Harding Orders U. S. Troops From Rhine

State Department Announces That President "Deemed Time Expedient for Recall of Forces Now at Coblenz."

Washington, Jan. 10.—Withdrawal of the U. S. troops from the Rhine was ordered today by President Harding.

In announcing the decision the state department said that the president deemed the time expedient for the recall of the forces now at Coblenz.

The U. S. forces remaining in that area number about 1,000 men, and it was indicated that the withdrawal order would be carried out as soon as the U. S. commander, Major Gen. Allen, could make the necessary arrangements for winding up finally the affairs of the army of occupation.

Coblenz, Jan. 10.—The order for the withdrawal of the U. S. troops from the Rhine, the news of which became known through a despatch from the Associated Press office at Paris, caused much excitement as it spread among the men of the U. S. army here.

BORAH READS EUROPE LESSON

U. S. Senator Cables London Daily News About the Situation.

London, Jan. 10.—The Daily News publishes a signed cable despatch from U. S. Senator Borah, who says the insuperable obstacle to U. S. assistance in Europe is that demand there seems to be that assistance shall be given in the form of some kind of political alliance, or league, or guarantee.

Another obstacle, Mr. Borah adds is that Europe refuses to help herself. "Her militaristic and imperialistic policy since the armistice," Senator Borah quoted as saying, "diminishes our hopes and destroys our faith."

The senator brands such policies as "utterly brutal and insane." Referring to France's action with regard to the Ruhr, he says it paralyzes all the best hopes of the American people.

In an appreciative editorial the Daily News says: "The senator reads us a severe lesson which is not ill deserved."

show a complete chain of evidence. The dead girl had gone to a house in Main street. Witnesses would proceed from that. Witnesses would be called from the General Public Hospital to show the cause of death. Evidence introduced to show what had been found in the house in Main street.

A dying declaration had been made by the girl in the presence of Magistrate Ritchie. The witness would tell of the contents of it and of certain acts of identification by the girl. The purpose was to bring the jury to do justice and justice alone, and he appealed to them to do their duty fearlessly and well, even though it might bring down upon them the wrath of the law.

The first witness for the Crown was Miss Blanche Whitehead, a court stenographer. She remembered the hearing before Coroner Porter.

Mr. Fowler objected to the witness reading from her notes taken at the inquest.

The witness said she had taken down the evidence of the police magistrate. He had read a paper and she had taken down a copy of it. She had with her a copy of what the paper had contained, which she produced. It was placed in evidence, subject to strenuous objection on the part of Mr. Fowler.

Thomas Frontin, examined by Mr. Henneberry, gave evidence as to his daughter.

Mr. Fowler said there had been trouble of the same sort in his house before in connection with the same girl, and a child had been born. The child had lived only a day. This had been a year and a half ago.

Hon. R. J. Ritchie, police magistrate, identified his signature to some depositions taken before him in the preliminary hearing.

After some argument of counsel he said he had taken a declaration from the girl at the hospital. A paper had been signed on his first visit. The second trip was made in consequence of a supposed defect in a paper for Mr. Gale. The paper he received had had taken back to the hospital and the deceased had signed it and he had witnessed it.

Mr. Fowler said it was not material to the validity of a document what an outsider might think of the medical condition of the person making a dying declaration. He said this when the judge said that the magistrate might speak as to the medical condition as he thought it.

The judge said he would allow the witness to speak of what the dead girl had said and done. Considerable argument ensued between the judge and Mr. Fowler. Finally the judge said: "The idea is that the document is not in existence."

The Magistrate said he had read to the accused a copy of what she was alleged to have said to Mr. Gale. The last he remembered of the paper was that he had it with other papers at the coroner's inquest. He had searched weekdays and Sundays for the paper but since that night he had not seen them. His clerk had searched long and diligently for it but had been unable to find it. Dr. Wallace attempted to prove the contents by the witnesses who had been present when it was made but Mr. Fowler maintained that this could not be done until it was proven positively that the original document could not be produced. Considerable time was taken up by argument on this point. The judge finally directed that Mr. Henderson the court clerk be cited to prove that the document had been lost, supporting the evidence of the magistrate.

The Crown would call witnesses to show a complete chain of evidence. The dead girl had gone to a house in Main street. Witnesses would proceed from that. Witnesses would be called from the General Public Hospital to show the cause of death. Evidence introduced to show what had been found in the house in Main street.

Mayor Makes Short Work Of Confiscation Talk

Tells Investment Bankers and Bond Dealers Their Activity Comes at Wrong Time—Hearing at City Hall Today—Old Cry of Injury to City's Credit Raised.

Representatives of the Investment Bankers' Association of America and of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada appeared before the members of the City Council this morning to advise the council in the matter of the City taking over the property of the New Brunswick Power Company.

Both bodies presented written statements of their views and their criticisms added other verbal information.

Mayor Fisher in a short address answered the arguments of the financial people, in the course of which he laid the responsibility for the present situation at the doors of the bond dealers for not objecting to inflation in the securities issued by the N. B. Power Co. when it purchased the property of the St. John Railway Company.

Besides the Mayor and all the commissioners, those present included Henry H. Hayes, chairman of the public service committee, and O. B. Wilcox, counsel for the Investment Bankers' Association of America, New York, and R. D. Bell, of Montreal, chairman of the public utilities and industrial finance committee, and E. Long, K. C., of Toronto, both of the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, and F. M. Sanderson, of New York, representative of some of the security holders in the N. B. Power Company.

The Mayor, in opening the meeting, asked that the matter be made as brief as possible. The people of St. John, he said, were feeling antagonistic to the course being pursued by the Bond Dealers and Investment Bankers bodies in objecting to the action taken by the city.

Investment Bankers' Case. Mr. Hayes read the following statement:—The Investment Bankers' Association of America is composed of nearly 600 investment houses, comprising a large percentage of the reputable dealers in investment securities in the United States and many in Canada. Its members are not brokers, buying and selling on commission; they investigate securities offered, and buy for their own account, and re-sell them if they can. In taking the risk of buying, they must consider the property and earnings behind the security in question, and the character and credit of the obligor.

