PLAIN MAN MUCH ALIVE

G. Weymouth, of Biddeford, Found Working in Sherbrooke, Quebec

MISSING SIX YEARS

Men Were Lately Arrested, charged With His Murder, on the strength of the Story of Two Children Who Said They Saw the Deed Committed.

Sherbrooke, Que., June 27.—"G. G. Weymouth, supposed victim of murder at Biddeford, Me., said to be working as butler in Sherbrooke."

A message received in Sherbrooke has the means of clearing a mystery that baffled the Biddeford police for nearly six years. This morning Officer Daniel Eaton and T. Emery, a Biddeford law enforcement officer, arrived in town. A search among the files of the Biddeford police department found a man who had been identified as G. Weymouth. The man admitted his identity. He had been in Sherbrooke nearly six years.

Weymouth had been a member of a gang in Biddeford. About six years ago he mysteriously disappeared and the opinion was that he had met with a fatal accident. Dr. Snow, of Biddeford, formerly a friend of Weymouth, was called on a charge of burglary. Two of his children at the time informed him that Weymouth had been murdered by two men, Buzzell and Merrill, and they had seen them secretly burying the body.

Dr. Snow and Buzzell were arrested and being held on a charge of murder. Buzzell, but Weymouth's return will clear them immediately from the charge. Dr. Snow, June 28.—Instead of being found, buried in the Maine woods, Charles G. Weymouth, for whose murder two boys and a woman were under arrest for several days returned from Sherbrooke (Que.) and well today. When the two young sons of Mrs. Maude Snow, the woman arrested as an alleged accessory to the crime, told the authorities that they had seen their father, Joseph Buzzell, and his body buried near by, many of the people were skeptical.

Balfour Says Britain and United States Should Work Together

John Hays Hammond Endorses Conservative Leader's Sentiments and Sees War Banished from the World—Chancy Depew and Augustine Birrell Also Spoke

London, June 28.—The dinner of the Pigeons Society tonight in honor of John Hays Hammond, United States special ambassador to the coronation, gave occasion for the coronation, gave occasion for the coronation, gave occasion for the coronation.

There was a scene of enthusiasm when a message was read that as the result of the coronation, gave occasion for the coronation, gave occasion for the coronation.

Both countries were enamored of liberty, both had the same ideals and surely it was predicated that in the world's history the two nations they abhorred work together, not by formal alliance, but by deep sympathy in aims and ideals for the cause of civilization and progress.

Special Ambassador Hammond, in responding to Mr. Balfour's toast, expressed on behalf of his countrymen appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Balfour and other distinguished British statesmen, and complimented the Pilgrim societies of London and New York for giving opportunities for the respective peoples to become better acquainted.

He alluded to the difficulties surrounding the diplomatic representative in choosing a topic for public utterance. For this reason, he had chosen the subject of Peace, as one that could not offend the most sensitive, and one particularly appropriate since the coronation had brought by similar treaties with other powers, paving the way for universal peace.

REPUBLICAN SCORES BY STANDING SEATERS

Tears for the Poor Farmer

Senator Cummins Says the President Has Betrayed Them

Senator Bristow Declares Taft Doesn't Represent the Majority of the Republican Party in Congress or the Country—Move to Fix Date for Vote Fails

Washington, June 28.—This was a day of bitter arraignment of the Republican leadership in the senate. Beginning with Senator Cummins' attack on the measure as legislation against the agricultural interests of the country and concluding with Senator Borah's denunciation of the bill as a Republican betrayal of the farming interests, the debate was all antagonistic to the agreement and critical of the president and his methods.

The senate gave but partial attention to the speeches, although they were among the most important that will be made against the bill. Several times a call of the senate was demanded. Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, finally proposed that as so little attention was given to the subject, the senate take a recess until November or December.

Senator Cummins, who will continue his speech tomorrow, attacked not only the content of the reciprocity agreement itself, which he said put the whole burden of free trade upon the farmer without giving him any benefit in the way of reduction of duties, but he criticized also the power exercised by the president to negotiate it and to bring it to the point of a definite agreement between the two countries.

Senator Bristow, of Kansas, insurgent Republican, declared that President Taft does not represent the majority of the Republican party in the house or senate. "He does not represent the majority of the Republicans in the house or senate," he said, "and I do not believe he represents the majority of the Republicans of the country."

MRS. HELEN D. JENKINS

New York, June 28.—Deputy Surveyor Richard Parr, who has been investigating charges of smuggling made against Nathan Allen, the leather manufacturer of Kenosha (Wis.), and John R. Collins, a coal operator of Nashville (Tenn.), by Helen Delle, better known as Helen D. Jenkins, said yesterday that the case against these two men was only the entering wedge in an investigation by which the government expects to uncover a smuggling scheme involving at least $2,000,000.

