd's door-bell in a state of virtuous control, which he believed to be invincible."
"He saw no one in the hall but the servant who admitted him. An air of silence and loneliness pervaded the house. It had a certain effect on him, and he went softly upstairs. He knew his patient's room and he pushed aside the door. There was a decided and intentional gloom there, and at first he could see nothing. But in a few moments the interior was clear enough. Shepherd was in a deep sleep on his bed, and his daughter sat motionless at his side. A closed book was in her hand, and her head was thrown back against the white-linen cover of the large chair in which she sat."
"Robert looked steadily at the sleeping man, and then put out his hand to the girl. She took it, and he led her out of the room. They went silently down the stairs together. His feet moved with her feet, and every step sent him deeper and deeper into that abyss of delicious foolishness which is often the heart's highest wisdom. He had frequently held women's hands before, but never yet had any hand so wondrously thrilled his being, so soft, so warm, so natural in his own it seemed. Holding it, he found a link which hitherto he had not missed but which now he could never endure to lose again—a link that was a magical conductor of sweet, vague tremors and rosy hopes and delightful fears and darlings. They went into a parlor and sat down. He felt the silence awkward but he had no mind to break it; and so far the sleeping patient had been excuse enough for his entrancing eloquence. Miss Shepherd took the initiative. She said shyly:

"I read father to sleep."
"I see the book in your hand."
"Father wanted the newspapers, said they were not good for him. I novel always puts him to sleep."
"Sleep is the best physician."
"Mrs. Shepherd has gone to Stromberg to-day. We intend to rent a furnished house there."
"At Stromberg? I am glad of that."
"Father was born near Stromberg. When you said he must go to the country, he would hear of no other place."
"It is the best of all places. Nature air has a singular potency. I know a man who goes there thousands of miles every year to breathe his native air. He believes it renews his life."
"You said you would come to the country to see my father. Is Stromberg too far away?"
"Not if you wish me to come."
"I do wish you to come."
"Then no distance is too far."
"Thank you. You are very kind."
"My brother Will is going to Stromberg also. He is the best of good fellows, and I am sure you will find him a pleasant friend."

Had Eczema In Both Legs

Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.
You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the case of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended.
"Mr. Fred W. Clark, Pottery, Ont., writes:—'My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema.'
Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Remedies sent free.

"I am sure of it. But will you come also?"
"Can you doubt it?"
Her eyes were cast down; her cheeks aflame, her white hands lying upon her lap. A rose at her throat; dropped its white petals upon them. He lifted the fragrant leaves and laid them in her palm, and as he did so his eyes said what words would have been a clumsy vehicle for—said in a moment more than he could have spoken in an hour.

CHAPTER II.

Did Not Answer His Case.
"O fair! O sweet! As the sweet apple blooms on the bough; High on the highest; forgot of the gatherers; So thou! So thou! Yet not so, nor forgot of the gatherers; High o'er their reach in the golden air, O sweet! O fair!"

"Your father is much better this morning, Ambrosia?"
These were Mrs. Shepherd's words as she entered the breakfast room on the day following Doctor Carter's visit. And Ambrosia, having expressed her pleasure, the two women sat down to drink their coffee. The feelings between them were a happy and confidential one, though they were not mother and daughter, nor had the pretence of this relationship ever been assumed.

When Ambrosia was sixteen years old, Miss Clara Vaughn had come to the motherless girl as her teacher and companion; and when Ambrose Shepherd made her his wife, the romantic attachment which Ambrosia had for her teacher was not unfavorably affected by the new position. Clara was now thirty years old, and Ambrosia was twenty. They were both beautiful. In other respects their unity arose from their differences. Clara was of Puritan lineage. She had been brought up in an atmosphere of severe economy, and taught from her childhood to keep her will and her desires under control. Her manner was therefore serene and full of womanly dignity; and though she was moved by her reason, her sense of duty and of justice, she was quite capable of great affection and of a supreme self-denial.

On the contrary, Ambrosia was moody and uncertain as an April day. She was also impulsive, unreasonable and a little tyrannical. Her father adored her, and she expected from him such continual blackness as selfish youth considers the best evidence of love—trinkets, sweet meats and plenty of pocket money. In return, she firmly believed that she loved her father and her step-mother. She loved them as a girl loved those who give her pleasure and who, as yet, have demanded nothing from her in return. Whether she could have resigned for their sake her own will, her own happiness or her own interests was an undetermined question. Many characters are thought to be storm-proof which shrink at the first wotting.
For Ambrosia as yet looked at life from a sentimental point of view. She was at that mental stage which finds Moore and Byron interpreters of their soul-pangs; and so, theoretically, she believed all the world well lost for love. But there was also a practical side to the girl's nature, and, in the long run, it would possibly carry her; for Ambrosia was very fond of dress, and, in a social sense, she considered a fine toilet a girl's perfect salvation.

This morning, though the house was not clear from the depression and anxiety which sickness causes, she was wonderfully attired. It is extremely likely that Solomon in all his glory was not dressed with half the taste nor yet with such fine consideration as to color and style. And yet, her morning robe was the acme of simplicity. No mere man, with his sense perceptions as to "materials," would have believed that it cost more than the richest silk. She spread out the soft India mull and fingered the real Valenciennes and looked at Mrs. Shepherd for some token of her admiration. Clara was thinking of other things.

