C.P.R. OFFERS SETTLEMENTS FOR N.B. LANDS

COL. J. S. DENNIS CONFERES WITH PREMIER BAXTER

Colonization Commission Urges Survey of Province

WILL MEAN MUCH Each Family Estimated to Average $1,500 Budget Every Year

CARRYING out the object of his present visit to the Maritime Provinces, Col. J. S. Dennis, Chief Commissioner, Department Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, this morning held a brief interview with Premier Baxter, during which the assistance and co-operation which the railway company might be able to render to the Province of New Brunswick in colonization and development was discussed.

Col. Dennis explained to the Premier that through the widespread organization of his department in the United States, Great Britain and on the continent, the company was in a position to go out and find settlers to place upon the many suitable vacant lands which he understands are available throughout the province.

He stressed the necessity for an accurate survey of what the province has to offer in order that the fullest possible information might be available to enable settlers of the right type and numbers to be obtained.

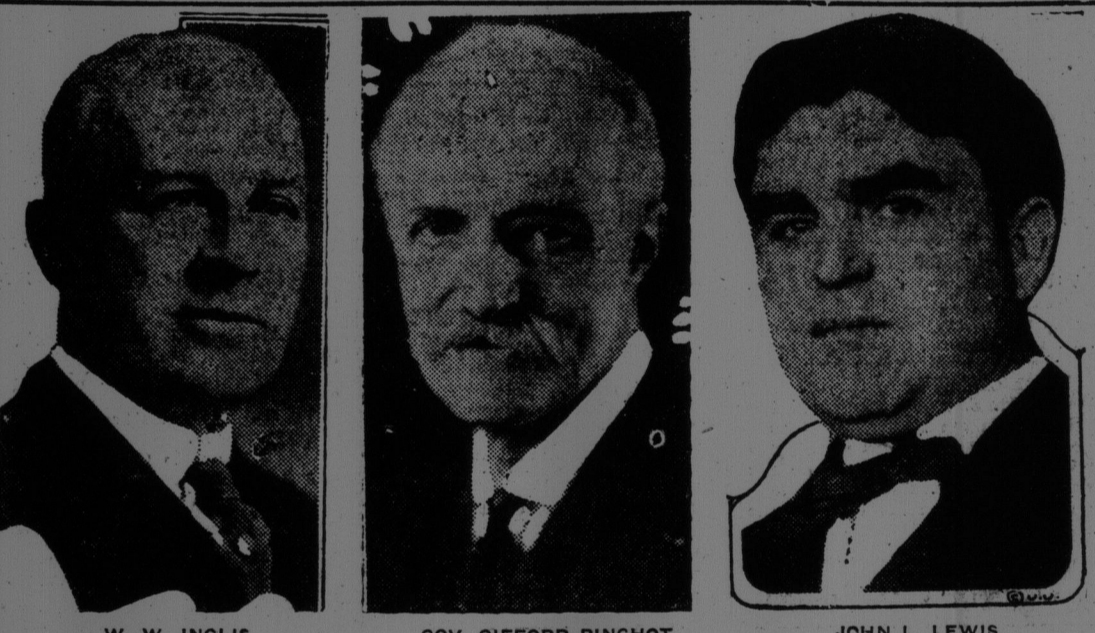

A similar visit and offer has been made to the Premier of Nova Scotia and as a result Col. Dennis explained that he has just returned from a visit to the Annapolis Valley, where he took part in the formation of the first Nova Scotia Colonization Board, the objects of which are to investigate and supply of farm help to that valley. These colonization boards, which have been organized in the Maritime Provinces, are composed of communities in which leading citizens, boards of trade, and other non-political organizations in addition to the farmers themselves, give their co-operation in this work by first making a thorough survey of the available opportunities, listing the vacant lands, prices, terms of sale and requirements for farm help.

This information is then handed to the railway which will send out and seek the class of settler required. The company further delivers these settlers to the colonization boards upon their understanding that their future welfare will be looked after by the boards. That they have been working advantageously to the districts in which they have been established is evident from the fact that there are now from a very small beginning, thirty-four such boards operating in various parts of Canada.

MATTHEW LODGE TALKS OF GRAIN TRAFFIC HERE

C. N. R. Director Speaks of Routes and Facilities

SAYS FLOUR MILL
VERY DESIRABLE

N. B. Delegates to Winnipeg
Confer in Saint
John

Matthew Lodge of Moncton, the New Brunswick representative on the Board of Directors of the Canadian National Railway, who attended a conference of the New Brunswick delegates to the Winnipeg conference, held at the Board of Trade rooms this afternoon, spoke on the matter of grain shipments from the port of Saint John. He also referred to the desirability of having a flour mill here to grind Canadian wheat for the overseas market and sell the by-products to Maritime farmers for their live stock.

He called special attention to the campaign of The Telegraph-Journal and The Times-Star and the trip of A. M. Belling across Canada to awaken interest in the problems of the Maritimes and the good which had resulted from their efforts.

ATLANTIC PORTS.
On the matter of Atlantic ports he said:

"The first question we must ask ourselves in connection with this very important subject, is, have we the necessary facilities for the accommodation and despatch of the business now operating at Saint John and Halifax? ... The Saint John Harbor Board during this year of 1925 have been pushing both with the Canadian National Railway management and the Department of Public Works for the building of the first unit at Courtney Bay and the projection of the railways to that dock. Sir Henry Thornton promised here and again at the recent interviews, that just as soon as the Department of Public Works would begin the building of the first unit at Courtney Bay he would complete the necessary railway connection.

"You are aware that last year's estimates were cut short, but there was a sum, I think $300,000, placed in the estimates for dredging operations, and if my information is correct the dredging did not start until late in September. Consequently the present facilities for loading freight at the wharves on the East Side of the harbor have been very much curtailed and according to newspaper reports the dredging operations had to be temporarily suspended so as to facilitate the shipping at this port.

COMMISSION QUESTION.
"We find the same old question still being discussed by C. N. R. and others: Whether or not it is advisable to place the ports of Saint John and Halifax under a commission, the same as Montreal and Vancouver. The fact that these ports are evidently much better equipped than those of Halifax and Saint John would lead us to believe that if the ports of Halifax and Saint John were placed on the same basis they would have achieved their object and made greater progress than they have as at present controlled. However, that is something for the people of these two cities to settle themselves.

"What we are particularly interested in the Maritime Provinces is the building up of our ports to such a position that they can take care of all traffic, both export and import.

ROUTING OF GRAIN.
"There is much discussion with regard to the routing of grain by the railways during the winter season through our ports of Saint John and Halifax. We must take into consideration the fact that the railway management cannot absolutely control the routing of grain to any port. Mr. Belling has given that subject a very complete analysis, and I think he has explained to the several boards of trade of the Maritime Provinces what it is possible to do in this connection. He will tell you that a tenth of a cent in the rate very often decides the route that will be taken.

"There is some misunderstanding with regard to a statement I made to our board of trade at our annual meeting this week. The railway management are most anxious to develop the trade in this direction and have made some comparisons which have been tabulated, and which no doubt will be available to the commissions of both Saint John and Halifax at any time they wish to discuss the matter with the Railway Board.

"We may say, however, that the train miles to haul 1,000 tons from Port Arthur to Portland is 4,007 train miles; from Port Arthur to Saint John is 4,834 train miles; from Port Arthur to Halifax is 4,988 train miles. Therefore, you will note that the difference, particularly in the case of Saint John, is so slight, that grain can be handled from Port Arthur via the Long Lac cut-off, on practically an even basis with Portland.

GIVES COMPARISON.
"To move 30,000,000 bushels of grain from Port Arthur to Saint John via Long Lac cut-off, National Transcontinental and Fredericton, as against Portland, would mean an additional expenditure of $157,500, less than 1-3 of a cent a bushel.

"And again, the distance from Port Arthur to Quebec via the Long Lac cut-off is 1,071 miles; from Quebec to Saint John, 600 miles. The distance from Port Arthur to Ottawa via the Canadian Northern is 905 miles; Ottawa to Montreal 116 miles; Montreal to Portland 297 miles, making a difference in mileage in favor of Portland over Saint John of over 233 miles.

"The heavy grades from Montreal to Portland will help to equalize the movement to Saint John and if the routing of grain can be secured for winter shipment through these ports we can see no reason why the railways of Canada cannot handle the business.

"We have to take into consideration at the present time the rebuilding of the Fredericton bridge to complete the short route to Saint John, and the absolute necessitation of docking facilities

PUTS LOW VALUE ON INGLEWOOD

F. A. Barkhouse, Surveyor, Makes Figure Dollar an Acre

Arbitration Hearing is Adjourned to Resume in Saint John on Jan. 4

An estimate of $1 per acre for the Inglewood tract was given yesterday afternoon by Frank A. Barkhouse, of Fredericton, land surveyor and cruiser and former employee of the New Brunswick Government, when he was on the stand in the hearing before Judge A. T. LeBlanc of the claim for damages of the Inglewood Pulp & Paper Co. Ltd., against the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission. The Inglewood tract includes about 41,000 acres and the part expropriated is said to be about 7,000 acres.

The hearing was adjourned yesterday afternoon to the afternoon of Jan. 4, 1926, the place of the adjourned session to be Saint John.

The session opened with S. R. Weston, chief engineer of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, still on the stand. He gave evidence of the possibility of putting flashboards in the dam spillways.

He told of calling for tenders in 1920 but declared that the contract was not let then. It was not until 1922 that the surveys were finished, he said.

In regard to Sherwood Lake, he said he had located his survey for a storage dam higher up the stream than the old dam because the height could not be obtained at the old site without long wings.

It would cost about $1,000 a mile to construct a winter road to a power plant at that site, he said, and a summer road would cost two or three times as much. There were a great many granite boulders, he said.

Referring to the 1923 disaster, he declared there had been an extraordinary flood, the run-off into the Log Falls pond being about 11,500 cubic feet per second for one day and very nearly that on the second day.

He spoke of the small developments at Kouchibougué, Shediac and Bathurst, declaring they were not financial successes.

He agreed that the 1924 report of the commission said they were keeping men on the dams at spring flood time to look after the gates.

David L. Hutchinson, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, was called and placed in evidence precipitation records from 1874 to the present time.

Mr. Barkhouse said he was with the New Brunswick Railway Company at

MALDEN BANDITS STEAL OFFICER'S CAR

Policeman Gives Chase and Sends Bullet Through Auto; Thugs Escape

BOSTON, Dec. 4.—Reserve Officer John J. Minahan of the Malden police sent a bullet through the tonneau of his own automobile in an attempt to capture three bandits who had stolen the car from in front of his home, and had led him a merry chase through the streets, until he forced the car into a fence.