It is asserted that the principal in the case, the man who managed the smuggling, is a prominent New Yorker. Mr. Parr said that if the case had not been sprung prematurely he would have had evidence enough to present to the grand jury and ask for an indictment. He declared that Mrs. Jenkins, the woman to whom Allen is said to have given gifts of jewelry before they quarreled, was not the government's original source of information. He said that he had picked up the case himself and began working on it last April and that when he confronted the Jenkins woman with his evidence she at first denied all knowledge of the smuggling and did her best to protect Allen.

Mr. Parr said that a number of customs men, two or more, are involved in accepting bribes to help through the smuggled goods. Allen's lawyers and Collins' lawyers had been offered to uncover a smuggling scheme involving at least $2,000,000. All offers had been refused and the cases would go to trial if the grand jury would return indictments.

Such information as the government has obtained concerning the alleged smuggling into this part of the jewelry said to have been presented to Mrs. Jenkins, who lives at the Walden apartments, Broadway, and Seventy-seventh street, has been turned over to United States Attorney Wise, Collector Loeb declined to discuss the case yesterday, but it was said that he had started investigation of a newspaper report that customs men were bribed when the illegal importations were made.

Circled Over Leviathan and Successfully Landed Parcel for Passenger on Board for England—Machine Returned Safely to Landing Afterwards

New York, June 28.—The first piece of merchandise ever delivered at sea by airplane fell on the upper deck of the great White Star liner Olympic today, as she steamed through the Narrows, outward bound, on her maiden eastward passage.

Even from the pier end, passengers on the Olympic are no more than animated dots of white and black to those on shore. Presently there was to be seen among these dots a speck of white, as at bits of paper blown by the wind. Sopwith had been sighted bearing down on them from aloft.

While Sopwith controlled the aeroplane, Sinclair dropped the package at the given signal. No word came from on board whether it had landed or not, but to those in nearby craft and to the aviators it seemed certain that it had fallen true.

1911 CANADA'S BEST YEAR SINCE CONFEDERATION; A WONDERFUL STORY OF PROGRESS, 1867-1911

(Compiled Specially for The Telegraph by Frank Veigh, Author of "Through the Heart of Canada" and "5,000 Facts About Canada"—Copyright.)

Our Wonderful Canada.

Wonderful is the Canada of 1911. Wonderful is its contrast with 1867; with 1800, with last year; wonderful in its present year tale of prosperity; wonderful in its immediate prospects and possibilities.

Canada's High Water Trade.

Canada's total trade for 1910-11 was transacted with 72 countries, and reached the high-water mark of $3,859,211,221, or $22 per head of population, an increase of $121,942,454 over 1909-10.

Canada's Rich Field Crops.

Canada's field crops reached a value of $907,185,000 in 1910 from 32,711,002 acres. $155,929,000 of this total is attributable to the prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Canada's 1911 Wheat Crop.

Look out for Canada's deluxe of wheat in 1911. Western Canada's 1911 wheat yield is estimated, under favorable weather conditions, at 200,000,000 bushels, from only 10,000,000 acres, leaving 10,000,000 acres yet to be cultivated.

Canada's Rank in Various Lines.

Canada stands first in nickel and asbestos production.

Canada ranks third in Railway mileage increase during past fifty years. Canada ranks third among the world nations in ratio of trade to population. Canada ranks third among the silver producing countries of the world. Canada ranks eighth in the list of gold mining countries. Canada stands eighth in world's steel production. Canada stands ninth in world's iron ore production.

Growth of Canada's Cities and Provinces.

The growth of Canada's cities during the year has been unparalleled. Building operations during 1910 in accredited cities reached nearly a hundred million dollars. While the larger Eastern centres showed marked advances in population, the Western cities reflected the confidence that there is enough land to be expected that the population of Canada, which is now seven and a half million, will exceed eight millions when the census of 1911 is taken.

Canada's Wonderful Railway Progress.

1910 was also Canada's record year, both in traffic earnings and mileage of lines constructed. The trunk Pacific Railway main line, of 2,560 miles, is being pushed to completion, while the Canadian Government's guarantee of the bonds of a thousand-mile link of the Canadian Northern Railway, from Ottawa to the head of Lake Superior, forming an alliance with the Intercontinental Railway, will enable that line to more speedily complete its across-continent system to the Pacific.

Canada's Mighty Immigrant Host.

Think of two million immigrants in 10 years! During the last decade nearly 2,000,000 immigrants entered Canada, or one out of every four of the population.

Canada's Water Transportation System.

Canada continues to improve its continent-wide water transportation system. It is discussing the building of a new Welland canal, twenty-seven miles long, to accommodate vessels 800 feet long.

TWENTIETH CENTURY LAND

Out from the mists of Humanity's sorrows;
Out where the herald of Destiny stands;
Rise the stars of a world's Tomorrow
Over the Twentieth Century Land.