Their customers look to the investment bankers for advice and for protection, and the success and permanence of their business relations depend on the safety of the investments offered, and the protection afforded. The investment bankers handle the great mass of securities sold for raising funds for governments, provinces, states, cities, railroads, public utilities, and industries of all sorts. They distribute the tremendous national loans during the war. They gather the savings and surplus funds of hundreds of thousands of investors, and make them available for governments and for industry. They endeavor to protect borrowers against the adoption of unsound financial plans, and investors against unsound securities; and they feel a responsibility to their customers, when threatened with loss. The association takes no partisan position in ordinary controversies, affecting individual members, or the particular securities they have purchased, but it does interest itself in questions involving possible loss to its members, or their customers, to the end that sound principles and fair dealing shall prevail, particularly where large questions are at issue which may have far-reaching effects on the credit of borrowers, and the stability and soundness of the securities they may offer through investment houses.

The New Brunswick Power Company, we understand, was created by the competent authorities of the Province of New Brunswick, which approved its acquisition of its properties, and the prices paid for them, approved its issues of capital, determined the basis on which a return might be earned, and fixed the rate of return thereon. The investors in its securities found all the semblance of provincial approval attaching to the company's bonds and stocks, and might fairly believe, be justified in assuming that the government would not allow its property either to be confiscated or its value destroyed.

We are informed that the city desires to purchase the property of the company, and has offered a sum which the company contends does not represent its fair value, and, although the company has offered to sell at a price fixed by arbitration, the city refuses to arbitrate the question, and further, the city threatens to build a duplicate distribution system, and compete with the company, thereby impairing, if not destroying, the value of its property, if the company does not accept the city's offer.

The inviolability of private property is one of the foundation stones of Anglo-Saxon liberty. In Magna Charta (Chapter XI, 1215) the Government of England declared: "No one will we sell, to no one will we refuse or delay, right or justice." There can be no freedom if the proceeds of personal toil and thrift are subject to confiscation or destruction at the hands of government.

CURLERS AWAY THIS AFTERNOON

Good Words for St. John as They Leave—Strathcona Cup Play Today.

The Scottish curlers will say au revoir to St. John this afternoon at 4:40 o'clock. Despite a blinding snowstorm many representatives of the local curling clubs will accompany the visitors to the depot where farewells and good wishes will be exchanged. The visiting curlers said that they would regret leaving St. John for while they were here only a short time they had felt at home from the first moment of their arrival. They would carry away happy memories of their visit to Canada's winterport city. The visitors are leaving for Quebec via the Valley railway.

This morning six rinks were curling for the Strathcona Cup, two in Charlottetown, two in St. Andrews and two in the Thistle rink. The Strathcona Cup is now held by the Scottish curlers and is being competed for again. It is expected that the curling season would be completed in time for the Times to publish the results.

The New Brunswick Branch of the Royal Canadian Curling Club were hosts last evening to the visiting curlers from Scotland at a banquet in the Royal Hotel, which proved a most delightful function. Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen, who acted as toastmaster, and Hon. W. E. Foster, Premier, and C. D. Richards, Minister of the province, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors. The toast to the guests was responded to by Colonel Robertson-Alkman, captain of the visiting team and W. K. Jackson, hailed as the "best curler in Scotland."

(Continued from page 1.) by the people, in the name of the public welfare to inflict a gross injustice and irreparable damage involving the sacrifice of their own good faith. The mayor asked which of the visitors might be called up to answer any questions regarding the financing of the N. B. Power Co. and was told Mr. Wilcox or Mr. Bell would do so. Bond Dealers' Statement.

Mr. Bell's statement was as follows: The Bond Dealers' Association of Canada are dealers in credit and supply the bulk of long term credit available in this country to governments, municipalities and private corporations. It is their business to understand and judge these factors which determine if they are to stand in the position of sponsors for the greater part of the securities representing these credits, which are outstanding in this country in the hands of investors.

Any situation in which the property of a corporation, the securities of which are outstanding in this country, is subject to danger of destruction through the acts of a municipality, which, however legal do not appear to be disinterested observers in the matter, is subject to the principles of fair play—any such situation must inevitably affect the credit of both corporations involved. Credit is peculiarly sensitive, particularly to the element of confidence.

The proposal of the City of St. John to buy the New Brunswick Power Company at its own price or to enter into competition with it does not appear to be governed by the principles of fair play, since the city did not propose to pay the full market value of the property, but to acquire it at a price to be judged by arbitration.

When our association, representing dealers in every city from Halifax to Vancouver, the overwhelming majority of which have not dealt in or handled in any way the securities of the New Brunswick Power Company, send its representative to make this appeal to you, we ask you to accept it as the sincere and impartial expression of opinion on a question of credit from those whose business it is to understand that delicate instrument.

held the company in this gross over-capitalization. The Currier-Commission, he continued had decided that the city might purchase at a certain fixed price plus ten per cent, but the city thought this excessive and opposed. This last move was opposed by the Currier-Commission. The Currier award was not correct and reduced it to the price now offered by the city to the power commission.

The Mayor said that in offering the property the city was not offering the property at a certain fixed price plus ten per cent, but the city thought this excessive and opposed. This last move was opposed by the Currier-Commission. The Currier award was not correct and reduced it to the price now offered by the city to the power commission.

The Legislature in 1920 had fixed a rate base and a rate by which the company could earn $248,000 a year, but in the same session passed an act which provided for the creation of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission with the idea in view of delivering power at cost. This last move was opposed by the Currier-Commission. The Currier award was not correct and reduced it to the price now offered by the city to the power commission.

of his association did not investigate the facts further than those outlined in Mr. Hayes' report. He said it was simply a matter of their consideration without regard to the question of the payment of values of securities. The question of the stock issues, he thought would have no bearing on the matter as the investment bankers were considering it.

Mr. Bell said that the facts brought out by the report were known to his association. He pleaded that the cost of arbitration would be more than offset by St. John's loss in credit and standing in the financial markets. Commissioner Thornton said that the Power Co. had laid down the method of arbitration, while Mr. Wilcox said that the method could be agreed upon.

Mr. Wilcox said that there was any question to arbitrate other than the capital value of the company. He said that the method could be agreed upon. Commissioner Thornton said that the Power Co. had laid down the method of arbitration, while Mr. Wilcox said that the method could be agreed upon.