Minahan had heard the car start from in front of his house, and later located it, a block from the police station. Securing the police car, he gave chase and ran his quarry to ground after a mile race. When the stolen car crashed into the fence, Minahan stopped as soon as he could, but by that time the three men were making their getaway. He fired three shots to stop them, but only succeeded in putting a hole in his own car.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 4.—When liquor squad officers dug up a tomato can filled with $20 bills in a cellar here they discovered what is believed to be part or possibly all of the life savings of Denis Shea, who died at that address a year ago. Four days before his death he was given $6,000 by a friend who had been holding it for him. Less than $500 was found on his person. It is now believed that the man buried a large portion of his wealth and that additional sums may be discovered soon.

He thought it would be at least 75 years before lumbering operations on the tract generally could be commenced.

Asked to give his idea of the value of the tract, he said it was worth about $1 an acre. He thought the Provincial Government's wild land tax was two cents an acre.

On cross-examination by Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., he said he thought it was true that lumber grew faster on the Bay of Fundy coast than in the northern parts of the province. He thought, however, that there would be only about a seven-inch average size in 50 years, as his report said. Answering a question as to whether or not he believed the site would be ten inches in that time, he said he did not.

G. H. Montgomery, K. C., of Montreal, Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., and Horace Porter represented the company and P. J. Hughes, K. C., of Fredericton, and J. D. Pollard Lewin appeared for the commission.

PREPARE PLANS FOR 50TH ANNIVERSARY The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Church of England Institute falls in January of 1926, and at the annual conversations and sale of second readings of periodicals from the book room of the institute in the institute the council of the organization was authorized to make plans for the fitting celebration of the jubilee.

Ven. Archdeacon A. H. Crowfoot, president, was in the chair and gave a short address on the work of the institute. The second reading of the periodicals were sold at auction and J. B. Burgoyne had the arduous office of auctioneer and did it with conspicuous success.

The sale brought in a larger sum than had been realized in the previous year.

A very enjoyable program was carried out and a social evening enjoyed.

OLD CURSE HOLDS No Male Heir Left to Fyvie Castle Owner Since 13th Century

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The old tradition that no owner of Fyvie Castle shall ever leave an heir has been strikingly verified in the case of Lord Leith of Fyvie. Lord Leith spent much time in America, grew immensely rich there, married an American girl and came back to Scotland to live in Fyvie Castle, the ancestral home.

An old "curse" laid against Fyvie Castle in the 13th century declared that no "laird of Fyvie" should ever leave a male heir to inherit.

The records show that this "curse" proved seemingly so potent that no owner of the castle since that day had a son or a grandson living at his death. The property always passed along the female line.

Lord Leith bade fair to smash this tradition. He had a son and a grandson, besides a daughter.

But both the son and grandson were killed in the war and when Lord Leith died at 78 there was only a daughter to inherit his property.

Stamps Worth $35,000 Are Sold In London

LONDON, Dec. 1.—London has nothing like Miami real estate to pile up fortunes over night, but the "Mayfair Find" shows how a small investment can multiply in value after a lapse of a few decades.

About 60 years ago a young English nobleman interested in stamp collecting began to specialize in the issues of British colonies. He wrote to postmasters in Canada, Ceylon and other possessions and secured many issues of stamps in whole sheets. Then he died.

Buyers would not pay more than $3 to $3.50 bulk barrel measure or $3.45 per hundredweight for the few lots offered. Farmers are in no hurry to sell and say they will hold on for some time yet. SAINT JOHN, N. B., DECEMBER 4, 1925.

UNDERSTANDING AND UNITY.

Canada faces two oceans, looking across the Atlantic to old Europe, and across the Pacific to the setting Orient, and it is necessary that its people should give attention to the developments in both directions, by which our destiny will be affected, and also that the people living in our widely separated provinces, through a constant as they are, should constantly cultivate a better acquaintance among themselves and a more complete understanding of their own problems. The Canadian Club, by setting upon foot a reciprocal arrangement under which speakers from the West shall address clubs in the East, and speakers from the East shall go West on a similar mission, have launched an enterprise well designed to yield good results in national unity and education. Mr. Justice Macdonald, of the Court of Appeals of British Columbia, who has come East and who is the first speaker under the programme referred to, is an admirable pioneer of the movement, and Saint John is fortunate in being the first of the eastern cities to hear his message. He was good enough to refer in complimentary terms to the interest in Maritime Affairs, Maritime problems and aspirations aroused by Mr. Belding, representing The Telegraph-Journal and The Times-Star, in his mission across Canada, as a result of which Mr. Justice Macdonald is convinced that the Western Provinces are now prepared to give careful and earnest consideration to those questions in which their fellow-citizens here are so deeply interested.

Odds and Ends

Like Calls to Like
(Edgar A. Guest in The Red Book.)
If you walk as a friend, you will find a friend wherever you choose to fare;
If you go with mirth to a far strange land, you will find that mirth is there;
For the strangest part of this queer old world is that like will join with like,
And who walks with love for his fellow-men an answering love will strike.

If you walk in honor, then honest men will meet you along the way;
But if you are false, you will find men false wherever you chance to stray;
For good breeds good, and the bad breeds bad; we are met by the traits we show.
Love will find a friend at the stranger's door where hate would find a foe.

In Praise of "Punkin' Pie."
Twenty-five years ago Charles A. Dana wrote, or edited, the following: "It is true, and sad, that bungling or degenerate pie-eaters make and vend squash pie and call it pumpkin—so dishonoring a great name and deriving a foolish public; but the soul of the strong is not to be bamboozled by this wicked substitution. Pumpkin, the ornament of the rural landscape in the fall, the pumpkin pie, the ornament of the happy home in winter, the mellow-savored, mellow-flavored angel of the indoors! It can have no successor, no parallel, no proxy. Nobody can be 'some punkin' who doesn't stoke his brains with pumpkin pie."
"Potatoes are a luxury, apples a disputation, pumpkins are a necessity of life. Take out of American literature and history the thoughts that have been done under the inspiration of pumpkin pie and what is left? Without it, what is a man and where is Thanksgiving Day?"

THE IRISH BOUNDARY.

Wonders will never cease. There seems to be a fair prospect of permanent peace in Ireland as a result of the agreement reached yesterday by representatives of the British Government, of Ulster, and of the Free State concerning the boundary. Confirmation of the agreement by the British Parliament, by the Ulster Parliament only by the Dail is still necessary, but judging by the applause which greeted Mr. Baldwin's announcement in the House of Commons, favorable action at Westminster is confidently anticipated. Already there is some outcry both from Dublin and Belfast, but that was to be expected, and in the main the comment is favorable.
Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, in a message to his people, says he is fully satisfied with the outcome of the negotiations, and he looks forward hopefully to more friendly relations being permanently maintained among all parties throughout Ireland. President Cosgrave of the Free State, expresses the belief that the solution arrived at was the only one to which all of the governments concerned could more surely and more rapidly toward the ultimate political unity of the two sections of Ireland than any other course which could have been adopted under the circumstances. In a message to the people of the Free State, President Cosgrave and his associates confidently recommend the agreement as providing a basis for sure and lasting peace and strongly urge its confirmation.

A South African Solomon.
(London Observer.)
The centenary of the birth of "Oom Paul" Kruger was celebrated on the 10th of last month by the unveiling of a statue of the old Boer President. The occasion revives one good yarn illustrating the Solomon-like shrewdness that often characterized his decisions. It concerns two Boer brothers who were quarrelling over the division of the old line between Ulster and the Free State shall remain unchanged. The Free State is relieved from paying a portion of the British war debt, but will assume the cost of compensation for damage to property in Ireland during the disturbances there, and will increase that compensation ten per cent. The Ulster Parliament is given powers heretofore vested in the Council of Ireland.

This settlement by agreement is made wholly irrespective of the work of the Irish Boundary Commission. Professor MacNeill, the Free State representative on that commission, resigned a few days ago and refused to join in the award of his colleagues. A conference of the three governments concerned was then called in the hope of breaking the deadlock thus created, and its decision was unanimous. In view of the settlement it has been agreed between Premier Baldwin and the active members of the Boundary Commission that the commission's award is not to be published, but it may be thought that dissenters in Ulster, the Free State, and in England as well, will insist that the details of the findings at which the commission had arrived shall be made known.

They are now planning an old English alphabet with forty-eight letters. The stenographers who then have to use both hands at their work instead of using one to powder their noses.

Baiting the Bailiff.
(Boston Transcript.)
The water bailiff, discovering a stranger angling on a strictly preserved stretch of water, ordered the offender to draw his cast. The angler complied and it was seen that his hook was baited with a piece of carrot. The bailiff burst into laughter and said, "If that's the bait you use, guv'nor, go ahead!"
Several hours later the two met again. Pointing to the angler's full basket, the keeper said, "Good! You didn't catch all those trout with a piece of carrot, did you?"
"No," replied the sportsman, "I caught you with that."

Sizing Up Visitors.
(Argonaut.)
Little news from Riffian sources comes out of the war in North Africa. An English newspaper, however, has managed to obtain the words of a song that the Riffians sing about their camp-fires at they await the war's end with the French or Spaniards or both. The song in translation follows:

One Englishman is a sportsman,
Two Englishmen is a drunken brawl,
Three Englishmen is a British colony.
One Spaniard is Don Quixote,
Two Spaniards is Don Quixote and Sancho Panza,
Three Spaniards is a retreat.
One Riffian is a sniper,
Two Riffians is a battalion,
Three Riffians is Annual.
"Annual" refers to the great Riff victory over Spain. Their song shows that the Riffians are lacking in neither racial self-esteem nor a sense of humor.
Says Chesterton.
G. K. Chesterton says "that the spiritual sin of living as if no God had brought creation into existence, as if the moral law had no meaning to the soul of man, and as if the beauty of the earth, the majesty of the heavens and the usefulness of perfect love are of secondary importance to commercial success and worldly satisfactions, is doing greater mischief than all the sins and crimes and iniquities of the blue lumped together."

Dangerous?
Although I am in favor of talking optimism when it achieves the necessary results, there is danger in assisting in doing greater mischief than all the sins and crimes and iniquities of the blue lumped together.

Baiting the Bailiff. (Boston Transcript.) The water bailiff, discovering a stranger angling on a strictly preserved stretch of water, ordered the offender to draw his cast. The angler complied and it was seen that his hook was baited with a piece of carrot. The bailiff burst into laughter and said, "If that's the bait you use, guv'nor, go ahead!"