"I hope your father can be moved into the country at the end of the week," she said. "I must ask Doctor Carter about it."
"What do you think of Doctor Carter?"
"He appears to be a very respectable, clever man."
"Respectable!"
"Oh, good gracious! How judicious!"
Why, Clara, Doctor Carter wears society's silver-slippers, and was born with a gold spoon in his mouth. None once lived with the Carters. I asked her about both brothers."
"You should not talk to the servants, Amber."

PUBLIC HEALTH OFFICER
Pronounces Fever Typhus Fever.

We append a letter we received this afternoon from Dr. Brehm in reference to the outbreak of fever in Pope Street and the vicinity. This outbreak took place about a fortnight ago. We heard then the cases were doubtful and that there were being instituted typhoid or typhus fever. To settle the question was a matter of supreme importance, as a medical man informs us the danger of the typhus spreading is a hundredfold greater than in case of typhoid. The latter spreads by contagion, mostly by swallowing food and water which have been tainted with the disease germs.

Typhus is highly infectious and can be carried a few feet from the sufferer and by clothing and thus carried long distances to others living in healthy surroundings. It is thus highly important to isolate all cases of typhus and stop all communication between the outside public and the patient.

We have already stated that we learnt when the outbreak occurred that suspicion was entertained that the disease might be typhus and that it would be known the next day whether the suspicion was justified. On inquiry next day we were informed that the cases were typhoid of a bad nature and not typhus. This was about two weeks ago.

A few days ago we mentioned the matter to Dr. Brehm, and he told us he was of the opinion that the cases were typhoid and not typhus.

From the communication appended it will be seen that now Dr. Brehm is of opinion that the cases are typhus.

As a layman, we should like to know if it should not have been possible to determine within a day or two if the cases were typhus. Further, if a suspicion that the cases might be typhus was entertained, should the houses have been isolated?

Have the houses been placarded? Have persons from the infected houses been going about the city streets and to their business? Should this have been allowed?

Is it a fact that after Mrs. Collins' death a wake was held in her house, at which the people of the neighbourhood attended?

Is it a fact that William McGrath contracted the disease at Mrs. Collins' wake?

We append Dr. Brehm's letter and await further information.

Editor Evening Telegram

Dear Sir,—As there appears to be a general desire for more definite information as to the nature of the fever cases which have occurred in the vicinity of Pope Street, perhaps you will permit me to say that, in my opinion, there is no longer any doubt that the disease is typhus fever, and not typhoid. Several of the cases have been reported as typhoid; in all the symptoms have been irregular and ill-defined, and only by watching their development for several days has it been possible to come to a definite conclusion. Most of the cases are of a mild type, the only fatalities, so far, having occurred in persons who were enfeebled by age and destitution and unhealthy surroundings. All the patients, with one exception, have been removed to hospital—this case having been too ill when coming under observation to permit of removal, and all necessary steps have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. Typhus, though highly infectious to those in actual contact with patients in dirty, unventilated dwellings, such as those on Pope Street, cannot spread in the presence of fresh air and cleanliness.

Yours truly,
R. A. BREHM,
Medical Health Officer,
Public Health Office, Jan. 6th, 1911.

Dr. Newsholme in his manual of Public Health says of Typhus Fever: "This disease was formerly known as spotted or jail-fever, and for many ages has been the scourge of prisons and armies, and all collections of people living in over-crowded and insanitary districts. The history of typhus is the history of human misery. It is essentially associated with filth, over-crowding and destitution; but when once established by these conditions, it can be carried by infection to others who live amidst healthy surroundings. It generally occurs in winter, when over-crowding is greatest. With free ventilation the disease cannot be carried more than a few feet. It can be transmitted by clothing. The micro-organism causing it has not been discovered. With the clearance of the rookeries of our great towns, it is rapidly decreasing, and appears likely to become extinct. The means of prevention, in addition to the abatement of nuisances, including over-crowding, are isolation and disinfection."

It is a remarkable circumstance that this neighbourhood is the very one which "Reform" was insisting should be cleaned up by the Council.

SEVERED A ARTERY.—Mr. Joseph Taylor, formerly of Ayre & Sons, while at work in the Royal Stores this forenoon fell from a step ladder and crashed through a show case. The glass in it cut his right arm terribly, severing the main artery. He bled profusely and he hurried to a doctor who dressed his wounds.

History of the Typhus Cases.

A man named Rodgers had the disease first and was stricken shortly after coming off a foreign voyage in a vessel. The people of Barter's Hill say that the man had no home to go to when he arrived, and ill though he was he went in the country and cutting down boughs slept under the trees for several days and nights, after which he came to the city and appeared at the Collins residence, into which he was taken and looked after by Mrs. Collins, since deceased. The malady was communicated to the Collins family by him, and Mr. Collins was the first to be taken ill. While nursing her husband Mrs. Collins became infected and died after an illness of five days. Her husband recovered but her three little boys became ill and are now in hospital. Rev. Fr. Goff attended her on several occasions and contracted the disease in her house, as did Mrs. Whalen, her sister, who died not long ago in hospital and who attended Mrs. Collins during her illness. Mrs. Reardon, the mother of both women, died a few days after Mrs. Collins, and the belief is that she also died of the disease. In rapid succession, then, John McManus, a neighbor, became ill; Mr. W. Painling and a boy named Woodfine, after which Mr. McGrath took the disease.

Reciprocity.

