Samoans Turbulent.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Aug. 16 .-Mail dispatches dated at Apia on Aug. 10 say that the Samoans are still turbulent. Four or five thousand natives are in camp. Wellman Will Try Again.

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 16 .- Walter Wellman and his companions, with the crew of the wrecked steamer Ragnvald Jarl, arrived here yesterday from Spitzpergen aboard the fishing yacht Berntine. Wellman says that the expedition had almost reached the 81st parallel of latitude when forced to turn back May 12. Many nardships were suffered.

The aluminum boat rendered excellent ervice, resisting pressure which would have destroyed ordinary boats.

Wellman declares that he will make another attempt in 1896 to reach the pole

by the Spitzbergen route.

John's Statement Denied. LONDON, Aug. 16 .- John Gilbert Talbot. Conservative member for Oxford University, questioned the Home Secretary in the House of Commons today as to the Government's policy toward's Anarchists. He said Great Britain was the only civilized country in which Anarchists gathered and plot within her borders, and which refused to take steps against them.

Home Secretary Asquith said the existing laws of Great Brita n sufficed amply for the country's protection and its fulfillment of international duties. He denied that Anarchists were allowed to plot undisturbed in English cities.

The Indian Budget.

LONDON, Aug. 16. - Henry Fowler, Secreeary for India, made a statement in the House of Commons of the Indian budget. He gave the income as 9,107 lakhs, the expenditures as '9,100 lakhs and the net revenue as 5,160 lakhs. The increase of net revenue over the estimate, he said, was 202 lakhs. Mr. Fowler said the Indian Government had no intention of reopening the mints to the free coinage of silver. The experiment of closing the mints would be well tried before there would be any shought of abandoning it. So far there had been no reason for alarm. The great diffibulty was the steady depreciation of silver, .nd sooner or later this would force India to go over to the gold standard.

LONDON, Aug. 16 .- The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says the Goveror of Formosa has published a schedule of rewards for Chinese who capture or destroy Japanese ships or kill or capture Japanese soldiers or sailors. The soldiers or sailors may be taken dead or alive. The Governor offers 6,000 taels, or almost $2,000, for the destruction of a big Japanese warship. For the destruction or capture of a small warship he promises 4,000 taels, or about $1,200. Two hundred taels will be paid for a head of a Japanese officer and 100 taels for the head of a private soldier.

Granted a Divorce.

London, Aug. 16 .- An absolute divorce has been granted to Roderick Matheson. son of Sir Arthur Matheson, a baronet of great wealth, as against his wife, Jane Clarke, whom Roderick married in 1882. The case has been pending for a long time in the courts. It will be of interest to Canadians for the reason that Roderick Matheson and his wife at one time resided in Toronto and Ottawa, where they were at first received into the best society. Mr. Matheson was invited to dinner by Lord Stanley. But for the reason that the husband is totally deaf, and almost dumb, he did not endeavor to advance his social claims, while the story leaked cut that he had married his governness against the wishes of his father, and she was not received with open arms by the mesdames of Canadian society. From 1885 until 1891 Mr. Matheson and his wife resided in Toronto. Despite his misfortune, the result of a sunstroke received while he was a lad, Matheson was popular amongst a select circle of young men, whom he joined in legitimate sport, such as shooting, hunting, fishing and camping. He was a member of the Toronto Canoe Club, and was an enthusiastic and expert amateur photographer, carrying off many medals at the Industrial Fair one year. He always had the latest and most expensive photographic outfits. While totally deaf, Mr. Matheson was quick and intelligent, and could readily follow a conversation by watching the lips of those with whom he or his companions were conversing. His wife was a particularly handsome woman, but of rather austere and apparently calculating demeanor. She is connected with a prominent Canadian family.

Mr. Matheson went to British Columbia in 1889, and while at New Westminster he was proofreader and night editor of a paper owned and edited by Mr. John Houston, now of Nelson, B. C. While he was away his wife's health failed. A trip to England was advised by her medical adviser. On the voyage to the mother country it was alleged, and proved at the trial, that she had fallen by the wayside. This was why the divorce was granted. For a long time, more than a year, Matheson waited for his wife to return. He was restless and uneasy, and on the receipt of a word of warning from a friend in England his suspicions were aroused, and he hurried away to his father's home there. His suspicions were strengthened by discovery, and he brought action for divorce. Much sympathy is felt for Matheson, who, although unfortunately bereft of the sense of hearing and speech, is a fine fellow in every respect. A direct lineal descendant of one line of the Bruce family, he possessed more than ordinary strength, and is a handsome specimen of physical manhood. When the Right Hon. Judge Jeune was finally considering the case Roderick Matheson's counsel stated that the husband who had been so greviously sinned against was willing to make his wife an allowance of $20 a week if she would put herself under the care of her mother in Canada. The offer was at once accepted. and Mrs. Matheson has already returned

A Co-operative Colony.

Mr. Findlay that they had only created a "hell upon earth." Disputes had arisen wing to three men having broken the total abstinence agreement, and this resulted in 85 of the settlers leaving.

Mr. Findlay says that Mr. Lane, the chairman of the association, regarded the articles and the agreements as being as inflexible as the code of the Medes and the Persians. Any infringement must be summarily dealt with, without regarding the extenuating circumstances. Mr. Lane's idea is that a man is either "straight" or "not straight," and in the latter case he must go.

Mr. Findlay evidently thinks that Mr. Lane's views will be found "too straight," and that his administration is too strict for ordinary men, though he admits that should his ideal be realized he may found a peculiar people, like Cromwell's Ironsides, and, like them, may accomplish great things. Mr. Findlay is convinced that had the colony been started on an individualistic basis, and with no complicated regulations, not a man would have left the settlement.

BURNED OUT.

Strathroy Suffers From Another Incendiary Blaze-Fires Elsewhere.

STRATHROY, Aug. 16 .- Last night about 10 o'clock another fire was discovered, this time on English street, in the old Loynes planing mills, which has been used lately as a stable by W. W. Sutherland. The contents, together with a couple of pigs, were burned. There was no insurance on the building. This makes the fourth fire was no doubt the work of an incendiary. NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y., Aug. 16. The Niagara Brewing Company's plant, owned by Busch Bros., Buffalo, was burned this afternoon. Loss, $75,000. The plant covered nearly an acre of ground. PORT HURON, Aug. 16 .- Keerns' brewery was burned last night. Loss, $70,000 insurance, $35,000.

