MOUNTAIN BOULEVARD PROPOSED

Scheme for Development of Natural Beauties of the Annapolis Valley Suggested by Kings County Journal.—Proposed Mountain Road to Extend from Windsor to Port Wade.

Our ideals of national life are crystallizing into lengthened lines of railway and steamship, 12,000 miles via Vancouver and far away beyond. Our apples are beginning to rail to the Rockies, and will on the same companies' rails leave the orchards. The C. P. R. enterprise has come to us and absorbed our shorter lines and given us fresh vistas of transportation and of distance, says W. C. Archibald in the Maritime Apple, a new Kings County publication devoted to the orchard interests of the Province.

The new spirit of up-to-date transportation is gripping the people, and the bridging of the Bay from Digby to St. John with unbroken car freight is impending because the great Canadian Pacific has linked the interests of two oceans. But we are only on the edge of our beginnings, for the C. P. R. is in the mid-day spirit of its enterprise with its wealth of opportunities for constructing tributary improving lines, building summer hotels, transportation foremigration etc. We seek a fresh opening of our country to English settlers of British blood and patriotism. This fruit journal has found a new constituency of British and European readers among the handlers of fruits in all the countries where our apples are exported, and many of these or their sons and daughters would come to this great fruit country, and with us grow more apples for consumption in their native lands. This North Mountain Range for advertisement is our biggest asset for Nova Scotia.

The tableland along the overhanging brow is nearly a level line for 80 miles. A splendid highway following the mountain's front would be an over looking avenue in a near and far and fine perspective for the entire Annapolis valley, unequalled in the world. This is no stretch of fancy but a unity of mountain and valley, to advance a finer and happier group of conditions for mankind.

The right of way would be given free by the owners of the land. The Provincial Government would construct the public road and the Dominion make it into an automobile road for Canada extension. At the brow at Aylesford crossing is the beautiful residence of Kelly Villa, costing $30,000. From the verandahs of this new home every acre of orchard plantations are seen and the operations of the orchards directed by wire. There are a hundred jutting spurs in delightful situations, equally kingly in command, cool and comfortable in sunshine and rich in scenic beauty. The water is pure and clear. The bathing resorts are near and on the tidal shore. Standing on this avenue at the Look-off on Blomidon, we can almost see Halifax and its splendid harbor 500 miles nearer Britain than any American apple port. Mt. Uniacke looms up where gold is mined. The oval hills of Windsor and the seat of the University of Kings are on the left bank of the Avon. Falmouth on the right is noted for her extensive orchards of Spys and other winter apples. The seven mile stretch, two miles wide, of good apple soil to Hantsport is along the river and fully in our view. Hantsport rests on a plain of 600 acres surrounded by fine foot hills clad in orchards. There is not a vacant house in the town and more are building. Here is a fine opening for deep water wharves and per-

Lost in the Woods

AFTER SPENDING TWO DAYS AND NIGHTS IN THE SOUTH WOODS JOHN B. HALEY COMES OUT AT CROSSBURN

On Saturday John B. Haley, John Crouse of Middleton and Messrs. Cunningham, Annis and Bowes of Torbrook, went in the south woods near the Peter Morse or Dan Armstrong mill, says the Middleton Outlook.

Next morning Haley got separated from his companions who spent the afternoon searching for him. The alarm was given and some 25 men spent Monday in the woods, but no trace could be found of the missing man.

On Tuesday the search was taken up in earnest. Twenty-four men had come down from Berwick including Mr. Haley's father. Some 25 from Allen's mill and numbers from Middleton, Nicotax and Torbrook, started for the woods.

Part of the force went by team to the old Armstrong's mill site and a special train carried others to Albany. The searchers were divided into several parties each led by one or more experienced woodsmen. The ground between Albany and the Peter Morse Hill was pretty thoroughly gone over, probably 200 men being in the woods.

The weather having been clear and fine, the general opinion was that if no accident had befallen him, John would find his way out of the woods. But on Tuesday evening no tidings having been received it was feared that he had been accidentally shot.

It was decided to get 500 to 600 men for Wednesday's search. The plan was to ask the Davidson Lumber Co's men to work from Crossburn, the Springfield men, Ridge Road and the Albany men from Albany, all to work toward the Peter Morse Hill, and to get soldiers from Halifax to come out and with the force from the Valley, to cover the barren east of the Peter Morse Hill.

But on Tuesday night the good news was received that Haley had found his way out to Crossburn.

Haley came in on the H & S. W. train on Wednesday. He appeared little the worse for his trying experience except that his feet were sore from his continued walking. The first night he built a fire by a large rock and slept well. The second night he spent in an abandoned logging camp. He shot and cooked three partridges which prevented him from suffering from hunger.

haps an apple port. Government surveyors are measuring half a mile of river frontage for new wharftage now. Halifax needs to improve accommodations for apples and provide for growing shipments. Coming nearer is Avonport, Gaspereaux and Grand Pre clothed with luxuriant orchards and Acadia history, on the loveliest of plains.

Wolfville rises gracefully from the brown meadows, up the sloping hill, to the fine group of buildings comprising Acadia University and its affiliated schools among the trees, and crowns this beautiful town with a literary light. Here dwells the pearl of landscape gems and a regnant town reembovered in bloom. Nestling among the hills is the business shiretown of Kentville, happy as a centre.

Berwick on the higher open plains is noted for its tall spires and the directing heart of the apple trade. The towns of Canning and Kingsport and the white and cream colored homes in the orchards, denote good taste, comfort and thrift.

The Rockies and Selkirks and Banff are admired world wide. The apple fame of the Annapolis Valley, in the heart of civilization in Nova Scotia protected and guar-

The C. P. R. Attacked

Under the caption "The Richest and Most Daring Robber in the World" the Toronto World says: The Canadian Pacific is rich beyond any company in the world. It has money and other assets in hand sufficient to rebuild its system. It dare not expose to the world what the value of its real estate holdings is. It has never put a proper valuation on the securities and shares in other companies that it keeps in its strong boxes.

It can raise a billion dollars to morrow without going to the money market. And yet today, with all this wealth it is delinquent in supplying railway facilities to the country it is franchised to serve.

Toronto is neglected; all Ontario is neglected. The West was blocked last winter and it will be this winter. Suburban trains and commutation tickets are refused. It runs sleeping cars that should have gone to the junk heap years ago. It puts its maintenance of waymen out of business because they were organized to improve their welfare. It would have put the telegraphers out of business, a fortnight ago if it could. It has men in its employ who have to work for seven days a week regularly. And yet it is better in these respects than other roads. Nevertheless it is rich, defiant of the law, arrogant toward the people, reckless as to public rights and guilty of distributing hundreds of millions of money unjustly and wrongfully among its favored shareholders at the expense of those who pay its railway tolls.

"Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and his fellow directors have made this last stock exploitation of theirs in a manner, (they have made it common stock worth $275 sold at $175) so that they could put sixty millions of dollars in the shareholder's pockets. There was no other way to do it. And when Sir Thomas Shaughnessy says he is 'retiring debenture stock, wiping out fixed charges,' and other guff of this kind it is all done to cover up a fraud and a raid on the people of Canada who have never acted other than justly and generously with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and his fellow directors are exploiting the people of Canada financially much more than serving them with transportation. And they'll keep on doing it as long as the government and parliament of Canada allow them to do it.

Roosevelt Seriously Wounded

BULLET IN BREAST FROM REVOLVER IN HANDS OF WOULD-BE ASSASSIN. WOUND MAY BE DANGEROUS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot and slightly wounded tonight as he was leaving the Gilpatrick hotel for the auditorium to make a speech. The wound was superficial and the Colonel went to the auditorium and began his speech after he had seen the assailant arrested and taken to the police station.

The man was seized and held until policemen came up. The would-be slayer is a Socialist. A mob surged around the prisoner who apparently is mentally upset on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as president.

Injury not Serious.—The man, who is small of stature, admitted firing the shot and said that "any man looking for a third term ought to be shot." In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station statements that the man had been visited in a dream by the spirit of Wm. McKinley, who had said, indicating Col. Roosevelt, "This is my murderer, avenge my death."

Col. Roosevelt's injury is not serious. The Colonel felt no pain at the time the shot was fired and was not aware that he was shot until he was on the way to the auditorium. His attention was then called to a hole in his overcoat and he found that his shirt was soaked with blood. He insisted that he was not hurt badly. A superficial examination of the wound was made when he reached the auditorium and three physicians added that he was in no immediate danger.