We observe that Sir Edward Morris has lost no time in intimating to the people of the United States of America that he is prepared to make a deal with their government on a reasonable basis. He declares that there are three or four concessions to offer to the United States in return for concessions of a reasonable nature. He also expressed the opinion that free trade in fish would go far to solve the problem of the high cost of living in America. There is, no doubt, some force in this contention. We could hope it would convince American tariff men of the desirability of altering their ways, and coming to a more reasonable attitude in regard to trading with Newfoundland.

The decision of the Hague Tribunal has given the Newfoundland Premier an accession of strength that should prove useful in any negotiations in these matters. It will be remembered that the visit of Mr. Pepper to the Premier some months ago was hailed by an organ of the Government as the first-fruits of the Hague Award.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

To-day a man named William Carey, who was recently released from the Penitentiary, was convicted of stealing a pair of rabbits from Mrs. Beams' store, Water Street West, was sentenced to six months.

A drunk and disorderly in his own house was remanded for 8 days. Two drunks were discharged.

Two young men, the principals in an affiliation case were before court; one was sentenced to 6 months in the Penitentiary; the other agreed to pay the fine imposed in such cases.

Maggie Brennan, a domestic, who resided with Mrs. P. Stewart, summoned her for the recovery of a purse which she left in defendant's house which she quitted Christmas morning, and which she alleged contained two $2 bills, four 50 cent pieces, two photos, two gold rings, and a 20 cent and 10 cent piece. Plaintiff said the purse was in a bureau drawer. Mrs. Stewart said that the bureau drawer was left open, that she had not seen the purse, that there were other boarders in the house having access to the room, and that she was not responsible for the girl's property. The case was non-suited. Mr. Gibbs, for plaintiff; Mr. W. J. Higgins, for defendant.

Here and There.

NUMIDIAN ARRIVED.—To-day Messrs. Shea & Co. had a messenger from the other side saying that the s.s. Numidian was 18 miles west of Main Head at 1 p.m.

DELAYED SCHOONERS O.K.—The schrs. Ermine, Ethel E. and Dorothy Mett., fish laden from Twillingate who had been out since St. Stephen's Day for this port, arrived at King's Cove last night on their way here. They had stormy and adverse winds and were for a while harbored at Seldom and Shanoler's Cove. They are fish laden for Bowring Bros.

OVERCOAT THIEF AROUND.—A thief is now going the rounds of the city who has taken a new and special departure. He is engaged in going quietly into hallways of residences and stealing overcoats. Four were taken by him last week, two of which were valued at $20 each and two others at $10. The owners of the apparel will report the matter to the police.

Mr. J. Cox, the window clerk of the Post Office, is laid up with a heavy cold since New Year's Day. The s.s. S. Portia left Margystown at 7.35 a.m. to-day, and is due here at noon to-morrow.

Train Notes.

The Bruce express at 6 p.m. yesterday took out about 50 passengers. The local which arrived here at 9.50 last night brought in 20 passengers.

The incoming express left Port aux Basques at 9.10 a.m. to-day.

The local via Broad Cove arrived at St. John's at 1.20 p.m. with four cars.

WOMAN BREAKS LEG.—As an old woman named Walsh was proceeding down Barter's Hill last night she fell on the street which was then covered with glitter and broke her left leg above the ankle. She was assisted home and a doctor was called to set the fractured bone.

A magisterial enquiry into the fire which occurred at Knowling's upper premises recently was held yesterday before Judge Conroy, in the Court House, when Mr. Knowling's house-keeper, Supt. John Williams of the department, and Fireman Con. Kavanaugh were examined.

There will be an enquiry this evening into the fire which occurred Sunday morning at Mr. Cook's coopers, Casey Street, when several witnesses will be examined.

The brig, Galatea, Capt. Connors, arrived here from Oporto to-day after a run of 40 days, which Capt. Connors says was the roughest he ever experienced. From the start fierce weather was encountered with hurricanes of wind from W. S. W. to N. W. and for 28 days this lasted, while the vessel only made a run of 24 miles in that time. This occurred between 20 and 25 longitude and 42 and 46 north latitude. Though the vessel had such bad weather she came through unscathed. She is in ballast to James Baird, Ltd.

Halifax Fishing Activity

Purchase's Body Found — Anarchist Pest — Fifteen People Killed — Earthquake Destroys Towns — Anarchists' Leg Bail.

Special to Evening Telegram.
HALIFAX, Jan. 5.
The report is current that a big fishing fleet may be established shortly, with headquarters at Halifax.
J. F. Hart, one of the parties interested, said that when the time came he would give details. He would say that there was a great deal of truth in the report that a concern, the Nova Scotia Fish Co., contemplates the forming of a fishing fleet. The vessels would be built at Lunenburg, Mahone and Shelburne, and would be ready for fishing trips in 1912. The company were negotiating for the vessels and also for Newfoundland and Cape Breton properties. Rail frezers and fishing stations would be established in Newfoundland and Cape Breton. The vessels would outfit in Halifax, but the fish would be landed and cured at the stations fortnightly. Negotiations were in progress for the purchase of several lobster factories. Schooners, some of which may be of steel, built in Halifax or New Glasgow, will be used for transportation purposes during the winter. The Norwegian and Scotch methods of curing fish would be introduced.

Christian Brothers Lose Their Lives.