He declared he was on record that he was not opposed to a conference at which the difference might be discussed. He had it on good authority that the act of the legislature, fixing the rate base at $3,000,000 included the common stock. He felt that competition would result in the destruction of the company.

The common stock, he continued, was in the Lepreau and Maguadavie Rivers and was taken over by the city would in time go to the Provincial Government. It was the intention of the Government to continue to develop the water powers of the Province and he heartily commended that policy, even if it meant nothing more than the conservation of fuel.

Hall Furniture

The first pleasing impression of your home for you and your guests is across the threshold—the furnishings of the hall.

Dignified designs in console tables, high-backed chairs, mirrors and costumes are here in suggestive variety, worked in mahogany, walnut and antique oak. In the period effects the Jacobean and Louis XVI predominate.

A beautiful example of hand-carving is seen in a mahogany console and mirror after the latter style, notable feature being large leaf scrolls and fluted leg columns. The price is $167.

to give consideration of a price which might be reached in this way. He was of the opinion that the feeling of the citizens today was due to the attitude of the New Brunswick Power Company in the past. To the Mayor Mr. Wilcox said that it was not the contention of either the Investment Bankers' Association or the Bond Dealers' Association that the price offered by the city was not a fair one.

REV. DR. T. A. MOORE HERE

Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, a prominent Canadian Methodist divine, arrived in the city today from Moncton and is registered at the Dufferin. Dr. Moore said that he would appear before the local government this afternoon but the subject matter was of a confidential nature and there was nothing for publication. There was a disposition on the part of the people to deal fairly in this matter but there was also a feeling that the owners of the securities of the New Brunswick Power Company should not make a dollar on the proposition.

HOPE TO DRIVE LEPROSY FROM THE WORLD
New York, Jan. 10—Hope for the eradication of leprosy from the world was expressed at a meeting of the American Mission to Lepers, yesterday, due to the success of a new treatment involving the use of ethyl ester, a product of Chaulmoogra oil, and an increasing interest everywhere in the stamping out of the disease.

The ethyl ester derivative of chaulmoogra oil, discovered a few years ago by Prof. A. L. Dean, a chemist of the University of Hawaii, is manufactured by distilling the fatty acids of the oil and adding camphor and resorcin. It is given to the patients hypodermically.

At the present time 4,000 patients in the Philippines are doing well under the new treatment, according to a report, which says that in other hospitals in the Far East, similar results are obtained.

JURY SAYS DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL
A coroner's jury last evening inquiring into the circumstances attending the death of Harry Baker, who was killed in the C. P. R. yards at West St. John on January 5, failed to show the cause of the unfortunate man's death. The jury was described as accidental and laid no blame was attached to any one.

Coroner F. L. Kenney, in addressing the jury, said that he could not understand how Baker could have walked into an approaching train without being seen by some members of the train crew or switchman. Eight witnesses were examined last night. They were: J. E. Allingham, C. P. R. yard foreman; George W. Donner, a switchman; Robert Beattie, trainman; James Lawson, trainman; Charles T. Keating, conductor; E. L. Kaine, engineer; L. E. Ward, fireman and W. P. Monahan, yard master for the C. P. R.

NOTED SLUMS OF GLASGOW WILL BE WIPE OUT SOON
Glasgow, Dec. 12.—(By Mail)—The famous river tenement district of Glasgow, which has long had the reputation of being the most squalid in the world, is to be entirely wiped out. As the buildings were in danger of collapse, the city authorities ordered the tenants to vacate, and have approved plans to have the slum houses torn down.

The district will not be rebuilt, but new municipally-owned houses are being erected in the suburbs to care for the hundreds of homeless of the poorer classes.

The finance committee of the Municipal Council met yesterday afternoon and further considered estimates for the General Public Hospital. They now stand at $117,442.25. Some details

PLAIN TALK TO UNCLE SAM.

The British Chancellor reminds the American people that the debt to America was incurred in a common cause. He does not ask that Britain's debt to the United States be cancelled, but that time be given to a war-worn nation with tremendous obligations to pay without too heavy an immediate strain upon its resources.

NEWSPAPERS.

The passing of the purely partisan newspaper in Ontario is made the subject of an interesting article in the Toronto Globe. The concluding paragraph is significant. It says: "So far as The Globe knows, there is at the present time no newspaper in any Ontario city that is maintained by party subscriptions or subscriptions. Politicians can no longer command the support of the press. They must win it, as they win the electorate in general, by putting forward policies that appeal to the reason, the patriotic spirit, and the regard for local sentiment of the men who control the press of Ontario."

THE LITTLE DOG.

(Virginia Coyne, in Verse and Reverse, 1922.)
He has not left me yet, he lingers still;
For I have heard him whining in the street,
And heard the careful tread of little feet.
As when he followed me against my will.

"Go back, sir!" I have almost turned to cry,
"Go home, old dog. You know you cannot come."
Yet the whole street is empty as a drum—
On either hand its sidewalks silent lie.

I see no wee black dog with collar red,
And pointed nose set in an eager face,
One drooping ear, one stiffy in its place.
I see no little dog—for he is dead.

Last night he came and nuzzled at my door,
An hour ago he pattered up the hall,
And all day long I hear his plaintive cry,
I cannot quite believe he lives no more.

LIGHTER VEIN.

Sure Enough.
Buck—"Can you give a definition of an orator?"
Private—"Sure. He's a fellow that's always ready to lay down your life for his country."

As Predicted.

Uncle Henry ones had died very suddenly, and a distant relative of the relict was offering her condolences. Finally the lady got round to the point where she felt she could decently ask a burning question.

A Good Start.

"That's a powerful hardworking wife you've got, Clint," said the gambler, mounting his horse.
"Eh-yop!" was the reply. "If I had a couple more like her I reckon I could get along right well."

When Hog Meets Hog.

When a road hog meets a road hog in the straight and narrow way I always stop to listen to what they have to say.
They bless each other's ancestors clear back to Adam's time.
And read each other's titles clear in their eyes and swears and blackguard, and I listen till they're through, and enjoy the whole performance, for all they say is true.

Bring It Anyway.