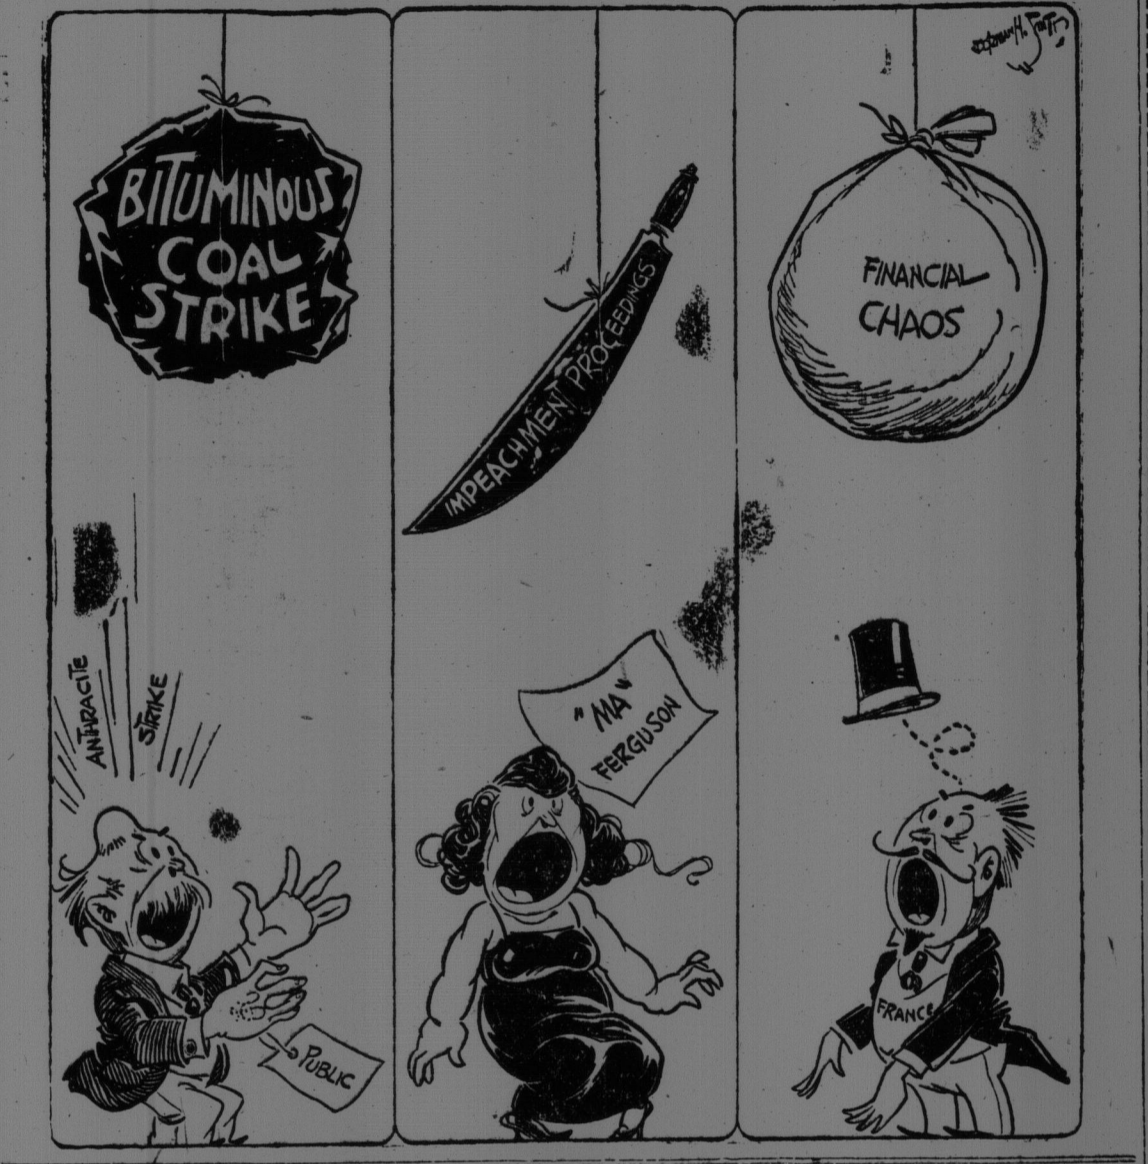

Several hours later the two met again. Pointing to the angler's full basket, the keeper said, "Good! You didn't catch all those trout with a piece of carrot, did you?"

Sizing Up Visitors. (Argonaut.) Little news from Riffian sources comes out of the war in North Africa. An English newspaper, however, has managed to obtain the words of a song that the Riffians sing about their camp-fires at they await the war's end with the French or Spaniards or both. The song in translation follows:

One Englishman is a sportsman,
Two Englishmen is a drunken brawl,
Three Englishmen is a British colony.
One Spaniard is Don Quixote,
Two Spaniards is Don Quixote and Sancho Panza,
Three Spaniards is a retreat.
One Riffian is a sniper,
Two Riffians is a battalion,
Three Riffians is Annual.
"Annual" refers to the great Riff victory over Spain. Their song shows that the Riffians are lacking in neither racial self-esteem nor a sense of humor.
Says Chesterton.
G. K. Chesterton says "that the spiritual sin of living as if no God had brought creation into existence, as if the moral law had no meaning to the soul of man, and as if the beauty of the earth, the majesty of the heavens and the usefulness of perfect love are of secondary importance to commercial success and worldly satisfactions, is doing greater mischief than all the sins and crimes and iniquities of the blue lumped together."

Dangerous? Although I am in favor of talking optimism when it achieves the necessary results, there is danger in assisting in doing greater mischief than all the sins and crimes and iniquities of the blue lumped together.

The Best of Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD
HOMO INCOMPLETEO

IN BOTANY there is a species of plants called Incompleteo; and just the same it can be said that there are men who are incomplete.

They are those whose desires and struggles are out of proportion to their actions and achievements.

"The most insignificant man can be complete if he works within the limits of his capacities, innate and acquired; but even fine talents can be obscured, neutralized, and destroyed by lack of this indispensable requirement of symmetry," Goethe observed.

"It is only men of practical ability, knowing their powers and using them with prudence and moderation, who will be successful in worldly affairs."

OBVIOUSLY, it is a great error to take oneself for more than one is, or less than one is worth.

"The longer I live," Goethe opined, "the more I give up to see men, who occupy his supreme place for the very purpose of depicting his will upon nature, and freeing himself and his from an outrageous necessity— to see him taken up with some false notion, and doing just the opposite of what he wants to do; and then, because the whole bent of his mind is spoiled, bumbling miserably over everything."

UNQUALIFIED activity, of whatever kind, leads at last to bankruptcy. The trouble with most of us is that we have no limitations for ourselves; we do not recognize the truth of the adage, "Limitation makes for happiness."

We are happy in proportion as our range of vision, our sphere of work, our points of contact with the world, are restricted and circumscribed.

All of us have our limitations, and it is important that we recognize them.

Poems That Live

DIRGE IN THE WOODS.
A wind sways in the pines,
Not a breath of wild air;
Still as the mosses that grow
On the flooring and over the logs
Of the roots here and there.

The pine-tree drops its dead;
They are quiet under the sea,
Overhead, overhead,
Rushes life in a race,
As the clouds the clouds chase;
And we go,
And we drop like the fruits of the tree,
Even so.

THE newly appointed member of the U. S. Shipping Board, John Henry Walsh of New Orleans, was formerly a navy officer. He was graduated from the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1901. Six years later he received a Masters degree in Naval Architecture from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He superintended the construction of the Bath Iron Works and in the same year he attained the rank of commander. In 1917-18 he was on the staff of the commander-in-chief of the American Naval Forces. Then in 1918 Walsh became industrial manager of the Navy Yard at New Orleans. Before accepting the position on the Shipping Board Walsh was a member of the port commission of New Orleans. He has contributed to several short story magazines in the United States and England.

Dinner Stories

THE widower had just taken his fourth wife and was showing her around the village. Among the places visited was the churchyard, and the bride paused before a very elaborate tombstone that had been erected by the bridegroom. Being a little nearsighted, she asked him to read the inscription, and in reverent tones he read:

"Here lies Susan, beloved wife of John Smith; also Jane, beloved wife of John Smith; also Mary, beloved wife of John Smith."

He paused abruptly, and the bride, leaning forward to see the bottom line, read, to her horror:

"Be Ye Also Ready."

HEARING the crash of china, Dinah's mistress arrived in time to see her favorite, coffee-set in pieces. The sight was too much for her mercurial temper. "Dinah," she said, "I cannot stand it any longer. I want you to go. I want you to go soon. I want you to go right now."

"Lawsez," replied Dinah, "this surely ain't no coincidence. I was thought in my own mind—I want to go, I thank the good Lord I kin go, and I pity your husband, ma'am, that he can't go."

URGES BROAD NATIONAL VIEW FOR CANADIANS

Problems of Each Section Concern Other Parts, Says Judge Macdonald

PACIFIC THE COMING WORLD'S HIGHWAY

Speaker Lau's Work of Mission in Presenting Maritime's Case

That the problems of each particular portion of Canada were the concern of the whole Dominion and that such should be considered from a broad national point of view...

During the luncheon period two musical numbers were carried out. Dr. P. L. Donnell gave two vocal solos and Mrs. Harold Macdonald entertained with two violin selections...

Before introducing the speaker Mr. Weyman said that it was felt that interest in the Canadian Club seemed to be on the wane throughout Canada...

In opening his address, Judge Macdonald amused his audience by saying that he would try to make his remarks "like a woman's dress; long enough to cover the subject, but short enough to be interesting."

He said that by an interchange of views the citizens would understand the difficulties and problems of the various sections of the country and thereby promote a feeling of unity.

Turning to the subject of his address Judge Macdonald drew attention to the movement toward the Pacific as the centre of the world's activities of the future...

To show the enormous possibilities of the western lands, he said there were 48,000,000 acres in Western Canada which were yet untouched...

It was for these reasons that the problems of the Pacific loomed large and were ever uppermost in the minds of the people of the western provinces...

The speaker said that the Anglo-Saxon race was sure to endure and the English language would spread over the world. This fact was recognized by the Japanese who made the study of English compulsory in their higher schools of learning.

Keep Your Wife's Love at Fever Heat, Mr. Man, by Not Slumping in Appearance After Marriage, by Dealing Fairly With Her in Money Matters and, Above All, by Being Affectionate and Appreciative.

THERE is no other question that women ask oftener than how they can retain their husbands' affections, but no man asks how he can keep his wife in love with him.

DOROTHY DIX

Men make no such effort to keep themselves alluring to their wives, yet a woman's love is as easily killed as a man's love.

IT MAY be a little more important for a wife to retain her husband's affections than it is for a husband to keep his wife in love with him.

When a woman slumps in her looks and her housekeeping, and slips in her temper and her manners, while she wears any old thing at home, and feeds her husband out of paper bags and tin cans, and says what she thinks of him, it is because she no longer cares to please him.

TO DO THIS, he must keep himself looking attractive. Women are far more sensitive to appearances than men are, and no wife is any more impelled to kiss a cheek with a two days' stubble of beard on it than a husband is to kiss a cold-creamed one.