Special Evening Telegram.
GRANBY, Ontario, Jan. 5.
This town is in mourning for two Christian Brothers. Mr. Daniels, the Superior, and Mr. Louviere, Assistant Superior, who met their fate in a fire at St. Joseph's College, which institution was destroyed. There were thirty-two students and twenty-nine brothers in the building at the time of the outbreak. While leading their charges to safety the heroic brothers lost their lives. Brother Louviere was seen standing at one of the upper window frames amidst smoke and flame. He toppled back into the seething furnace to his doom. Brother Daniels jumped from third story window. There is no hope of his recovery. The loss is estimated at $15,000. There was $30,000 insurance.

Planning for Coming Meeting at Washington

Negotiations May Pave Way to Newfoundland Entering Confederation—Lord Strathearn's Views.
New York, December 31.—A Washington special to the Tribune says:—Preparations have been practically completed for the taking up, in connection with the Canadian reciprocity negotiation next month, of the question of the Newfoundland fisheries regulations, which were referred to the special commission by the court of arbitration at The Hague in its decision in the North Atlantic coast fisheries case.

It is the aim of the three governments, the United States, Canada and Newfoundland, to settle the difficult question in connection with the regulations among themselves, if possible, making it unnecessary to appoint the commission called for by The Hague court.
The settlement of these minor problems by such a body would be a long and expensive proceeding, and it is the belief of the officials of the three governments that they may be disposed of directly, now that the main questions relating to the fisheries have been decided by the international tribunal.

The regulations to be considered are those which are held to restrict unnecessarily the activities of American fishermen, such as the prohibition of fishing on Sunday, use of trawls in certain waters along the coast and the use of certain appliances and methods of fishing which have not been taken up in Newfoundland, although they are commonly in vogue almost everywhere else.
It is not expected that any serious obstacles will arise to prevent modification of the objectionable regulations to the satisfaction of the fishermen of the United States as well as those of Canada and Newfoundland.

By far the most important effect of this final settlement of the fisheries question will be the clearing of the way for the absorption of Newfoundland by the Dominion of Canada. At present Newfoundland is independent except for its allegiance to Great Britain, and maintains its own Government, as does Canada.
The fisheries difficulty has been the most serious, if not the only obstacle in the way of the annexation of the smaller country by the Dominion. Popular opinion has been much in favor of such a move, and interest in it has been re-awakened, now that the fisheries problem is about to be settled.
"No time has been set for the resumption of reciprocity negotiations with Canadian representatives. The British Ambassador will arrive in Washington to-day, and it is expected that the arrangement of the programme will be reached within the next day or two. Canadian representatives will at least arrive in time for the diplomatic reception on January 10th, so it is probable that the conference will begin soon after that date.

Personal Notes.

Mr. S. B. Keener leaves here by the Florizo to-morrow and will spend the remainder of the winter in New York.
Mr. McLaine, Supt. of Western Union Telegraph Co., at Bay Roberts, is on a visit to Heart's Content, and is the guest of J. J. Scott, American Electrician of the Anglo-American Co. Important changes are anticipated in telegraph circles in near future owing to the recent merger.
Capt. Jacob Kean left for his home at Westville yesterday. He will return in February to get the S. S. Adventure ready for the staffishery.

Newfoundlander Dies Suddenly.

While at dinner in her house at Fall River, Mass., on the 28th December past, Mrs. Ryan, of St. John's, died very suddenly. The deceased lady was the widow of the late Capt. John Ryan, an old time resident of King's Road, this city, who sailed out of St. John's for several years and was well known to our old time mariners. Mrs. Ryan was a relative of Messrs. Dunn Bros., grocers of the Beach. Deceased was interred after a Requiem High Mass had been said at the R. C. Cathedral of Fall River.

Wonderful cure brought about by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.
It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotor ataxia and paralysis.
"Mr. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catharines, Ontario, states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, twitching of the nerves and severe headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was so bad that I was unable to do any work, and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.
"I tried a hundred remedies in vain. After having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old ailment had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

A Brave Deed.

Mr. M. Williams, the painter, who saved the life of Mr. Campbell's boy at Mundy Pond yesterday morning, did a brave deed and risked his own life on the ice. He had a hard job to save the lad and he was under the ice and his brother was not able to pull him out. Both would have been drowned were it not for the prompt and brave act of Mr. Williams, who deserves some tangible recognition of his heroic deed.

IN 1898
The London Lancet, after a careful examination of Scott's Emulsion
reported that "the preparation fulfills ALL the requirements and presents ALL the conditions of a very satisfactory emulsion. In appearance and consistency it is not unlike cream and under the microscope the fat globules are seen to be of perfectly regular size and uniformly distributed. So well has the oil been emulsified that even when shaken with water the fat is slow to separate. The taste is decidedly unobjectionable and the Emulsion should prove an excellent food as well as a tonic."
We believe no other preparation of Cod Liver Oil has received such weighty commendation and the same high authorities were to examine it now they would find it even finer, more digestible, more palatable and more satisfactory in every way; in fact, SCOTT'S EMULSION has so long been the one satisfactory and perfect Emulsion that it is accepted as the standard by medical practitioners all-over the world, by the public and by hundreds of imitators, for it is the one and only Emulsion improved.
The imitations are in name only for no other preparation of Cod Liver Oil is so pure, so perfect and so beneficial.
SCOTT'S EMULSION
has become the world's Standard Body-Building because of the perfect purity of its ingredients, its absolute freedom from ALCOHOL or any other harmful substance and because the results from it are uniform and far greater than from any other preparation.

