

W. S. LOGGIE COY., LIMITED. SPECIAL Summer Clearing Sale of Remnants.

Remnants Dress Goods, Remnants Hosiery, Remnants Ribbons, Remnants Trimmings, Remnants Linens, Remnants Silks, Remnants Satins, Remnants Velvets, Remnants Furbes, Remnants Shawls, Remnants Blankets, Remnants Carpets, Remnants Rugs, Remnants Mats, Remnants Cushions, Remnants Pillows, Remnants Bedspreads, Remnants Table Linens, Remnants Napkins, Remnants Towels, Remnants Handkerchiefs, Remnants Hosiery, Remnants Ribbons, Remnants Trimmings, Remnants Linens, Remnants Silks, Remnants Satins, Remnants Velvets, Remnants Furbes, Remnants Shawls, Remnants Blankets, Remnants Carpets, Remnants Rugs, Remnants Mats, Remnants Cushions, Remnants Pillows, Remnants Bedspreads, Remnants Table Linens, Remnants Napkins, Remnants Towels, Remnants Handkerchiefs.

Bargains in Black Sailor Hats. 10% Discount on Boys' and Men's Linen Hats.

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc. Nelson Tea and Fancy sale at Piers' Grove—See advt.

Dwellings and Shop to rent on Henderson St., Chatham. See Advt.

Picnic! The congregation of St. Peter's Church, Bathurst, (Father Morrice's) will hold a picnic at Moody's Point, on Tuesday, the 30th of August.

A Carriage Whip, found on the road leading up the Northwest, between the I. C. crossing and Stewart's Cove may be had by the owner on application at this office.

A Bad Fall—James Wallace fell off a platform, or over the bank, in the vicinity of Colton's Slip on Sunday afternoon last, and seems to have been pretty badly injured.

Fire Mill—Mooney's big mill mill is pretty nearly completed. It is a tremendous structure of brick about 400 feet square and over 100 feet high. It has been put up with starting rapidity.—[St. John Record.]

Hon. J. I. Tarte, Minister of Public Works, reached the entrance to Bathurst harbor Tuesday morning in a revenue cutter, on a boat of inspection. He did not come up to town, but proceeded on to Carleton and Shipigan.—[Bathurst Courier.]

At the Reformation—Dearly beloved Irving, arrived in St. John last Wednesday evening and had in custody two Chatham boys, Edward Watson and Wm. Walsh, whom he took from Newcastle and who were sentenced to two years imprisonment in the reformatory for stealing.

Labor Day Races are to be held at the Chatham Driving Park. They will probably be three events of about the same class as those of Monday Day. Under the same excellent management as on that occasion the meeting will, no doubt, be a great attraction.

Mr. GALLIVAN a winner.—The Bathurst Courier says: "The lotteries in connection with the first of July picnic were drawn last week and resulted as follows: The pipe was won by W. A. Craig, fancy table by P. F. Foley and the opera glasses by Ed. Gallivan, Chatham.

Farm Laborers Wanted in the Canadian Northwest—Arrangements have been made for the sale of one or two small class plots on Tuesday August 16th only, to points in Manitoba or Assiniboia and including Moosejaw, Estevan, Regina and Winnipeg, at rate of $14.00 each. With check will be given a certificate which will entitle the holder to purchase a return ticket on or before November 16th at rate of $14.00 each. Tickets are sold via the Canadian Pacific all rail line only.

That Horse!—The wooden horse of Troy was a clumsy contrivance in comparison with the beautiful grey creature, with harness on and standing as natural as life in front of Mr. James Leggett's harness and saddle emporium, Duke St., opposite O'Leary's. It is an importation from Toledo and so to nature that some timid pedestrians give it a wide berth in passing and even a fair judge of horse flesh was seen to make an attempt to open his mouth to sneeze at it. All the working harness men who are to be seen at the watering-trough at Massie Hall tank stop and went into go with them and Mr. Leggett has declined to complete many trades that he has made for it with the owners of horses of fast record.

Personal—Hons. Premier Emmerson, Provincial Secretary Tweedie and Survey-General Dun were in Campbellton on Thursday last.

Mr. Geo. Dean of the Bank of Montreal is enjoying a trout fishing trip to the Tracadie. Sergt. Donald Loggie is home from his trip to England as one of the Blaisy team. It appears that the cable despatch which was sent down justice to the work of the team. The total winnings were greater than those of last year's team.

Mr. W. W. Hubbard visited Chatham and Newcastle on Tuesday and Wednesday in the interest of the coming Dominion Exhibition at St. John in September.

J. A. Sinclair, Esq., of Eureka, California, and brother of Edw. Sinclair, Esq., of Bridgetown, was in town on Tuesday. He is making a holiday visit to his old home and renewing old acquaintances, who as well as many new ones are glad to welcome him. He looks like a man with whom the world has dealt well.

Rev. Mr. Waddell conducted the services in St. John's Church on the last two Sundays and Rev. Dr. Laidlaw is to do so next and the following Sunday.

Dr. Fred McDurdy of Toronto, is making a welcome visit to Chatham.

News Gossip.—We understand that a meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday evening and that it will be attended by a large number of the ADVANCE beforehand, we were thus denied the opportunity of having a reporter present. When the newspaper proprietors are willing to report on council proceedings, it seems singular that they are prevented from doing so by the council itself. It is a piece of with the letting of town contracts without advertising them properly—a recent sad departure. The council have the right to know what the council is doing and to that and the holding of meetings without the people or the press knowing is should be discontinued.