If a man wants to retain his wife's affections, he must keep her interested. Boredom kills love oftener than anything else, so never let your wife begin to yawn.

RELECT that you took your wife from a bright and cheerful home, where she had companionship. When she married you she gave up other men who were eager to show her a good time, and it isn't a partnering you read the paper, nor would she choose as an escort a man she has to bullyrag into going with her, and who begrudges her even the price of a movie ticket.

HE WILL not give her an allowance. He humiliates her by making her go to him, like a beggar, for every penny. She never has a dollar for which she does not have to account to him.

Finally, if you wish to retain your wife's love, be affectionate to her. Make it a rule to tell her every day that in every way she is dearer to you.

BEHAVE me, brother, it pays and pays and pays to keep your wife in love with you.

Adventures of the Twins

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THE FOXHUNT. Nancy and Nick put on their own clothes again, and following Mister Blue Cap, they left the church where the wedding had been.

"I liked that adventure," said Nancy to the little fairytale man. "It was grand fun being flower-girl and wearing such a lovely pink dress and scattering roses before the bride."

"So do I," agreed Nick. "It was fun being a page and wearing a white satin suit and carrying a ring on a pillow."

Mister Blue Cap stopped before another large painting in the picture gallery. Mrs. Walton had not come back and the picture gallery was empty.

But that doesn't matter! "Here we are," said Mister Blue Cap, running up the magic steps that suddenly appeared below the heavy gold frame of the picture.

"Hello here!" said one of the men. "Where did you come from?"

"Oh—nowhere," said Nick hastily. "What nice looking youngsters!" said another man kindly.

"Yes, aren't they dear?" said one of the ladies. "How do you do, children?"

"We're riding to the hounds," shouted the man above the din. "We are going on a fox hunt. Do you and your sister want to come along?"

"Oh, yes!" cried Nick quickly, but Nancy said, "I can't ride, sir! I'd fall off."

"Oh, no, you won't," said the man kindly. "I have two wonderful little ponies. Dubbins, go and saddle Nibbs and Scoot. The youngsters are going after the fox, too."

REMEMBER when there was a honorable trade known as "bell-hanging."

It was way back in those dear dead days before electricity did its stuff.

Wandering in Greenwich Village I came upon a sign: "Bell hanger and locksmith."

Needless to say, it is the locksmithing that keeps the shop proprietor, Peter Werner, busy today.

When door-bells came into vogue this was a most thriving trade.

Then came the electric bell and killed the quaint old signal system.

But the old-time bell hangers will shake their heads and argue that whatever the convenience, nothing can ever replace the melodic tinkle of the well-tuned house bells of yesterday.

Timely Views On World Topics

THE Treaty of Versailles, the effectiveness of which is challenged frequently, has been rendered less effective by America's continued refusal to join the League, avers Sir John Powers.

British M. P. In a recent speech he said, "In Western Europe the task that has been thrust upon Great Britain is indescribably difficult. It will be remembered that the Peace Conference France was practically forced to a re-drawing of the map of Europe. This was absolutely repugnant to her and against which she protested with the greatest vehemence."

"She was at last induced to agree to the treaty on the understanding that she would be protected by the United States and Great Britain against unprovoked aggression by Germany. As a matter of fact an agreement to this effect was signed by the representatives of the United States and Great Britain simultaneously with the signing of the Treaty of Versailles on June 28, 1919.

U. S. Refused to Ratify. "Great Britain duly ratified the agreement and exchanged documents with France on Nov. 20, 1919. For reasons, political or otherwise, which I need not go into, the United States did not ratify the agreement, which therefore fell to the ground, since Article 2 of the agreement provided that it would not have effect unless ratified by all three parties."

"One cannot but have the utmost sympathy with France in the position which she found herself. To describe her mental attitude is difficult. She felt that she had been betrayed; that she had been jockeyed into agreement on matters to which she would otherwise never have subscribed. She felt that the French party in France gained the ascendancy and Great Britain had to stand aside and watch her occupy German towns, one after the other, and take possession of the Ruhr."

Fears Germany. "She was not afraid of Germany, but she feared the Germany of 10, 15 or 20 years hence. Her experience with Germany had been terrible. Twice within the space of 10 years Germany had invaded her, desolated her territory, decimated her troops and subjected her to great humiliation and degradation. The first was the Ems treaty, and the second time was the tearing up of a solemn treaty. The French had last night at the residence of Miss Campbell, Coburg street, with Miss Dorothy Sinclair, president, in the chair."

On Christmas Carols was the subject of the evening program. Miss Roberta Smith read a very interesting introductory paper and a trio, Miss Audrey Hunter, Miss Florence Warwick and Miss Dorothy Evans sang four carols for homeless night clubs, were given by Miss Hunter, Miss Warwick and Miss Tait and Mrs. Harold MacMichael gave a violin obligato for a solo by Miss Warwick. Mrs. W. L. Beville was the accompanist of the evening.

ROUTINE BUSINESS. Only routine business was transacted at the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Home for Incubable yesterday afternoon.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY. PALADOCKS or no paladocks, it seems that the Broadway night-lifers, both local and transient, will not stand for homeless night clubs.

Good food is actually old-fashioned. One of the places famous for their cooking have had to close their doors while quick-and-bustle counters pack them in.

Recently Albert Bouche arrived from Chicago and opened the Bal Masque, a liquorless night club. A fortune was spent upon entertainment and decorations. The food was astonishingly good. The covert charge was low. But the no-drinks rule was strictly enforced.

Now Mons. Bouche goes back to Chicago. The place slowly starved and finally gave up. It is said that the proprietor of a recently paladocked night club will re-open it soon. Then watch its smoke.

TAXIS to Florida can now be picked up on almost any New York street. Not far from one of the railroad stations I saw an ornate taxi bearing the sign: "Taxi to Florida for $25."

He Can Put Musical Comedy Into a Moving Picture

BECAUSE music and dialogue cannot be photographed—yet—musical comedy was always considered slight material for the screen, until the musical comedy appearing, but it appears that this past master of screen comedy has found the way to inject the hidden something that can be photographed—like thought—into his pictures.

"Audiences will expect the screen version of their favorite musical comedy to travel along at the same rollicking pace," says Green, who will direct the picture for First National. "They will expect as much humor and pep. They will be unconsciously humming the melodious tunes of the musical score as the plot unfolds pictorially on the screen, and if the spirit and the rhythm are not sustained, they will be disappointed. How to get into the spirit of that melodious feeling and to reflect it in moving pictures is the question."

"Atmosphere is the subtle instrument. In 'Irene' as in 'Sally,' we are completely submerged in the musical comedy atmosphere. The studio stage becomes, not like a theatrical performance exactly, but like a dress rehearsal, say of a musical farce. I surround myself back of the camera with musical comedy people—'gag-men,' 'hookers' and 'patter artists.' The studio orchestra is augmented. We get thoroughly saturated in musical comedy."

"We feel the music work in rhythm and maintain the tempo. While music literally cannot be photographed, yet I feel that the musical feeling can be, through the medium of the expression of the melody spirit through the players. It is reflected in their work before the camera."

Interesting Programme Carried Out—Excellent Reports by Committees

The W. M. A. of the Queen Square United church had an interesting program at its meeting last evening at the home of Mrs. Bertram Smith. The president, Mrs. T. O. Dales, was in the chair.

Miss C. Pratt reported that Mrs. Shanklin, president of the Excelsior Mission band with the aid of her members, had forwarded a box of Christmas presents to Miss Ada Myles for the Indian children at the Crosby Girls Home, Port Simpson, B. C.

Mrs. S. E. Logan in her report for the Strangers in Canada said that the United Church in Canada has 87 missions, 18 social centres, 22 school homes, seven hospitals and two foreign language papers.

The Christmas theme was featured in the program. Mrs. Bilzard read an article on Giving and Christmas in Other Lands, and Miss Bessie Thompson told the meeting how Christmas was kept in France. Miss Pratt read an article on "The Origin of the Christmas Tree." Mrs. S. E. Logan led in the responsive reading of the hymn "The Promise Fulfilled."

Woman, 104, Says Short Skirt Immodest

NEWPORT, Vt., Dec. 4—Starting out on her 104th year, Mrs. Mary Brown of this town had but one little breath of advice to the ultra modern girl. And it is this: "Don't wear short skirts, girls; they're immodest." As for herself, Mrs. Brown sports a silken silver boyish bob, rolled stockings, jazz garters and a little clay pipe. Smoking since she was five and hard work on the farm since she was 20 have not interfered with her health. She has outlived two husbands and has a daughter who celebrated her 81st birthday a few days ago.

COAL PROBE AT SYDNEY ENDS; HEARING IN MONTREAL NEXT

Chairman Expresses Hope of Being Able to Render Finding Before New Year—Compliments Both Sides For Presentation of Case.

SYDNEY, N. S., Dec. 3.—“You now know, Mr. Chairman, everything I know regarding the operating costs of this industry.” So declared R. M. Wolvin, president of the British Empire Steel Corporation, after Comptroller H. A. Doak had tendered his exhibits during this afternoon’s session of the Royal Commission investigating the coal industry of Nova Scotia, under the chairmanship of Sir Andrew Rae Duncan. The cross-examinations of both Messrs. Doak and Wolvin will take place at Halifax after the Commission’s accounting expert has had an opportunity of reporting on the documents tendered and following a visit paid to Montreal by the board.

The Sydney sessions of the commission concluded with this afternoon’s session, and at the close the chairman took occasion to express the appreciation of the board for the “able assistance” rendered by both sides. Both the Corporation and the United Mine Workers of America, had presented their respective cases “fully, temperately and ably.”

HOPES FOR EARLY FINDING.

The commission will arrive in Halifax Saturday morning, and will leave for Montreal early next week, returning to Halifax for the purpose of conducting the taking of evidence early the following week. The chairman stated today that he hoped to deliver the findings of the board before the end of the month.

All three were captured and brought into town together with a vast amount of goods they had stolen. Several shots were fired before Melbourne Hubbard and Tasco surrendered.

THREE NEW M. L. A.’S ON DIRECTORATE

Woodstock Agricultural Society Hears Encouraging Reports at Meeting

WOODSTOCK, Dec. 3.—The annual meeting of the Agricultural Society, No. 41, was held here today. Col. F. H. J. Dibbles, president, presiding. The treasurer’s report revealed a favorable financial statement. But for the comparatively heavy deficit incurred at the 1925 Woodstock exhibition, it was said, the association would have stood in a much improved financial condition for the year ending Oct. 31.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

Colonel Dibbles traced the history of Agricultural Society, No. 41, stressing particularly the manner in which he said Woodstock exhibition had maintained its reputation as the leading truly agricultural exhibition of the province, despite the depression which had existed among the farmers for the last few years. Colonel Dibbles viewed with optimism the future of the association and its annual exhibition. With but very few changes the board of directors remains. The names of Fred C. Squires, E. W. Melville and B. Frank Smith, members-elect of the provincial Legislature, were added to the directorate. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Hon. J. K. Flemming, M. P.; president, Col. F. J. Dibbles; vice-presidents, C. H. Gray, H. W. Rogers, William C. Kearney and H. Hay; secretary, R. W. Maxwell; treasurer, M. J. Rutledge.