Tommy, after going to bed, became thirsty, or thought he did. He called out—"Ma, I want a drink." The mother's voice answered back: "Tommy, go to sleep." Tommy grunted, turned over, and was silent for ten minutes; then again: "Ma, I want a drink." "Tommy, you go to sleep," was the reply. Intense silence again for ten minutes; then: "Ma, I want a drink." "Tommy, if you don't go to sleep I'll come up and spank you." Mere silence; then: "Ma, when you come up to spank me, bring me a drink, won't you?"

PAY TRIBUTE TO WILLIE KEELER McGraw and Heydler are Among Those who Praise Famous Old-time Player.

"The best place hitter I ever saw" was the tribute paid by John J. McGraw yesterday to Willie Keeler, one of the greatest batsmen of all time, who died Monday afternoon at his home, 1,010 Gates avenue, Brooklyn. For five years McGraw and Keeler were teammates on the famous Baltimore Orioles. Later, for part of one season, "Wee Willie" was under McGraw on the Giants—the last major league club he played for actively.

ANNIVERSARY OF FAMOUS BATTLE

(By Sir Herbert Russell in Navy and Military Record)

Some weeks more than eight years ago—I forget now just how long the time was—I met a naval officer of my acquaintance by a certain Plymouth hotel frequented by service men. I had not seen him for some time, and our chat was all about the war. When I asked him what ship he was in he answered in a low voice, "One of the 'battle-cruisers.'"

THAT MILLION DOLLAR GIFT.

The "gift" of the million-dollar dress manufacturing plant to the employees turns out to have many strings. In the first place, the donor reserves $800,000 for it, this sum payable from the profits. In the second place, there are conditions upon which alone employees may become stockholders. In the third place, the direction and control of the plant rests in a board of seven experienced men who have had long years of service with the company.

For the most part, no doubt, they were so-called hundred per cent Americans, and the descendants of the men of today. In the third generation we see a descendant of Dominick Coco conferring with President Harding in the White House, enforcing the laws of the state, and prosecuting the hundred per-centers who would be a law unto themselves. It is Jacob Rills, Governor of Michigan, and Andrew Carnegie and, perhaps, Edward Bok all over again. To us, it is most fitting that this story came to Boston on New Year's day, and we take genuine pride in having given it first page prominence, coincidentally with the leading article of the day, in which Atty-Gen. Coco figured.

Same Decision in Broad and McAuley Theft Cases—No Bill Against Travis.

The grand jury yesterday afternoon found a true bill in the case of the King against Mrs. Bessie Parker, charged with murder. True bills were found also in the cases of the King against Harold Broad and the King against John McAuley, both theft cases. In the case of the King against John Travis no bill was found. The grand jury recommended that Travis be examined as to his sanity. Judge Barry said the matter would be given immediate attention.

NO REAL FARMERS' PARTY IN QUEBEC, DECLARES CARON

Conservatives and Dissatisfied Liberals Behind Movement

Organizers Have Collected $40,000, But Have Done Nothing for Agriculture, Says Minister.

Quebec, Jan. 10.—"There is no farmers' party in the Province of Quebec, and it is a good thing for the farmers that this is so. The only men who are alleging the existence of a farmers' party are city men themselves, and the party is only within their minds and imaginations. It has no existence in fact."

"With these terse words Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, disposed of one of the parties that were supposed to be preparing for the forthcoming electoral campaign in the province. The hon. minister went further and stated that even in the provinces where the farmers had made political headway their policies had proved failures, and he predicted that at the first opportunity their short-lived prestige would sink back to oblivion. "It is not through selfish political organizations that the farmers, or any other class, will accomplish anything, either for themselves or for the country," he said, "but through wise co-operation with movements which do not work solely for the betterment of any group but for the advancement of the country as a whole."

In view of the imminence of an election in the Province of Quebec, and the reports of a possible third party entering the contest under the name of the farmers' party, the opinion of the hon. minister of agriculture on this question should not be without interest, as he is generally acknowledged to be at least an authority on the subject of his department. And as he pointed out in the course of an interview, he has been a farmer himself and knows whereof he speaks, and not merely on the agricultural end of the problem but on the political one as well.

Not Real Farmers' Party.
"The organization which has been going on in the province in the name of the farmers, and ostensibly on their behalf, by certain individuals who operate their campaign machinery from Montreal, cannot be termed a farmers' party at all in the real sense of the word," he said. "It is merely a political movement in disguise, by a certain number of Conservatives, with a few dissatisfied Liberals. Scarcely a single one of the promoters of this movement has been associated with the agricultural class. The real farmers have allied themselves with this movement do not represent the agricultural element, and the proof is that the majority of them have given up agriculture and sold their land to come and live in the cities."

Quebec, in fact nearly all the people, will always be opposed to a third party. It is not a political organization which will ameliorate the condition of the farmer. Such an organization is only for exploitation by intriguers. "The only organization which can efficaciously help the agricultural class is an economic one. An improvement in the production, the buying and selling in co-operation, the opening of new markets, the agricultural education, the classification of agricultural products, and general instruction, these are the elements that have to be considered in relation to the advancement of the farmers in this province. In France, Denmark and Belgium there has been no farmers' movement and they are countries in which agriculture has enjoyed an extraordinary boom."

Help For Agriculture.
"I do not want to talk politics and make a eulogy of the Government, but I really believe that the province of Quebec, without the help of a farmers' party, has done much for agriculture. The agricultural methods in use have been greatly improved, the means of transporting the farmers' produce to the markets of the world have been immeasurably improved. The cheese and butter factories have been modernized and brought into line with the best in the country. There are now 800 co-operative societies which have a central organization, and though they have been attacked by the farmers' agitators, they have proven a tremendous success. As to the claim that the farmers are being victimized, I may say that in 1921, for instance, the revenue of the province was fourteen million dollars, to which the farmer contributed or eight hundred thousand dollars only. They had received, on the other hand, eleven million dollars, directly or indirectly. "For each of the seven thousand dollars paid by rural district residents, the return in grants was one million three hundred thousand dollars. The tax per head of the province of Quebec is estimated at $1.85, while in Ontario it reaches $3.47. The rural population of this province, according to the census figures, is 1,237,482, and their share of the tax is 65¢ cents. I do not believe, therefore, that a farmers' party in this province can ever be organized, or that it will have a chance to take any part in an election."

ME AND WOMEN RACING FOR GOLD

Prospecting for Gold in Old Fields in Arizona—Great Search for Veins.