Col. Roosevelt's life probably was saved by a manuscript of the speech which he delivered tonight. The bullet struck the manuscript which retarded its force as it passed through the flesh.

His assailant was prevented from firing a second shot by Albert H. Martin, one of Colonel Roosevelt's two secretaries. Colonel Roosevelt had just stepped into an auto when the would-be assassin pushed his way through the crowd in the street and fired. Martin, who was standing in the car with the Colonel, leaped on to the man's shoulders and bore him to the ground.

Captain A. O. Girard, of Milwaukee, who was on the front seat, jumped almost at the same time, and in an instant the man was overpowered and disarmed.

Wanted to Lynch Him.—A wild cry of "lynch him" went up. Colonel Roosevelt spoke to the people and told them to spare the man who then was taken into the hotel and held there until he was removed to the police station.

In spite of the entreaties of physicians, Colonel Roosevelt insisted on delivering his address.

"I will make this speech or die, one or the other," he said.

Henry F. Coehens, one of the Wisconsin Progressive leaders, told the great crowd which had assembled in the auditorium that Colonel Roosevelt had been shot, and asked the people to be calm.

Mr. Coehens turned and looked inquiringly at Col. Roosevelt, "Tell us, are you hurt?"

Delivered His Speech.—Men and women shouted wildly. Some of them rose from their seats and rushed forward to look more closely at the Colonel. Col. Roosevelt rose and walked to the edge of the platform to quiet the crowd. He raised his hand and instantly there was silence. "It is true," he said. Then slowly he unbuttoned his coat and placed his hands on his breast. Those in front of the crowd could catch a sight of the blood-stained garment. "I'm going to ask you to be very quiet," said Col. Roosevelt, "and please excuse me from making you a very long speech. I'll do the best I can, but you see there is a bullet in my body. But it's nothing I'm not hurt badly."

SAN JOSE SCALE SITUATION

Government Urged to Pass Measures Prohibiting the Importation of Ontario Nursery Stock, Also Inspection and Fumigation of All Stock Imported from Other Provinces.

During the past two years living San Jose scale has been introduced into the various fruit sections of this Province. This pest is one of the most injurious and dreaded insects with which the fruit growers have to contend. It has caused immense damage to nearly all the fruit-producing sections of the United States and within the past ten to twelve years has become firmly established in the southern portion of Ontario. Here the larger Canadian nurseries are located and in shipments of their stock, living scale has been found. This stock is widely distributed over the province, particularly in the western part. During the past season, the Provincial Government has made every effort to locate the infested trees and have them destroyed. It is hoped that this dreaded pest can be eradicated from the province. With this end in view every effort is being made by the Department of Agriculture. In these efforts the Government is strongly supported by the fruit growers of the province, and it is to be hoped that every person will co-operate in the work. Wherever scale of any kind is found, specimens should be sent to the Department of Agriculture at Truro. This will aid greatly in the work that is now being carried on.

At the present moment the most important matter for the consideration of the Government and the fruit growers is that of regulations regarding the shipment of nursery stock into this province from the other provinces of the Dominion. We are protected from foreign shipments by the regulations of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. It is now necessary to protect our province from infested stock coming from the other provinces.

At recent meetings of interested fruit growers held at Kentville and Bridgetown, it was strongly urged upon the Government that measures prohibiting the importation of nursery stock from Ontario be passed. It was pointed out, however, that such measures might cause considerable injury to those who desire to plant trees this coming year. This was admitted, but they urged that it would be in the best interests of all concerned to restrict the planting of orchards for a year or so rather than run the risk of a serious infestation from San Jose scale. If prohibitory measures cannot be passed, they urged the inspection and fumigation at certain ports of entry of all nursery stock coming into the Province from other parts of Canada. This is now the practice in British Columbia, and as a result we are informed that very little stock is shipped into the Province from Ontario. It was also pointed out by the fruit growers that if restrictive measures are passed encouragement would thus be given to the building up of local nurseries. In a few years these nurseries would be able to meet all the demands of the fruit growers of the province.

As a result of the seriousness of the San Jose scale situation, the Nova Scotia Fruit Growers' Association at the suggestion of the Government, will hold a public meeting at Kentville on Thursday, October 24th, in order to consider what can be done to meet the situation. At this meeting, various members of the Department of Agriculture and representatives of the Government will be present, and regulations regarding the shipment of nursery stock into the Province will be considered. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance for this matter is of the utmost importance to the entire fruit industry.

LIVE STOCK NOTES.

Keep both eyes open when near the gentle bull just the same as if were ugly or he may take you unawares.

If dusty hay is fed sprinkle with water. It will save the horse much annoyance. But better not feed it at all.

Never work a team of colts together until they are thoroughly broken, as they will worry each other.

Which pays you best, your cattle, your hogs or your chickens?
A little bookkeeping will not only answer this question, but will also tell whether either of them is paying.

Goats will breed at six months of age, but this early breeding destroys vitality. Eighteen months is about the right age for breeding.

Deck the lambs early. There is less shock and no danger. Use a sharp chisel, a block and a mallet. One sharp blow will do the work. Smear the end of the tail with tar and no trouble will follow.

VETERINARY LORE.

Proper Method of Treating Cuts and Bruises on the Horse.

The shoulders of work horses often become chafed and sore in spring because owners do not give them proper attention, says A. S. Alexander, M. D.
C., in the Farm Journal. Fit the collar that any old collar will do and that all collars are of the same size and pattern. A new collar steeped in hot water and fitted to the shoulder will, when it dries out, be of proper shape. The hand should easily slip between the shoulder and collar when the latter is in place. Keep the collar clean and dry. Sweat, hair and dandruff mat upon the inside of the collar when the horse is at work and dry there at noon.
Remove the collar, sponge it clean and set it in the sun to dry. Do not wet it, but wipe or sponge off with sweet oil.
Remove the harness at noon. It is crucial to leave it on the horse.

He should also have his shoulders sponged off with cold water at noon and at night. If they are tender, bathe them with a strong tea of white oak bark or with strong alum water or with a solution of half an ounce of tannic acid to a gallon of cold water.
If sores form smear them with an ointment made of one dram each of iodoform, tannic acid and boric acid to an ounce of lanolin, vaseline or unsalted lard. If a large "bunch" forms it contains pus deep down under the levator humeri muscle and will have to be liberated by cutting; then pack the cavity once daily with ointment saturated in a mixture of equal parts of raw linseed oil and turpentine. This will prevent the formation of a fibroid tumor. Where a tumor has formed it will have to be cut out. Afterward pack as above directed.

If the top of the neck tends to be come sore do not clip off the mane.
That aggravates the trouble, for the short, strong bristles are pressed into the sore skin by the collar. Wash the parts clean and paint three times daily with a lotion composed of two ounces of tincture of iodine and six ounces of extract of witch hazel. Often a patch of skin dies, becomes horny and thick and then is known as a "stiffst." Pus exudes from around this stiffst. It must be cleanly cut out or healing will not take place. After the operation swab with tincture of iodine every other day, and two or three times a day apply white lotion.

White lotion is made by mixing together in a pint of soft, cold water one ounce of sugar of lead and six drains of sulphate of zinc. For use in five time add one dram of pure carbolic acid. Label the bottle "poison" and shake it well before using. This is a fine lotion for application to all shallow wounds, such as surface barb wire wounds and sore shoulders and necks.
It is a drying lotion and makes the wound scab over. The scab should not be rubbed off. Healing goes on under the scab.

When a wound heals tardily swab it with tincture of iodine two or three times a week. If it tends to form a scab do not apply burnt alum or powdered blue stone (sulphate of copper). Better rub it lightly with tannic acid pencil (nitrate of silver) and then apply the following lotion which we have found useful for large barb wire wounds which fill up with granular tissue and tend to leave a large, unsightly scar: Two ounces of sulphate of zinc, half an ounce of chlorid of zinc, one dram of hydrochloric acid (dilute), one pint of soft, cold water.
Caramel, sufficient to color brown. Label "poison." Shake before using. This is a very strong solution and should be used carefully.

When the Feet Gradually

Don't let the colt go to pieces at weaning time. Wean gradually. Give him good feed—oats are best—and the run of the pasture. Make the change from the dam's milk to grain and pasture gradually. Don't keep the colt tied up in a short, dirty barn. A lot of small pasture surrounded by smooth or woven wire or board fence is the ideal place for exercise.

Pure Grad Stock Pays.