TWO HUNDRED ARE IN ORPHANAGE NOW

Arrangements Made For Christmas Treat at Directors’ Meeting Yesterday

The Christmas closing program at the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage School in the Manawagish Road will take place on Thursday, Dec. 17, instead of Friday, the day when the public school closings will be held.

The board of directors of the orphanage fixed the date of the closing at its meeting last night in the Board of Trade rooms, when Dr. James Manning, vice-president, was in the chair, and was decided upon in order that the public might attend the orphanage school closing and afterwards make an inspection tour through the whole institution.

H. Usher Miller, secretary, in his report, referred to the excellent health report which Dr. Mabel Hurlstone, medical inspector of schools, had given the children in the orphanage school and said that he had written to the doctor thanking her most cordially.

It was reported that there were now 17 infants in the Britain street home and 133 children in the Manawagish Road home, making a total of 200, the largest number the orphanage has cared for at one time.

TREATS ARRANGED

Committees of ladies were appointed to arrange for the Christmas observances and the children’s treats. It was confidently expected that the friends of the children would display their customary generosity in providing gifts of goods and money necessary to make the children’s Christmas a happy one.

The organizations which conducted the recent fair to help in wiping out the deficit in maintenance funds, presented their final accounts and showed the net balance of $11,000 had been given to the maintenance fund. Very hearty thanks were extended to the committees.

Returns from the annual collections in the churches had only begun to come in but it was reported that those which had been received were most encouraging and showed an advance over the sums given in the previous year.

Canadians Fill Banking Posts in Cleveland

By A. M. BELDING.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Dec. 3.—There are many Canadians in Cleveland. Some years ago there was a Canadian Club, but it has ceased to exist. It is an interesting fact that on the executive of the National Association of the Locomotive Engineers, who carry on an extensive banking business here and elsewhere, are two former Canadian bankers, and a number of members of the staff are also from Canada. When Uncle Sam wants good banking men, he looks to the Dominion to give him larger salaries and get the benefit of their ability and experience.

Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Kharطوم and Cleveland all figured in a conversation here on Saturday evening. Frederick Nixon, an excellent real estate dealer here, was once a Toronto athlete, and a member of the Queen’s Own, then in the ranks of the “Blue Devils” of Winnipeg; and then, around 1881, with Lord Dufferin on the Nile, and with the river and desert columns which went to the relief of Gordon, only to learn when within a day’s journey of Kharطوم that he had been killed by the Dervishes. Mr. Nixon went to Montreal with the Queen’s Own to join in the welcome to the Duke of Devonshire and Princess Louise and carry off the honors of the day. A dashing regiment had come up from Brooklyn, with Henry Ward Beecher as chaplain, and there was a very notable celebration.

Mr. Nixon, when with the Kharطوم expedition, was greatly impressed and charmed by Admiral Bessborough, who took pot-luck with him in a fine spirit of comradeship, that never smacked of gold lace or snobbishness. There was one sharp engagement with Dervishes, who attacked with fanatical bravery but were repulsed. The exploits of the Canadian troops were described by Mr. Nixon says, won them enduring fame.

Early last week the number of persons killed this year by automobiles in Cleveland was 194. Saturday’s record was not broken. In five fractured skulls, in six different accidents—if so they may be described—were killed on the same streets, and the recklessness of many drivers explains the large casualty list.

Not a day passes here without its list of robberies, holdups or burglaries, with far too frequent murders. The city has a very large population of alien birth or parentage, and crime with too many of them is commonplace.

Yet, Cleveland has great benevolence. Its community chest this year is $4,500,000 for the poor and helpless and orphaned ones of the city. The City Council is about to spend $2,000,000 in adding wings to the great public auditorium which cost $8,000,000, and which makes Cleveland a great convention city.

There is great wealth here, for there are vast and varied industries, and most of the American shipping on the Great Lakes is said to be owned in Cleveland. There are beautiful homes and spacious parks as well as skyscrapers and great factories, and altogether Cleveland is a most interesting city, enjoying continuous growth.

$250,000,000 LOANS TO SETTLERS URGED

Canadian Immigration Grant Suggested by Imrie at Winnipeg

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—In connection with the interview of the National Economic Conference with Premier Mackenzie King yesterday, John M. Imrie, president of the Edmonton Board of Trade, states, as supplementing the Canadian Press report, that the $250,000,000 suggested by him as an appropriation under the new colonization policy, was for the purpose of loans to settlers with insufficient capital to purchase land and equipment, rather than as an administration expenditure.

This, he made clear, was a proposal he had made himself to the conference at Winnipeg rather than a recommendation from the conference to the Government. Referring to the Canadian Press report quoting him as stating that the “Government’s present scheme on immigration pretty well carried out the recommendations, Mr. Imrie said today that these referred only to the plan under which 8,000 British families were being brought to Canada in cooperation with the Imperial Government. Mr. Imrie pointed out that the resolution called for a much wider plan of immigration and colonization than is represented in the Government’s present arrangement with the Imperial Government.

The Slight Cold Of To-day May Be Serious To-morrow

On the first appearance of a cough or cold, do not neglect it, but get rid of it at once before it has a chance to grow worse and becomes settled on the lungs, for once it does become deep-seated you are going to have a lot of trouble in getting rid of it. Our advice to you is that on the first sign of a cough or cold you should procure a bottle of

Sword of Days of Cromwell Presented to Natural History Society

Family Heirloom From W. G. Rothwell—Other Donations Also Are of Interest

An old sword, used in 1641 in the great Irish revolution of the time of Oliver Cromwell, which still has blood-stains on its blade, has been presented to the Natural History Society by W. G. Rothwell, of Lancaster Avenue. The sword has been a family heirloom and was carried and used by the man who carried and used the weapon in those stirring days of that revolution.

The sword blade is 40 inches in length and double edged. At its widest it is one inch and tapers to a leather scabbard has brass mountings, very sharp point. The hilt of steel flange work is very handsome and the sword is in the center of which is some human hair in a tiny glass frame. The ring was once owned by Thomas Edward Grinden.

Mrs. Manning and Miss Emily Spragg have presented old coins for the museum collection and Miss Adrian L. Hunt has given a portion of chocolate which was part of Queen Victoria's Christmas gift for a soldier in the South African war in 1899. The Queen sent chocolates to all the soldiers fighting at that time.

The six volumes of "Canada in the Great War" by various authorities, in a very nicely bound edition, have been presented to the society by the first C. F. A. through Serg. E. J. Fuddy and were donated in the memory of the old comrades of the givers in the Canadian Artillery who made the supreme sacrifice in the Great War. The accompanying note states that the books are given in the name of the Red Chevron men of the first contingent, of the 3rd New Brunswick Regiment of Artillery.

A very useful and welcome gift is a fine large show case with mirror, which has been presented to the society by F. E. Holman.

of 1885 which was made and presented by Gilbert E. Ring and a photograph of the Moama which was the last vessel built at Black River in 1901. The ship is shown in the photograph just ready for launching. She was built by J. and R. McLeod, one of whom was her captain.

A copy of the directory for Saint John and the Parish of Portland in 1863-64 containing also the New Brunswick Almanac and much interesting data concerning the city and province of that time has been presented by C. B. Lockhart and has a great deal of very interesting information.

TORHAMVAN HELD TILL LOCK REPAIRED

One Vessel Refuses to Wait Turn to Get Through and Grounds

MONTREAL, Dec. 2—The lower lock gate of lock No. 2, which had been out of commission since Sunday, was finally repaired Tuesday afternoon. The Torhamvan, which had been waiting until the repairs had been made, as she is too large to descend by the northerly and small series of locks, came through at 5 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Almost as soon as the one lock was placed in commission, lock No. 2 of the smaller series was placed out of commission through the fact of the lower gate being prevented from closing. A diver was sent down into the lock water, and for some time searched along the sill of the lock for the impediment. At 6 o'clock the lock was still out of commission, but it was expected to be in operation at a late hour the same night.

Many lake boats have been waiting above Black's Bridge to come down, a double line stretching right up to the Montreal Dry Docks, Ltd. Through the fact of one of these vessels refusing to await its turn to enter the lock it went aground on a narrow shoal to the side of the channel, where it was not expected to go.

KNOW THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN
To be effective, bran fiber must go through the various digestive processes without submitting to any of them. It must pass through the entire alimentary tract without its form being changed.
What happens when a bran food is eaten?
After the saliva has acted upon it, it passes through the stomach and into the intestines, where every part which is not fiber is absorbed.
In ALL-BRAN the quantity of fiber is so great that it furnishes bulk enough to prevent and relieve constipation.
In a part-bran food, the quantity of fiber is so small that there is only a puny amount to do a herculean task.
ALL-BRAN brings sure results. Demand it.

"I Was in a Habit Rut."

"I had always used a safety razor. I'd insert a new blade—a good enough first shave; then each shave worse.
"The blade got duller and duller, until in a fret I'd throw it away and insert a new one. A constant annoyance, an expense.
"I thought I'd go through life shaving this way. Ever dissatisfied. I was in a habit rut.
"But now I own a Valet AutoStrop Razor. I sharpen the blade, I shave, I clean the razor, all without removing the blade.
"I'd never go back to the old way."

And neither will you go back to the old way when you have used the Valet AutoStrop Razor with the automatic self-stropping feature built right into the frame of the razor. Not only does it mean a "first shave" edge every day on the same blade, it also means a quicker and smoother shave.
Just switch for awhile. See if you'd go back to the old way.

SAILOR SEEKS MORE THAN HE SOLD FOR. CASE IS HEARD IN COURT AT DIGBY. Disposed of Claim to Salvage For Less Than His Ultimate Share.

DIGBY, Dec. 3--A special sitting of the County Court was held today. Judge Grierson presiding. The case arose over the salvage claim made by the Dorothy M. Smart assisting the Jean Campbell when in distress near Shelburne in 1920. The salvage action was settled and a large sum paid the owners and the crew of the Dorothy M. Smart. Charles Simms, the plaintiff in today's case, was a sailor, and Capt. Asbell Snow, the defendant, master of the Dorothy M. Smart. While the action for salvage was pending Charles Simms sold his claim to Capt. Snow for a sum smaller than his share turned out to be when the remuneration for salvage was divided. Upon this the plaintiff, Simms, brought the action to recover the difference between the amount of the salvage and the amount paid him by Captain Snow. The case occupied all the afternoon and Judge Grierson reserved decision. Frank Jones, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff, while E. Hart Nichols, Halifax, and Frank W. Nichols looked after the case for the defendant.