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 10.—Soldiers of fortune—young and old, both men and women—are still flocking to Oatman, in Mohave County, to prospect for gold, and many of them are finding it. The Oatman gold fields are the most active on the North American continent and the bloom is not yet off the first rush. Weather-beaten adventurers are still digging away in faraway parts of the world, like Africa, are arriving with all the enthusiasm of their first hunt.

The old Goldroad mine at Oatman has resumed, and to those who know about gold mining that news carries significance. It means a permanent camp in all likelihood and development akin to that of the gold fields of Nevada. The United Eastern Mining Company is cutting a drill station on the tenth level (1,800 feet) and at the breast of the 1,000-foot crosscut into the hanging wall. The drill will be pushed down an angle 2,000 feet, it being intended to cut a known vein at a depth of 2,600 or 2,700 feet below the apex. That is one of the biggest operations going on at Oatman, one that may mean success.

The Lucky Boy Mining and Milling Company has started another hole on its property which is expected to strike a vein at 600 feet. The Lucky Boy is financed in New York and its campaign is on a big scale. The Bonanza Placer Company has run across a silver ledge paying $60 to the ton and work has been begun to take out the profit. The Frisco Mine is pushing its drilling, with pay led adventures can be sighted in several other places, big little, are searching and gnawing at the earth in all directions. Not far from Oatman is the Turquoise mine, owned by the Tiffany of New York, which has been in operation since 1910. It is history that at that date several hundred Spaniards and 14,000 Indians were to be found in the turquoise mines of the Seven Cities of Cibola, in the present State of Arizona, and that from 1580 to 1590 Cortez sent four expeditions to find the mines, one of which he headed himself. Prior Marco de Niza it was who brought back to the Spaniards the discovery of the turquoise mines, and he took with him a number of gold and silver, for they use no other metal."

But the present prospectors at Oatman are all of the sort of folk who never look back. They live romance instead of reality; their lives are filled with the adventures of pioneers, untried for modern settings. There's still danger enough to make it attractive, with its dramatic and moonlight whiskey and the age-old impulses that follow in the train of sudden wealth. Oatman was named after Royce's family from Missouri in 1851 and located at Oatman Flat. The parents were killed by Indians and two daughters, Mary Ann and Olive, seven and sixteen years old, were carried off as slaves. Mary died after having been traded to several tribes, but Olive was freed and was recovered by American troops five years later. She was sent East to be educated, and returned to Arizona, where she lived in a pine on the edge of the town in social affairs. However, she always wore a veil in public, for the Indians had tattooed their tribal insignia on her chin and lower jaw. Gold was discovered at Oatman by United States soldiers in 1863. Johnny Cross was the first big strike. The gold hunters of California heard of it, and soon George Hearst, father of William Randolph Hearst; Levi Parsons, Joe Clark and other well-known names came over and started a prospecting syndicate. Many a fortune was taken out of the earth in the years that followed. But the real Oatman boom began with the finding of a fabulously rich ledge by the V. E. Eastern in 1914, which shows no signs of ending.

DRINK ANY TIME IN LONDON CITY

Quench Thirst When One Wishes in British Capital.

London, (by Mail)—"London looks a fool beside every other town," said one of the speakers at a series of public protest meetings just organized here as part of the campaign to remove the licensing laws. The trouble about London is that you can get a drink in all of it some of the time, and in some of it most of the time, but you can't get a drink in all of it all of the time. This is due to the inequality of opening hours for saloons in different districts throughout the London area. On the north side of Oxford Street saloons have to close down at 10 o'clock. But you only have to walk across the street to the south side to get another or two till 11 o'clock. This does not seem fair to the metropolitan police, for the pedestrian traffic across Oxford Street is apt to be unduly congested along about that time. The same things happens on the frontier between the boroughs of Westminster and Kensington, and in various other places, and if you have the necessary third and time the licensing regulations will not trouble you unduly.

The Story of 1922

The results achieved by The Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada in 1922, as indicated by the figures given below, will be very gratifying to policyholders and others interested in the Company's progress:—

	1912	1917	1922
Assurances in force	$38,734,686	$63,362,339	$140,025,954
Assurances Issued & Revived	7,851,660	13,087,584	24,825,819
Total Assets	8,134,420	14,283,846	24,928,718
Policy & Annuity Reserves	6,338,568	11,019,496	20,897,214
Premium & Interest Income	1,795,378	3,134,954	6,122,338
Payment to Policyholders	398,957	1,030,392	2,049,324

The twenty million dollars of Reserves held by The Imperial Life are calculated on so strong a basis that interest earnings of only 3% are sufficient to maintain them. The difference between this 3% rate and the 6.26% actually earned gives an exceptionally wide margin for policyholders' profits and security.

Fight Lumbago With Thermogene

As soon as you experience the first twinge, let Thermogene be your weapon to defeat this painful ailment.

Thermogene is a soft, fleecy, medicated wadding, supplied ready for instant use. Immediately it comes into contact with the skin, its medicinal essences generate gentle, soothing warmth, not merely on the surface, but deep in the tissues, breaking down congestion and stimulating a flow of blood to the affected area. Relief quickly follows.

Thermogene has the special merit that it can be easily applied in a few moments without causing discomfort or inconvenience.

On the north side of Oxford Street saloons have to close down at 10 o'clock. But you only have to walk across the street to the south side to get another or two till 11 o'clock. This does not seem fair to the metropolitan police, for the pedestrian traffic across Oxford Street is apt to be unduly congested along about that time. The same things happens on the frontier between the boroughs of Westminster and Kensington, and in various other places, and if you have the necessary third and time the licensing regulations will not trouble you unduly.

IRON, STEEL, METAL AND MACHINERY

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment in its January 4 issue:

Buyers are not asking to have shipments deferred until after inventory. This, Pittsburgh regards as a remarkable feature of the steel trade at the present time.

There has been an increasing demand for finished steel products, especially those required for the building industry.

United States Steel Products report that bookings for first quarter in plates, bars and structural represent good volume and indicate that an active season is being anticipated.

Figures from markets continue strong, with more active buying than has appeared for months.

Conditions developing with the year end, according to Pittsburgh reports, indicate that steel consumption will be heavy, with operation at a high rate and prices firm for, say, three months.