FOREST, Ont., Aug. 16 .- The large brick blacksmith and carriage shop on the south side of King street, owned by Dr. Owens. was burned this morning. The fire spread to the doctor's residence, but was confined to these two buildings. The dwelling was badly damaged. The shop and part of the contents was insured for $850 in the Gore District and the dwelling and contents in the London Mutual.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 16 .- The visitors attending the fire chiefs' convention were given a fine opportunity tonight to witness how the Montreal firemen work. Secretary Carlisle Expects $15,000,-000 Surplus in Spite of the Cut.

The "Pop-Gun" Bills Not Likely to Pass This Session.

Canada Will Gain Greatly by the Removal of Restrictions.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 16.—The letter rom Secretary Carlisle, which was read in the Senate, reviews the probable effect upon the revenues and gives an approximate estimate of expanditures. The secretary assumes that the new sugar duties will yield $43,478,958, iron ore, $2,701,920, coal, $436,149, and barbed wire, fencing wire and wire rods of iron and steel, about $300,000. The secretary says that with sugar on the free list, the expenditure during the present fiscal year will exceed the receipts $24,478,058 and if the duties are removed from the other articles specified as well as sugar, the deficit will be $29, 478,058, not including $2,363,000 of the Pacific railroads maturing this year, payment of which is guaranteed by the Government. With the articles, etc., dutiable as in the Senate Bill, the secretary anticipates a surplus of $15,000,000.

Various notices were given in the Senate of amendments to the four independent tariff bills, and will be within the competency of the finance committee to consider and pass upon them. These amendments were: To restore the McKinley Act duties in wool; to repeal the new tariff bill, and to continue the sugar bounty until June 1, 1905. At 3:45 the Senate ad-

INDIANA HEARD FROM. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 16. - The Democratic State convention here adopted a platform which says: "We denounce all tariff protection of whatever kind as a fraud and robbery of the American people for the benefit of the few. We maintain that no tariff taxes should be levied except feet down the mountain side on Wednesday, for the purposes of revenue only, and that such taxes should be limited to the necessities of government honestly and economically administered.'

Immediately after the vote on free sugar ship, in West Durham, will be celebrated the roll call was proceeded with on the same motion in relation to the Free Coal Bill. The vote to refer the Free Coal Bill was, yeas 35, nays 17.

The next was the bill for free iron ore, and the like reference was made by a vote of 37 yeas and 17 nays. The free barbed wire was also referred to the finance committee without a division. The vote on the Free Sugar Bill was 32 yeas to 19 nays. The Republican steering committee held meeting today and decided that it was unwise so far as they were concerned to have any further tariff legislation at this session of Congress. EFFECT ON CANADIAN WOOL. Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 16.—Long & Bisby, wool dealers, have over 1,000,000 pounds of wool stored in their warehouses here, nearly all of which will be shipped to the United States as soon as the new American tariff becomes law. The Canadian wool clip of 1895, as well as the clip of last year, is nearly all still in the country, but the bulk of it will be exported to the Eastern States as soon as the tariff comes into effect. BEANS ARE BEANS NOW. "The county of Kent will derive more benefit from the new Senate Tariff Bill than any other place in this Province," said J. H. Gordon, general merchant, of the town of Blenheim, Kent county, who was in Toronto on Wednesday. "This is the bean district of the Dominion, and under the McKinley Bill the farmers paid 40 cents duty on every bushel of beans exinside of two weeks, and like the others ported into the United States. Now beans are free, or nearly so. The high tariff killed the bean-growing industry, and trade has been very dull for the last few years. Crops are looking well and prospects are bright for a good harvest.'

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

First Meeting of the United States

Board of Labor Commissioners. CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 16.—The National Board of Labor Commissioners convened here yesterday, Carroll D. Wright presiding. The clerk was directed to read the President's commission signed July 26, and aimed only at the trouble between the Illinois Central and the Rock Island roads and the employes of those systems. Mr. Wright then announced the course which would be pursued by the commission, declaring that the employes of the road and their friends would be the first examined, and then the men in charge of the roads. George W. Howard, vice-president of the A. R. U., was the first witness. He said the cause of the strike was that the General Managers' Association made a declaration that they would back up George M. Pullman. Mr. Howard proceeded to tell how the Pullman employes had joined the A. R. U, in a body, and how when a committee had called upon Mr. Pullman and asked him to arbitrate he refused and a strike was ordered. All the minutes of the A. R. U. and all the United States labor committee today was Chairman Heathcote of the Pullman strike committee. He said there are nineteen local A. R. U. assemblies at Pullman. The company reduced wages until it was utterly impossible for the men to live. The Pullman employes did not join the A. R. U. until they saw the necessity of organization of some sort. Considering the A. R. U. was the strongest labor union in the United States, they joined it when affairs reached a critical point with them. He asserted that the men joined the A. R. RUB THE OTHER EYE.

Good Advice of an Engineer Regarding the Removal of Cinders.

Nine persons out of every ten with cinder or any foreign substance in the eye will instantly begin to rub the eye with one hand while hunting for their handkerchief with the other. They may and sometimes do remove the offending cinder, but more frequently they rub until the eye becomes nflamed, bind a handkerchief around the head, and go to bed. This is all wrong. The better way is not rub the eye with the cinder in it at all, but rub the other eye as vigorously as you like. A few years since I was riding on the engine of a fast express. The engineer threw open the front window, and I caught a cinder that gave me the most excruciating pain. I began to rub the eye with both hands. "Let your eye alone and rub the other eye" (this from the engineer). I thought he was chaffing me and worked the harder. "I know you doctors think you know it all, but if you will let that eye alone and rub the other one, the cinder will be out in two minutes," persisted the engineer. I began to rub the other eye, soon I felt the cinder down near the inner canthus, and made ready to take it out. "Let it alone and keep at the well eye," shouted the doctor pro tem. I did so for a minute longer, and looking into a small giass he gave me found the offender on my cheek. Since then I have tried it many times, and have advised many others, and have never known it to fail in one instance, unless it was something sharp as a piece of steel or something that cut the ball and required an operation to remove it. - Medical Summary.

THE TEALE CASE.

Charge Changed from Indecent to Common Assault.

Accused Pleads Guilty-Fined Ten Dollars or a Month - Charlotte Kunwicke, the Complainant, Breaks Dewn - Mrs. Russell Is All Right.

As usual when cases of scandalous nature are on the blotter, the crowd at the Police Court was very large today, both inside and outside the railing. The curious throng had come to hear the developments in the case of John Teale, accused of indecently assaulting Charlotte Kunwicke. The case came up at the finish of the docket, and when an order was given to clear the court room some of the sightseers looked as though they had expected a big legacy, but didn't get it. This course had been decided at the urgent request of some of the parties concerned. Teale was seated in front of the dock and took everything very unconcernedly. The girl did not put in an appearance till the room was cleared.

Mr. E. Meredith, who appeared for the accused, told the court that Mr. McKillop (for the crown) would be satisfied with a charge of common assault. To this Teale had agreed to plead guilty. No person more than Teale regretted the affair, but it was caused through his being under the influence of liquor. In view of his previous excellent character counsel asked that the prisoner be discharged.

Mr. McKillop had nothing to say further. He was willing to accept the

The magistrate wanted to hear the girl's side of the story before passing judgment. The complainant was sent for, but when she appeared at the door of the court room she burst into tears and began to walk away. She was finally prevailed upon to come inside. The poor girl did not cease her wailings. She made straight for a chair, and during the remainder of the proceedings sat with her head down and a handkerchief over her face. She did not tell her story.

Chief Williams told the court that Miss Kunwicke came from the old country about ten years ago, and lived until a year ago with a farmer west of St. Thomas. The house was broken up and Miss Kunwicke came to the city, where she obtained employment in a very respectable and wealthy family, and during her nine months' service there had borne an excellent character. The police magistrate told Teale that he had a narrow escape, and it should be a warning to him and others. He was fined

$10 or a month. The witnesses summoned were John Partridge, Charles Stevens and Robert Robinson.

WANTED HER CHARACTER CLEARED. Mrs. Alfred Jones and Mrs. Mary E. Russell live on Bathurst street and are neighbors. They had a little row and Mrs. Russell accused Mrs. Jones of using abusive language. They stood side by side and when one would advance toward the police magistrate the other would follow suit. "What did she do, Mrs. Russell?" asked the court. Mrs. Russell-She hurt my character. The Police Magistrate-Nothing has peen said against your character. Mrs. Russell-Yes, there has; I don't want any person to call me a prostitute.

Neither do I want Mrs. Jones punished. Mrs. Jones-I deny the charge. Mrs. Russell-You did call me that name, and I want my character cleared. The Police Magistrate (to Mrs. Russell)-Well, there; your character is clear; never was better. And the women walked out. AN UNRULY YOUTH. Daniel Walsh, a boy of about 15 years, was charged by his stepmother, Mrs. Esther Walsh, with using threatening language towards her. The woman did not wish to prosecute and the youngster was taken home.

THEY SOLD KNIVES.

Michael D. Henry and Edward Pridham are the two young men arrested by Detective Thomas Nickle while selling knives at the corner of King and Clarence streets, The police learned where the articles came from, but on account of their value it was decided not to prosecute the prisoners.

George Mathew, another youth, will appear on Tuesday. He has a charge against him of throwing stones through the windows of Mrs. Tweedy's house, on Talbot Salvator Specuzza, a local banana man, was summoned for letting his cart stand on the sidewalk. Salvator is now in St. Thomas selling fruit and will be up when he returns.

MADAME REJANE.

The French Actress Who Has Rivalled Bernhardt in Popularity.

An example of the fact that one good thing does not necessarily injure another, alongside which it is brought in competi tion for the public favor, has been shown in London lately, where Mme. Bernhardt and Mme. Rejane, the two famous French actors, have been playing simultaneously. The appearance of either is a dramatic event of the first order, yet Rejane's entrance upon the field, and the attraction of all London to hear her, did not diminish the crowds which gathered at Bernhardt's performances. If anything, the success of Bernhardt's engagement was augmented by the appearance of Rejane. This was probably due in part to the fact that the art of the two actors was so different that those who went to see one were drawn to see the other by the very contrast. There was something remarkable about Rejane's success, nevertheless; for in holding her own against Bernhardt she has done what Coquelin failed to do two years ago.

Rejane's engagement in London might be called the most memorable incident of the season, for it introduced a new dramatic; star to the English world. Though Rejans has represented widely different characters, her true vocation is broad comedy. Yet she is a thorough mistress of her art, and her performance in the tragic moments of "Madame Sans-Gene"—the play by Sardon which introduced her to London-is praised almost as warmly as her simple, natural, piquant work in the comic parts. To give some idea of her versatility, it may be mentioned that she has appeared with almost equal success as "Germinie Lacerteux" in the horrible De Goncourt play, and as Portia in a French version of Shakespeare's comedy.

Mme. Rejane is really Mme. Porel, wife of one of the two directors of the Gymnase and Vaudeville theatres in Paris. Her maiden name was Gabrielle Reju, and she was brought up in a theatrical atmosphere, In 1875, after a Conservatoire training under the celebrated Regnier, she made her first appearance at the Vaudeville Theatre. A brilliant performance at the Ambigu as the heroine of Richepin's play "La Glu" brought her to the front; ther followed a successful engagement at the Palais Royal in "Ma Camarade," and she became a favorite of the Parisian public, One of the most notable and curious events

MME. REJANE, THE NEWEST DRAMATIC STAR. in her career was her appearance in "Mi Cousine," at the Varieties; her part includ ed a dance of the cancan or chahut order, so she took thereupon lessons from the famous Mdlle. "Grille d'Egout," and de lighted and astounded Paris by a perform ance of great skill and startling audacity

A curious feature of the history of the stage during the last twelve month was noted a few days ago by an English critic who remarked that of the four actors who had occupied the largest share in popular attention not one was an Englishwoman The four were Bernhardt, Duze, Rejand and Rehan. This leaves out Ellen Terry. who must surely be counted among the great actors, yet who does not stand alone like the four mentioned, but is coupled in the public mind with Irving. The classification is interesting as showing the impression which Rejane has made upor England.

THE FASTEST VESSEL

TWENTY-NINE AND A QUARTER KNOTS MADE BY THE DARING.

An English Marvel of Marine Architecture-Her Mission is to Destroy Fleet Torpedo Boats-She Will Apparently Have No Difficulty in Doing It.

That the limit of speed at which a small craft can be driven through the water has not yet been reached is shown in the recent record of the Thornycroft torpedo gunboat Daring. That vessel has set the pace at 291 knots, and marine engineers are now confident that even this clipping gait will be excelled by some later vessel of the Daring's type.

The Daring is the first vessel of a class of five torpedo boat destroyers which are being constructed by Messrs. Thornycroft & Co. for the British government. When completed the quintet will form part of the new "destroyer flotilla," which is the latest departure in the admiralty naval policy. The mission of these vessels is to overtake an enemy's torpedo boats and destroy them by shell fire delivered from a battery of rapid-fire guns. They are also equipped for delivering a fatal blow to larger antagonists. The 18 inch Whitehead torpedoes, which can be launched from the bow, have a speed of over thirty knots per hour, and a range of 700 yards. No vessel ever constructed could withstand the explosion of such a mass against her hull, and it is a safe proposition to make to say that a ship which is hit by such a projectile is a ship destroyed. But the main purpose for which the Daring and other vessels of her class were constructed is to chase and destroy the torpedo boats of the enemy. The torpedo boat itself is, from the very nature of its calling, a very speedy craft, and of course for a vessel which is designed to destroy them a higher speed than they can show is essential

Besides this absolutely necessary characteristic, there were other features which the builders had to consider. The vessel was required to be as small as possible, so as to escape, in a certain measure, the danger of being struck by the missiles of a hostile man-of-war. At the same time i was pointed out that a torpedo vessel should be sufficiently large to cruise at sea, and to carry a battery large enough to penetrate the hulls of her smaller foes.

It is therefore seen that the torpedoboat destroyer is a vessel of compromises. Take away the limit of size, and marine engineers would find a way of putting sufficient power in the hull to drive the craft through the water at a greater rate than has already been attained. Dispense with the extreme lightness or draught, considered essential from the fact that torpedo boats can flee into shoal waters, and the problem of high speed becomes simpler

In the Daring the Messrs. Thornycroft pride themselves in having produced a vessel that meets all requirements. She has high speed, her size is none too great, and the battery which she will be enabled to mount can throw a concentrated hail of missiles at a range beyond that of any of the smaller foes.

The vessel measures 185 feet in length has a beam of 19 feet, and a draught of 's feet. The engines are of a novel type which the firm has recently patented. In constructing them, the object sought for was to so arrange the position of cranks and cylinders as to reduce the unbalanced forces to a minimum. This has been successfully achieved. The boilers are three in number, and are of the improved Thornycroft water-tube type. They are capable of generating steam from cold water within fifteen minutes. The torpedo destroyer must not be confounded with the torpedo boat. The two are distinct types. The chief distinction is that the former can cruise and the latter cannot. The torpedo boat is the acknowledged superior of the torpedo destroyer in every other respect. The British admiralty intends to add these vessels in large numbers to the navy list. Lord Brassey is of the opinion that two to each battleship and twenty-five for coast defense would not be too many.

barracks. William Burns, who committed suicide near Ingersoil by taking carbolic acid, was a cabinet maker by trade, a resident of Datton and an excellent mechanic, but drink ultimately led to his ruin. He was a married man with a grown-up family, but his fondness for the cup caused him to lead a roving life. The general store of Hercules Burwell, Lawrence Station, was broken into Wednesday night and thirteen silver and nickel watches and a lot of other goods taken. The burglars then went to the farm house of Neil D. McLachlin, close by, where they took two gold watches belonging to Mc-Lachlin's sisters and $27 from his pockets.

On Wednesday, about two and a half miles east of Ridgetown, an M. C. R. train struck a wagon loaded with tile, owned and driven by J. Whitesell. The wagon and tile were badly broken up, but the owner escaped with slight bruises.

Miss Maggie McGregor, daughter of Squire McGregor, Dutton, and Mr. William Legan, a young farmer of Aldborough, were married in St. Thomas on Wednesday night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. the groom.

Ernest Morris, the 5-year-old son of J.

The other passengers were A. The driver was badly shaken up.

The Huron Central Fair will be held at Clinton on Oct. 2 and 3. Mr. J. A. Stewart, manager of the Standard Bank, Brussels, and Miss M. J. Ferris, youngest daughter of the late J. M. her leg. Mr. Wm. Clarke, of the west ward, Mitchell, was coming from the station in a buggy with Mr. Richard Honey, and the night being dark, they ran into a heap of sand in front of the new building being erected near the market by Messrs. Alterations to the Grounds-The Dundas Street Entrance to be Improved -Prospects Bright.

The Western Fair directors met yesterday afternoon in the Richmond street offices and talked over matters in connection with the great and only Western, to be held next month. The prospects for a good show were never better. Entries for every department are steadily pouring in, and in many instances the space is about all gone. The stock-racing events have just been closed, and there are on an average eight or nine entries in oach.

The management has also decided on many improvements to the grounds, the principal alterations being on the Dundas street entrance. There is at present an 8-foot sidewalk in front of the property, and to make room for the big jams which frequently occur, the fence for about 130 feet will be moved back, making a walk twenty feet wide. Four iron turnstiles will be placed at the east end of the entrance, while directly between the main and horticultural buildings will be erected large iron gates. Over these will be placed an iron arch, in which will be the words "Queen's Park." These changes alone will meet with the appreciation of the fair-going public, as they will knot. The happy couple left for Toronto make it unnecessary for a person to stand in the roadway while waiting for a chance to get a ticker.

The main building is also to be somewhat altered. The four corners are being fitted with a 13-inch platform, and in each place two piano firms will be allotted space. This is an idea of Secretary Browne's. It will suit the piano firms, as it will give them a better chance to display the merits of their instruments. It will please the public, as it will prevent the clashing of sounds from a half dozen pianos. Secretary Browne's office has been enlarged by tearing down a petition and making two rooms into one. Closets and conveniences will also be provided in different parts of the grounds. Five dressing rooms will be built under the band stand, thus preventing the use of tents inside the A communication was presented from representative of the trades unions, asking permission to hold hose reel races on the track on Labor Day. The directors regretted very much being unable to comply with the request, claiming that a bylaw of the board prohibited the use of heavy vehicles in the ring.

TORONTO IN THE CLOUDS.

Wonderfully Perfect Mirage Seen by Buffalonians.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 16 .- A beautiful and wonderfully perfect mirage was seen in the northern sky about 10:30 this morning. Toronto city, the harbor and the island were visible for nearly half an hour. Those who were first to discover the phenomenon claim they could distinctly see the church spires of Toronto, but the atmospheric conditions changed so quickly that only the outlines could be discovered after the first ten minutes.

As late as 11 o'clock the northern shore of Lake Ontario could be seen. Then the clouds lowered, obliterating the beautiful picture.

Reducing Rates.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. -The Chicago and St. Paul lines have been authorized to place in operation a rate of 221 cents per 100 pounds on flour and grain products from St. Paul and Minneapolis to New York via Chicago or Milwaukee. The authority came from Chairman Midgeley, of the Western Freight Association, and is the inevitable result of the demoralization of rail and lake rates. The reduced rates will also apply to Boston at 241 cents, to Philadelphia at 201 cents, and Baltimore at 191 cents. It is an allround cut of 5 cents per 100 pounds. Lake lines were contracting from Duluth at the rate of 15 cents per 100 pounds.

-The Express says that in Buffalo 30 cents is new paid for butter. Dry weather brings dry cows. While we on this continent have thus been suffering from drought, in Great Britain great damage has been done through an over-supply of rain. A cablegram reports that in England the continued wet weather has done great damage to the crops. There are places where hundreds of acres of oats and wheat ave been beaten flat. The potato blight, in its most virulent form, the London Standard says, prevails in many districts of Ireland.

-A notable celebration takes place tomorrow, Sunday and Monday at Niagaraon-the-Lake. Then the 100th anniversary of the eldest Presbyterian Church in Western Ontario will be celebrated. With one exception, indeed, old St. Andrew's at Niagara, is the oldest Presbyterian church in Ontario. The following will take leading parts in the celebration: Sir Oliver Mowat, Rev. Prof. Mowat, D.D., of Queen's University; Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford; and Rev. Dr. Battisby, of Chatham, officially representing the Synod of London and Hamilton; Rev. The address by the veteran Premier of the Province takes place on Saturday evening.

The sewing mistres in my son-in-law's village school, having been told to give up sampler work, as the children's time could be more profitably spent, persisted in the sampler work, and on being reproved said her conscience would not allow her to give it up. 'We are told to "read, mark, learn, and in wardly digest," so I must teac them to mark.' A niece of mine assure her friends that somewhere in the Bibl she had read 'about Elijah waiting in country churchyard'; it appeared she ha read 'elegy' 'Elijah' in a reading lesson (n doubt 'Grey's Elegy in a Country Church yard')." These illustrations may be suppl mented by the case of a Scottish boy wh asked to write the Lord's Prayer, bega thus: "Our Father, we chart."

We have now before us the revised tariff of the United States Plaster of paris or gypsum, which will go into force in the next day or two. Though the measure is not so radical in its provisions as tariff reformers desired, it is certainly a vast improvement on the McKinley Bill, and will be beneficial not only to the people of the United States, them in Canada and elsowhere. Capaizing of a Boat Sailed by Sir John Thompson-The Occupants a Long Way From Shore. WINDERMERE, Ont., Aug. 16 .- An exciting incident took place here yesterday. A boat, which was being sailed by Sir John Thompson, was upset by The accident was noticed from the veranda of the hotel and on the alarm being given several boats started to the rescue. A boat reached the party just as the men were about leaving the boat to swim ashore, and which it would be impossible for them to do. They were taken home apparently none the worse for their ducking.

FOR BOODLING.

Four Detroit School Inspectors Under Arrest, Charged With Bribe-Taking.

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—The most dramatic scene that ever took place in the chamber of the board of education occurred at the close of the special session of that body last night, when Mayor Pingree, after a lengthy and impressive speech, charging a portion of the board with boodling, ordered the officers of the law to execute the warrants in their hands commanding the arrest of Inspectors Mile H. Davis, Joseph Walsh, Wm. C. Liphardt and Julius Lichtenberg, on charges of having receiving bribes of $25 each last week from L. H. Acheson, agent of the Manitowac Seating Company, of Manitowoc, Wis., which had been awarded the contract for supplying the board of education with school seats and desks.

The case has been worked up by Detective Robert Palmer, and Prosecuting Attorney Frazer claims to have the most convincing proofs of the charges made against the inspectors. Other arrests may he accused were in the police court by and were released on $5,000 bail to ar on Aug. 24 for examination.

Golf is the great game of the day, and seems to be making way in every corner of the world. The latest news from Africa is to the effect that Mlanje is to become the sanatorium of Nyassaland, and that just as Scoto and Anglo Indians make an annual rush to the mountains, so Scottish residents in Africa will make pilgrimages to Mlanje. ZIM. STILL WINNING. LEIGESTER, Aug. 16.-Zimmerman won the five mile international bicycle race; Banker 2, Edwards 3. Time, 11:51 2-5.

A GREAT RACE. The relay bicycle race from Washington to Denver was completely successful in all respects. The distance over the entire course is 2,037 miles. The original schedule required the trip to be made in eight days, or at the rate of five minutes and 43 seconds to the mile for the whole distance.

The start was made from Washington at noon Monday, Aug. 6. The riders reached Denver at 10:40 Sunday night, 1 day, 9 hours and 20 minutes ahead of time. The actual time made was a mile in 4 minutes and 43 seconds and a fraction, or almost one minute less than schedule time.

record of 12:28. The half mile national championship went to Eddie Bald, of Buffalo, in 1:05 1-5, just 4 4-5 seconds under the best previous competition half mile. Lee Richardson, of Chicago, who wears a gold medal for the fastest half mile ever ridden backwards—2:37 3-5—went for his previous mark and brough the figures down o 2:35. Chairman Raymond, of the league racing board, was referee.

W. L. Stimal and Fred C. Fuhram, of the Rambler Bicycle Club. of Buffalo, have broken the 200-mile road record. Their time over the course between Buffalo and Erie and return is 15:50:30. THE CRACKS HAVE A TUSSLE. ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Four thousand people went to the driving park this evening to see the champion of maiden trotters measure her worth beside the great son of Halford in the special race for $3,000, and later to see Robert J strive to lower his own record of 2:051 and the track record of 2:06 left by Johnson. The first heat in which Robert J and Fantasy took part served its purpose as a warming-up heat. The two traveled the circuit like a team and went under the wire nose to nose in 2:10 flat. It was when Fantaey made her magnificent performance that the grand stand trembled with the applause of the thousands. The maiden took the word on the second score down and flew to the quarter in 33 seconds flat, Robert J urging her on by hanging at her wheel all the way. The half was reached in 1:043, and then it was known that she would do it. At the half she began her star work, and reached the three-quarter pole in 1:364, and came on to the finish with a magnificent burst of speed, which carried her under the wire in 2:071.

Robert J came out for his race against mate to set the pace. On the word the performance in sporting history. It is the From here he fairly out-raced his mate, passing the three-quarter post in 1:33, and going under the wire in 2:044, lowering his record by a full second. There is no question but that he would have done better if his mate had forced him. In the other two events of the day the favorites won and the talent went home happy. NEW HAMBURG RACES. New Hamburg, Ont., Aug. 16.—The annual meeting of the New Hamburg Turf Club Association began today and drew together a large crowd. Summaries:

The Windsor Conservatives Go Back on the P. P. A.

Brantford's Council Will Meet Mr. Laurier on His Arrival There.

Movements of the Patrons of Industry Lisgar Conservatives in Caucus.

The P. P. A. supporters in Windsor are rather hot today, and there is considerable alk about a great big bolt from the Conservatives in Essex, if the influence of the P. P. A. can bring this about. The trouble started among the Young Conservatives of Windsor when an attempt was made several weeks ago to organize a local club. Several prominent members of the P. P. A. were among the number who urged the organization of the club, and this fact caused a rumpus in the very first meeting. An attempt was made by the semi-Catholic members of the new club to pass a resolution which would force the members to take a decided stand either against or for the P. P. A., and there was a hard and long fight in the meeting. The attempt was followed by the introduction of a clause in the bylaws making it obligatory for members of the Young Conservative Club of Windsor to repudiate the P. P. A. and other political organizations. The meeting of the club Tuesday night was a hot one in every respect, and when the new bylaws came up for adoption everyone looked for trouble. The majority of the sympathy was against the P. P. A. members, and when the amendment, which had been introduced as a strike against the anti-Catholic members, was read as a portion of the new laws, the pot began to boil. There was a sharp discussion, and the matter forced to a vete, The ballots were 19 for and 4 against the amendment. The section, as adopted, reads:

"Every person proposing to become a member must declare that he is not a member of any other political organization for objects inconsistent with the declared platform and policy of the Conservative party of Canada.

The depth of the meaning is more significant to the members of the P. P. A. than is seen on the face, and practically says that local sentiment, so far as is represented by the new club, is against the life of the organization. Several prominent members of the Conservative party are also members of the P. P. A., and the action will cause a bitter feeling. -[St. Thomas Journal.

A SABBATH SUNSET THOUGHT.

As I sit while the evening sunset Woos my lovely sunflower trees,
And the lovely evening zephyrs
Their golden crowns sway in the breeze,
There comes a song bird with plumage rare
Which perches upon a sunflower fair.

It sees naught but rich brown ripening seed, Which the sunflower ever yields,
Which the sunflower ever yields,
Whether it grows in the city's bowers
Or in fragrant clover fields;
Its heart it gives when its beauty fades
To nourish the birds in sunny glades.

Sing sweetly, sweet bird; thy evening feast Will fill thee with magic power To inspire our minds with a holy zeal. That our hearts, like the tall sunflower, Will offer strength to those most in need Of the more precious Gospel seed Goderich, Ont., Aug. 15, 1894.

Mrs. Fellows Acquitted. Sam Jeffrey and Mrs. Viola Fellows were arraigned before Judge Edward Elliott at the court house today, charged with stealing a quantity of furniture from Adin Fellows, 36 Blackfriars street, Lon-don West, about the middle of July. The facts of the case have already been published in the ADVERTISER, and the preiminary hearing held a week ago was also related in these columns. Adir Fellows told the same story before. James Slater, Mr. Gilbanks (Birr), George Holmes and Mrs. Crawford all had dealings with Jeffrey and Mrs. Fellows, and said that the two passed as brother and sister; that the latter was much abused by her husband, who was a drunkard, and that she was going to leave him. OUT ON STRIKE!

Employes of Dodd's Planing Mills Quit Work.

They Objected to a Ten Per Cent Reduc tion, and to Save a General Reduction All Over the City They Went Out - Trades and labor Council Behind Them.

Smoke ceased to belch from the big chimney of Dodd's planing mill this morning. Mr. Dodd claims that it is a "lay off," but the erstwhile employes of the mill claim that it is a strike that is the cause. As a result Mr. Dodd is advertising for new men. An ADVERTISER reporter interviewed both Mr. Dodd and a number of the men and got both sides of the case. The former claimed that dull times and slackness of trade made it necessary to do one of two things-either to reduce the number of hands or reduce the wages 10 per cent. The men hesitated and sent a deputation to ask Mr. Dodd to reconsider, As the men did not appear to want to take the reduction Mr. Dodd began to lay off the men. Then the employes expressed their willingness to accept the cut providing the discharged men were taken back. This Mr. Dodd agreed to and the men were taken back. All this happened a couple of weeks ago. Since then Mr. Dodd claims that through outside interference the men have been induced to change their mind. This morning when he came down to the mill he found the carpenters and machine hands waiting for him with their coats on. The spokesman of the party, Mr. H. Lawson, laid the men's case before Mr. Dodd, and asked that the scale of wages be restored. This Mr. Dodd refused to do, and he says that he then laid off the men. About 25 men are affected.

"The men said something about the builders boycotting and refusing to buy from me," said Mr. Dodd, "but I have yet to see any effect. We will start up with a new force in the morning." Mr. John C. Parks, one of the strikers, was also seen. Mr. Parks appeared to think that all newspapers were the sworn enemies of labor, but he consented to give the men's side of the case. "It don't matter," said he, "whether it is dull times or busy times, an hour's work is worth the same, and instead of reducing the wages Mr. Dodd should have reduced the hours of labor. When the reduction was first broached several weeks ago we appointed a deputation to wait on Mr. Dodd and ask that the matter be reconsidered, and on Saturturday night a number of the men Arrangements for Monday Morning's the men who were on the deputation. to the conclusion that it was better to accept the cut for the time being, and did so on the understanding that the men should be taken back. The men were taken back, and then the Carpenters and Machinists' Union and the Trades and Labor Council took the matter up. A deputation waited on all the factorymen in the city and they said that the times did not warrant a reduction, but unless Mr. Dodd restored the scale they would all have to cut the wages to successfully compete with him. The deputation laid the matter before the labor organizations last night, and we agreed that unless the wages were restored we would strike.

> and offered to work only five hours a day if there was not more work, providing the scale was maintained." The men take the affair coolly and rely on the influence of the trades and labor organizations in the city to win their case.

That is why we are out. The men, before going on strike, offered Mr. Dodd $10 each.

CHAPTER IV.

Day after day went by, and their hours taught Trena undreamed of things; they were peaceful hours of early autumn, when the earth is at rest and having seen the glow, and the richness, and the ripeness, breathes deeply, knowing that it is very good. She was always out of doors. Sometimes she took the walk through Whater's lot, where the appletrees sunned themselves, and one stumbled now and then over a fallen apple in the leaf-strewn grass-the leaves prematurely old and withered. Usua v she went toward the water, oftenest to the rocks where they had parted finally. One day she went down to the old wreck. This time she took the place where Kane and Miss Van Wert had spent so many hours. They had gone away, she had never Why was it, she asked seen them again. herself for the hundredth time, why was it that what she did had made so different an end? Judith had spoken as carelessly, had laughed oftener, and yet he had never left her in bitterness—he had known that it was not really the end. He had found her again, of course, and they were happy somewhere now; while she-oh! why could not Ben have understood! She longed for the steadiness that had been wont to pin down her fluttering whims with an apparent carelessness that she had admired while she had resisted it. The tears came into her eyes, rolled down and then slowly ceased. The calm of nature fell upon her. Vague, great thoughts dawned in her soul. Her imagination had a vision of the realities and the eternities. They were the old thoughts that the sea brings-the unsparingness of its power, its lawlessness, and its order. Not to change human misery into human happiness would it check one breath of the swift impulse that swept those waves up the shore, and yet it had so many waves and so much strength, such unwasted energy, that it might well spare and be merciful. Hamanity is so small to the greatness of nature, but the greatness of nature is not infinite—for infinity can take thought for littleness of humanity. She felt this, though she could not have said it, and it was with more calmness that, as all of us do, she went back to her own suffering. She had thrown away her happiness, though she knew not how, and they-that slight girl in gray, and the man who stood by her sidethey had known how to be happy. Sud-denly she straightened herself as one who sees action instead of endurance before her; There was one who knew the secret of doing and leaving undone, there was one who had led her into the snare-there was but one who could show her the way out!

jure, but had learned but half the secret-it was for her now to learn the rest of it. Three or four days later Miss Van Wert was sitting on the piezza of her father's house in one of the suburbs of a large city. It was, by one of New Englann's freaks, as warm as midsummer, and the beauty of the periment is constantly wresting the secrets evening had brought her outside, although the leaves of the woodbine rustled more dryly than in real summer nights, and there was a sharper and more active tone in the crisp utterances of a neighboring cricket.

She herself had not known how to con-and went forward.

'Yes," she said, in her low, even tones; did vou wish to see me?"

"Yes," said Trena, "I—I want to see you very much." Her eyes wandered to the man at the end of the piazza. He was sitting on the railing, his face in the deep shadow of the woodbine.
"That is Randal Kine, I suppose," she said suddenly. Judith's questioning look grew surprised.

"No," she answered, mechanically, "that is not Mr. Kane." "What!" exclaimed the girl. Her voice was intense and anxious. "Isn't he with you? Doesn't he—doesn't he keep company with you any more?"

A shade of hauteur fell across Judith's face. "I do not understand—" she began.

"I do not understand on her arm.

"I don't understand," she said, in her came to find out. I thought you would tell me." She paused in pitiful perplexity. The ground was slipping from beneath her feet. Suddenly she grew frightened and the tears came to her eyes. She was tired and alone, and Ben was farther off than ever. It seemed that this beautiful woman had made a mistake herself, her lover had left her too -how could she help her? Judith watched the girl intently. There was something here she could not understand, but there was nothing bold in her voice or manner. Moreover, there was something not entirely unfamiliar.

Suppose we come inside," she said, quietly, and she turned to her other visitor, Will you excuse me?"

The man came forward instantly. "I will come another time, Miss Van Wert," he said; "good-night," and with a smile he bewed and went by the two women, down the plazza steps, to the gate. As he passed, Trena saw his face in the light; it little incident seemed to demolish all her hopes. With a terribly oppressive sense of mistake, she dumbly followed Judith into a small reception room. Judith had remembered now. She recognized her as a fisherman's daughter with whom she had now and then, that summer, exchanged a few words. She moved a low chair forward as she turned to her guest.

"We can talk better here," she said, and then paused, struck by the girl's beauty.
She had been pretty before—she had noticed her hair and eyes and color-but there had beeen a change that had intensified everying about her, and that made her beauty dramatic as she stood in the doorway with wide, startled eyes, pale cheeks, and a certain weariness of expression.

"Won't you sit down?" said Judith, smiling with a friendliness the pathos of the face impelled her to express. Trena moved forward slowly and sank into the chair. She was exhausted and faint from hunger, though she did not know it, for she had come straight from the railway station here. The lighted room, the luxury dismayed her. But more than all else this being suddenly brought face to face with the woman who had been so constantly in her thoughts agi-Judith's was familiar to her: the tones of her voice struck her ear as if she had heard tract of Wild Strawberry is and sure cure that has her voice struck her ear as if she had heard the favorite for over 40 years.

"Do you mean that he really left you that time?—that he never came back?" asked Trena, slowly. "Have you never seen him

The question was certainly not without significance. Judith colored slowly and her eyes wavered an instant from their calm steadiness. Moreover, she was utterly at a loss to understand her; but she had learned that the easiest way of meeting a difficult social situation was usually the nearest at

"I have seen Randal Kane since last summer, oh, yes!" she said; "we are very good friends, but we do not meet very often in the winter."

"Don't you know how to make him come back !" asked Trens, with a touch of despair. The shadow of a smile flitted across Judith's lips, and then a suspicion which had flashed across her mind made a longer stay. Had the girl fallen in love with Kane? If so, how much did he know of it? "I have not wanted to know," she replied, watching Trena without seeming to do so. "He does not live here; I do not know just where he is. He writes books," she added, vaguely, conscious of the pitiable inadequacy of the statement. To some people it would have explained so much; but, she felt hopelessly, it would not help this girl to understand. "He has plenty to do-plenty of people to see." Trena's face did not change. Evidently it was his absence that troubled her, not what he might be doing elsewhere. "Then how am I to make Ben come back?" she asked, stonily.

"Ah! there is a Ben," thought Judith relieved. "I cannot help you; I cannot even understand until you tell me," she said, quietly.

Saddenly the girl's mood changed.
"Why is he not here?" she demanded, with shining eyes. "I saw you together! I watched you! I listened to you! He cared about you-you cared about him-you did not say so, but I knew it. He told you he on, breathlessly. "And you listened to him, and you never told him to stop or to go away. Is that all it means with you rich people? Is that all it means?" She rose to her feet and came nearer Judith. come here, and there's another one here, and you tell me you do not know where that one is—and that you do not see him ever." The unconscious mimicry of her tone, which was the result of Trena's observation, struck Judith unmistakably with a new surprise. "Is that all it comes tothat you do no care, either? And I thought -I thought you could tell me how to get Ben back!" Her voice broke. "I tried to be like you," she went on, miserably, "and that was what you meant—that he should go away and not come back. I was like you," she concluded, with a sob, "I wasand Ben has gone away too."

GENTLEMEN, - My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. as that of a man she had never seen. This I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. The Results of a Long-Standing Feud-

Tragedy in a Equatter's Shanty. NEW YORK, Aug. 16 .- The feud that has been in existence among the squatters at South Beach, S. I., for some time sulminated in murder today. Frederick Bergman was killed as he opened the door of his home. The shot came from a gun which had been placed in a position commanding the entrance, and from the trigger of which a string led to the door knob. Bergman's father-in-law, Thomas Burke, is under arrest on suspicion of being the person who fixed the gun. He is 70 years It was a day of death in the little shanty made of driftwood standing at the extreme and of South Beach. This morning the infant child of Bergman died. The father had been out making arrangements for the funeral, and was returning home to comfort his wife, who was prostrated over the death of the child, when he met his own death. There has been war among the squatters for twenty years over land which Burke sold, but to which he had no title.

PARALYZED BY FRIGHT.

Engineer Humphrey Died in a Wreck He Might Have Prevented.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 16 .- F. H. Skyles, who was in the Santa Fe wreck at Hurdland, Mo., Sunday morning, made a statement to Master Mechanic Johnplayer a few minutes after the collision which makes it reasonable that Engineer Humphrey died of fright before the two engines came together.

As they were approaching the Hurdland switch Skyles moved to Humphrey's side of the cab and said, "Was it not at Gibbs we had orders to stop?" Just then the head of the west bound train showed loved you, because I heard him!" she went around the curve. Humphrey said not a word, nor moved hand nor foot, but looked straight ahead with glassy eyes at the other engine, which was moving at a terrific rate. Skyles spoke to him again, but still the engineer did not move and the fireman to save his life jumped. The other engineer and fireman reversed their engines and saved themselves by jumping. When the collision occurred their train was almost at a dead stand, proving that if Humphrey's engine had been reversed at least serious wreck could have been prevented, Whether Humphrey was dead or alive when the two trains collided no one will ever know, but from Skyles' statement it is certain that when he heard Shyles' remarks and saw the approaching headlight at the same moment, he realized that he had done an awful thing and was paralyzed by its enormity, if not actually killed by

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Euspecied—At Times He Was Pros-trated by His Sufferings— New He Is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13 .- The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing ny work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grievous, and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well-known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pilis, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

NOVEL AS THE FERRIS WHEEL.

And of Vastly More Practical Utility. CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 16 .- A machine that is as novel from an engineer's standpoint as the Ferris wheel, and which is certain to revolutionize the lake coal trade, has been introduced into the coal shipping business at Ashtabula. It is the property of the McMiller Car Dumping Machine Company. Instead of the old system of loading by means of buckets and rotary derricks, this machine, which has stood the test extending over days of actual work, takes up a loaded carof about 23 tons capacity and dumps its contents into the hold of a vessel, the cars being handled at the rate of about eighteen per hour. The loaded car is drawn high into the air on a cantilever, which is tilted by hydraulic power, and the coal dumped through the hatch in the hold of the vessel. Cargoes aggregating as much as 3,500 tons are loaded in a single day, and the breaking of soft coal is reduced toa minimum.

ENVIABLE POT LUCK.

Ten Thousand Dollars in Coin Found by a Squirrel Running Under a Tree Stump. INDIAN BAR, Ark., Aug. 16 .- While B. S. Sanders, of this place, was squirrel hunting across the river this week he found a pot containing $10,000 in silver and gold American coins, none of them minted later than 1860. The money was unearthed by the roots of a large oak tree, which was blown over by a severe wind storm a few weeks ago. The find was made on the farm of M. D. Cartwright, of Ripley, Mass. Old settlers say the deposit was made by the noted bandit, John A. Murrell. S. A. Murrell, a relative of the bandit, who formerly lived here, dug for the money in the locality where this find was made twenty years ago.

Death in the Pulpit.

OARFIELD, N. Y., Aug. 16 .- Rev. D. C. Blakely, of North Pembroke, while delivering a sermon in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Alabama Center, died in the pulpit. The cause of death was apoplexy. Mr. Blakely leaves a widew and two children.

Drank Himself to Death.

MEDINA, Aug. 16 .- Stephen Sullivan, who has been on a protracted spree of several months duration, was found dead in bed at the Shelby Center House in Shelby. Sullivan, who was the bartender in the Hart House for some time, recently took the Barker-Rose gold cure, but fell a short time after his discharge from the hospital, and has been almost continuously intoxicated since.