QUICK WORK DONE BY POTATO-DIGGER. NEW YORK, Dec. 3--Drawn by a tractor or horse, a potato digger now on the market harvests the crop more quickly than is possible by hand or plow, says Popular Mechanics. It straddles the row and has a shovel in front, set deep enough to avoid cutting the tubers while removing them. Vines, grass and dirt fall away as they are carried on an endless chain belt to a shaker at the rear. A kicker attachment sweeps the refuse to one side, leaving the potatoes in a row so that they can be gathered quickly.

Cruel Drivers Are Given Own Medicine. NEW YORK, Dec. 4--Barheaded and costless, two men stood for 15 minutes in the icy, driving rain outside the Bridge Plaza Court in Brooklyn, that they might find out and report to Magistrate Golden how it felt to be a horse. They entered dripping and chilled after the experiment and were permitted to call it a punishment. The two men, William Levine, 40, and Gasparo Pules, 44, each of whom had been arrested for leaving his horse unblanketed for 15 minutes in cold rain, were haled into court by an agent for the S. F. C. A.

How To Get The Best Results From Your Want Ad. The small cost of a "Want Ad." is a secondary consideration. The object is results.

Therefore, never cheapen here and there to save an odd cent or two. By doing so the value of the entire ad. may be destroyed.

When writing your "Want Ad." put yourself in the place of the reader, and answer the questions you yourself would naturally ask.

If you have a flat to rent, the home seeker wants to know more than a plain statement of the fact. He wants to know how many rooms there are; if there is hot water; bath; electric lights; garage, etc., and the amount of the rent.

Your flat may be a $60 a month home, but if you don't say so in your ad, the $60 a month tenant may not reply, thinking perhaps it is a $15 a month flat.

To get the right tenor quickly, give full information.

To rent a room quickly to the right kind of a roomer, give all particulars. Show that you are anxious to make the roomer comfortable for a reasonable rental.

LORD FISHER'S SEA VISION. The ill-fated MI belonged to the abandoned K submarine class, and with her shortened 12-inch naval gun and crew of nearly 70, is the nearest prospect to a modern submarine.

A GREAT PLAY. A question often asked me by overseas friends is—What's the best thing to see in London at the moment in the theatrical line?

VOICES. "I am wrong about the silence though. From some nearby dugout, a dim and alluring glow of wet mud and corrugated iron, which would be pierced to a German minny or anything heavier than a field gun shell, sound draping comrades' shoulders, the wet steel walls slanting rims, beneath which loyal eyes gazed grimly out of resolution. The smell of the damp equipment, of the rotten earth, and of brown duckboards and occasional dull distant echoes, like the thuds of the Thoms hammer riveting giant coffins. That was Wipers ten years ago.

TOLSTOY'S DAUGHTER. Madame Tolstoy, with whom I chatted yesterday, is on her first visit to England, has much of the penetrating and idealistic force of personality that made her father world famous and his name a factor for posterity.

HERB PENNOCK MOST EFFECTIVE AMERICAN LEAGUE PITCHER

YANKEES' STAB
HAD AVERAGE
2.87 A GAME

Stanley Coveleskie Led
In Games Won and Lost

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Herbert Pennock, the slim left-hander of the New York Yankees, who spent a fall vacation a few years ago hunting the lordly New Brunswick moose, was the most effective pitcher in the American league in the 1925 campaign, and moreover, despite the era of heavy hitting, was even harder to score earned runs on than he was in 1924, when he ranked second to Walter Johnson on the basis of fewest earned runs allowed per game.

Pennock in 1925 allowed 281 earned runs per nine innings game, or two-hundredths less per game than were scored off him in 1924. In that year Walter Johnson stood out in front with an average of 2.72 runs per game off him, and he took third place in the list of pitchers, ranked on the basis of effectiveness, his team mate Stanley Coveleskie ranking next to the leading Pennock.

Pennock and Coveleskie were the only pitchers to allow fewer than three earned runs to the Yankees in 1925. Pennock pitched in as many as 45 innings in the season. Washington had three men in the first 10 in the list and the Chicago White Sox had two and the Athletics two.

COVEY'S GREAT RECORD
In the matter of "won" and "lost" credits, the honors go to Stanley Coveleskie of Washington, with 29 victories and but five defeats in his record for the year. Pennock, being with a losing team, did not register as good as 50 per cent. in won and lost, thus indicating how little such credits amount to when it comes to actual performance.

NO NO-HIT GAME
No pitcher could turn in a no-hit game in the American League in 1925. Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox came nearest to it. He held the Athletics to no hits until the ninth inning, when Bob Veach upset his hopes with a safe drive. That was on Sept. 15 in the second game of a double-header with Washington. Lyons allowed no other hit and got into the records with a one-hit game. Another one-hit game was pitched by Joe Bush for the St. Louis Browns, that was against Washington on Aug. 27. Walter Johnson kept Bush out of the no-hit pitcher class by socking him for a two-bagger in the sixth inning.

Walter Johnson pitched two games in which he allowed opponents but two hits; one two-hit game was pitched by Harris and Romme in Philadelphia. Pennock and Jones of New York and Whitehall of Detroit.

Ted Lyons of Chicago pitched the most shutout games—only five. Gray of Philadelphia and Giard of St. Louis pitched four each.

Marberry of Washington finished most games, 39 in all, and he got in 16 others in which he was not able to fill the job of relief pitcher or on his own and had to be taken out. He did not pitch a full game all season, though he was in 55 all told. Connelly of Chicago was hit by 28 games, ranked next to Marberry as a relief man.

JOE IRVINE TO MEET DANBOISE
Irvine and Gordon Paris May Appear on Card Here This Month

Joe Irvine, local welterweight boxer, has signed to meet Kid Danboise in a return battle at Fort Fairfield, Maine, this month. The local boy holds a decisive win over the Maine boxer. It is said that Irvine is now in excellent shape and with a few victories under his belt would like a crack at George Fifeild with the title at stake. This rugged welter was over Al Smith, Eddie Anderson, Kid Danboise and others during the summer.

Maroons Conquer Canadiens For First Time Since Organization

Along The Sport Trail

BY JOHN J. DUNLOP

IF SOMEONE had told us there was not a Santa Claus and proved it, we could hardly have been more disappointed than after reading an insurance report on football casualties in the United States this year. The report said that exactly two young men were killed while playing on college teams. There were 18 more who were only concerned with the college where the boys are trained to this sort of game. Not that we are thirsty for gore, or anything like it, but our idea of United States football always has been that it was a highly murderous sort of game where the players playfully chewed off each other's ears or twisted each other's legs in great glee. This has been considered the chief forte of most football players. Now, along comes a miserable little report that says that out of the several thousand football games played this fall before 12,000,000 people, only two boys were fatally hurt. The public has been spoon-fed on this rough stuff so long that it comes as a distant shock to find our college heroes getting away with this pink tea stuff behind their backs. We always thought bull-fighting was a pink-tea affair but college football in the United States now takes rank as the leading 5 o'clock tea act on the parade. Not so long ago George Owen of Harvard tried to tell us that the football player of today should be compared to the gladiator of old Rome. Childhood pictures of the dying gladiator show a helmeted young fellow sticking a long sword in a brother and placing his foot on him, striking a posture, as it were, while the movie men clicked off the foul deed. Maybe, that is not correct but the sword-sticking finale is, we believe, now, there is about as much comparison between football and the gladiators in view of this insurance report as there is between the Swiss and Bulgarian navies. This is a cruel blow and the sport writers who hand out such dope should be written up.

ON TOP OF THIS, we read a report about Jackson Keefer, famous Brown star. It said that an X-ray showed no broken bones; the cartilage was torn from several ribs; and there was a dislocation of the shoulder. In addition, the collarbone is somewhat damaged. Outside of this, Mr. Keefer is quite well.

SOME IDEA of the growth of the speed-skating game is shown by the aggressive manner in which the city of Detroit (you will recognize the name as the home town of Henry Ford) went after the international outdoor speed-skating championships for February, 5, 6 and 7—and got them, by the way. Amateur speed-skating has been developing slowly there for the last five years and the officials felt the time was ripe to get some of the big guns there to give the sport a boost. They rounded up the support of everyone possible and landed the big meet. It will be held by the Detroit Masonic Country Club, outside Detroit, and some big crowds are expected to see Charlie Gorman, Charlie Jewraw, Harry Kaskey and others battle for the international crown this year. It is significant that the big cities are taking to this game strongly having crowded out such places as Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, Binghamton and others. Just where the Canadian national title will be decided has not been set yet. Quebec's application for affiliation was not in order at the international and plans for holding the meet at the Ancient Capital are still in the air. The ice is holding pretty good here and the local skaters are having a great time getting into shape this early in the season.

POSTPONING their banquet to the Watermen, Maritime baseball champions, to pay honor to a fellow-athlete, Billy Maynes, is a graceful tribute to an athlete who has brought honor to his native city.

FOR EVERY MINUTE he played in his first professional game, Mr. "Red" Grange, the most-advertised man in the history of American sport, clicked the cash register for $2,000. He has been clicking it ever since in his games for prices not much lower than $500 for every minute played. This sounds good but Jack Dempsey has been linked to the mast. Mr. Dempsey has been known to collect as high as $100,000 a minute for a night's work. When Tommy Murphy shakes down a nice plum on the Grand Circuit, he gets around $2,000 a minute while professional golfers can snipe off $72,000 in coupons for a few hours' work. But all these fellows are pikers compared to some we know. How about the traveling salesman in the Pullman car who pulled a deal of $100,000, that never came off? How about the bank messenger who carries away as high as $100,000 in a few seconds—and only gets $25 per week. Then, there is African golf not to mention the boys who stake their purses, collar buttons and shirt studs on a pat hand.

Big Holiday Trip Planned For Minor League Owners

BASEBALL COLUMNISTS, but all big reform look radical in their incipency. The plan of Mike H. Sexton, president of the minor leagues, announced recently by the United Press, is the most practical one that has been suggested as a method of helping young players get the right kind of a start and provide them with a means of quicker and better development. Sexton is going to ask the minor league club owners, when they meet this winter on Catalina Island, Cal., to approve the organization of a new minor league class. This class—which probably would be known as Class E—would be composed of leagues with teams composed of high school, college and semi-pro players. If this suggestion does not meet with the approval of the "little magnates," Sexton will ask them to adopt some method of restricting the number of seasoned or experienced players and the number of option players on Class D clubs. This plan, he figures, would make more openings for young players while the new league idea would give them plenty of opportunity to learn baseball under proper instruction and put them through a course into better leagues in one-third of the time required under the present classification. Detailed plans for the adoption of the new classification were not disclosed, but territorial question would be the only big problem and it should not take more than a year to get the various leagues organized. A special train would be made up of the faculty jobs could be used as pensions for deserving baseball players who had reached the end of their active days. Heydler's plan, of course, did sound radical and it provoked some mirth among the

LOCAL HOCKEY TEAM TRAINING FOR BIG YEAR

Much Interest in M. A. H. A. Meeting in Truro Today

SAINT JOHN'S hockey team turned out in large numbers last night at the arena for indoor training with candidates limbering up on the bicycles and showing the police. Several new goal-tenders are being tried out including "Bob" Melrose, Boyne, and Earl Fraser. The latter shows up very well when the posts are on the defence. It is likely Brad Gilbert and Hallisey will form the nucleus, while on the forward line there is Lemley, Lane, former Wanderers' star, Boudreau, Kiley, Thompson and Jimmie Gilbert. J. Libbus is another newcomer, while Matcotte, a C. E. R. man for the winter, also turned out last night. Both Libbus and Thompson are right-hand shots, something a Saint John team has never had since revival of the game here and this is expected to help the outfit greatly in its clashes this year.

Tonight, at Truro, the special meeting of the M. A. H. A. will be held when reorganization of the New Brunswick clubs will be completed. Karl Fraser will represent the newly-formed southern section.

TRURO MEETING
TRURO, N. S., Dec. 4.—One of the most interesting questions to be decided at today's special meeting of the Maritime Amateur Hockey Association was whether the M. A. H. A. should be reorganized into two separate communities and banished Halifax men from playing in the Maritime Amateur Hockey City League, the Dartmouths were unable to make up a satisfactory team with the material at hand, and spectators here to be gratified by the association. A strong deputation from Dartmouth, headed by Alderman A. C. Pettigrew and Walter C. Bishop, were in Truro today to press the claims of that town and there were hopes that the meeting would result in a new clause. The meetings will be held this afternoon and evening.

C. L. Mofford Is New Commodore of Club

The Model Yacht Club held its officers' meeting last night in the office of Gregory and Sons, Reed's Point and elected officers for the ensuing year as follows: Commodore, C. L. Mofford; vice-commodore, J. Logan; rear commodore, E. M. Harrington; secretary, C. Carrillo; fleet captain, George Burton. The sailing committee for 1926 was appointed as follows: W. W. George, chairman; C. H. Hampton, Roy Belyea and Fred Silliphant. The club adopted a new class of boat, the 42 inch Water Cup class, consisting of 38 inch and 39 inch classes. Plans were discussed for the season of 1926. The season just closed had been one of great success, and it was expected that in the coming year the club would make a very good showing.

M'Gill's Rooters Band

The vim and vigor instilled in the body of McGill rooters by the 30 red-vested bandmen at each of this season's football games has made it more evident than ever that "music hath charms." The McGill Rooters Band has come to stay; and every day it is becoming more firmly established in undergraduate life. It sprang into the limelight last year under the eminently successful leadership of Bob Logan. This year's bandmaster, E. M. Casey, with the valuable assistance of Bandmaster Gagnier of the Grenadier Guards, is carrying on the good work. The band will play at all the hockey matches this winter. It is expected also that the musicians will broadcast for C.N.R.M.

"Doc" Stewart Plays Great Game As Bruins Lose

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—Montreal Maroons passed a milestone on their road to hockey honors, when for the first time since the organization of the club, over one year ago, they scored a victory over Canadiens, their local rivals in the National Hockey League, before a crowd of 5,000 spectators, last night, after one of the most hectic games waged by the city rivals, the score being 3 to 2. For brilliant incidents, the contest surpassed any pro hockey game seen here for some time. The team play was nothing to create any great excitement among the fans, but for individual brilliance, strenuous play, lights, questioned decisions, rows between spectators and officials and players and spectators, the game has not had an equal here in two seasons, at least. The excitement started early, and it lasted until the final clang of the bell.

TROJAN ROVERS WIN FIRST GAME

MISS D. NORWOOD SCORES 23 POINTS IN OPENING LEAGUE MATCH
The opening game in the Girls' Basketball League under boys' rules was played on the East Saint John floor last night between the Trojan Rovers and the East Saint John team the former winning 37 to 12. The losers played a wonderfully aggressive game but showed lack of experience in passing and shooting while the Trojan Rovers were more accurate in their shots. Many of the East Saint John girls are playing basketball for the first time this year and are bound to improve as the season progresses. Two new players trying out for a place on the Trojan Rovers team, Elizabeth Nass and Janet Fraser, showed up exceptionally well and should strengthen the team materially. Although there were no outstanding plays in last night's game it was a fair exhibition for an opening game. The scores and summary follow:

OTAWA WON.
OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 4.—The Ottawa Senators won their second game in two starts, last night, when they beat the Boston Bruins, 2-0, in a somewhat lullish game. Both goal keepers were the stars of the evening, turning shut after shut aside.

The scoring was done in the first two periods. Nigbor getting the first one, and Boucher the second. It was slow hockey until the last period when both teams let out a faster pace and served up the best hockey of the evening. The Senators were content to hold their lead, although they carried attack to the visitors for the greater part of the game. The Bruins seemed leg weary, and faded away in the hot part of the Ottawa six set for them in the opening session. The game was remarkably clean, only three penalties being inflicted, and the players on both sides took and gave the bumps with a smile.

JUNIOR COUNCIL IN MONCTON DISCUSS SUPPORT OF SKATER

Refer Backing For Harry Smythe to Committee of the Whole

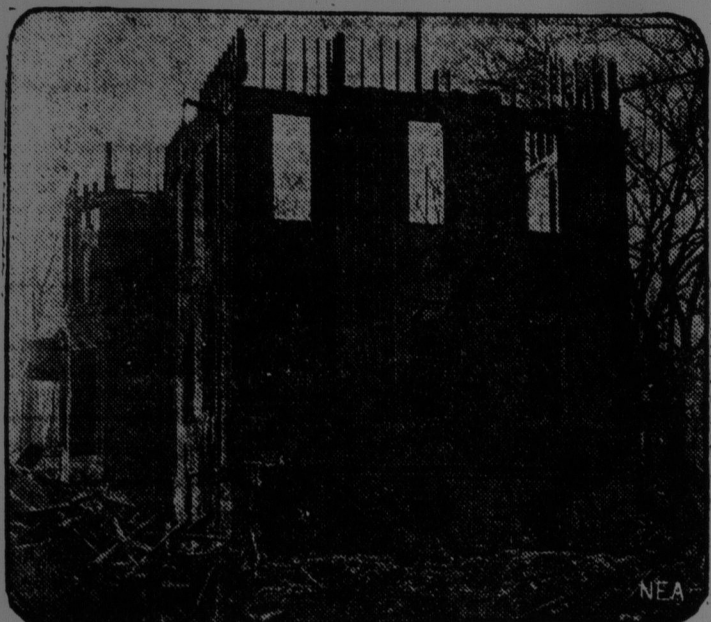

MONCTON, Dec. 3—At a meeting of the Junior Council tonight with Mayor Karl Steves in the chair, the oath of office was administered to the newly appointed clerk, Richard T. Rasmussen. Ald. Keith submitted an extensive report on the city market, saying there was need of increased accommodation. The engineering department of the city has drawn plans for an extension of the present building.

ASK SUPPORT FOR SKATER. Mayor Steves said that Harry Smythe proposed to represent Moncton in skating events this winter and suggested that a popular subscription list be opened for him. The latter intends to compete in the world's championship meet at Saint John on Jan. 26, 27 and 28. He will enter in the Detroit International events, Feb. 5, 6 and 7 and the United States National meet at Chicago on Feb. 11, 12 and 13. He will race at Saranac Lake and Lake Placid, N. Y., and will participate also in the International indoor contest in New York Feb. 28, March 1 and 2. The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

LIBRARY FACILITIES. Considerable discussion took place regarding a proposal to secure increased library facilities in Moncton. This matter, which has been before the council for some time, was referred to the committee of the whole for further consideration. It was decided to appoint the Junior board for revision on the voters' list. Applications will close Dec. 15.

FINED FOR FAILURE TO KEEP FUR RECORD. FREDERICTON, Dec. 3.—Louis Acker of Saint Stephen was convicted and fined here before Magistrate Limerick for failing to keep proper records of his transactions in hides and furs. He was found at Millville a few days ago with a load of hides including 39 deer hides which were confiscated. His prosecution and fining of $25 followed.

STUDENTS CELEBRATE VICTORY

Northwestern college men went on a rampage to celebrate the record of their football team. They slugged the bayer, defied police and firemen, and burned down the house above, an abandoned dwelling formerly the quarters of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. When firemen tried to put out the blaze, the students stormed them and turned their own hose on them.

HAS ONE GOOD ARM AND ONE BAD HOOK

Maine Man Put Up Quite a Battle, Evidence at Houlton Shows

HOULTON, Me., Dec. 3.—Marcus L. Davenport, of Eagle Lake, has but one good arm but with that and a steel hook in the place of a fist he was able to put up a regular fight. It was brought out in the Supreme Court today when Davenport was on trial on an indictment for assault upon William Brewster, station agent at Eagle Lake. Former Attorney-General R. W. Shaw defended Davenport and contended that Brewster started the fight and got mixed up with Davenport's hook.

ON LIQUOR CHARGE. Paul Cole, of Houlton, was convicted on a liquor charge. Michael Ouellette, president and treasurer of the Frenchville branch of the Maine Potato Company, went on trial on an indictment for selling potatoes claimed to be mortgaged to a fertilizer company.

(Toronto Mail and Empire) A politician, notorious for his villainous and pompous walks invited into the private office of a business man. The latter, despite the fact that he was occupied with a set of figures, courteously invited the politician to take a seat, and excusing himself with the remark that he would be disengaged in a few minutes, continued at his work. The politician, however, was not the person to brook delay at the hands of any man. "You probably did not catch my name," he said importantly. "I'm Mr. So-and-So." "Well, well," declared the business man, without looking up from the figures, "in that case take two seats."

Over 300,000 Christmas Trees Shipped Through Moncton To U. S. In The Last Fortnight

By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent. MONCTON, Dec. 3—A large number of Christmas trees is being shipped by the Canadian National Railways from various Maritime points to the United States. The movement began about Nov. 20, there being more than 300,000 spruce and fir trees shipped to date through Moncton. They are fastened in bundles averaging about six to the bundle. About 400 bundles are placed on a flat car, although in an instance the bundles totalled 540 in a car. The number of cars used so far this season has been in excess of 115, enough to make three heavy trains. Prices paid for the trees amount to two cents and sometimes three with additional payments for handling and bundling. For the most part the cutting in this district has been confined to the neighborhood of Scotch Settlement and Berries Mills.