A North Shore Boy.—A Massachusetts boy, says Mr. W. W. Johnson to-day received a letter from his brother, John Costin, from Cuba, who is a member of the Indiana crew which is competing in the regatta at Santiago, July 2. Captain "John" Brown of the Indiana gave credit to Costin for firing the shot that sank the Maria Theresa. The letter contained information that during the engagement the quarter deck of the Indiana was badly damaged by the explosion of a shell which exploded several of the men.

The John Costin above referred to is a New Brunswick boy, the son of Edward Costin, of Bass River, Kent County, where his mother still lives. His brother Michael Costin is a farmer in the employ of Hale Irving, Esq., of Beauséjour. He has a sister living in Point de Bute. John joined the American navy in June, 1892.

Beauséjour Mills.—Mr. K. Shives has completed his box work factory and it is now running night and day. The sheds are new and packed in bundles of shingles. They are being shipped from here by rail to Montreal, thence via Beaver Line to Liverpool. This is a new industry here, and buying tickets to the Convention. Full fare should be paid to Fredericton. The Canada Eastern, I. C. R. and "Star Line" will return delegates free. The C. P. R. will give reduced rates according to the number present at the Convention. The Order throughout New Brunswick is asked to pray earnestly that God's blessing may rest upon the Convention, that it may be a season of refreshing and profitable re-union.

Faithfully "In His name," HELEN L. BARBER, Prov. Secty. EDITH L. HASTINGS, Rec. Secty. Saint John, N. B., July, 1898.

Visit of the Dominion Minister of Public Works. The government steamer Eureka, having on board Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Minister of Public Works, and family, together with chief engineer, Laferre, engineer Shawen of St. John, and Mr. Fred Collins, his private secretary, arrived at Chatham on Saturday past two o'clock on Saturday. The honorable gentleman had been visiting different points on the North Shore, including Campbellton, Dalhousie, Bathurst, Carleton Place, and Tracadie—merely touching at some of them—and although he was expected here it appears that no one was notified of the day he would arrive. When the Eureka—whom, by the way, is said to be one of the best formed vessels of the Dominion Government for damages in connection with the bursting of certain dams and embankments on works connected with the Intercolonial Railway in the Parish of Newcastle which caused overflow during the month of August 1892. The plaintiffs in the several suits claim that the bursting of the embankments in question was due to defective construction, to not having been properly maintained and strengthened by the government and to negligence on the part of the government employees. There are three suits, several thousand dollars being claimed in each case. The cases are those of Mr. J. W. Williams, John Jones vs. the Queen, and James Jones, Howard Jones and Frederick L. Jones vs. the Queen. A. W. Moore is acting for the plaintiffs in all three cases.

Being the Government. The St. John Gazette says:—Action has been commenced by millions of the North Shore in the Exchequer Court against the Dominion Government for damages in connection with the bursting of certain dams and embankments on works connected with the Intercolonial Railway in the Parish of Newcastle which caused overflow during the month of August 1892. The plaintiffs in the several suits claim that the bursting of the embankments in question was due to defective construction, to not having been properly maintained and strengthened by the government and to negligence on the part of the government employees. There are three suits, several thousand dollars being claimed in each case. The cases are those of Mr. J. W. Williams, John Jones vs. the Queen, and James Jones, Howard Jones and Frederick L. Jones vs. the Queen. A. W. Moore is acting for the plaintiffs in all three cases.

Death and Burial of Mrs. Alexander Williston of Bay du Vin. Mrs. Alexander Williston, of Bay du Vin, died at her residence, at 4 o'clock on Saturday morning last, after an illness of about three weeks. She was 57 years of age and had outlived her husband, the late Alexander Williston, by about 21 years. She was formerly a Miss Wathen of Riverview, and had lived more than half a century in the town of which she had become one of the oldest inhabitants. She was justly respected by all who knew her, not only in her own community, but by a widely extended circle of friends and acquaintances in the County and elsewhere. She was a member of the congregation of the Church of St. John the Evangelist to support and encourage the cause of religion in her own community and to help on the work of the Church elsewhere. She was ever kind and hospitable to the clergy among whom the Bishops of Nova Scotia, Quebec and Fredericton have found rest and refreshment beneath her roof, and the late Rev. Jas. Hudson and his successors in the incumbency of the Parish of St. John the Evangelist have been among the recipients of her kind and valued benefactions.

Mrs. Williston was a veritable landmark in her day, community and generation, and she has passed away leaving behind her the precious memory of a noble life. The funeral took place from her late residence on Monday last, and was attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's, Newcastle. After a short service at the house, the procession of the coffin proceeded to the church, the clergy, in their robes, going before, the body being borne after them by the four sons of the deceased and followed by the assembled people. At the church the funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Forsyth. The hymn "O what joy and the glory must be," was then sung, after which Psalms 39 and 90 were chanted. Then followed the Lesson, 1st Cor. XV, v. 20 to 28, read by the Rev. P. G. Snow. The hymn "Rock of Ages," was then sung, after which in a short address Rev. Canon Forsyth spoke from the 1st Cor. IV, v. 13 in explaining the occasion announced to be held at the end of the bridge, and his adaptation to the present solemnities. He referred to the exemplary life and solitary influence of the departed, the comfort of Christian mourners in connection with the removal of the body to a higher sphere of activity and communion with God. After the address, the hymn "Abide with me," was sung, and the body being carried to the churchyard, was committed to the grave, in accordance with the reconstruction of the Rev. W. J. Wilkinson, saying the usual prayers.

Funeral services were held at the residence of the deceased on Monday last, and were attended by a large concourse of people. The clergy present were the Rev. J. Wilkinson, B. D. Laidlaw, Rector of St. John the Evangelist, Bay du Vin, the Rev. Canon Forsyth, Rector of St. Paul's, Chatham, and the Rev. P. G. Snow, Rector of St. Andrew's,