As long as a best animal is only fed enough to maintain life there will be no increase in weight and no profit.
Under these conditions a scrub is just as good. But when properly fed and cared for the superiority of the pure bred becomes at once apparent in quick maturity and flesh production.

HANDLING BEEF
CATTLE IN SUMMER

In summering a herd of beef cattle the most important thing is preparation, writes a North Carolina farmer in the American Agriculturist. I begin this always the fall before by sowing plenty of rye and clover to give green feed during the spring and early summer. During the winter I feed all cattle grain twice daily and all of the rough feed they will clean up. About March 15 I have rye large enough to feed, and then I begin getting away from the grain rye cut and fed in racks for one feed of grain. I continue this feeding until the latter part of April.
By this time I have pasture and cut

The matter of quality in beef is very simple. Most cattle of the best breeds have very much natural fleshing ability. They may become emaciated to a skeleton, but this natural ability remains. The cattle that have not been specially developed for beef growing have but little natural fleshing ability.
What is the result? When put on feed the good Shorthorn, Angus or Hereford steer distributes the fat in the multitude of cells found in his abundance of natural flesh and when finished yields a product of a king. The scrub steer, with scarcely any natural flesh, can store but little of the fat in this manner and when slaughtered yields up a chunk of dry lard and a chunk of tallow, either on a poor article of diet. The one had a place to put meat; the other did not.

out grain entirely to all cattle over one year old. Young cattle I feed a little grain the year round. I continue feeding once a day, feeding about all the cattle will clean up in the afternoon after clover is large enough to cut and feed. I follow the same feeding plan with clover as with rye.

By the time clover is gone I try to have green corn. My plan is as follows: I have six small hog pastures on the farm containing one and a half acres each. Three of these I plant in corn every year, alternating the fields.
I plant the first one just as soon as possible with early corn. Two weeks following I plant the second lot and two weeks after this the third and sow each of these in peas at the last working of the corn. The peas are left for the hogs. By the time my clover is all gone I have corn about in roasting ear stage in my first lot. This I cut and feed green to the cattle. The two remaining lots follow in succession, leaving the peas to mature for the hogs. When the corn is fed up I begin on pen vines, cut and fed green, and continue feeding these once a day until frost.

In this section pastures are not very abundant, and I have found that I could get far better results and more feed off a given amount of land by allowing the cattle to run on pasture a half day at the time and supplementing this with the crops named, in the manner stated, from the time cattle are put back on a grain ration in the fall. This is my general plan, and of course, sometimes when the pastures are plentiful I pasture entirely, but this is rare. I think the extra amount of manure gained by keeping the cattle in a well littered feed lot half of the day, and especially the hot afternoons when they would not be feeding much if on pasture, easily pay a profit on the cost of handling the feed hailed to the cattle, and I also figure that I can keep more cattle by doing this.

Good Sows For Improvement.

A lot has been said about the boar having an immense influence on the herd. It is true that his influence affects more animals than the influence of any individual sow does. You can't expect one boar, however, to improve a poor herd all alone. He must have the help of some good sturdy sows that have been selected because of their type.

The boar will stamp his character upon the offspring of almost any sow, but he will not produce pigs exactly like himself. The sow has a big influence on the pigs, and if she is exceptionally poor the pigs will certainly not be so good as their sire. They will be better than their dam, of course, but a herd can be built up faster if at least a few of the sows are selected from the herd of some man who has been successful in breeding a profitable type.

The Horse's Hoofs.

If the horse's hoofs are hard and inclined to be "shelly" do not let any body put oil or grease on them, for this only clogs the hoof material, which should absorb water instead of repelling it. Such hoofs are best treated by soaking them several hours together in warm water slightly salted or by turning out the horse at night in a pasture where he will get the hoofs wet in the dew.

THE SWINEHERD.

Many young hogs are ruined by being allowed to run in lots near the sows.

Growing pigs should not be crowded into close, filthy quarters, exposed to vermin and disease.

In order to insure uniform growth the pigs should be fed when all of them are at the trough.

If your sows have done well, better keep them a little longer, even if they are beyond the age limit, rather than to take up with young and often unreliable sows.

No branch of husbandry now pursued offers better opportunities for profits for the amount of money invested and the time extended than the production of hogs.

THE MORGAN HORSE.

Best Type of Carriage Animal Ever Produced in America.

If we examine the pedigrees of American bred horses that are of marked beauty and finish we find with sufficient frequency to make the matter worthy of note strains of thoroughbred of Denmark (founder of the American saddle horse) and of that most beautiful of all families ever bred on American soil, the Morgan. These strains vary not only in the proportion in which they are present, but in their nearness and remoteness, but still throw on the subject enough light for us to say, with but little fear of contradiction from those who have studied it, that the blood which has the most often produced our most beautiful carriage horses, is trotting, Denmark and Morgan crosses.

To obtain a clear idea of the value in this connection of the strains I have named, let us go back a little in the history of American horses and see what these distinguished families really were. Let us take first the Morgan. This family has gone on record as the gamest, the most beautiful and, all things considered, the nearest to perfection of any that America has produced. Though not as fast as the traces as some other families, they were all fast, they all showed uncommon endurance and stamina, they had the points of equine excellence and elean-gance that distinguished the Arab, and they bore themselves as superbly as the proudest of the aristocratic sons of the desert.

In every single respect except size they were ideal horses. Concerning the breeding of Justin Morgan, the founder of the family, there has been endless discussion, but of this we are certain, that the family had the propensity that only comes of ancient and unsullied lineage. It is no wonder, then, that their blood should be found in some of the best of our carriage stock today, and it is logical that we should look to it as an important element in breeding such stock.

It is a pity that such a family should not have been preserved in its integrity and that its blood should be so largely lost to present day breeders. But through the desire to breed extreme speed the Morgans were crossed with other families and the original type was very largely lost. Efforts are now being made to restore it, and it is this successfully accomplished and by careful selection the size increased a little (all of which can unquestionably be done if sufficient time is taken) the advantage to American breeders will be very great. It will be quite a number of years, however, before all this can be done and a still longer time before the stock will be available to breeders as a distinct breed.—From "The Horse," by David Buffum.

The Brood Sow.

Get sows with good dispositions.
They make better mothers, are much safer to handle and will fatten more readily. A quiet dispositioned sow is worth more at home and sells for more than do those that are cross.

Force the Young Pigs.

It is practically impossible to crowd young pigs too fast provided they have the right kind of care and feed. The faster they grow the quicker they make money. Big eating and digesting capacity is necessary.

War in the Balkans

New York, October, 9.—A cable from London this morning says:—

Expert military opinion is divided as to the probable course of the Balkans war, but it agreed on all sides that the struggle will be one of a fierce and perhaps unexampled ferocity.

Moreover which ever side is successful, the peace of Europe will be impaired. Austria is resolved not to permit any territorial expansion by Serbia or Bulgaria, while in the event of the Turks sweeping their armies before them and trampling the Balkans under foot, the sympathies of the Russian people with the conquered Slavs will be aroused and the Russian government forced by popular passion to take an acti-part in the game.

Europe is divided into two hostile camps—England, France and Russia, occupying one, and Germany, Austria and Italy the other. The powers are mutually distrustful of one another, and agreed to do their utmost to localize the war, so that not any of them should have reasonable grounds for interfering and annexing some territory to which each of the others think it has a better right.

Thus the powers have decided to maintain the status quo as far as they are directly concerned, but circumstances may be too strong for them, and if one intervenes and declares war in the interests of peace, others may follow suit in the same righteous cause. The members of the Greek legation at Constantinople have been ordered to prepare for word to depart, and this may throw shadow a declaration of war by the Balkan league either today or tomorrow, Thursday, as has been said, being the day on which it is believed they will depart.

Constantinople, August 9.—The Turkish government awaits coming events with calm assurance, according to Noradunghian Effendi, the Ottoman foreign minister. In an interview given to the associated press today, he said:—

We face the future with perfect confidence. I should like to point out, however, that the declaration of war by Montenegro was made contrary to the practice adopted by all the civilized states. It went against the stipulation of the Hague convention, of which Montenegro was a signatory. In the first place no attempt was made to seek the good offices of a third party in order to find a means of avoiding a conflict.
Secondly, the declaration of war did not set forth any real or tangibly cause for war. Thirdly, Montenegro opened hostilities without granting the usual preliminary delay and actually before the declaration of war was presented to the port. The Turkish government has decided to make a selection from among the Greek vessels detained in Turkish ports and will hold those best suited for military transport purposes and release the others.