COUE AND THE REPORTERS

Fear of a Nervous Crisis Brings it on, He Says.

HELPER, NOT HEALER

Gives Demonstration of the Power of Suggestion—Imagination Controls Us, He Says—Some Cures.

(Ibbot Ross, in New York Tribune) With a career flourish, M. Emile Coue turned out his bag of tricks for the entertainment of a group of reporters in the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday afternoon. It was his first chance since landing here to put some of his famous theory into practice. One newspaperman and two expectant patients submitted themselves to experimentation and found their locked hands automatically obeying the multiple suggestion of the jolly little pharmacist from Nancy.

"You can, you can, you can't, you can't," he said. "Whenever it was, it came to pass—why or wherefore no one could tell."

For an hour and a half M. Coue explained his system of auto-suggestion and answered questions, leaving loops for himself every turn. First on one foot, then on the other, he darted around like a plump bird on a twig, telling all the world how simple, how simple, how simple it is to be well. There was no resisting his quaint laugh and such glittering eyes peered from the creased depths of his fat, pink cheeks.

Demonstrates His Chant. Now and again he was serious, for instance, when he showed the perfect and precise way to say "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting better and better." It must not be jumbled together. It must be said in a child-like monotonous manner, without any effort and out loud, "twenty times night and morning in one's bed. A nice, quiet little chant with all the emphasis on "in every way."

There one has it straight from M. Coue, and at the same time the astonishing intelligence that he alone in all the world need not say it and does not say it.

Twenty reporters gasped politely when he said in his merry manner, head cocked on one side, eyes half closed: "Mais non! I do not say it. It is not necessary any longer."

"Will a litany do as well?" asked one of his audience. "If you think a litany will work, it will work," he chirped. "Any formula will work if you think it will."

"Do you still have faith in medicine?" "I still have faith in medicine. A doctor must prescribe medicine even if he thinks they are not necessary. It is the imagination that works, not the medicine."

"Aren't these things you do just what the hypnotist does?" asked another unbeliever. "Yes. But it is not hypnotism with me. I transfer suggestion. If a person does not accept it nothing takes place. I am always right, even if I seem to be wrong. In order to conduct experiments with you successfully you must not try to analyze. If you try to analyze you are lost. It is all too simple. I spend my life simplifying those things that complicate life to you."

Retains His Buoyancy. At times M. Coue's English would not stand the strain of repartee. In spite of his lightning comprehension he was baffled when asked if he did not need to say his own formula because he was a post-graduate of the Coue school of training. He manages to keep his sparkling buoyancy through all his struggles with the language, although as soon as he ceases to lecture and begins to converse he has to hunch himself for words.

"Tired? I never get tired," he said. "I make no effort. I am going to live to be a very old man unless I meet with an accident. Pouf! Of course one can live to be over a hundred. That's easy."

Coue gets up at 6 o'clock every morning and begins the day on a cup of chocolate. He takes two meals in the course of the day and eats anything. Indigestion? Rheumatism? The afflictions of old age? They only exist in the imagination insists Coue. He is

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 202. RADIO DICTIONARY.

BROAD WAVE. When there is tight coupling between the primary and secondary coils of the coupling transformer in a spark transmitter, a wave is radiated which will produce a maximum amount of interference. This wave is known as a "broad" wave and will be heard on a radio receiver over a wide range of wave lengths and is very difficult to eliminate by tuning.

RADIO-FREQUENCY AMPLIFICATION. When the original radio wave, intercepted by the antenna, is amplified before being rectified by the detector, this forms a signal magnification known as "radio-frequency amplification." Radio-frequency amplification is accomplished by utilizing the functions of the vacuum tubes and associated apparatus, and this form of amplification has the ability to bump up the feeble impulses, from distant transmitting stations, to a strength, sufficient to properly operate the detector.

NATURAL PERIOD. The wave length which an antenna will radiate due to its own inductance and capacity, is known as the fundamental or natural wave length. The frequency at which this wave length oscillates is expressed in cycles per second and the time required in fractions of a second for a complete oscillation to travel once around the antenna circuit is known as the natural or fundamental REGENERATION.

A method, developed by Armstrong, whereby the original oscillation impressed upon a receiving circuit is reinforced by an amplified oscillation. Regeneration is obtained through the use of the "feed back" circuit, whereby a portion of the energy of the plate circuit is fed back to the grid circuit. The cumulative effect obtained by this method results in building up the original oscillation to a strength considerably in excess of that which would have been obtained without regeneration.

IMPULSE EXCITATION. If the energy in the primary circuit of a spark transmitter is transferred to the secondary circuit in such manner as to eliminate connection between the circuits following this transfer of energy, then the secondary circuit is free to oscillate in its own natural frequency. The loss of energy, therefore, is limited to the period when the primary is operating and by proper adjustment of the secondary resistance a single wave, with a small amount of damping, is radiated. This form of excitation is known as "impulse excitation."

HETERODYNE. If the incoming oscillations of continuous wave signals have superimposed thereon a locally generated oscillation of radio-frequency, a series of "beat" currents will be set up in the receiving circuits. The frequency of these "beat" currents will be the numerical difference between the frequency of the incoming signals and the frequency of the locally generated oscillation, and the latter may be so adjusted as to produce beat currents of an audible frequency in the receiving telephones. Utilization of the "heterodyne" principle is in general use in undamped wave reception.

sixty-seven and is as spry as if he were forty. "People come to me thinking they will find an extraordinary man," he declared the little chemist. "You can see for yourself that I am not an extraordinary man. It is not true that I have amazing power. I have no special power. I am a very simple man who is not a healer, but who teaches people to heal themselves. If I were merely a healer, I could no longer help you when I am back in France. You have in yourselves the instrument of healing."

Can't Produce Miracles. Coue's cheeks grew pinker and pinker as he struggled to get his message across. He twisted, he wiggled, and his sparse white hair seemed to flout out about his head. His mustache wiggled like the traditional whiskers of Walrus, which he regarded as a skeptical audience.

"Every idea we have in our mind, good or bad, becomes a reality in the realm of possibility," he continued. "If a thing is possible it takes place. If it is not possible it will not take place. A leg will not grow again because we cannot produce a miracle. But if you have organs that do not function properly or had ideas your organs can be restored and your bad ideas will be completely pinched."

With great glee M. Coue bent forward to deliver this choice piece of slang, blissfully unaware that in English bad ideas may be "arrested" but not "pinched." Continuing, he spoke of the tremendous ailments that respond most readily to his treatment—insomnia, asthma, which he says is a "psychic disease," and all forms of nervous trouble.

"The fear of a nervous crisis brings about a nervous crisis," he said. "It is true that sometimes people are dead, but they think they are so. Last year a young lady came to me who had been blind in one eye for twenty years. I cured her. It seemed a miracle, but it wasn't. She merely thought she was blind, because when she was two years old she had to wear a bandage over that eye for a year and her eye took the habit not to see."

"It is not will power which is the first quality of man; imagination is power and imagination. Always, always, always imagination is the best. The greater our will power is, the more we go contrary to what we are designed to do. The more a man tries to sleep the further he is from sleeping. The more he tries not to stutter the more he will stutter. The more he tries not to laugh the more he will laugh. The imaginative being is the being which controls us entirely. It is made of our organs. It controls the beating of our heart, the functioning of our organs."

"No Honor at Home." Asked if the French government had ever utilized his services, M. Coue shook his head wittily and almost got the proverb right when he said: "A prophet has no honor in his country."

Mrs. Edward B. Whitney, of New Haven, widow of a justice of the Supreme Court of New York, got up to tell of her son, whom she took to Coue some time ago. The boy stuttered painfully and had twitching hands. He seemed to be cured at Nancy, she said. Then, when he had a slight recurrence of trembling, he threw his head back and repeated "Ca passe, ca passe" until the last vestige of nervousness was gone. He is now completely cured, she asserted.

Miss Elele C. Wilson, of 83 East Fifty-seventh Street, added her testimony to that of Mrs. Whitney. She described herself as a "busy business woman" who has had several nervous breakdowns. She suffered from insomnia and sought treatment in sanatoriums. Since the early part of last June, when she took treatment in person from Coue, she has slept soundly and has been quite well, she related. When the little healer announced that he would prefer to try the hand-laid experiment with some one who had had done before, Miss Wilson volunteered and stood with hands clasped tight in front of her and her eyes closed. Coue, his eyes half shut in concentration,

WORLD TOUR FOR NEW ZEALAND GIRL

Swimmer from Maoriland Likely to Compete in Several Countries.

Auckland, (by Mail)—Keen interest has been aroused in New Zealand by the suggestion of M. Chapman, secretary of the Maranui Life Saving Club, that an international tour be arranged for the country's chief mermaid. The proposal seems to have so many supporters that it will not be surprising to see it materialize the coming summer, particularly since there is no doubt that the young swimmer will be glad to contribute a good share of the cost of the trip.

Mr. Chapman is quoted as stating: "The New Zealand swimming world is delighted over the splendid performance of Miss Gwiltia Shand in Honolulu some weeks ago, when she lowered the world's record for 440 yards, and the time seems ripe to send a team of our girl swimmers to meet foreign rivals. I personally feel confident that our six leaders could circle the globe and defeat any six opponents."

The team could consist of Miss Violet Walrod, who represented us at the Olympiad of 1920 and is our national record holder at 880 yards; Miss Marie Symes, a greatly improving all-around star; Miss Pauline Hoeltz, the great Auckland sprinter; Miss Iri Page, very fast at the shorter distances; Miss Kathleen Britton, a canoe diver who should hold her own with the world's best, and, of course, Miss Shand, whose latest achievement was in the burial service that he immediately telegraphed and followed this with a letter to the authorities announcing that his society would present one or more Bibles to every vessel of the United States Shipping Board and that he would have the name of the ship placed in gold letters on the front of the Bible.

New York, Jan. 10.—The Rev. Dr. George William Carter General Secretary of the New York Bible Society, was so saddened when he read recently that Captain A. E. Matthews had died on board the United States Shipping Board freighter Hatteras and that there was no Bible on board for use in the burial service that he immediately telegraphed and followed this with a letter to the authorities announcing that his society would present one or more Bibles to every vessel of the United States Shipping Board and that he would have the name of the ship placed in gold letters on the front of the Bible.

Because there was neither Bible nor prayer book on board, Captain J. Pennebry of the President Adams of the United States Lines sent the burial service by wireless to the Hatteras, in order that the body of Captain Matthews would not have to be committed to the deep without a Christian funeral service of some kind.

Writing from the office of the society, 8 East Forty-eighth Street to J. B. Small, in charge of supplies of the United States Shipping Board at Washington, Dr. Carter said: "In this morning's New York Times on the first page an article reports the death of Captain A. E. Matthews on the United States Shipping Board freighter Hatteras, and that no Bible was on board the ship. I have communicated with the office here in New York and am told to write you as the one in charge of providing supplies for the ships. I have sent you this day the following telegram: New York Morning Times states no Bible on board freighter Hatteras. Will donate Bible for every ship of your board. Letter follows."

Dr. Carter's letter offers to furnish free of charge any number of Bibles up to six for each vessel. Black rock is a form of fungus closely resembling bread mold.

Recommend Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion. Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach aches. Food ferments and sour, creating the distressing gas, which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart. It is the worst folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, expensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Montreal, Jan. 10.—A Canadian-American Bureau of Trade in New York City will be opened within a month by the Canadian Bureau of Trade, which was at the Mount Royal Hotel this week. The bureau will be a clearing-house between the two countries; to finance Canadian enterprises with American money, to advise American companies who wish to open branches in Canada and to be a general link between the commercial men on both sides of the border.

There will be legal advisers and mining experts attached to the Bureau, the former staff being headed by Mr. Graham and the latter by Mr. Simpson, an associate of the Royal School of Mines, London. "At present, the Canadian Pacific Railway is the only concern which has an information bureau relating to Canada in New York," said Mr. Graham last night, "and it is limited in scope. We hope to fill a long-felt need, to do all the work for a company which wishes to branch out in Canada, and to represent Canadian firms in New York."

Office has already been secured in the C. P. R. building at the corner of Madison Avenue and 44th Street. The enterprise is said to be backed by capitalists.

