

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Fire at County Building.

Sarnia, March 7.—The building containing the county court house and jail was nearly destroyed by fire this morning. The blaze started around nine o'clock and spread rapidly throughout the second story and roof. It is believed the conflagration was caused by a defective electric light wire in a closet on the second floor.

Happiness is increased, not by the enlargement of the possessions, but of the heart.

FOUR RULES OF SELLING.

They Went With the Job the Gritty Salesman Landed.

Until some ten years ago it was an axiom in the big packing house circles of Chicago that a salesman should be guided by four rules as laid down by one of the famous heads of that industry. He was noted for his brusqueness and also a democratic nature that scorned the usual hedge of clerks that stands between a big man and his callers.

A bright manly looking chap entered the office one day when he was very busy.

"Good morning," he began politely. The packer gave him a hasty glance. "Well, what the blankety-blank-blank do you want?" he growled.

"I want civil treatment, and I want it blankety-blank-blank quick," came the sharp answer.

"Oh!" The packer looked up in surprise. Modulating his voice a trifle, he asked, "What can I do for you?"

"I want a job as a salesman. I have worked as a butcher, I have worked in the packing houses, and I have sold smaller lines to the meat trade. I have references to prove that I deliver the goods, and I have them with me. I want to get into a bigger field, and I am here to make good. Have you got a job open?"

"If we haven't we'll make an opening for you. Report to the sales manager Monday morning."

As the young man started to leave the office the brusque old packer called him back.

"Do you know why you got that job?" he asked.

"No, sir."

"Well, you have the three essentials that make a good salesman. I'll point them out to you, so you'll remember 'em. First, you don't think any man is better than you are, and you have the nerve to stick to it; second, you know the good points of what you had to sell; third, you stated them in the fewest possible words. I'll add a fourth—get out before I change my mind."—Business.

THE POLE STAR.

Some of the Wonders of This Great Season of the North.

Most people, if they know nothing else of astronomy, at any rate know the pole star, the one star which seems to keep its place in the heavens without movement of any kind. There are a great many, however, who do not know what a wonderful thing it is.

In the first place, it can be seen when looked at through a good telescope to be two stars and not one. There is one fairly bright one, of what is known as the second magnitude, and another of the ninth magnitude close to it.

But that is not all. The brighter of the two is really three stars revolving round one another, or rather round their common center of gravity, like three children playing "ring a ring o' roses." This secret is revealed to us by what is perhaps the most astonishing of all scientific instruments, the spectroscopic. It not only tells us what the stars are made of, but whether they are moving toward us or away from us.

When you stand facing the star you are always facing north. The reason that it does not appear to move as the others do is because it is nearly in line with the axis of the earth. Its distance from us is enormous. This can be judged from the fact that although the earth in its journey round the sun is today about 190,000,000 miles from where it was six months ago, that makes no appreciable difference to its distance from the pole star. It must therefore be many times 190,000,000 miles away.

The Ruling Spirit.

Sitting at a cafe in Paris one evening, I heard a woman's idea of war. An affectionate young couple were audaciously making love over some bavaroise au chocolat. The girl was telling machere all manner of pretty things that ran something like this: "What a pity there will be no war after all! You would have been wounded, and I should have gone out to nurse you in such a pretty costume d'infirmerie!"—London Black and White.

Richter's Criticism.

On one occasion Hans Richter was present at a concert given by a brother composer at which the latter performed a long and not particularly interesting work of his own. When the composition came to an end Richter expressed his criticism in a very few words. "Well," he said, "I, too, had written compositions to make a pile so high, raising his hand three feet from the ground, 'but I had burned them!'"

CRIMINALS IN FRANCE.

Curious Devices Used to Land Them Safely in Jail.

Scarcely a day passes without a picture appearing in the French press of a prisoner being led off to the station by a policeman and the description, "the Apache being taken away handcuffed by the agents." As a matter of fact, handcuffs are altogether out of date in France and are never used.

Instead of the bracelets every policeman carries a "cabriole," which is a very rough and massively made article resembling a huge watch chain. Several inches long with a stout wooden crossbar at either end. An expert can slip this over the wrist of an offender in a twinkling and with both the crossbars in his hand has only to give it a twist to inflict the most excruciating pain and compel instant and lamblike submission.

Another common method of preventing escape is to make the prisoner place both his hands in his side trouser pockets and then pass a string around his wrists and around his waist and bid him march. He can walk at a very smart pace, but any attempt to run out of a shambling trot immediately brings him down, nose to the pavement.

If no string is handy all the brace buttons of the trousers are cut off and the culprit is made again to put his hands in his pockets. As in the former case, he can only walk, since so soon as he frees his hands his nether garments fall about his legs and he is "entravee."

Few of these devices are apparent to the casual passerby, who often wonders at the passive docility with which some villainous looking individual under arrest follows his captor to the station. Sometimes on a country road one may meet a couple of gendarmes on foot or on horseback, leading a prisoner between them.

This is in obedience to a quaint regulation whereby prisoners are never sent by train from place to place, as there are no funds set apart for railway fares. Consequently four or five times as much is spent in food, drink and lodging for the escort as would be for the ticket, but the regulations are observed. In such cases the police often use the "poncettes," though strictly speaking this instrument is not legal.

It is a sort of loose thumbscrew, which is used so as to keep the two thumbs comfortably together so long as the man does not struggle, but a twist of the string held by one of the police is enough to destroy any wish to escape.—London Standard.

"Mad Anthony" Wayne.

The nickname of "Mad Anthony" attached to the name of General Wayne of Revolutionary fame was due to no trace of insanity, but instead to the man's wild, reckless courage in plunging into battle where the odds against him seemed hopeless. He had other nicknames too. "Dandy Wayne" was one of them, because of his absurd love for wearing fine clothes in the wilderness and in battle. The Indians gave him the nickname of "Black Snake" from the swift and deadliness of his attack. At the outbreak of the Revolutionary war Sir Henry Clinton said of Wayne: "Wherever Mad Anthony Wayne is there's always a fight. That's what he is there for." And Clinton had sufficient experience to know whereof he spoke.

Our Climate an Asset.

On no other continent, under no other sun, in no other zone, in all the world, can be found the same extent of fertile, available agricultural land as in these United States. And in no other equally large tract as that stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific and between the great lakes and the gulf can be duplicated the same amount of normally good weather as nature has bestowed on this favored land. Our rain and sunshine are so proportioned the one to the other as to produce the best yearly conditions on earth.—Detroit Free Press.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by all Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

IGNORANCE IS A CURSE.—"Know thyself" is a good admonition, whether referring to one's physical condition or moral habits. The man who is acquainted with himself will know how to act when any disarrangement in his condition manifests itself. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is a chief and simple remedy for the eradication of pain from the system and for the cure of all bronchial troubles. Parkhill council will engage an engineer to make a plan and estimate for waterworks for that town. BOSTON REVOLTED.

When Commodore Knowles Worked His Press Gang in 1747.

In the year 1747 a great tumult was raised in the town of Boston. Commodore Knowles, while lying at Nantucket with a number of men of war, losing some of his men by desertion, thought it reasonable that Boston should supply him with as many men as he had lost. He therefore sent his boats uptown early in the morning and surprised not only as many seamen as could be found on board of any of the boats outward bound as well as others, but swept the wharfs, taking some ship carpenters' apprentices and landmen.

This conduct was resented. As soon as it was dusk several people assembled in King street, below the town house, where the general court was sitting. Stones and bricks were thrown into the council chamber through the windows. A judicious speech of the governor from the balcony, disapproving of the impress and promising his utmost endeavors to obtain the discharge of the persons impressed, had no effect. The seizure and restraint of the commanders and other officers who were in town were insisted upon as the only effectual method to procure the release of the inhabitants on board the ships. The militia was summoned in aid of the government, but refused to appear.

Letters in the meantime passed between the governor and the commodore. The council and house of representatives now passed some vigorous resolutions, and the tumultuous spirit began to subside. Finally the commodore dismissed most if not all of the inhabitants who had been impressed, and the squadron sailed.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

NOISY FISHES.

The Skate Grunts, the Puffer Chuckles, and the Drumfish Booms.

Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the fishes that are capable of utterance is the drumfish, so called by reason of the deep, booming noise it produces at will. It is found along the Atlantic coast from Massachusetts to Florida.

