

SAN FRANCISCO WANTS CONVENTION NEXT YEAR

TEXAS DELEGATES BORN IN ONTARIO

Fred E. Johnson of Dallas Committee Recalls Old Times.

OTHER CANADIANS TOO

Majority From North Have Gained Wealth and Prominence in South.

"Boys, we are right up here where I was born," said Fred E. Johnson, chairman of the Dallas "On-to-Toronto" committee, and then he proceeded to grow reminiscent and tell of a farm near Sarnia, Ont., of walking miles thru the snow to school, of the great northern woods, the lakes and streams of Canada, until the entire delegation caught the spirit of the moment and gave three cheers for Toronto in particular and Canada in general.

Mr. Johnson is not the only Canadian from Dallas. There are a goodly number, and the majority of them have achieved wealth and prominence since going to the southland. But as chairman of the committee, he has brought the largest delegation of ad men and friends that ever left Texas to Toronto.

Attains Prominence. All the advertising world knows Fred Johnson. At present he is a director of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. He was at the helm of affairs when Dallas entertained the 1912 international session, and was on that occasion elected vice-president. No man is prouder of his league or calling than Mr. Johnson. He is loyal to the ideals of the order and gets more pleasure out of attending these annual meetings than in any other way.

Praises Texas. Wherever Fred Johnson goes he keeps Dallas and Texas to the front. "Texas is the grandest country in the world for a young man," he says; "and Dallas is the best place in Texas." When it comes to work he is a "wheel-horse" and he is prominently identified with every movement that has for its aim the good of Dallas. He organized and was the first president of the Dallas Advertising League. He is now a director of the league.

Has Many Interests. Mr. Johnson is the head of a large printing and advertising plant and is director of the following concerns: Citizens State Bank and Trust Company, Mutual Investment Company, Merchants and Manufacturers Association, Dallas Advertising League, Dallas Rotary Club. He is president of the United Land and Building Company, is president of the Canadian Club of Dallas, is a member of all the Masonic bodies, is a progressive and a builder.

ACCUSER FAILED TO MAKE APPEARANCE

Bribery Charges Against Dr. Macklin Were Adjourned on Saturday.

GODERICH, June 20.—The hearing of the charges of bribery against Dr. A. H. Macklin, the Conservative candidate, and Rev. Joseph Elliott, who has been assisting him, opened before Police Magistrate Kelly, Crown Attorney Slinger, assisted by L. E. Daney, appeared for the prosecution, and N. G. Cameron, K. C., for the accused. The court was crowded.

J. B. Hunter, who claims to have been bribed, failed to appear, and the crown asked for an adjournment till Wednesday. This was opposed by the defence, but the adjournment was granted. The doctor denies emphatically that he gave money for any corrupt purpose, but solely for legitimate canvassing, as pay to Hunter himself.

It is understood that Hunter is in Hamilton, where he has secured a post as organist of St. John's Presbyterian Church.

COLLISION IN AIR NINE LIVES LOST

Occupants of Dirigible Airship and Biplane Burned and Mutilated.

VIENNA, June 20.—Nine aviators lost their lives today when a mimic war in the air was suddenly turned into tragic reality by the accidental ripping of a dirigible airship by a biplane while both were flying at a great height during the Austrian army manoeuvres. Both craft were destroyed, and their occupants, nine military and naval officers and non-commissioned officers, were burned and mutilated beyond recognition.

The nose of the biplane grazed the envelope of the airship and ripped her wide open. There was a terrific explosion and the airship was immediately in flames, which engulfed the biplane, and in a few moments the remnants of both craft crashed on the slopes of a mountain with their occupants. The bodies were so charred and mangled that they were scarcely recognizable.

The names of the victims were: Capt. Johann Hauswirth, Lieut. Ernst Hofstetter, Platz, Hoosta, Bruer and Haidinger, Corporals Hadima and Weber, and engineer Kammerer.

REVOLUTION IN SANTO DOMINGO

Efforts of United States to Maintain Peace Have Proved Failure.

Special to The Toronto World. WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Despite the efforts of the Washington government to maintain peace, the revolution in Santo Domingo is again boiling in the Dominican republic. A despatch to the state department today from Minister Sullivan says a clash occurred yesterday between the revolutionists and government troops near Banu, resulting in the defeat of the government forces.

Further details regarding the fight and as to the general conditions in Santo Domingo were lacking. In the adjoining republic, Haiti, engagements between government troops and revolutionists occur every day. Captain Russell, of the South Carolina, reported to the navy department today that the operation of the railroad near Cape Haitian was being interfered with by the revolutionists.

Rev. Dean Hand of Toronto was the celebrant of the boat mass. This afternoon 1100 members of the holy order, including 500 of the Toronto contingent, marched from St. Nicholas' School grounds to St. Catharines Roman Catholic Church, where Rev. Dr. Kehoe, O.C.C., St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, preached the sermon. Dean Hand celebrated the benediction of the holy sacrament.

SAN FRANCISCO WANTS YOU! HERE ARE THE REASONS WHY

San Francisco is putting up a big fight to have the next convention held there. The delegates are leaving no argument unsaid that will boost their city. Here are a few of the reasons already advanced, and the best yet to come:

San Francisco invites you because she WANTS YOU and feels that if you accept she knows how to give you THE GREATEST CONVENTION IN THE HISTORY of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

San Francisco wants you—not alone for entertainment, but to hold your business congress in the midst of a World's Record-Breaking Exposition, which will commemorate from Feb. 20 to Dec. 4, 1915, THE REVOLUTIONIZING COMMERCIAL EVENT OF THE UNIVERSE—the opening of the Panama Canal.

THERE will be exhibited the ADVERTISED PRODUCTS OF THE WORLD—

THERE will be assembled the modernized thought of the greatest brains, the most fertile imagination of the biggest men in EVERY line of business.

THERE will be told the history of progress for the past decade, and foretold for the decades to come—

THERE will be the centre of the world for a year—an epoch-making period when men and merchandise from every nation shall be on review.

San Francisco wants you because there on the shores of the Twentieth Century Ocean lie Nature's richest resources awaiting, with an empire so vast that sixty years have hardly scratched its surface, the magic touch of active commercial enterprise.

San Francisco wants you there that you may better know the land of the setting sun, now in the making, where big achievements follow one another in rapid procession.

San Francisco wants you there to view the City by the Golden Gate REBUILT IN EIGHT YEARS and standing as a monument to western energy and courage.

San Francisco wants you because you are ADVERTISING MEN—men with a broad horizon—MEN OF VISION—men who not only can see the picture of the future, but who can by practical application bring it into active existence.

This is no selfish motive, for San Francisco, if you elect to meet there in 1915, will give you back far more than she can possibly ask.

San Francisco—California—the whole Pacific coast—from Vancouver, B.C., to San Diego—unites in one big, wholesome, earnest invitation to the Associated Advertising Clubs of America to convene in San Francisco in the world's great advertising congress in 1915—

OUR KEY IS ON THE DOORSTEP!

THE EL PASO DELEGATION

This will include a new organ, which will be the last word in organ construction, and an addition to the Sunday school building, to be erected on the vacant land to the rear of the present church building. The announcement was made following a meeting of the business committee after a canvass had been made of the church membership for funds to make the outlay. Plans will be prepared immediately and Deacon Gideon Grant stated that the construction of the addition would in all probability be completed this year. As a tribute to their former pastor, the building will be named the B. D. Thomas Hall.

Five shots were fired by the man, but only one took effect. Henri de Rothschild is a doctor of medicine, an author of note and a large contributor to charity. Margaret Miller, the two-year-old daughter of Mrs. William Miller, ate some tablets used for preserving clothes from moths at 11 p.m. on Saturday and died four hours afterward in spite of the efforts of two physicians. The child discovered the tablets in a trunk and swallowed a quantity of them before her mother could prevent her. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to Hamilton Cemetery.

Advertising Club Delegation From Fort Worth Introduce Novelty.

FORM UNIQUE SOCIETY.

"Sacred Heifer" Designation of "Inner Shrine" Organization—Desire Members.

The Order of the Sacred Heifer is an "inner shrine" organization of Texas ad men, into which the Fort Worth delegates desire to initiate at least one member from each city represented at the convention. On the train coming in, they initiated two stray delegates from Honolulu, who describe the experience as not exactly severe, but rather trying on the nerves. The Fort Worth club was the first to inaugurate the use of the "Truth" seal as a guarantee of advertising honesty and is now conducting an active propaganda for its extension. Hugh Johnston is president and C. A. Royce, past president.

WEATHER SPOILED WOODMEN'S PARADE

Annual Decoration Services Took Place by Proxy in Association Hall.

The procession headed by the Lisgar street division of the Salvation Army Band, and an escort of 50 uniformed Woodmen, started at Queen's Park, proceeded to Jarvis street, down Jarvis to Gerrard, across Gerrard to Yonge, and up Yonge to the hall, where the members held the floral tributes which they were carrying, on a representation of the burial ground, which took the form of grave and monument.

The service was conducted by Rev. R. J. Treloven; the decoration service proper by C. G. Soy, Dallas. L. Sovereign Williamson, Banker Soy, Curry, and Escort Soy, Fredenburg. Addresses were given by Soy, W. E. Harrison, head consul commander, and Rev. J. E. Gibson, rector of the Church of the Ascension. GIRL STEPS FROM AUTO, ANOTHER KILLS HER

Miss Mabel Marsh Meets Almost Instant Death When Struck by Car on Yonge Street — John B. Whaley, Alleged Driver, Arrested by Police.

Just as she alighted from her friend's motor car opposite the power house on North Yonge street, Saturday evening, Miss Mabel Marsh, age 22, of Richmond Hill, was struck by another motor car coming from the opposite direction, and died a few moments later from her injuries. Although the driver of the car which killed the girl immediately threw on full speed and escaped without any person sighting his number, Detective Mitchell of the local detective office, arrested John B. Whaley, a grocer, of 2295 Yonge street on Sunday afternoon on a charge of manslaughter.

The name of the person with whom Miss Marsh was riding prior to the accident has not yet been ascertained by the police. Eye witnesses state she alighted from a north bound motor car to visit the power house and speak to her brother-in-law, and the glare of a search light on a south bound trolley prevented her from seeing the motor car coming from the same direction. The unfortunate woman was hurled fifteen feet by the impact of the car. The motorist is said to have looked around, then sped away from the scene of the accident. Miss Marsh died about 2.30 in the power house.