Premier Morris Talks Reciprocity.

Special Evening Telegram. BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 5. Sir Edward Morris, Premier of Newfoundland, was entertained at the Chamber of Commerce. He said he anticipated no trouble with Gloucester fishermen. Speaking on trade relations, the Premier remarked: "If reciprocity between the United States of America and Newfoundland comes within the realm of reasonable diplomacy, my country will participate. Newfoundland has three or four items to offer the United States, the value of which will not be disregarded. First, there is the enormous catch of cod, the distribution of which through the inland states of the Union, would in my opinion solve the high cost of living. When asked if Newfoundland was likely to unite with Canada, the Premier declared, "It was less likely than ever."

Redmond on Ulster

Special Evening Telegram. LONDON, Jan. 5. Mr. John Redmond devotes a long article in the London papers to an endeavour to remove the Unionist objections to Home Rule, which are based on the fear of Ulster Protestants being unfairly treated. He shows that five of the nine counties of Ulster are overwhelmingly Roman Catholic. The whole of Ulster, excluding Belfast, actually voted for Home Rule by a majority of 1298. He declares Ulster has nothing to fear, if Home Rule be granted. The Protestant minority have equal rights and liberties with Roman Catholics.

Aches, Pains and Rheumatism?

Zam-Buk will give you ease. Have you a bad attack of "general aching"? You know the feeling. Limbs ache, muscles seem to have become tired out, your back aches, now and again a "twinge" of rheumatism strikes you here and there. Your chest feels tight, there is a pain between your shoulders, and altogether you need toning up.

Cold is responsible for this condition, and a vigorous application of Zam-Buk will put you right. Take a hot bath, if possible, and then rub your chest and the aching limbs well with Zam-Buk. Mrs. B. Gorie, 76 Berkeley St., Toronto, writes: "I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk. A few weeks ago I was suffering from a bad cold, which had settled in my throat, chest and limbs. I tried all kinds of remedies, new and old, and found very little relief until I used Zam-Buk. On applying this to my throat and chest I found such ease and relief from the tightness and soreness I determined to use only Zam-Buk. I also rubbed it on my limbs where I felt the rheumatism pains. In three days from the time I first began applying Zam-Buk I was free from the cold in throat and chest, and also the rheumatism in my limbs."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ring-worm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, upon receipt of price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

The Ore Beds of Bell Island.

When a company owns an area of coal deposits, it always affords it a great deal of pleasure to find that the general quality of it is higher than it was supposed to be. This is just what happened to the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company who this year have been doing a great deal of work improving the lower beds of its ore areas. Scotia's Company's submarine slopes are driven seaward from the upper bed, and as the work advanced lower beds were sunk from the upper beds to the lower beds, in order that the company might have an opportunity of testing the quality and quantity of the underlying ore. The results obtained from the last bore hole have been especially satisfactory, proving as they do that the big increase in thickness of the seam after it dips under the sea, as shown by the former bore holes, is fully maintained. The seam in the submarine areas is 20 to 23 ft thick as against 14 to 12 ft thick on the land. What is most important however, from the company's standpoint is also from the point of view of the shareholders, is that the quality of the ore is far superior to any thing previously found on the company's deposits. The average iron contents of the entire thickness of the seam is over 55 per cent. This is 1 or 4 per cent higher than the result obtained from the previous bore holes. In fact, some of the ore on the new seam shows as high as 58 per cent. Perhaps even more important than the increased percentage of iron in the ore, is the decrease in the silicon. Previous tests of the bed before it entered the areas of the Scotia Company had shown as high as 16 per cent of silicon. The average was 11 to 13 per cent, but in the last bore hole it was found that the lower bed the silicon is down to about 9 per cent, which makes it nearly ideal for blast furnace purposes. The indications are that the ore will be of very better quality as it goes deeper. While there was never any doubt as to the continuity of this lower bed this last bore hole has proved that it extends for a further 1000 feet in the Scotia areas. The submarine development has shown that this lower bed in the Scotia holdings, which is approximately 20 feet thick, has so far been proven to be over 3000 feet wide, and its estimated length is about eight or ten miles. The lower bed is supposed to be shaped like a saucer, and at the present time the operators of the company have only crept down a very short distance along one of the rims towards the centre. Of course, men who have been in a position to know, have right along claimed that Scotia's supply of ore was practically inexhaustible, and the recent developments have demonstrated absolutely that there is enough at present in sight to supply more than double the requirements of the company for three or four hundred years, and if the remainder of the areas continue to show the same results as have been obtained by the recent development work, that it will become practically impossible to compute just how much ore there is on all the company's areas. Every part of Canada will be interested in learning the exact results of the important development work that has been carried out, as it goes to show that Wabana is undoubtedly one of the most important iron ore deposits in the world. While the recent important developments have all been made on what is known as the lower seam, the upper seam continues to be of even, uniform quality and thickness.—Canadian Courier.

English Law Must be Obeyed.

Magistrate Refused to Hand Over American Sailor to His Officers. London, Dec. 30.—Milton Grayson, a negro sailor belonging to the American battleship New Hampshire, now in English waters, who was arraigned in Bow Street Police Court on Dec. 16 on a charge of stabbing another sailor named Robert Washington, was again brought before the magistrate to-day and was again remanded. Several of the New Hampshire officers who were in court wanted the magistrate to hand Grayson over to them for punishment, but that official replied that the prisoner must be dealt with in accordance with English law.