The presentation by the powers to the Ottoman government will probably be made by the ambassadors at Constantinople today with the feeble hope that the fire lighted by Montenegro may be extinguished.

The press here generally foresees a spread of the war in the Balkan peninsula, but is chary of the promise of the powers not to permit any disturbance of the peace of Europe as a whole. The visit of Sergius Bazhoff, the Russian foreign minister to Berlin is of vast importance for it is directed to the allaying of any suspicions existing The mutual confidence of these nations existed on paper, says the Figaro, but this is not enough and it continues, "A false step, a suspicion, and all Europe would be in flames." As a result of M. Sazonoff's visit it is believed that Russia will endeavor to bring influence to bear on Serbia, and not to anger Austria by the invasion of Navipazar.

The French government has learned through official advice that before the Russian and Austrian ministers made their representations to the Monten-egrins at Cetinje, the Serbian and Greek ministers had visited the foreign office here and insisted that the declaration of war should be at least adjourned. Their efforts were, however, in vain and it is generally believed in diplomatic circles that Montenegro acted at the instigation of Bulgaria.

The censure in Constantinople is very severe and nearly all telegrams are stopped by the authorities. A dispatch dated October 8th, received at Kustendje, Roumania, by the French semi-official and news students in Constantinople followed the declaration of war by Montenegro. The population of the Turkish capital bitterly reproaches the Ottoman government for its lack of initiative in pushing the war. There is great has come to Canada on a strange errand.

He is touring Canada looking into cases

There are said to be thousands of such serious matter, and it becomes the young

SEVERAL TIMES MILLIONAIRE DIES A PAUPER

Janesville, Wis., Oct. 3.—The death of Leonard Edward Dwyer who rose from head of a street cleaning gang in Chicago to be a multi-millionaire, and who blew out his brains here in the street, just after he had given small change, the last cent he had to a tramp, brought to a close a meteoric career.

Dwyer was once a member of the Chicago Board of Trade. He amassed wealth, but lost it in an attempt to raise wheat. He retrieved his fortunes he developed of silver mines in Mexico, and was rated a millionaire when he went to New York and in Wall Street again was due to penitence. In 1895 he married the Duchess de Castalucia widow of an Italian duke, who left her $7,000,000. His wife soon died leaving him the remnants of her fortune and several islands off the coast of Maine. He sold them and lost the proceeds in speculation, being adjudged a bankrupt in New York in 1899.

From then Dwyer's luck failed. He enlisted in the navy in an attempt to reach China to share in the development of that country, but he returned to America broken in health and spirits. He spent his last few dollars entertaining some friends in Chicago before he started to Janesville.

FEWER SEALS KILLED.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The fur sealing season in the Behring Sea has closed with the smallest killing of seals many years, and a total absence of pelagic sealing, according to reports to the department of commerce and labor. The result has been it is declared, a considerable increase in the number of seals, which were threatened with extinction by the wretched slaughter of pelagic sealers.

The total number killed of the Pribilof Islands during the season was 5,764, considerably less than the average in the past. These were killed by the American Government agents and the skins will be sold in London, in January, the proceeds to be distributed among the United States, Great Britain, Russia and Japan, in accordance with the terms of the treaty signed by those powers for the preservation of the seal herds.

The Terrible Prices of Childish Curiosity

A woman and child were electrocuted, and the child's mother was seriously injured, in the quiet Highland Glen of Fodderty, near Dingwall, Scotland.

It was a tragedy of a little girl's curiosity and a woman's heroism.

Behind Fodderty Farm an overhead copper conductor takes electricity from Raven's Rock, where it is generated, to Dingwall. At Fodderty it passes through a small wood behind the cottages of the farm hands.

Owing to the heavy rain the branch of a tree fell on the wire, causing a short circuit and fusing the wire, which ultimately broke and fell on the grass. It was sparking vividly when it attracted the attention of Minnie Ross, the eleven-year-old daughter of the foreman on the farm, who was asking her father's breakfast.

She went to the wire and put her foot on it. A large hole was burned in her left boot and the flesh was taken off the bone.

She was thrown to the ground, and must have caught the wire, her right hand being terribly burned. She died immediately.

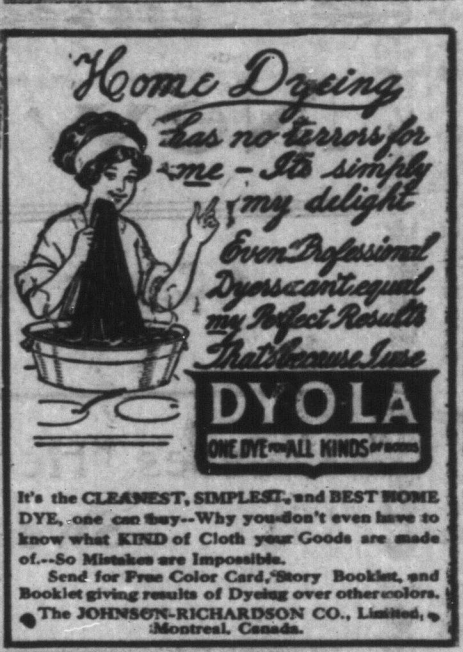

Mrs. Grant, a widow, who ran to the girl's rescue, died with her arms round the child and gripping the wire.

The mother of the girl also went to the rescue, and received a terrible shock in attempting to clear the wire from the woman and child. She is however, recovering.

MR. MARSHALL HALL.

Is as Ready Upon the Political Platform as In the Courts.

To inaugurate the new premises of the Playgoers' Club, above the Leicester square Tube station, a large number of members of the dramatic profession were entertained to luncheon in the handsome premises. Mr. E. Marshall Hall, K.C., M.P., presided. The son of Dr. Alfred Hall, a well-known Brighton doctor, Mr. Marshall Hall was born fifty-four years ago. He was educated at Rugby and St. John's College, Cambridge, where he graduated B.A., and subsequently became a member of the Inner Temple, whence he was called to the Bar in 1883.

In connection with Mr. Hall's Parliamentary experience the following story is told. When the question of his candidature for the Southport division was under consideration, and efforts were being made to induce Sir George Pilkington, the former member, to join the Liberal Unionists, Mr. Marshall Hall went to Norway for a holiday. When starting he almost missed the train, but he just got in time. He has a way of getting in, he says. Then as the train steamed out of Liverpool street station he noticed a line of tracks going along parallel with the train. Watching them idly, he was started to see the name on the engine as his carriage passed it. It was Southport. The train was running his way, he accepted the offer, went to Southport, and won the election.

Mr. Hall is as ready upon the political platform as in the courts, and at one big Conservative demonstration this evening froid enabled him to score heavily.

He had been suggesting certain reductions of taxation upon tea, sugar, and coffee, when a bold forerunner suddenly called out, "What about cats?" Without an instant's hesitation, Mr. Marshall Hall replied gravely: "Oh! you eat cats, do you? I could not see your legs; I thought you only had two."

It was some moments before his somewhat heavy-witted audience pierced the subtlety of the remark, but when they did they burst into the heartiest guffaws, and the questioner reappeared before the forces publicly which his question had drawn upon himself.

The Spoiled Thrill.

In his book of reminiscences the Right Rev. Dr. Boyd-Carpenter tells a story of a missionary meeting that was being held in a small village in England.

The vicar of the parish, Mr. Ingham, was a very energetic man. Indeed, his energy was deemed by some of his parishioners as somewhat intrusive.

At the meeting a missionary gave a vivid account of the cannibal habits of some tribe to which missionaries had gone and among whom some had met their death.

The missionary described a native feast. He told how at the least a large pie had appeared. Desirous of reaching the climax of the tragedy by slow stages of heightening interest, he dwelt upon the pie and then upon its central ornament. What was it? A finger—a human finger.

"And whose finger do you think it was?" he asked in a thrilling tone, and paused dramatically.

The chance was too good to be missed, and one of the villagers promptly told him, "I'll warrant it was Parson Ingham's finger, for he has it in everybody's pie."

When Royalty Dances. Royal etiquette is a little cumbersome in these democratic days. In England not only may no ordinary guest dance while the great ladies of the royal family are doing so, but gentlemen must make a point of standing, however far they may be removed from the royal circle. This is according to a writer in The Gentlewoman, who goes on to say:

"I once saw two young men sharply reprimanded by a court official because they continued sitting in animated conversation when the Queen began to dance. In fact, so marked was the rebuke that I don't think either is likely to have to learn his lesson a second time."