An inquest was opened on her body by Coroner Bond in Myers' Undertaking rooms, Yonge street, Sunday, and adjourned till Thursday next, when it will be reopened at the city morgue.

Light to Be Thrown on Injuries Which Caused Sinking of Empress and Prospect of Recovering Bodies — Collier's Chief Engineer to Be Recalled.

Quebec Press Despatch. QUEBEC, June 21.—The enquiry into the wreck of the Empress of Ireland by the Dominion Commission will be continued tomorrow morning, when it is expected that Chief Engineer Syversten of the collier Stordard, who was being examined on the entries of the log books of his department when the investigation was adjourned on Saturday, will go back into the box. An attempt will be then made in all probability by the commission to get some definite information about the various orders received in the Stordard's engine room immediately before and after the collision, as the entries in the logs were written up from the recollection of the third engineer on duty at the time, who acknowledged that he might have accidentally omitted certain facts.

NEARLY DIED IN SWIMMING TANK

Bank Clerk Had Narrow Escape at Central Y.M.C.A. — Unconscious in Eight Feet of Water.

Friends of T. C. Kennedy of 114 Bleeker street missed him after he had taken one dive in the swimming tank at the Central Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon, and it was several minutes before they finally found him lying unconscious in the eight feet of water. Kennedy was black in the face, and had every appearance of having been drowned when his friends located him in the water, but respiration was restored after two hours' first aid work on him by attending physicians. He was removed to the General Hospital, where he is not yet fully out of danger.

Kennedy, who is a Collingwood boy, and works in a branch of the Toronto Bank here, ate a heavy dinner just before taking his swim. He jumped in the tank against the wishes of his friends, who advised him to wait an hour before swimming.

Can Vets for Exclusion. "Next week," he said, "there will be introduced in the house of lords in behalf of the government a bill, which will give every county in Ulster the option of voting itself out of home rule until two general elections have taken place in this country. They need not parade, drill and threaten to shoot anybody in order to escape home rule. If they don't want it all they shall have to do is to go to the polling booths and vote themselves out of it."

With reference to the indefinite exclusion of Ulster, Chancellor Lloyd George said that that was advocated by Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, in order to defeat home rule for the rest of Ireland as well as Ulster. For that reason the government would not recognize it.

CARSON TO REJECT TERMS.

BOLTON, Eng., June 20.—Sir Edward Carson, addressing an anti-home rule meeting here tonight, said that if the amending bill simply repeated the government's offer of the optional exclusion of Ulster from home rule for six years he would have nothing to do with it.

Y. M. H. A. PLANNING CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

A Young Men's Hebrew Association, to be conducted along similar lines to the Y. M. C. A., is to be organized in Toronto. Plans to bring such into being were formulated at a meeting held in University Synagogue on Sunday afternoon, at which Rabbi Price presided.

As soon as the necessary arrangements can be made a mass meeting is to be held as the inaugural of a campaign to raise funds for the undertaking. In this connection Christians as well as Jews will be asked to subscribe.

A building is to be erected and laid out with gymnasium, etc., along similar lines to the Central Y. M. C. A. building. The Y. M. H. A. is to be an organization for athletic, social, literary, educational and spiritual uplift and will be open to all Jewish young men of Toronto.

Yes and No It is no wonder that intelligent parents lay great stress on the way they talk to their children, on the way they answer their questions, on the way the little ones receive knowledge of the world they are to live in.

It is for the mothers and fathers to determine what kind of impressions the active little brain shall receive, and upon their decision will rest very largely the healthy or unhealthy mentality of the boy or girl who will be the man or woman.

Wholesome and healthful character growth has even more wonderful possibilities, for the response to right and wrong comes long before the average mother realizes. The useless and unmeaning "yes" or "no" are an abomination.

I know a mother who admired something that way one morning, and received a big jolt of awakening when the small son said: "But, mother, look with your face!"

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT GARDEN PARTY

N. W. Rowell Addresses Guests of Women's Liberal Club on Saturday.

In point of numbers as well as in the picturesque of its place of meeting, the garden party of the Toronto Women's Liberal Club of Saturday afternoon was an undoubted success.

Woodford, the beautiful house and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. Rutter, on the Kingston road, was the rendezvous of the many invited, and whatever delay was experienced owing to lack of sufficient accommodation on the Suburban line, was amply repaid by the hospitality of the host and hostesses when the luncheon was reached.

The keynote of the sentiment of the gathering was voiced in the mottoes that hung high on the various points of vantage, "Wake Up, Ontario," and "Give Labor a Chance," being among the most conspicuous. Tea was served in a large marquee erected in the spinney and the lawn was bright with the varied colors of the ladies' attire.

Mrs. Lindsey, president of the Liberal Women's Club, was assisted by Mrs. Rutter in receiving. The principal speaker was Mr. Rowell, who had to leave early for Woodstock. The gist of the Liberal leader's speech was an appeal for the men of Ontario to come out plainly on the "abolish the bar" question.

Three times have the people of Ontario spoken in favor of temperance, was the statement of Dr. Mackenzie, yet no notice had been taken. The speaker thought that the mature will of the people should be crystallized by the government. Arthur Kirkpatrick gave a telling address on tax reform. Others who spoke were Dr. Bruce, candidate for East York; C. A. Moss, J. A. MacDonald and Joseph Oliver.

DANISH EXPEDITION TO MAKE NORTH POLE DASH

COPENHAGEN, June 20. — Ole Olson, a Danish millionaire, today undertook to finance a new north pole expedition under the command of Knud Rasmussen, the Danish Arctic explorer. The expedition probably will start for the north next summer, and will be provisioned for two years. All possible modern appliances are to be provided, and Rasmussen is to have a staff of scientists with him. He will establish his base at Cape York, Greenland.

Stops Stomach Pains

IN TWO MINUTES. The recent discovery by a leading specialist that pure bisphosphated magnesia will almost instantly relieve pains in the stomach resulting from indigestion, dyspepsia or acidity, is of the greatest importance to thousands of people suffering from various forms of stomach trouble. As is well-known, nine-tenths of all the stomach disorders are directly traceable to stomach acidity. One to two teaspoonfuls taken in a little water after meals not only neutralizes the acid and stops the pain, but quickly overcomes the cause of the trouble, soothes the inflamed lining of the stomach and in a short time will correct the cause. Be sure to ask your druggist to supply you with bisphosphated magnesia.

The Evening Primrose.

(Continued.) One of the earliest perennials to cultivate is the evening primrose. And called the evening primrose because the great yellow blossoms prefer to open their golden cups as the afternoon draws towards the dusk.

The blossom? Just try to imagine a curving, four-petaled wild-rose-like flower, three inches across, the gleaming gold of which has the texture of the finest French chiffon, velvety, many stamens, thickly pollen laden, are faintly touched with a vanishing shade of crimson. Each laughing blossom, borne proudly erect upon sturdy, thick gray-green stems (these stems also touched with shades of red) is in company with a host of fast-opening buds, red-tipped and golden-hearted.

The blossoms are faintly fragrant, with a fragrance reminiscent of the woods, where once evening primrose was wont to revel thru all the night. One of the oldest sights of the spring gardening is the young, growing plants, just above ground. Like great roses they cling close to the fresh earth, the thick gathered leaves of them, row on row, ranging from blood red in the centre to bronze green on the outermost reaches of the roset. As the plant grows, the lower stem shoots up from this roset, the red leaves changing in color to gray-green, and, as growth progresses, a fine downiness spreads over the coarse textured leaves.

From the middle of June until late in August, the evening primrose blooms, the blossoms lasting but an evening and a night each. But the host of buds, ever forming, provides a constant supply of succurs for the beautification of the garden.

Your stock may be best obtained from the sowing of seed in early spring. The second year, and forever after, care being taken, your primroses are sure to bloom.

The stock may be easily increased by root division, after the first year, each of the roots, spoken of above being a separate plant and requiring to be separated from the old plant of last year.

Some gardeners allow the rosetts to grow up untouched; but such a plan tends towards the deterioration of the yellow blossoms. Larger and more profuse bloom is assured if these rosetts are planted singly.

Evening primrose requires a certain amount of attention, cultivation frequently, and plenty of moisture to ensure perfect bloom. The nature of the plant, almost a surface rooter, will show our gardeners the necessity for plant food.

Protect the plant roots by a thick mulching during the winter.

Home Treatment for Sallow, Wrinkled Skin

A. C. F. asks: "What should I do for my sallow complexion, and how can I get rid of my wrinkles?" Sallowness is best removed by removing the skin itself. This is effectually accomplished by the use of ordinary soap, which causes the offensive outer skin gradually to peel off, in fine particles, scarcely noticeable to the naked eye. Visible complexion, the new skin exhibiting a healthy, youthful tint incomparable with artificial coloring. Get an ounce of this wax at your druggist, apply at night with your fingers, only don't rub it in. Wash it off in the morning with warm water.

For your wrinkles try a solution of powdered salicylic acid, dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Bathe your face in this morning for a while. The result will surprise you.—Beauty's Mirror.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

The Porch Furniture.

It is not so many years since you carried a chair out from the dining-room or the living-room when you wanted to read or sew on the porch and having had a breathing spell, carefully returned the seat to its place. It is only since the shops have been so filled with beautifully made porch furniture that we have seriously considered furnishing the porch just as we do the interior of the house. Now in the show windows of stores are porch rugs of matting, of fibre and of more costly materials, but a very good rug large enough for the usual sized porch space can be had for from two to five dollars. The woven rag or braided rugs are well liked for this use as water does not harm them and they are so easily cleaned.

Utility should be the keynote of everything used for this work and rest place. It is delightful to walk in fairy land, via the modern department store, and order all that you fancy, but it is more pleasant still to make over what you have so that it looks almost like new and still has the original qualities that pleased you into buying it years ago. It is really wonderful what a lovely chair can be rejuvenated from that faded old willow rocker if you use bronze paint powder to brighten it up and put in a new seat and a few thick cushions.

Then you will want a magazine stand with a lower shelf to hold a sewing basket, and a shelf above the couch is a necessity, for who wants always to be running into the house for a pencil, father's pipe or a vase for the last bunch of flowers pulled? Furnishing a porch is quite a lesson in making over things and it is downright hard to have to buy everything new. A neighbor was just telling how extravagant her new daughter-in-law was in buying so very many new things to commence housekeeping with. "Why," she said, "she has bought more this spring than I have bought in ten years." Yes, but the mother has an attic, a regular treasure house it is, for it was filled, even before her advent into the family, with sturdy old things, just a little out of date.