Mr. Lacey Writes Again

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Further no letter of recent date space for which you kindly allowed in your issue of the 3rd, may I trespass still further to set right what seems to be an incorrect interpretation of my attitude towards Unionism as applied to the city tradesmen? As already intimated, I have nothing to say to trade Unionism, when same is managed for the general welfare of a specified body of men, who are willing to concede to others the rights that are theirs. In fact, I am a strong advocate of such good management as reduces friction to a minimum and unites Capital and Labor for the common good. I believe in that kind of unity that preserves peace, breathes discipline and concord, and obtains for its followers fair and equitable allocation of whatever is going, without hampering and may be seriously inconveniencing other elements, financially and otherwise. I am not, and never will be, in sympathy with any man or men whose ideas of Unionism keep them from permitting others to do what they themselves cannot do, such as was evidenced right here in this city on one or two very recent occasions. It is a matter of public congratulation that serious trouble arising from unjustifiable Union interference are not frequent here, and the fact that workers "strike" are practically eliminated shows very forcibly that our city Unions are progressing under good executive management, all of which is tending rapidly to unite Capital and Labor in one great unit for the good of all, and thus obviate considerably the great difficulties that are met with in other countries, and which sometimes unfortunately are the advent of national uprisings. And now, Mr. Editor, with your permission I will avail of this opportunity to get back to the original subject—the doctors. Considering the aggravated form this topic has already taken, and the strong consensus of public opinion against it, one might naturally expect the doctors would have modified their recent announcement; but such has not been done. One can hardly find language strong enough to condemn such an outrageous attitude on the part of a body of men who, by the very nature of their calling, are second only to the church. As your correspondent "Sympathizer" so aptly put it—sarcasm barred—it is at least a consolation to the poor man to know that he can earn enough money in the short time between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. to pay for the doctor's lengthy visit, occupying as much as "nearly 20 minutes."

ly, why not adopt the same measures that prevail with such great satisfaction in Canada and the United States. Appoint a doctor for each Union; or in the case of small Unions, one could look after two or more Unions. Pay him a small fee per man per month, and command his services at all times under all circumstances. There are many fully-competent physicians practising outside Newfoundland, and some of them Newfoundlanders too, who would give every satisfaction if this proposition were put to them.

The largest business enterprise in this island has had this plan in force since its inception, and every employee has the satisfaction of knowing he will receive medical attention at any time by just requesting it. There is only one way to handle this effectively, and that is, in a strict pharmacy, to "take the bull by the horns" and adopt such measures as will eventually freeze out those gentlemen who would by their last drastic action literally suck the life-blood from the workmen of the city. There are thousands in this city to-day who are ready to say, like Josh Billings, "Dem's my sentiments," and if there are any who cannot, I presume you, Mr. Editor, would gladly give them a space to say so. Sincerely yours, J. J. LACEY.

(Im)patient's Letter.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—The action of the Physicians' Union in raising the scale of fees demands prompt attention by the public. It seems to me that a public meeting should be called and the matter thoroughly discussed, and the advisability of importing new doctors with a guaranteed practice at all rates considered.

I take the liberty of suggesting some other questions for consideration:— 1.—In view of the fact that our death rate is nearly double that of London and many other large cities, what we get value from our doctors? 2.—What will be the advance in our death rate now that the fees making medical attendance almost prohibitive, as doctors will be engaged only as a last resort? 3.—The majority of the civilized countries of the world are encouraging parents to increase the size of their families. What will be the effect upon our birth-rate now that the minimum charge for a confinement case is twelve dollars? These are serious questions which demand the attention of the Government and citizens generally. Let us show medical men that while motor cycles, motor cars, fast pacers, fancy vehicles, etc., etc., form a part of their ordinary comforts we will not believe that hunger and starvation (and emigration) is staring them in the face.

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its forms can be cured. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden."

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at...

A resident of Bay Roberts, named Mercer, yesterday morning, went countrywards with others to cut wood, and on returning while walking on the railway track fell heavily on the track and so seriously injured his spine that he could not move. He was put on board the train and taken to Bay Roberts where he was attended by a doctor. His injuries are serious and he will be some time laid up.

Taking Large Cargo.

The Florizel this trip will take a very large cargo composed mostly of fish and oil, and will sail at 6 p.m. tomorrow. In the cargo will be a great many half drums of fish, and these are being passed down by the 1300-shoremen into the hold instead of being lowered away by the winches, this being a quicker method.

A Rumored Drowning.

Last evening a rumour went the rounds of the city that a boy had been drowned in Mundy's Pond. Nothing of the kind, however, had occurred, and the fact that a boy named Clarke had gone through the ice there during the day evidently gave rise to the report.

Arrested in House.

The police were called to a residence in the West End of the city yesterday afternoon where a man was making things lively. Fearing that he would damage the furniture or do himself injury by falling, his wife called the police and had him arrested.

REINDEER BRAND

is far better than normal, raw cows' milk for everyday culinary purposes.