DECISION RESERVED IN BANKRUPTCY SUIT

Dr. Frank H. Gordon Opposes Petition Sought by Maine People

BANGOR, Me., Dec. 3.—Dr. Frank H. Gordon, of Bangor, originator and promoter of the Gordon Silver Fox Ranches, in which nearly $3,000,000 has been invested and which is now in litigation, filed an answer as an individual to the petition in bankruptcy brought by William H. Spear and Beattie Spear, of Portland, and William H. Freeman, of Yarmouth, who are investors in fox contracts. Dr. Gordon's answer sets forth that he is not insolvent, that he does not owe debts individually in excess of $1,000 and that the transfer of his interests and holdings of a million dollars or thereabouts to the Frank H. Gordon Inc. was not with fraudulent intent. He asks that the petition be dismissed. Decision is reserved.

The wealth of the Argentine is in the fertile plains. Every farmer knows that a soil in which thistles flourish is good growing soil. There are no other such thistles in the world as the giants that grow on the Pampas. There are "thistle years" when the plant springs up everywhere and causes the gaucho to curse and so long for the pampero, the hot wind which breaks with sudden violence over the land, bringing in its wake torrents of rain that beat the hated thistles to death. W. H. Hudson, who spent his childhood on estancias in Argentina, where his exquisite sensibility was nourished by the wild life of the plains, has left an indelible picture of a "thistle year." It is a hateful period of restraint to the gaucho, who lives half his day on his horse, and loves his freedom as much as a wild bird, he says. His house becomes like a cage to him, the tall thistles hemming it in and shutting out the view on all sides. The gaucho, the picturesque figure of romance writers, has created the country in his own image. It is what to the crop-grower. On some of his lands, where 30 years and less ago half-wild cattle and horses grazed on strange birds nested, corn is now growing for the markets of Europe. But the Pampas is immense, and the herdsman of the plains, hardy, plucky, ignorant, is still the chief factor in making his country rich and prosperous. The gauchos are almost a race apart.

Says "Pen" Better Than Many Hotels

OTTAWA, Dec. 3.—Brigadier-General W. St. Pierre Hughes, superintendent of penitentiaries, in an address here stated that while dungeons, dark cells and flogging in penitentiaries were things of the past, he favored the judicious use of the lash for hardened criminals. Most of them, he said, would rather face a five-year term than one application of the lash. Referring to the condition of the modern penitentiaries, General Hughes stated that penitentiary accommodation is better than 99 per cent of the hotels in Canada, excepting those in the larger towns and cities.

The Value of Mistakes. (Harry Daniel in Thrift Magazine.) Much is to be said in favor of mistakes. The men who are always having city parks and suburban boulevards, skyscrapers and babies named for them made their mistakes, and knew it. There are those who are always right; who never have made a mistake and never shall. With them all progress has stopped. Between the north and south ear there is a vast area where new ideas have ceased to sprout. It doesn't make much difference whether your age is seventeen, seventy or one hundred seventy, you will grow and develop as long as you are willing to profit by your mistakes. Look your mistakes straight in the eye, shake hands with them and then bid them good-bye forever. A bad habit is nothing but a mistake that has acquired a permanent address. The average man of success today will say, "I owe my success to hard work." But he is holding out one of his choicest secrets. What he should say is, "I'm a success because I knew how to clean up $100 worth of wisdom on every little $2 mistake I ever made." Mistakes seldom bite the first time.

MONTROSE WILL SAIL WITH 500

Saint John People on First Passenger Liner of Season Outwards

This is Christmas Ship—Couple 65 Years Married Among Passengers

The C. P. S. liner Montrose will sail tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock for Liverpool with approximately 150 cabin and 400 third class passengers. This will be the first passenger liner and the first Christmas ship to sail from this port this season.
 Among the passengers will be O. G. Branscombe, and the Misses Mabel S. and Florence B. Gilbert of this city; Miss Patricia Gratton Esmond, Dublin, Ireland; Miss Irene Ward, former M. P. for Newcastle-on-Tyne; Col. C. C. Blackburn, London, Eng.; Sir Stophard Brunton, Montreal; Col. M. E. D. Heppenstall, Dunbar, B. C.; Dr. A. A. G. and Mrs. McLeod, Ottawa; Captain G. F. Priestley, M. C. Hattergate, Esq.; Major M. R. and Mrs. Tenbroeke and son, Winnipeg; and Lt. Col. C. W. Villiers, Victoria, B. C.

ON VISIT HOME
 Two other passengers booked to sail are Mr. and Mrs. Orton, whose combined ages amount to 169 years. They are traveling from their home in Leicester, Sask., to their old home in Leicester, England. They reached Montreal somewhat short of funds. They thought it was necessary to arrive in Montreal several days before the departure of the liner on which they had booked passages, but, although they had through tickets from Cutknife to Leicester, found that the extra day's delay would leave them in strained financial circumstances. With the assistance of rail and steamship officials their needs were properly taken care of and funds were quickly wired from the western home.

MARRIED 65 YEARS
 The couple were married 65 years ago in Leicester and 20 years later came to Canada together with two sons and one daughter to make a home in the western prairies, and on the completion of their present visit intend returning to Canada.
 Mr. Orton said that his harvest this year had been the best that he has ever garnered and that he had sent more than 35,000 bushels to the elevators. In celebration of the occasion Mr. Orton considered that the present was an opportune time to make a trip to his home land.
 By the time they reach their destination Mr. and Mrs. Orton will have traversed 5,819 miles by land and water.

SINGING ABILITY WAS VALUED TOO LOW
 Offer of a Cent For Seamen's Music Starts Trouble For Douglas Campbell

Chas. Malally and Douglas Campbell, both 19, were arrested last night by Policeman Corvee on a charge of fighting in Water street. Campbell said that he had not been fighting but had been attacked by Malally and two other men who had got away. Malally said he and the two other men had been singing in the Seamen's Institute and when they went out on the street, Campbell offered them a cent each for their singing. This was much lower than the value which Malally set on their talents, so he hit Campbell and his companions followed suit. He admitted that Campbell had not started the fight. Campbell was allowed to go and Malally was fined $20 for creating a disturbance.

MEDALS TO CADETS.
 Tonight, at the Armouries, Col. W. H. Anderson, officer commanding this military district, will present to St. Andrew's Cadets the provincial championship medals which that corps won. The ceremony will take place at 7.45, and it should be only too glad to help to the limit. A lively business was done at all the booths, and the games were never idle. The band played a bright programme, and, not content with this, the bandmen mingled in the throng and helped in the sale of tickets at the various booths. So pleasant was everything that most of those attending lingered until near the close, and when auction time came there was a large gathering faced by I. Webber, who cheerfully gave his services as auctioneer in disposing of goods unsold at the booths. He did his work well and added quite a respectable sum to the night's receipts.

GRATITUDE EXPRESSED.
 The Times-Star Empty Stocking Fund committee expresses deep gratitude to all who helped—to the City Cornet Band for their latest demonstration of the community spirit for which it is noted; to His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, for his gift of a hall, freely given; to the merchants who freely stocked the booths and donated prizes; to the many workers from the band and others who worked so faithfully; to Mr. Webber for his valued services as auctioneer; to the New Freeman Publishing Company, for use of the offices, and to the people who so generously patronized the fair.

As Hiram Sees It
 WINDSOR, Ont.—Well, sir—I been over to Cleveland, Ohio, an' back agin. It aint my fault, I wasn't arrested two or three times—but everybody was real nice an' said "This way, Hiram"—when I was bent on goin' somewhere else. I guess maybe it was the Thanksgiving spirit that made 'em so obligin'. I had three carpet bags an' two overcoats an' an umbrella with me. I was callin' the cut-throat fellers 'ud make me unpack them carpet bags—but they jist poked round with their hands an' felt in my overcoat pockets an' said it was 'right. I give one of 'em a cigar an' we had a real, sociable time. I went through Detroit but I didn't see Henry Ford. I didn't send Henry word I was comin'. They say there's over eighty thousand Canadians in Detroit. I didn't stop to count 'em—fer I'd hev to sort over more'n a million people to pick 'em out. Henry he made Detroit. Afore he come along it was as dull as Saddleback after the river froze over—just now the smoke from the factories almost hides the sun—yes, sir.

FAIR FOR FUN MARKED SUCCESS

Incomplete Figures Indicate Nearly $400 for Christmas Stockings

Attendance Large and Interest is Keen at City Cornet Band Event For Poor

The City Cornet Band's Around-the-World fair in St. Malachi's Hall last night for The Times-Star Empty Stocking Fund went with a lively swing and was a marked success. While all the returns were not available at noon today, the indications were that perhaps nearly $400 would be added to the fund as a result of this effort. The attendance was about 500.

CROWD GOOD-NATURED.
 It was a good-natured crowd, ready to enjoy the pleasures of the evening and to spend something to insure that some little ones of the poor would not go this Christmas without a call from Santa Claus. At all the booths a good business was done and many a one went home with a side of bacon, boxes of chocolates, an umbrella, a pair of blankets or some other equally valuable prizes. House-holds did a thriving business all evening.

Throughout the hours of the fair the City Cornet Band discoursed sweet music and the bandmen were not a bit less pleased than The Times-Star Empty Stocking Fund committee to see how well the people had rallied to the call of the little ones and the mothers distressed at the prospect of a cheerless Yuletide. One booth vied with another to see if a large sum could not be realized for this worthy undertaking and the good-natured rivalry of the workers lent new zest to the evening. In all it was very successful and far exceeded the expectations of the committee.

Everybody connected with the fair seemed filled with a desire to get the most possible for the little ones, and this applied to patrons as well as to the workers. "It certainly is a good cause," was the general comment, "and all should be only too glad to help to the limit." A lively business was done at all the booths, and the games were never idle. The band played a bright programme, and, not content with this, the bandmen mingled in the throng and helped in the sale of tickets at the various booths. So pleasant was everything that most of those attending lingered until near the close, and when auction time came there was a large gathering faced by I. Canadian Literature Fireside Club Topic
 The Fireside Club of St. David's met last night at the residence of Kenneth Nelson, Pitt street. The speaker was Rev. H. A. Cody, and his subject was Canadian Literature. In opening his address, Rev. Mr. Cody referred to the late Mr. Nelson, former occupant of the home, who was the author of the poem "My Own Canadian Home." The speaker also detailed difficulties met by Canadian authors in disposing of their manuscripts and mentioned severe criticism received by the writers from certain sources. He then dealt briefly with Canadian authors and read selections from a number of them, both prose and poetry. The meeting was presided over by Gordon Willet, president of the club. Refreshments were served by the hostess.