Furnishing any part of the house for the first time always counts up into more money than we think it will when we begin, for things must match and one thing demands another. Benjamin Franklin made this fact into a proverb

How noticeable footgear is, too, especially on the popular promenades --on the turf--on the deck. If you are seated and others are standing or walking, almost the first thing you see is the style of the shoes.

To suit the shoe to the moaes of the moment, to produce a shoe that will keep the nattiness of its first shape, to achieve a range that will meet every conceivable need--that is the study of the Queen Quality experts. That is why their offerings keep changing, and their quality never changes.

There's one thing you can be sure of. Whether it's for that frilly muslin gown, for the tailored suit, the silk dress, or the smart sporting togs you wear on the boat, Queen Quality offerings include the thing you want.

MONDAY MORNING, JUNE 22.

Welcome the Big Convention

Today opens in Toronto the Tenth Annual Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America—a monster gathering of brainy men from all over the United States and Canada. The association includes many men who have won fortune and fame within a few years' time, and whose names are household words all over the continent, and, for that matter, all over the world.

There has been wonderfully successful advertising by some firms in the old country, but the science of publicity has been developed to perhaps the highest degree of perfection on this continent. The association, which will be in session here, to and including the 25th instant, represents big business in the best sense of the word, and aims to suppress fraudulent advertising and fakes of every kind, and to make the art of advertising a real public service.

There will be many big men among the visitors; men of big capital and big brains; men with big eyes, ready and eager to invest in Canada. Let us give them a good reception. For years we have been urgently inviting the Association of the Advertising Clubs of America to come here. They have accepted our invitation and are in our midst. The World bids them welcome to Toronto, and the Queen City will extend to them a truly royal hospitality.

RIVAL TRADERS.

Mark Twain quotes Herodotus to this effect: "Very few things happen at the right time, and the rest do not happen at all; the conscientious historian will correct these defects." We had perhaps not sufficiently regarded this point of view in congratulating Hon. Adam Beck on an election by acclamation in London. The local sentiment would perhaps have maintained the decision originally made, but it was overruled by the resolution to which the leader of the opposition has come, by which every riding in Ontario is to be tested on the moral issue which he has adopted in his campaign. Mr. Beck loses a fine compliment, but he may have a finer one to replace it. There is a flavor about a substantial victory which for bouquet and mellowness surpasses any complimentary acclamation. And he has another fine compliment also to console him.

We do not think that Mr. Rowell is to be condemned for carrying out a consistent policy in his campaign, and insisting on a verdict from every constituency. No one can fairly or justly accuse him of lack of courage. And there is this to be said a week before election day, that the present is probably the cleanest election struggle ever fought in the province. Whether it be on account of the moral issue or not, a higher tone has been maintained in the campaign on both sides than is at all usual. There is an absence in the main of the resort to petty issues, and mean personalities. A few newspapers have attacked Mr. Rowell as tho he had no right to raise any election issue at all in a campaign which he did not seek but which was brought on by his opponents. This, of course, is absurd. The government was well aware of Mr. Rowell's intentions and in dissolving the legislature practically chose the issue. It is a weak argument therefore, even among adverse arguments, to denounce Mr. Rowell for doing what he said he would do, and what everyone expected him to do. At the same time to say in election time that any argument is unjust or unfair is to go considerably ahead of the period. We are still in that state of civilization where all is considered fair in love and war, and politics partakes of both these elements, love of office, and war on the other party. Just where the people come in, the people themselves are so rarely concerned to know that the parties are about justified in ignoring that issue.

What the outcome will be is going to be determined largely on local issues. We have already said that Mr. Rowell is liable to lose as many Liberal votes on the bar issue as he gains from the Conservative party. He may draw from the independent or from the usually apathetic vote on the new issue, but so also may the government candidates. We believe there is likely to be a return to the fold of many Liberals who voted, not for Whitney, in 1907, but for a change, and who voted for Whitney on his record in the subsequent election. Many of these old-time Liberals and their children deem that the nine spheres of purification thru which the party has passed are sufficient to qualify it for another chance.

Against this there stands the tremendous personal influence of Sir James Whitney, a figure unique in Ontario politics for rugged honesty, assured mastery of his party and its policy, in unflinching fulfillment of his pledges, and a progressiveness of action which makes the names of the two political parties in Ontario synonymous. The people of Ontario have done very well at Sir James' general store. The quality has been good and the quantity abundant, and he merely has to say that he will continue to do business at the old stand.

Mr. Rowell's new store has nothing against it but that it is new, and that he deals in some things which the other store does not stock. We will see how trade is going next Monday.

DIRECT LEGISLATION.

The Manitoba Liberals have a plank in their platform calling for "direct legislation" or, as it is more commonly known, the "initiative and referendum." Under the direct legislation plan of government a certain percentage of the people may by petition propose any measure to the legislature, and the legislature is then required to submit the bill for adoption by the people. It enlarges the government of the day from a mere executive to a real public sentiment upon a number of questions which both political parties may have agreed themselves to avoid.

At the Saskatchewan general elections of 1912 Premier Scott and the then leader of the opposition, Mr. Haultain, were pledged to bring about direct legislation. Mr. Scott was returned to power, but proceeded to implement his promise in a somewhat curious manner. He had a bill passed establishing the initiative and referendum, but the same was not to come into effect until ratified by a plebiscite in which a certain percentage of the electors should participate. The plebiscite was neatly held, but the total vote polled was not sufficient to bring the law into effect, and the Scott government thought itself absolved from doing anything more to carry out its promise.

The small vote cast at the plebiscite in Saskatchewan was partly due to the fact that just on the eve of the voting an opinion was handed out by the minister of justice at Ottawa, strongly suggesting that the proposed act was ultra vires. No doubt there were other causes at work, but the small vote gave support to the argument that aside from party politics there was such apathy among the people respecting public affairs, that anything like direct legislation was not feasible.

Sir R. P. Roblin long ago came out flat-footed against the initiative and referendum, which therefore becomes a party issue for the first time in Canada. The issue may not prove to be an important one at the general elections to be held on July 10th, but it may attract a certain number of voters who desire to see the people participate more directly in the government of the country thru direct legislation, direct nominations, and the "recall" of members of parliament.

But perhaps the most popular move of this kind which could now be suggested in Canada would be the recall of the senate. Many men called to the senate were always difficulties quickly recalled if there was any way in which that could be accomplished by a vote of the people.

NAON OF ARGENTINA IS CONFIDENT OF OUTCOME

Special to The Toronto World.

SUFFALO, N. Y., June 20.—"I was never more confident than I am today of the ultimate success of mediation," said Dr. Romulo S. Naon, minister from Argentina, when he arrived here at 12:30 o'clock, after conferences in Washington with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

"I am confident," he added, "and optimistic, which I have always been; for while I regard the difficulties which have been encountered as serious, there are always difficulties in mediation, and it is the duty of mediators always to find a way to overcome them; so peace may be accomplished."

SOCIALISM IS NOT OPPOSED TO RELIGION

More than 3000 citizens listened to a spirited reply to the charge that socialism was opposed to religion, when the Rev. E. Carr showed that socialism was not opposed to religion, home, family, or private property, while capitalism was opposed to them. Controller Simpson, who presided, handled his subject in a pleasing order, but the masterly replies made by the speaker to all questions, or disturbances, as well as his genial manner of handling his subject, rendered the meeting the largest and most successful socialist assembly ever held in the city.

The audience were mistaken in thinking that the Rev. J. Bennett Anderson was a Catholic priest, and when he attempted to speak from the floor of the hall, pandemonium reigned. He succeeded in getting in his question, and Dr. Carr, translating the meaning of Mr. Anderson's words, said: "An atheist who works for the ideas of socialism is more of a Christian than a bishop who works against them."

On the platform were the five Social Democratic candidates from Toronto constituencies.

1. Laird v. Restorick.
2. Re Pagan v. Southerne.
3. Burko v. Silverstein.
4. Re Harris-Lofius v. Harris.
5. Re Kinnebrook v. Canada.
6. Smith v. Chatham.

Master's Chambers.

Before J. A. C. Cameron, Master.
Hallman Pur Co. v. Dominion Express Co.—J. D. Spence for defendant, John H. H. Rose, K.C., for defendant, John Hallman, Limited; J. G. Smith for plaintiff. Motion by defendant for particulars of claim. Judgment: Where defendant knows the facts and plaintiff does not, defendant should give discovery before plaintiff deliver particulars. Therefore order for defendant to give discovery, to be postponed until six days after receiving of defendant's discovery; defendant to be delivered within ten days after particulars are given. Costs in cause.

Murphy v. Smith—Cinnear (Rohan & Co.) for defendant, obtained order on defendant for discovery without costs and vacating its pendens.

Murphy v. Luminon Steel-Castings Co.—Elliot (Robbette & Co.) for defendant, obtained order on defendant for discovery without costs.

Cochrane v. Spencer—Burden (Cochrane & Shaver) obtained order for substitutional service of writ of summons.

Husband v. Bacon—Fergie (Gregory & Gregory) obtained order on defendant for discovery without costs.

Proper v. Dingman—Bovaldin (Johnston & Co.) for defendant, obtained order for discovery without costs of action and motion for default in complying with order for security for costs.

Cronin v. Dickson—Bethune (Aylsworth & Shaver) for plaintiff, obtained order for discovery without costs.

Trial.

Wirtz v. Vick—W. T. J. Lee for plaintiff, J. H. Clary (Subury) for defendant. People's Society for Judgment declaring that they are entitled to $131.50 in the Bank of Toronto at Copper Cliff, that they are the owners of Finlander's Hall, and entitled to possession of same, and for $2000 damages for alleged wrongful and illegal taking and retaining possession of same, had the judgment in the line of true succession Vick the elected president and treasurer of the association, and the defendant, who should be dispossessed by disidents from the principles of the Young People's Society for Judgment, had the money held in the name of the defendant, who should be paid to him in preference to the claim of the plaintiff to control it; he giving security for costs.

The plaintiffs have no claim for damages for loss of exclusive possession as against the defendant. The counter claim for damages made by the defendant against the plaintiffs cannot be maintained on the present record, nor do I encourage such claim to be made tho I do not foreclose that claim as the suit is now constituted.

The socialistic party were at first in possession under the authority of the county judge till his judgment was reversed, and during that time I do not know nor has it been proved who were then the ostensible legal possessors and occupiers of the hall. The body of officers is changed every six months; those on the record were the ones elected in December, 1913, the month in which the defendant obtained possession. Who were the officers in the interval is not in evidence, and I do not know that they are the parties before me. My dismissal of the case with costs will be without prejudice to this claim for damages. If further litigation is sought, I stated my general view of the situation at the trial. I adopt what I then said and make it part of my definitive judgment.