Constipation's Remedy must come from nature. Calery King is the ideal remedy—it is not a bulky dose of medicinal herbs and roots that rids the system of impurities in a gentle, natural way. An old and well-tried remedy—30c and 50c packages.

A Salesman's Cough irritates his customers—and makes him inefficient and miserable. Shilo's is the ideal remedy—it is not a bulky cough mixture but a special formula proven successful for many years. A few drops brings immediate relief. 30c, 50c and $1.20. All druggists.

SHILOH FOR COUGHS

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup. Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known home recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes tight hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in any drugstore, pour in 1/2 cup of water and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—soothes and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually and surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing is so effective for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated extract of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guarantee to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

UNEMPLOYMENT AT QEB. Conditions in Quebec City Are Much Improved. Quebec, Jan. 10.—Labor conditions in the city of Quebec are much better than they were last year, according to Pierre Beaulieu, president of the Catholic National Union, a strong labor organization in the Province of Quebec. Most of the manufacturing plants are operating with their entire staffs and are producing more than they did in 1921, according to Mr. Beaulieu.

WOMEN IN LEGISLATION. Future Depends on Mental Ambition, Says Mrs. Walker. Norton, Kansas, Jan. 10.—The part the future woman will take in legislative work depends solely upon how ambitious she becomes mentally, in the opinion of Mrs. Ida M. Walker, of Norton, Kansas, legislator. Mrs. Walker, who was born in a sod house on a Kansas homestead, was re-elected to serve a second term. "Many a married woman whose family is small and whose husband provides a good living, has become mentally lazy," says Mrs. Walker. "Instead of having opinions of her own she has accepted the opinions of father, husband, brothers and uncles." Mrs. Walker approves of the principle of the Kansas industrial court, a Kansas issue, but believes the tribunal can be improved. Mrs. Walker has taught school, served as state president, vice-president of district secretary and president of the Federation of Women's Clubs, and in the W. C. T. U., she has been state secretary and is now state vice-president.

BRICKLAYERS WANT $10 A DAY. Springfield, Jan. 10.—The bricklayers' union of this city has presented demands for a wage increase of 12 1/2 cents an hour, effective April 1, which would bring the daily wage to $10 and the hourly pay to $1.25. The present agreement calls for 90 days' notice in cases of desired change.

CLEAN KIDNEYS BY DRINKING LOTS OF WATER. Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts. Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. They become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation. The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure any one; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS "California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative. Tongue Shows if Bilious, Constipated. Hurry, mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If congested, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Muldoon thinks the action of the New York commission will be upheld by other state commissions having working agreements with it. Willard recently arrived in New York with the avowed intention of seeking a bout with Jack Dempsey.

BOSTON CROWDS TAKE TO HOCKEY

(Boston Herald)
We are a few years behind our vigorous Canadian brethren in developing a keen interest in the game of hockey, just as we are a trifle slow in acquiring enthusiasm for lacrosse, but the hockeyites are surely making up for lost time. A promising game in Boston brings out a crowd of 5,000. If there were facilities for more, even if some of them had to hang on by nails and eyelids to get a semi-occasional glimpse of a few square feet of ice, probably 10,000 or 15,000 would sit in their overcoats and cheer hoarsely. The Harvard-Princeton contest of this week might be one of the great athletic events of the season if we had a skating building elastic enough to expand in stadium style. What is the lure of this game, so extremely popular for many years?

MORE TERMINALS FOR PORTLAND

South Portland, Me., Jan. 10.—Plans are being made by the Maine Central Railroad and the Portland Terminal Company for adding to their yards in this city which will involve an expenditure of $1,500,000.

It will be necessary to lay twenty-seven miles of track, to erect a forty-stall engine house, an office building, and stockyards, besides smaller structures. Present congestion in the main yards in Portland will be obviated, it is felt, by these developments, in that much freight not destined for Portland could be set off, reclassified and re-shipped without the necessity of bringing it into Portland needlessly.

(Canadian Press) London, Jan. 10.—Advice from Lucknow states that the death sentence has been imposed on 172 Indians accused of murder and arson as a result of the non-cooperationist rioting at Chauri-Chaura last February. There were 228 persons originally held on the charges. Of this number 47 were acquitted and two received two years in prison. Several died while awaiting trial.

Seventeen native police were killed in the rioting at Chauri-Chaura which occurred on Feb. 4 last. The demonstration was one episode in a week-end of anti-British uprisings in various parts of India. The mob at Chauri-Chaura, numbering 2,000 Indian nationalist volunteers, reinforced by villagers, attacked the police and killed the entire staff, including the eight policemen who were sent to reinforce the post. ### PYRAMID BUILDER VERY ACCURATE

London, Jan. 10.—The designer of the Great Pyramid in Egypt must have had an accurate knowledge of the figure of the earth, an oblate spheroid flattened at the poles, according to Colonel A. O. Green, of the Royal Engineers in Egypt. This assertion is based on the fact that the pyramid stands at the true center of the land surface of the globe, according to Mercator's projection. It is truly oriented to the four cardinal points of the heavens with an accuracy apparently unattainable in any building at the present time. The four lines of the ascending and the descending passages, and the "Grand Gallery" must, at the date of building, have coincided with a wonderful accuracy in every 25,826 years, the number of years in the procession of the Equinoxes. Hence, according to Colonel Green, this establishes the date of the commencement of the construction of the Great Pyramid as 2170 B. C., at which period Egypt was ruled over by the hated Hyksos, or Shepherd Kings.

In carrying out the measurements of both spaces and time two units have been used, the "pyramid inch," which is equal to 1,001 British inches, and the "sacred cubit" of twenty-five pyramid inches, or 25,226 British inches, which has the same length as the cubit employed in the construction of the Tabernacle, the Ark of the Covenant and the King Solomon's Temple, and is exactly one twenty-millionth of the earth's polar axis of rotation.

By dividing the length of one side of the Great Pyramid, which is 9,131,035 pyramid inches, by the sacred cubit, the product is 365,242.2, the exact number of days and fractions of day in the solar year. The two diagonals of the base added together are within a fraction of the number of years in the procession of the equinoxes—namely, 25,826.6. The estimated weight of the Great Pyramid is just one billionth of the weight of the earth, or, roughly, 6,000,000 tons. There is enough stone in it to build a wall six feet high all around France.