The squeteague, another salt water fish of the noisy variety, resembles in appearance the trout, and the not unmusical sound that it gives out is much like the note uttered by a big bullfrog. Allied to the squeteague is the fish known as "the croaker," which, as its popular name indicates, affects the croak—an unmistakable croak.

The sea robin, so called because it has crimson fins just behind its head, about the size of birds' wings, is another fish that makes itself heard. The "squawk" of the sea robin is especially emphatic when on being caught it lifts up its voice in reiterated protests.

There is a fish that may be said to chuckle—the little puffer or swellfish. It puffs itself into the shape of a perfect sphere and as it does so gives out a peculiar, hoarse chuckle.

The skate when caught grunts, groans and gasps pretty much after the manner of a human being in distress. Carp and goldfish frequently utter curious sounds, but hardly sounds in the meaning of the term here used, inasmuch as their sounds are produced by approaching the surface of the water and blowing out air in bubbles until a rippling noise is heard.—Denver Republican.

Sparrow Diet For a Stork.

An English sparrow flew into the flying cage in the zoo and began helping itself to the cracked corn thrown upon the ground by the keeper. A Brazilian stork quietly approached and shot out its six inch red beak and caught the sparrow. Going to the fountain, the big bird dipped the little one in the water and then swallowed it and looked about for more.

"Oh, you cannibal! You ought to get a beating!" exclaimed a woman visitor.

"The sparrow ought to know better than to go in there," explained the keeper. "The stork has been eating half a dozen of these birds a week since he came here. The English sparrow has a quick eye and is quick on the wing and is seldom caught by prowling cats, but doesn't suspect anything with feathers on. The big bird is getting fat on a sparrow diet."—New York Sun.

True to His Promise.

"Dearest, will you let me share your every sorrow after we are married?" she whispered as she cuddled her cheek against his.

"Yes, darling," he replied, again plucking a delicious kiss from her sweet lips.

It was the same lady who two years later wearily cried out: "Oh, Tom, why can't you ever come into the house without bringing a tale of trouble with you? I'm so sick of hearing about how hard you have to work to keep the bills paid."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Ancient Proofreading.

The editions of books printed 200 or 300 years ago are almost entirely free from typographical errors, which may be attributed to the fact that early publishers were generally eminent scholars and themselves gave much attention to the revision of their proofs. After reading the proofs they frequently turned them over to other scholars with the request to revise and correct, and as the printer's time was then deemed a matter of small consequence a perfection was attained which is seldom equaled by modern printers.—Exchange.

"PILLS LIKE A FYLE"

So Harsh and Drastic are Many Pills as to Seriously Injure Health.

In a letter written from his home in Valencia, Mr. Marsh Selwyn does service to thousands by drawing attention to the injuries inflicted upon delicate people by drastic purgative pills.

"For a long time I suffered from constipation. This condition compelled the use of pills. Like many another, I made the unwise choice of using pills that were like lightning in their activity. I began to be filled with intestinal disturbances, constant rumblings, gas in the bowels and diarrhoea. I grew pale and emaciated. Then the doctor told me drastic irritating pills had caused catarrh of the bowels, an almost incurable disease. Explaining my situation to a friend, he advised a trial of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I speedily experienced the healing and curative effect they exert on the stomach, liver and bowels. The intestines, freed from irritating drugs, rapidly regained natural tone, the bowels acted as if nature and not Dr. Hamilton's Pills were at work. I know it will be of value to thousands to know that a pill as mild and curative as Dr. Hamilton's is available to the ailing."

For bowel disorders, sick headache, constipation, liver and stomach derangement, there is no pill so invariably sure to cure as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Refuse a substitute. Sold in 25c boxes, all dealers, or The Catarrh-ozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Give the boy a good common school education and with this equipment and ordinary industry he is bound to make good in any line that appeals to him.

Ontario's area is 260,863 square miles, and is as large as two Englands. It comprises seven per cent. of Canada's area.

In Chicago twenty-three newly married couples have appealed to the city charity department for fuel since the cold spell set in. It is a hard beginning for married life, but what a tribute to the courage brought by Cupid!

A man cannot do two things at a time. A woman will broil a steak and see that the coffee does not boil over, and watch the cat that she does not steal the remnant of meat on the kitchen table, and dress the youngest boy and set the table and see to the toast, and stir the oatmeal and give the orders to the butcher and she can do it all at once and not half try.