Moon Causes Rain in Africa. A new instance of the supposed connection of the moon with rainfall claims the support of highly scientific authority. Heavy rains are said to occur in South Africa at intervals of nineteen years, and this period coincides with the lunar cycle of maximum north and south declinations. E. E. Nevill, late director of the Natal observatory, finds an explanation in the moon's attraction. The theory is that a permanent cloud belt is drawn along by the moon and that as the moon nears its furthest point north the mass of clouds is made to impinge on the mountains in Natal, giving excessive rainfall.

An Unwitting Executioner. During the Boer war of 1881 one of the sentries of a British regiment, having been forthwith his post, was tried by court martial and condemned to be shot. At the appointed time he was marched to a spot outside the camp, and the troops were drawn up to witness the execution of the unfortunate man. Just as the officer in charge was about to give the order to fire a bullet flew into the group of officers and men, and the prisoner fell dead at their feet. The shot was from the rifle of a concealed Boer marksman. In sniping the British troops he had unwittingly acted as executioner.

A Blanket Fight. A strange custom prevails among the Indians of Alaska. When a difference arises between two of them, and a friendly settlement seems impossible, one of them threatens the other with bearing up a certain number of his own blankets. The only way his antagonist can get even with him is by bearing up a greater number of his own. The one who destroys the most blankets is regarded as having won the fight.

M. K. PIPER, PROPRIETOR AND PUBLISHER.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1912.

A new horticultural journal published in Kings Co., with W. C. Archbald as editor, is advocating the development of the tourist attractions of the province and as a prominent feature of the proposed scheme of attractions has suggested the building of a boulevard along the top of the North Mountain to extend the length of the Valley, having the charms of valley scenery on one hand and the marine view of the Bay of Fundy on the other. The scheme, which sounds like a Utopian dream at its first suggestion, may not be so impracticable after all. The scenery of the Land of Evangeline is one of its chief assets and a sufficient amount of "booming," confidence and push on the part of its natives is the only thing needed to attract the attention of capitalists to its possibilities in the way of summer-land development.
Induce a few capitalists to interest themselves in tourist hotels along the mountain highway and the thing is practically accomplished. A boulevard for the use of the invading automobilists, having avenues at intervals to Valley and shore, would follow and Nova Scotia would easily rank as the "Queen of Summer-lands."

Let the C. P. R. lead with a big summer hotel on a site with attractive vistas and the Annapolis Valley will in time become as famous as the Rockies for its natural charms.

Presbyterian Synod Will Meet in

Pictou, Oct. 4.—The Presbyterian Synod closed today to meet next year in St. Andrew's Church, Sydney.

The committee on systematic beneficiency reported a budget of $114,000 to be distributed in part among the various friends of the church as follows: Foreign missions, $45,000; Home missions, $20,000; College, $11,000. The Synod endorsed the idea of a boys' school, but eliminated a view as to where it should be located. Halifax was at first mentioned. This is the fifty-second anniversary of the union of the Free Church and the Presbyterian Church of Nova Scotia, effected in the church where the Synod met today. Dr. Sedgwick, clerk of the Synod, is the only surviving member of that body.

Amherst Liberals Will Have New Paper

Amherst, Oct. 7.—It is understood that arrangements are being made whereby in a very near future Amherst will have a second daily newspaper.
The taking over of the News and Sentinel by a company composed entirely of Conservatives, and the consequent change in the editorial policy of that paper has made it desirable from the point of view of the Liberal Party that a local paper be circulated in the County representing Liberal politics. It is understood that a very generous subscription has already been made with this in view, and arrangements will be completed in due course for a paper which will worthily uphold the standard of Liberalism in this county.

$17,900 was the sum paid for the company.

Prosperous Co-Operative Society

The Annapolis Valley Fruit and Produce Co., Limited, was organized in June 1908, which was the first society of its kind organized in Annapolis Co., and the second in the province of Nova Scotia. It is composed of twenty-five of the leading farmers of Lawrencetown and Williamston, level-headed business men, who united for the purpose of handling their fruit and other farm produce to the best advantage possible.
They are an independent company who believe in doing their own business.
They own two fine warehouses on the line of the D. A. Railway at Lawrencetown, and have done a successful business ever since incorporation. The fruit has a fine reputation in the local and foreign markets and always finds a ready sale. Last season the company handled about 20,000 barrels, this year the crop is not so heavy, probably about 15,000 barrels. This season's crop has all been marketed up to the winter fruit, good prices have been realized and the cash distributed to the farmers, enquiries have already been received for the winter fruit. Mr. S. E. Barcroft is the efficient manager of the Co., J. H. Bishop is the President and T. G. Bishop, Secretary.
The advisory committee consists of the president, secretary, Wm. FitzRandolph

HYMNICAL

MOSES—LANGLEY

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Langley, West Paradise, on Wednesday morning, 9th inst, when their daughter, Glady, and Mr. Joseph Moses, merchant of Bridgetown, were united in marriage, Rev. N. A. MacNeill officiating. The parlor was beautifully decorated with asters, sweet peas and autumn leaves.
The bride made a very pleasing appearance in a gown of cream serge with shower bouquet of roses and ferns and was attended by her little cousin Adriana Bent, who was a dainty flower girl. Her going away gown was a becoming suit of navy blue cloth. After luncheon had been partaken of the happy couple were conveyed in Beeler's auto to Annapolis Royal, where they took the train for a trip to Boston and New York via Yarmouth. A host of friends unite in best wishes for their happiness.

S. A. Grimm has rented his house to P. S. Galt, whose wife and five children join him here to-day.

The familiar D. A. R. color of red and black on the funnel has been changed to buff and black of the C. P. R. steamers.

J. H. Hicks & Sons have contracted to build a large laundry for the Provincial Government on the sanatorium grounds at Kentville.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. Anthony, who have lost their little son after a week's illness from pneumonia.

The Monitor regrets that it is still unable to furnish its readers with the price list of the Exhibition, no copy having yet been forwarded to the printer.

Next Sunday is "Children's Day" throughout the Anglican communion. At the 11 o'clock service in St. James' Church, the occasion will be appropriately observed.

The Fairness liner, Florence sailed last week with 23,000 barrels of apples loaded by Bligh and Sons and Chase & Co. for Hamburg. Bligh & Sons have chartered another steamer for the same market.

The work of Cemetery improvement, which has been progressing during the summer, is at present under the direction of Mr. Grace, Assistant Supt. of Yarmouth Mountain Cemetery, who is laying out avenues, etc.

The death occurred at Seney Hospital, Brooklyn, N.Y., on Friday Oct. 10th, of Kate, wife of H. R. Mahony, and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Bogart, Fernandina, Fla. and niece of Mrs. B. D. Neily of Bridgetown.

Commenting on Bridgetown's new policeman, Mr. Gill, late instructor of swimming at the Waegwolic Club, Halifax, the Halifax Echo says, "Bridgetown gets a smart, active, reliable officer in Sgt. Major Gill, who is sure to make good."

Jacqueminot roses brightened the editor's sanctum this week from the garden of Dr. DeBlois. It is unusual that this beautiful hybrid blooms in such profusion as late in the season as October. Wild roses were presented by Gilbert Cuff, and wild strawberries by Clarence Bent, during the week.

The winter time-table of the Boston and Yarmouth S. S. service is now in operation. The steamer Boston now makes two trips a week, sailing from Yarmouth Wednesday and Saturday at 6 p. m., and from Boston Tuesday and Friday at noon. The "Princes" are withdrawn for the season.

The public utilities board has been appealed to, and has ordered that the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company provide Kentville with a continuous service for the twenty-four hours, excepting on Sundays and statutory holidays. Middleton and Digby also enjoy a continuous service.

Digby is reported as having its first catch of mackerel for many years. The catch is valued at $5,000. The fishermen attribute the catch to the fact that the waters are not polluted with saw dust and other mill refuse as in former years. One hundred and nine thousand hundred weight of hake were taken during the month, valued at $7,000. Eleven thousand five hundred pounds of dulce was shipped to the American markets.

The cause of the King vs. Harvey Beals was tried at the recent term of the Supreme Court. The case White vs. Lake was settled out of court. The non-jury cases were settled as follows:—Various creditors of William deBlois, represented by D. Owen, damages assessed. Munro vs. Timpany, Miller for plaintiff, Owen for defendant, damages for plaintiff. The other cases were continued.

Rev. F. J. Armitage and bride, after a pleasant trip to England, have arrived at Lawrenceport, Annapolis Co., to which circuit he was appointed at the last conference. Mr. Armitage spent several years in Newfoundland, studied at Mount Allison, and was transferred to Nova Scotia at last conference, to which he and his bride are cordially welcomed.—The Westeyan.

The attention of the street committee is directed to the side street intersecting Queen Street at J. W. Beckwith's store, which is in bad condition. The side-walk is lower than the road-bed, with no chance for drainage, and the coming fall rains are bound to make the condition even worse than at present for citizens having occasion to use the street. What makes the need of improvement greater is the necessity of many school children using this street as an approach to the school house. In its present state of neglect, the street is not in any way, by any means, a credit to the town.

A great improvement has been made in the architectural appearance of Queen Street. Two old landmarks on the east side of the street, the Cox building and the Morse building, have been replaced, in the first instance by the rebuilt store of Crowe, Elliott & Co. with its broad plate glass front and tastefully displayed contents, and the second by the entirely new brick-faced business block with plate glass front of J. H. Longmire & Sons which is still in process of building. Another rebuilt block adjoining which makes an attractive and tasteful display of its extensive plate glass windows is that of Karl Freeman, formerly the Fraser building.

R. C. R. Band Concert

The Royal Canadian Regiment Band, on a tour through the province, gave two concerts in Primrose Theatre yesterday, a matinee and an evening performance. The Band was assisted by Miss E. M. Courtney, contralto, and Captain E. L. duDomaine, solo violin. The programs arranged were exceedingly attractive, and included selections from operas and various concerted and solo pieces of a popular nature. Their descriptive pieces, including "The Dance of Death," "A Hunting Scene," etc., were extremely effective. Miss Courtney and Captain duDomaine lent additional charm to one of the finest musicals Bridgetown ever enjoyed. The audiences were far smaller than the attractions should have ensured, doubtless due partly to the inclement evening and partly to the fact that the amusement events in Bridgetown lately have been exceedingly numerous. Those who were absent missed a rare treat. Messrs. Bishop and Charlton are to be warmly congratulated upon the class of entertainment they are furnishing patrons of the Primrose Theatre.

WET WEATHER FOR A YEAR.

All Our Weather Woes May Be Attributed to Spots on Old Sol.

Sun spots. These little dark blotches on Old Sol's surface are, according to Prof. Galbraith, head of the School of Science, responsible for the leaden skies and cold, wet months of this past summer. Sun spots have spoiled many a picnic party this season, and cut down the profits of the summer boarding-house. Maybe, too, they have had more than a little to do with the street car tie-ups that have intermittently afflicted Toronto.

Now the professor's line of science is not weather prophecy. Moreover, he did not express this opinion as against any that might be put forward by the regularly constituted authorities on meteorological subjects. No doubt, however, they entirely concur with him, as the spots are there, and astronomers have always contended that their presence in numbers was portentous climatically. The Dean's surmise, which was elicited in conversation with a friend, foretells a broken and uncertain winter to follow this drippy summer. It would appear that the sun spots which have been trying in vain to prevent a record attendance at the Toronto Exhibition are due to stay with us, or rather between us and the great dispenser of heat and light, for twelve months.

Many lengthy and learned opinions have been penned on the subject of sun spots since the time of Dr. Alexander Wilson of Glasgow, the first man to observe them in 1769. Sun spots are caused, so the savants say, by great masses of the vapor and gases given off by the sun ascending to a tremendous distance from its surface, cooling, and finally when they are out of range of the heat, condensing into solid masses and falling with meteoric speed to the sun's surface again.

"A sun spot," says one authority, "is one of the dark spots that appear from time to time, consisting commonly of a blue-black central portion, or umbra, with a surrounding border of penumbra, of light shade, and usually visible only with the telescope."

Sun spots are very changeable in the figure and dimensions, varying from mere apparent points (perhaps 1,000 miles across), to spaces over 100,000 miles in extent. They last often a month, sometimes several months. They occur with periodic frequency, the length of cycle being 11.13 years, and their appearance is accompanied by loss of light, sometimes by loss of heat and often by magnetic storms on the earth. Their exact nature is not fully known.

In 1851 astronomers measured one huge sun spot, which measured 14,000 miles across, and in which the convulsions were so great that they could be detected by eye observation with the telescope.

Buffalo Loose in Winnipeg.

Roaming at large without let or hindrance, a real live buffalo disturbed the community of St. James, near Winnipeg, the other night. It seems that the animal was one of the herd formerly at Silver Heights, once the residence of Lord Strathcona, and which was purchased by the city for the Assiniboine City Park, from which it broke away a few nights ago, and after swimming across the river, went into some pasturage west of Deer Lodge, where cattle were browsing. It was seen between six and seven o'clock in the evening in the Woodlands district and passed about 200 yards from Portage avenue, terrifying several of the residents, including a woman and three children, whom it passed at a distance of about three feet.

Immediately it was missed the attendants and park keepers set out on the hue and cry to track the errant erstwhile master of the plains and prairies of the west. They traced him to Brookside and on the direction of Stoney Mountain, but not being accustomed to herding buffaloes at large, they had considerable difficulty in keeping on his trail.

By dint of great perseverance, however, they headed him off again in the direction of the Assiniboine Park by the St. James district, and tried to drive him towards the river again so that he might swim back the way he came. He went down to the river and went a few steps, but turned and made off again with the attendants after him, but was ultimately captured and returned to his enclosure at the park.

The Retort Crushing.

How to deal with the man in the audience who interrupts or who makes remarks intended to be funny, is often quite a problem for political speakers.

Occasionally the speaker counters quickly and has the laugh on "a voice in the audience." That was the case at a meeting in Essex County, Ont., in the last Dominion election campaign, addressed by Dr. James Sampson of Windsor, who is a prominent Liberal, an active campaigner and a lecturer on the Dominion annuities system.

"Why don't you get your hair cut?" cried a jester who has the squeaky voice and had noticed that the doctor has abundance of long hair.

"If I had a voice like that," the doctor retorted in strong, deep tones, "I'd get my throat cut."—Courier.

Some Frog!

The largest frog ever caught in the vicinity of Galt was captured on the east bank of the river below the town limits, by John Lee, a young man on the River road. The frog measures exactly 12 inches from the mouth to the hind leg, and 12.2 inches in girth, and weighs 4.12 pounds. When it croaks it makes a noise resembling a loud auto horn. Mr. Lee has the frog in a cage at his home.

The Perfect Man.

Speaking to the Cadets at the Dominion Rifle Association meeting, the Hon. W. T. White lauded rifle shooting as a manly sport. A man must have a good physique to be thoroughly developed. "I say that because the other side, the intellectual side, has been too much emphasized in certain educational institutions."

STOOPING SHOULDERS

"I have a friend," said the Cautious Hygienist, "who is in the very best part of his life, the fullness of his years, and who knows considerable about physical culture, having practiced it more or less for a number of years. But he is allowing himself to become slightly stooped shouldered. Right now, when it is only 'slightly' is when I am going to make a fight to straighten him up. I shall nag him most dreadfully and take photographs of him when he is at the greatest disadvantage. Sometimes when you cannot impress people with the danger into which they are running their health, you can get them by touching up their vanity. That's a common weakness with all of us. This same man can lower his body to the floor on one leg, with the other one extended straight before him and raise himself in the same way, which is no easy feat to accomplish excepting with long practice, believe me. But every one, at some time, grows weary in well doing; and that is the case with this man. Now, when he needs it most, he has grown lax, in taking his daily physical culture stunts. Luckily, this man has a 'buzz wagon,' and it affords him a most excellent hygienic balance. It keeps the skin ping and healthy, compelling as it does better and deeper respiration than under ordinary circumstances, besides keeping him in the open. But this is not correcting that slight bowing of the spine, which lets the shoulders forward, and when the shoulders are permitted to droop forwards there is much less freedom for the lungs.

"When the shoulders begin to droop it is the surest sign of some perhaps slight weakness at some point of the spine. Be it remembered that a bridge is no stronger than its weakest point. This point may be the one to afford the beginning of the break to and from the nerve centers, ending of the health of the system. So much depends upon the spine—its integrity of conveying all sensations meeting them with the brain, and reaching every part of the nerve-wired body and when the integrity of the spine is relaxed in any degree, some organ is trespassed upon, and crowded into an unnatural position. The displacement of one organ means the displacement of others, and some abnormal, internal condition is the result. So it behooves us, by all means to keep the spine strong and supple in every joint.

Consequences and Correction.

"My friend was a litterateur. It is necessary that he preserve the clarity of his brain throughout his lifetime. In order to keep the brain in perfect mechanical condition, it is necessary that the blood, which renews every part of the body, should be kept in perfect healthful condition that this purpose accomplished, there must be complete oxygenation, and this means perfect respiration—and this means a straight spine. In the lexicon of hygiene we do not allow even the slightest stoop as long as it is capable of correction. And the slight indiscretion in this direction, if not corrected in time, is sure to lead to immeasurable evil.

"One of the saddest things to me has been witnessing of the formation of this habit in growing boys and girls, unrebuked and uncorrected by the parents. I have seen this even in supposedly intelligent families. One victim was a young girl in college, the daughter of a minister. He may have thought it 'the Lord's will' that the child's spine should remain weak and grow into a bow, but he was mistaken. The Lord loves straight healthy bodies; and he does not love the stupidity of parents who let their children grow up with bowed backs and consequent lung trouble. The Lord loves a healthy, perfect body, and he gave us the intelligence to keep our own that way. It is all right to pray, but while he was praying, that minister should have had his girl in a gymnasium, under a capable instructor, getting her spine into shape.

"There is no excuse for this defect in the very young, when there are so many adequate means to overcome it. Appropriate physical exercises in and out of the gymnasium, swimming, massage, braces, if necessary, proper feeding, with an adequate supply of lime to the system, plenty of romping in the open, all of these conspire against weakness of the spine. Sometimes it is not even weakness, but a careless, slovenly habit in youngsters which starts the trouble. But the trouble once established, the health must deteriorate.

"He who forms this habit later in life, when he has grown up into the use of his intelligence, has not the excuse of ignorance, thoughtlessness or irresponsibility. He knows his danger, and it is easily within his power to correct it."

STRATHCONA'S SLUSH.

When Lord Strathcona was called upon to drive the golden spike into the last of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the foreman in charge of the section was told to make a hole in the tie so that the precious spike could easily be extracted and preserved under a glass case. As it was early spring, with a thaw setting in the foreman bored out quite a substantial hole, and to make the ceremony of "driving the spike" appear real, he carefully filled the docket with slush. When Lord Strathcona, bending low before a distinguished gathering raised the mallet and drove the huge nail far into the tie, a powerful squirt of melted snow instantly darted back of him, covering his long beard and immaculate clothes in the most unexpected and embarrassing fashion. But his lordship did not forget to join in the chorus of half smothered merriment that burst forth at his expense.

SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF AT HALIFAX.

The school for the deaf at Halifax has re-opened after the summer holidays and the principal, Mr. J. Pearson, would be grateful for the addresses of parents who may have deaf children. There are throughout the Maritime Provinces many children who are not deaf, but so hard of hearing that they cannot take advantage of the institution in ordinary hearing schools. Such children should attend the school at Halifax where their speech will be improved and everything possible done to help their hearing by prominent ear specialists.

DOCTORS COULD NOT HELP MY KIDNEYS

"Fruit-a-lives" Cured Me

MR. GEO. W. BARKLEY

CHESTERVILLE, ONT., JAN. 25th, 1912
"For over twenty years, I have been troubled with Kidney Disease and the doctors told me they could do me no good. They said my case was incurable and I would suffer all my life. I doctored with different medical men and tried many advertised remedies, but there was none that suited my case. Nearly a year ago, I tried 'Fruit-a-lives'. I have been using them nearly all the time since, and am glad to say that I am cured. I have no trouble now with my kidneys and I give 'Fruit-a-lives' the credit of doing what the doctors said was impossible. I am seventy-six years old and am in first class health."

THE WONDERS OF SURGICAL SCIENCE.

Since the days when Shakespeare drew that serio-comic picture of the apothecary, surgical science has certainly made wonderful strides. You know the barber's pole is painted white and red because in by-gone days the barber was the only dentist and the white streaks stood for the lather plaster on the jaws of humankind while the red stripes typified the blood that flows from human gums when you pull aching teeth with an instrument little more handy than a pair of tongs. Shakespeare's apothecary and the old-fashioned dentist stood for about all the surgical skill there is in the world.

It is a long course from that to the surgery practiced at Felling, Cal., not long since when a 6-year old boy fell from the rafters of a barn twelve feet to the floor, striking on his stomach and producing copious hemorrhage in the abdomen. This would have presented a task for Shakespeare's apothecary and the dentist of that day which would have been far beyond their skill. It was really an easy job for the surgical science of today to handle. The expert surgeons simply laid the child on his back, cut his abdomen open, took herefrom every one of the internal organs, found the hemorrhage to proceed from the diaphragm in an exact place to be ruptured, sewed the wound, replaced all the organs, including the stomach, as they should be, then sewed up the abdomen and laid the boy away quite comfortably to rest and recuperate.

Every organ in the abdomen of the child had been taken from its place and had lain on a table for an hour. They had all been replaced properly and the hope of the child's recovery at the time this is written is great. Modern surgical science can do greater things than this. It can take the heart of a human breast, operate around it with its delicate instruments, remove obstructions therefrom and otherwise administer to the recuperation of its perfectly healthful action, put it back in place and the subject suffers no permanent injury.

Unreflecting persons are given to sneering at medical science, and do not doubt the medical faculty admit young men to practice medicine who are not thoroughly equipped for the task. But that is a smaller matter weighed against the devotion of conscientious physicians who grudge no pains of learning how to minister to bodies and minds diseased. There is no science in which a larger number of devoted men spend more years or give more thorough study to the improvement of professional knowledge and the scientific treatment of the subjects coming under their care than the medical profession. Nor is there any other profession to which the human family owes a greater debt of gratitude for their unremitting attentions in sickness and accidents.

THE PRIVATE SCHOOL.

Private schools for boys are a striking feature of Canada's educational system. This type of institution has had long development in the Dominion and has been worked out with considerable skill. Before the early-Canadian Governments had organized a system of secondary education, the country was dependent more or less upon schools started and maintained by individual effort. Dominies from the old land sought to make a living by teaching boys who came to their houses. Sometimes the church, or the wealthier men in a community, fathered a school and erected buildings. Dr. Taastie's school at Galt, and Rockwood Academy, near Guelph, where James J. Hill, railroad, learned the three R's were conspicuous monuments of this era.

Then came the birth of the high schools, and the spread of public education before which competition the private schools had to give way. Some survived, strong in the traditions which they had gathered about them. Others were opened by men who had strong faith in ideals of education which they desired to impress upon the community. The growth of such schools as Upper Canada College, St. Andrew's College, Trinity School, and Bishop Ridley College, which are even more than national schools, for they draw students from all parts of the Empire, is proof enough that there is a distinct place for the private school in the life of the Dominion.

Because it is not part of a system, a private school can, with greater facility, take the initiative in trying out new ideas in education. The private schools of Canada are much in advance of the public schools in the matter of attention they give to the physical welfare of their students. In this respect they could point lessons to even our universities. The state schools foster love for sport, but they do not incorporate athletics as an essential part of the educative program. The boys at the private schools are compelled to undergo athletic training, just as they are required to learn Latin, French or history. Every boy is medically examined. His physique is measured, and he is obliged to take prescribed exercises, which will round out the hollows in his chest, remove curvature, strengthen his muscles, and make him a sound, spirited specimen of manhood. At St. Andrew's College a boy who neglects his gymnasium class is not allowed out of bounds on Saturday afternoon. He is "gated." So particular are the private schools about physical training, that they spend big sums in equipment. Ridley College, St. Catharines, recently erected a gymnasium which is larger, and more up-to-date than the former gymnasium at the University of Toronto. This school emphasized physical training. It is situated in the Niagara fruit district on a large farm, which supplies most of the provisions used at the school. In rural ozone, Ridley boys find an outlet for their activities on the farm, the cricket or football fields, in the gymnasium or the skating rink.

The private schools of Canada are not concerned with developing intellectual prodigies or athletic gladiators. They are trying to evolve boys of character who can hold their own physically and mentally with their fellows; boys with the stamp on them of the school from which they go forth into the world.—Canadian Courier.

Indian Burying Ground Found.

What is evidently an ancient Indian burying ground has been found at Islington, Ont. Already thirteen skeletons have been dug up by workmen at the Hill's gravel pit.

The majority of the bones found would indicate that the Indians were above the average in size and very powerfully built. Some of the residents who have lived in the districts for the past 75 or 80 years have been questioned about the skeletons. They did not remember any Indians or did they ever hear their fathers mention them. Some of these men living in the district are the offspring of pioneers who originally cleared the land in this section of the country. Should there have been any redskins dwelling there in those times the tradition would have been passed on.

This means that the skeletons have been there more than a century. As the majority of the bones were of condition and perfect it is supposed that these Indians were braves killed in war and buried on the field by the other redmen.

A One-Dollar Bill.

This is the story of a one-dollar bill. Recently a clerk in a Toronto cigar store took in a bill of that denomination and after the man who had given it to him had left he seemed to recall that he had noticed several, peculiar markings on it. He took the note out of the cash register and examined it carefully. The bill was covered with typewritten messages. On the front of it were these words: "Good luck to the man that happens to get this bill. I worked hard for it, but here's to climbing up the hill of prosperity. May I never meet a friend coming down. Keep it in circulation. I wish the possessor of this bill would drop me a line regarding its travels, and oblige, Paddy Robertson, Milton, Ont."

On the other side of the bill were these words: "This bill is not a counterfeit although it looks the part."

Are Preventing Cholera.

The report of deaths from cholera infantum during the months of June, July and August coming from Fort William demonstrates what an energetic M.O.H. and a staff of nurses are able to accomplish in preventing infant mortality. Fort William heads the province of Ontario in this respect.

In June, 1911, there were four deaths from this dread disease and one in 1912. In July, 1910, 34 deaths were reported, six in 1911, and two in 1912, while in August, 1910, 29 was the total, 12 for the same month in 1911 and only three for the past month.

London, Ont., Oct. 7.—Seven hundred farmers of the township of Yarmouth Ont. have petitioned the hydro electric commission for Niagara power. The petition is the largest that has yet been received by the commission and is an indication of the way in which the farmers are taking hold of the opportunity to avail themselves of cheap power. The demonstration outfit being sent through the country by the hydro electric commission was in operation near St. Thomas today. Hon. Adam Beck was a visitor at the scene of operation during the afternoon, motoring down from London with a party of friends.

JAMES BOXALL.

Canada Fraternal Society Man Pays Down the Reins of Office.

Probably no man in any Canadian fraternal organization has climbed the ladder of offices to the very top as quickly as Mr. James Boxall of Lindsay, who but a few years ago stepped down from the exalted position of Supreme President of the Sons of England Society, after having held it for several terms, to give way to what he termed "younger blood." Mr. Boxall, who is at the present time one of the busiest and most prominent business men of Lindsay, Ont., at one time was an active member of Lodge Ruby, in Toronto. Twenty-five years ago he was a full private in the rank and file of the famous order. He joined the ranks at Port Perry and was known throughout the countryside as a young man of never-failing energy, and he is still a dynamo for business in the shire town of Victoria County. Mr. Boxall, besides being a Sunday school superintendent in the Methodist Church for many years, is a member of the Board of Waterworks Commissioners, ex-president of the Lindsay Board of Trade, and at the present time one of the five members of the Industrial Commission of Lindsay. He is also a keen and ardent politician, and during campaigns can always be found in the thickest of the fray. At political gatherings he can champion the Conservative cause with the best of platform speakers, while his ready wit always serves him well. A story told of how Mr. Boxall silenced a heckler at Oakwood not long ago is characteristic of that gentleman's quick wit. One farmer was continually interrupting Mr. Boxall in his speech, when the latter stated that he would tell a story for the benefit of the farmer in question. "Not so very long ago," started the speaker, "when fodder was scarce and dear, a farmer conceived the idea of feeding his hens by mixing sawdust in the bran. Soon he put a little more sawdust in and a little less bran and by-and-by all sawdust and no bran, the hens thrived wonderfully well on the new food. By-and-by he wished to hatch a batch of chickens, and put mother hen on the eggs. The result was that a fine brood was hatched, thirteen in all, and on examination it was found that 12 of the chicks had wooden legs, while one was a woodpecker." At this point Mr. Boxall stopped, and the farmer again "baited in" with the sarcastic remark, "Well, where does the woodpecker fit into your story?" "Well," continued Mr. Boxall, "I did not wish to draw the application here to-night, but I am sure that anyone in this intelligent audience will readily understand my story, and will also readily understand where the woodpecker is in this audience. Needless to say, the story had the effect of turning the laugh on the farmer, and silencing him for the rest of the evening.

Made Up His Loss.

Mr. John Ross Robertson, proprietor of The Toronto Telegram, has a way of assisting needy causes that bespeaks a sympathetic interest in the problems of his fellowmen. Sometimes this humane sentiment, reaches down to places and people who may never have an opportunity to praise his benefactions in the open court. In one of these acts about three years ago an office boy figured as the principal. He was then in the employ of Mr. Robertson's newspaper, and on the day following the failure of the Farmers' Bank remarked to the city editor that his grudge against the bank was no light one, for his pass-book had contained savings of twenty-five dollars intended for his night school expenses. Next day Mr. Robertson, who had heard of the incident indirectly, walked through the city room and spied the dolorous lad seated on a bench. "So you're a bank victim, eh?" observed the proprietor, kindly. "What did they take from you?" "Everything—$25," confessed the lad, timidly. "And you still want to attend night school?" "You bet I do." The boss drew forth five five-dollar bills and pressed them into the little chap's hand. "Now, for goodness sake," he said, "be careful how you spend your bank-er."—Toronto Star Weekly.

Is There a Coal Famine?

A rather remarkable condition exists just now in Montreal. Recently the coal dealers in the metropolis made the calm announcement that they had in stock fifty tons of stove coal while ordinarily at this time of the year 250,000 tons are on hand. With chilly rights coming due, such a statement might well cause a mild sensation. Of course there is an explanation. Recently there was a gigantic coal strike in Great Britain. Coal intended for the Canadian market was shipped across the Atlantic to help out the English situation. Then followed the Pennsylvania strike, throwing dealers in the Dominion away behind in their orders. With a big demand for coal, and no ready supply, naturally prices have aviated. This is a further complication in the matter which may be responsible for furrows in the brow of Mr. Consumer this fall. In Montreal, loose stove coal is $7.75 a ton, and all the time going up; loose egg is the same; and chestnut twenty-five cents more.

Oil-Propelled Vessel.

With a full cargo of port and sherry wine the new oil-propelled vessel, Fordonia, is present in course of completion at the Old Country will arrive shortly in Toronto harbor. The new ship, which is the property of the Merchants Mutual Line, will, it is expected, be something of a revelation in the marine line to lake vesselmen. Driven by an 1,100 h.p. oil engine it is calculated that she will be capable of attaining a speed of upwards of 12 miles an hour, whereas the only other oil vessel on the lakes, the Toller, can only make some six miles per hour. The new vessel is full cargo size, 223 feet, with a beam of 14 feet.

Advertisement for Canada Cement Company Limited. Text: 'Will you be one of the 108 farmers who will receive our Prize Contest checks? THERE will be twelve cash prizes in each of the nine provinces (108 in all) in the 1912 Prize Contest for Canadian Farmers. The 1911 Contest was so successful in awakening interest in the use of Concrete on the farm, that a second contest, in which three times as many prizes are offered, was decided upon for this year. The Contest this year is divided into three classes, "A", "B", and "C", and there will be four prizes in each class. (First prize, $50; Second prize, $25; Third prize, $15; Fourth prize, $10.) Thus there are three $50 Prizes, three $25 Prizes, three $15 prizes, and three $10 Prizes, for each province. DESCRIPTION OF CLASSES In Each Class there will be First, Second, Third and Fourth Prizes ($50, $25, $15, and $10) for Each Province. CLASS "A"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who use most "Canada" Cement on their farms in the year 1912. CLASS "B"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send photographs of the best concrete work done with "Canada" Cement on their farms in 1912. CLASS "C"—Prizes to be awarded to the four farmers in each province who send in the best descriptive letter, telling how and where pieces of concrete work was done with "Canada" Cement. (Entries for this prize must be accompanied by photographs of the work.) Don't think that you must use a large quantity of cement in order to win a prize. The quantity of cement used does not count in Classes "B" and "C." Many of last year's prize winners used very little cement. When you enter the Contest, you have a chance to win a cash prize of $50 as well as the certainty that you will add a permanent improvement to your farm. If you haven't a copy, be sure and ask for our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." It will not only suggest many improvements that you can use in entering the Contest, but will tell you all about the use of concrete on the farm. Just write your name and address on the attached coupon, or use a postal card, and we will send full particulars of the Prize Contest and a copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" to you absolutely free.