For the preparation of such wholesome dishes as bread-and-butter pudding, cup or baked custards, boiled rice, sago, tapioca and rice puddings and many other desserts of ordinary utility, 'Reindeer' Milk is unexcelled. 'Reindeer' Milk is just the best of good milk from the great dairying centres of the Dominion; the surplus water is driven out and the milk is then preserved by the addition of pure sugar, much as the housewife would ordinarily preserve fruit. For this reason, an open can of 'Reindeer' Milk will keep indefinitely; the sugar crystallizes in a thin layer over the top of the milk and protects it from the deleterious influences of the atmosphere. Remember, the Dominion Government Analyst gives 'Reindeer' Milk total solids of 72.68% with 8.61% butter-fat. 'Reindeer', therefore, stands above all other brands of sweetened, condensed milk on the market.

A can of 'Reindeer' Cocoa will enable you to prepare a dainty lunch at a moment's notice. A kettle of boiling water, a can of 'Reindeer' Cocoa, a plate of biscuits or cakes and presto!—a tasty "afternoon-tea" is already to serve in no time at all. Possessing all the qualities of dry cocoa, its nutritive qualities make it very beneficial for children.

The convenience of 'Reindeer' Coffee cannot be over-estimated, like 'Reindeer' Cocoa, you simply add boiling water and serve. It keeps in perfect condition in the open can until the entire contents is used—there is no waste. Think of the convenience of being able to prepare a cup of delicious, aromatic coffee at the instant you want it—with the milk and sugar all added—simply by pouring in boiling water.

THE SECRET OF BIG MEAT BILLS.

Huge Profits of Beef Barons—Public Yearly Tribute Just $915,000.—Profits of Six Firms Total Some $25,000,000.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—The United States public pays the six packing concerns of this city the colossal sum of $945,000,000 a year for meat. The net profits of these concerns, which are being prosecuted by the Government as a monopoly, in restraint of trade, amounts to $25,000,000 a year. Such is the light thrown on the present high cost of living, as seen in the enormous profits made this year by the big beef barons.

Of the gross annual business of the packers the following is from authoritative sources:—

Armour & Co.	$275,000,000
Swift & Co.	260,000,000
Morris & Co.	125,000,000
National Packing Co.	100,000,000
Schlitzberger & Sons	100,000,000
Cudahy & Co.	85,000,000
Total	$945,000,000

The net profits are as follows:

Armour & Co.	$9,838,375.09
Swift & Co.	8,000,000.00
Morris & Co.	2,171,329.00
Schlitzberger & Sons	1,600,000.00
Cudahy & Co.	1,700,000.00
Total	$23,379,614.09

How the Figures Were Obtained.

For years the profits of the packers were known only to themselves and the public had no way of ascertaining whether the profits were unduly large. Since the packers, to raise money to extend their business, began to offer bonds and other securities for sale to the public, they have been compelled by rules of stock exchanges, in which the securities are listed, to make an annual statement of assets and liabilities. Swift & Co. have made statements for several years, but the Armour and Morris Companies only began last year to give the public a bookkeeping view of the packing business.

Better Than Any Gold Mine.

The Armours have a surplus capital investment of $74,000,000 which represents their gigantic profits of past years. Morris & Co. show a profit around 50 per cent. annually, last year 63 per cent. being earned on the stock. Bosting of their vast business recently, President Schlitzberger said the packing business was one of unusual stability, the profits being rarely subject to wide fluctuations. In declaring the annual business of his house to be $100,000,000 annually, he said it was exceeded only by the gross earnings of two railroads, the Pennsylvania and Southern Pacific.

City Council Meeting Last Evening.

At the regular weekly meeting of the City Council held yesterday evening a full Board was present.

The Engineer reported a leak in the water pipe in Belvidere Valley. He had it repaired during the day. He suggested that the reservoir at Cookstown Road be stripped for examination, ordered accordingly.

The Health Officer wrote drawing the Council's attention to the condition of a building on the west side of Pope Street, where fever had broken out. He said the house was unfit to live in and thought that it would be wise to have it destroyed. The advice of the Solicitor will be asked; meantime the Secretary will attend to the business.

A long discussion followed on the need of having tenement houses for the poor fit to live in. Mayor Ellis expressed the opinion that building societies should take the question up and ask the co-operation of the Government, so that a guarantee of interest on the investment could be secured. The Premier will be spoken to about the subject when he comes back.

The report of the Sanitary Supervisor dealt at considerable length on matters connected with his department.

A discussion on the fighting of the city followed. Before the meeting closed Councillor Mulhally gave the following notice of motion:

"I hereby give notice that at the next regular meeting of the Council I will introduce a discussion in reference to the increased scale of fees recently adopted and published by the Medical Profession, with a view of adopting some measures to protect the citizens from what is universally considered to be an exorbitant fee and at the same time to ensure medical attendance to citizens when it pleases the Almighty to afflict them."

After the passing of pay rolls, etc. the meeting adjourned.

Improving the Quality of Seed.

Recent bluebook reports show the result of a test made last year by the Seed Commissioners' Branch of the Department of Agriculture of seed corn, field root, and garden seeds sold in Canada. As everyone knows, most garden seeds are sold in sealed envelopes, and hitherto there has been no guarantee to the purchaser of the percentage of these seeds that would germinate. The inspectors who enforce the Seed Control Act bought 2,527 samples of seed exposed for sale by retailers and wholesalers all over Canada and these were sent to the Seed Laboratory for testing with the results already mentioned. The Seed Control Act sets up a standard that certain classes of seed, offered for sale must be capable of germinating in the proportion of at least two-thirds of the standard, the percentage must be marked according to the percentage of germination, so that the buyer may know for what he is paying. The value of this act to the agriculturist is obvious. The act further more provides that seedmen and dealers may be prosecuted for not complying with its requirements. A further test was made last May in which 752 samples of garden seeds were examined, and the examination shows that about 11 per cent. were below the standard. This is an improvement of 7 per cent. over last year's test, and shows that the Seed Control Act has commenced its beneficent work.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DISTEMPER.