It is wicked to loaf. Every man is created for a purpose and he has no right to shirk that responsibility. If you have friends or money that simply increases your responsibility. No man has a right to loaf. Nothing can be more humiliating to a parent than to know that his son is a confirmed loafer—a mere blank—absorbing his living from the toil of other hands and creating nothing.

The schoolma'am is the guiding star of the nation. She takes the little bantling fresh from the home nest, full of his pouts, his pets and his passions, ungovernable in many cases, a rampant riotous little wretch whose own mother often admits she sends him to school purposely to get rid of him. The schoolma'am takes a whole carload of these little anarchists, half of whom singly and alone cannot be handled by their own mother, and she puts them in the way of becoming useful citizens.

Hard as anthracite and lasts longer. It ignites quickly, burns like wood with no more smoke. The ideal fuel for ranges, furnaces and open grates.

Gives splendid results in wood furnace or box stoves. Personally we STRONGLY RECOMMEND this coal as the best we have ever used. It is distinctly different from other cannel coal, inasmuch as it is adaptable to any use, and produces more heat.

COMMUNICATIONS.

(We do not hold ourselves responsible for opinion expressed by correspondents.)
 Rev. Mr. Stevenson begs to state that the Church of England would be as much justified in claiming John Wesley as the Presbyterians are in seeking to claim Dr. David Livingstone, the world-renowned missionary and explorer. He was born in Blantyre, Scotland, the land of Presbyterianism; but he was sent to Africa and supported there by the London Missionary Society, which is Congregational. This Society has had the honor of sending to the foreign field many famous Scotch missionaries, whose names are held in highest esteem by Christians the world over. Amongst others were Dr. Robert Moffat, of Africa, father-in-law to Dr. Livingstone; Dr. Robert Morrison and Dr. Milne, first Protestant missionaries to China; James Gilmour, of Mongolia, and James Chalmers (alias Tamate) the heroic martyr of New Guinea. Nearly all these men had been identified more or less with the Presbyterian Church in their earlier days, but they adopted Congregationalism on going to the foreign field.

WARWICK.

Tenders are asked for the erection of new sheds for St. Paul's church, Warwick.
 Mr. Alex. Hillis, Petroler; Mr. John Hillis, London; and Mr. Charles Hillis, Toronto, attended the funeral of the late Mr. John Hillis on Monday.
 J. J. Williams, formerly of the 4th line, advertises in the Kelliher, Sask., paper that he has ten barrels of money to lend and 30,000 acres of land to sell. Mr. Williams was elected a member of the town council at a by-election last week.
 The next mission study class in connection with the Women's Auxiliary will be held in St. Mary's church, Warwick, March 21st, commencing at 2 o'clock, the subject chosen being India. A very hearty welcome is extended to all.
 J. O. Brush and Maurice Smith were arraigned before D. Falloon, J. P., on Tuesday last, charged by James J. Smith with assaulting and wounding him on Thursday last. Brush denied the charge and was discharged. Smith admitted his guilt and was fined $4.00 and costs.

On Thursday night of last week two burglars entered the house of Mr. Joseph Smith, Warwick Village, and attacked his son, James J. Smith, who was alone in the house, the rest of the family being away. James put up a desperate fight and in the melee got his face badly cut and otherwise bruised and is otherwise shaken up but he will not be much the worse of his experience. It is generally known that James has considerable money on him at times and it is thought the burglars anticipated getting a fine haul. James being a robust fellow was able to ward off the attack. James says he will be better prepared in future, and if the burglars make another attempt they may not get off so easy.

Matilda, beloved wife of Joseph Smith, passed away on Thursday, March 7th, aged 58 years. She had been ill for about eight months with cancer and suffered greatly most of the time. Deceased was Mrs. McPhee before she was married about a year ago to Mr. Smith. The funeral took place on Saturday morning from the residence of Wm. Smith, 9th sideroad, at Arkona cemetery. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. W. M. Shore, rector of St. Mary's church, the pall-bearers being John Long, Thos. Brush, Henry Bearse, Claud Newell, Robt. McKenzie and John Kirvell. A funeral sermon will be preached in St. Mary's church, Warwick, on Sunday evening next by Rev. W. M. Shore.

Mr. John Hillis, one of the oldest and best-known pioneers of Warwick township, passed to the great beyond early Saturday morning at the ripe old age of 86 years. Mr. Hillis was in Watford a few days ago and appeared to be in his usual state of health when he retired Friday evening, but during the night passed quietly away. He was a native of Monaghan County, Ulster, Ireland, and came to this country with his family in the year 1844. Before settling in Warwick he lived on the shores of Lake Erie, at Long Point, County of Norfolk. He moved to Warwick in 1848 and resided here until his death. He was never married, his sister, Miss Mary Ann, who died last spring, living with him. Since her death he has been living alone, with no other company than his farm hand, George Carpenter. Mr. Hillis was a man of very frugal habits and during his long life amassed considerable wealth. He leaves behind him three brothers, Joseph, of Brandon, Man., James, of Chicago, and Thomas, of Macklin, Man. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from his late residence, lot 18, con. 6, S.E.R., to St. James church, where service was held by the rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin, and interment made in the church burying ground. The pall-bearers were Robert Lucas, John Kelly, George Kelly, Frank Lawr, James Acton and Ernest Hume.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S 'GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY' makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

STEERING A BOAT.

The Rig of the Tiller Ropes Often a Source of Danger.

A CURIOUS LACK OF SYSTEM.

On Some Vessels the Chains Are Crossed, and on Others They Are Straight, and This May Mean Serious Trouble With a Strange Hand at the Wheel.

A bronzed pilot was carefully nursing a big Atlantic liner through the murk and confusion of early morning and innumerable passing craft up the crowded waters of New York bay. The ship was crowded with passengers, most of whom had risen betimes to watch their homcoming. A tense expression, brought on by the tremendous responsibility, cast its grim lines over the pilot's face as he turned into the lower Hudson river and saw a dense fogbank creeping down from the Palisades. Three miles still to go, and 8,000 lives in his hands! Slowly he crept along, almost touching a ferry load of commuters, just skipping a triple tow of sand scows, threading his way through the maze of vessels big and little; the fog, denser and more dense, making it impossible to see the shadow of nearing craft more than a couple of lengths away.

Suddenly a departing liner, just hauled out into the stream, loomed up off the starboard bow. The pilot turned ghastly white. "My God! Crossed chains or straight chains? Crossed—or—straight? Heaven help me!" In almost instant desperation he called "Hard aport!" the quartermaster swung the wheel over—and the huge floating hotel slowly turned out and glided by, almost scraping the other.

"Crossed chains—straight chains?" What does this mean? It means this—that there is no invariable rule or system of arranging the tiller ropes on vessels so that the latter always move in the same direction in response to a similar turn of the wheel. If equipped with "crossed chains" the craft will turn the opposite way; if with "straight chains" the wheel must be turned in the same direction the vessel is desired to go. Most ocean vessels are equipped with straight chains, though this is by no means an invariable custom. Sailing craft may be and are fixed either way. On the other hand, harbor boats, including tow-boats, tugs, etc., generally have crossed tiller ropes.

Thus our pilot friend had spent most of his nautical life aboard tugs and other inland boats and when confronted with a crisis of great responsibility wavered momentarily between the influence of his habit of twenty years and the newly acquired information given him as he went aboard. It was just by the sheerest chance that he ordered the wheel turned the correct way.

An able ocean seaman signed for a round trip from Buffalo to Duluth and, asked if he could handle the wheel, was sent to the pilot house. They were already under way, and, not being familiar with the uncertainties of steering gear, he neglected to ask the usual question, "Crossed chains or straight chains?" The coal steamer

LUNG TROUBLE

Mrs. Biny Brown, of Tenecape, N.S., Was Cured by Catarrhoxone of Lung Trouble and Catarrh, After Hundreds of Other Remedies Failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh, and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhoxone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but after resorting without benefit to poultices, she tried Catarrhoxone.

"I used Catarrhoxone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, "five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhoxone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold, or catarrh can exist if Catarrhoxone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhoxone. By means of the Inhaler, the local symptoms, such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrous tablets, which are taken after each meal, purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons, and build up and strengthen the system.
This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhoxone.

needed a scow load of bricks. "Hard aport!" called the mate. The helmsman fung his wheel to starboard, as he had been used to do on the high seas, and his vessel bore down upon the unsuspecting tow. "Hard aport, you idiot!" yelled the mate. "Don't you know this boat has crossed chains?" He reversed the wheel and missed the scow by a bare graze.