Wind-swept of Heaven are the sentinel mountains;
Sun-kissed the prairies that melt into space;
Rivers and forest-girt lakes are the fountains
Brimming with pulse-beats for Industry's race.

Dreams of the Ages in their find-fruition;
Freemen rejoice as thy glories expand;
Beacon-lights burning, hold true to thy mission!
Canada! Twentieth Century Land!

minion, has the national prosperity been more marked, or the outlook brighter. A three-million dollar dry dock and naval works are to be built at Montreal. Halifax is to have $2,000,000 spent on harbor improvements, and St. John's $1,000,000 on a dry dock and other docks and building plant.

ture, with a view to opening up a new and shorter route for the Canadian West to Great Britain and Europe. Tenders for the first 120 miles have been called for. Halifax is to have $2,000,000 spent on harbor improvements, and St. John's $1,000,000 on a dry dock and other docks and building plant.

Some of Canada's Highest-on-Record Facts.

Canada's trade, 1909-10, $3,859,211,221. Canada's mining production (1910), $105,949,958. Canada's fishery production, 1909-10, $26,629,169. Canada's post office business, 456,085,000 letters.

Contrasts Between 1867 and 1911.

Here are a few measuring rods between the Canada at the birth of Confederation, and today.

Canada's Big Financial Figures.

The bank deposits represented (in October, 1910), $226,853,337—the largest on record. The bank clearings in seventeen Canadian cities totalled, in 1910, $6,153,702,587.

Maritime Provinces.

Maritime provinces, field crop value, 1910, $30,100,000. 18,143 immigrants of 1909-10 arrived at Halifax port, and 12,796 at St. John, totaling 30,939, or 15 per cent. of total.

Some Striking Comparisons Between 1900 and 1910.

Canada's field crops, 1900, $180,000,000; 1910, $907,185,000. Railway mileage, 1900, 17,657; 1910, 31,767 (including tracks and sidings).

Canada's Growing Manufacturing Interests.

Canada's industrial expansion continues unabated, the estimated value of production for 1910 being $1,000,000,000.

Canada's Government Revenue, 1910-11.

$1,101,933,710. 247,378 vessels trading between Canada and U. S. and in coasting trade, 1910; tonnage, 101,218,917.

New Brunswick.

New Brunswick made a separate province in 1784. It is a new era of material development, and at the end of the next half century should achieve such a degree of progress as to place it pre-eminent among the Atlantic provinces of Canada.

THE ADVENTURES OF ALICE

By J. ARMSTRONG DREXEL

panic; I was able to do the right things instinctively without making mistakes through excitement. They were not enough calls, to be sure, but twice before I was really nearer to death because, on those two occasions, my mind was keen; I realized fully the danger of my position and the necessity for instant action; there was all the chance for a fatal panic and the awful chances I was taking were perfectly clear to me.

Both of these thrilling moments came to me while I was flying for practice at my school at Beaulieu, near Southampton, England. My partner, MacArde, and I have a ideal flying grounds there. It is a perfectly flat country, smooth and clear except for one line of telegraph wires and, here and there, a low tree or a clump of shrubbery. These impediments are very far apart and do not interfere in any way with our work.

MY CLOSEST CALL OF ALL.

My closest call came to me in a most dramatic way. There were no spectators and I think that Mac was the only one of them who really saw my danger and knew that he was near to losing a partner.

bottom of the framework—a circumstance that will give some idea of my great uneasiness as I lay there. I was not holding the frame work, as I thought, as I had been told to do, but I was leaning against it. I had not the slightest idea what part of the country I was over nor in which direction I was headed. I might have taken my bearings from the glow of the setting sun, but I had all I could do to take care of the machine, rushing downward through space as I was at the rate of twenty miles an hour or more.

LOST IN CLOUDLAND.

My other narrow escape was the result of a fluke, and I was saved by a fluke. To this day I have not been able to figure out why either of the flukes happened.

"I KEPT DRAWING CLOSER AND CLOSER ABOUT THE CENTRE, FLYING AT A GREAT ANGLE ALL THE TIME."

of turning up, my heart nearly stopped beating as I heard a choking cough from the engine, then another, and another, and suddenly the br-r-r of the cylinders as the explosion came with full force, and the propeller, getting its grip on the air, put on all its power, and I climbed safely away from the tree tops, everything working perfectly and once more in control of a safe and efficient piece of machinery.

THE ETERNAL QUESTION.

They are never pleasant to talk about—these narrow escapes. It is best to forget them as soon after they have occurred as possible, for they get on the nerves and things that get on the nerves are not good in aviation. It has always struck me as odd that the general public does not seem to realize this. I mean by that that most people seem to think that a man who flies like a talk about these thrilling moments, and almost the first question the average man will ask after he has met me and we get well into our conversation is:
