

POLISH CAVALRY ENTERED KIEV ON SATURDAY

Stiffest Fighting Engaged in Before Poles Took Place Along the Irpen River.

POLES USE MODERN ARMORED TRAINS

Which Will Stand by With Reinforcements to Hold Kiev Against Any Counter Attacks.

Warsaw, May 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Polish cavalry entered the city of Kiev Saturday morning on the heels of the retreating Bolsheviks. The city has been evacuated by the Bolsheviks. The Polish infantry kept up its advance toward Kiev during the day. Cavalry detachments keeping in contact with the infantry forces. Kiev was entered by the cavalry men from the west.

Bolshevik Blasted Out.

The stiffest fighting engaged in by the Poles before they reached the outskirts of Kiev was along the Irpen River, just west of that city. The Bolsheviks, well entrenched defended the strip between the Irpen and the Dnieper until they were literally blasted from their positions.

The Poles first crossed the Irpen northwest of Kiev, near the mouth of the Dnieper early on Saturday after a three day fight before the city's gates. Soon afterwards the passage of the river was effected in force at various points over emergency bridges, some of which were built under the fire of the Bolshevik machine guns. The main Kiev railroad bridge across the Irpen, destroyed by the retreating enemy, was repaired by soldiers, aided by the local population.

Infantry Struggle.

For two days the struggle was for the most part an infantry battle. By the end of that day, however, the retreating defenders had recovered sufficiently from their confusion to bring up artillery and put it into play. Meanwhile, the Poles also had brought up guns, but the progress of the artillery to the battlefield was much hampered by the rough country, the dynamited highways and bridges and various obstacles placed by the Bolsheviks in order to handicap the advancing Poles.

Polish Fire Intense.

It was early on Friday that the Soviet troops began gradually to give way before the Polish cannon fire on all sides. The defenders fell back upon Kiev where the only available crossing of the Dnieper was the ancient Russian capital, but the advance along the railroad from Pustova was made under the greatest difficulties, because of the railroad being fired on from the Bolshevik guns in their positions along the chain of hills enclosing Kiev.

The army headquarters reports, covering Saturday's events, show that Polish troops in force entered Kiev that afternoon and gradually moving forward. The twelve day battle, through the Ukraine, the accounts said, was reached by the Polish and Ukrainian infantry expected to occupy Kiev Saturday night or Sunday morning.

Meanwhile an offensive was being launched to the North in Poland, on Saturday, by the Poles, according to the latest military communications which announced that the Bolshevik concentration in the region beyond Minsk. The first day's fighting resulted in the capture of Choszcz, East of Minsk, and a railroad town of Wazhewitz, North of Minsk. Much material, the statement adds, was taken by the Poles. There was little fighting, according to reports reaching Polish headquarters in Warsaw, the cavalry going in to the city all day as the infantry advanced in a great semicircle. A few machine gun posts were fired in the early morning as the cavalry appeared, but this was quickly silenced, and reports say that the evacuation of Kiev began soon afterwards, or as soon as the advancing troops appeared in force.

POLICE OFFICERS KILL TWO MEN

Found Them Riffing a Desk in a Factory Office.

Boston, Mass., May 9.—William C. Sweeney, who was shot and wounded by Frank Milton, a patrolman, when discovered riffling a desk in a factory office last night, died in a hospital today. Milton shot and killed Sweeney's companion, Miles P. Day, according to Milton and another office who accompanied him. One of the men aimed a revolver at them when they switched on the lights and station immediately discharged his own weapon. The police said that Sweeney made a statement before his death, but they declined to give any indication as to the nature.

SIR ROBERT BORDEN IN HOUSE WEDNESDAY

In Time for the Introduction of the Current Budget.

Ottawa, May 9.—(Canadian Press)—Sir Robert Borden may not take his seat in the House of Commons until Wednesday, in time for the introduction of the current budget. There was some talk of the Prime Minister's returning to Ottawa tonight, but this is hardly likely and the general belief is that he will not return until Wednesday morning. He is at present in New York and may not come direct to Ottawa from that city.

NEW LUXURY TAX EXPECTED TO FEATURE

Budget Which Will Be Brought Down Wednesday—Probable Extension Business Profits Tax.

Ottawa, May 9.—(Canadian Press.)—Interest in the budget, which Sir Henry Drayton is expected to bring down on Wednesday, centers around the possibility of a new luxury tax, and the probable extension of the business profits tax to the fiscal year which has just begun. Some slight revision of the tariff is probable, but the general belief is that there will be few innovations in customs duties on staple commodities. The taxation of incomes may not be increased to any extent. It is expected, in some quarters, that revenues from this source will have to be increased, while in others it is suggested that the government will endeavor to shift the burden by means of a luxury tax which will be pretty general in its application, and by revising the business profits tax so as to permit of a continuation of liberal revenues from this source without handicapping essential industries.

There is a dearth of speculation in informed parliamentary circles as to the terms of the 1920 budget. Much of the burden of cost of demobilization has been wiped out in the past fiscal year and faced with extraordinary economic conditions, the government is not expected to bring in any radical changes in taxation for the coming year.

HIGHWAYMEN BUSY AT NEW GLASGOW

Officers Searching Woods for Men Who Robbed Coal Company Cashier of $3,200

New Glasgow, May 9.—The police and searching parties were engaged all day in scouring the woods for the two men who, on Saturday, held up and robbed Cashier Campbell of the Greenwood Coal Company, and got away with $3,200 in cash. The desperadoes are supposed to be two men who had been working in a nearby colliery for the past three weeks. They boarded at the Coal Company's house, and when their bunk was searched masks and other articles were found.

The police have a good description of them. About nine o'clock Saturday night two men answering the description, entered Reid's store, at Eureka, and purchased a quantity of provisions, and afterwards made off in the direction of the woods. One bullet from the highwayman's gun penetrated clear through Campbell's ankle, badly fracturing the bone.

GENERAL GARZA IS A REFUGEE ON AMERICAN SOIL

Following Defeat of His Troops at Nuevo Laredo He Flew Across Border to Texas.

PRISONERS OF WAR SLAUGHTERED

Laredo, Texas, May 9.—General Remigio Garza, commander of Federal forces in the Nuevo Laredo military district, tonight is a refugee on American soil. Following defeat of his troops and capture of Nuevo Laredo by revolutionaries today, the Carranza officer arrived in Laredo tonight and took refuge in the Mexican consulate.

General Garza, who ordered his troops to make a determined stand against the rebel attack on Nuevo Laredo at dawn, saw his defence crumpled after a short fight, and with his men escaped in an automobile pursued by rebels. The General eventually made a for of the Rio Grande with his automobile followed by bullets.

Rebels Hold Vera Cruz

Galveston, Texas, May 9.—Unofficial reports reached here late today saying that the revolutionaries entered Vera Cruz last night, and today were everywhere occupying the city. President Carranza, the advice said, was hiding in Vera Cruz and his arrest was momentarily expected.

YOUNG EGYPTIANS KILL LIEUTENANT

British Troops in Cairo Restive Under Recent Attempts at Assassination.

Cairo, May 9.—The British troops in Cairo are restive under recent attempts at assassination, culminating last week in the number of a Lieutenant by four young Egyptians in one of the main thoroughfares. The assassin fired point blank at a range of a few feet.

A few days ago two British officers were shot and wounded. The police recently arrested a student agitator and his companions led to the arrest of others, who are believed to be directors of the so-called Venegense gang, which is sending out "blackhand" letters.

BENSON DEFENDS HIS ADMINISTRATION

Characterizes Sims' Charges as an Outrage and an Injustice to the Navy.

Washington, May 9.—Rear-Admiral Benson, former Chief of Operations, and an outraged and an injustice to the Navy. Containing his testimony before the Senate investigating committee, he said the charge, if allowed to stand, would be "to the everlasting disgrace of the American Navy, the first line of defence."

The safe transport of the American Army to France and back, said Admiral Benson, "was the most wonderful feat that had ever been dreamed of, and it shortened the war very materially."

THE SINN FEINNERS CONTINUE ATTACKS

Two Small Garrisons Raided Saturday Night—Dastardly Assaults Made.

Dublin, May 9.—The authorities are continuing their policy of shutting down the small police barracks in rural districts and sending the men to the larger central stations. Two organized attacks occurred at small barracks last night. At Clonke, County Cork, the small garrison of seven, after a protracted struggle, was compelled to surrender, one of the men being wounded.

IRREVOCABLE SPLIT IN LIBERAL ORGANIZATION

Disposition Among British Press and Politicians to Regard Situation Dangerous for Liberalism.

London, May 9.—(Canadian Associated Press.)—The press and politicians are emphatic in the view that the Liberal Party conflict means an irrevocable split in the organization. There is a disposition to regard the situation as even more dangerous for Liberalism than the Home Rule secession.

ECREMENT AGAIN IN SPOTLIGHT, BEING HELD IN

Chicago on Suspicion of Connection With Negotiating Some of Securities Stolen in N. Y. Robbery.

FIGURED IN MONTREAL FRAUD

Case Where He Was Charged With Crooked Work in Connection With Race Pools.

Chicago, May 9.—A. H. Ecrement, said by the police to be wanted in New York in connection with the negotiating of some of the $5,000,000 securities alleged to have been stolen by "Nicky" Arnstein and "Nick" Cohen, was under arrest here today. Ecrement, who had been living here under the name of C. E. Arvey, also was said to be wanted in Montreal and Buffalo in connection with an alleged $125,000 wire-tapping swindle.

William Chatur, of the Canadian Federal Police, was in Chicago today conferring with the State's Attorney's office. He said he would return to Canada to learn if the Canadian authorities desired to ask extradition papers for Ecrement. The man admitted his name was Ecrement, the police said, and that he was a friend of Phillip Kasel, another man said to be wanted in the Arnstein case. Ecrement denied that he knew Arnstein, but was said to have identified a picture of Cohen as that of a man he met some time ago in Chicago.

Arthur Ecrement, notary and ex-M. P. of the Canadian Federal Parliament, was arrested in Montreal in January, 1919, on a charge of conspiracy to rob, the charge being laid by Michael Conolly, a connection with racing tracks at pool rooms in various other places. Much evidence was heard and a writ of prohibition was issued, which stopped the case, on the ground that the alleged conspiracy was charged to have occurred in a foreign country, and accordingly could not be tried in Canada. The Superior Court quashed this writ. Appeal was taken by Ecrement, and last week the Court of Appeal maintained the judgment of the Superior Court. Ecrement is under bail of $40,000.

WELL ORGANIZED GANG OF THIEVES

Engaged in Stealing from Cargoes on Their Way to Australia from English and American Ports.

London, May 9.—A despatch to the London "Times" from Sydney, N. S. W., says that recent experiences have indicated that a gang of men, with world-wide ramifications, are engaged in stealing from cargoes on their way to Australia from English and American ports.

The cost of shipping companies and merchants, it is said, has aggregated thousands of pounds sterling annually. The pilfering has taken place prior to shipment from the points of origin, during transmission, and after arrival at destinations. At Sydney 15,000 pounds sterling worth of goods have been stolen since Christmas time, and other ports have suffered in a similar manner.

As an indication of the extent to which the thieves are carrying out their work it may be mentioned that a piano, shipped from London, was taken from the shipping case and the shipment from Saturday afternoon, and was supposed to contain a quantity of silk goods arrived at their destinations in New Zealand, with boxes filled with slawing.

Owing to the fitness of thieves in extracting cases and re-sealing them, the correspondent, it is almost impossible to detect those that have been tampered with. The correspondent has ascertained that a sea captain remarked, when the situation was brought to his attention, that he was pleased to bring his vessel into port with his funnel intact.

ALDERMAN HEAPS AT SYDNEY, N. S.

Sydney, N. S. W., May 9.—Alderman A. Hoops and F. H. Dunn of Wingham arrived in Sydney on Sunday morning. Two men shot the detective from behind and escaped. Revel wore a steel breast plate under his waistcoat, but the bullets struck unprotected portions of his body.

PRESIDENT CALLS UPON DEMOCRATS TO STAND

Squarely by the Treaty of Versailles and Against the Senate's Resolutions Favored by Lodge.

Washington, May 9.—A call to the campaign standing four square in favor of the Treaty of Versailles and against the Senate's reservations, was issued tonight by President Wilson in a telegram to Oregon Democratic leaders, made public at the White House.

Declaring that the party had "the honor of the nation" in its hands, the President said that the Lodge reservations, "were utterly inconsequential" with that honor as well as destructive of the role of world leadership which the United States must assume.

The only true Americanism, the President said, was that which "puts America in front of free nations and redoubles the great promises which we made to the world." It would be a violation of such promises, he said, to attach reservations to the treaty, which "whittle it down or weaken it as the republican leaders of the Senate have proposed to do."

MARITIME PROVINCES TO BE WITHOUT UNITS

Fredericton Delegation to Ottawa Learns There is But Slight Chance of Military Units Being Established Here.

Special to The Standard, Fredericton, May 9.—Mayor John A. Hall and C. D. Richardson, who went to Ottawa as representatives of the local organizations to discuss the location of a unit of the permanent military force in Fredericton as before the war, returned on Saturday afternoon. Mayor Hughes said the delegation had been given a most satisfactory hearing by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, the Minister of Militia, being introduced by Col. H. F. McLeod, M. P., who had arranged the interview the afternoon of their arrival, and they came away impressed with the belief that the location as to whether Fredericton will have a unit of the permanent force located here again is not so much, one of the choices as a local preference, but as to whether or not there will be any unit of the permanent force stationed in New Brunswick at all.

It is understood that the delegation learned while at Ottawa that the Militia Council have made a recommendation favoring entrenchment of the permanent force established in Canada, so that the Maritime Provinces, as well as British Columbia, would be without any units. The recommendation, it is said, was only recently made, and that there was an unexpected situation confronting the delegation upon their arrival in Ottawa.

Owing to the fitness of thieves in extracting cases and re-sealing them, the correspondent, it is almost impossible to detect those that have been tampered with. The correspondent has ascertained that a sea captain remarked, when the situation was brought to his attention, that he was pleased to bring his vessel into port with his funnel intact.

BURNED TO DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Elmhurst, N. Y., May 9.—Mrs. Helen Brogley of Newark, N. J., was burned to death early today when an automobile in which she was riding with three companions turned over a ledge. John Day, of Long Island City, and Mrs. Freda Bartoli of Newark, the other occupants of the machine, were being held by the police. They were unharmed. The fourth occupant of the machine ran away after the accident.

IMPORTS REACH LARGEST TOTAL IN MANY YEARS

The Imports for Home Consumption Show an Increase of Over $100,000,000 Over Last Year.

EXPORTS NOT EQUAL TO 1918 FIGURES

Exports to United Kingdom Falling off, But There is a Notable Increase in Exports to States.

Ottawa, May 9.—(Canadian Press)—Canada's imports for consumption during the twelve months ending March 31 of this year, and upon which duty had to be paid, show an approximate increase of $100,000,000 in value over the previous twelve months, according to a statement issued by the Bureau of Statistics. For the year just ended the total was $203,048,811, as against $103,470,717 for the previous year, and $102,919,028 for the fiscal year of 1918. Free goods in the past year totalled $70,879,858, or a total of imported goods for consumption of $132,168,953.

Total exports of merchandise went to $138,666,709, of which $1,239,492, was shipped to Canada, and $47,168,611 to foreign. This does not, however, reach the 1918 total exports, which was valued at $1,588,106,792. A noteworthy fact, however, is that while exports to the United Kingdom are still falling away, those to the United States are still largely on the increase. Imports, however, from the old land continue to show a marked increase over figures covering the same period across the line. Figures show a forty per cent increase in imports from the United States in 1918, while from the States the increase is less than 5 per cent.

Articles for the Army and Navy, imported during the fiscal year of 1918, totalled over $30,000,000 in value, while for the year just ended, the aggregate was a little over a million and a half.

The modern dancing craze is going strong in St. John. Last evening being going down Charlotte street, a meeting of the local shimmy council has been called for tomorrow night.

Washington, May 8.—An official telegram from Vera Cruz, received at the State Department today, says a wireless message from Mexico City announces that President Carranza left Mexico City and that General Obregon has taken complete possession of the city. Other official advices confirm that General Obregon has taken the Mexican capital.

OBITUARY

The many friends of Charles E. Belyea, of 58 Middle street, West St. John, will regret to learn of his death. Mr. Belyea was a prominent citizen of the West Side and had a wide circle of friends. He was a member of the Carleton Union Lodge F. and A. M., and the members will attend the funeral in a body tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

MOIR'S Chocolates. CHILDREN are introduced to Moir's Chocolates by mothers who came to know these superior confections as a delightful gift in the days before marriage. It was then that mothers became lovers of Moir's Chocolates for their unsurpassed goodness and rich flavor. So it is that Moir's Chocolates have become the chocolates of the home. "A HOUSE OF FRENCH ART" FOR NEW YORK. Museum to be Erected and Maintained by the French Beaux Arts. GOSSIP OF PARIS. By Standard's Special Correspondent—Tango Tabooed by Church. Cross-Atlantic News Service. (Copyright.) By Isabel Ramsey. Paris, May 8.—(Special.)—By way of strengthening the bonds between French Art and American Art, a project which was launched by Andre Terzian when High Commissioner in America, is to be put into permanent form. A "House of French Art" will be set up in New York under a scheme for which the management of the Beaux Arts is responsible. The design has been drawn up by M. Chas. Baumet, a well known Parisian architect. M. Plummer, the High Commissioner, will supervise the erection of the building, which will be entirely decorated by French craftsmen and filled with works of French art. The institution will remain as a permanent exposition of the best that France is capable of producing by her artists and designers. Bernhard's Return to the Stage. Sarah Bernhard has made a triumphal return to the French stage. From the wild demonstrations of enthusiasm which greeted the 75-year-old tragedienne, she still seems to remain the undisputed queen of French tragedy. The promoters was a memorable one for those who managed to obtain a seat or standing room at the Theatre Sarah Bernhard. The play chosen was Racine's "Athalie." Every moment of seating and standing accommodation was occupied long before the curtain rose, and outside halls and passages were packed with people awaiting if they only caught an occasional glimpse of their idol or heard the sound of her voice. When the "divine Sarah" made her first entry, carried on Athalie's litter, the audience rose and gave vent to a burst of cheering and shouts which seemed to threaten the walls of the theatre. After the first act, crowds penetrated to Bernhard's dressing room in which she sat as a goddess enshrined under a mass of flower trophies. Among the plighting of the French and Mme. Deschanel, both of whom followed the example of the audience in taking the hand of the remarkable woman. Isadora Duncan Again. Another favorite with Parisians, Isadora Duncan, the American classical dancer, has been delighting vast audiences at the Trocadero lately. With her own conducting an orchestra of 80 instruments, she has given some of the most splendid masterpieces and provoked ovations from audiences composed of the artistic elite of Paris. The French theatre was so great after one performance that "Isa Duncan" came forward to the footlights and made this little speech: "I danced before you the sadness of my tragic life," she said, "and you gave me in return love to such extent that today I have been able to dance a bacchanale. Let me give you a hundred war orphans, and in five years I will have them dancing for the sheer joy of living. For this, one doesn't need worldly riches, only the riches of the soul." A Threatened Stage Rebellion. There has been agitation of late among playwrights, artists, authors and dramatists, theatrical managers and owners and the small multitude of people who go to make up the composition which we name "the theatre." It is the outcome of the proposal to vote a super-tax of eight per cent on theatres. This plus the existing taxes of from 12 to 15 per cent, authors' rights, and 9.90 per cent poor tax, would amount to about 30 per cent. Managers and playwrights assert it would be impossible to produce plays. Travel and Postage Cost More. This amount and the fact that the cost of travel has increased has become a serious problem. The tango and fox trot. The attack by distinguished prelates on the tango and fox trot and its attendant sin, the backstage gown, continues to rage. Every Sunday, from the great Madeleine down to the smallest parish church, the voice of the Church continues to thunder out against these modern phases of social life. The worldly mother with marriageable daughters is in despair. She must be orthodox in her religion because independence of opinion in religious matters is not looked upon with favor by members of her sect; she must also robe her daughters in beautiful clothes and chaparrone them at smart dress dances and balls where the eligible youth of France are inevitably to be found these days distracting themselves after five years of war. How to reconcile the two is a sufficiently difficult problem. The harassed mother does not fly in the face of her Church, neither can she afford not to dress her daughters in the best that Fashion offers, nor refrain from taking them to social functions enlivened by the tango and fox trot.

The potatoes are to be shipped to various points in the state of Montana.

Paris, May 8.—(Special.)—By way of strengthening the bond between French Art and American Art lovers, a project which was launched by Andre Tertulien when High Commissioner in America, is to be put into permanent form.

A "House of French Art" will be set up in New York under a scheme for which the management of the Beaux Arts is responsible. The designs have been drawn up by M. Chas. Fumet, a well known Parisian architect. M. Fumet is now en route to New York to supervise the erection of the building, which will be entirely decorated by French craftsmen and artists.

The institution will remain as a permanent exposition of the best that France is capable of producing by her artists and designers.

Bernhardt's Return to the Stage. Sarah Bernhardt has made a triumphant return to the French stage. From the wild demonstrations of enthusiasm which greeted the 75-year old tragedienne, she still seems to remain the undisputed queen of French tragedy.

The premiere was a memorable one for those who managed to obtain a seat or standing room at the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt. The play chosen was Racine's "Andromache." Every inch of seating and standing accommodation was occupied long before the curtain rose, and outside halls and passages were packed with people satisfied if they only caught an occasional glimpse of their idol or heard the sound of her voice.

When the "divine Sarah" made her first entry, carried on Achille's litter, the audience roared and gave vent to a burst of cheering and shouts which seemed to threaten the walls of the theatre.

After the first act, crowds penetrated to Bernhardt's dressing room in which she sat as a goddess enraptured amidst masses of flower trophies. Among the pilgrims were the President and Mme. Deschanel, both of whom followed the example of the rest and bent to kiss the hand of the remarkable woman.

Isadora Duncan Parisian. Another favorite with Parisians, Isadora Duncan, the American classical dancer, has been delighting vast audiences at the Trocadero lately. With "Rebelle" conducting an orchestra of 80 performers, she has interpreted the dances of masters and provoked ovations from audiences composed of the artistic elite of Paris.

The demonstration was so great after one performance that "la Duncan" came forward to the footlights and made this little speech: "I danced before you the sadness of my tragic life," she said, "and you gave me in return love to such extent that today I have been able to dance a bacchanale. Let someone give me a hundred war orphans, and in five years I will have them dancing for the sheer joy of living. For this, one doesn't need worldly riches, only the riches of the soul."

Managers and playwrights assert it would be impossible to produce plays.

Travel and Postage Cost More. This month there has been brought into force higher tariffs on the sub-way, on the motor buses, and in postal rates. This, on top of the increased tax on tobacco, cigarettes and cigars, has brought indignant public protest.

NEW YORK CANADIAN CLUB IN ANNUAL Session Will Debate Matter of Ladies' Privileges in the Building.

New York, May 8.—(By Canadian Press.)—The annual meeting of the Canadian Club of New York will be held Tuesday evening in the club rooms in the Belmont Hotel.

The club has had a successful year both in the social and financial standpoint. The reports to be presented tomorrow night will show an increase in membership and a widening of the sphere of activities of the club during the past twelve months. A number of prominent Canadians, including General Sir Arthur Currie, delivered addresses under the auspices of the club, and the increased number of New Yorkers in Canada and Canadian affairs was reflected in the large attendance at these events.

What is declared to be the only problem which officials of the Canadian Club have had to worry them will be thrashed out at tomorrow night's meeting. Ladies have very liberal privileges in connection with the club under the present rules. There are special parlors for members' wives and also a small dining room where they may hold luncheon parties. The majority of the social functions conducted by the club are participated in by the ladies. Some of the members take the view that the club should be more of a men's institution. They favor more "smokers" and fewer dances, and declare some of the ladies do not stay put in the rooms allotted to them, but wander into the men's department; yes, even into the sacred precincts of the card room so that a man may not give vent to a good old-fashioned Canadian cuss in his own club without danger of being overheard by some member of the fair sex.

It is said that these, and similar hardships, will be reviewed by the "men only" section of the membership at tomorrow night's meeting. The majority of the ladies will argue for the retention of the present privileges for members' wives, and an interesting debate is in prospect.

Arthur Knopson, the present president of the club, and Douglas R. Henderson, are on the slate for the presidency. There will also be contests for all of the other offices.

NEW DEPARTURE IN SHIPPING WORLD

Ten Thousand Ton Steamer Launched With Steam up from British Yard—Built for Italian Parties.

Newport, May 7.—The steamship Way Glory, one of the six ships of over 10,000 tons deadweight of fabricated type completed by the Monmouth shipbuilding company for the Government, was launched at Chepstow recently. A bottle of champagne was broken on the bows by Lady Mackay, wife of the Shipping Controller, and six seconds after release she majestically took the water as in the manner of a ship, amidst the deafening cheers of thousands of onlookers.

The novel experiment of launching with steam up and fully equipped was a great success, and immediately with the assistance of tags, she left for Cardiff for trials prior to being handed over to the new owners in Italy. This is the first ship launched since a private company acquired the yard from the Government.

A Shipbuilding Boom. Mr. Joseph MacLay, Shipping Controller, made an important statement at the luncheon which followed. He said he believed that a line of trial was coming for the shipping command in the world. Shipbuilding was going on today at a pace unheard of before, and in the shipbuilding trade there had been practically no labour troubles since the war. He believed a better feeling prevailed between the masters and men in that industry than in any other, and he strongly commended that masters and men should not be interfered with. The Government was anxious at the earliest moment to remove all control and help them to return to normal conditions.

The Chepstow yard had passed into the hands of men who knew their business. He did not say the Government did not know their's (laughter.) He believed, if developed, Chepstow would become one of the big success stories of the country in the shipbuilding trade. The outlook of the country would be very unhappy if the output of coal was not improved, and the working classes must be housed properly. The new increase in the excess profits tax would have a serious effect on industries, and it was not too late for great magnates to impress on the Chancellor the seriousness of the position. If they did, serious reconsideration might be given to the matter.

CANS DAYLIGHT TIME. Fall, B. C., May 8.—The city of Trail has again reverted to standard time after a short trial of eight days only of daylight saving. Notices to the effect that the offices would be open during the usual hours as per standard time have been posted at the city hall, thus settling the much vexed question at least as far as official action goes.

Terrible Weeping ECZEMA. Mrs. B. Moore, of Hamilton, after having suffered with weeping eczema of the hands, feet and face, and being unable to have tried and tried remedies, without relief, she writes: "I was cured by a bottle of D. D. D. today, my sufferings being relieved completely." Write for particulars to D. D. D. today, my sufferings being relieved completely. Write for particulars to D. D. LONDON THEATRE HAS CHANGED IN LAST TEN YEARS

David Belasco Finds a Difference in Houses and Players.

FAILED TO FIND ANY SNOBBERY

Thinks Present Day Artists Measure up to Standard Set by Old Timers.

Cross-Atlantic News Service. (Copy right.)—By David Belasco I was invited to see the new American theatrical producers, during his recent stay in London, made a comprehensive study of the English stage as it is today.

London, May 8.—(Special.)—London has changed greatly in the last decade—for it is ten years since I was here last—especially has the stage changed. All of my friends, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree, and Sir Henry Irving are gone, so have many other old-timers. I expect I am growing old though, for everywhere I look now changes are to be found.

Although I say that I think that I must be getting old, I have come to the conclusion that it is not the man that grows old, but his environment. I am just as much of a little boy now as I ever was. This fact was brought home to me by my visit to London.

The old masters that trod the boards of the London stage are gone, it is true, but new ones have sprung up in their place. I have been to a different theatre every afternoon, and when I return to London from the Continent I am going to complete the tour. Most of the plays that I have seen so far are well acted and produced.

In the old days of London I witnessed Ellen Terry and many other famous actresses interpret the role of Desdemona, but when I visited the Duke of York's Theatre the other day, I was immediately struck by the ability with which Miss Hilda Bayles played the same part.

There has been much talk in London of snobbery on the stage, and one manager stated that the reason that American actresses were making such a great success here was because they were not snobs. He also said that the English actresses exercised too much restraint in playing their roles because of the titled people they knew in the audience.

Of course, I do not know what this manager's experience has been, but I can say that to my knowledge I have not encountered any snobbery on the stage.

In America we believe in playing up the centre of human interest, the woman—the centre of the universe, as it were. With but one exception—that of David Warfield—I made the woman the principal figure around which the story revolves. Most of my colleagues do the same thing.

American actresses are watched over and looked after. Sometimes one of their mannerisms is worth its weight in gold, at other times it has to be curtailed. Each emotion is carefully schooled so that it will go just the proper way; not too far, and then again so that it will not be too shallow.

Such has not been the case in London.

dom. The woman is more rarely the centre of the plot. However, this controversy marks the fact that the day of the young actress is dawdling over her hair she is coming into her own.

The same question applies, vice versa, to America. England has taken a great care of her leading men, so consequently these highly fettered persons make a success in the United States, for, perhaps we, in our desire to cultivate the feminine star, have overlooked the man. This probably accounts for the number of leading men in America who are Englishmen.

In all the changes which I have chronicled I cannot say that the London stage has changed for the worse. Art is still loved here for art's sake. Shakespeare is still played at the "Old Vic" south of the Thames, and long lines of the poor wait for the ticket office of the pit to open so that they can witness the works of the immortal Bard.

Sunday I go to Paris, where I will study the stage for a week, and then I am going to Rome to see Pasolini. I look forward with lively anticipation to my talk with that great Italian composer.

On my return to England I am going to try to go down to Stratford-on-Avon to visit the birthplace of Shakespeare. While there I will be the guest of Marie Corelli.

ARE GIRLS ABLE TO SHOP INTELLIGENTLY?
Do mothers train their girls to go shopping? The art of buying is a real profession. Many housewives never learn this part of the game. They dread to buy anything for themselves or for the family.

We have known cases where the husband had to most of the store buying for the whole family. The same is true if you reverse the order. The mother should give the girls a lesson in shopping.

TRAPPERS KEEP OUT.
Edmonton, Alta., May 8.—Notice has been given to all game guardians in the province that in the future there is to be no more trapping within the forest reserves. Hitherto the reserves have been free to trappers on the same terms and restrictions as other parts of the country, but under the newly amended game act all such trapping will be prohibited except by special permit.

STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLE
Once the liver fails to filter the poisonous bile from the blood, there is a clogging up and poisoning of the system which causes many troubles to arise. Therefore, upon the liver, more than any other organ of the body, depends the general health.

Carelessness and neglect, and oftentimes, willful disregard of nature's laws will put the system out of sorts. The bowels become constipated, the liver inactive and the stomach upset. To bring the system back to its normal state, you should take Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills. They live upon the liver, get the bowels back to their proper condition and ease up the stomach.

Mrs. G. L. Cackett, Enchant, Alta., writes:—"I have used Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills and have found them good for both stomach and liver troubles. I have told others about your valuable medicine and they have used them with good results.

They are also good for headache." Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

NEW ALLAN THEATRE AT ST. CATHARINES
Ontario House Opened Recently With Ceremony—Seats 1,500 Persons and is Equipped on Elaborate Scale.

The most recent addition to the mighty chain of Allen theatres in Canada was opened to the public when the St. Catharines house threw open its doors to the public.

With a seating capacity of about 1,500, this theatre is one of the finest of its size in the entire Dominion, having been constructed and equipped on the same elaborate plan and scale as all of the larger Allen houses.

The opening ceremonies were witnessed by a capacity house. On the programme of the evening were Mayor Lovelace and aldermen of St. Catharines, together with several Toronto people.

Solos were given by Luigi Romanelli, musical director of the Allen Theatre, Toronto. Many telegrams of congratulation were received and a number of well-known stars sent greetings to Messrs. Jule and J. J. Allen, introducing Mabel Normand, Will Rogers, Tom Moore, Geraldine Farrar and Pauline Frederick.

PROVINCIAL NEWS FROM OUR CORRESPONDENTS

Shediac

Shediac, May 7.—Although the cold winds of the past week indicate that the ice is still in the Straits, the sunshine this week has been very welcome.

With Mr. Fred Torry, as manager, the Star Theatre was reopened to the public on Monday evening.

The seaside town holds its old time popularity, and the demand for cottages here, and at the summer resorts at the Cape, Point du Chene and Cape Brule, far exceeds the supply.

A large number of our citizens are in Moncton this week to be present at "Polynasia" at the afternoon and evening performances at the Grand.

Mrs. Tomalin, wife of Rev. Mr. Tomalin, Shediac, was a recent visitor to St. John.

Miss B. Harper was a guest this week of her aunt, Mrs. H. S. Bell, Moncton.

Mrs. Clark and children, Boston, are spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. R. S. Murray, Sackville street.

Mrs. Louis Comeau, St. John, was a recent visitor in Shediac. She has been the guest of the past week of friends in St. John.

Mrs. E. A. Smith is home from St. John and Fredericton.

Mrs. Le Blain and child, returned to Moncton this week, following a visit to her sister, Mrs. N. LeBlain.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hebert, who boarded during the winter months, have returned to their home on Sackville street.

Mrs. Logan, Moncton, is at the home of Mrs. John Nickerson.

Mrs. James Scott is convalescing from a severe attack of rheumatism.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Webster, following some months spent in Bermuda, lately arrived in New York, and are expected to come to Shediac, at an early date.

Mrs. H. W. Murray and daughter, Mrs. Margaret, Mrs. Prose and Miss G. Smith were in Moncton during the week.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church will meet this week with Mrs. W. Weddall as the parsonage.

Following the winter months spent at the Walden, Mr. and Mrs. A. White and children, have returned to their cottage on Water street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Combs and family, have returned to their home in Moncton.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson and family will move from their home on Sackville street, in the near future to take up their residence for the summer on Calder street.

Mr. Thompson expects to build a residence on Sackville street, and move into it in October.

Miss Nora Lyons, who has been the guest of her uncle, Mr. H. Lyons, returned this week to Halifax.

Mrs. Russell, who spent the past six months at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. A. Smith, left town on Saturday to reside with relatives in Montreal. Mrs. Smith accompanied her mother to Montreal.

Miss Christina Lavoye, who spent the winter in Boston, is expected home this week.

Mrs. A. J. Webster, the Misses Melanson, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. James Thompson, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. Breaux and Mrs. M. Casey were in Moncton on Wednesday.

Mrs. M. Hannah is confined to her home, Shediac, West, owing to illness.

Mr. John Gillard and little daughter, Marion, spent the weekend with friends in Sackville.

Dr. and Mrs. Camille Gaudet and family after a few years residence in Shediac, have removed to Memramouc, where the doctor will practice his profession. His school friends wish him every success in his new field.

Dr. and Mrs. Eric Robinson, have returned to their main street residence.

Mrs. Knight of Moncton, was a recent guest at the home of Mrs. J. W. Livingstone. Mrs. Knight and members of her family expect to spend the summer at Shediac Cape.

Miss Bertha Leger, R. N., who spent a short vacation with her husband, returned to the States on Saturday.

MOTHERS! NEVER NEGLECT WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but unfortunately this mistake often leads to the neglect of this dangerous child's disease.

Sackville

Miss Gertrude Thomas, the school pianist, accompanied for the school songs, drills, etc. in a very efficient manner, and the college orchestra was ably assisted by Messrs. A. P. Snowden and H. Lambert, of the Sackville Citizens' Band.

On Friday afternoon Miss Frances Shidell entertained a few of her friends of the Ladies' College to an afternoon tea from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Those present were: Misses Blith, Wren, Weldon and Liza Babcock, Misses Thomas, Dumbler, Joan Linton, Hilda Baird, Muriel Belyea, Marion Smith, Myra Freeman (Amherst), Irene Weldon and Liza Babcock.

George Trueman, M. A., Ph. D., has resigned the principalship of St. Stansted College, Que., and has accepted a position on the Board of Education of the Methodist Church of Canada.

Dr. Trueman, for several years, has been in labor as principal, teacher, financier and farmer at St. Stansted and has brought the school to a position of great success. He has also been a leader in temperance propaganda and in the Methodist National Campaign in Quebec province, and now he finds it necessary to leave the work which he has so well established for less congenial work.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Savage, of Melrose, were in town on Saturday, on their return from Montreal.

The graduating recital of Miss Ruth Wynn, organist, and Miss Inga Lauson, reader, attracted an audience which more than filled Beethoven Hall, Saturday night.

Many out-of-town people were in attendance in addition to the faculty and students of the three institutions.

The work of Miss Wynn at the organ was very pleasing. The recital and fugue by Bach called for technique and control which were not lacking; the Gullmunt Nuptial March was gracefully rendered; the Duple Grand Canon lacked only power of instrument for a very effective close of the evening's programme.

Miss Rafage gave her readings in a way that made them thoroughly enjoyed by all. Her manner of delivery was natural and effective; her voice lent itself readily to varying moods and characters and at all times she showed that control of expression which is so necessary to finished reading.

A pleasant addition to the programme of the two graduates was the Aria from Mignon, sung by Miss Kathleen Atkinson—an undergraduate student in Mount Allison Conservatory.

Miss Atkinson made admirable use of her powerful but rich voice. She was ably assisted at the piano by Miss Kathryn Thompson.

The ladies of St. Paul's Church (club) held a very successful high tea and sale of fancy work on Saturday in the Chignecto Club rooms, which were prettily decorated for the occasion with yellow decorations, daffodils and pussy willows.

The tea was supervised by Mrs. H. H. Wood, president of the club. The total receipts were $325, $212 of which was made at the fancy table, which was presided over by Miss Beattie Carter, Mrs. H. H. Wood, Mrs. Carrie Tower and Mrs. Graham Miller. Quizzes on "the guess cake" were taken by Miss Jean Hainnie and $11.50 was realized.

The correct weight, 10 pounds 3 ounces, was guessed by Mr. R. Trices. Those in charge of the supper table were Misses Ella Loveston, Marjorie Taylor, Jean Lawrence, Frances Tower, Elizabeth Johnson, Marguerite Chapman, Alice Hanson, by Richardson, Mrs. Damon, Mrs. Melville, Mrs. Inness, Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. Walter Duncan and Mrs. E. P. Smith.

Mrs. Maurice Fisher and Mrs. McIntyre poured the tea and coffee. The kitchen was in charge of Mrs. F. A. Fisher, who was assisted by Mrs. H. E. Pasco, Mrs. Lila Estabrook, Mrs. Peter, Miss Adelaide Wry, Mr. Melville and Miss Celia Martin.

Friends of Mrs. Frank J. Sackville are glad to welcome her back to Sackville. She has been spending the winter with relatives in Washington, D. C.

Milltown

Milltown, N. B., May 7.—Senator and Mrs. Irving R. Todd returned from Ottawa on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Whidden Graham are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son at their home in town.

Mrs. Charles E. Casey has been confined to the house with an attack of grippe.

National Lacrosse Union Organized

Corwall, Ont., May 9.—At a meeting held here Saturday afternoon, the National Lacrosse Union was organized for 1920, and it was decided to operate on a professional basis again this year.

Four clubs were agreed upon with a double schedule, National, Shamrock, Ottawa and Corwall. The Toronto application was rejected because of heavy travelling expenses to Toronto.

A neutral system of referees was agreed upon, each club to send in a list of names to the president. June 5th was selected as the opening date for the season.

Title Polo Event For Meadow Brook

Long Island Club is Awarded National Championships for First Time.

For the first time in the history of polo the national championships were awarded to the Meadow Brook Club of Long Island at a meeting of the executive committee of the Polo Association at the Downtown Club yesterday.

Meadow Brook, one of the oldest clubs in the organization and long recognized as the leader in polo activity, has been the scene of international matches and tryouts for international tournaments, but never has had the privilege of conducting the American championship events.

The tourney is to start on September 11 and will continue for ten days or more, depending upon the entry.

That the award was not made without a good deal of discussion is certain from the fact that four clubs had made bids for the championships and that the final decision on the matter had been delayed a month or so beyond the usual time. The names of all four clubs were not disclosed, but it was admitted some time ago that the Philadelphia Country Club, which conducted the events very successfully last year intended to make an earnest effort to land the game. It was thought by some that the best way out of the situation was to divide the three championships—senior, junior and open—among three clubs, but the plan evidently was not thought feasible by the committee because it would entail three times as much expense in shipping ponies and a loss of considerable time. Besides that, the entire championship programme in the past always has been awarded to a single club, and there was no good reason why Meadow Brook, which never had conducted the event, should not receive the same consideration as the other clubs.

Point Judith Polo Club, which has been the scene of a number of championship tournaments, has been awarded the New England sectional championship to be played from August 2 to 14, and the Miami Valley Polo Club of Dayton, Ohio, received the sanction for the mid-Western sectional championship.

The committee appointed recently to study the rules revisions suggested by the Hurlingham Club of England made its report yesterday. They had gone over the code carefully and had drawn up amendments of their own which they suggested that the Polo Association request the various clubs to try out during the early weeks of the season. There is no indication at present whether or not the revisions will be adopted. What the changes are in the playing rules as used by Hurlingham and what the features are of the code as amended by the Polo Association committee will be made public at a later date.

Those present at the executive committee meeting yesterday were H. L. Herbert, chairman; William A. Hazard, secretary; W. Cameron Forbes and Dudley P. Rogers of Boston, Colonel William Lassiter of the Army Polo Association, J. Cheever Gowdin of the Rockaway Hunting Club, Harry Payne Whitney, Devereux Milburn and Louis E. Stoddard of the Meadow Brook Club, and W. Pinket Stewart, Robert E. Strawbridge, Sr. and John C. Groom of the Philadelphia Country Club.

Geo. Carpenter Given A Welcome

Champion Arrived at Toronto Saturday Morning—Tendered Civic Reception, Luncheon, and Trip in Airplane—Was Seen in Action.

Toronto, May 9.—Georges Carpenter, the noted French pugilist, who recently won the heavyweight championship of Europe, arrived in Toronto Saturday morning in his special car the "Mistress," in the private car of the late ex-President Theodore Roosevelt.

He was accompanied by his bride of a few weeks ago, Françoise Descaups, his French manager, Jack Curley, his English manager, Jules Lanzaer, his Belgian sparring partner, and a number of others, the entourage comprising fifteen people.

Mayor Church and prominent local sportsmen met the party at the station. A civic reception was given at the City Hall to Carpenter and his bride, and they were the guests of the Sportsmen's Patriotic Association of this city at luncheon in the King Edward Hotel. In the afternoon they were taken across the bay by Colonel Barker, V. C., in an airplane to Hamilton's Point, where they witnessed the ball game between Toronto and Reading.

Carpenter gave an exhibition in the arena here, Saturday night, of his prowess in the ring in a four round bout with Lanzaer, under the auspices of the Army and Navy Veterans.

The luncheon was a notable event, and was attended by about 150 citizens. Madame Carpenter was the only lady present. Carpenter paid a high tribute to the Canadians who fought in the war, and referred to the good records made by Colonel Bishop, V. C., and Colonel Barker, V. C., the famous Canadian armorer.

CHAMPIONSHIP OPENING

Newcastle, Ireland, May 7.—The Women's golf championship opened here today with an informal match between the married and single women. The latter carried off a ten to one victory. Mr. Mansfield, Philadelphia, lost to Janet H. Jackson, Ireland's strongest woman player, two up one to play. High winds and heavy showers made play difficult.

GOING BAREFOOT.

(New York Times). According to a dispatch from Vienna, the "intellectuals" of that cruelly harassed city, partly because of poverty and partly as a protest against a notable phase of profiteering, have organized themselves into a Barefoot Club. In other words, from now on and until cold weather comes again they are to wear no shoes or stockings.

This is a variously meritorious idea. Going barefoot in summer is not a hardship, as is known by every body now old whose boyhood was spent in the country. If he remembers those days, he remembers also that the arrival of barefoot time was welcomed, not dreaded, by the boys who were allowed to quit their shoes then, and that the other boys were bitterly resented when deprived of the same pleasant liberty.

As a matter of fact, a large part of the earth's inhabitants walk in bare feet for the better part of every year, and no small minority for the whole of it. Certainly nothing would bring down the price of shoes more promptly or farther than a general revival and adoption of this ancient and honorable custom. If it could be made the fashion, though only for the younger generation, the high cost of living would receive a jolt as all parents know to their grief.

The Modern Idea

Tell your painter to date the job when he paints your buildings. Somewhere, in an inconspicuous place, have him make a record of the date when the work was done. In the above sketch is seen an example of dating a railroad bridge.

Time slips by amazingly fast and a record is a valuable reminder as the years pass. Properly preservation is a vital matter. Any idea which serves as a check is valuable. You will never discount the practice when once you have adopted it. Dating need not be in the least a displacement. Have the date lettered in small neat figures where it can be found whenever desirable and then keep a check on time as it affects your property.

THE SALVATION ARMY.

The greatest social welfare organization in the world, the Salvation Army, is about to celebrate its jubilee, after fifty years' strenuous work in Great Britain and upwards of sixty other countries. This religious and self-sustaining organization, which first saw the light in the slums of Whitechapel, and East London, and had the tenacity to abide the shock of ridicule and even abuse, carries now its banner into nearly every corner of the earth, where it is accepted as an Army with a great Christian mission.

In the district in which the inception of this great army of zealous workers in the cause of Christianity and charity took place, there abounded elements that were stationarily left alone by the regularly organized religious bodies. The men and women steeped in crime, vice and depravity who were to be found in the highways and byways of darkest London were considered to be too far gone to be worth attempting to rescue. The Church could not, or at any rate did not, reach them; and it was left to the devoted band of men and women who rallied to the call of the Rev. William Booth to find a means of reaching those who were outside of society; the outcome of whose efforts was not to be emboldened in the great organization which the world knows today as the Salvation Army.

The history of the organization shows that in its earlier days its method of attracting the rougher and more degraded elements of society to hear the Gospel preached were not taken either seriously or kindly, and in London it was customary that their barracks should be protected by the police. Their methods for reclaiming the lower elements of society were so contrary to those of the orthodox Church that persecution followed. Salvationists and lassies, as they then called them in England, were even physically maltreated at times, and here and there a business man who happened to fall a convert to them even suffered property damage.

However, the Salvation Army has lived down all this; the organization has grown into mammoth proportions, and invaded continents and countries until today it is a world-wide institution for good, accepted as such by people, Church and State. Its efforts are in themselves Christian endeavors accentuated with self-denial and sacrifice, the fruit of which is never told.

In connection with its work it has been the custom for the Army to hold an annual self-denial week as a means of assisting to provide the necessary funds to carry on its work, and a special effort is to be made on the occasion of its jubilee this year to raise the largest sum on record. It is pointed out by a contemporary that "Royalty, governors, leaders in Parliament, the Judiciary, business men, churches of all denominations, civic authorities and the public, irrespective of race, color or creed, have endorsed it and accepted it as personal to themselves in the gifts they have made." It is to be hoped this year of grace will see donations to this commendable work given in full measure, heaped up and overflowing.

It might be interesting to mention here that the self-denial fund of the Salvation Army goes, among other purposes, towards the maintenance of the following:

- Maternity Homes for poor mothers and their babies.
- Children's Homes, not "orphanges" or "institutions," but small homes where parental care can be most closely approximated.
- Rescue Homes for wayward girls and unmarried mothers and their babies.
- Police court work, where men and women not habitual criminals, are taken in hand and induced to go straight, and followed up.
- Women's Shelters for temporary care of dependent cases.
- Workmen's Homes and Shelters, where men may have clean beds and decent surroundings at nominal charge, or, if they have not the price, free.
- Free Labor Bureau, General Hospitals, Home Mission Department, Hospital Visiting Bands.
- Industrial Workshops where devotees support themselves and work out their own salvation.
- Lost and missing friends world-wide inquiry.
- Military hostels for soldiers and dependents.
- Military social service district visitors.
- Training college for candidates for officership.
- Young people's work.

In the words of His Majesty the King, "the Salvation Army are to be congratulated upon the mighty work of a system founded by General Booth. By its work of love and mercy, both in peace and war, it has become honored and endeared to the hearts of the world's nations."

KING'S COLLEGE.

That it would be decided to rebuild King's College was of course a foregone conclusion, and that the money still in the hands of the donors will in due course be provided is equally certain.

The amount required, $300,000, is rather a large figure, and it may take some little effort to raise it, but that danger is not to be feared. The college has a just claim upon the sympathies of the people of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, particularly those of them who belong to the Anglican Church. It has given not only to these two provinces, but to Canada as a whole, many distinguished men, and will doubtless give yet many more. The love and veneration in the heart of every son of the old College, each of whom will put his shoulder to the wheel, and become a missionary in the cause of a greater College than ever. Appeals have been made on behalf of the College during the past few years that have not been responded to perhaps as enthusiastically as it could have been wished; but this must not discourage those whose task it will be to take the more active part in raising the needed funds. It is only necessary that the requirements of the occasion should be brought prominently to the attention of those who ought to be most deeply interested in its future of the College to ensure their practical sympathy and support.

THE ST. JOHN VACANCY.

From the fact that the meeting of the Provincial Government was concluded without any decision being come to, or at any rate no announcement of any decision having been made, regarding an election to fill the vacancy in St. John, indicates that Premier Foster is in no hurry to learn just what the electors think of his administration of affairs during the last few years. He evidently feels that there is something after all in the old adage that "where ignorance is bliss, 'tis folly to be wise." His hesitation is not to be wondered at perhaps. He can hardly expect the people to be very enthusiastic over a Government that apparently has so little knowledge of the needs of the public services as not to be able to make any approximate estimate as to what those services are likely to require in the run of the year. Omitting altogether the two hundred and sixty thousand odd dollars that were expended on roads and bridges, the Government's estimates last year for the ordinary public services were over two hundred thousand dollars less than the actual requirements called for. That is just how near they could get to the probable expenditure. Their total over-expenditures for the year exceeded $475,000.

Either the Government has so little knowledge of affairs as not to be able to make any closest estimate, or it deliberately underestimated the probable expenditure in order to keep it within the bounds of the anticipated revenue, trusting to Providence that some way out of the difficulty would be forthcoming before explanations were called for. Some of these explanations were asked for by the Leader of the Opposition during the session, and were promised by the Premier. That promise had not been fulfilled down to the time that the Legislature prorogued. Perhaps when the Premier has made up his mind just what form these explanations had best take, he will call on the election.

WOMAN'S NEWLY-FOUND FREEDOM.
In these days when the plea for equality of the sexes is heard on every hand, mere man can scarcely be blamed if he should sometimes lean back in his chair—if he is still permitted this luxury—and in the intervals between the exhalations of smoke rings, he should ponder over changed conditions, and wonder what things are coming to. The enjoyment of his own pipe will probably bring to his mind the thought that one phase of woman's emancipation at least seems now to be complete. They smoke everywhere, and make no attempt to conceal the fact. Further self-complacency will probably lead him to ask himself, Why not? Why, through all these timorous and tepid years, has the solace of tobacco been denied to women by an illogical convention? This "disgusting habit," as once it was called, does not disgust Every argument used by man to justify the pleasures of tobacco could always have been used by woman with better reason. She only refrained from tobacco because she was educated to believe that it was almost unclean, taught to recognize it as, in her own social misdeed, a thing that was "not quite nice." Well, we have conspired to strike these fetters from her. She will, it may be, soon puff her cigar in our faces, and draw, like man, the slender briar pipe from—yes—from her pocket. But not yet. These evolutionary changes are slow in growth. Woman herself—were those lips, fashioned by Heaven for kisses and omelets—really meant for the well-bitten stem of a pipe, for the rotund acrimony of the stump of a large cigar? Perhaps such a thought. Let us still urge our custom in the tatters of convention.

THE CALL FOR GREATER PRODUCTION.

The urgent need for greater production in Canada is being urged upon the people of Canada, in fact, in the words of a contemporary, "Canada is hearing many voices carrying the same message—'Produce, produce, produce.'" We are told that the economic salvation of the country depends upon it. This is no doubt sound advice, and it is remarkable how many people are offering it. Everybody seems to feel competent to prescribe for what ails Canada. "But," asks the same contemporary, "is there not some danger of this message being too much barged upon? Does not its iteration tend to become damnable?"

Certainly it may create an impression outside the country that Canadians industrially are slackers and that our sole use for immigrants is to fix the yoke of labor upon their necks and set them to tilling that our own people shirk. Too much preaching about the duty of everybody working and of everybody adding to the output of the nation reflects unjustly upon our own workers. The Canadian people are generally industrious and the great mass of them are working faithfully today. It is by workers that the country has been made and it is by workers it will be brought to the greatness that is destined for it. Talkers never made a nation and never will. Less talk about production, and a general joining in on the part of the talkers to increase the output of the nation's staples will be to the purpose. There is no danger that the mass of the Canadian people will ever pin their faith to any policy that is designed to prejudice them against work. Work is a necessary part of the lot of man, and no nation whose people are not industrious will prosper materially. The Canadian who believes in work and who cheerfully applies himself to work promotes the welfare of his country and adds to his own happiness in the degree to which he thus increases his own usefulness.

Senator Casgrain says that farmers should be made to pay higher freight rates. This would not help matters much, as far as the public is concerned. It might help to reduce the railway deficits but the public would have to pay more for their farm produce; and as long as the public pays in the long run, it does not matter very much under what particular head the money is collected.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

No Arbitrary Action. (Toronto Globe.)

If there is a considerable body of labor opinion in Canada in favor of extending the provisions of the industrial disputes act, more generally known as the Lemieux Act, to disputes not connected with public utilities, a great deal may be accomplished for the general benefit. It is not easy in these days of close connection between all phases of industrial business and social life of the community to have an ever-widening acknowledgment just where the line is between necessary work and that which is non-essential is to be drawn. Judgment of the fact that no man or association of men, employees or employers, can be allowed arbitrarily to step out of a line of action for themselves if that is to bring suffering and hardship to larger numbers of citizens who are in no way responsible for or connected with the dispute.

The Sessional Indemnity.

Though not much has been said about it publicly, it is known that there is a movement on foot in Ottawa to increase the sessional indemnity of members of the federal parliament from $2,500 to $4,000. Raising one's own salary is naturally a somewhat delicate matter, but we fail to see any good reason why members of parliament should be allowed arbitrarily to increase their own salaries. It is certainly not desirable that membership of the Dominion parliament should be confined to men of wealth, or that members should be under the necessity of accepting financial assistance from political or personal friends. There is not much danger that men will succeed in being elected to parliament whose sole object is to secure an indemnity of $4,000 a session. The people should see that they only elect representatives who are worthy to sit in parliament, and having done that no one should object to paying them an allowance that will enable them to live.

In Spite of Copybooks. (London Daily Express.)

Fortune conspired at times to confound the moralists, notably in the matter of inventions. Russian steel bids fair to revolutionize one of the greatest of industries, and has already made fortunes, and its discovery, as Professor Carnahan has just disclosed, was due to the carelessness of a furnace-man, who "burnt his neck." Similarly, it is believed that the following the contents of a caution to overflow into the sand-packed round it led to the discovery of dynamite. Even sheer laziness has contributed. It is the story of the invention. It was the sight of a soldier cleaning the rust from a sword after a period of neglect that suggested to Professor Raper's officers in 1811 the idea of what developed into meszotilium engineering.

A BIT OF VERSE

THE PLEDGE.
When love is bright and whole again,
I'll sing like the bee's weather,
I'll set my colors up again
Like the cock pheasant's feather.
I'll find a note to make me one
With lyric birds that sing the sun.
I'll sing my songs with gallop's buds
And sprigs of born for Whitsunday,
And they shall dance as willow rods
And shine with garlands of the May.
I'll be a theme that takes the spring,
From bushes where the blackbirds sing.

WIRELESS 'PHONES FOR LUMBER OPERATORS

Victoria, B. C., May 8.—To afford more effective protection to logging operations in more congested areas of the coast and Vancouver Island district wireless telephones will be employed by the forestry branch of the department of lands. Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands, has announced. An agreement has been entered into between the department and the Marconi company whose contract will provide for equipment of five landlines and establishment of four wireless land stations.

WILL THEY DO IT?

Calgary, Alta., May 8.—"Trade unions would have to be incorporated before force making arbitration compulsory," remarked Alex. Ross, M.L.A., in the course of an interview in discussing the proposed action of the federal government in the matter. "Quite a number of the unions are incorporated" he said, "but speaking generally the unions have always been opposed to this because it places a tremendous weapon in the hands of the capitalist." He continued: "Mr. Ross stated that if they were compelled to incorporate it would mean that all their activities as industrial organizations would be subject to legislation passed at Ottawa."

The Last Sermon In The New Series

Rev. Dr. Morrison Delivers the Tenth Sermon—Instructive and Enjoyable Studies in the Book of Revelation.

Yesterday Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison delivered the tenth sermon in the new series at the First Presbyterian church. He said in part:
"There is no doubt that the vital verse in the portion of Scripture which we are contemplating today (Rev. 14:13-21) is 'Behold I stand at the door and knock, if any man hear my voice and open the door, I will come on to him and sup with him and he with Me.' I never read this verse but there comes before my mind's eye the celebration by Holman Hunt. It represents a kindly person standing with lamp in hand outside a closed door in a walled enclosure. The gate is barred and overgrown with vines and brambles indicating how long and unyieldingly the door has been shut against all comers. And underneath the picture are the words of our text. I cannot tell you how many sermons have been preached also from these teaching words. Of course no one in a Christian land needs to be told that the Kingdom of Heaven is represented by the painter's brush in the doorway of humanity. He is pleading to be admitted. 'My presence and My Presence will redeem the remnant of thy life.'"
"Yes, the plover had still knocketh. And beneath the crowned hair as the patient eyes, so tender, of my Saviour waiting there."
"What is religious education but an opening of the door of the heart to the love of God. Only in this manner can anyone become a Christian. Only by opening the heart's door to the Master. This is a universal law and governs not only what we call the religious life but also the intellectual life. Its application, truly said, recites the story of the progress of knowledge and the advancement of science. Take, for example, what we call the force of electricity. There is nothing new about this wonderful power. It has always been in the universe a power of strength, sporting across the blue and tempting the curiosity and wonderment of mankind. Then one day man opened his mind to the significance of this marvellous force and from the day in which Thales, the Father of Greek Philosophy, discovered that story of the progress of this great science is the story of the opening of the mind's door. Of Sir Isaac Newton and William Gilbert and Otto Von Guericke and Stephen Gray and Benjamin Franklin and Dallard and Canton and Faraday and Lord Kelvin and Helmholtz and of how many more I cannot tell. This essential force that men call electricity was always in the universe and the story, the central and sensational story of its mastery and use both in science and the mechanical arts is the story of the opening of the doors of the human mind to receive it and having received it to become mightier than ever before. This is the way in which the world is constituted, and that man or nation is everywhere circumambient air are everywhere about us seeking for entrance into human life and use.
And as it is in the natural world, so also it is in the spiritual world. God and the spiritual world become real only to those who open the door of their hearts to receive it and have it. But the quality of indifference as characteristic of the Laodicean church is hostile to the opening of the door of the heart and mind. It is a door closed with goods and have need of nothing" proudly proclaimed this complacent company of people, and for all such people there is no door of progress. Any spirit actuated by this spirit is doomed and as for churches they are already dead. "I would that were cold or hot, or some day because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold or hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth." Such is the fearful denunciation of this ungodly, complacent, complacent church and this denunciation has been awfully fulfilled. The Laodicean church is a flourishing city and the Mother Church of sixteen Bishops, cannot now, says Bishop Newton, boast an unchurched or hermit's cell, where God's name is invoked or presided. Let us learn the lesson. Put first things first. Get in line with the laws of the universe. Open wide the doors of the understanding and God shall give light.
"Yes, the plover had still knocketh. And beneath the crowned hair beams the patient eyes, so tender, of my Saviour waiting there."

...of my Saviour waiting there."

...of my Saviour waiting there."

OBITUARY.

Mary Helen Seely.
The death of Mary Helen, beloved wife of Thomas F. Seely, occurred at Lower Norton, Kings county, on Saturday, in the 76th year of her age. The deceased leaves beside her husband one son, W. Leslie Seely, of Bentley street, St. John, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Hoyt, of Lower Norton, and Miss Helen, at home. She also leaves four brothers, Byron and Egerton Seely, of Lower Norton; Hubert Seely, of Woodstock; and Walter Seely, of Freestone Lake, Maine, and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Fairweather, and Mrs. Sarah Dixon. The funeral will take place from her late residence, Lower Norton, on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
Mrs. T. A. Wakeling.
The death of Mrs. Jessie E. Wakeling, wife of T. A. Wakeling, deceased has been in failing health for some time. Mr. Wakeling was for a long time connected with the men's furnishing department of M. R. A. and left this city with his family about twelve years ago. He resided for a time at Salt Lake City, Utah; later at San Diego, Cal., and is now in Los Angeles. Mrs. Wakeling is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Travis and Mrs. Nelson, all residing in Los Angeles. Two sons had predeceased her. Mrs. Wakeling was a sister of G. O. D. Orr, Hampton.

WEDDINGS.

Speight-Nelson.
A very pretty though quiet wedding was celebrated in St. James' church, Broad street, Tuesday afternoon when Miss Mary Hazel Nelson, of Lower Norton, was united in marriage to Henry Archibald Speight, of this city by the Rev. H. A. Cods. The bride attired in a very becoming costume was given away by her brother-in-law, Bernard McCulloch, of Westfield, and was attended by her sister, Annie May McCulloch, of Berthou, of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Speight left on the first train for Westfield where they will reside.
Frederick, N. B., May 9.—An interesting wedding took place in the parish church when Miss Maud Logan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Logan, of Devon, was married to James Joseph Hayes Doone, of Devon, by the Rev. A. F. Bate. The happy couple were attended by Mrs. G. W. Alton Hanwell and A. C. Crowley, of Frederickton.
The bride is a well-known and popular young lady of Devon. Her father is a lawyer and a returned soldier. Before the war he practised law in St. Stephen, and for the past two years has been connected with the law firm of Shipp & Hanson. Mr. and Mrs. Doone intend making their future home in Westfield.

ROGATION DAYS.

Today, Tuesday and Wednesday are Rogation Days, when prayers are offered in all Anglican churches for blessings upon the seed sown that the harvest may be a bountiful one. Thursday is Ascension Day. The institution of these Rogation Days is attributed by St. Gregory of Tours to Marcellus, Bishop of Vienna in 456.

Is Happy Over End Of Her Trouble

Mrs. Conolly Says Tanlac Has Made Her Feel Like a Different Woman.

"It's such a relief to be free of all the ailments that I have had for the past nine years, that I just feel as though I want to tell everybody that it was Tanlac which rid me of my troubles," said Mrs. G. A. Conolly of Sydney Mines, when in at Turnbull's drug store, recently.
"No one will ever know what I went through in all these years of suffering. For years I wasn't able to eat anything solidly, but what I would give me trouble afterwards. The gas would so form that I would be unable to go to bed at night. I used to have such frightful headaches that I could scarcely see across the room, and was so nervous that anything unaccustomed to me at night and often used to walk the floor for hours. Life was nothing but a burden and I thought I should have to give up entirely.
"I was talking to a friend of mine about my condition, and she said, 'Why don't you try Tanlac?' I acted on her suggestion, and it surely was the best thing I ever did in my life, for three bottles of the medicine entirely overcame all my troubles. I can now eat three good meals a day, and never have a sign of indigestion. I never have headaches now and my nerves are as steady as a clock. I sleep soundly every night and get up in the morning feeling so full of life and energy that my household duties are no trouble to me at all. Tanlac has built up my whole system and given me new life and strength, and I have the greatest pleasure in recommending it to others."
Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and the leading drug store in every town under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.

Taking Over of The Pilot Service

Will Abolish the St. John Pilot Commission—The Administration of the Service Will Rest With Local Agency of Marine Department.

The taking over of the St. John Pilot service by the Government will abolish the St. John Pilot Commission, and the administration of the service will rest with the local agency of the Marine Department. This move is in line with what has occurred in other parts of a national character, and it is expected that it will be a material benefit to the pilots. The Government will take over the matter of the maintenance of a pilot cutter, but this will not be a burden on the country, as rates will be adjusted to make the service self-sustaining. One matter which is interesting the pilots is how the Government will deal with the rates of pilotage, which have been the same here for generations. It is probable that there will be some slight increase, which will be to the advantage of the pilots.
A concession which has been granted to the St. Lawrence River pilots this season is that the steamship companies are required to pay pilot's travelling expenses, which range from $10 to $17 per trip.

BOMB OUTRAGE OCCURS AT CARIO

One Thrown at Minister of Public Works — Student nearby Killed, Two Others Injured.

Cario, May 9.—A bomb was thrown at Hassan Bariche, the Minister of Works, as he was motoring home from his office Saturday evening. The bomb struck the gasoline tank of the motor car, igniting the charge and setting the car on fire. The Minister, however, was unharmed. A university student, standing by the scene, was mortally wounded by the explosion and died this morning. Two other students were slightly injured and were placed under arrest. The student who received mortal wounds was supposed to have been concerned in the outrage, but before he died he declared himself to have been an innocent bystander.

PRINTING PRESSMEN MEETING.

The International Printing Pressmen and Assistants held their regular meeting last Saturday night. Alexander Ellison, president of the association, was in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted. Alexander Ellison was elected as delegate to attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor at Montreal in June.

VANCOUVER TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Vancouver, B. C., May 8.—An increase of $120,000 a year in school teachers' salaries is provided for in the new wage schedule now being considered by Vancouver school trustees. Under the proposed schedule in three years from now the increases over this year's present scale of salaries will be $406,000.

LUCKY MAN.

Edmonton, Alta., May 8.—As a result of a ten shilling investment Arthur C. Bond, a soldier who enlisted in Edmonton during the first days of the war, has been handed a cheque for 2,500 pounds sterling, representing the first in a golden ballot scheme conducted in England in aid of soldiers for disabled soldiers and sailors.

Enjoyable Time At Y.M.C.A. Saturday

Tuxis Boys, Trail Rangers and Junior Y. M. C. A. Teams Enjoyed Banquet — Over Two Hundred Boys Present

The Tuxis Boys, Trail Rangers, and Junior Y. M. C. A. "boys" teams of this city, in conjunction with the Trail Rangers troop from Rothsay, and the Tuxis square from Hampton, held a most enjoyable banquet at the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday evening. There were over two hundred boys present at the time, the final event in the season's programme and one which was fully enjoyed by all.
The boys brought their own food, and each group were assigned a table of their own in the spacious gymnasium, prizes were awarded for the tables the most temptingly arranged and considerable competition ensued. The results achieved by some were a revelation in the exciting manner in which a meal may be set forth. The first prize in the Tuxis groups went to the German street square, the Rothsay boys took the Trail Rangers' prize and one of the Junior "A" and "B" teams was also a prize winner.
Following the banquet a toast to "The King and Empire" was proposed by Ronald Shaw, and responded to by musical honors, the after toast came a vocal solo by J. Stuart Smith. "The C. S. E. T. Programme" was proposed by Jack Augustine of Hampton, prime minister of the Boys' Parliament held in the city in January last. M. Gregg, Y. M. C. A. secretary of Boys' Work, responded. A pleasing selection was then rendered by the Boys' Orchestra of the 62-month Street square.
"The Boys' Department" was proposed by Tommy Robinson, president of the High "Y" Club, and responded to by the guest and speaker of the evening, Louis Buckley of Halifax, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in the Maritime Provinces.
The evening was brought to a close with the screening of several reels of movies showing the Post Industry in Canada.

POLICE COURT CASES SATURDAY

Man Charged With Being Drunk, Stated He Purchased Ale in a Brussels Street Shop — Proprietors Are Charged — Other Cases Dealt With.

The usual fine for drunkenness, namely, $5, was struck against one lone drunk to appear before the police court Saturday morning. The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge, but was arrested by Detectors Eidscombe and Saunders while under the influence, his plea was not considered. His trial set up to another, the prisoner claimed he had been drinking ale which was supplied him by William Len and William Dooey, of Brussels street. Inspector McAlister therefore raided the premises of the aforesaid and seized some of the alleged ale which will be subjected to analysis. The two sellers were brought to court on a charge of selling liquor illegally. Both pleaded not guilty, and stated they had licenses as beer vendors. The case will be resumed Tuesday.
In the case of George Demfer, charged with the assault of his sister, Jennie, a fine of $20 was struck on application at the central police station.—A pair of child's shoes; a bunch of keys, and a lady's silk glove.
FOUND BY POLICE.
The following articles found by the police may be had by the owners on application at the central police station:—A pair of child's shoes; a bunch of keys, and a lady's silk glove.
WAS SUCCESSFUL.
In the results of the McGill examinations announced Saturday afternoon St. John friends will be pleased to learn Miss Gwendolyn Gordon Ewing, St. John, passed for Bachelor of Arts. Miss Ewing is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Ewing, of Deane street. Miss Ewing not only passed for her degree, but also had her class and has received a special certificate. This completes her four years' course at McGill.
HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE.
A meeting of the Hospitality Committee of the Local Council of Women met at the home of Mrs. W. B. Tennant, Orange street, Saturday evening, to discuss matters in connection with the entertainment of delegates to the National Council annual meeting in St. John in June. After a number of details had been settled, the ladies present had the pleasure of listening to some war experiences of Mrs. Charles Adam, a Danish lady, who is visiting Mrs. H. Fielding Rankine, King street.

THE MEET MAIN.

The water was turned on in the King street main for a short while Saturday, but a break developed and it was shut off again. Although resuming in many places this week, somewhat disagreeable and halting may have to be resorted to, the work will be continued on the King street main today.

FOR WOMEN

A MUSEMENTS

Mother's Day Was Duly Celebrated

While Wearing of Flowers Was Not Universal Yesterday, Special Programmes Appropriate for the Day Were Held in the Churches

Mother's Day was very generally celebrated yesterday and while the wearing of flowers was not universal a number were seen and it is certain that a great many bouquets were sent to the beloved parent. The inclement weather did not interfere very much with the attendance at the churches where special programmes appropriate for the day were held. At the Carleton Methodist Church, Rev. Jacob Heaney at the morning service took for the subject of his sermon, "The Identity of Mother's Love" speaking from the text Isaiah 66:13: "As one whom his mother comforts, and dwells on the character of motherhood. In the evening the subject was "Home Sweet Home" and the duty of parents were emphasized. There was special music appropriate to the occasion, and a good attendance at both services. Rev. F. H. Bone, B. A., of the Central Baptist Church, took for his text at the morning service John 2:1 "And the mother of Jesus was there." A mother, he said, holds the most honorable position in the world. Her empire is the home, her subjects the family. In spite of the fact that motherhood commands this high honor it seems to have lost its attraction at the present time and the question was asked as to why this was so. The answer was given as being due perhaps to economic conditions. People considered that they could not afford to have large families. Others said it was due to social activities that in the busy world of today women could not spare the time to raise children. Remedies suggested were education teaching all children in schools sex hygiene, domestic science, and useful acts and making them careful home-makers. To cure the economic conditions, legislation should be sought and landlords who discriminate against children or charge so high rent forced to change these methods. The third remedy is the concentration of young women to this high calling and the realization of the privileges of motherhood. Our Mothers was the title given by Rev. A. S. Bishop, pastor of the Fairview Baptist Church to his morning's sermon. In the evening a solo was beautifully sung by Mrs. Murray Long, which was in keeping with the celebration of the day. The presence of a choir of thirty-five young girls dressed in white was a feature of the services held in the Victoria Street Baptist Church. Mother's Day was observed in the morning, Rev. G. D. Hudson, B.T.S. taking for his subject "Can a Mother Forget?" and preaching an eloquent sermon. The music which was very fine was in charge of Stanley Williams.

A special souvenir was given at the Douglas Avenue Christian Church to mark the keeping of Mother's Day in this congregation. This was a button appropriately lettered. Both morning and evening the services contained messages to parents and children. The music included a solo by Miss Alice Van Hornes beautifully rendered at the morning service, and a solo well sung in the evening by John McEachern. Preaching from Proverbs 23:22: "Despise not thy mother when she is old." Rev. J. H. Jenner of Charlotte Street Baptist Church, West End last evening, preached a forceful and arresting sermon on the duty of respecting mother. He illustrated a neglected mother by quoting the poem of Will Carleton "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" and told an incident of a boy whose mother was putting him through college by doing washing for the students. This had met his mother one day in the street and on being asked who she was, said "That's my landlady." The mother's response, the preacher said when she is isolated from the rest of the family and the children refuse to present her to their friends and are ashamed of her. Lessons of respect were well inculcated in this sermon. The music which was excellent was as follows: Anthem—"Light at Evening Time" (Rubinstein). Anthem—"The Lord is King" (Gabriel). Male quartet—"God is Love" (Dow). It was in charge of S. M. Stout. Rev. G. F. Dawson of Exmouth Street Methodist Church referred to the celebration of Mother's Day in the prayers both morning and evening. At the Sunday School a special programme was carried out, the pupils taking part in dialogues, songs, choruses and recitations. E. E. Thomas, superintendent, gave a short talk to the scholars and the pastor of the church also addressed them.

MONTREAL GIRL STARS IN FOX FILM

Miss Pauline Garon, a well-known society miss of Montreal, is cast opposite George Walsh in his latest production, "Mansuetudo Regina," which is scheduled for his next release, according to the Canadian Moving Picture Digest. This is Miss Garon's debut in motion pictures, and only a short time ago she was down in New York with a friend, Miss Muriel Lodge, and their beauty immediately won them a place in the famous Ziegfeld Follies. Miss Garon graduated from here on a small part of the same production, "Mansuetudo," and recently was signed to appear in the George Walsh picture.

Ordination Held At St. Jude's Church

Three Young Men to the Priesthood and Two as Deacons Were Ordained by Bishop Richardson Yesterday Morning

The ordination of three young men to the priesthood and two as deacons took place yesterday morning at St. Jude's Church, West St. John. The ceremony, which is a most impressive one, was performed by His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton, and he was assisted by Archbishop Crowfoot, Rev. W. P. Dunham, and the rector of St. Jude's, Rev. H. A. Holmes, in the laying on of hands. Rev. W. P. Dunham acted as Bishop's Chaplain. James Bennett and Arthur J. Langlois were ordained deacons, and E. Edgar Trueman, W. H. Lance and E. P. Wright were ordained priests. After the Processional hymn, the candidates were presented by Archbishop Crowfoot, who preached an eloquent sermon, taking as his text St. John xvii, 19: "For their sakes I sanctify myself." He defined the priesthood as the solemn setting apart of certain individuals for the performance of certain special functions by imparting to them Divine Grace to discharge those functions. He showed how the priest is the duly accredited representative of the laity. The people look to them to show God, they are his ambassadors, speaking in His Name, administering His Grace, wielding His authority, and preaching His Gospel. As Christ, the representative of the people, the Son of Man, gave Himself, over being ready to help all who asked of Him, so all should learn of Him so to minister. The Litany was read by Rev. J. H. A. Holmes, who also read the Epistle, the Gospel being read by Rev. Arthur J. Langlois. The Bishop was the celebrant at the Communion service, being assisted in the administration of the Sacrament by Archbishop Crowfoot, Rev. W. P. Dunham acting as Bishop's Chaplain. James Bennett, of King's College, who was ordained deacon, is in charge of the Parish of Richmond. Rev. Arthur J. Langlois, who was ordained deacon, is in charge of the Parish of Hillsboro. E. Edgar Trueman, B. A., of King's College, has been ordained priest and will now be priest in charge of that parish. W. H. Lance, who has lately been transferred to Melcham, will be priest in charge of Melcham. Rev. E. P. Wright, of Wytheville, is curate of St. Luke's Church, St. John. Evening Service. In St. Jude's Church last evening, the congregation were very much pleased to hear a sermon preached by an old St. Jude's boy, the newly ordained Rev. E. Edgar Trueman. The service was read by the Rev. James Bennett, and the first lesson by Rev. Arthur J. Langlois. As it was Rogation Sunday the hymns for the occasion were sung.

HOW TO EAT ASPARAGUS.

How to eat asparagus. This is a problem as tremendous as how to eat an orange. Ivan Hissel in the London Express, gives some advice on the point. "Rest one elbow," he says, "on the cloth and wrap one leg around the leg of the table so as to prevent overbalancing. Grip the asparagus and rub its neck fit the melted butter. Before it has time to make up its mind which way it will wobble swing the asparagus off its feet and wangle it in the air to rest its pliability. Then open your mouth and make a feat of biting through the stalk in the small of the back. Now to one the asparagus will try to dodge by doubling up. You get him as his head comes down, and there you are. "Never in the excitement of the struggle be tempted into biting the asparagus below the belt. It's not playing the game, and, besides, it gives the stalk a fine opportunity to whip strong with a left hook to the ear."

Danish Lady Had Some Experience

Mrs. Charles Adam at Present in the City Had Exciting Adventures While in the City of Irkutsk, Siberia.

To arrive in the city after a long journey, go to a place of amusement that evening and see a man shot dead was the experience of a visitor who is at present in St. John. The visitor was Mrs. Charles Adam, a Danish lady who is the guest of Mrs. H. Fielding, 177 King Street. The city was Irkutsk, Siberia, and the story of Mrs. Adam's adventures in that land is one full of excitement and interest. The Standard representative had the pleasure of a talk with Mrs. Adam last evening and can say it was with great relish that the interview was conducted as not only a very interesting traveler but in most interesting places but she is able to invest the incidents related with her own delightful personality, making a vivid picture of each happening and carrying her hearers with her. Mrs. Adam is the wife of Captain Charles Adam of the R. M. S. P. Line, Carquet and is at present returning from a stay in the West Indies. Before her marriage she went from her home in Denmark to visit a school friend at Irkutsk, Siberia. War broke out almost immediately and Russia was in a state of ferment. One day a journey from Moscow, the train was delayed for nine hours at a small station. The whole of Russia was mobilizing, and this was only a sample of the train's progress. After eleven nights on the train the city of Irkutsk was reached and it was the speaker said, a very exhausted traveler who alighted and was greeted by her friends. In her own words: "My friends, to entertain me, took me to a roller skating rink that evening and I was so tired I almost fell asleep. When they played the Russian National Anthem I could hardly stand up but I managed to sing. It was well that I did so, I heard a shot and saw a man shot dead. He had not stood up for the anthem. That was the first time I ever saw a man shot and I was terrified but no one there thought very much of it. The people do not regard the sacredness of human life as we do and murders were frequent. To illustrate this statement Mrs. Adam said that one night she was returning from a party and a dark lane she fell over what seemed to be a fur coat, and on lanterns being brought, a dead body was discovered. There had been a fight, the men had been killed and the bodies stripped of all valuables. Another day she visited a fruit store and later walked down to the river. Returning about ten minutes later and observing a crowd she inquired the cause and found that the cashier at the desk had been stabbed and killed by a man eight wounds being inflicted, and the shop robbed. Referring to the lawlessness which existed, Mrs. Adam stated that her hostess who was very wealthy received anonymous letters saying that unless she put in a certain widow by a certain date a large sum of money the inmates of the house would be shot and the premises robbed. Thus living in the house were taught pistol shooting and after their guests had departed for her own home she heard that the threatened attack was actually made, but the robbers were beaten off by the police. Irkutsk is, as you then, for every thing has changed there, so dreadfully a city of 320,000 inhabitants and the scenery through that part of Siberia very much resembles this portion of Canada. It is a cosmopolitan city with every type of Russian and many Mongolians. The latter are very dirty and when they bring goods to sell have to have a great deal of bargaining over the price. A pretty little story told by Mrs. Adam illustrates the fact that the most people of many nations in that foreign land. Accompanying her hostess to the Saturday market a Danish visitor was asked to buy and watch a live goose which had been purchased. Standing by the geese she said to it in Danish: "Why you talk just the same as they do at home." A voice suddenly answered her: "How do you do. Welcome to Siberia," and turning she found it was a Danish gentleman, who had heard her playful remark and wished to talk to someone from home. Questioned as to whether she had heard from her Siberian friend since the dreadful happenings of the war, Mrs. Adam answered that she had had no word since the revolution and as her friend's winter home was a very beautiful one in the residential part of the city she feared that they had perished when so many murders were committed and half the town buried. Before she left soldiers were billeted in many houses. When it was possible to travel the return journey was undertaken and Petrograd reached after a seventeen day's journey. During this trip Mrs. Adam said while crossing a bridge over the Volga River, she lifted a boat which was on a seat over the window and stood with uplifted bayonet. She fainted and when she recovered consciousness found that her life had been saved by an American gentleman who could speak Russian and who explained the innocence of the action. The boat contained soap but the soldier had been frustrated a plot to interrupt communication between Russia and Japan from whence ammunition was coming at that time. To make it perfectly clear that the soap was harmless, her rescuer went so far as to eat a piece before the soldier's eyes. At Petrograd, Mrs. Adam saw the destroying of the German consulate and finally after being arrested on suspicion of espionage was very happy to reach home safely. While in port on her husband's ship, "Borke's" a hospital transport, she had the pleasure of entertaining Princess Helena, daughter of King Peter of Siberia, who was living in Denmark after escaping from Russia where she had been imprisoned and very lately treated. They were four teen Serbian soldiers on the ship being sent from Denmark to Copenhagen and their delight in seeing their Princess and hearing her speak to them in their native tongue knew no bounds. It is to be hoped that at some time Mrs. Adam may be induced to give a talk before a Women's Club as she has many things to tell of the countries she has visited.

PIANO RECITAL HELD SATURDAY

A very pleasing piano recital was given on Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. John Peterson, 255 King Street East, by some of the pupils of Mrs. Rayward. Solos and duets were well rendered, and a contest was entered upon the same piece by four different girls, Evelyn Hanson winning the prize. At the close a social half-hour was enjoyed. The evening was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem, Eleanor Holder at the piano. The following pupils took part in the programme: Ronald Smith, Lawrence Smith, Kenneth Brown, Ross Stuart, Myrtle Peterson, Kathryn Peterson, Dorothy Nee, Evelyn McKay, Helen McKay, Josephine MacQuade, Eileen Williams, Mand Lawson, Beryl Lawson, Eleanor Holder, Mary Roderick, Beulah Forbes, Marion Thompson, Yvonne McLaughlin, Dorothy Belyea, Helen Baxter, Isabel Walker, Marion Fortson.