Such incidents as these are, by no means rare in navigating experience, though fortunately serious accidents therefrom are uncommon either because of a benign fate watching over befuddled men at the wheel or because they instinctively follow the new conditions and turn the helm in the right direction. Pilots themselves scoff at suggestions of danger, saying that a real seaman's instinct will always save him from making mistakes. All the same, a man experienced in handling vessels of their own particular character is generally standing by the newcomer at the wheel for safety's sake.

A more common danger, as far as the general public is concerned, is the universal lack of unity in arranging the steering apparatus on motorboats. Most of these craft are exceedingly small, and the tiller ropes are put in at the beginning of every season by the owners themselves, to suit their own particular notions. So, in every flotilla will be seen steering gear of every description, from simple tillers to elaborate brass mounted wheels, the latter with either crossed or straight chains, as individual fancy may dictate. This is safe as long as the owner or one used to the craft is at the wheel, and not many accidents are reported in such circumstances. But accidents have resulted when an amateur used to crossed ropes has steered a boat oppositely rigged.

But when one used to a launch with "crossed ropes" (requiring turning the wheel opposite to the direction the boat is to go) takes the wheel of an automobile, then the passengers are fortunate indeed if they are not put into perilous situations; for motorists are not always provided with the "safe instinct" ascribed to experienced seamen, and autos move in the same direction the wheel is turned.

However, crossed chains and straight chains will probably go on their own sweet irresponsible existence for just as long as some great catastrophe is not put up to their lack of regulation. —C. W. Jennings in New York Tribune.

The Chinook Winds.

Mr. Editor:—I have a matter which I wish to submit to you and to the public in general for consideration. It is with regard to a peculiarity in the circulation of the atmosphere which has escaped the notice of savants on that subject, but which is playing a very important part in the economy of nature and forcing machinists to recognize its presence. As it has not been given a name in any work of meteorology that I have read I will describe it as the upward continuation of a forced ascending current.

My attention was first drawn to it by my windmill. When I am out in the field at the back of the barn I can see the wheel over the top of the barn but when the wind blows over the barn the windmill will not work. Manufacturers of windmills have become aware of this peculiarity and make provision for it when erecting their mills.

It is very noticeable on the banks of Lake Huron that face the north-west wind. The country is level and there is a descent of about one hundred feet to the lake. The storm strikes the bank and then shoots away into the air so that people living there do not feel the storm at all. The man who first told me about it said you could stand on the bank and see the wind blowing its worst and light your lantern.

The same thing on a larger scale—Davis, in his excellent work on this subject, records some very interesting facts in this connection. He says: "Table Mountain, at the Cape of Good Hope, is spread over by a sheet of cloud known as the 'tablecloth' when damp winds blow over it; the cloud grows as the wind ascends on the windward side and disappears away as it descends to leeward. Clouds of this kind sometimes do not touch the top of the mountain over which they are produced and from this it may be inferred that only certain ones of the arching atmospheric strata are damp enough to pass the dew point as they rise." Just exactly what will happen. The clouds do not touch the top of the mountain at all. The wind shoots up far above the top of the mountain and carries the clouds with it. If those strata that have not passed the dew point sweep the crest of the mountain as he infers why don't they blow away the 'tablecloth'?

When a violent wind blows up the face of a steep mountain it will continue its upward course until its force is spent, but the storm below keeps driving up and piling up until it sinks by its own weight and reaches the base of the mountain, a chinook.

But how does our theory agree with well attested facts. A look at the description of the Alpine chinook as recorded by Davis will prove very instructive. He says: "As the wind flows down from the peaks and passes of the Alps, the clouds that it carries along are soon dissolved by the increase of temperature produced as the air descends to the northern valleys; for a great part of the vapor has been taken from the wind to fall as rain or snow on the Italian slope; the remaining cloudmass stands on the mountain crests, and is locally known as the foehn wall."

The fact that the cloudmass stands on the mountain crest shows that it is not swept by the storm. The wind must go above or the cloudmass would be blown away.

Now let us see what is taking place on the leeward side. On the same page a little further down he says: "The heat and dryness of the foehn (chinook) are so unlike the cold and dampness of the