Before Falconbridge, C. J.

Tancock v. Toronto General Trusts Corporation—R. Logan (Sarnia) for plaintiff; A. Weil (Sarnia) for defendant. Action by Catherine Tancock, married woman, against defendant, executor of estate of James Irvin Carter, salt manufacturer of Sarnia, to recover $2144 for nursing, cooking, washing, attendance, caring for room, and for damages for breach of contract to pay her for same. Judgment: I find that there is some corroboration of portions of plaintiff's claim, to-wit: $100 for nursing, nothing for baking and nourishment, extra washing $10.50, taking letters to hospital $10, care of room $52, and by way of damages, $150 a total of $302. Judgment for plaintiff for $302, with costs on county court scale. No set-off of costs by defendant. Defendants on passing the accounts to have costs as between solicitor and client out of estate. Thirty days' stay.

American Geologist Has Faith in Nova Scotia Gold Mines.

(Special Correspondence.)

HALIFAX, N.S., June 20.—Faith in the Nova Scotia gold fields is expressed by the Hon. C. Vey Holman, ex-estate geologist of Maine, and member of the International Geographical Congress, who is a mining legal expert at the University of Boston, and the Maine Law School. The fact that Mr. Holman is owner and operator of mines in Alaska, Pennsylvania and Maine and has exploited the Cariboo districts in Halifax County, lends weight to his optimistic faith in gold mining in Nova Scotia.

In expressing his opinion, the expert said: "From my personal experience in the mines in the Cariboo district, the regularity of the veins of gold is remarkably consistent and from any given point the altitude and relationship to one another at any point not yet reached in the workings, can be predicted with almost scientific accuracy. A close study of the gold mining conditions in this province, under the conviction that this natural endowment is nothing less than marvelous. There are thousands of square miles of gold-bearing rocks almost entirely unprotected and developed. The soil is of the highest grade in the world and has a deep seated origin in ancient formations (the pre-Cambrian) which is capable of easy and safe development. The gold areas are well defined, and by a careful study of conditions can be accurately located. The persistent idea that Nova Scotia gold mines are unreliable in the distribution of their auriferous tenor is due to careless prospecting outside of these gold zones. The severe mining regulations tend to discourage the development of the mines by outside capitalists. Furthermore, little interest is shown in such veins of gold which, as to value, extent, permanence and persistence to great depths, are unsurpassed and offer a highly attractive field of investment to the capitalist.

BLUE SHIRTS FELL BEFORE TECUMSEHS

Indians Did Trick in Overtime - A Snappy, Rough Game Resulted.

It took the Tecumsehs five minutes overtime to beat the Toronto at the island on Saturday by the score of 10 to 2, but the Indians were lucky to do so. The game should have gone to the Indians by all rights, but it should never have been extended so much that the climax should have been reached in overtime. The way the red shirts started they should have won away off, but their carelessness in allowing the blue shirt home to break away soon made the teams even again. Then, when they finally secured the lead again, they should have gone out and tried to increase it instead of trying to play rag. This failure in judgment almost cost them the game, and it would have practically been all that was coming to them.

ROSEDALE JUST BEAT SHAMROCKS

Montreal Team Came Strong in Last Quarter, But Queen City Team Stayed.

MONTREAL, June 21.—The Rosedale of Toronto defeated the Shamrocks yesterday afternoon on the local grounds by 8 goals to 7. It was the inauguration of the season in this city of the National Lacrosse Union, but the crowd of spectators was small. The game was intense at times. It was clean, only two penalties were imposed, and these for minor infractions of the rules. The game was tied three times in the early stages, but near the close of the second quarter the Queen City players set a pace with four goals in nine minutes. The Shamrocks lost the game in the third quarter by erratic passing and shooting.

GEO. S. LYON WINS LOCAL GOLF TITLE

Toronto Takes Team Match and C. S. Lennox the Handicap Prize.

George S. Lyon, many times Canadian amateur golf champion of Canada, added another title to his list on Saturday at the Rosedale Golf Club when he captured the first championship of the Toronto and District Golf Association. The veteran was in fine form, and despite his many years at the game is still going at a fast clip. This gives both the professional and amateur titles to Lyon, who has won the pro. title on Friday. F. R. Barrett of Toronto gave the winner a hard run, as he was only one stroke behind. The team match was won by the Rosedale club with a net score of 142. Seymour Lyon of Lambton, H. M. Lyon tied with him, but as no contestant could take more than one prize it was not necessary to play it off.

TEN STARTERS IN HAMILTON DERBY

About That Number Expected to Go Next Thursday, Which is Opening Day.

HAMILTON, June 21.—The spring meeting of the Hamilton Jockey Club opens next Thursday with the Hamilton Derby as the feature. Notwithstanding the absence of Old Rosebud and Pennant, who unfortunately have gone amiss, the race promises to attract much attention, as it will again bring together Waterbas and Luke McLucke, and with the fast track at Hamilton they will be able to show their true forms. Black Broom, from the stable of H. P. Whitney, too, should run a better race than he did in the Dorval Derby, as the track will be more to his liking.

GOOD SCORING AT MIMICO TERRY APPROACHES CENTURY

St. Albans visited Mimico Asylum on Saturday afternoon and played to a draw. The home team batted first and ran up the good score of 182, to which Rutan and Terry with 25 and 29, not out, were the chief contributors. Terry batted in something approaching his old form and towards the end of his innings hit the Saints' bowling all over the lot with Walton for the last wicket, putting on 35 runs. His partnership with Rutan for the second wicket took the score from 2 to 63. St. Albans quickly collared the Asylum bowling and in an hour and 10 minutes piled up 134 for the loss of three wickets. Greene and J. Colbourne put on 50 for the third wicket, the former's 48 being a fine display of scoring all round the wicket, his cutting being especially noticeable. Colbourne's 45, not out, was also a good all round scoring exhibition, and was the best he has played for some time. Score: Mimico Asylum, 182; St. Albans, 134.

How "Shocking" Works; The Cost of Impudence By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

MRS. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman says we've got to be shocking. Absolutely shocking—we women—or we'll never get anywhere in the world. I don't know exactly where it is that Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman thinks we want to go—but anyhow, we needn't think we'll ever get there—unless we shock people.

"Excuse on your families," says Mrs. Gilman. "Do something you have refrained from doing because it would shock their conventions."

"Go home from this meeting—and shock your sister. Get up in the morning—and shock your brother. In the afternoon—shock your mother and your grandmother. It will give you courage; it will make for character; it will make for distinction—check the conventions—if you want to arrive anywhere."

Dear me, isn't it interesting? And so easy, too; why, anybody can do it. Why, I begin to feel freer already—just to think of it.

There's cousin-in-law. Cousin-in-law is a queer little man who has never really quite grown up. He likes to fish and to tell fish stories, and he thinks it is a terrible thing for a man to have to work.

When Shall I Shock?

It's near the opening of the fishing season—that's the idea. I'll break up cousin-in-law's special fishing rod that he bought with the money his wife gave him—I'll break it into pieces no bigger than a minute.

How shocked dear cousin-in-law will be.

Here he comes now—what big hands he has! They tell me that down in his part of the country when a woman is unreasonable—somebody slaps her.

What if cousin-in-law should think me not only shocking—but unreasonable?

No, I won't shock cousin-in-law.

Grandma—she's the one—she's so mild and good. It won't do the least bit of harm to shock her.

Let's see—I know—I'll ravel out her knitting—just like that. And I'll laugh while I'm doing it.

Grandma does love her knitting; she keeps count of just how many stitches she must take in a week. Won't it be fun to show her that I don't care a darn raveling about those stitches, or the one who did them? Grandma is the ideal.

What if grandma is doing this week? Making strawberry preserves. She cooks them by the sun, doesn't she? Anyhow, they're perfectly delicious. What if she should shock me—by not giving me any of the preserves. I think I won't risk it—not at this season.

Grandma shall go unshocked, for all of me.

It's an awful nuisance—finding the right person to "shock." I wonder how Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman manages?

Everybody seems to be so tied up some way—everybody that I know.

Either I owe them something in some way, or they owe me something in some way, and if I shock them such strange things might happen.

My life seems to be so complicated.

Doubtless Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Stetson Gilman leads the simple life; what must be it.

It's an Old Idea.

It isn't quite a new idea, this tad for shocking people, is it? I had it when I was about 15, didn't you?

It seems to me that most young persons do have it. They love to be thought wild and free, and reckless and daring—poor things! But somehow, the people they tried to shock always laughed—and that is so discouraging.

Still, there must be something in Mrs. Stetson-Gilman's idea—or she wouldn't have it.

The great thing about all these ideas is to be perfectly serious. A sense of humor is fatal.

I have a serious aunt. She thinks the world is a vale of tears, and, Oh, how she do cheat you at the grocers! She'd be a lovely one to shock.

She'd never think of smiling—she never does.

I'll tell her I don't believe in the book of Job. I hope it won't be pathetic to see how shocked she is.

I met a woman who used to have a lovely time shocking people, when she was a girl.

It's a long time since that woman was a girl. She doesn't try to shock people now—she does it without trying.

Poor soul, I suppose it got to be a habit.

She looks as if she wishes she were dead—I wonder if the people who loved her when they tried to keep her from shocking them years ago do not wish so, too?

The Good Night Story

The Height of Wisdom :: By VERNON MERRY

THERE was once a good-hearted farmer who loved to laugh; his one fault was that he delighted in playing practical jokes. He made other people very uncomfortable, but Farmer John seemed never to mind that at all. He wasn't the one that was made uncomfortable. He enjoyed his own jokes and laughed hard at them. He thought himself very clever.

One day his friend William decided to get even with Farmer John for all the uncomfortable jokes he had played on him. So William set out for a pretty road near where he knew Farmer John would pass on his way to market. In his hand William carried a large sack and a piece of rope.

When William arrived at the road he instructed the hired man he had brought with him just what he wanted him to do. In a short time William was bound hand and foot inside the bag, and the bag was drawn up to the top of a tree. Then the hired man ran away and hid himself, for he saw Farmer John approaching.

As soon as Farmer John came under the tree he looked up and saw the bag banging there. William, who could see him through a tiny hole, called out: "How may your days be in the land?"

"Who are you and what are you doing?" gasped Farmer John.

"I have found the way to wisdom," William answered. "How would you like to learn?"

"Fine," replied Farmer John. "I'm clever, but I want to be wise."

"All right," said William, "but I can let you take my place only for one hour. For the rope tied to the tree and let me down."

Farmer John did as William asked and when he was untied from the ropes and while William made him very anxious to take his place by telling William to the him up in the bag and hold him up to the top of the tree.

When William had him safely up there he cried out: "Now stay there for a while. Don't you already feel something of wisdom that comes from experience? You think you are clever with your practical jokes, but you aren't. Stay there until you really are clever—and that'll be a long while."

The William went away and left Farmer John to think upon the seriousness of practical jokes that hurt other people.

DAY DREAMS

By Michelson

YOU have them whether you sit before a typewriter, an engine, a cash window or a kitchen. While all the tasks and obligations of your accountable. You never know how they drift together day melt utterly away. The songs of through you. You perhaps don't realize they have been and robin and lark slant through the soft murmur of breezes that are never harsh, and that don't interrupt even the lowest whisper of words.

Generally they move with a miraculous smoothness. Just now they are likely to be green dreams, faintly NOT. The best things in life are dreamed sweet with the perfume of wonderful sylvan life.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 102 The Dust Hunter.

ALL of which brings me to some very definite thoughts on housekeeping. A woman who thinks and dreams dust is as great a bore as a nagging wife. She is a nagging wife, for she hunts a man to death with her views on order.

Many a man has been driven forth to his club by a frantic housekeeper. The husband of a real dust hunter may never expect to bring his friends home to dinner. Not but what the house will be spotless—it assuredly will—but the man who is the dust hunter will be so disarranged and upset by his unmethodical conduct that he'll never repeat the experiment. For the genuine dust hunter has a sense of humor. She couldn't have any sense of humor.

And she wouldn't have any sense of humor. She couldn't have any sense of humor. She couldn't have any sense of humor.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Your Skin Sunburns; What Tanned Faces Show

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG

A. B. M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

THE light that through yonder window breaks from the east will tan many a fair Juliet's cheek this summer. The pretty cheeks, which hold pretty dimples and Cupid's bows—hollows made by health and love—are buried in a sea of tan.

The spots of certain summer animals and creatures of the tropics are due both remotely to ancestry and directly to the effects of the sun. Pigmentation is the name given to this condition in mankind. It is a papery black deposit in the skin due to the invisible rays of the sun. These rays burn the hemoglobin, or red blood stuff, out of the tissue units and deposit them in the upper layers of the skin.

Ethiopians, Moors, Indians, Cubans and inhabitants of the tropics have this pigmentation to an extensive degree. Yet a man or girl who spends July, August and September in the glorious outdoors returns in the autumn with this great, dark badge of summer. He or she is indistinguishable from a Japanese or other big brown man.

The fetish of the sun bath is wooed, nourished and worshipped justly in some instances—justly in others. That is to say, the sun is essentially a boon and yet at times a hindrance to health. Nobly infants, the aged and the debilitated when it causes "insolation" or sunstroke.

Have you observed the silhouette of tan upon a swimmer or a bather? If you are one of those who wore a peek-a-boo waist you may have noted last summer the trace of tan in beautiful outlines of lace upon your bosom.

If you did not burn and then tan, you were ill, or, physically speaking, below par. If you tan after a few weeks in the burning summer sun it is the high sign of health. If you remain pale and unshaded by the season's rays, you must, therefore, look to your health.

The Arab tanned by tropical sun, the gaily slave browned beside his car, the nomad with sandal toes by toilsome travel and face tawny from the scorching sun, are all examples of the vitality that is theirs.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

WHY is it, when the old-fashioned biscuit is so delicious for shortcakes, and every one seems to prefer it, that the average restaurant with a meat, tastes like abomination to a biscuit? The genuine biscuit shortcake is simply made, and the very amateur needs have no fear in attempting it.

Here is a recipe given me by a southern cook whose biscuits have delighted the palate of many great men and famous women: "It's as easy made, honey," said she, "as rollin' off a log—only you got to be light-handed. Heavy-handed folks ain't got no business messin' round coekin' nohow."

Take two cups of flour, into which have been sifted four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt. Work into it with the full of milk, and mix with a knife.

Tom on a floured board and roll to thickness. Bake in individual cakes as biscuit or in jelly cake tins and split.

Shortcake is so called to bread that it may not be amiss to give a recipe for corn bread, as this same good old cook gives it:

One cup cornmeal, one cup flour, one-quarter cup sugar, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a teaspoonful of salt.

Beat thoroughly, then add a well-beaten egg, a cup of milk and two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. Bake in a shallow pan for 20 minutes, or until thoroughly baked.

If they are a success they will literally pop over the edge of the pan and be crispy, and as the old cook said, "Hens to melt in your mouth."

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am corresponding with a young man, and have been for a few months, and he wishes to come to see me this summer. I am undecided about telling him to come, for I have never met him. What shall I do about it? Let him come or not?

UNDECIDED.

Why don't you want him to come to see you? Are you afraid he won't like you, or do you fear that you won't like him?

What is it you want for a friend, a dream or a reality? Ask him to come, tell him you'll be delighted to see him, and then have him come straight to your home.

Put on your prettiest frock, do your hair your prettiest way, smile your sweetest, and get in and get acquainted with the real man who will want to know the real you as you really are.

Letters tell so little, so very little. A man may write the most charming letter in the world and be at heart a selfish brute. He may write a tiresome, conventional letter and turn out to be when you know him—a man of real character and great charm of personality.

Don't worry if you're not pretty. If he likes you he'll think you're pretty.

Write and tell him you're waiting for him and want him to come, and when he comes you'll know more about whether you'll like him or not in the first five minutes you're with him than you would through a year's correspondence.

I hope he'll get there in June when the roses are all above. And I hope you'll look like the sweetest rose of all—to him.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

ROAD COMMISSION BADLY CRITICIZED

County Finance Committee is Dissatisfied With Results.

REPORT HOTLY RESENTED

Geo. S. Henry Claims That Lack of Money is the Trouble.

The report of the finance committee to the county council on Saturday last was subjected to a severe criticism by members of the highway commission who were present.

Altho the report recommended $13,000 for road maintenance, the committee added that the large expenditure was unwarranted and that the condition of the highways did not show results in keeping with the expenditure.

W. H. Pugsley was very bitter in his denunciation of the report, and said that it showed that the finance committee had not paid very much attention to the matter. It inferred that the money had not been used for the maintenance of the roads but had been misappropriated by the members of the commission.

If they did not want to grant the money for the roads let them strike it out but their action in adding their opinion seemed to him to be uncalled-for and very unfair.

Reeve Wallace of Woodbridge did not complain so much of the amount of the expenditure as of the delay in oiling the roads earlier in the season. All the roads in the county had been attended to but the village which he represented, and considered he had a bond which is being formed in connection with the club. Everyone interested is requested to be present.

WARD SEVEN NEWS Court Toronto Junction, No. 166, held their annual church parade to service yesterday morning at the Runnymede Baptist Church, St. John's road. Rev. Mr. Roadhouse conducted the service. The parade was headed by the Salvation Army Band, and in spite of the rain was largely attended.

A parade of the Loyal Orange Association, which Humber Bay Lodge No. 920; Sir Edward Carson Lodge, Mimico, No. 2515; Century Lodge, New Toronto, No. 323, and the county and district officers, took part in the parade yesterday to the English Church at Mimico. Meeting at stop 14 on the Lake Shore road, the members paraded by way of Superior avenue, Southampton street, Station road, to the church, where the service was conducted by the Rev. H. O. Tremaine.

CULTURE OF CELERY IS NOT GIVEN ATTENTION IT DESERVES

As Both a Market and Home Garden Crop, It is One of the Most Important — It is Also One of the Most Profitable of the Fall Crops.

With the coming of June and the approach of July the celery crop looms up strongly as a factor in the summer successive planting. As both a market and home garden crop celery is one of the most important but with its importance too little attention is paid to its production. Celery culture becomes apart of all private and commercial plantings but it neither becomes as prominent a part nor as serves. Too much attention cannot be given celery culture.

Celery is by far the most profitable of the fall crop, owing to its close approach of July the celery crop looms up strongly as a factor in the summer successive planting. As both a market and home garden crop celery is one of the most important but with its importance too little attention is paid to its production. Celery culture becomes apart of all private and commercial plantings but it neither becomes as prominent a part nor as serves. Too much attention cannot be given celery culture.

When to Plant Celery and for what purpose. Celery is a biennial plant and the main crop should be planted late in June or early July. Of recent years the seed has generally been late in the market. The best celery is grown on the higher areas. The soil does not count for as much as its available fertility content, its physical condition, its drainage and its capacity to hold water. A deep, friable, well worked loam or a peaty loam is the best for the crop but does not permit the competition of the soil to stand in the way of celery culture. Use the soil at hand, but be sure to plant in the best soil available.

with moistened burlap from the time they are dug until planted in the permanent situation. Owing to the importance of having the plants in a straight row to facilitate cultivation, the plants should be set to a line rather than along marker rows. Do not double up the roots in planting, but allow each tap root to extend beyond the surface soil. If planted too deep, the rains will wash the earth over the roots and the plants will be smothered. Firm the plants well and as the planting progresses keep the feet close to the plants already set further from the soil. Then after each row is planted return over it and tread the soil well between the plants in the row.

The distance apart for setting the plants depends largely upon the richness of the soil. The richer the soil the more closely the plants should be set. Six inches apart in the row is none too close on the best soil, and from that to ten or even twelve inches apart on the less fertile soils. As to the distance between the rows, much depends upon the method of blanching and the time of planting. If the plants are to be blanching with earth and the planting is done early, three with a half to four feet should be allowed between the rows. The main crop, especially if boards are used for blanching, should be set at a distance of two feet between rows is enough space.

Celery Soil and Preparation. Celery demands not only a very fertile soil, but one fully supplied with humus, decomposing vegetable matter. The land must also be well drained. The largest yields of celery are produced on reclaimed swampy lands that are well drained and well watered. The best celery is grown on the higher areas. The soil does not count for as much as its available fertility content, its physical condition, its drainage and its capacity to hold water.

Hens of two people said they received 40c per lb. Hyster remained steady in price, while eggs, which have been a little scarce, advanced, some selling at 17c to 20c per dozen, the bulk going at 20c.

The latter is shorter, thicker, and is used for eating. The self-blanching variety is the most popular variety for late summer and fall use and the one that generally gives the best results. QUACK GRASS IS EASILY ERADICATED

Professor Zavitz Gives Some Useful Advice to Control Sow Thistle.

This method is suggested by Professor Zavitz, who found it effective in the eradication of quack grass. Cultivate the field until about the middle of June, running over it frequently with the cultivator so as to keep the top down and thus weaken the "roots." Then apply manure at the rate of about 20 tons per acre (12 good loads). Cultivate the manure in thoroughly and with a double mould board plow slightly ridge up the land, making the ridges about 26 inches apart. On the ridges sow pasture rape at the rate of 1 1/2 lbs. per acre. It is important that the right amount of rape should be sown, for if too little is sown the stand will not be thick enough to smother the weeds, and if on the other hand too much is sown the plants will be crowded and not grow vigorously enough to keep ahead of the thistle. Sow the rape when the land is sufficiently moist to insure quick germination of the seed. If the rape is slow in starting the sow thistle may get a start in the rows and thus necessitate hand cultivation there. Cultivate the rape every week or ten days until it occupies all the ground and makes further cultivation impossible. If when the rape is cut or pastured, any sow thistle remains, the field should be ridged up the last thing in the fall and put in with a head crop the following year. This should not be necessary, if a good stand of rape is secured.

CURRENT SAWFLY IS DESTRUCTIVE

Pest is Easily Controlled by Spraying Well with Arsenicals.

The most common and destructive insect attacking both currants and gooseberries in Ontario is the imported currant worm, or as it is commonly called, the currant sawfly. The larvae are greenish caterpillars about three quarters of an inch long when fully grown and with black heads and many spots over the body. The adults are four winged insects known as sawflies. The female is about the size of the house fly and has a black head and a conspicuous honey colored body. The male is smaller and blackish. Adults appear soon after the larvae come out and lay eggs in chains along the veins of the underside of the leaves. These soon hatch and the young larvae feed on the foliage often being most numerous in the central parts of the plants, and doing much damage there before attacking the outer leaves. The foliage in many a plantation is almost entirely destroyed only the main veins and the fruit being left. There are two broods in a year, the larvae of the second appearing about the time the currants are ripening. When the larvae are full grown they enter the ground and make earthen cocoons. The winter is spent in them.

Fortunately this pest is easily controlled by spraying with arsenical. The first application should be with two pounds of arsenate of lead to 40 gallons of dilute lime, sulphur or Bordeaux Mixture, applied just before the larvae enter the ground and make earthen cocoons. The winter is spent in them.

NATIONAL DAIRY SHOW

The executive of the National Dairy Show held annually in Chicago have decided upon October 23, to October 31 as the period in which they will hold their show in 1914. It is the purpose to make this show the annual round up of the dairy industry, and shown in the various circuits of the country and have judges of national and international reputation pass upon them.

In previous years Canadian breeders have exhibited at this show with considerable success, and it is not too early now for Canadians to begin to fit their herds for exhibition at this annual event.

week comprised 28,000 quarters of frozen and chilled beef, 11,000 carcasses of frozen mutton, and 6,000 of lamb. The respective totals for the season are 48,000 quarters, 88,000 and 43,000 carcasses.

It is to be feared that the very high prices ruling for small sheep will cause an undue emphasis on the forward lambing, thus further depleting stocks. High prices generally seem to have this effect on our sheep farmers. Instead of encouraging them to breed and rear, they tempt them to sell, in order, as they say, to "make hay while the sun shines." They have not forgotten that only a few seasons back sheep were so cheap that there was no profit in them. As a class, Canadian farmers do not study statistics.

TO VISIT AUSTRALIA. President G. C. Creelman, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, is to be one of a party of 15 from Canada and the United States to visit Australia and New Zealand during the coming season. Dr. Creelman goes upon the invitation of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, which is to meet in Australia early in September. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Creelman.

NOVA SCOTIA KINGS ARE DISAPPOINTING

South African Dealers Report on Quality of Canadian Fruit.

Reporting from South Africa to the department of trade and commerce, Trade Commissioner W. J. Egan, stationed at Cape Town, writes as follows in regard to Canadian apples shipped to that market last fall. Opinion among the various dealers varies in regard to the quality of apples received in South Africa last year. Durban dealers report grading and packing of Nova Scotia apples to be well right in every particular. They complain, however, that Nova Scotia Kings and Wagners on the whole were a great disappointment, as they were poor in color and in keeping qualities. The Ontario fruit, such as Ben Davis, Kings, Russets, and Spys, left nothing to be desired.

Port Elizabeth dealers were well satisfied with consignments to them, but state that they did not receive all that had been ordered for, one dealer claiming that, he booked space early in May, he failed to secure accommodation for his second shipment. The apples, which arrived at Cape Town, were in very good condition, but were not graded in all cases as they should have been for export. The difference in grading of the apples received in Cape Town and other ports must be attributed to the fact that almost all the apples shipped to that port are purchased by local dealers who visit Canada annually, while the fruit to other parts is consigned by Canadian producers or dealers.

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

Saturday was a busy market—the great masses of pink white and red peonies easily overwhelming the other flowers, and selling at 50c per dozen. A reduction of 50c per dozen in their price a week ago. The green peonies predominated in the gardeners' and florists' houses and were selling at 25c per dozen, which was quite low for the season. The other flowers were charging for them. A. Davis, Mount Dennis, had a wagon load; Wm. Fox, Hamilton, had a fine lot; J. H. G. (city), and Montague Wade, Irvington, had six bushels of Bimmers First of All, which was a splendid variety. Lettuce, radishes, onions, summer savory, sage, spinach, beets and carrots were also plentiful. Min is dearer this year than for some time past, as it was affected by the severe winter. The back section was well supplied with good cuts of meat of various description, varying in price according to the cuts; the pork being especially good quality and from 10c to 2c per lb. cheaper. The meat section was well supplied with butter and eggs. Spring chickens and spring ducks were more plentiful.

MEAT TRADE NOTES.

Since 1901 the number of cattle in Australia has increased by over 3,000,000, and now number 11,500,000. Up to the end of April Argentina this year had shipped to the United States 128,557 dry ox hides, 51,514 salt ox hides, and 2000 horse hides.

Nearly 5000 tons of Australian meat recently arrived at Boston on the British steamer Banffshire. This was the first direct shipment of frozen meat to arrive there from down under. Beef, mutton, lamb and veal were included in the shipment, the larger portion of which went to New York.

The Revelation of Power

IN the old Olympian days only the gods had the power to harness the lightning and the floods. To-day the wonderful natural forces of earth, air, fire and water are so much at man's command that he takes them as a matter of course and forgets to marvel.

But think of the wonder of it! Your whisper is heard a hundred miles away—because the lightning's power is trained to run along a wire! You are lifted swiftly a hundred feet into the air—on a column of water that supports an elevator! These things would have been incredible even to Olympians. And yet there are scores of instances like these that you can name, of power under perfect control, and you can see them brought together, all working in perfect harmony for your service in one place—the SIMPSON STORE.

The difference between the old-time general Store and the Simpson Store has been brought about largely by competition and the modern spirit of publicity, that makes such a place as

The Simpson Store Virtually A Public Utility

In this public spirit we welcome the publicity specialists who are in convention here. No matter where they come from, here is a store that will stand comparison with the best they know. Having done our best to deserve approval, we will be glad of their criticism as a help to still greater accomplishment in the future.

Some points about the Simpson Store: the Hub of Toronto, Pure Air, Lunch room with Orchestra, Rest Room and Private Hospital, Lending Library, Parcel Check Office, Telegraph Office, Fifty Telephone Trunk Lines, 16 Plunger Elevators, Perfected Delivery System, One-Day-Service to Mail Order Customers.

TORONTO GAVE ROYAL WELCOME TO VISITING DELEGATES

THOSE BIG HATS YOU SEE BELONG TO EL PASO MEN WHO ALL ARE LIVE WIRES

Their Costumes Already Have Made a Hit, and They Intend to Pull Off Some Novel Stunts During Convention—Look Out For Them.

El Paso is in Toronto with bells, having a boost for the Pass City, which a 100-foot sign in the lobby of the Prince George Hotel, tells Toronto folk not to pass in 1915 when they go to San Francisco for the big Panama-Pacific Fair.

Traveling more than 3,000 miles from the Mexican border, the El Pasoans arrived Saturday night as a part of the Dallas-El Paso special train. The special was met at the Union Station by the Toronto Reception Committee and marched to the streets to their hotel headquarters, where yells and Mexican vivas were given for the City of Toronto, the Toronto Ad Club and the Toronto World, which has been conducting the El Paso burro contest.

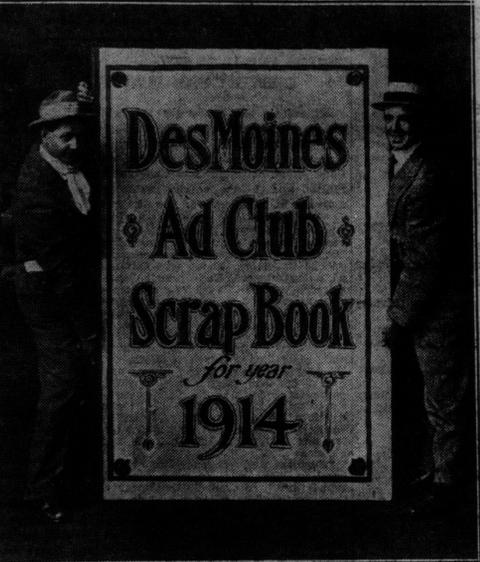

El Pasoans are to be seen on all of the streets, and the known blocks away by the big, Mexican straw hats which they wear with the name "El Paso" on the front. These hats were a part of the consignment which was bought by Yip's army for use in the Zootecan campaign against the Herta Federals. Mexican canes made by the Villa rebels were also purchased in Juarez, and the miniature hats and tags were made by little Mexican girls, who work in the above houses on the Mexican side.

El Pasoans came to Toronto with a trunk full of money. They brought $15,000,000 in currency, good on the banks of the Rio Grande, and they will be spending it liberally whenever presented for payment. These bills are being distributed to all of the delegates, to the crowds on the streets and in the restaurants. Booklets describing the El Grande valleys and El Paso are also being distributed by the delegates to all of the delegates to the clubs and to the business men of Toronto. This booklet was issued especially for the Toronto trip and contains more than 1,000 views of the southwest, including two color plates of the City of El Paso and the great $10,000,000 Elephant Butte Dam.