Chickens Come Home to Roost.

Perhaps the most horrible experience a Parliamentary candidate can have is to find he has publicly "given away" one of his most influential supporters. This particular form of agony once fell to the lot of Mr. Akers-Douglas.

He had been talking about fair wages to a meeting, and a member of the audience wanted to know his views on the question as applied to his own case. He explained his work and his hours of work and his qualifications at great length, and wound up by asking Mr. Akers-Douglas what he thought would be a fair wage.

"Well, it seems to me that twenty-five shillings a week would meet the case," was the candidate's reply; "or even twenty-eight shillings."

"Ah!" remarked the heckler with a certain victory satisfaction. "Well, you might just mention that to my employer, will you? He pays me twenty-three."

"But I don't know your employer," Mr. Akers-Douglas protested.

"Yes you do," was the disconcerting reply. "He's your chairman!"

1200 Confess Sale of Votes.

Twenty-Five Bayers are Sentenced, With Their Fines, to Five Years' Disfranchisement.

West Union, Ohio, Jan. 1.—For the first time since the civil war, there is a county in the United States that has no active politicians. This county is Adams, along the southern border of Ohio, and just across the river from Kentucky. The political workers have pleaded guilty of vote buying and have been fined and disfranchised for the next five years. There are about twenty-five of these men, equally divided among the two parties.

The number of men indicted by the grand jury for selling their votes passed the 1200 mark, and to-morrow morning, according to Mr. Shoemaker, it will pass the 1300 point.

Judge Blair said that the investigation would go on and that it may be two or three months before it is ended. In each case the judge fined the prisoners $25, suspending $20 of the fine and imposed six months' work-house sentences, which also were suspended. The third section of the penalty of the court was the five years' disfranchisement. Judge Blair to-day advertised for the names of other election wrongdoers.

New Year's Celebration

Results in the Death of Five Children—Lump Was Upset and Children Burned in Their Beds.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 2.—The five children of John Markasavage lost their lives at Minersville, near here, early to-day, in a fire which destroyed three houses in the foreign quarter of the town. The children ranged in age from 2 months to 3 years.

The origin of the fire is credited to a New Year's celebration of boarders in one of the houses, an upset oil lamp, it is said, starting the blaze. When the fire was discovered Markasavage and his wife ran into the street, and being unable to speak English, gave rescuers the impression that there were no children in the house and they made no effort to enter the place.

The father, however, unmindful of the flames, dashed back into his home, but failed to reach the little ones. He was seriously burned. When the flames were extinguished the dead children were found in their beds.

Johnson Will Fight

Any Man in the World, if Guaranteed $30,000.

Milwaukee, Dec. 28.—Jack Johnson, champion heavyweight pugilist of the world, said to-day that he is willing to fight any man in the world under the auspices of Hugh D. McIntosh, provided he (Johnson) receives $30,000, win, lose or draw, and provided that the fight be under the same conditions which governed the matches between himself and Tommy Burns in Australia.

He denies having received any fight offer from a Paris syndicate.

The EVENING TELEGRAM.

The advertiser who puts his Adverts. in the EVENING TELEGRAM never complains of results. It is read and believed by the people who buy goods. That is one reason why the TELEGRAM'S advertising columns Carry More Advertising Than Any Other Newspaper in Newfoundland.

That fact "speaks for itself," and it is not our intention just now to emphasize it further. What we want to do is to bring home to the business men (if there are any who have not availed of our columns in the past) the advantage to be gained through a liberal use of the TELEGRAM, in bringing before the people what they want the public—the great buying public—most to know:

The Kind of Goods They Have To Sell, the Quality of the Goods, Prices, &c.

If that is what the shopkeeper wants the public to learn, the TELEGRAM is the right medium through which it can be conveyed, because—

- 1st. It has the largest circulation, and
- 2nd. Consequently it is the most widely-read newspaper in Newfoundland;
- 3rd. Naturally, then, it must be THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM in Newfoundland;
- 4th. Therefore, the advertiser has everything to gain, and nothing to lose, by availing of the services of the EVENING TELEGRAM during 1911.

Your money back if Purity
Flour
does not prove entirely satisfactory in the baking.

DON'T simply buy flour from the dollar and cent side of it. Buy high-quality flour. That means PURITY FLOUR. The first little extra cost is more than made up by the extra number of loaves of bread it makes—by the superiority of the bread and pastry in sweetness of flavor and nourishing qualities. Buying Purity Flour is a safe investment. You get large returns, not only on account of Purity's ability to produce more, but because Purity contains the greater nutriment and the vim of a strong hard wheat flour. Food made from Purity Flour gives the consumer health, snap and force, which cannot be gained from the use of the weaker soft wheat flour.

"MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD" PURITY FLOUR

You can buy as little as a 7 pound cotton bag or in 14, 24, 49, and 98 pound sacks. Also in barrels and half-barrels

Purity may cost a little more than some flours
but you'll find its more than worth the difference. To be genuine,
must bear the Purity
trade mark.