SPLENDID WORK UNDER SOLDIER

Fifty Thousand Applications 36,000 Have Been Approved

Ottawa, May 7.—(Canadian Press)—A comprehensive view of the work accomplished to date under the Soldier Settlement Act, for which Hon. Arthur Meighen is asking a vote of $50,000,000, was given in the House this afternoon. The amount of loans approved from the time the scheme was incorporated until March 27 last was $58,553,061. There had been fifty thousand applications under the scheme, and of those over 38,000 had been approved. At the present time all of those could be said to be either on the land or on the way to the land. The number of settlers whose loans had actually been approved, and who were now on the land through the assistance of the Government was 1,628. The average loan per settler was $3,700 and already there have been 500 applications, who have discharged their obligations in full. Mr. Meighen outlined the work of the Board from its inception. The sum needed for the work this year was $50,017,000, and of this $17,000 was for administration expenses. There were three branches of the work, the Loan Branch, the Agricultural Branch and the Home Branch. A total of 956 applicants had completed a course of training under the Agricultural branch and there were another 600 in training at the present time. Training allowances, paid under this branch, amounted to $91,356.11, and the number of established settlers was 15,483. Of the $58,000,000 already approved for loans, approximately $42,000,000 had actually been dispersed.

Mr. Meighen stated that a gradual betterment in the financial condition of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Board might be expected. Of the applicants, 191,821 had been qualified. This showed that the standard of applicants was gradually improving. It was to be expected that the number of qualified applicants for the job and anxious to take advantage of the Act.

Expenditure for equipment, up to March 31, was $2,870,321, and for the stock $5,747,108, or a total of $12,117,429. On equipment there was a saving of $408,768 to settlers by reason of the special purchasing arrangements the board had made with standard firms.

Mr. Meighen gave a resume of the administration of the Board and said that in the various provinces much good was being done by the Home Branch in assisting the wives of the settlers with their work. In Saskatchewan 250 women were taking the course in home economics, and this work was being gradually extended in all the provinces.

Despite the crop failures in many parts of the West, payment on loans had been made very satisfactorily. Of the $50,000,000 required, Mr. Meighen said that all but $2,000,000 would be used in loans. That amount would be required for the purpose of the Act. What it would cost the country in losing the interest on the money loaned for two years, and also the difference between the interest the soldiers and the government must pay for this money would more than be made up by the benefits received from having these men settled on the farms. It was also a solution of a large share of the returned soldier problem. The men were not encouraged to go onto the farm unless they were every likelihood of their making good. Mr. Meighen also spoke of the work of the selection board in first-class which was carefully inspecting all applicants from the Imperial Army of this board. It had been a remarkable achievement, he stated.

T. W. Caldwell (Carleton, N. B.) said he had had a large share in the working out of the Act in his own province, where he had served on the loan committee for many years. The apparently low average cost of land in New Brunswick was due to the fact that extreme vigilance had been exercised in getting values and been secured for these soldier farmers. The board in all cases sought to make sure that the farm would produce enough to keep the farmer and his dependents, and had refused many places which did not measure up to the production standard.

LIVED SIX DAYS IN AIR TIGHT BOX

Cambridge Professor Tries Unique Experiment — Demonstrated That Airmen Needed Oxygen.

Cambridge, Eng., May 8.—Joseph Barcroft, a reader of physiology at King's College here, has lived for six days in a hermetically sealed glass box. The experiment arose out of a thirty-year-old controversy as to whether it is possible to calculate the amount of oxygen in the blood from a knowledge of the amount of oxygen the breath. The test was also made to demonstrate whether it was necessary that airmen should have oxygen apparatus when flying at great heights. It proved that oxygen was necessary to flying men, but it did not show to what height they could fly with safety. While in the box Barcroft kept a record of his sensations and made scientific observations. He said he suffered from sleeplessness, but otherwise did not experience much inconvenience except on the last day when the atmosphere became extremely rarified. He then had leadenness and nausea. He was watched continuously while in the box. He took food and slept in two small compartments divided up with wicker chairs, a table, a stool and a bicycle on which he exercised every morning.

WONDERFUL SHOOTING IN THE OLYMPIC TRIALS SATURDAY

O. J. Killam Easily Made Good at the Trap—His Marksmanship Undoubtedly Canadian Record—Broke One Hundred and Nineteen Birds Without a Miss—Followed This With Another High Score.

At the St. John Trapshooting Club's range on Saturday afternoon, what was probably the finest shooting ever recorded in Canada in a competition of this nature, was witnessed. The Maritime record was broken, and perhaps the all-Canadian record, by O. J. Killam, a fact which is well known to the local range, and to the more notable in view of the circumstance that the St. John Club is the youngest in the Dominion, has been brought to its present high position by the efforts of a few enthusiasts, and as yet includes a comparatively small membership.

On Saturday afternoon in the first contest for places on the Olympic team, Mr. Killam made a perfect score, hitting every one of the hundred targets thrown. Not content with this, he kept right on running his score up to one hundred and nineteen without a miss. He did however, miss the one hundred and twentieth bird, but got five more before he stopped, making 124 out of a possible 125 with a straight run of 119 which, so far as is known, establishes an all-Canadian record and will no doubt serve to Mr. Killam a place on the Canadian Trapshooting Team to the Olympic Games. Up to this time the longest run in the local range was held by J. T. Egan of Halifax, who broke ninety consecutive targets on Thanksgiving day last year at the tournament held by the local range and the Club. A few minutes after making this record Mr. Killam took on another hundred targets and hit ninety-six of them.

Of the local range on the Saturday four men entered in the Olympic trial, those in addition to Mr. Killam being J. McLaughlin of Halifax, who scored ninety out of a possible hundred; Harold D. Payson and H. W. Berry, each of whom scored eighty-three.

The detailed scores will be found on the Sporting page.

Joy Riders Had A Narrow Escape

Early Saturday Morning Large Overland Car Went Over a Bridge on Golden Grove Road—Six Young Men Escaped.

To be hurried from an automobile that had crashed through the sliding of a bridge, turned turtle and dropped to earth twenty feet or so below and escape practically unharmed was the thrilling experience of a party of young people early Saturday morning.

The accident occurred while crossing a narrow bridge on the Golden Grove road about five miles from the city. There were five young men in the car besides the driver. The fact that a rain-spotted windshield obscured the view is supposed to be the cause of the accident.

Four of the joy riders were thrown out of the auto—a big Overland—turned over. The driver, however, was pinned under the car. His companions, after considerable effort, succeeded in lifting up the car so that he could crawl out. That he escaped serious injury, and even death, is a miracle.

The car was badly damaged. It was said yesterday that the repairs necessary will cost a few hundred dollars. All of the young men were about town last night, seemingly none the worse for their escapade.

Bureau of Health Session Saturday

Meetings Morning, Afternoon and Evening—Many Very Important Matters Were Considered—Reports from Health Officers Received and Discussed.

A meeting of the Bureau of Health was held in the Government rooms, Prince William street, on Saturday, sessions were held morning, afternoon and evening and many very important matters were considered.

The chief medical officer, Dr. G. G. Melvin, presided and dinner was present the Minister of Health, Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts; Dr. H. L. Abramson, chief of laboratories; the three district medical health officers, Dr. J. A. Wade, western district; Dr. F. J. Desmond, eastern district; Dr. W. Warwick, southern district; Dr. A. A. Sterling, Fredericton; Dr. A. J. Lester, Chatham; C. E. Northrup, secretary, Westmorland sub-district Board of Health, and T. M. Burns, secretary, St. John city and county Board of Health.

One of the most important matters dealt with was the establishment of typhoid fever clinics throughout the province. These clinics will be in charge of physicians who have had special training in the diagnosis and treatment of these diseases and will make possible free advice and treatment for those who cannot afford to go to the larger centres for such care. Among the places selected for these clinics are St. John, Moncton, Chatham, Bathurst, Campbellton, Edmundston, Grand Falls, Woodstock, Fredericton and St. Stephen.

A campaign for the education of the public in regard to venereal disease was outlined. This will include the formation of a strong provincial committee, lay and professional, which will have for its object the combating of venereal disease; public addresses, notices and various other means to awaken public interest in this, one of the most important problems of the day. Arrangements were made for establishing depots throughout the province where anti-toxins, sera, vaccine and laboratory diagnostic outfits would be more readily available for the use of physicians and their patients in urgent cases. At these depots diphtheria anti-toxin, both for treatment and prevention will be supplied free for the use of persons who cannot afford to pay for it.

In the reports of District Medical Health Officers, and the discussions which followed, many matters of interest were considered, such as General Sanitary Work, Medical Inspection of Schools, Collection of Vital Statistics, Water Supplies, Collection of Garbage in Towns and Cities.

The opinion was freely expressed that although the collection of vital statistics had been in force only four months it was proving of great value and working much more satisfactorily than had been hoped for.

The chief of laboratories reported that although at the time of establishing the laboratory it was thought that it would be made use of only by city physicians, yet the amount of work now coming in from the rest of the province shows a large increase over the last year, and that still greater use should be made of the services provided there.

The next meeting of the Bureau will be held in August.

Summing Up The Week-End Weather

Last Three Sundays Have Been Stormy, But The Previous Ones Were All Bright and Clear.

That the same subject may be considered from widely different points of view, was very clearly demonstrated by yesterday's weather. To some it was "a beastly day with no place to go and nothing to do." The weather didn't suit them, one bit and they vowed that to live in such a climate was a hard, very hard lot to bear.

Others viewed with enthusiasm the showers and flowers, regarding to the magic touch of the May showers, or let their glances wander restlessly to some favorite red and reel. In fact if the truth were known, it might be said that there was considerable over-hauling of last year's tackle.

Summing up the weather it is found that there was some grounds, though slight ones, for the pessimistic declaration that there has not been a fine Sunday, for the last three have been disagreeable and stormy at some time or other during the day, but it might be stated that the six Sundays prior to that were all bright and clear.

The rain started at about seven in the evening, with rather hesitant Scotch mist broken at intervals by showers; a wind with a velocity of some force from the east-south-east sprang up from the southeast Sunday morning at nine, but died down by eleven. Frequent showers continued throughout the day, and a light breeze from the northwest finally blew the storm clouds out of the sky during the early part of the evening. The total precipitation amounted to one and three-tenths inches.

Interesting Debate On Prohibition

The Subject "That the Prohibition of the Sale of Liquors is a Success" Was Defeated at Young Men's Hebrew Association Last Evening.

The prohibition of the sale of liquor is a success," was the subject of a very cleverly argued debate last night in the Young Men's Hebrew Association rooms, Hornfield street. The debate was followed with very much interest by a large audience. The affirmative side was upheld by Sydney Isaacs and Herman Silveroos while Isadore Amdur and Eli Boyaner presented the argument for the negative.

The affirmative contended that prohibition lessened the use of liquor and that as a result a great amount of money that otherwise would have been wasted was put in the savings bank. That liquor is unnecessary for medicinal purposes, and that prohibition has increased production were other points in their argument.

The negative argued that prohibition was unsuccessful because it has brought in its wake a greater evil than the one it was intended to abolish. They also contended that it interfered with the laws of personal liberty, and that it has been one of the causes of labor unrest. They also showed that it has lessened rather than increased production.

After the presentation of both sides of the case judgment was given by H. L. Culver, American Consul, who acted as umpire. He found that the negative had won by the small margin of seven points.

After the decision had been given Max Marcus, president of the association, thanked Mr. Culver for his kindness in acting as judge and also congratulated the debaters on their very creditable efforts.

This is the initial appearance on a debating team of any of the young men who took part in the debate. He also said that it is the intention of the association to have these debates at regular intervals in the future.

Oak Hall's Back Home Sale All This Week

Contractors Not Yet Ready to Take Over Building.

The Back Home Sale that is being conducted by Oak Hall at their old home stand corner, King and Germain streets, starts out on second week with just as many real bargains in men's and boys' clothing and furnishings as were to be procured during the first week. The volume of business that was handled last week there was plenty of stock in reserve to fill up all the tables and racks once more and make a fresh start with the new week.

The ever increasing cost of living these days is becoming a very serious problem to a great many men, when a genuine opportunity is offered them to practice real economy in buying their clothes, and when this opportunity is the well backed up of the well known Oak Hall guarantee, it should not require any lengthy consideration on their part to realize that they should take full advantage of it. At this Oak Hall Back Home Sale it means that a man can readily save thirty to fifty per cent on a complete outfit, but he should not hesitate as this cannot last many days longer.