Some El Pasoans also have typical revolutionary uniforms of the Mexican army, including high felt hats with the Mexican coat of arms on the front, decorated in Mexican silver points, cartridge belts filled with Mauser cartridges and Mauser rifles. These costumes will be worn at various times during the convention, and will be used for the official photograph to be taken at the convention grounds. The El Paso delegation was the only one coming to the convention with a daily newspaper on board a special train. This was a miniature edition of the El Paso Herald, and was issued on a miniature train in a state-room of the train. A Toronto edition of the paper, as issued just before the train arrived, and daily editions are being issued in the El Paso headquarters announcing all meetings, parades and the program for the day.

Boasting Carlock. M. P. Carlock, secretary of the El Paso Ad Club, is being urged as a candidate for a position on the National Board of the Advertising Clubs of America. Carlock accomplished one of the most remarkable organizations of the El Paso Ad Club that have been done in the history of the ad club movement in America. He came to El Paso eight months ago as a total stranger, organized the ad club with 500 members, drove all fake advertising schemes out of the city and has spread the gospel of truth thru the southwest.

THIS IS SOME SCRAP BOOK

The Des Moines Admen's Club has a huge scrap book which it has been exhibiting in the lobby of the Walker House since the arrival of the Iowa special train Sunday morning. The book is seven feet high and is filled with publicity material concerning the club. It will be taken to the Exhibition grounds this morning.

One of the club members holding the book in this picture is the staff photographer for the trip, Guy Woods. He will take two hundred pictures. They will be converted into lantern slides and shown before the Iowa clubs next autumn.

"SCRIBES" ARE HERE FROM SHREVEPORT

Merry Little Party From Louisiana State Came in Special Car.

A delegation of sixteen to the Associated Advertising Clubs of America Convention, which convenes here this week, from Shreveport, La., a town of 40,000 inhabitants, arrived in Toronto in their special car at noon yesterday. The expenses of the delegation have been provided from the funds derived from special editions of their local papers, containing news of the convention. The members of the delegation will be recognized by a special badge they are wearing. The badge shows an oil well, and a bale of cotton, which represents two big industries of their community. During the remainder of the week the ladies attending the convention will be presented with magnolia blossoms brought to the city by the "scribes."

THE VALUE OF THE TORONTO CONVENTION FROM THE ADVERTISING AGENT'S STANDPOINT

(By William H. Johns, Vice-President George Batten Company, New York.) It is not such a very long time since the word "agency" meant a place where insurance is bought and sold or where a beetle-crushing slush could be employed to guard the presents at a ceremonial wedding. The man who said that he was an advertising agent sometimes had to explain that he was not in the business to rack up signs with a magnetized hammer.

Advertising conventions have helped the advertising agent by exploding each year, in different parts of America, bombs of intelligence that have blown aside a great deal of the ignorance that surrounded the usefulness of the advertising agent and the importance of his relations to advertising.

It was the advertising agent who first realized that while goods of different character might have manufacturing problems that were not at all similar yet the marketing problems of these same goods might be very closely related.

ANTI-VICE CAMPAIGN HITS RICH CHICAGOAN. CHICAGO, June 21.—Warrants for the arrest of more than a score of wealthy owners of property housing summer resorts will be asked this week, vice crusaders announced tonight, following the conviction of Washington Porter, millionaire real estate owner and club man.

ITALIANS WERE ROBBED BY QUEER CONSPIRACY. WATERBURY, Conn., June 21.—Michele Riccio, Italian consul at New Haven, came here tonight to investigate a conspiracy thru which Italians in many states have been defrauded of thousands of dollars. The inquiry is in the name of the Italian government.

LION TAMER KILLED BODY PARTLY DEVoured. CHICAGO, June 21.—Emerson D. Deltrich, Brooklyn, manager of a theatrical production presenting a troupe of trained lions, was killed and partly devoured tonight by six lions, when he entered the car in which they were caged.

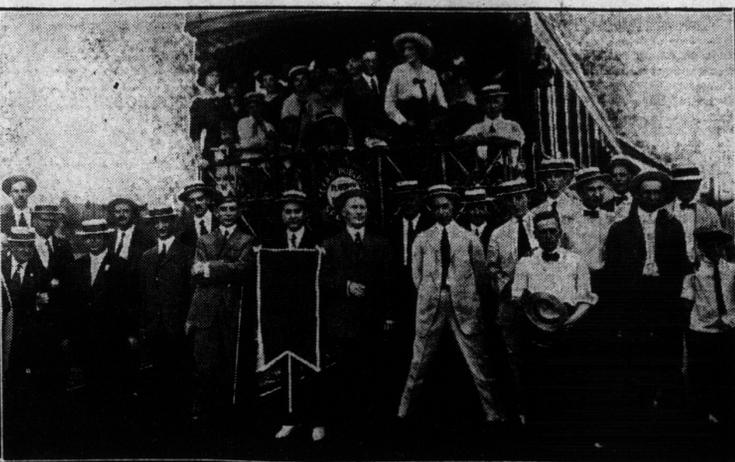

FISH PIRATE IS ORDERED TO PAY A BIG FINE. ISLAND POND, Vt., June 21.—A fine of $453, said to be the largest ever imposed for violation of the state short trout law, was paid by Joseph Deaton of Groveton, N. H., in the municipal court.

CAVE MAN METHODS USED BY NEW YORKER. PATERSON, N. J., June 21.—Herman Jensen, 23 years old, was arrested by Detectives Lord and Keppeler in a hut in the Breakneck Mountains, several miles from here, where he had been holding his wife prisoner since Wednesday. The detectives surrounded the hut early this morning before Jensen was awake and made him a prisoner in his bed.

MOUNT IN CALIFORNIA DISTURBED BY GEYSER. SACRAMENTO, Cal., June 21.—W. E. Burke, chemist of Stanford University and in the employ of the Smelter Waste Commission, after an investigation of the atmospheric conditions incident to the Mount Lassen eruption reported that the air in the vicinity of the volcano was not contaminated.

DESPONDENT MAN SHOOT'S HIMSELF. Special to The Toronto World. HAMILTON, June 21.—James Howard, 171 Oak avenue, committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun early Sunday morning near his summer residence at Station 4, Burlington Beach. Howard had been ill for some time, and for the past few days had been despondent, and this is the reason given for killing himself. He was about 45 years of age and had resided in the city for a number of years. He leaves a wife and family. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3.30, from Robinson's chapel.

TIGHT BINDING

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING EXPOUNDED FROM PULPIT

Lay Sermons Preached On Honest Advertising By Prominent Speakers

Lay sermons by ad men attending the convention here were preached yesterday in twelve Toronto churches. Among the speakers were some of the most widely known advertising men on the continent, and all services were attended by large crowds which turned out to hear the laymen.

Altho religious themes were the subjects of most of the addresses, considerable time at each service was occupied in the discussion of truth as the basis of advertising. Success in business, most of the speakers declared, was based upon that principle.

SAYS HONESTY PAYS IN BUSINESS METHODS

"I believe that denominationalism as such will never redress the world. Christ was not a denominationalist," stated C. B. Hamilton, of Grand Rapids, Mich., while speaking at Broadway Tabernacle last night. During his address, he showed the great improvement in the present day civilization, which he attributed to the efforts of churches.

He showed how religion was influencing business men. "The discovery that honesty pays in business seems as if it was only yesterday. The dishonesty in business is disappearing," he said.

"Paying business must tend to produce a better manhood and in this connection he cited the case of Henry Ford, the automobile manufacturer of Detroit, who has devised a profit-sharing plan for his workmen which makes every man, availing himself of the offer, live a better life.

The aims of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America were dealt with. "The struggle of the A. A. C. A.," he said, "has been going on for years and is forcing greater honesty in business in both the productive and sales departments.

"Soon every newspaper will be just as clean in its advertising columns as it is in its editorial columns," he concluded.

TRUTH IS THE BASIS OF BUSINESS SUCCESS

Truth as the basis of success in business and happiness in life was the subject of a sermon by Rev. Dr. E. E. Ingram, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Waco, Texas, preaching at the Metropolitan Church last night. Dr. Ingram occupied the pulpit in the absence of S. B. Hankins, of Waco, who was scheduled to speak.

At the beginning of the service Rev. J. W. Alkens, pastor of the local church, announced that Rev. W. R. Armstrong, the former pastor, was in the audience. Upon his request Dr. Armstrong occupied the pulpit also.

Taking Matt. VI, 19 for his text, Dr. Ingram declared truth the cause of all happiness. "Honesty," he said, "is not only a standard for the church, but for business as well. A man who finds truth in his daily work will find it in God. The way to find truth is to acknowledge restraint and recognize the necessity of self-mastery. This is the only means of securing happiness, and that is what we must seek."

ALL CHURCHES SHOULD ADVERTISE IN PAPERS

In an address on the power of publicity given at St. Andrew's Church, Carlton street, W. Morris, of Minneapolis, told of the great success that had attended the publicity "Go To Church" campaign that had been conducted in his city and how easily and with the greatest prospects of success such a campaign could be conducted in Toronto.

He had been told that several hundred thousand of Toronto's half million population were regular church attendants. This should not be the case.

The sum of $42,000 would cover the cost of a full page advertisement in each of the Toronto papers once a week for a whole year. If $5000 were added to this cost, other newspapers the sum would be $50,000. Putting the population at five to a family, it would give Toronto 100,000 families and make the expense involved only fifty cents per family, or less than a cent a week.

SOCIALISM SUCCESS WHERE CHURCH FAILS

The Rev. Charles Stielze addressed the congregation at Bond Street Congregational Church. His subject was "The call of the new day to the old church." He declared that magazine editors had discussed in conclusive the question whether the church was necessary. He instanced a famous theologian who had declared that the church was out of touch with the working world, and the speaker showed where Christians had failed to touch the people.

He dwelt on the liquor, industrial and other social problems, and showed how socialism had stepped in, and grappled with these problems, while the church stood by and did nothing.

FALSE ADVERTISING RUINS ITS EFFICIENCY

"The business man is more anxious to clean out advertising than the consumer, as even a little false advertising will pollute and ruin the efficiency of advertising as a whole," said E. S. Hole, of London, Eng., who spoke at the First Unitarian Church, Jarvis street. "Dishonesty is infectious, and must be treated as such, the infected part must be cut away from the uninfected. The day when absolute truth shall be a necessity in every advertisement is close at hand; and then we shall be able to reap the greatest benefits from this the greatest asset known to business."

OLD PROPHETS WERE GREAT ADVERTISERS

"What the World Expects From the Church" was the subject chosen by Peter Clarke MacFarlane of Collier's Weekly, when addressing the congregation of St. Paul's Anglican Church. He pointed out that Moser, Jacob, Jeremiah and John the Baptist were great advertisers by their action in religion, but the greatest publicity man was Jesus, for no man had ever held a crowd or commanded such attention as HE. Two the heathen bowed down to the wood and stone there was but one Saviour and when they wanted a God there was but one God.

Why did a man go to church? Because there was something there he could not get at home or his club. He wanted to get out of the narrow personalities of life and share in the illuminating influence that was found only in the bosom of God. They could make the church a Westminster Abbey and dedicate it to all the saints or they could make it a great pentecostal temple and they could make Jesus of dead as Buddha, but they could also make him the dominating power and influence for good. "That's what the world wants from the church," he concluded.

CHRIST AND ST. PAUL WERE PUBLICITY MEN

The congregation of Bloor Street Baptist Church was fortunate in having Andrew N. Fox, advertising manager of the Benjamin Electric Company, Chicago, as their speaker at yesterday morning's service. Mr. Fox, who is one of the very prominent delegates to the Ad. Club convention, is also a keen worker in all progressive interests. Taking as his text the third chapter of Philippians, verses 12 and 14, Mr. Fox discussed the prime problem which is confronting all the big nations of today—"the problem of proper proportions." With striking and effective illustrations the speaker urged his point that by preaching forth into those things which are history, the primary things of life, the essentials, and ignoring the things of little consequence, then only can the big questions of civilization be solved. Perhaps the most unique thought considered was the fact that Christ and St. Paul were both really advertising men. The Master's command "Go ye into all the world" was plainly an order to spread the gospel and to bring nations by intercourse—and advertising.

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING MAKES GREAT ADVANCE

Norman Haggood, New York, who is editor of Harper's Weekly, preached in Broadway Tabernacle. His theme was an exposition of the ever-strengthening fusion of religion and business ethics into a scheme of living that calls for complete unselfishness and the feeling of universal brotherhood in the business world. The old-time "smartness" was being superseded by a consideration for the man at the other end of a bargain, as well as one's self.

Last year, in Baltimore, the Associated Ad. Clubs of America took the stand for honest advertising. This year, in Toronto, they were to make an even greater advance. They were to frame regulations for every department of advertising to carry out this purpose.

BUSINESS MAN IS REGARDED AS TRUSTEE

"Look you, that you may see," was the text chosen by H. N. Casson, the New York advertising man, for his sermon at Metropolitan Methodist Church. He urged the congregation to look for the better things in life, so apparent everywhere. He thought that many people did not appreciate the age in which they were living.

"Advertising men," he said, "are trying to reform the business world, at a great personal money loss. That was the chief reason for the convention, and the advertising men have taken on the new idea of business—the business man is only a trustee, and should deal honestly with the people."

MODERN ADVERTISING NOW STANDS FOR TRUTH

Father J. E. Copus, of Milwaukee School of Journalism, Marquette University, occupied the pulpit at the 3 o'clock mass yesterday at St. Michael's Cathedral.

He took as his subject the question as to whether the Ad. Club convention had any connection with religion. "The old proverb was, 'Let buyers beware,' he said, 'but now business men are having their consciences aroused and everything is being done to give dealers fair treatment. Advertising now stands for truth, and the business man is beginning to realize the necessity of religion, and we are beginning to see that we are but stewards in the hands of a higher power. The church has a higher hand in business today than ever it had before.'"

HONEST ADVERTISING GREAT FORCE FOR GOOD

"The thousands of men who are gathered in Toronto for the Ad. convention are engaged in a warfare for truth," said Robert Adamson, fire commissioner of New York city, who occupied the pulpit of Parkdale Baptist church yesterday. "They are engaged in a campaign to stamp out misleading advertising, a practice which degrades business, and to bring in the principle of honest advertising, a practice which elevates business and establishes a standard of honor thruout the business world. They strive to teach business men that it is as dishonest for men to sign their names to a misleading advertisement as it is for them to sign their names to a forged note." It is estimated that on this continent seven hundred million to one billion dollars are spent annually in advertising, and what a tremendous force for evil this can be if it is spent without regard to truth and honesty, and what a real force for good this can be if spent rightly."

Mr. Adamson then spoke of the great progress which has been made in moral lines in the past ten years. The improvement in the government of New York City in that time had been immense and this had been effected to a great extent by publicity.

PUT UP BARS AGAINST OBJECTIONABLE ADS

"Many of the publishers of newspapers, magazines and other periodicals have voluntarily put up the bars against all objectionable advertising," declared Frank Le Roy Blanchard, editor of The Editor and Publisher, New York, in his sermon at Sherbourne Street Methodist Church.

"They have taken the position," he went on, "that it is their duty to protect their readers against all attempts made by unscrupulous men to rob them of their money. This attitude, it seems to me, is directly in line with the scriptural injunction 'Do unto others as ye would that men should do to you.'"

The entire structure of business is founded upon confidence. Without it, there would be no such thing as financial credit, no insurance or trust companies, no banks, in fact, no business organizations of any kind.

"So you see how important it is that those who engage in the promotion of business by advertising should do everything they can to establish a kindly feeling between themselves and their customers. The only way that they can win the confidence and goodwill of the public is by square dealing. This means avoiding exaggeration and telling the truth about the articles they have to sell."

Truth in Advertising Making Great Headway Thruout All the World

TRUTH AND HONESTY CREATE OPPORTUNITY

Altho it is not customary to hold service in a Jewish synagogue on Sunday, the president, rabbi and managers of Holy Blossom Synagogue, on Bond street, departed from their usual routine and held a service yesterday morning at 11 o. m. for the benefit of the members of the Jewish faith who are attending the Ad. Club convention in this city. In introducing Mr. Herbert Wyle, business manager of The Baltimore News, who delivered a lay address, Rabbi Jacobs announced that Mr. Wyle was a prominent member of the Jewish community in Baltimore, who had been strongly recommended to him as a lay speaker.

"Opportunity rests entirely with a man himself," stated Mr. Wyle, in the course of his remarks. "Truth and honesty of character, coupled with perseverance, will create an opportunity every moment, and the man worth while is the one who cultivates these traits, and pays strict attention to them in his church and business life.

"Business and church life travel hand in hand, when a man leads a proper life," continued the speaker, "and truth plays a large part in the general harmony."

Mr. Wyle explained the object of the Associated Ad. Clubs in promoting truth in all business dealings, more particularly in advertising.

A large number of the members of the Baltimore delegation of other denominations were present to hear Mr. Wyle, and there were also a number of prominent members of the Toronto Club.

FATHER COPUS IS HERE WITH AD MEN

Dean of School of Journalism at Marquette University is Noted Writer.

AN OLD SURREY BOY

Has Been Newspaper Man for Sixteen Years and is Still in Game.

Inasmuch as he is the only clerical representative among the delegates to the convention of the Ad. Club Association, Rev. Father J. E. Copus, S. J., is somewhat of a unique figure in the great gathering of men and women from many parts of the continent.

As dean of the school of journalism, of which advertising is a department, in connection with the Marquette University, Father Copus is an outstanding figure from the fact that this is the first Catholic institution of this kind in the United States, and also thru the publication of his books, of which perhaps the best known is the "Son of Siro," placed by some in the same class as the world-famed Ben Hur.

When asked by a World correspondent how it came that he was engaged in the work of the school, Father Copus smilingly replied, he could not get away from the lure of the call of the newspaper and journalistic world. "I was a newspaper man for sixteen years," he said, "and I know all branches of the work. Then, too, I had an idea that I could lessen the influence of 'yellow journalism,' and I believe that there is no doubt but that its influence is being lessened. I do not say that this is due to me, but I think it is so. Of course," he continued, "you have no such thing here, but over on the other side, it has not the hold it once had."

Father Copus is very optimistic about the future of the press. It has advanced considerably even since the time that as reporter and in other positions, he did work in the active field of giving news to the world. The Bohemianism, which was an acknowledged factor of those days, is almost dead. Things now are carried on along ethical lines with every department on a scientific basis and every man specializing.

St. Michael's Cathedral on Sunday Father Copus preached to the ad representatives and others, and in the course of his sermon, said: "As far as I have studied, religio-economic conditions, it appears to me there is no greater exemplification of the arousing of the business conscience—no finer, more clean-cut illustration—than that of modern professional advertising, brilliant representatives of which from every province in this wonderful Dominion, as well as from countries of Europe, are your guests today."

Always Print the Truth.

Further tribute was given when the reverend speaker asked: "Who have the Associated Advertisers' Clubs of the continent done to better the conditions of the press? Perhaps not totally, but very largely thru the influence of this organization, the papers of the day will not print anything but the truth in their advertising columns. Thru their concerted action, magazines, with the exception of a negligible number, have been toned up, and have become sane and sound and healthy not only in the advertising matter they print, but in their reading columns as well, and this often at a financial loss."

The publishers of the day realize that they are the guardians in a large degree of the morals of their readers. In spite of what is said to the contrary, I believe that the 'yellow' newspaper has seen its day, and is now on the decline.

"I do not say that advertising men have accomplished all this, but I claim for them a large share in the good results thru the work of their vigilance committees everywhere, and I claim that thru their influence laws have been passed in many states for the punishment of false advertisers."

City Has Gone Ahead.

In coming to Toronto Father Copus comes to an old-time friend to which he has made many visits. The Queen City, he says, has gone ahead wonderfully. One can scarcely credit the things he sees in going about the streets.

For some years in Milwaukee, Father Copus is a native of Surrey, England, and did most of his newspaper work in Ontario on the border. He worked on the old Detroit Times, The Essex Centre Chronicle, and edited The Windsor Review. He made his philosophy in St. Louis, and his theological course in Woodstock, Maryland, and had the happiness of receiving "orders" from the hand of Cardinal Gibbons.

CONVENTION PRESIDENT

William Woodhead, of San Francisco, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America.

BUSINESS IS FACTOR IN PRESERVING PEACE

"Advertising as a factor in modern life," was the theme of Joseph H. Appel's address in Jarvis Street Baptist Church yesterday morning. Back of advertising there was business, which was the actuating force of the advertising. Behind both of these there was life. Advertising was only a means to an end. The purpose of commercial life was defined as being one with life itself. Since God chose to create man with material needs, he thereby made necessary the introduction of business as a factor in human affairs.

It was the aim of business, the speaker declared, to strive against war, against useless warfare, and it was a strife for international peace. Business was the only solution to this problem, because it dealt with man in the mass, and it was in this relation that the problem would be solved.
